10 For Eſdras had prepared his heart to ſeek the law of the Lord, and to do and to teach in Iſrael the commandments and judgment.

11 And this is the copy of the letter of the edict, which king Artaxerxes gave to Eſdras the prieſt, the ſcribe inſtructed in the words and commandments of the Lord, and his ceremonies in Iſrael.

12 Artaxerxes king of kings to Eſdras the prieſt, the moſt learned ſcribe of the law of the God of heaven, greeting.

13 It is decreed by me, that all they of the people of Iſrael, and of the prieſts and of the Levites in my realm, that are minded to go into Jeruſalem, ſhould go with thee.

14 For thou art ſent from before the king, and his ſeven counſellors, to viſit Judea and Jeruſalem according to the law of thy God, which is in thy hand.

15 And to carry the ſilver and gold, which the king and his counſellors have freely offered to the God of Iſrael, whoſe tabernacle is in Jeruſalem.

16 And all the ſilver and gold that thou ſhalt find in all the province of Babylon, and that the people is willing to offer, and that the prieſts ſhall offer of their own accord to the houſe of their God, which is in Jeruſalem,

17 Take freely, and buy diligently with this money calves, rams, lambs, with the ſacrifices and libations of them, and offer them upon the altar of the temple of your God, that is in Jeruſalem.

18 And if it ſeem good to thee, and to thy brethren to do any thing with the reſt of the ſilver and gold, do it according to the will of your God.

19 The veſſels alſo, that are given thee for the ſacrifice of the houſe of thy God, deliver thou in the ſight of God in Jeruſalem.

20 And whatſoever more there ſhall be need of for the houſe of thy God, how much ſoever thou ſhalt have occaſion to ſpend, it ſhall be given out of the treaſury, and the king's exchequer, and by me.

21 I Artaxerxes the king have ordered and decreed to all the keepers of the public cheſt, that are beyond the river, that whatſoever Eſdras the prieſt, the ſcribe of the law of the God of heaven, ſhall require of you, you give it without delay,

22 Unto a hundred talents of ſilver, and unto a hundred cores of wheat, and unto a hundred bates of wine, and unto a hundred bates of oil, and ſalt without meaſure.

23 All that belongeth to the rites of the God of heaven, let it be given diligently in the houſe of the God of heaven: leſt his wrath ſhould be enkindled againſt the realm of the king, and of his ſons.

24 We give you alſo to underſtand concerning all the prieſts, and the Levites, and the ſingers, and the porters, and the Nathinites, and miniſters of the houſe of this God, that you have no authority to impoſe toll or tribute, or cuſtom upon them.

25 And thou Eſdras according to the wiſdom of thy God, which is in thy hand, appoint judges and magiſtrates, that may judge all the people, that is beyond the river, that is, for them who know the law of thy God, yea and the ignorant teach ye freely.

26 And whoſoever will not do the law of thy God, and the law of the king diligently, judgment ſhall be executed upon him, either unto death, or unto baniſhment, or to the confiſcation of goods, or at leaſt to priſon.

27 Bleſſed be the Lord the God of our fathers, who hath put this in the king's heart, to glorify the houſe of the Lord, which is in Jeruſalem,

28 And hath inclined his mercy toward me before the king and his counſellors, and all the mighty princes of the king: and I being ſtrengthened by the hand of the Lord my God, which was upon me, gathered together out of Iſrael chief men to go up with me.

CHAP. VIII.

The companions of Eſdras. The faſt which he appointed. They bring the holy veſſels into the temple.

A. M. 3537. NOW theſe are the chiefs of families, and the genealogy of them, who came up with me from Babylon in the reign of Artaxerxes the king.

2 Of the ſons of Phinees, Gerſom. Of the ſons of Ithamar, Daniel. Of the ſons of David, Hattus.

3 Of the ſons of Sechenias, the ſon of Pharos, Zacharias, and with him were numbered a hundred and fifty men.

4 Of the ſons of Phahath Moab, Eleoenai the ſon of Zareha, and with him two hundred men.

5 Of the ſons of Sechenias, the ſon of Ezechiel, and with him three hundred men.

6 Of the ſons of Adan, Abed the ſon of Jonathan, and with him fifty men.

7 Of the ſons of Alam, Iſaias the ſon of Athalias, and with him ſeventy men.

8 Of the ſons of Saphatia, Zebedia the ſon of Michael, and with him eighty men.

9 Of the ſons of Joab, Obedia the ſon of Jahiel, and with him two hundred and eighteen men.

10 Of the ſons of Selomith, the ſon of Joſphia, and with him a hundred and ſixty men.

11 Of the ſons of Bebai, Zacharias the ſon of Bebai: and with him eight and twenty men.

12 Of the ſons of Azgad, Joanan the ſon of Eccetan, and with him a hundred and ten men.

13 Of the ſons of Adonicam, who were the laſt: and theſe are their names: Eliphelet, and Jehiel, and Samaias, and with them ſixty men.

14 Of the ſons of Begui, Uthai and Zachur, and with them ſeventy men.

15 And I gathered them together to the river, which runneth down to Ahava, and we ſtayed there three days: and I ſought among the people and among the prieſts for the ſons of Levi, and found none there.

16 So I ſent Eliezer, and Ariel, and Semeias, and Elnathan, and Jarib, and another Elnathan, and Nathan, and Zacharias, and Moſollam chief men: and Joiarib, and Elnathan wiſe men.

17 And I ſent them to Eddo, who is chief in the place of Chaſphia, and I put in their mouth the words that they ſhould ſpeak to Eddo, and his brethren the Nathinites in the place of Chaſphia, that they ſhould bring us miniſters of the houſe of our God.

18 And by the good hand of our God upon us, they brought us a moſt learned man of the ſons of Moholi the ſon of Levi the ſon of Iſrael, and Sarabias and his ſons, and his brethren eighteen,

19 And Haſabias, and with him Iſaias of the ſons of Merari, and his brethren, and his ſons twenty.

20 And of the Nathinites, whom David, and the princes gave for the ſervice of the Levites, Nathinites two hundred and twenty: all theſe were called by their names.

21 And I proclaimed there a faſt by the river Ahava, that we might afflict ourſelves before the Lord our God, and might aſk of him a right way for us and for our children, and for all our ſubſtance.

CHAP. VIII. VER. 21. And I proclaimed a faſt. It is not enough to part from Babylon, that is figuratively from ſin, but we muſt alſo do works of penance; and therefore Eſdras here proclaimed an extraordinary faſt to thoſe that were come from captivity. This ſhews that faſting was commanded and practiſed from the earlieſt times.

22 For I was ashamed to ask the king for aid and for horsemen, to defend us from the enemy in the way: because we had said to the king: The hand of our God is upon all them that seek him in goodness: and his power and strength, and wrath upon all them that forsake him.

23 And we fasted, and besought our God for this: and it fell out prosperously unto us.

24 And I separated twelve of the chief of the priests, Sarabias, and Hasabias, and with them ten of their brethren.

25 And I weighed unto them the silver and gold, and the vessels consecrated for the house of our God, which the king and his counsellors, and his princes, and all Israel, that were found had offered.

26 And I weighed to their hands six hundred and fifty talents of silver, and a hundred vessels of silver, a hundred talents of gold,

27 And twenty cups of gold, of a thousand solids, and two vessels of the best shining brass, beautiful as gold.

28 And I said to them: You are the holy ones of the Lord, and the vessels are holy, and the silver and gold, that is freely offered to the Lord the God of our fathers.

29 Watch ye and keep them, till you deliver them by weight before the chief of the priests, and of the Levites, and the heads of the families of Israel in Jerusalem, into the treasure of the house of the Lord.

30 And the priests and the Levites received the weight of the silver and gold, and the vessels, to carry them to Jerusalem to the house of our God.

31 Then we set forward from the river Ahava on the twelfth day of the first month to go to Jerusalem: and the hand of our God was upon us, and delivered us from the hand of the enemy, and of such as lay in wait by the way.

32 And we came to Jerusalem, and we stayed there three days.

33 And on the fourth day the silver, and the gold, and the vessels were weighed in the house of our God by the hand of Meremoth the son of Urias the priest, and with him was Eleazar the son of Phinees, and with them Jozabad the son of Josue, and Noadaia the son of Bennoi Levites.

34 According to the number and weight of every thing: and all the weight was written at that time.

35 Moreover the children of them that had been carried away that were come out of the captivity, offered holocausts to the God of Israel, twelve calves for all the people of Israel, ninety six rams, seventy seven lambs, and twelve he-goats for sin: all for a holocaust to the Lord.

36 And they gave the king's edicts to the lords that were from the king's court, and the governors beyond the river, and they furthered the people and the house of God.

CHAP. IX.

Esdras mourneth for the transgression of the people: his confession and prayer.

AND after these things were accomplished, the princes came to me, saying: The people of Israel, and the priests and Levites have not separated themselves from the people of the lands, and from their abominations, namely of the Chananites, and the Hethites, and the Pherezites, and the Jebusites, and the Ammonites, and the Moabites, and the Egyptians, and the Amorrhites. A. M. 3538. Ante C. 466.

2 For they have taken of their daughters for themselves and for their sons, and they have mingled the holy seed with the people of the lands. And the hand of the princes and magistrates hath been first in this transgression.

3 And when I had heard this word, I rent my mantle and my coat, and plucked off the hairs of my head and my beard, and I sat down mourning.

4 And there were assembled to me all that feared the God of Israel, because of the transgression of those, that were come from the captivity, and I sat sorrowful, until the evening sacrifice.

5 And at the evening sacrifice I rose up from my affliction, and having rent my mantle and my garment, I fell upon my knees, and spread out my hands to the Lord my God,

6 And said: My God I am confounded and ashamed to lift up my face to thee: for our iniquities are multiplied over our heads, and our sins are grown up even unto heaven,

7 From the days of our fathers: and we ourselves also have sinned grievously unto this day, and for our iniquities we and our kings, and our priests have been delivered into the hands of the kings of the lands, and to the sword, and to captivity, and to spoil, and to confusion of face, as it is at this day.

CHAP. IX. VER. 1. & 2. This shews how sinful it is to intermarry with those that the Church forbids us, on account of the danger of perversion and falling off from the true faith.

8 And now as a little, and for a moment has our prayer been made before the Lord our God, to leave us a remnant, and give us a pin in his holy place, and that our God would enlighten our eyes, and would give us a little life in our bondage.

9 For we are bondmen, and in our bondage our God hath not forsaken us, but hath extended mercy upon us before the king of the Persians, to give us life, and to set up the house of our God, and to rebuild the desolations thereof, and to give us a fence in Juda and Jerusalem.

10 And now, O our God, what shall we say after this? for we have forsaken thy commandments,

11 Which thou hast commanded by the hand of thy servants the prophets, saying: The land which you go to possess, is an unclean land, according to the uncleanness of the people, and of other lands, with their abominations who have filled it from mouth to mouth with their filth.

‖ Deut. 7. 3. 12 ‖ Now therefore give not your daughters to their sons, and take not their daughters for your sons, and seek not their peace, nor their prosperity for ever; that you may be strengthened, and may eat the good things of the land, and may have your children your heirs for ever.

13 And after all that is come upon us, for our most wicked deeds, and our great sin, seeing that thou our God hast saved us from our iniquity, and hast given us a deliverance as at this day,

14 That we should not turn away, nor break thy commandments, nor join in marriage with the people of these abominations. Art thou angry with us unto utter destruction, not to leave us a remnant to be saved?

15 O Lord God of Israel, thou art just: for we remain yet to be saved as at this day. Behold we are before thee in our sin, for there can be no standing before thee in this matter.

CHAP. X.

Oder is taken for discharging strange women: the names of the guilty.

A. M. 3538. Ante C. 466. NOW when Esdras was thus praying, and beseeching, and weeping, and lying before the temple of God, there was gathered to him of Israel an exceeding great assembly of men and women and children, and the people wept with much lamentation.

2 And Sechenias the son of Jehiel of the sons of Elam answered, and said to Esdras: We have sinned against our God, and have taken strange wives of the people of the land: and now, if there be repentance in Israel concerning this,

3 Let us make a covenant with the Lord our God, to put away all the wives, and such as are born of them, according to the will of the Lord, and of them that fear the commandment of the Lord our God: let it be done according to the law.

4 Arise, it is thy part to give orders, and we will be with thee: take courage, and do it.

5 So Esdras arose, and made the chiefs of the priests and of the Levites, and all Israel, to swear that they would do according to this word, and they swore.

6 And Esdras rose up from before the house of God, and went to the chamber of Johanan the son of Eliasib, and entered in thither, he eat no bread, and drank no water: for he mourned for the transgression of them that were come out of the captivity.

7 And proclamation was made in Juda and Jerusalem to all the children of the captivity, that they should assemble together into Jerusalem.

8 And that whosoever would not come within three days, according to the counsel of the princes and the ancients, all his substance should be taken away, and he should be cast out of the company of them that were returned from captivity.

9 Then all the men of Juda, and Benjamin gathered themselves together to Jerusalem within three days, in the ninth month, the twentieth day of the month: and all the people sat in the street of the house of God, trembling because of the sin, and the rain.

10 And Esdras the priest stood up, and said to them: You have transgressed, and taken strange wives, to add to the sins of Israel.

11 And now make confession to the Lord the God of your fathers, and do his pleasure, and separate yourselves from the people of the land, and from your strange wives.

12 And all the multitude answered and said with a loud voice: According to thy word unto us, so be it done.

13 But as the people are many, and it is time of rain, and we are not able to stand without, and it is not a work of one day or two (for we have exceedingly sinned in this matter)

14 Let rulers be appointed in all the multitude: and in all our cities, let them that have taken ſtrange wives come at the times appointed, and with them the ancients and the judges of every city, until the wrath of our God be turned away from us for this ſin.

VER. 8. A pin or nail: here signifies a small settlement or holding; which Esdras begs for, to preserve even a part of the people, who, by their great iniquity, had incurred the anger of God.

15 Then Jonathan the ſon of Azahel, and Jaaſia the ſon of Thecua were appointed over this, and Meſollam and Sebethai Levites helped them:

16 And the children of the captivity did ſo. And Eſdras the prieſt, and the men heads of the families in the houſes of their fathers, and all by their names, went and ſat down in the firſt day of the tenth month to examine the matter.

17 And they made an end with all the men that had taken ſtrange wives, by the firſt day of the firſt month.

18 And there were found among the ſons of the prieſts that had taken ſtrange wives. Of the ſons of Joſue the ſon of Joſedec, and his brethren, Maaſia, and Eliezer, and Jarib, and Godolia.

19 And they gave their hands to put away their wives, and to offer for their offence a ram of the flock.

20 And of the ſons of Emmer, Hanani, and Zebedia.

21 And of the ſons of Harim, Maaſia, and Elia, and Semeia, and Jehiel, and Ozias.

22 And of the ſons of Pheſhur, Elioenai, Maaſia, Iſmael, Nathanael, Jozabed, and Elaſa.

23 And of the ſons of the Levites, Jozabed, and Semei, and Celaia, the ſame is Calita, Phataia, Juda, and Eliezer.

24 And of the ſinging-men, Eliſiab: and of the porters, Sellum, and Telem, and Uri.

25 And of Iſrael, of the ſons of Pharos, Remeia, and Jezia, and Melchia, and Miamin, and Eliezer, and Melchia, and Banea.

26 And of the ſons of Elam, Mathania, Zacharias, and Jehiel, and Abdi, and Jerimoth, and Elia.

27 And of the ſons of Zethua, Elioenai, Eliaſib, Mathania, Jerimuth, and Zabad, and Aziza.

28 And of the ſons of Bebai, Johanan, Hanania, Zabbai, Athalai:

29 And of the ſons of Bani, Moſollam, and Melluch, and Adaia, Jaſub, and Saal, and Ramoth.

30 And of the ſons of Phahath Moab, Edna and Chalal, Banaias, and Maaſias, Mathanias, Beſeleel, Bennui, and Manaſſe.

31 And of the ſons of Herem, Eliezer, Joſue, Melchias, Semeias, Simeon, 32 Benjamin, Maloch, Samarias.

33 And of the ſons of Haſom, Mathanai, Mathatha, Zabad, Eliphelet, Jermai, Manaſſe, Semei.

34 Of the ſons of Bani, Maaddi, Amram, and Uel,

35 Baneas, and Badaias, Cheliau,

36 Vania, Marimuth, and Eliaſib,

37 Mathanias, Mathania, and Jaſi,

38 And Bani, and Bennui, Semei,

39 And Salmias, and Nathan, and Adaias,

40 And Mechnedebai, Siſai, Sarai,

41 Ezrel, and Selemiau, Semeria,

42 Sellum, Amaria, Joſeph.

43 Of the ſons of Nebo, Jehiel, Mathathias, Zabad, Zabina, Jeddu, and Joel, and Banaia.

44 All theſe had taken ſtrange wives, and there were among them women that had borne children.

THE

BOOK OF NEHEMIAS,

WHICH IS CALLED THE SECOND OF ESDRAS.

This book takes its name from the writer, who was cup-bearer to Artaxerxes (ſurnamed Longimanus) king of Perſia, and was ſent by him with a commiſſion to rebuild the walls of Jeruſalem. It is alſo called the ſecond book of Eſdras; becauſe it is a continuation of the hiſtory, begun by Eſdras, of the ſtate of the people of God after their return from captivity.

CHAP. I.

Nehemias hearing the miſerable ſtate of his countrymen in Judea, lamenteth, faſteth, and prayeth to God for their relief.

A M. 3550. Ante C. 454. THE words of Nehemias the ſon of Helchias. And it came to paſs in the month of Caſleu, in the twentieth year, as I was in the caſtle of Suſa.

2 That Hanani one of my brethren came, he and ſome men of Juda; and I aſked them concerning the Jews, that remained and were left of the captivity, and concerning Jeruſalem.

3 And they ſaid to me: They that have remained, and are left of the captivity there in the province, are in great affliction, and reproach: and the wall of Jeruſalem is broken down, and the gates thereof are burnt with fire.

4 And when I had heard theſe words, I ſat down, and wept, and mourned for many days: and I faſted, and prayed before the face of the God of heaven.

5 And I ſaid: ‖ I beſeech thee, O Lord God of heaven, ſtrong, great, and terrible, who keepeſt covenant and mercy with thoſe that love thee, and keep thy commandments: ‖ Dan. 9. 4.

6 Let thy ears be attentive, and thy eyes open, to hear the prayer of thy ſervant, which I pray before thee now, night and day for the children of Iſrael thy ſervants: and I confeſs the ſins of the children of Iſrael, by which they have ſinned againſt thee: I and my father's houſe have ſinned.

7 We have been ſeduced by vanity, and have not kept thy commandments, and ceremonies and judgments, which thou haſt commanded thy ſervant Moſes.

8 Remember the word that thou commandeſt to Moſes thy ſervant, ſaying: If you ſhall tranſgreſs, I will ſcatter you abroad among the nations:

9 But if you return to me, and keep my commandments, and do them, though you ſhould be led away to the uttermoſt parts of the world, I will gather you from thence, and bring you back to the place which I have chosen for my name to dwell there.

10 And these are thy servants, and thy people: whom thou hast redeemed by thy great strength, and by thy mighty hand.

11 I beseech thee, O Lord, let thy ear be attentive to the prayer of thy servant, and to the prayer of thy servants who desire to fear thy name: and direct thy servant this day, and give him mercy before this man. For I was the king's cup-bearer.

CHAP. II.

Nehemias with commission from king Artaxerxes cometh to Jerusalem: and exhorteth the Jews to rebuild the walls.

A. M. 3550. Ante C. 454. AND it came to pass in the month of Nisan, in the twentieth year of Artaxerxes the king: that wine was before him, and I took up the wine, and gave it to the king: and I was as one languishing away before his face.

2 And the king said to me: Why is thy countenance sad, seeing thou dost not appear to be sick? this is not without cause, but some evil I know not what, is in thy heart. And I was seized with an exceeding great fear:

3 And I said to the king: O king live for ever: why should not my countenance be sorrowful, seeing the city of the place of the sepulchres of my fathers is desolate, and the gates thereof are burnt with fire?

4 Then the king said to me: For what dost thou make request? And I prayed to the God of heaven,

5 And I said to the king: If it seem good to the king, and if thy servant hath found favour in thy sight, that thou wouldst send me into Judea to the city of the sepulchre of my father, and I will build it.

6 And the king said to me, and the queen that sat by him: For how long shall thy journey be, and when wilt thou return? And it pleased the king, and he sent me: and I fixed him a time.

7 And I said to the king: If it seem good to the king, let him give me letters to the governors of the country beyond the river, that they convey me over, till I come into Judea:

8 And a letter to Asaph the keeper of the king's forest, to give me timber that I may cover the gates of the tower of the house, and the walls of the city, and the house that I shall enter into. And the king gave me according to the good hand of my God with me.

9 And I came to the governors of the country beyond the river, and gave them the king's letters. And the king had sent with me captains of soldiers, and horsemen.

10 And Sanaballat the Horonite, and Tobias the servant the Ammonite heard it, and it grieved them exceedingly, that a man was come, who sought the prosperity of the children of Israel.

11 And I came to Jerusalem, and was there three days.

12 And I arose in the night, I and some few men with me, and I told not any man what God had put in my heart to do in Jerusalem, and there was no beast with me, but the beast that I rode upon.

13 And I went out by night by the gate of the valley, and before the dragon-fountain, and to the dung-gate, and I viewed the wall of Jerusalem which was broken down, and the gates thereof which were consumed with fire.

14 And I passed to the gate of the fountain, and to the king's aqueduct, and there was no place for the beast on which I rode to pass.

15 And I went up in the night by the torrent, and viewed the wall, and going back I came to the gate of the valley, and returned.

16 But the magistrates knew not whither I went, or what I did: neither had I as yet told any thing to the Jews, or to the priests, or to the nobles, or to the magistrates, or to the rest that did the work.

17 Then I said to them: You know the affliction wherein we are, because Jerusalem is desolate, and the gates thereof are consumed with fire: come, and let us build up the walls of Jerusalem, and let us be no longer a reproach.

18 And I shewed them how the hand of my God was good with me, and the king's words, which he had spoken to me, and I said: Let us rise up, and build. And their hands were strengthened in good.

19 But Sanaballat the Horonite, and Tobias the servant the Ammonite, and Gossem the Arabian heard of it, and they scoffed at us, and despised us, and said: What is this thing that you do? are you going to rebel against the king?

20 And I answered them, and said to them: The God of heaven he helpeth us, and we are his servants: let us rise up and build: but you have no part, nor justice, nor remembrance in Jerusalem.

CHAP. III.

They begin to build the walls: the names and order of the builders.

A. M. 3550. Ante C. 454. THEN Eliasib the high priest arose, and his brethren the priests, and they built the flock-gate: they sanctified it, and set up the doors thereof, even unto the tower of a hundred cubits they sanctified it unto the tower of Hananeel.

2 And next to him the men of Jericho built: and next to them built Zachur the son of Amri.

3 But the fish-gate the sons of Asnaa built: they covered it, and set up the doors thereof, and the locks, and the bars. And next to them built Marimuth the son of Urias the son of Accus.

4 And next to him built Mosollam the son of Barachias, the son of Merezebel, and next to them built Sadoc the son of Baana.

5 And next to them the Thecunites built: but their great men did not put their necks to the work of their Lord.

6 And Joiada the son of Phasea, and Mosollam the son of Besodia built the old gate: they covered it and set up the doors thereof, and the locks, and the bars.

7 And next to them built Meltias the Gabaonite, and Jadon the Meronathite, the men of Gabaon and Maspha, for the governor that was in the country beyond the river.

8 And next to him built Eziel the son of Araia the goldsmith: and next to him built Ananias the son of the perfumer: and they left Jerusalem unto the wall of the broad-street.

9 And next to him built Raphaia the son of Hur, lord of the street of Jerusalem.

10 And next to him Jedaia the son of Haromaph over-against his own house: and next to him built Hattus the son of Hasebonia.

11 Melchias the son of Herem, and Hasub the son of Phahath Moab, built half the street, and the tower of the furnaces.

12 And next to him built Sellum the son of Alohes lord, of half the street of Jerusalem, he and his daughters.

13 And the gate of the valley Hanun built, and the inhabitants of Zanoe: they built it, and set up the doors thereof, and the locks, and the bars, and a thousand cubits in the wall unto the gate of the dunghil.

14 And the gate of the dunghil Melchias the son of Rechab built, lord of the street of Bethacharam: he built it, and set up the doors thereof, and the locks, and the bars.

15 And the gate of the fountain Sellum the son of Cholhoza built, lord of the street of Maspha: he built it, and covered it, and set up the doors thereof, and the locks, and the bars, and the walls of the pool of Siloe unto the king's guard, and unto the steps that go down from the city of David.

16 After him built Nehemias the son of Azboc, lord of half the street of Bethsur, as far as over-against the sepulchre of David, and to the pool, that was built with great labour, and to the house of the mighty.

17 After him built the Levites, Rehum the son of Benni. After him built Hasebias, lord of half the street of Ceila in his own street.

18 After him built their brethren Bavai the son of Enadad, lord of half Ceila.

19 And next to him Aser the son of Josue, lord of Maspha, built another measure, over-against the going up of the strong corner.

20 After him in the mount Baruch the son of Zachai built another measure, from the corner to the door of the house of Eliasib the high priest.

21 After him Merimuth the son of Urias the son of Haccus, built another measure, from the door of the house of Eliasib, to the end of the house of Eliasib.

22 And after him built the priests, the men of the plains of the Jordan.

23 After him built Benjamin and Hasub, over-against their own house: and after him built Azarias the son of Maasias the son of Ananias over-against his house.

24 After him built Bennui the son of Hanadad another measure, from the house of Azarias unto the bending, and unto the corner.

25 Phalel the son of Ozi over-against the bending and the tower, which lieth out from the king's high house, that is, in the court of the prison: after him Phadaia the son of Pharos.

26 And the Nathinites dwelt in Ophel, as far as over-against the water-gate toward the east, and the tower that stood out.

27 After him the Thecuites built another measure over-against, from the great tower that standeth out unto the wall of the temple.

28 And upward from the horse-gate the priests built, every man over-against his house.

29 After them built Sadoc the son of Emmer over-against his house. And after him built Semaia the son of Sechenias, keeper of the east-gate.

30 After him built Hanania the son of Selemia, and Hanun the sixth son of Seleph, another measure: after him built Mosollam the son of Barachias, over-against his treasury. After him Melchias the goldsmith's son built unto the house of the Nathinites, and of the sellers of small wares, over-against the judgment gate, and unto the chamber of the corner.

31 And within the chamber of the corner of the flock-gate, the goldsmiths and the merchants built.

CHAP. IV.

The building is carried on notwithstanding the opposition of their enemies.

A. M. 3550. AND it came to pass, that when Sanaballat heard that we were building the wall, he was angry: and being moved exceedingly he scoffed at the Jews.

2 And said before his brethren, and the multitude of the Samaritans: What are the silly Jews doing? Will the Gentiles let them alone? will they sacrifice and make an end in a day? are they able to raise stones out of the heaps of the rubbish, which are burnt?

3 Tobias also the Ammonite who was by him said: Let them build: if a fox go up, he will leap over their stone wall.

4 Hear thou our God, for we are despised: turn their reproach upon their own head, and give them to be despised in a land of captivity.

5 Cover not their iniquity, and let not their sin be blotted out from before thy face, because they have mocked thy builders.

6 So we built the wall, and joined it all together unto the half thereof: and the heart of the people was excited to work.

7 And it came to pass, when Sanaballat, and Tobias, and the Arabians, and the Ammonites, and the Azotians heard that the walls of Jerusalem were made up, and the breaches began to be closed, that they were exceedingly angry.

8 And they all assembled themselves together, to come, and to fight against Jerusalem, and to prepare ambushes.

9 And we prayed to our God, and set watchmen upon the wall day and night against them.

10 And Juda said: The strength of the bearer of burdens is decayed, and the rubbish is very much, and we shall not be able to build the wall.

11 And our enemies said: Let them not know, nor understand, till we come in the midst of them, and kill them, and cause the work to cease.

12 And it came to pass, that when the Jews that dwelt by them, came and told us ten times, out of all the places from whence they came to us,

13 I set the people in the place behind the wall round about in order, with their swords, and spears, and bows.

14 And I looked and rose up: and I said to the chief men and the magistrates, and to the rest of the common people: Be not afraid of them. Remember the Lord who is great and terrible, and fight for your brethren, your sons, and your daughters, and your wives, and your houses.

15 And it came to pass, when our enemies heard that the thing had been told us, that God defeated their counsel. And we returned all of us to the walls, every man to his work.

16 And it came to pass from that day forward, that half of their young men did the work, and half were ready for to fight, with spears, and shields, and bows, and coats of mail, and the rulers were behind them in all the house of Juda.

17 Of them that built on the wall and that carried burdens, and that laded: with one of his hands he did the work, and with the other he held a sword.

18 For every one of the builders was girded with a sword about his reins. And they built, and sounded with a trumpet by me.

19 And I said to the nobles, and to the magistrates, and to the rest of the common people: The work is great and wide, and we are separated on the wall one far from another:

20 In what place soever you shall hear the sound of the trumpet, run all thither unto us: our God will fight for us.

21 And let us do the work: and let one half of us hold our spears from the rising of the morning, till the stars appear.

22 At that time also I said to the people: Let every one with his servant stay in the midst of Jerusalem, and let us take our turns in the night, and by day, to work.

23 Now I and my brethren, and my servants, and the watchmen, that followed me, did not put off our cloths: only every man stript himself when he was to be washed.

CHAP. V.

Nehemias blameth the rich, for their oppressing the poor. His exhortation, and bounty to his countrymen.

NOW there was a great cry of the people, and of their wives against their brethren the Jews. A. M. 3550.

2 And there were ſome that ſaid: Our ſons and our daughters are very many: let us take up corn for the price of them, and let us eat and live.

3 And there were ſome that ſaid: Let us mortgage our lands, and our vineyards, and our houſes, and let us take corn becauſe of the famine.

4 And others ſaid: Let us borrow money for the king's tribute, and let us give up our fields and vineyards:

5 And now our fleſh is as the fleſh of our brethren: and our children as their children. Behold we bring into bondage our ſons, and our daughters, and ſome of our daughters are bond-women already, neither have we wherewith to redeem them, and our fields and our vineyards other men poſſeſs.

6 And I was exceeding angry, when I heard their cry according to theſe words.

7 And my heart thought with myſelf: and I rebuked the nobles and magiſtrates, and ſaid to them: Do you every one exact uſury of your brethren? And I gathered together a great aſſembly againſt them,

8 And I ſaid to them: We, as you know, have redeemed according to our ability our brethren the Jews, that were ſold to the Gentiles: and will you then ſell your brethren, for us to redeem them? And they held their peace, and found not what to anſwer.

9 And I ſaid to them: The thing you do is not good: why walk you not in the fear of our God, that we be not expoſed to the reproaches of the Gentiles our enemies?

10 Both I and my brethren, and my ſervants, have lent money and corn to many: let us all agree not to call for it again, let us forgive the debt that is owing to us.

11 Reſtore ye to them this day their fields, and their vine-yards, and their olive-yards, and their houſes: and the hundredth part of the money, and of the corn, the wine, and the oil, which you were wont to exact of them, give it rather for them.

12 And they ſaid: We will reſtore, and we will require nothing of them: and we will do ſo as thou ſayeſt. And I called the prieſts, and took an oath of them, to do according to what I had ſaid.

13 Moreover I ſhook my lap, and ſaid: So may God ſhake every man that ſhall not accompliſh this word, out of his houſe, and out of his labours, thus may he be ſhaken out, and become empty. And all the multitude ſaid: Amen. And they praiſed God. And the people did according to what was ſaid.

14 And from the day, in which the king commanded me to be governor in the land of Juda, from the twentieth year even to the two and thirtieth year of Artaxerxes the king, for twelve years, I and my brethren did not eat the yearly allowance that was due to the governors.

15 But the former governors that had been before me, were chargeable to the people, and took of them in bread, and wine, and in money every day forty ſicles: and their officers alſo oppreſſed the people. But I did not ſo for the fear of God.

16 Moreover I built in the work of the wall, and I bought no land, and all my ſervants were gathered together to the work.

17 The Jews alſo and the magiſtrates to the number of one hundred fifty men, were at my table, beſides them that came to us from among the nations that were round about us.

18 And there was prepared for me day by day one ox, and ſix choice rams, beſides fowls, and once in ten days I gave ſtore of divers wines, and many other things: yet I did not require my yearly allowance as governor: for the people were very much impoveriſhed.

19 Remember me, O my God, for good according to all that I have done for this people.

CHAP. VI.

The enemies ſeek to terrify Nehemias. He proceedeth and finiſheth the wall.

AND it came to paſs, when Sanaballat, and Tobias, and Goſſem the Arabian, and the reſt of our enemies, heard that I had built the wall, and that there was no breach left in it (though at that time I had not ſet up the doors in the gates), A. M. 3550.

2 Sanaballat and Goſſem ſent to me, ſaying: Come, and let us make a league together in the villages, in the plain of Ono. But they thought to do me miſchief.

3 And I ſent meſſengers to them, ſaying: I am doing a great work, and I cannot come down, leſt it be neglected whilſt I come, and go down to you.

4 And they ſent to me according to this word, four times: and I anſwered them after the ſame manner.

5 And Sanaballat ſent his ſervant to me the fifth time according to the former word, and he had a letter in his hand written in this manner:

6 It is reported amongſt the Gentiles, and Goſſem hath ſaid it, that thou and the Jews think to rebel, and therefore thou buildeſt the wall, and haſt a mind to ſet thyſelf king over them: for which end

7 Thou haſt alſo ſet up prophets, to preach of thee at Jeruſalem, ſaying: There is a king in Judea. The king will hear of theſe things: therefore come now, that we may take counſel together.

8 And I ſent to them, ſaying: There is no ſuch thing done as thou ſayeſt: but thou feigneſt theſe things out of thy own heart.

9 For all theſe men thought to frighten us, thinking that our hands would ceaſe from the work, and that we would leave off. Wherefore I ſtrengthened my hands the more:

10 And I went into the houſe of Samaia the ſon of Delaia the ſon of Metabeel privately. And he ſaid: Let us conſult together in the houſe of God in the midſt of the temple: and let us ſhut the doors of the temple, for they will come to kill thee, and in the night they will come to ſlay thee.

11 And I ſaid: Should ſuch a man as I flee? and who is there that being as I am, would go into the temple, to ſave his life? I will not go in.

12 And I underſtood that God had not ſent him, but that he had ſpoken to me as if he had been propheſying, and Tobias, and Sanaballat had hired him.

13 For he had taken money, that I being afraid ſhould do this thing, and ſin, and they might have ſome evil to upbraid me withal.

14 Remember me, O Lord, for Tobias and Sanaballat, according to their works of this kind: and Noadias the prophet, and the reſt of the prophets that would have put me in fear.

15 But the wall was finiſhed the five and twentieth day of the month of Elul, in two and fifty days.

16 And it came to paſs when all our enemies heard of it, that all nations which were round about us, were afraid, and were caſt down within themſelves, for they perceived that this work was the work of God.

17 Moreover in thoſe days many letters were ſent by the principal men of the Jews to Tobias, and from Tobias there came letters to them.

18 For there were many in Judea ſworn to him, becauſe he was the ſon-in-law of Sechenias the ſon of Area, and Johanan his ſon had taken to wife the daughter of Moſollam the ſon of Barachias.

19 And they praiſed him alſo before me, and they related my words to him: and Tobias ſent letters to put me in fear.

CHAP. VII.

Nehemias appointeth watchmen in Jeruſalem. The liſt of thoſe who came firſt from Babylon.

NOW after the wall was built, and I had ſet up the doors, and numbered the porters and ſinging-men, and Levites: A. M. 3550. Eccli. 49. 15.

2 I commanded Hanani my brother, and Hananias ruler of the houſe of Jeruſalem (for he ſeemed as a ſincere man, and one that feared God above the reſt),

3 And I ſaid to them: Let not the gates of Jeruſalem be opened till the ſun be hot. And while they were yet ſtanding by, the gates were ſhut, and barred: and I ſet watchmen of the inhabitants of Jeruſalem, every one by their courſes, and every man over-againſt his houſe.

4 And the city was very wide and great, and the people few in the midſt thereof, and the houſes were not built.

5 But God had put in my heart, and I aſſembled the princes and magiſtrates, and common people, to number them: and I found a book of the number of them who came up at the firſt, and therein it was found written:

6 ‖ Theſe are the children of the province, who came up from the captivity of them that had been carried away, whom Nabuchodonoſor the king of Babylon had carried away, and who returned into Judea, every one into his own city. ‖ 1. Eſdr. 2. 1.

7 Who came with Zorobabel, Joſue, Nehemias, Azarias, Raamias, Nahamani, Mardochai, Belſam, Meſpharath, Begoai, Nahum, Baana. The number of the men of the people of Iſrael:

8 The children of Pharos, two thouſand one hundred ſeventy two.

9 The children of Sephatia, three hundred ſeventy two.

10 The children of Area, ſix hundred fifty two.

11 The children of Phahathmoab of the children of Joſue and Joab, two thouſand eight hundred eighteen.

12 The children of Elam, one thouſand two hundred fifty four.

13 The children of Zethua, eight hundred forty five.

14 The children of Zachai, ſeven hundred ſixty.

15 The children of Bannui, ſix hundred forty eight.

16 The children of Bebai, ſix hundred twenty eight.

17 The children of Azgad, two thouſand three hundred twenty two.

18 The children of Adonicam, ſix hundred ſixty ſeven.
19 The children of Beguai, two thouſand ſixty ſeven.
20 The children of Adin, ſix hundred fifty five.
21 The children of Ater, children of Hezecias, ninety eight.
22 The children of Haſem, three hundred twenty eight.
23 The children of Beſai, three hundred twenty four.
24 The children of Hareph, a hundred and twelve.
25 The children of Gabaon, ninety five.
26 The children of Bethlehem, and Netupha, a hundred eighty eight.
27 The men of Anathoth, a hundred twenty eight.
28 The men of Bethazmoth, forty two.
29 The men of Cariathiarim, Cephira, and Beroth, ſeven hundred forty three.
30 The men of Rama and Geba, ſix hundred twenty one.
31 The men of Machmas, a hundred twenty two.
32 The men of Bethel and Hai, a hundred twenty three.
33 The men of the other Nebo, fifty two.
34 The men of the other Elam, one thouſand two hundred fifty four.
35 The children of Harem, three hundred and twenty.
36 The children of Jericho, three hundred forty five.
37 The children of Lod, of Hadid and Ono, ſeven hundred twenty one.
38 The children of Senaa, three thouſand nine hundred thirty.
39 The prieſts: The children of Idaia in the houſe of Joſue, nine hundred and ſeventy three.
40 The children of Emmer, one thouſand fifty two.
41 The children of Phaſhur, one thouſand two hundred forty ſeven.
42 The children of Arem, one thouſand and ſeventeen: The Levites:
43 The children of Joſue and Cedmihel, the ſons
44 Of Oduia, ſeventy four: The ſinging men:
45 The children of Aſaph, a hundred forty eight.
47 The Nathinites: The children of Soha, the children of Haſupha, the children of Tebbaoth,
50 The children of Raaia, the children of Raſin, the children of Necoda,
51 The children of Gezem, the children of Aſa, the children of Phaſea,
52 The children of Beſai, the children of Munim, the children of Nephuſſim,
54 The children of Beſloth, the children of Mahida, the children of Harſa,
55 The children of Bercos, the children of Siſara, the children of Thema,
56 The children of Naſia, the children of Hatipha,
57 The children of the ſervants of Solomon, the children of Sothai, the children of Sophereth, the children of Pharida,
59 The children of Saphatia, the children of Hatil, the children of Phochereth, who was born of Sabaim, the ſon of Amon.
60 All the Nathinites, and the children of the ſervants of Solomon, three hundred ninety two.
61 And theſe are they that came up from Telmela, Thelharſa, Cherub, Addon, and Emmer: and could not ſhew the houſe of their fathers, nor their ſeed, whether they were of Iſrael.
62 The children of Dalaia, the children of Tobia, the children of Necoda, ſix hundred forty two.
63 And of the prieſts, the children of Habia, the children of Accos, the children of Berzellai, who took a wife of the daughters of Berzellai the Galaadite, and he was called by their name.
64 Theſe ſought their writing in the record, and found it not: and they were caſt out of the prieſthood.
65 And Atherſatha ſaid to them: That they ſhould not eat of the Holies of Holies, until there ſtood up a prieſt learned and ſkilful.
66 All the multitude as it were one man forty two thouſand three hundred ſixty,
67 Beſide their men-ſervants and women-ſervants, who were ſeven thouſand three hundred thirty ſeven: and among them ſinging men, and ſinging women, two hundred forty five.

68 Their horſes, ſeven hundred thirty ſix: their mules, two hundred forty five:

69 Their camels, four hundred thirty five, their aſſes, ſix thouſand ſeven hundred and twenty.

Hitherto is related what was written in the record. From this place forward goeth on the hiſtory of Nehemias.

70 And ſome of the heads of the families gave unto the work. Atherſatha gave into the treaſure a thouſand drams of gold, fifty bowls, and five hundred and thirty garments for prieſts.

71 And ſome of the heads of families gave to the treaſure of the work, twenty thouſand drams of gold, and two thouſand two hundred pounds of ſilver.

72 And that which the reſt of the people gave, was twenty thouſand drams of gold, and two thouſand pounds of ſilver, and ſixty ſeven garments for prieſts.

73 And the prieſts, and the Levites, and the porters, and the ſinging men, and the reſt of the common people, and the Nathinites, and all Iſrael dwelt in their cities.

CHAP. VIII.

Eſdras readeth the law before the people. Nehemias comforteth them. They celebrate the feaſt of tabernacles.

A. M. 3551. Ante C. 453. AND the ſeventh month came: and the children of Iſrael were in their cities. And all the people were gathered together as one man to the ſtreet which is before the water-gate, and they ſpoke to Eſdras the ſcribe, to bring the book of the law of Moſes, which the Lord had commanded to Iſrael.

2 Then Eſdras the prieſt brought the law before the multitude of men and women, and all thoſe that could underſtand, in the firſt day of the ſeventh month.

3 And he read it plainly in the ſtreet that was before the water-gate, from the morning until mid-day, before the men, and the women, and all thoſe that could underſtand: and the ears of all the people were attentive to the book.

4 And Eſdras the ſcribe ſtood upon a ſtep of wood, which he had made to ſpeak upon: and there ſtood by him Mathathias, and Semeia, and Ania, and Uria, and Helcia, and Maaſia, on his right hand: and on the left, Phadaia, Miſael, and Melchia, and Haſum, and Haſbadana, Zacharia and Moſollam.

5 And Eſdras opened the book before all the people: for he was above all the people: and when he had opened it, all the people ſtood.

6 And Eſdras bleſſed the Lord the great God: and all the people anſwered: Amen, amen: lifting up their hands: and they bowed down, and adored God with their faces to the ground.

7 Now Joſue, and Bani, and Serebia, Jamin, Accub, Septhai, Odia, Maaſia, Celita, Azarias, Jozabed, Hanan, Phalaia, the Levites, made ſilence among the people to hear the law: and the people ſtood in their place.

8 And they read in the book of the law of God diſtinctly and plainly to be underſtood: and they underſtood when it was read.

9 And Nehemias (he is Atherſatha) and Eſdras the prieſt and ſcribe, and the Levites who interpreted to all the people, ſaid: This is a holy day to the Lord our God: do not mourn, nor weep: for all the people wept, when they heard the words of the law.

10 And he ſaid to them: Go, eat fat meats, and drink ſweet wine, and ſend portions to them that have not prepared for themſelves: becauſe it is the holy day of the Lord, and be not ſad: for the joy of the Lord is our ſtrength.

11 And the Levites ſtilled all the people, ſaying: Hold your peace, for the day is holy, and be not ſorrowful.

12 So all the people went to eat and drink, and to ſend portions, and to make great mirth: becauſe they underſtood the words that he had taught them.

13 And on the ſecond day the chiefs of the families of all the people, the prieſts, and the Levites were gathered together to Eſdras the ſcribe, that he ſhould interpret to them the words of the law.

14 And they found written in the law, that the Lord had commanded by the hand of Moſes, that the children of Iſrael ſhould dwell in tabernacles, on the feaſt, in the ſeventh month:

15 And that they ſhould proclaim and publiſh the word in all their cities, and in Jeruſalem, ſaying: Go forth to the mount, and fetch branches of olive, and branches of beautiful wood, branches of myrtle, and branches of palm, and branches of thick trees, to make tabernacles, as it is written.

CHAP. VII. VER. 70. Atherſatha. That is, Nehemias; as appears from chap. xii. Either that he was ſo called at the court of the king of Perſia, where he was cup-bearer: or that, as ſome think, this name ſignifies governor; and he was at that time governor of Judea.

16 And the people went forth, and brought. And they made themſelves tabernacles every man on the top of his houſe, and in their courts, and in the courts of the houſe of God, and in the ſtreet of the water-gate, and in the ſtreet of the gate of Ephraim.

17 And all the aſſembly of them that were returned from the captivity, ‖ made tabernacles, and dwelt in tabernacles: for ſince the days of Joſue the ſon of Nun the children of Iſrael had not done ſo, until that day: and there was exceeding great joy.

18 And he read in the book of the law of God day by day, from the firſt day till the laſt, and they kept the ſolemnity ſeven days, and in the eighth day a ſolemn aſſembly according to the manner.

CHAP. IX.

The people repent with faſting and ſack-cloth. The Levites confeſs God's benefits, and the people's ingratitude: they pray for them, and make a covenant with God.

A. M. 3551. AND in the four and twentieth day of the month the children of Iſrael came together with faſting and with ſack-cloth, and earth upon them.

2 And the ſeed of the children of Iſrael ſeparated themſelves from every ſtranger: and they ſtood, and confeſſed their ſins, and the iniquities of their fathers.

3 And they roſe up to ſtand: and they read in the book of the law of the Lord their God, four times in the day, and four times they confeſſed, and adored the Lord their God.

4 And there ſtood up upon the ſtep of the Levites Joſue, and Bani, and Cedmihel, Sabania, Bonni, Sarebias, Bani, and Chanani: and they cried with a loud voice to the Lord their God.

5 And the Levites Joſue and Cedmihel, Bonni, Haſebnia, Serebia, Odaia, Sebnia, and Phathahia, ſaid: Ariſe, bleſs the Lord your God from eternity to eternity: and bleſſed be the high name of thy glory with all bleſſing and praiſe.

6 Thou thyſelf, O Lord, alone, thou haſt made heaven, and the heaven of heavens, and all the hoſt thereof: the earth and all things that are in it: the ſeas and all that are therein: and thou giveſt life to all theſe things, and the hoſt of heaven adoreth thee.

7 Thou, O Lord God, art he who choſeſt Abram, ‖ and broughteſt him forth out of the fire of the Chaldeans, and gaveſt him the name of Abraham.

‖ Gen. 11. 31.

8 And thou didſt find his heart faithful before thee: and thou madeſt a covenant with him, to give him the land of the Chananite, of the Hethite, and of the Amorrhite, and of the Pherezite, and of Jebuſite, and of the Gergeſite, to give it to his ſeed: and thou haſt fulfilled thy words, becauſe thou art juſt.

9 And thou ſaweſt the affliction of our fathers in Egypt: and thou didſt hear their cry by the Red ſea.

10 And thou ſhewedſt ſigns and wonders upon Pharao, and upon all his ſervants, and upon the people of his land: for thou kneweſt that they dealt proudly againſt them: and thou madeſt thyſelf a name, as it is at this day.

11 And thou didſt divide the ſea before them, and they paſſed through the midſt of the ſea on dry land: but their perſecutors thou threweſt into the depth, as a ſtone into mighty waters.

12 And in a pillar of a cloud thou waſt their leader by day, and in a pillar of fire by night, that they might ſee the way by which they went.

13 Thou cameſt down alſo to mount Sinai, and didſt ſpeak with them from heaven, and thou gaveſt them right judgments, and the law of truth, ceremonies, and good precepts.

14 Thou madeſt known to them thy holy ſabbath, and didſt preſcribe to them commandments, and ceremonies, and the law by the hand of Moſes thy ſervant.

15 And thou gaveſt them bread from heaven in their hunger, and broughteſt forth water for them out of the rock in their thirſt, and thou ſaidſt to them that they ſhould go in, and poſſeſs the land, upon which thou hadſt lifted up thy hand to give it them.

16 But they and our fathers dealt proudly, and hardened their necks and hearkened not to thy commandments.

17 And they would not hear, and they remembered not thy wonders which thou hadſt done for them. And they hardened their necks, and gave the head to return

CHAP. IX. VER. 7. The fire of the Chaldeans. The city of Ur in Chaldea, the name of which ſignifies fire. Or out of the fire of the tribulations and temptations, to which he was there expoſed. The ancient Rabbins underſtood this literally, affirming that Abram was caſt into the fire by the idolaters, and brought out by a miracle without any hurt.

VER. 17. And gave the head. That is, they ſet their head or were bent to return to Egypt.

to their bondage, as it were by contention. But thou, a forgiving God, gracious, and merciful, long-ſuffering and full of compaſſion, didſt not forſake them.

18 Yea when they had made alſo to themſelves a molten calf, and had ſaid: This is thy God, that brought thee out of Egypt: and had committed great blaſphemies:

19 Yet thou, in thy many mercies, didſt not leave them in the deſert: the pillar of the cloud departed not from them by day to lead them in the way, and the pillar of fire by night to ſhew them the way by which they ſhould go.

20 And thou gaveſt them thy good Spirit to teach them, and thy manna thou didſt not withhold from their mouth, and thou gaveſt them water for their thirſt.

21 Forty years didſt thou feed them in the deſert, and nothing was wanting to them: their garments did not grow old, and their feet were not worn.

22 And thou gaveſt them kingdoms, and nations, and didſt divide lots for them: and they poſſeſſed the land of Sehon, and the land of the king of Heſebon, and the land of Og king of Baſan.

23 And thou didſt multiply their children as the ſtars of heaven, and broughteſt them to the land concerning which thou hadſt ſaid to their fathers, that they ſhould go in and poſſeſs it.

24 And the children came and poſſeſſed the land, and thou didſt humble before them the inhabitants of the land, the Chananites, and gaveſt them into their hands, with their kings, and the people of the land, that they might do with them as it pleaſed them.

25 And they took ſtrong cities and a fat land, and poſſeſſed houſes full of all goods: ciſterns made by others, vine-yards, and olive-yards, and fruit-trees in abundance: and they eat, and were filled, and became fat, and abounded with delight in thy great goodneſs.

26 But they provoked thee to wrath, and departed from thee, and threw thy law behind their backs: and they killed thy prophets, who admoniſhed them earneſtly to return to thee: and they were guilty of great blaſphemies.

27 And thou gaveſt them into the hands of their enemies, and they afflicted them. And in the time of their tribulation they cried to thee, and thou heardeſt from heaven, and according to the multitude of thy tender mercies thou gaveſt them ſaviours, to ſave them from the hands of their enemies.

28 But after they had reſt, they returned to do evil in thy ſight: and thou lefteſt them in the hand of their enemies, and they had dominion over them. Then they returned, and cried to thee: and thou heardeſt from heaven, and deliveredſt them many times in thy mercies.

29 And thou didſt admoniſh them to return to thy law. But they dealt proudly, and hearkened not to thy commandments, but ſinned againſt thy judgments, which if a man do, he ſhall live in them: and they withdrew the ſhoulder, and hardened their neck, and would not hear.

30 And thou didſt forbear with them for many years, and didſt teſtify againſt them by thy ſpirit by the hand of thy prophets: and they heard not, and thou didſt deliver them into the hand of the people of the lands.

31 Yet in thy very many mercies thou didſt not utterly conſume them, nor forſake them: becauſe thou art a merciful and gracious God.

32 Now therefore our God, great, ſtrong and terrible, who keepeſt covenant and mercy, turn not away from thy face all the labour which hath come upon us, upon our kings, and our princes, and our prieſts, and our prophets, and our fathers, and all the people from the days of the king of Aſſur, until this day.

33 And thou art juſt in all things that have come upon us: becauſe thou haſt done truth, but we have done wickedly.

34 Our kings, our princes, our prieſts, and our fathers have not kept thy law, and have not minded thy commandments, and thy teſtimonies which thou haſt teſtified among them.

35 And they have not ſerved thee in their kingdoms, and in thy manifold goodneſs, which thou gaveſt them, and in the large and fat land, which thou deliveredſt before them, nor did they return from their moſt wicked devices.

36 Behold we ourſelves this day are bondmen: and the land, which thou gaveſt our fathers, to eat the bread thereof, and the good things thereof, and we ourſelves are ſervants in it.

37 And the fruits thereof grow up for the kings, whom thou haſt ſet over us for our ſins, and they have dominion over our bodies, and over our beaſts, according to their will, and we are in great tribulation.

38 And becauſe of all this we ourſelves make a covenant, and write it, and our princes, our Levites, and our prieſts ſing it.

CHAP. X.

The names of the ſubſcribers to the covenant, and the contents of it.

A. M. 3551. AND the ſubſcribers were Nehemias, Atherſatha the ſon of Hachelai, and Sedecias,
2 Saraias, Azarias, Jeremias,
3 Pheſhur, Amarias, Melchias,
4 Hattus, Sebenia, Melluch,
5 Harem, Merimuth, Obdias,
6 Daniel, Genthon, Baruch,
7 Moſollam, Abia, Miamin,
8 Maazia, Belgia, Semeia: theſe were prieſts.
9 And the Levites, Joſue the ſon of Azanias, Bennui of the ſons of Henadad, Cedmihel,
10 And their brethren, Sebenia, Odaia, Celita, Phalaia, Hanan, 11 Micha, Rohob, Haſebia,
12 Zachur, Serebia, Sabania,
13 Odaia, Bani, Baninu.
14 The heads of the people, Pharos, Phahathmoab, Elam, Zethu, Bani, 15 Bonni, Azgad, Bebai,
16 Adonia, Begoai, Adin,
17 Ater, Hezecia, Azur,
18 Odaia, Haſum, Beſai,
19 Hareph, Anathoth, Nebai,
20 Megphias, Moſollam, Hazir,
21 Meſizabel, Sadoc, Jeddua,
22 Pheltia, Hanan, Anaia,
23 Oſee, Hanania, Haſub,
24 Alohes, Phalea, Sobec,
25 Rehum, Haſebna, Maaſia,
26 Echaia, Hanan, Anan,
27 Melluch, Haran, Baana:
28 And the reſt of the people, prieſts, Levites, porters, and ſinging men, Nathinites, and all that had ſeparated themſelves from the people of the lands to the law of God, their wives, their ſons, and their daughters,
29 All that could underſtand promiſing for their brethren, with their chief men, and they came to promiſe, and ſwear that they would walk in the law of God, which he gave in the hand of Moſes the ſervant of God, that they would do and keep all the commandments of the Lord our God, and his judgments and his ceremonies.
30 And that we would not give our daughters to the people of the land, nor take their daughters for our ſons.
31 And if the people of the land bring in things to ſell, or any things for uſe, to ſell them on the ſabbath-day, that we would not buy them of them on the ſabbath, or on the holy day. And that we would leave the ſeventh year, and the exaction of every hand.
32 And we made ordinances for ourſelves, to give the third part of a ſicle every year for the work of the houſe of our God,
33 For the loaves of propoſition, and for the continual ſacrifice, and for a continual holocauſt on the ſabbaths, on the new moons, on the ſet feaſts, and for the holy things, and for the ſin-offering: that atonement might be made for Iſrael, and for every uſe of the houſe of our God.
34 And we caſt lots among the prieſts, and the Levites, and the people for the offering of wood, that it might be brought into the houſe of our God by the houſes of our fathers at ſet times, from year to year: to burn upon the altar of the Lord our God, as it is written in the law of Moſes:
35 And that we would bring the firſt-fruits of our land, and the firſt-fruits of all fruit of every tree, from year to year, in the houſe of our Lord.
36 And the firſt born of our ſons, and of our cattle, as it is written in the law, and the firſtlings of our oxen, and of our ſheep, to be offered in the houſe of our God, to the prieſts who miniſter in the houſe of our God.
37 And that we would bring the firſt-fruits of our meats, and of our libations, and the fruit of every tree, of the vintage alſo and of oil to the prieſts, to the ſtore-houſe of our God, and the tithes of our ground to the Levites. The Levites alſo ſhall receive the tithes of our works out of all the cities.
38 And the prieſt the ſon of Aaron ſhall be with the Levites in the tithes of the Levites, and the Levites ſhall offer the tithe of their tithes in the houſe of our God, to the ſtore-room into the treaſure-houſe.
39 For the children of Iſrael and the children of Levi ſhall carry to the treaſury the firſt-fruits of corn, of wine, and of oil: and the ſanctified veſſels ſhall be there, and the prieſts, and the ſinging men, and the porters, and miniſters, and we will not forſake the houſe of our God.

CHAP. XI.

Who were the inhabitants of Jeruſalem, and the other cities.

AND the princes of the people dwelt at Jeruſalem: but the reſt of the people caſt lots, to take one part in ten to dwell in Jeruſalem the holy city, and nine parts in the other cities.
2 And the people bleſſed all the men that willingly offered themſelves to dwell in Jeruſalem.

3 Theſe therefore are the chief men of the province, who dwelt in Jeruſalem, and in the cities of Juda. And every one dwelt in his poſſeſſion, in their cities: Iſrael, the prieſts, the Levites, the Nathinites, and the children of the ſervants of Solomon.

4 And in Jeruſalem there dwelt ſome of the children of Juda, and ſome of the children of Benjamin: of the children of Juda, Athaias the ſon of Aziam, the ſon of Zacharias, the ſon of Amarias, the ſon of Saphatias, the ſon of Malaleel: of the ſons of Phares,

5 Maaſia the ſon of Baruch, the ſon of Cholhoza, the ſon of Hazia, the ſon of Adaia, the ſon of Joiarib, the ſon of Zacharias, the ſon of the Silonite:

6 All theſe the ſons of Phares, who dwelt in Jeruſalem, were four hundred ſixty eight valiant men.

7 And theſe are the children of Benjamin: Sellum the ſon of Moſollam, the ſon of Joed, the ſon of Phadaia, the ſon of Colaia, the ſon of Maſia, the ſon of Ethcel, the ſon of Iſaia,

8 And after him Gebbai, Sellai, nine hundred twenty eight.

9 And Joel the ſon of Zechri their ruler, and Judas the ſon of Senua was ſecond over the city.

10 And of the prieſts Idaia the ſon of Joarib, Jachin,

11 Saraia the ſon of Helcias, the ſon of Moſollam, the ſon of Sadoc, the ſon of Meraioth, the ſon of Achitob the prince of the houſe of God,

12 And their brethren that do the works of the temple: eight hundred twenty two. And Adaia the ſon of Jeroham, the ſon of Phelelia, the ſon of Amſi, the ſon of Zachatias, the ſon of Pheſhur, the ſon of Melchias,

13 And his brethren the chiefs of the fathers: two hundred forty two. And Amaſſai the ſon of Azreel, the ſon of Ahazi, the ſon of Moſollamoth, the ſon of Emmer,

14 And their brethren who were very mighty, a hundred twenty eight: and their ruler Zabdiel ſon of the mighty.

15 And of the Levites Semeia the ſon of Haſub, the ſon of Azaricam, the ſon of Haſabia, the ſon of Boni, 16 And Sabathai and Jozabed, who were over all the outward buſineſs of the houſe of God, of the princes of the Levites.

17 And Mathania the ſon of Micha, the ſon of Zebedei, the ſon of Aſaph was the principal man to praiſe, and to give glory in prayer, and Becbecia the ſecond, one of his brethren, and Abda the ſon of Samua, the ſon of Galal, the ſon of Idithum.

18 All the Levites in the holy city were two hundred eighty four.

19 And the porters, Accub, Telmon, and their brethren, who kept the doors: a hundred ſeventy two.

20 And the reſt of Iſrael, the prieſts and the Levites were in all the cities of Juda, every man in his poſſeſſion.

21 And the Nathinites, that dwelt in Ophel, and Siaha, and Gaſpha of the Nathinites.

22 And the overſeer of the Levites in Jeruſalem, was Azzi the ſon of Bani, the ſon of Haſabia, the ſon of Mathania, the ſon of Micha. Of the ſons of Aſaph, were the ſinging-men in the miniſtry of the houſe of God.

23 For the king's commandment was concerning them, and an order among the ſinging men day by day.

24 And Phathahia the ſon of Meſezebel of the children of Zara the ſon of Juda was at the hand of the king, in all matters concerning the people,

25 And in the houſes through all their countries. Of the children of Juda ſome dwelt at Cariatharbe, and in the villages thereof: and at Dibon, and in the villages thereof, and at Cabſeel, and in the villages thereof,

26 And at Jeſue, and at Molada, and at Bethphaleth,

27 And at Haſerſual, and at Berſabee, and in the villages thereof,

28 And at Siceleg, and at Mochona, and in the villages thereof,

29 And at Remmon, and at Saraa, and at Jerimuth,

30 Zanoa, Odollam, and in their villages, at Lachis and its dependencies, and at Azeca and the villages thereof. And they dwelt from Berſabee unto the valley of Ennom.

31 And the children of Benjamin, from Geba, at Mechmas, and at Hai, and at Bethel, and in the villages thereof,

32 At Anathoth, Nob, Anania,

33 Aſor, Rama, Gethaim,

34 Hadid, Seboim, and Neballat, Lod,

35 And Ono the valley of craftſmen.

36 And of the Levites were portions of Juda and Benjamin.

CHAP. XII.

The prieſts, and Levites that came up with Zorobabel. The ſucceſſion of high prieſts: the ſolemnity of the dedication of the wall.

NOW theſe are the prieſts and the Levites, that went up with Zorobabel the ſon of Salathiel, and Joſue: Saraia, Jeremias, Eſdras,

2 Amaria, Melluch, Hattus,
3 Sebenias, Rheum, Merimuth,
4 Addo, Genthon, Abia,
5 Miamin, Madia, Belga,
6 Semeia, and Joiarib, Idaia, Sellum, Amoc, Helcias,
7 Idaia. Theſe were the chief of the prieſts, and of their brethren in the days of Joſue.
8 And the Levites, Jeſua, Bennui, Cedmihel, Sarebia, Juda, Mathanias, they and their brethren were over the hymns:
9 And Becbecia, and Hanni and their brethren every one in his office.
10 And Joſue begot Joacim, and Joacim begot Eliaſib, and Eliaſib begot Joiada, 11 And Joiada begot Jonathan, and Jonathan begot Jeddoa.
12 And in the days of Joacim the prieſts and heads of the families were: Of Saraia, Maraia: of Jeremias, Hanania:
13 Of Eſdras, Moſollam: and of Amaria, Johanan:
14 Of Milicho, Jonathan: of Sebenia, Joſeph:
15 Of Haram, Edna: of Maraioth, Helci:
16 Of Adaia, Zacharia: of Genthon, Moſollam:
17 Of Abia, Zechri: of Miamin and Moadia, Phelti:
18 Of Belga, Sammua: of Semaia, Jonathan:
19 Of Joiarib, Mathanai: of Jodaia, Azzi:
20 Of Sellai, Celai: of Amoc, Heber:
21 Of Helcias, Haſebia: of Idaia, Nathanael.
22 The Levites the chiefs of the families in the days of Eliaſib, and Joiada, and Johanan, and Jeddoa, were recorded, and the prieſts in the reign of Darius the Perſian.
23 The ſons of Levi, heads of the families were written in the book of Chronicles, even unto the days of Jonathan the ſon of Eliaſib.
24 Now the chief of the Levites were Haſebia, Serebia, and Joſue the ſon of Cedmihel: and their brethren by their courſes, to praiſe and to give thanks according to the commandment of David the man of God, and to wait equally in order.
25 Mathania, and Becbecia, Obedia, and Moſollam, Telmon, Accub, were keepers of the gates and of the entrances before the gates.
26 Theſe were in the days of Joacim the ſon of Joſue, the ſon of Joſedec, and in the days of Nehemias the governor, and of Eſdras the prieſt and ſcribe.
27 And at the dedication of the wall of Jeruſalem they ſought the Levites out of all their places, to bring them to Jeruſalem, and to keep the dedication, and to rejoice with thankſgiving, and with ſinging, and with cymbals, and pſalteries and harps.
28 And the ſons of the ſinging men were gathered together out of the plain country about Jeruſalem, and out of the villages of Nethuphati,
29 And from the houſe of Galgal, and from the countries of Geba and Azmaveth: for the ſinging men had built themſelves villages round about Jeruſalem.
30 And the prieſts and the Levites were purified, and they purified the people, and the gates, and the wall.
31 And I made the princes of Juda go up upon the wall, and I appointed two great quires to give praiſe. And they went on the right hand upon the wall toward the dunghil-gate.
32 And after them went Oſaias, and half of the princes of Juda,
33 And Azarias, Eſdras, and Moſollam, Judas, and Benjamin, and Semeia, and Jeremias.
34 And of the ſons of the prieſts with trumpets, Zacharias the ſon of Jonathan, the ſon of Semeia, the ſon of Mathania, the ſon of Michaia, the ſon of Zechur, the ſon of Aſaph,
35 And his brethren Semeia, and Azareel, Malalai, Galalai, Maai, Nathanael, and Judas, and Hanani, with the muſical inſtruments of David the man of God: and Eſdras the ſcribe before them at the fountain gate.
36 And they went up over-againſt them by the ſtairs of the city of David, at the going up of the wall of the houſe of David, and to the water-gate eaſtward:
37 And the ſecond quire of them that gave thanks went on the oppoſite ſide, and I after them, and the half of the people upon the wall, and upon the tower of the furnaces, even to the broad wall,
38 And above the gate of Ephraim, and above the old gate, and above the fiſh-gate and the tower of Hananeel, and the tower of Emath, and even to the flock-gate: and they ſtood ſtill in the watch-gate.
39 And the two quires of them that gave praiſe ſtood ſtill at the houſe of God, and I and the half of the magiſtrates with me.
40 And the prieſts, Eliachim, Maaſia, Miamin, Michea, Elioenai, Zacharia, Hanania with trumpets, 41 And Maaſia, and Semeia, and Eleazar, and Azzi, and Johanan, and Melchia, and

Elam, and Ezer. And the ſingers ſung loud, and Jezraia was their overſeer:

42 And they ſacrificed on that day great ſacrifices, and they rejoiced: for God had made them joyful with great joy: their wives alſo and their children rejoiced, and the joy of Jeruſalem was heard afar off.

43 They appointed alſo in that day men over the ſtore-houſes of the treaſure, for the libations, and for the firſt-fruits, and for the tithes, that the rulers of the city might bring them in by them in honour of thankſgiving, for the prieſts and Levites: for Juda was joyful in the prieſts and Levites that aſſiſted.

44 And they kept the watch of their God, and the obſervance of expiation, and the ſinging men, and the porters, according to the commandment of David, and of Solomon his ſon.

45 For in the days of David and Aſaph from the beginning there were chief ſingers appointed, to praiſe with canticles, and give thanks to God.

46 And all Iſrael, in the days of Zorobabel, and in the days of Nehemias gave portions to the ſinging men, and to the porters, day by day, and they ſanctified the Levites, and the Levites ſanctified the ſons of Aaron.

CHAP. XIII.

Divers abuſes are reformed.

Deut. 23. 3. AND on that day they read in the book of Moſes in the hearing of the people: and therein was found written, that the Ammonites and the Moabites ſhould not come in to the church of God for ever:

2 Becauſe they met not the children of Iſrael with bread and water: and they hired againſt them Balaam, to curſe them: and our God turned the curſe into bleſſing.

3 And it came to paſs, when they had heard the law, that they ſeparated every ſtranger from Iſrael.

4 And over this thing was Eliaſib the prieſt, who was ſet over the treaſury of the houſe of our God, and was near akin to Tobias.

5 And he made him a great ſtore-room, where before him they laid up gifts, and frankincenſe, and veſſels, and the tithes of the corn, of the wine, and of the oil, the portions of the Levites, and of the ſinging men, and of the porters, and the firſt-fruits of the prieſts.

6 But in all this time I was not in Jeruſalem, becauſe in the two and thirtieth year * of Artaxerxes king of Babylon I went to the king, and after certain days I aſked the king: * A. M. 3562. Ante C. 442.

7 And I came to Jeruſalem, and I underſtood the evil that Eliaſib had done for Tobias, to make him a ſtore-houſe in the courts of the houſe of God.

8 And it ſeemed to me exceeding evil. And I caſt forth the veſſels of the houſe of Tobias out of the ſtore-houſe.

9 And I commanded and they cleanſed the ſtore-houſes: and I brought thither again the veſſels of the houſe of God, the ſacrifice, and the frankincenſe.

10 And I perceived that the portions of the Levites had not been given them: and that the Levites, and the ſinging men, and they that miniſtered were fled away every man to his own country:

11 And I pleaded the matter againſt the magiſtrates, and ſaid: Why have we forſaken the houſe of God? And I gathered them together, and I made them to ſtand in their places.

12 And all Juda brought the tithe of the corn, and the wine, and the oil into the ſtore-houſes.

13 And we ſet over the ſtore-houſes Selemias the prieſt, and Sadoc the ſcribe, and of the Levites Phadaia, and next to them Hanan the ſon of Zachur, the ſon of Mathania: for they were approved as faithful, and to them were committed the portions of their brethren.

14 Remember me, O my God, for this thing, and wipe not out my kindneſſes, which I have done relating to the houſe of my God, and his ceremonies.

15 In thoſe days I ſaw in Juda ſome treading the preſſes on the ſabbath, and carrying ſheaves, and lading aſſes with wine, and grapes, and figs, and all manner of burthens, and bringing them into Jeruſalem on the ſabbath-day. And I charged them that they ſhould ſell on a day on which it was lawful to ſell.

16 Some Tyrians alſo dwelt there, who brought fiſh, and all manner of wares: and they ſold them on the ſabbaths to the children of Juda in Jeruſalem.

17 And I rebuked the chief men of Juda, and ſaid to them: What is this evil thing that you are doing, profaning the ſabbath-day?

18 Did not our fathers do theſe things, and our God brought all this evil upon us,

---

CHAP. XII. VER. 46. Sanctified. That is, they gave them that which by the law was ſet aſide, and ſanctified for their uſe.

CHAP. XIII. VER. 4. Over this thing, &c. Or, he was faulty in this thing, or in this kind.

and upon this city? And you bring more wrath upon Iſrael by violating the ſabbath.

19 And it came to paſs, that when the gates of Jeruſalem were at reſt on the ſabbath-day, I ſpoke: and they ſhut the gates, and I commanded that they ſhould not open them till after the ſabbath: and I ſet ſome of my ſervants at the gates, that none ſhould bring in burthens on the ſabbath-day.

20 So the merchants, and they that ſold all kind of wares, ſtayed without Jeruſalem once or twice.

21 And I charged them, and I ſaid to them: Why ſtay you before the wall? if you do ſo another time, I will lay hands on you. And from that time they came no more on the ſabbath.

22 I ſpoke alſo to the Levites that they ſhould be purified, and ſhould come to keep the gates, and to ſanctify the ſabbath-day: for this alſo remember me, O my God, and ſpare me according to the multitude of thy tender mercies.

23 In thoſe days alſo I ſaw Jews that married wives, women of Azotus, and of Ammon, and of Moab.

24 And their children ſpoke half in the ſpeech of Azotus, and could not ſpeak the Jews language, but they ſpoke according to the language of this and that people.

25 And I chid them, and laid my curſe upon them. And I beat ſome of them, and ſhaved off their hair, and made them ſwear by God that they would not give their daughters to their ſons, nor take their daughters for their ſons, nor for themſelves, ſaying:

26 ‖ Did not Solomon king of Iſrael ſin in this kind of thing? and ſurely among many nations, there was not a king like him, and he was beloved of his God, and God made him king over all Iſrael: † and yet women of other countries brought even him to ſin. ‖ 3 Kings 3. 1. & 11. 1. ‖ 3 Kings 11. 4.

27 And ſhall we alſo be diſobedient and do all this great evil, to tranſgreſs againſt our God, and marry ſtrange women?

28 And one of the ſons of Joiada the ſon of Eliaſib the high prieſt, was ſon-in-law to Sanaballat the Horonite, and I drove him from me.

29 Remember them, O Lord my God, that defile the prieſthood, and the law of prieſts and Levites.

30 So I ſeparated from them all ſtrangers, and I appointed the courſes of the prieſts and the Levites, every man in his miniſtry:

31 And for the offering of wood at times appointed, and for the firſt-fruits: remember me, O my God, unto good. Amen.

THE BOOK OF TOBIAS.

This book takes its name from the holy man Tobias, whoſe wonderful virtues are herein recorded. It contains moſt excellent documents of great piety, extraordinary patience, and of a perfect reſignation to the will of God. His humble prayer was heard, and the Angel Raphael was ſent to relieve him: he is thankful and praiſes the Lord, calling on the children of Iſrael to do the ſame. Having lived to the age of one hundred and two years, he exhorts his ſon and grandſons to piety, foretells the deſtruction of Nineve and the rebuilding of Jeruſalem: he dies happily.

CHAP. I.

Tobias's early piety: his works of mercy, particularly in burying the dead.

TOBIAS of the tribe and city of Nephthali (which is in the upper parts of Galilee above Naaſſon, beyond the way that leadeth to the weſt, having on the right hand the city of Sephet),

2 ‖ When he was made captive in the days of Salmanaſar king of the Aſſyrians, even in his captivity, forſook not the way of truth, ‖ 4 Kings 17. 3. & 18. 9. A. M. 3283. Ante C. 721.

3 But every day gave all he could get to his brethren his fellow-captives, that were of his kindred.

4 And when he was younger than any of the tribe of Nephthali, yet did he no childish thing in his work.

5 Moreover when all went to the golden calves || which Jeroboam king of Israel had made, he alone fled the company of all,

|| 3 Kings 12. 28.

6 And went to Jerusalem to the temple of the Lord, and there adored the Lord God of Israel, offering faithfully all his first-fruits, and his tithes,

7 So that in the third year he gave all his tithes to the proselytes, and strangers.

8 These and such like things did he observe when but a boy according to the law of God.

9 But when he was a man, he took to wife Anna of his own tribe, and had a son by her, whom he called after his own name,

10 And from his infancy he taught him to fear God, and to abstain from all sin.

11 And when by the captivity he with his wife and his son and all his tribe was come to the city of Ninive,

12 (When all eat of the meats of the Gentiles) he kept his soul, and never was defiled with their meats.

13 And because he was mindful of the Lord with all his heart, God gave him favour in the sight of Salmanasar the king.

14 And he gave him leave to go whithersoever he would, with liberty to do whatever he had a mind.

15 He therefore went to all that were in captivity, and gave them wholesome admonitions.

16 And when he was come to Rages a city of the Medes, and had ten talents of silver of that with which he had been honoured by the king:

17 And when amongst a great multitude of his kindred, he saw Gabelus in want, who was one of his tribe, taking a note of his hand he gave him the aforesaid sum of money.

18 But after a long time, Salmanasar the king being dead, * when Sennacherib his son, who reigned in his place, had a hatred for the children of Israel:

* A. M. 3287.

19 Tobias daily went among all his kindred, and comforted them, and distributed to every one as he was able, out of his goods:

20 He fed the hungry, and gave clothes to the naked, and was careful to bury the dead, and they that were slain.

21 || And when * king Sennacherib was come back fleeing from Judea by reason of the slaughter that God had made about him for his blasphemy, and being angry slew many of the children of Israel, Tobias buried their bodies.

|| 4 Kings 19. 35. Eccli. 48. 24. 2 Mac. 8. 19.

* A. M. 3294.

22 But when it was told the king, he commanded him to be slain, and took away all his substance.

23 But Tobias fleeing naked away with his son and with his wife, lay concealed, for many loved him.

24 || But after forty five days, the king was killed by his own sons.

|| 4 Kings 19. 37. 2 Par. 32. 21. Isai. 37. 38.

25 And Tobias returned to his house, and all his substance was restored to him.

CHAP. II.

Tobias leaveth his dinner to bury the dead: he loseth his sight by God's permission, for manifestation of his patience.

BUT after this, when there was a festival of the Lord, and a good dinner was prepared in Tobias's house,

2 He said to his son: Go, and bring some of our tribe, that fear God, to feast with us.

3 And when he had gone, returning he told him, that one of the children of Israel lay slain in the street. And he forthwith leaped up from his place at the table, and left his dinner, and came fasting to the body:

4 And taking it up carried it privately to his house, that after the sun was down, he might bury him cautiously.

5 And when he had hid the body, he eat bread with mourning and fear,

6 Remembering the word which the Lord spoke by || Amos the prophet: Your festival days shall be turned into lamentation and mourning.

|| Amos 8. 10. 1 Mac. 1. 41.

7 So when the sun was down, he went and buried him.

8 Now all his neighbours blamed him, saying: Once already commandment was given for thee to be slain because of this matter, and thou didst scarce escape the sentence of death, and dost thou again bury the dead?

9 || But Tobias fearing God more than the king, carried off the bodies of them that were slain, and hid them in his house, and at mid-night buried them.

10 Now it happened one day, that being wearied with burying, he came to his house, and cast himself down by the wall, and slept.

11 And as he was ſleeping, hot dung out of a ſwallow's neſt fell upon his eyes, and he was made blind.*

* A. M. 3295.

12 Now this trial the Lord therefore permitted to happen to him, that an example might be given to poſterity of his patience, as alſo of holy Job.

13 For whereas he had always feared God from his infancy, and kept his commandments, he repined not againſt God becauſe the evil of blindneſs had befallen him,

14 But continued immoveable in the fear of God, giving thanks to God all the days of his life.

15 For as the kings inſulted over holy Job: ſo his relations and kinſmen mocked at his life, ſaying:

16 Where is thy hope, for which thou gaveſt alms, and buriedſt the dead?

17 But Tobias rebuked them, ſaying: Speak not ſo:

18 For we are the children of ſaints, and look for that life which God will give to thoſe that never change their faith from him.

19 Now Anna his wife went daily to weaving work, and ſhe brought home what ſhe could get for their living by the labour of her hands.

20 Whereby it came to paſs, that ſhe received a young kid, and brought it home:

21 And when her huſband heard it bleating, he ſaid: ‖ Take heed, leſt perhaps it be ſtolen, reſtore ye it to its owners, for it is not lawful for us either to eat or to touch any thing that cometh by theft.

‖ Job 22. 9.

22 ‖ At theſe words his wife being angry anſwered: It is evident thy hope is come to nothing, and thy alms now appear.

23 And with theſe, and other ſuch like words ſhe upbraided him.

CHAP. III.

The prayer of Tobias, and of Sara, in their ſeveral afflictions, are heard by God, and the Angel Raphael is ſent to relieve them.

THEN Tobias ſighed, and began to pray with tears,

2 Saying: Thou art juſt, O Lord, and all thy judgments are juſt, and all thy ways mercy, and truth, and judgment:

3 And now, O Lord, think of me, and take not revenge of my ſins, neither remember my offences, nor thoſe of my parents.

4 ‖ For we have not obeyed thy commandments, therefore are we delivered to ſpoil and to captivity, and death, and are made a fable, and a reproach to all nations, amongſt which thou haſt ſcattered us.

‖ Deut. 28. 15.

5 And now, O Lord, great are thy judgments, becauſe we have not done according to thy precepts, and have not walked ſincerely before thee:

6 And now, O Lord, do with me according to thy will, and command my ſpirit to be received in peace: for it is better for me to die, than to live.

7 Now it happened on the ſame day, that Sara daughter of Raguel, in Rages a city of the Medes, received a reproach from one of her father's ſervant-maids,

8 Becauſe ſhe had been given to ſeven huſbands, and a devil named Aſmodeus had killed them, at their firſt going in unto her.

9 So when ſhe reproved the maid for her fault, ſhe anſwered her, ſaying: May we never ſee ſon, or daughter of thee upon the earth, thou murderer of thy huſbands.

10 Wilt thou kill me alſo, as thou haſt already killed ſeven huſbands? At theſe words ſhe went into an upper chamber of her houſe: and for three days and three nights did neither eat, nor drink:

11 But continuing in prayer with tears beſought God, that he would deliver her from this reproach.

12 And it came to paſs on the third day, when ſhe was making an end of her prayer, bleſſing the Lord,

13 She ſaid: Bleſſed is thy name, O God of our fathers: who when thou haſt been angry, wilt ſhew mercy, and in the time of tribulation forgiveſt the ſins of them that call upon thee.

14 To thee, O Lord, I turn my face, to thee I direct my eyes.

15 I beg, O Lord, that thou looſe me from the bond of this reproach, or elſe take me away from the earth.

16 Thou knoweſt, O Lord, that I never coveted a huſband, and have kept my ſoul clean from all luſt.

17 Never have I joined myſelf with them that play: neither have I made myſelf partaker with them that walk in lightneſs.

18 But a huſband I conſented to take, with thy fear, not with my luſt.

CHAP. II. VER. 15. Kings. So Job's three friends are here called, becauſe they were princes in their reſpective territories.

CHAP. III. VER. 7. Rages. In the Greek it is Ecbatana, which was alſo called Rages. For there were two cities in Media of the name of Rages. Raguel dwelt in one of them, and Gabelus in the other.

19 And either I was unworthy of them, or they perhaps were not worthy of me: becauſe perhaps thou haſt kept me for another man.

20 For thy counſel is not in man's power.

21 But this every one is ſure of that worſhippeth thee, that his life, if it be under trial, ſhall be crowned: and if it be under tribulation, it ſhall be delivered: and if it be under correction, it ſhall be allowed to come to thy mercy.

22 For thou art not delighted in our being loſt: becauſe after a ſtorm thou makeſt a calm, and after tears and weeping thou poureſt in joyfulneſs.

23 Be thy name, O God of Iſrael, bleſſed for ever.

24 At that time the prayers of them both were heard in the ſight of the glory of the moſt high God:

25 And the holy Angel of the Lord Raphael was ſent to heal them both, whoſe prayers at one time were rehearſed in the ſight of the Lord.

CHAP. IV.

Tobias thinking he ſhall die, giveth his ſon godly admonitions: and telleth him of money he had lent to a friend.

A. M. 3299. THEREFORE when Tobias thought that his prayer was heard that he might die, he called to him Tobias his ſon,

2 And ſaid to him: Hear, my ſon, the words of my mouth, and lay them as a foundation in thy heart.

3 When God ſhall take my ſoul, thou ſhalt bury my body: ‖ and thou ſhalt honour thy mother all the days of her life:

‖ Exod. 20. 12. Eccli. 7. 29.

4 For thou muſt be mindful what and how great perils ſhe ſuffered for thee in her womb.

5 And when ſhe alſo ſhall have ended the time of her life, bury her by me.

6 And all the days of thy life have God in thy mind: and take heed thou never conſent to ſin, nor tranſgreſs the commandments of the Lord our God.

‖ Prov. 3. 9. Eccli. 4. 1. & 14. 13. Luke 14. 13.

7 ‖ Give alms out of thy ſubſtance, and turn not away thy face from any poor perſon: for ſo it ſhall come to paſs that the face of the Lord ſhall not be turned from thee.

† Eccl. 35. 12.

8 † According to thy ability be merciful.

9 If thou have much, give abundantly: if thou have little, take care even ſo to beſtow willingly a little.

10 For thus thou ſtoreſt up to thyſelf a good reward for the day of neceſſity.

‖ Eccli. 29. 15.

11 ‖ For alms deliver from all ſin, and from death, and will not ſuffer the ſoul to go into darkneſs.

12 Alms ſhall be a great confidence before the moſt high God, to all them that give it.

‖ 1 Theſ. 4. 3.

13 ‖ Take heed to keep thyſelf, my ſon, from all fornication, and beſide thy wife never endure to know a crime.

14 Never ſuffer pride to reign in thy mind, or in thy words: † for from it all perdition took its beginning.

† Gen. 3. 5.

‖ Lev. 19. 13 Deut. 24. 14.

15 ‖ If any man hath done any work for thee, immediately pay him his hire, and let not the wages of thy hired ſervant ſtay with thee at all.

† Matt. 7. 12. Luke 6. 31.

16 † See thou never do to another what thou wouldſt hate to have done to thee by another.

‖ Luke 14. 13.

17 ‖ Eat thy bread with the hungry and the needy, and with thy garments cover the naked.

18 Lay out thy bread, and thy wine upon the burial of a juſt man, and do not eat and drink thereof with the wicked.

19 Seek counſel always of a wiſe man.

20 Bleſs God at all times: and deſire of him to direct thy ways, and that all thy counſels may abide in him.

21 I tell thee alſo, my ſon, that I lent ten talents of ſilver, while thou waſt yet a child, to Gabelus, in Rages a city of the Medes, and I have a note of his hand with me:

22 Now therefore enquire how thou mayſt go to him, and receive of him the foreſaid ſum of money, and reſtore to him the note of his hand.

‖ Rom. 8. 17.

23 Fear not, my ſon: we lead indeed a poor life, ‖ but we ſhall have many good things if we fear God, and depart from all ſin, and do that which is good.

CHAP. V.

Young Tobias ſeeking a guide for his journey, the Angel Raphael in ſhape of a man, undertaketh this office.

THEN Tobias anſwered his father, and ſaid: I will do all things, father, which thou haſt commanded me.

2 But how I ſhall get this money, I cannot tell; he knoweth not me, and I know not him: what token ſhall I give him? nor did I ever know the way which leadeth thither.

3 Then his father anſwered him, and ſaid: I have a note of his hand with me, which when thou ſhalt ſhew him, he will preſently pay it.

4 But go now, and ſeek thee out ſome faithful man, to go with thee for his hire: that thou mayst receive it, while I yet live.

5 Then Tobias going forth, found a beautiful young man, standing girded, and as it were ready to walk.

6 And not knowing that he was an Angel of God, he saluted him, and said: From whence art thou, good young man?

7 But he answered: Of the children of Israel. And Tobias said to him: Knowest thou the way that leadeth to the country of the Medes?

8 And he answered: I know it: and I have often walked through all the ways thereof, and I have abode with Gabelus our brother, who dwelleth at Rages a city of the Medes, which is situate in the mount of Ecbatana.

9 And Tobias said to him: Stay for me, I beseech thee, till I tell these same things to my father.

10 Then Tobias going in told all these things to his father. Upon which his father being in admiration, desired that he would come in unto him.

11 So going in he saluted him, and said: Joy be to thee always.

12 And Tobias said: What manner of joy shall be to me, who sit in darkness, and see not the light of heaven?

13 And the young man said to him: Be of good courage, thy cure from God is at hand.

14 And Tobias said to him: Canst thou conduct my son to Gabelus at Rages a city of the Medes? and when thou shalt return, I will pay thee thy hire.

15 And the Angel said to him: I will conduct him thither, and bring him back to thee.

16 And Tobias said to him: I pray thee, tell me, of what family, or what tribe art thou?

17 And Raphael the Angel answered: Dost thou seek the family of him thou hirest, or the hired servant himself to go with thy son?

18 But lest I should make thee uneasy, I am Azarias the son of the great Ananias.

19 And Tobias answered: Thou art of a great family. But I pray thee be not angry that I desired to know thy family.

20 And the Angel said to him: I will lead thy son safe, and bring him to thee again safe.

21 And Tobias answering, said: May you have a good journey, and God be with you in your way, and his Angel accompany you.

22 Then all things being ready, that were to be carried in their journey, Tobias bid his father and his mother farewel, and they set out both together.

23 || And when they were departed, his mother began to weep, and to say: Thou hast taken the staff of our old age, and sent him away from us. || Infra 10. 4.

24 I wish the money for which thou hast sent him, had never been.

25 For our poverty was sufficient for us, that we might account it as riches, that we saw our son.

26 And Tobias said to her: Weep not, our son will arrive thither safe, and will return safe to us, and thy eyes shall see him.

27 For I believe that the good Angel of God doth accompany him, and doth order all things well that are done about him, so that h sha return to us with joy.

28 At these words his mother ceased weeping, and held her peace.

CHAP. VI.

By the Angel's advice young Tobias taketh hold on a fish that assaulteth him. Reserveth the heart, the gall, and the liver for medicines. They lodge at the house of Raguel, whose daughter Sara Tobias is to marry; she had before been married to seven husbands who were all slain by a devil.

AND Tobias went forward, and the dog followed him, and he lodged the first night by the river of Tigris. A. M. 3299.

2 And he went out to wash his feet, and behold a monstrous fish came up to devour him.

3 And Tobias being afraid of him, cried out with a loud voice, saying: Sir, he cometh upon me.

4 And the Angel said to him: Take him by the gill, and draw him to thee. And when he had done so, he drew him out upon the land, and he began to pant before his feet.

5 Then the Angel said to him: Take out the entrails of this fish, and lay up his heart, and his gall, and his liver, for thee: for these are necessary for useful medicines.

6 And when he had done so, he roasted the flesh thereof, and they took it with them in the way: the rest they salted as much as might serve them, till they came to Rages the city of the Medes.

CHAP. V. VER. 18. Azarias. The Angel took the form of Azarias; and therefore might call himself by the name of the man whom he personated.

Azarias in Hebrew signifies the help of God, and Ananias the grace of God.

7 Then Tobias asked the Angel, and said to him: I beseech thee, brother Azarias, tell me what remedies are these things good for, which thou hast bid me keep of the fish?

8 And the Angel answering, said to him: If thou put a little piece of its heart upon coals, the smoke thereof driveth away all kind of devils, either from man or from woman, so that they come no more to them.

9 And the gall is good for anointing the eyes, in which there is a white speck, and they shall be cured.

10 And Tobias said to him: Where wilt thou that we lodge?

11 And the Angel answering, said: Here is one whose name is Raguel, a near kinsman of thy tribe, and he hath a daughter named Sara, but he hath no son nor any other daughter beside her.

‖ Num. 27. 8. & 36. 8. 12 ‖ All his substance is due to thee, and thou must take her to wife.

13 Ask her therefore of her father, and he will give her thee to wife.

14 Then Tobias answered, and said: I hear that she hath been given to seven husbands, and they all died: moreover I have heard, that a devil killed them.

15 Now I am afraid, lest the same thing should happen to me also: and whereas I am the only child of my parents, I should bring down their old age with sorrow to hell.

16 Then the Angel Raphael said to him: Hear me, and I will shew thee who they are, over whom the devil can prevail.

17 For they who in such manner receive matrimony, as to shut out God from themselves, and from their mind, and to give themselves to their lust, as the horse and mule, which have not understanding, over them the devil hath power.

18 But thou when thou shalt take her, go into the chamber, and for three days keep thyself continent from her, and give thyself to nothing else but to prayers with her.

19 And on that night lay the liver of the fish on the fire, and the devil shall be driven away.

20 But the second night thou shalt be admitted into the society of the holy Patriarchs.

21 And the third night thou shalt obtain a blessing that sound children may be born of you.

22 And when the third night is past, thou shalt take the virgin with the fear of the Lord, moved rather for love of children than for lust, that in the seed of Abraham thou mayst obtain a blessing in children.

CHAP. VII.

They are kindly entertained by Raguel. Tobias demandeth Sara to wife.

AND they went into Raguel, and Raguel received them with joy. A. M. 3299.

2 And Raguel looking upon Tobias, said to Anna his wife: How like is this young man to my cousin?

3 And when he had spoken these words, he said: Whence are ye, young men our brethren?

4 But they said: We are of the tribe of Nephthali, of the captivity of Ninive.

5 And Raguel said to them: Do you know Tobias my brother? And they said: We know him.

6 And when he was speaking many good things of him, the Angel said to Raguel: Tobias concerning whom thou inquirest is this young man's father.

7 And Raguel went to him, and kissed him with tears, and weeping upon his neck, said: A blessing be upon thee, my son, because thou art the son of a good and most virtuous man.

8 And Anna his wife, and Sara their daughter wept.

9 And after they had spoken, Raguel commanded a sheep to be killed, and a feast to be prepared. And when he desired them to sit down to dinner,

10 Tobias said: I will not eat nor drink here this day, unless thou first grant me my petition, and promise to give me Sara thy daughter.

11 Now when Raguel heard this he was afraid, knowing what had happened to those seven husbands, that went in unto her: and he began to fear lest it might happen to him also in like manner: and as he was in suspence, and gave no answer to his petition,

12 The Angel said to him: Be not afraid to give her to this man, for to him who feareth God is thy daughter due to be his wife: therefore another could not have her.

13 Then Raguel said: I doubt not but God hath regarded my prayers and tears in his sight.

14 And I believe he hath therefore made you come to me, that this maid might be married to one of her own kindred, ‖ according to the law of Moses: and now doubt not but I will give her to thee. ‖ Num. 36. 6.

CHAP. VI. VER. 8. Its heart, &c. The liver, ver. 19.) God was pleased to give to these things a virtue against those proud spirits, to make them, who affected to be like the Most High, subject to such mean corporeal creatures, as instruments of his power.

VER. 15. To hell. That is to the place where the souls of the good were kept before the coming of Christ.

15 And taking the right hand of his daughter, he gave it into the right hand of Tobias, saying: The God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob be with you, and may he join you together, and fulfil his blessing in you.

16 And taking paper they made a writing of the marriage.

17 And afterwards they made merry, blessing God.

18 And Raguel called to him Anna his wife, and bid her prepare another chamber.

19 And she brought Sara her daughter in thither, and she wept.

20 And she said to her: Be of good cheer, my daughter: the Lord of heaven give thee joy for the trouble thou hast undergone.

CHAP. VIII.

Tobias burneth part of the fish's liver, and Raphael bindeth the devil. Tobias and Sara pray.

A. M. 3299. AND after they had supped, they brought in the young man to her.

2 And Tobias remembering the Angel's word, took out of his bag part of the liver, and laid it upon burning coals.

3 Then the Angel Raphael took the devil, and bound him in the desert of upper Egypt.

4 Then Tobias exhorted the virgin, and said to her: Sara, arise, and let us pray to God to-day, and to-morrow, and the next day: because for these three nights we are joined to God: and when the third night is over, we will be in our own wedlock.

5 For we are the children of saints, and we must not be joined together like heathens that know not God.

6 So they both arose, and prayed earnestly both together that health might be given them,

7 And Tobias said: Lord God of our fathers, may the heavens and the earth, and the sea, and the fountains, and the rivers, and all thy creatures that are in them, bless thee.

‖ Gen. 2. 7. 8 ‖ Thou madest Adam of the slime of the earth, and gavest him Eve for a helper.

9 And now, Lord, thou knowest, that not for fleshly lust do I take my sister to wife, but only for the love of posterity, in which thy name may be blessed for ever and ever.

10 Sara also said: Have mercy on us, O Lord, have mercy on us, and let us grow old both together in health.

11 And it came to pass about the cock crowing, Raguel ordered his servants to be called for, and they went with him together to dig a grave.

12 For he said: Lest perhaps it may have happened to him, in like manner as it did to the other seven husbands, that went in unto her.

13 And when they had prepared the pit, Raguel went back to his wife, and said to her:

14 Send one of thy maids, and let her see if he be dead, that I may bury him before it be day.

15 So she sent one of her maid servants, who went into the chamber, and found them safe and sound, sleeping both together.

16 And returning she brought the good news: and Raguel and Anna his wife blessed the Lord,

17 And said: We bless thee, O Lord God of Israel, because it hath not happened as we suspected.

18 For thou hast shewn thy mercy to us, and hast shut out from us the enemy that persecuted us.

19 And thou hast taken pity upon two only children. Make them, O Lord, bless thee more fully: and to offer up to thee a sacrifice of thy praise, and of their health, that all nations may know, that thou alone art God in all the earth.

20 And immediately Raguel commanded his servants, to fill up the pit they had made, before it was day.

21 And he spoke to his wife to make ready a feast, and prepare all kind of provisions that are necessary for such as go a journey.

22 He caused also two fat kine, and four wethers to be killed, and a banquet to be prepared for all his neighbours, and all his friends.

23 And Raguel adjured Tobias, to abide with him two weeks.

24 And of all things which Raguel possessed, he gave one half to Tobias, and made a writing, that the half that remained should after their decease come also to Tobias.

CHAP. IX.

The Angel Raphael goeth to Gabelus, receiveth the money, and bringeth him to the marriage.

A. M. 3299. THEN Tobias called the Angel to him, whom he took to be a man, and said to him: Brother Azarias, I pray thee hearken to my words:

2 If I should give myself to be thy servant I should not make a worthy return for thy care.

3 However, I beseech thee, to take with thee beasts and servants, and to go to Gabelus to Rages the city of the Medes: and to reſtore to him his note of hand, and receive of him the money, and deſire him to come to my wedding.

4 For thou knoweſt that my father numbereth the days: and if I ſtay one day more, his ſoul will be afflicted.

5 And indeed thou ſeeſt how Raguel hath adjured me, whoſe adjuring I cannot deſpiſe.

6 Then Raphael took four of Raguel's ſervants, and two camels, and went to Rages the city of the Medes: and finding Gabelus, gave him his note of hand, and received of him all the money.

7 And he told him concerning Tobias the ſon of Tobias, all that had been done: and made him come with him to the wedding.

8 And when he was come into Raguel's houſe, he found Tobias ſitting at the table: and he leaped up, and they kiſſed each other: and Gabelus wept, and bleſſed God,

9 And ſaid: The God of Iſrael bleſs thee, becauſe thou art the ſon of a very good and juſt man, and that feareth God, and doth alms-deeds:

10 And may a bleſſing come upon thy wife, and upon your parents.

11 And may you ſee your children, and your children's children, unto the third and fourth generation: and may your ſeed be bleſſed by the God of Iſrael, who reigneth for ever and ever.

12 And when all had ſaid, Amen; they went to the feaſt: but the marriage feaſt they celebrated alſo with the fear of the Lord.

CHAP. X.

The parents lament the long abſence of their ſon Tobias. He ſets out to return.

A. M. 3299. BUT as Tobias made longer ſtay upon occaſion of the marriage, Tobias his father was ſolicitous, ſaying: Why thinkeſt thou doth my ſon tarry, or why is he detained there?

2 Is Gabelus dead thinkeſt thou, and no man will pay him the money?

3 And he began to be exceeding ſad, both he and Anna his wife with him: and they began both to weep together: becauſe their ſon did not return to them on the day appointed.

‖ Supra 5. 23. 4 ‖ But his mother wept and was quite diſconſolate, and ſaid: Wo, wo is me, my ſon, why did we ſend thee to go to a ſtrange country, the light of our eyes, the ſtaff of our old age, the comfort of our life, the hope of our poſterity.

5 We having all things together in thee alone, ought not to have let thee go from us.

6 And Tobias ſaid to her: Hold thy peace, and be not troubled, our ſon is ſafe: that man with whom we ſent him is very truſty.

7 But ſhe could by no means be comforted, but daily running out looked round about, and went into all the ways by which there ſeemed any hope he might return, that ſhe might if poſſible ſee him coming afar off.

8 But Raguel ſaid to his ſon-in-law: Stay here, and I will ſend a meſſenger to Tobias thy father, that thou art in health.

9 And Tobias ſaid to him: I know that my father and mother now count the days, and their ſpirit is grievouſly afflicted within them.

10 And when Raguel had preſſed Tobias with many words, and he by no means would hearken to him, he delivered Sara unto him, and half of all his ſubſtance in men-ſervants, and women-ſervants, in cattle, in camels, and in kine, and in much money, and ſent him away ſafe and joyful from him,

11 Saying: The holy Angel of the Lord be with you in your journey, and bring you through ſafe, and that you may find all things well about your parents, and my eyes may ſee your children before I die.

12 And the parents taking their daughter, kiſſed her, and let her go:

13 Admoniſhing her to honour her father and mother-in-law, to love her huſband, to take care of the family, to govern the houſe, and to behave herſelf irreprehenſibly.

CHAP. XI.

Tobias anointeth his father's eyes with the fiſh's gall, and he recovereth his ſight.

AND as they were returning they came A. M. 3299. to Charan, which is in the midway to Nivive, the eleventh day.

2 And the Angel ſaid: Brother Tobias, thou knoweſt how thou didſt leave thy father.

3 If it pleaſe thee therefore, let us go before, and let the family follow ſoftly after us, together with thy wife, and with the beaſts.

4 And as this their going pleaſed him, Raphael ſaid to Tobias: Take with thee of the gall of the fiſh, for it will be neceſſary. So Tobias took ſome of that gall and departed.

5 But Anna ſat beſide the way daily, on the top of a hill, from whence ſhe might ſee afar off.

6 And while ſhe watched his coming from that place, ſhe ſaw him afar off, and preſently perceived it was her ſon coming: and returning ſhe told her huſband, ſaying: Behold thy ſon cometh.

7 And Raphael ſaid to Tobias: As ſoon as thou ſhalt come into thy houſe, forthwith adore the Lord thy God: and giving thanks to him, go to thy father, and kiſs him.

8 And immediately anoint his eyes with this gall of the fiſh, which thou carrieſt with thee. For be aſſured that his eyes ſhall be preſently opened, and thy father ſhall ſee the light of heaven, and ſhall rejoice in the ſight of thee.

9 Then the dog, which had been with them in the way, ran before, and coming as if he had brought the news, ſhewed his joy by his fawning and wagging his tail.

10 And his father that was blind riſing up, began to run ſtumbling with his feet: and giving a ſervant his hand, went to meet his ſon.

11 And receiving him kiſſed him, as did alſo his wife, and they began to weep for joy.

12 And when they had adored God, and given him thanks, they ſat down together.

13 Then Tobias taking of the gall of the fiſh, anointed his father's eyes.

14 And he ſtayed about half an hour: and a white ſkin began to come out of his eyes, like the ſkin of an egg.

15 And Tobias took hold of it, and drew it from his eyes, and immediately he recovered his ſight.

16 And they glorified God, both he and his wife and all that knew him.

17 And Tobias ſaid: I bleſs thee, O Lord God of Iſrael, becauſe thou haſt chaſtiſed me, and thou haſt ſaved me: and behold I ſee Tobias my ſon.

18 And after ſeven days Sara his ſon's wife, and all the family arrived ſafe, and the cattle, and the camels, and an abundance of money of his wife's: and that money alſo which he had received of Gabelus:

19 And he told his parents all the benefits of God, which he had done to him by the man, that conducted him.

20 And Achior and Nabath the kinſmen of Tobias came, rejoicing for Tobias, and congratulating with him for all the good things, that God had done for him.

21 And for ſeven days they feaſted and rejoiced all with great joy.

CHAP. XII.

Raphael maketh himſelf known.

THEN Tobias called to him his ſon, and ſaid to him: What can we give to this holy man, that is come with thee? A. M. 3299.

2 Tobias anſwering, ſaid to his father: Father, what wages ſhall we give him? or what can be worthy of his benefits?

3 He conducted me and brought me ſafe again, he received the money of Gabelus, he cauſed me to have my wife, and he chaſed from her the evil ſpirit, he gave joy to her parents, myſelf he delivered from being devoured by the fiſh, thee alſo he hath made to ſee the light of heaven, and we are filled with all good things through him. What can we give him ſufficient for theſe things?

4 But I beſeech thee, my father, to deſire him, that he would vouchſafe to accept of one half of all things that have been brought.

5 So the father and the ſon calling him, took him aſide: and began to deſire him that he would vouchſafe to accept of half of all things that they had brought.

6 Then he ſaid to them ſecretly: Bleſs ye the God of heaven, give glory to him in the ſight of all that live, becauſe he hath ſhewn his mercy to you.

7 For it is good to hide the ſecret of a king: but honourable to reveal and confeſs the works of God.

8 Prayer is good with faſting and alms, more than to lay up treaſures of gold:

9 For alms delivereth from death, and the ſame is that which purgeth away ſins, and maketh to find mercy and life everlaſting.

10 But they that commit ſin and iniquity, are enemies to their own ſoul.

11 I diſcover then the truth unto you, and I will not hide the ſecret from you.

12 When thou didſt pray with tears, and didſt bury the dead, and didſt leave thy dinner, and hide the dead by day in thy houſe, and bury them by night, I offered thy prayer to the Lord.

13 And becauſe thou waſt acceptable to God, it was neceſſary that temptation ſhould prove thee.

14 And now the Lord hath ſent me to heal thee, and to deliver Sara thy ſon's wife from the devil.

CHAP. XI. VER. 9. The dog, &c. This may ſeem a very minute circumſtance to be recorded in ſacred hiſtory: but as we learn from our Saviour, St. Matt. v. 18. there are iotas and tittles in the word of God; that is to ſay, things that appear minute, but which have indeed a deep and myſterious meaning in them.

15 For I am the Angel Raphael, one of the ſeven, who ſtand before the Lord.

16 And when they had heard theſe things, they were troubled, and being ſeized with fear they fell upon the ground on their face.

17 And the Angel ſaid to them: Peace be to you, fear not.

18 For when I was with you, I was there by the will of God: bleſs ye him, and ſing praiſes to him.

19 I ſeemed indeed to eat, and to drink with you: but I uſe an inviſible meat and drink, which cannot be ſeen by men.

20 It is time therefore that I return to him, that ſent me: but bleſs ye God, and publiſh all his wonderful works.

21 And when he had ſaid theſe things, he was taken from their ſight, and they could ſee him no more.

22 Then they lying proſtrate for three hours upon their face, bleſſed God: and riſing up, they told all his wonderful works.

CHAP. XIII.

Tobias the father praiſeth God, exhorting all Iſrael to do the ſame. Propheſieth the reſtoration and better ſtate of Jeruſalem.

A. M. 3299. AND Tobias the elder opening his mouth, bleſſed the Lord, and ſaid: Thou art great, O Lord, for ever, and thy kingdom is unto all ages:

‖ Deut. 32. 39. 1 Kings 2. 6. Wiſd. 16. 13. 2 ‖ For thou ſcourgeſt, and thou ſaveſt: thou leadeſt down to hell, and bringeſt up again: and there is none that can eſcape thy hand.

3 Give glory to the Lord, ye children of Iſrael, and praiſe him in the ſight of the Gentiles:

4 Becauſe he hath therefore ſcattered you among the Gentiles, who know not him, that you may declare his wonderful works, and make them know that there is no other almighty God beſides him.

5 He hath chaſtiſed us for our iniquities: and he will ſave us for his own mercy.

6 See then what he hath done with us, and with fear and trembling give ye glory to him: and extol the eternal king of worlds in your works.

7 As for me, I will praiſe him in the land of my captivity: becauſe he hath ſhewn his majeſty toward a ſinful nation.

8 Be converted therefore, ye ſinners, and do juſtice before God, believing that he will ſhew his mercy to you.

9 And I and my ſoul will rejoice in him.

10 Bleſs ye the Lord, all his elect, keep days of joy, and give glory to him.

11 Jeruſalem city of God, the Lord hath chaſtiſed thee for the works of thy hands.

12 Give glory to the Lord for thy good things, and bleſs the God eternal, that he may rebuild his tabernacle in thee, and may call back all the captives to thee, and thou mayſt rejoice for ever and ever.

13 Thou ſhalt ſhine with a glorious light: and all the ends of the earth ſhall worſhip thee.

‖ Iſai. 60. 5. 14 ‖ Nations from afar ſhall come to thee: and ſhall bring gifts, and ſhall adore the Lord in thee, and ſhall eſteem thy land as holy.

15 For they ſhall call upon the great name in thee.

16 They ſhall be curſed that ſhall deſpiſe thee: and they ſhall be condemned that ſhall blaſpheme thee: and bleſſed ſhall they be that ſhall build thee up.

17 But thou ſhalt rejoice in thy children, becauſe they ſhall all be bleſſed, and ſhall be gathered together to the Lord.

18 Bleſſed are all they that love thee, and that rejoice in thy peace.

19 My ſoul, bleſs thou the Lord, becauſe the Lord our God hath delivered Jeruſalem his city from all her troubles.

20 Happy ſhall I be if there ſhall remain of my ſeed, to ſee the glory of Jeruſalem.

‖ Apocal. 21. 16. 21 ‖ The gates of Jeruſalem ſhall be built of Sapphire, and of Emerald, and all the walls thereof round about of precious ſtones.

22 All its ſtreets ſhall be paved with white and clean ſtones: and Alleluia ſhall be ſung in its ſtreets.

23 Bleſſed be the Lord, who hath exalted it, and may he reign over it for ever and ever, Amen.

CHAP. XIV.

Old Tobias dieth at the age of a hundred and two years, after exhorting his ſon and grandſons to piety, foreſhewing that Ninive ſhall be deſtroyed, and Jeruſalem rebuilt. The younger Tobias returneth with his family to Raguel, and dieth happily as he had lived.

AND the words of Tobias were ended. And after Tobias was reſtored to his ſight, he lived two and forty years, and ſaw the children of his grand-children.

CHAP. XIII. VER. 11. Jeruſalem. What is prophetically delivered here, and in the following chapter, with relation to Jeruſalem, is partly to be underſtood of the rebuilding the city after the captivity: and partly of the ſpiritual Jeruſalem, which is the church of Chriſt, and the eternal Jeruſalem in heaven.

2 And after he had lived a hundred and two years, he was buried * honourably in Ninive.

* A. M. 3341. Ante C. 663.

3 For he was ſix and fifty years old when he loſt the ſight of his eyes, and ſixty when he recovered it again.

4 And the reſt of his life was in joy, and with great increaſe of the fear of God he departed in peace.

5 And at the hour of his death he called unto him his ſon Tobias and his children, ſeven young men, his grand-ſons, and ſaid to them:

6 The deſtruction of Ninive is at hand: for the word of the Lord muſt be fulfilled: ‖ and our brethren, that are ſcattered abroad from the land of Iſrael, ſhall return to it.

‖ 1 Eſdras 3. 8.

7 And all the land thereof that is deſert ſhall be filled with people, and the houſe of God which is burnt in it, ſhall again be rebuilt: and all that fear God ſhall return thither.

8 And the Gentiles ſhall leave their idols, and ſhall come into Jeruſalem, and ſhall dwell in it,

9 And all the kings of the earth ſhall rejoice in it, adoring the King of Iſrael.

10 Hearken therefore, my children, to your father: ſerve the Lord in truth, and ſeek to do the things that pleaſe him:

11 And command your children that they do juſtice and alms deeds, and that they be mindful of God, and bleſs him at all times in truth, and with all their power.

12 And now, children, hear me, and do not ſtay here: but as ſoon as you ſhall bury your mother by me in one ſepulchre, without delay direct your ſteps to depart hence:

13 For I ſee that its iniquity will bring it to deſtruction.

14 And it came to paſs that after the death of his mother, Tobias departed out of Ninive with his wife, and children, and children's children, and returned to his father and mother-in-law.

15 And he found them in health in a good old age: and he took care of them, and he cloſed their eyes: and all the inheritance of Raguel's houſe came to him: and he ſaw his children's children to the fifth generation.

16 And after he had lived ninety nine years in the fear of the Lord, with joy they buried him.

17 And all his kindred, and all his generation continued in good life, and in holy converſation, ſo that they were acceptable both to God, and to men, and to all that dwelt in the land.

THE BOOK OF JUDITH.

The ſacred writer of this book is generally believed to be the high prieſt Eliachim, (called alſo Joachim). The tranſactions herein related, moſt probably happened in his days, and in the reign of Manaſſes, after his repentance and return from captivity. It takes its name from that illuſtrious woman, by whoſe virtue and fortitude, and armed with prayer, the children of Iſrael were preſerved from the deſtruction threatened them by Holofernes and his great army. It finiſhes with her canticle of thankſgiving to God.

CHAP. I.

Nabuchodonoſor king of the Aſſyrians overcometh Arphaxad king of the Medes.

NOW Arphaxad king of the Medes had brought many nations under his dominions, and he built a very ſtrong city, which he called Ecbatana,

2 Of ſtones ſquared and hewed: he made the walls thereof ſeventy cubits broad, and thirty cubits high, and the towers thereof he made a hundred cubits high. But on the CHAP. I. VER. 1. Arphaxad. He was probably the ſame as is called Dejoces by Herodotus; to whom he attributes the building of Ecbatana, the capital city of Media.

ſquare of them, each ſide was extended the ſpace of twenty feet.

3 And he made the gates thereof according to the height of the towers:

4 And he gloried as a mighty one in the force of his army and in the glory of his chariots.

* A. M. 3347. Ante C. 657. 5 Now in the twelfth year * of his reign: Nabuchodonoſor king of the Aſſyrians, who reigned in Ninive the great city, fought againſt Arphaxad, and overcame him.

6 In the great plain which is called Ragau, about the Euphrates, and the Tigris, and the Jadaſon, in the plain of Erioch the king of the Elicians.

7 Then was the kingdom of Nabuchodonoſor exalted, and his heart was elevated: and he ſent to all that dwelt in Cilicia and Damaſcus, and Libanus,

8 And to the nations that are in Carmelus, and Cedar, and to the inhabitants of Galilee in the great plain of Eſdrelon,

9 And to all that were in Samaria, and beyond the river Jordan even to Jeruſalem, and all the land of Jeſſe till you come to the borders of Ethiopia.

10 To all theſe Nabuchodonoſor king of the Aſſyrians, ſent meſſengers:

11 But they all with one mind refuſed, and ſent them back empty, and rejected them without honour.

12 Then king Nabuchodonoſor being angry againſt all that land, ſwore by his throne and kingdom that he would revenge himſelf of all thoſe countries.

CHAP. II.

Nabuchodonoſor ſendeth Holofernes to waſte the countries of the weſt.

A. M. 3348. IN the thirteenth year of the reign of Nabuchodonoſor, the two and twentieth day of the firſt month, the word was given out in the houſe of Nabuchodonoſor king of the Aſſyrians, that he would revenge himſelf.

2 And he called all the ancients, and all the governors, and his officers of war, and communicated to them the ſecret of his counſel:

3 And he ſaid that his thoughts were to bring all the earth under his empire.

4 And when this ſaying pleaſed them all, Nabuchodonoſor the king called Holofernes the general of his armies,

5 And ſaid to him: Go out againſt all the kingdoms of the weſt, and againſt them eſpecially that deſpiſed my commandment.

6 Thy eye ſhall not ſpare any kingdom, and all the ſtrong cities thou ſhalt bring under my yoke.

7 Then Holofernes called the captains, and officers of the power of the Aſſyrians: and he muſtered men for the expedition, as the king commanded him, a hundred and twenty thouſand fighting men on foot, and twelve thouſand archers, horſemen.

8 And he made all his warlike preparations to go before with a multitude of innumerable camels, with all proviſions ſufficient for the armies in abundance, and herds of oxen, and flocks of ſheep, without number.

9 He appointed corn to be prepared out of all Syria in his paſſage.

10 But gold and ſilver he took out of the king's houſe in great abundance.

11 And he went forth he and all the army, with the chariots, and horſemen, and archers, who covered the face of the earth, like locuſts.

12 And when he had paſſed through the borders of the Aſſyrians, he came to the great mountains of Ange, which are on the left of Cilicia: and he went up to all their caſtles, and took all the ſtrong places.

13 And he took by aſſault the renowned city of Melothus, and pillaged all the children of Tharſis, and the children of Iſmahel, who were over-againſt the face of the deſert, and on the ſouth of the land of Cellon.

14 And he paſſed over the Euphrates, and came into Meſopotamia: and he forced all the ſtately cities that were there, from the torrent of Mambre, till one comes to the ſea:

15 And he took the borders thereof, from Cilicia to the coaſts of Japheth, which are towards the ſouth.

16 And he carried away all the children of Madian, and ſtripped them of all their riches, and all that reſiſted him he ſlew with the edge of the ſword.

17 And after theſe things he went down into the plains of Damaſcus in the days of the harveſt, and he ſet all the corn on fire, and he cauſed all the trees and vineyards to be cut down:

18 And the fear of them fell upon all the inhabitants of the land.

VER. 5. Nabuchodonoſor. Not the king of Babylon, who took and deſtroyed Jeruſalem, but another of the ſame name, who reigned in Ninive; and is called by profane hiſtorians Saoſduchin. He ſucceeded Aſarhaddon in the kingdom of the Aſſyrians, and was co-temporary with Manaſſes king of Juda.

CHAP. III.

Many submit themselves to Holofernes. He destroyeth their cities, and their gods, that Nabuchodonosor only might be called god.

THEN the kings and the princes of all the cities and provinces, of Syria, Mesopotamia, and Syria Sobal, and Libya, and Cilicia sent their embassadors, who coming to Holofernes, said:

2 Let thy indignation towards us cease: for it is better for us to live and serve Nabuchodonosor the great king, and be subject to thee, than to die and to perish, or suffer the miseries of slavery.

3 All our cities and our possessions, all mountains, and hills, and fields, and herds of oxen, and flocks of sheep, and goats, and horses, and camels, and all our goods, and families are in thy sight:

4 Let all we have be subject to thy law.

5 Both we and our children are thy servants.

6 Come to us a peaceable lord, and use our service as it shall please thee.

7 Then he came down from the mountains with horsemen in great power and made himself master of every city, and all the inhabitants of the land.

8 And from all the cities he took auxiliaries valiant men, and chosen for war.

9 And so great a fear lay upon all those provinces, that the inhabitants of all the cities, both princes and nobles, as well as the people went out to meet him at his coming.

10 And received him with garlands, and lights, and dances, and timbrels, and flutes.

11 And though they did these things, they could not for all that mitigate the fierceness of his heart:

12 For he both destroyed their cities, and cut down their groves.

13 For Nabuchodonosor the king had commanded him to destroy all the gods of the earth, that he only might be called God by those nations which could be brought under him by the power of Holofernes.

14 And when he had passed through all Syria Sobal, and all Apamea, and all Mesopotamia, he came to the Idumeans into the land of Gabaa,

15 And he took possession of their cities, and stayed there for thirty days, in which days he commanded all the troops of his army to be united.

CHAP. IV.

The children of Israel prepare themselves to resist Holofernes. They cry to the Lord for help.

THEN the children of Israel, who dwelt in the land of Juda, hearing these things, were exceedingly afraid of him.

2 Dread and horror seized upon their minds, lest he should do the same to Jerusalem and to the temple of the Lord, that he had done to other cities, and their temples.

3 And they sent into all Samaria round about, as far as Jericho, and seized upon all the tops of the mountains:

4 And they compassed their towns with walls, and gathered together corn for provision for war.

5 And Eliachim the priest wrote to all that were over-against Esdrelon, which faceth the great plain near Dothain, and to all by whom there might be a passage of way, that they should take possession of the ascents of the mountains, by which there might be any way to Jerusalem, and should keep watch where the way was narrow between the mountains.

6 And the children of Israel did as the priest of the Lord Eliachim had appointed them.

7 And all the people cried to the Lord with great earnestness, and they humbled their souls in fastings, and prayers, both they and their wives.

8 And the priests put on hair-cloths, and they caused the little children to lie prostrate before the temple of the Lord, and the altar of the Lord they covered with hair-cloth.

9 And they cried to the Lord the God of Israel with one accord, that their children might not be made a prey, and their wives carried off, and their cities destroyed, and their holy things profaned, and that they might not be made a reproach to the gentiles.

10 Then Eliachim the high priest of the Lord went about all Israel and spoke to them,

11 Saying: Know ye that the Lord will hear your prayers, if you continue with perseverance in fastings and prayers in the sight of the Lord.

12 Remember Moses the servant of the Lord, who overcame Amalec that trusted in his own strength, and in his power, and in his army, and in his shields, and in his chariots, and in his horsemen, not by fighting with the sword, but by holy prayers:

13 ‖ So shall all the enemies of Israel be; if you persevere in this work which you have begun. ‖ Exod. 17. 12.

14 So they being moved by this exhortation of his, prayed to the Lord, and continued in the ſight of the Lord.

15 So that even they who offered the holocauſts to the Lord, offered the ſacrifices to the Lord girded with hair-cloths, and with aſhes upon their head.

16 And they all begged of God with all their heart, that he would viſit his people Iſrael.

CHAP. V.

Achior gives Holofernes an account of the people of Iſrael.

AND it was told Holofernes the general of the army of the Aſſyrians, that the children of Iſrael prepared themſelves to reſiſt, and had ſhut up the ways of the mountains.

2 And he was tranſported with exceeding great fury and indignation, and he called all the princes of Moab and the leaders of Ammon,

3 And he ſaid to them: Tell me what is this people that beſetteth the mountains: or what are their cities, and of what ſort, and how great: alſo what is their power, or what is their multitude: or who is the king over their warfare:

4 And why they above all that dwell in the eaſt, have deſpiſed us, and have not come out to meet us, that they might receive us with peace?

5 Then Achior captain of all the children of Ammon anſwering, ſaid: If thou vouchſafe, my lord, to hear, I will tell the truth in thy ſight concerning this people, that dwelleth in the mountains, and there ſhall not a falſe word come out of my mouth.

6 This people is of the offspring of the Chaldeans.

‖ Gen. 11. 13. 7 ‖ They dwelt firſt in Meſopotamia, becauſe they would not follow the gods of their fathers, who were in the land of the Chaldeans.

8 Wherefore forſaking the ceremonies of their fathers, which conſiſted in the worſhip of many gods,

9 They worſhipped one God of heaven, ‖ Gen. 12. 1. ‖ who alſo commanded them to depart from thence, and to dwell in Charan. And when ‡ Gen. 46. 6. there was a famine over all the land, ‡ they went down into Egypt, and there for four hundred years were ſo multiplied, that the army of them could not be numbered.

10 And when the king of Egypt oppreſſed them, and made ſlaves of them to labour in clay and brick, in the building of his cities, they cried to their Lord, and he ſtruck the whole land of Egypt with divers plagues.

11 ‖ And when the Egyptians had caſt them out from them, and the plague had ceaſed from them, and they had a mind to take them again, and bring them back to their ſervice, ‖ Exod. 12. 33.

12 ‖ The God of heaven opened the ſea to them in their flight, ſo that the waters were made to ſtand firm as a wall on either ſide, and they walked through the bottom of the ſea and paſſed it dry foot. ‖ Exod. 14. 29.

13 And when an innumerable army of the Egyptians purſued after them in that place, they were ſo overwhelmed with the waters, that there was not one left, to tell what had happened to poſterity.

14 And after they came out of the Red ſea, they abode in the deſerts of mount Sina, in which never man could dwell, or ſon of man reſted.

15 There bitter fountains were made ſweet for them to drink, and for forty years they received food from heaven.

16 Whereſoever they went in without bow and arrow, and without ſhield and ſword, their God fought for them, and overcame.

17 And there was no one that triumphed over this people, but when they departed from the worſhip of the Lord their God.

18 But as often as beſide their own God, they worſhipped any other, they were given to ſpoil, and to the ſword, and to reproach.

19 And as often as they were penitent for having revolted from the worſhip of their God, the God of heaven gave them power to reſiſt.

20 So they overthrew the king of the Chananites, and of the Jebuſites, and of the Pherezites, and of the Hethites, and of the Hevites, and of the Amorrhites, and all the mighty ones in Heſebon, and they poſſeſſed their lands, and their cities:

21 And as long as they ſinned not in the ſight of their God, it was well with them: for their God hateth iniquity.

22 And even ſome years ago when they had revolted from the way which God had given them to walk therein, they were deſtroyed in battles by many nations, and very many of them were led away captive into a ſtrange land.

23 But of late returning to the Lord their God, from the different places wherein they were ſcattered, they are come together and are gone up into all theſe mountains, and poſſeſs Jeruſalem again, where their holies are.

24 Now therefore, my lord, ſearch if there be any iniquity of theirs in the ſight of their God: let us go up to them, becauſe their God will ſurely deliver them to thee, and they ſhall be brought under the yoke of thy power:

25 But if there be no offence of this people in the ſight of their God, we cannot reſiſt them, becauſe their God will defend them: and we ſhall be a reproach to the whole earth.

26 And it came to paſs, when Achior had ceaſed to ſpeak theſe words, all the great men of Holofernes were angry, and they had a mind to kill him, ſaying to each other:

27 Who is this, that ſaith the children of Iſrael can reſiſt king Nabuchodonoſor, and his armies, men unarmed, and without force, and without ſkill in the art of war?

28 That Achior therefore may know that he deceiveth us, let us go up into the mountains: and when the braveſt of them ſhall be taken, then ſhall he with them be ſtabbed with the ſword:

29 That every nation may know that Nabuchodonoſor is god of the earth, and beſides him there is no other.

CHAP. VI.

Holofernes in great rage ſendeth Achior to Bethulia, there to be ſlain with the Iſraelites.

AND it came to paſs when they had left off ſpeaking, that Holofernes being in a violent paſſion, ſaid to Achior:

2 Becauſe thou haſt propheſied unto us, ſaying, that the nation of Iſrael is defended by their God, to ſhew thee that there is no God, but Nabuchodonoſor:

3 When we ſhall ſlay them all as one man, then thou alſo ſhalt die with them by the ſword of the Aſſyrians, and all Iſrael ſhall periſh with thee:

4 And thou ſhalt find that Nabuchodonoſor is lord of the whole earth: and then the ſword of my ſoldiers ſhall paſs through thy ſides, and thou ſhalt be ſtabbed and fall among the wounded of Iſrael, and thou ſhalt breath no more till thou be deſtroyed with them.

5 But if thou think thy prophecy true, let not thy countenance ſink, and let the paleneſs that is in thy face, depart from thee, if thou imagineſt theſe my words cannot be accompliſhed.

6 And that thou mayſt know that thou ſhalt experience theſe things together with them, behold from this hour thou ſhalt be aſſociated to their people, that when they ſhall receive the puniſhment they deſerve from my ſword, thou mayſt fall under the ſame vengeance.

7 Then Holofernes commanded his ſervants to take Achior, and to lead him to Bethulia, and to deliver him into the hands of the children of Iſrael.

8 And the ſervants of Holofernes taking him, went through the plains: but when they came near the mountains, the ſlingers came out againſt them.

9 Then turning out of the way by the ſide of the mountain, they tied Achior to a tree hand and foot, and ſo left him bound with ropes, and returned to their maſter.

10 And the children of Iſrael coming down from Bethulia, came to him. And looſing him they brought him to Bethulia, and ſetting him in the midſt of the people, aſked him what was the matter, that the Aſſyrians had left him bound.

11 In thoſe days the rulers there, were Ozias the ſon of Micha of the tribe of Simeon, and Charmi, called alſo Gothoniel.

12 And Achior related in the midſt of the ancients, and in the preſence of all the people; all that he had ſaid being aſked by Holofernes: and how the people of Holofernes would have killed him for this word,

13 And how Holofernes himſelf being angry had commanded him to be delivered for this cauſe to the Iſraelites: that when he ſhould overcome the children of Iſrael, then he might command Achior alſo himſelf to be put to death by diverſe torments, for having ſaid: The God of heaven is their defender.

14 ‖ And when Achior had declared all theſe things, all the people fell upon their faces, adoring the Lord, and all of them together mourning and weeping poured out their prayers with one accord to the Lord, ‖ Supra 5.6.

15 Saying: O Lord God of heaven and earth, behold their pride, and look on our low condition, and have regard to the face of thy ſaints, and ſhew that thou forſakeſt not them that truſt on thee, and that thou humbleſt them that preſume of themſelves, and glory in their own ſtrength.

16 So when their weeping was ended, and the people's prayer, in which they continued all the day, was concluded, they comforted Achior,

17 Saying: The God of our fathers, whoſe power thou haſt ſet forth, will make this return to thee, that thou rather ſhalt ſee their deſtruction.

18 And when the Lord our God ſhall give this liberty to his ſervants, let God be with thee alſo in the midſt of us: that as it ſhall pleaſe thee, ſo thou with all thine mayſt converſe with us.

19 Then Ozias, after the aſſembly was broken up, received him into his houſe, and made him a great ſupper.

20 And all the ancients were invited, and they refreſhed themſelves together after their faſt was over.

21 And afterwards all the people were called together, and they prayed all the night long within the church, deſiring help of the God of Iſrael.

CHAP. VII.

Holofernes beſiegeth Bethulia. The diſtreſs of the beſieged.

BUT Holofernes on the next day gave orders to his army, to go up againſt Bethulia.

2 Now there were in his troops a hundred and twenty thouſand footmen, and two and twenty thouſand horſemen, beſides the preparations of thoſe men who had been taken, and who had been brought away out of the provinces and cities, of all the youth.

3 All theſe prepared themſelves together to fight againſt the children of Iſrael, and they came by the hill ſide to the top, which looketh toward Dothain, from the place which is called Belma, unto Chelmon, which is over-againſt Eſdrelon.

4 But the children of Iſrael, when they ſaw the multitude of them, proſtrated themſelves upon the ground, putting aſhes upon their heads, praying with one accord, that the God of Iſrael would ſhew his mercy upon his people.

5 And taking their arms of war, they poſted themſelves at the places, which by a narrow path-way lead directly between the mountains, and they guarded them all day and night.

6 Now Holofernes, in going round about, found that the fountain which ſupplied them with water, run through an aqueduct without the city on the ſouth-ſide: and he commanded their aqueduct to be cut off.

7 Nevertheleſs there were ſprings not far from the walls, out of which they were ſeen ſecretly to draw water, to refreſh themſelves a little rather than to drink their fill.

8 But the children of Ammon, and Moab came to Holofernes, ſaying: The children of Iſrael truſt not in their ſpears, nor in their arrows, but the mountains are their defence, and the ſteep hills and precipices guard them.

9 Wherefore that thou mayſt overcome them without joining battle, ſet guards at the ſprings, that they may not draw water out of them, and thou ſhalt deſtroy them without ſword, or at leaſt being wearied out they will yield up their city, which they ſuppoſe, becauſe it is ſituate in the mountains, to be impregnable.

10 And theſe words pleaſed Holofernes, and his officers, and he placed all round about a hundred men at every ſpring.

11 And when they had kept this watch for full twenty days, the ciſterns, and the reſerve of waters failed among all the inhabitants of Bethulia, ſo that there was not within the city, enough to ſatisfy them no not for one day, for water was daily given out to the people by meaſure.

12 Then all the men and women, young men, and children, gathering themſelves together to Ozias, all together with one voice,

13 Said: ‖ God be judge between us and thee, for thou haſt done evil againſt us, in that thou wouldſt not ſpeak peaceably with the Aſſyrians, and for this cauſe God hath ſold us into their hands. ‖ Exod. 5. 21.

14 And therefore there is no one to help us, while we are caſt down before their eyes in thirſt, and ſad deſtruction.

15 And now aſſemble ye all that are in the city, that we may of our own accord yield ourſelves all up to the people of Holofernes.

16 For it is better, that being captives we ſhould live and bleſs the Lord, than that we ſhould die, and be a reproach to all fleſh, after we have ſeen our wives, and our infants die before our eyes.

17 We call to witneſs this day heaven and earth, and the God of our fathers, who taketh vengeance upon us according to our ſins, conjuring you to deliver now the city into the hand of the army of Holofernes, that our end may be ſhort by the edge of the ſword, which is made longer by the drought of thirſt.

18 And when they had ſaid theſe things, there was great weeping and lamentation of all in the aſſembly, and for many hours with one voice they cried to God ſaying:

19 ‖ We have ſinned with our fathers, we have done unjuſtly, we have committed iniquity: ‖ Pſal. 105. 6.

20 Have thou mercy on us, becauſe thou art good, or puniſh our iniquities by chaſtiſing us thyſelf, and deliver not them that truſt in thee to a people that knoweth not thee,

21 That they may not ſay among the Gentiles: Where is their God?

22 And when being wearied with theſe cries, and tired with theſe weepings, they held their peace,

23 Ozias riſing up all in tears, ſaid: Be of good courage, my brethren, and let us wait theſe five days for mercy from the Lord.

CHAP. VI. VER. 21. The Church. That is, the ſynagogue or place where they met for prayer.

24 For perhaps he will put a ſtop to his indignation, and will give glory to his own name.

25 But if after five days be paſt there come no aid, we will do the things which you have ſpoken.

CHAP. VIII.

The character of Judith: her diſcourſe to the ancients.

NOW it came to paſs, when Judith a widow had heard theſe words, who was the daughter of Merari, the ſon of Idox, the ſon of Joſeph, the ſon of Ozias, the ſon of Elai, the ſon of Jamnor, the ſon of Gedeon, the ſon of Raphaim, the ſon of Achitob, the ſon of Melchias, the ſon of Enan, the ſon of Nathanias, the ſon of Salathiel, the ſon of Simeon, the ſon of Ruben:

2 And her huſband was Manaſſes, who died in the time of the barley harveſt:

3 For he was ſtanding over them that bound ſheaves in the field; and the heat came upon his head, and he died in Bethulia his own city, and was buried there with his fathers.

4 And Judith his relict was a widow now three years and ſix months.

5 And ſhe made herſelf a private chamber in the upper part of her houſe, in which ſhe abode ſhut up with her maids,

6 And ſhe wore hair-cloth upon her loins, and faſted all the days of her life, except the ſabbaths, and new-moons, and the feaſts of the houſe of Iſrael.

7 And ſhe was exceedingly beautiful, and her huſband left her great riches, and very many ſervants, and large poſſeſſions of herds of oxen, and flocks of ſheep.

8 And ſhe was greatly renowned among all, becauſe ſhe feared the Lord very much, neither was there any one that ſpoke an ill word of her.

9 When therefore ſhe had heard that Ozias had promiſed that he would deliver up the city after the fifth day, ſhe ſent to the ancients Chabri and Charmi.

10 And they came to her, and ſhe ſaid to them: What is this word, by which Ozias hath conſented to give up the city to the Aſſyrians, if within five days there come no aid to us?

11 And who are you that tempt the Lord?

12 This is not a word that may draw down mercy, but rather that may ſtir up wrath, and enkindle indignation.

13 You have ſet a time for the mercy of the Lord, and you have appointed him a day, according to your pleaſure.

14 But for as much as the Lord is patient, let us be penitent for this ſame thing, and with many tears let us beg his pardon:

15 For God will not threaten like man, nor be inflamed to anger like the ſon of man.

16 And therefore let us humble our ſouls before him, and continuing in an humble ſpirit, in his ſervice:

17 Let us aſk the Lord with tears, that according to his will ſo he would ſhew his mercy to us: that as our heart is troubled by their pride, ſo alſo we may glorify in our humility:

18 For we have not followed the ſins of our fathers, who forſook their God, and worſhipped ſtrange gods,

19 For which crime they were given up to their enemies, to the ſword, and to pillage, and to confuſion: but we know no other God but him.

20 Let us humbly wait for his conſolation, and the Lord our God will require our blood of the afflictions of our enemies, and he will humble all the nations that ſhall riſe up againſt us, and bring them to diſgrace.

21 And now, brethren, as you are the ancients among the people of God, and their very ſoul reſteth upon you: comfort their hearts by your ſpeech, that they may be mindful how our fathers were tempted that they might be proved, whether they worſhipped their God truly.

22 ‖ They muſt remember how our father Abraham was tempted, and being proved by many tribulations, was made the friend of God. ‖ Gen. 22. 1.

23 So Iſaac, ſo Jacob, ſo Moſes, and all that have pleaſed God, paſſed through many tribulations remaining faithful.

24 But they that did not receive the trials with the fear of the Lord, but uttered their impatience and the reproach of their murmuring againſt the Lord,

25 ‖ Were deſtroyed by the deſtroyer, and periſhed by ſerpents. ‖ 1 Cor. 10. 9.

26 As for us therefore let us not revenge ourſelves for theſe things which we ſuffer,

27 But eſteeming theſe very puniſhments to be leſs than our ſins deſerve, let us believe that theſe ſcourges of the Lord, with which like servants we are chastised, have happened for our amendment, and not for our destruction.

CHAP. VIII. VER. 1. Simeon the ſon of Ruben. In the Greek it is the ſon of Iſrael. For Simeon the patriarch, from whom Judith deſcended, was not the ſon, but the brother of Ruben. It ſeems more probable that the Simeon and the Ruben here mentioned are not the patriarchs; but two of the deſcendants of the patriarch Simeon: and that the genealogy of Judith, recorded in this place, is not carried up ſo high as the patriarchs. No more than that of Elcana the father of Samuel, 1 Kings i. 1. and that of king Saul, 1 Kings ix. 1.

28 And Ozias and the ancients said to her: All things which thou hast spoken are true, and there is nothing to be reprehended in thy words.

29 Now therefore pray for us, for thou art a holy woman, and one fearing God.

30 And Judith said to them: As you know that what I have been able to say is of God:

31 So that which I intend to do, prove ye if it be of God, and pray that God may strengthen my design.

32 You shall stand at the gate this night, and I will go out with my maid servant: and pray ye, that as you have said, in five days the Lord may look down upon his people Israel.

33 But I desire that you search not into what I am doing, and till I bring you word let nothing else be done but to pray for me to the Lord our God.

34 And Ozias the prince of Juda said to her: Go in peace, and the Lord be with thee to take revenge of our enemies. So returning they departed.

CHAP. IX.

Judith's prayer, to beg of God to fortify her in her undertaking.

AND when they were gone, Judith went into her oratory: and putting on hair-cloth, laid ashes on her head: and falling down prostrate before the Lord, she cried to the Lord, saying:

‖ Gen. 34. 26. 2 O Lord God of my father Simeon, ‖ who gavest him a sword to execute vengeance against strangers, who had defiled by their uncleanness, and uncovered the virgin unto confusion:

3 And who gavest their wives to be made a prey, and their daughters into captivity: and all their spoils to be divided to thy servants, who were zealous with thy zeal: assist, I beseech thee, O Lord God, me a widow.

4 For thou hast done the things of old, and hast devised one thing after another: and what thou hast designed hath been done.

5 For all thy ways are prepared, and in thy providence thou hast placed thy judgments.

‖ Exod. 14. 9. 6 ‖ Look upon the camp of the Assyrians now, as thou wast pleased to look upon the camp of the Egyptians, when they pursued armed after thy servants, trusting in their chariots, and in their horsemen, and in a multitude of warriors.

7 But thou lookedst over their camp, and darkness wearied them.

8 The deep held their feet, and the waters overwhelmed them.

9 So may it be with these also, O Lord, who trust in their multitude, and in their chariots, and in their pikes, and in their shields, and in their arrows, and glory in their spears,

10 And know not that thou art our God, who destroyest wars from the beginning, and the Lord is thy name.

11 Lift up thy arm as from the beginning, and crush their power with thy power: let their power fall in their wrath, who promise themselves to violate thy sanctuary, and defile the dwelling place of thy name, and to beat down with their sword the horn of thy altar.

12 Bring to pass, O Lord, that his pride may be cut off with his own sword.

13 Let him be caught in the net of his own eyes in my regard, and do thou strike him by the graces of the words of my lips.

14 Give me constancy in my mind, that I may despise him: and fortitude that I may overthrow him.

15 ‖ For this will be a glorious monument for thy name, when he shall fall by the hand of a woman. ‖ Judges 4. 21. & 5. 26.

16 For thy power, O Lord, is not in a multitude, nor is thy pleasure in the strength of horses, nor from the beginning have the proud been acceptable to thee: but the prayer of the humble and the meek hath always pleased thee.

17 O God of the heavens, creator of the waters, and Lord of the whole creation, hear me a poor wretch, making supplication to thee, and presuming of thy mercy.

18 Remember, O Lord, thy covenant, and put thou words in my mouth, and strengthen the resolution in my heart, that thy house may continue in thy holiness:

19 And all nations may acknowledge that thou art God, and there is no other besides thee.

CHAP. X.

Judith goeth out towards the camp, and is taken, and brought to Holofernes.

AND it came to pass, when she had ceased to cry to the Lord, that she

CHAP. IX. VER. 2. Gavest him a sword, &c. The justice of God is here praised, in punishing by the sword of Simeon the crime of the Sichimites: and not the fact of Simeon, which was justly condemned by his father, Gen. xlix. 5. Though even with regard to this fact, we may distinguish between his zeal against the crime committed by the ravishers of his sister, which zeal may be considered just: and the manner of his punishing that crime, which was irregular and excessive.

roſe from the place wherein ſhe lay proſtrate before the Lord.

2 And ſhe called her maid, and going down into her houſe ſhe took off her hair-cloth, and put away the garments of her widowhood,

3 And ſhe waſhed her body, and anointed herſelf with the beſt ointment, and plaited the hair of her head, and put a bonnet upon her head, and clothed herſelf with the garments of her gladneſs, and put ſandals on her feet, and took her bracelets, and lilies, and earlets, and rings, and adorned herſelf with all her ornaments.

4 And the Lord alſo gave her more beauty: becauſe all this dreſſing up did not proceed from ſenſuality, but from virtue: and therefore the Lord increaſed this her beauty, ſo that ſhe appeared to all mens eyes incomparably lovely.

5 And ſhe gave to her maid a bottle of wine to carry, and a veſſel of oil, and parched corn, and dry figs, and bread and cheeſe, and went out.

6 And when they came to the gate of the city, they found Ozias, and the ancients of the city waiting.

7 And when they ſaw her they were aſtoniſhed, and admired her beauty exceedingly.

8 But they aſked her no queſtion, only they let her paſs, ſaying: The God of our fathers give thee grace, and may he ſtrengthen all the counſel of thy heart with his power, that Jeruſalem may glory in thee, and thy name may be in the number of the holy and juſt.

9 And they that were there ſaid, all with one voice: So be it, ſo be it.

10 But Judith praying to the Lord, paſſed through the gates, ſhe and her maid.

11 And it came to paſs, when ſhe went down the hill, about break of day, that the watchmen of the Aſſyrians met her, and ſtopped her, ſaying: Whence comeſt thou? or whither goeſt thou?

12 And ſhe anſwered: I am a daughter of the Hebrews, and I am fled from them, becauſe I knew they would be made a prey to you, becauſe they deſpiſed you, and would not of their own accord yield themſelves, that they might find mercy in your ſight.

13 For this reaſon I thought with myſelf, ſaying: I will go to the preſence of the prince Holofernes, that I may tell him their ſecrets, and ſhew him by what way he may take them, without the loſs of one man of his army.

14 And when the men had heard her words, they beheld her face, and their eyes were amazed, for they wondered exceedingly at her beauty.

15 And they ſaid to her: Thou haſt ſaved thy life by taking this reſolution, to come down to our lord.

16 And be aſſured of this, that when thou ſhalt ſtand before him, he will treat thee well, and thou wilt be moſt acceptable to his heart. And they brought her to the tent of Holofernes, telling him of her.

17 And when ſhe was come into his preſence, forthwith Holofernes was caught by his eyes.

18 And his officers ſaid to him: Who can deſpiſe the people of the Hebrews, who have ſuch beautiful women, that we ſhould not think it worth our while for their ſakes to fight againſt them?

19 And Judith ſeeing Holofernes ſitting under a canopy, which was woven of purple and gold, with emeralds and precious ſtones:

20 After ſhe had looked on his face, bowed down to him, proſtrating herſelf to the ground. And the ſervants of Holofernes lifted her up, by the command of their maſter.

CHAP. XI.

Judith's ſpeech to Holofernes.

THEN Holofernes ſaid to her: Be of good comfort, and fear not in thy heart: for I have never hurt a man that was willing to ſerve Nabuchodonoſor the king.

2 And if thy people had not deſpiſed me, I would never have lifted up my ſpear againſt them.

3 But now tell me, for what cauſe haſt thou left them, and why it hath pleaſed thee to come to us?

4 And Judith ſaid to him: Receive the words of thy handmaid, for if thou wilt follow the words of thy handmaid, the Lord will do with thee a perfect thing.

5 For as Nabuchodonoſor the king of the earth liveth, and his power liveth which is in thee for chaſtiſing of all ſtraying ſouls: not only men ſerve him through thee, but alſo the beaſts of the field obey him.

6 For the induſtry of thy mind is ſpoken of among all nations, and it is told through the whole world, that thou only art excellent

CHAP. X. VER. 12. Becauſe I knew, &c. In this and the following chapter, ſome things are related to have been ſaid by Judith, which ſeem hard to reconcile with truth. But all that is related in ſcripture of the ſervants of God is not approved by the ſcripture: and even the ſaints in their good enterprizes may ſometimes ſlip into venial ſins.

and mighty in all his kingdom, and thy discipline is cried up in all provinces.

|| Supra 5. 5. 7 || It is known also what Achior said, nor are we ignorant of what thou hast commanded to be done to him.

8 For it is certain that our God is so offended with sins, that he hath sent word by his prophets to the people, that he will deliver them up for their sins.

9 And because the children of Israel know they have offended their God, thy dread is upon them.

10 Moreover also a famine hath come upon them, and for drought of water they are already to be counted among the dead.

11 And they have a design even to kill their cattle, and to drink the blood of them.

12 And the consecrated things of the Lord their God which God forbid them to touch, in corn, wine, and oil, these have they purposed to make use of, and they design to consume the things which they ought not to touch with their hands: therefore because they do these things, it is certain they will be given up to destruction.

13 And I thy handmaid knowing this, am fled from them, and the Lord hath sent me to tell thee these very things.

14 For I thy handmaid worship God even now that I am with thee, and thy handmaid will go out, and I will pray to God,

15 And he will tell me when he will repay them for their sins, and I will come and tell thee, so that I may bring thee through the midst of Jerusalem, and thou shalt have all the people of Israel, as sheep that have no shepherd, and there shall not so much as one dog bark against thee:

16 Because these things are told me by the providence of God.

17 And because God is angry with them, I am sent to tell these very things to thee.

18 And all these words pleased Holofernes, and his servants, and they admired her wisdom, and they said one to another:

19 There is not such another woman upon earth in look, in beauty, and in sense of words.

20 And Holofernes said to her: God hath done well who sent thee before the people, that thou mightest give them into our hands:

21 And because thy promise is good, if thy God shall do this for me, he shall also be my God, and thou shalt be great in the house of Nabuchodonosor, and thy name shll be renowned through all the earth.

CHAP. XII.

Judith goeth out in the night to pray: she is invited to a banquet with Holofernes.

THEN he ordered that she should go in where his treasures were laid up, and bad her tarry there, and he appointed what should be given her from his own table.

2 And Judith answered him and said: Now I can not eat of these things which thou commandest to be given me, lest sin come upon me: but I will eat of the things which I have brought.

3 And Holofernès said to her: If these things which thou hast brought with thee fail thee, what shall we do for thee?

4 And Judith said: As thy soul liveth, my lord, thy hand-maid shall not spend all these things till God do by my hand that which I have purposed. And his servants brought her into the tent which he had commanded.

5 And when she was going in, she desired that she might have liberty to go out at night and before day to prayer, and to beseech the Lord.

6 And he commanded his chamberlains, that she might go out and in, to adore her God as she pleased, for three days.

7 And she went out in the nights into the valley of Bethulia, and washed herself in a fountain of water.

8 And as she came up, she prayed to the Lord the God of Israel, that he would direct her way to the deliverance of his people.

9 And going in, she remained pure in the tent, until she took her own meat in the evening.

10 And it came to pass on the fourth day, that Holofernes made a supper for his servants, and said to Vagao his eunuch: Go, and persuade that Hebrew woman, to consent of her own accord to dwell with me.

11 For it is looked upon shameful among the Assyrians, if a woman mock a man, by doing so as to pass free from him.

12 Then Vagao went in to Judith, and said: Let not my good maid be afraid to go in to my lord, that she may be honoured before his face, that she may eat with him and drink wine and be merry.

13 And Judith answered him: Who am I, that I should gainsay my lord?

14 All that shall be good and best before his eyes, I will do. And whatsoever shall please him, that shall be best to me all the days of my life.

15 And she arose and dressed herself out with her garments, and going in she stood before his face.

16 And the heart of Holofernes was ſmitten, for he was burning with the deſire of her.

17 And Holofernes ſaid to her: Drink now, and ſit down and be merry; for thou haſt found favour before me.

18 And Judith ſaid: I will drink, my lord, becauſe my life is magnified this day above all my days.

19 And ſhe took and eat and drank before him what her maid had prepared for her.

20 And Holofernes was made merry on her occaſion, and drank exceeding much wine ſo much as he had never drunk in his life.

CHAP. XIII.

Judith cutteth off the head of Holofernes, and returneth to Bethulia.

AND when it was grown late, his ſervants made haſte to their lodgings, and Vagao ſhut the chamber-doors, and went his way.

2 And they were all overcharged with wine:

3 And Judith was alone in the chamber.

4 But Holofernes lay on his bed, faſt aſleep, being exceedingly drunk.

5 And Judith ſpoke to her maid to ſtand without before the chamber, and to watch:

6 And Judith ſtood before the bed, praying with tears, and the motion of her lips in ſilence,

7 Saying: Strengthen me, O Lord God of Iſrael, and in this hour look on the works of my hands, that as thou haſt promiſed, thou mayſt raiſe up Jeruſalem thy city: and that I may bring to paſs that which I have purpoſed, having a belief that it might be done by thee.

8 And when ſhe had ſaid this, ſhe went to the pillar that was at his bed's head, and looſed his ſword that hung tied upon it.

9 And when ſhe had drawn it out, ſhe took him by the hair of his head, and ſaid: Strengthen me, O Lord God, at this hour.

10 And ſhe ſtruck twice upon his neck, and cut off his head, and took off his canopy from the pillars, and rolled away his headleſs body.

11 And after a while ſhe went out, and delivered the head of Holofernes to her maid, and bad her put it into her wallet.

12 And they two went out according to their cuſtom, as if it were to prayer, and they paſſed the camp, and having compaſſed the valley, they came to the gate of the city.

13 And Judith from afar off cried to the watchmen upon the walls: Open the gates, for God is with us, who hath ſhewn his power in Iſrael.

14 And it came to paſs, when the men had heard her voice, that they called the ancients of the city.

15 And all ran to meet her from the leaſt to the greateſt: for they had now no hopes that ſhe would come.

16 And lighting up lights they all gathered round about her: and ſhe went up to a higher place, and commanded ſilence to be made. And when all had held their peace,

17 Judith ſaid: Praiſe ye the Lord our God, who hath not forſaken them that hope in him.

18 And by me his handmaid he hath fulfilled his mercy, which he promiſed to the houſe of Iſrael: and he hath killed the enemy of his people by my hand this night.

19 Then ſhe brought forth the head of Holofernes out of the wallet, and ſhewed it them, ſaying: Behold the head of Holofernes the general of the army of the Aſſyrians, and behold his canopy, wherein he lay in his drunkenneſs, where the Lord our God ſlew him by the hand of a woman.

20 But as the ſame Lord liveth, his Angel hath been my keeper both going hence, and abiding there, and returning from thence hither: and the Lord hath not ſuffered me his handmaid to be defiled, but hath brought me back to you without pollution of ſin, rejoicing for his victory, for my eſcape, and for your deliverance.

21 ‖ Give all of you glory to him, becauſe he is good, becauſe his mercy endureth for ever. ‖ Pſ. 105. 1. & 106. 1.

22 And they all adored the Lord, and ſaid to her: The Lord hath bleſſed thee by his power, becauſe by thee he hath brought our enemies to nought.

23 And Ozias the prince of the people of Iſrael, ſaid to her: Bleſſed art thou, O daughter, by the Lord the moſt high God, above all women upon the earth.

24 Bleſſed be the Lord who made heaven and earth, who hath directed thee to the cutting off the head of the prince of our enemies.

25 Becauſe he hath ſo magnified thy name this day, that thy praiſe ſhall not depart out of the mouth of men who ſhall be mindful of the power of the Lord for ever, for that thou haſt not ſpared thy life, by reaſon of the diſtreſs and tribulation of thy people, but haſt prevented our ruin in the preſence of our God.

26 And all the people ſaid: So be it, ſo be it.

27 And Achior being called for came, and Judith said to him: The God of Israel, to whom thou gavest testimony, that he revengeth himself of his enemies, he hath cut off the head of all the unbelievers this night by my hand.

28 And that thou mayst find that it is so, behold the head of Holofernes, who in the contempt of his pride despised the God of Israel: and threatened thee with death, saying: When the people of Israel shall be taken, I will command thy sides to be pierced with a sword.

29 Then Achior seeing the head of Holofernes, being seized with a great fear he fell on his face upon the earth, and his soul swooned away.

30 But after he had recovered his spirits he fell down at her feet, and reverenced her, and said:

31 Blessed art thou by thy God in every tabernacle of Jacob, for in every nation which shall hear thy name, the God of Israel shall be magnified on occasion of thee.

CHAP. XIV.

The Israelites assault the Assyrians, who finding their general slain, are seized with a panic fear.

AND Judith said to all the people: Hear me, my brethren, hang ye up this head upon our walls:

2 And as soon as the sun shall rise, let every man take his arms, and rush ye out, not as going down beneath, but as making an assault.

3 Then the watchmen must needs run to awake their prince for the battle.

4 And when the captains of them shall run to the tent of Holofernes, and shall find him without his head wallowing in his blood, fear shall fall upon them.

5 And when you shall know that they are fleeing, go after them securely, for the Lord will destroy them under your feet.

6 Then Achior seeing the power that the God of Israel had wrought, leaving the religion of the Gentiles, he believed God, and circumcised the flesh of his foreskin, and was joined to the people of Israel, with all the succession of his kindred until this present day.

7 And immediately at break of day, they hung up the head of Holofernes upon the walls, and every man took his arms, and they went out with a great noise and shouting.

8 And the watchmen seeing this, ran to the tent of Holofernes.

9 And they that were in the tent came, and made a noise before the door of the chamber to awake him, endeavouring by art to break his rest, that Holofernes might awake, not by their calling him, but by their noise.

10 For no man durst knock, or open and go into the chamber of the general of the Assyrians.

11 But when his captains and tribunes were come, and all the chiefs of the army of the king of the Assyrians, they said to the chamberlains:

12 Go in, and awake him, for the mice coming out of their holes, have presumed to challenge us to fight.

13 Then Vagao going into his chamber, stood before the curtain, and made a clapping with his hands: for he thought that he was sleeping with Judith.

14 But when with hearkening, he perceived no motion of one lying, he came near to the curtain, and lifting it up, and seeing the body of Holofernes, lying upon the ground, without the head, weltering in his blood, he cried out with a loud voice, with weeping, and rent his garments.

15 And he went into the tent of Judith, and not finding her, he run out to the people,

16 And said: One Hebrew woman hath made confusion in the house of king Nabuchodonosor: for behold Holofernes lieth upon the ground, and his head is not upon him.

17 Now when the chiefs of the army of the Assyrians had heard this, they all rent their garments, and an intolerable fear and dread fell upon them, and their minds were troubled exceedingly.

18 And there was a very great cry in the midst of their camp.

CHAP. XV.

The Assyrians flee: the Hebrews pursue after them, and are enriched by their spoils.

AND when all the army heard that Holofernes was beheaded, courage and counsel fled from them, and being seized with trembling and fear they thought only to save themselves by flight:

2 So that no one spoke to his neighbour, but hanging down the head, leaving all things behind, they made haste to escape from the Hebrews, who, as they heard, were coming armed upon them, and fled by the ways of the fields, and the paths of the hills.

3 So the children of Israel seeing them fleeing, followed after them. And they went down sounding with trumpets and shouting after them.

4 And becauſe the Aſſyrians were not united together, they went without order in their flight; but the children of Iſrael purſuing in one body, defeated all that they could find.

5 And Ozias ſent meſſengers through all the cities and countries of Iſrael.

6 And every country, and every city, ſent their choſen young men armed after them, and they purſued them with the edge of the ſword, until they came to the extremities of their confines.

7 And the reſt that were in Bethulia went into the camp of the Aſſyrians, and took away the ſpoils, which the Aſſyrians in their flight had left behind them, and they were loaden exceedingly.

8 But they that returned conquerors to Bethulia, brought with them all things that were theirs, ſo that there was no numbering their cattle, and beaſts, and all their moveables, inſomuch that from the leaſt to the greateſt all were made rich by their ſpoils.

9 And Joachim the high prieſt came from Jeruſalem to Bethulia with all his ancients to ſee Judith.

10 And when ſhe was come out to him, they all bleſſed her with one voice, ſaying: Thou art the glory of Jeruſalem, thou art the joy of Iſrael, thou art the honour of our people:

11 For thou haſt done manfully, and thy heart has been ſtrengthened, becauſe thou haſt loved chaſtity, and after thy huſband haſt not known any other: therefore alſo the hand of the Lord hath ſtrengthened thee, and therefore thou ſhalt be bleſſed for ever.

12 And all the people ſaid: So be it, ſo be it.

13 And thirty days were ſcarce ſufficient for the people of Iſrael to gather up the ſpoils of the Aſſyrians.

14 But all thoſe things that were proved to be the peculiar goods of Holofernes, they gave to Judith in gold, and ſilver, and garments and precious ſtones, and all houſehold ſtuff, and they all were delivered to her by the people.

15 And all the people rejoiced, with the women, and virgins, and young men, playing on inſtruments and harps.

CHAP. XVI.

The canticle of Judith: her virtuous life and death.

THEN Judith ſung this canticle to the Lord, ſaying:

2 Begin ye to the Lord with timbrels, ſing ye to the Lord with cymbals, tune unto him a new pſalm, extol and call upon his name.

3 The Lord putteth an end to wars, the Lord is his name.

4 He hath ſet his camp in the midſt of his people, to deliver us from the hand of all our enemies.

5 The Aſſyrian came out of the mountains from the north in the multitude of his ſtrength: his multitude ſtopped up the torrents, and their horſes covered the valleys.

6 He bragged that he would ſet my borders on fire, and kill my young men with the ſword, to make my infants a prey, and my virgins captives.

7 But the almighty Lord hath ſtruck him, and hath delivered him into the hands of a woman, and hath ſlain him.

8 For their mighty one did not fall by young men, neither did the ſons of Titan ſtrike him, nor tall giants oppoſe themſelves to him, but Judith the daughter of Merari weakened him with the beauty of her face.

9 For ſhe put off her the garments of widowhood, and put on her the garments of joy, to give joy to the children of Iſrael.

10 She anointed her face with ointment, and bound up her locks with a crown, ſhe took a new robe to deceive him.

11 Her ſandals raviſhed his eyes, her beauty made his ſoul her captive, with a ſword ſhe cut off his head.

12 The Perſians quaked at her conſtancy, and the Medes at her boldneſs.

13 Then the camp of the Aſſyrians howled, when my lowly ones appeared, parched with thirſt.

14 The ſons of the damſels have pierced them through, and they have killed them like children fleeing away: they periſhed in battle before the face of the Lord my God.

15 Let us ſing a hymn to the Lord, let us ſing a new hymn to our God.

16 O Adonai Lord, great art thou, and glorious in thy power, and no one can overcome thee.

17 ‖ Let all thy creatures ſerve thee: becauſe thou haſt ſpoken, and they were made: thou didſt ſend forth thy Spirit, and they were created, and there is no one that can reſiſt thy voice. ‖ Pſ. 32. 9.

18 The mountains ſhall be moved from the foundations with the waters: the rocks ſhall melt as wax before thy face.

19 But they that fear thee, ſhall be great with thee in all things.

20 Wo be to the nation that riſeth up againſt my people: for the Lord almighty will take revenge on them, in the day of judgment he will viſit them.

21 For he will give fire, and worms into their fleſh, that they may burn, and may feel for ever.

22 And it came to paſs after theſe things, that all the people, after the victory, came to Jeruſalem to adore the Lord: and as ſoon as they were purified, they all offered holocauſts, and vows, and their promiſes.

23 And Judith offered for an anathema of oblivion all the arms of Holofernes, which the people gave her, and the canopy that ſhe had taken away out of his chamber.

24 And the people were joyful in the ſight of the ſanctuary, and for three months the joy of this victory was celebrated with Judith.

25 And after thoſe days every man returned to his houſe, and Judith was made great in Bethulia, and ſhe was moſt renowned in all the land of Iſrael.

26 And chaſtity was joined to her virtue, ſo that ſhe knew no man all the days of her life, after the death of Manaſſes her huſband.

27 And on feſtival days ſhe came forth with great glory.

28 And ſhe abode in her huſband's houſe a hundred and five years, and made her handmaid free, and ſhe died and was buried with her huſband in Bethulia.

29 And all the people mourned for ſeven days.

30 And all the time of her life there was none that troubled Iſrael, nor many years after her death.

31 But the day of the feſtivity of this victory is received by the Hebrews in the number of holy days, and is religiouſly obſerved by the Jews from that time until this day.

CHAP. XVI. VER. 23. An anathema of oblivion: That is, a gift or offering made to God, by way of an everlaſting monument, to prevent the oblivion or forgetting ſo great a benefit.

THE BOOK OF ESTHER.

This book takes its name from queen Eſther; whoſe hiſtory is here recorded. The general opinion of almoſt all commentators on the Holy Scripture makes Mardochai the writer of it: which alſo may be collected below from chap. ix. ver. 20.

CHAP. I.

King Aſſuerus maketh a great feaſt. Queen Vaſthi being ſent for, refuſeth to come: for which diſobedience ſhe is depoſed.

IN the days of Aſſuerus, who reigned from India to Ethiopia over a hundred and twenty ſeven provinces:

2 When he ſat on the throne of his kingdom, the city Suſan was the capital of his kingdom.

* A. M. 3485. Ante C. 519. 3 Now in the third year * of his reign he made a great feaſt for all the princes, and for his ſervants, for the moſt mighty of the Perſians, and the nobles of the Medes, and the governors of the provinces in his ſight,

4 That he might ſhew the riches of the glory of his kingdom, and the greatneſs, and boaſting of his power, for a long time, to wit, for a hundred and fourſcore days.

5 And when the days of the feaſt were expired, he invited all the people that were found in Suſan, from the greateſt to the leaſt: and commanded a feaſt to be made ſeven days in the court of the garden, and of the wood, which was planted by the care and the hand of the king.

6 And there were hung up on every ſide ſky-coloured, and green, and violet hangings, faſtened with cords of ſilk, and of purple, which were put into rings of ivory, and were held up with marble pillars. The beds alſo were of gold and ſilver, placed in order upon a floor paved with porphyry and white marble: which was embelliſhed with painting of wonderful variety.

7 And they that were invited, drank in golden cups, and the meats were brought in divers veſſels one after another. Wine alſo in abundance and of the beſt was preſented, as was worthy of a king's magnificence.

8 Neither was there any one to compel them to drink that were not willing, but as the king had appointed, who ſet over every table one of his nobles, that every man might take what he would.

9 Alſo Vaſthi the queen made a feaſt for the women in the palace, where king Aſſuerus was uſed to dwell.

10 Now on the ſeventh day, when the king was merry, and after very much drinking was well warmed with wine, he commanded Mauman, and Bazatha, and Harbona, and Bagatha, and Abgatha, and Zethar, and Charcas, the ſeven eunuchs that ſerved in his preſence,

11 To bring in queen Vaſthi before the king, with the crown ſet upon her head, to ſhew her beauty to all the people and the princes: for ſhe was exceeding beautiful.

12 But ſhe refuſed, and would not come at the king's commandment, which he had ſignified to her by the eunuchs. Whereupon the king, being angry, and inflamed with a very great fury,

13 Aſked the wiſe men, who according to the cuſtom of the kings, were always near his perſon, and all he did was by their counſel, who knew the laws, and judgments of their forefathers:

14 (Now the chief and neareſt him were, Charſena, and Sethar, and Admatha, and Tharſis, and Mares, and Marſana, and Mamuchan, ſeven princes of the Perſians, and of the Medes, who ſaw the face of the king, and were uſed to ſit firſt after him:)

15 What ſentence ought to paſs upon Vaſthi the queen, who had refuſed to obey the commandment of king Aſſuerus, which he had ſent to her by the eunuchs?

16 And Mamuchan anſwered, in the hearing of the king and the princes: Queen Vaſthi hath not only injured the king, but alſo all people and princes that are in all the provinces of king Aſſuerus.

17 For this deed of the Queen will go abroad to all women, ſo that they will deſpiſe their huſbands, and will ſay: King Aſſuerus commanded that queen Vaſthi ſhould come into him, and ſhe would not.

18 And by this example all the wives of the princes of the Perſians and the Medes will ſlight the commandments of their huſbands: wherefore the king's indignation is juſt.

19 If it pleaſe thee, let an edict go out from thy preſence, and let it be written according to the law of the Perſians and of the Medes, which muſt not be altered, that Vaſthi come in no more to the king, but another, that is better than her, be made queen in her place.

20 And let this be publiſhed through all the provinces of thy empire (which is very wide) and let all wives, as well of the greater as of the leſſer, give honour to their huſbands.

21 His counſel pleaſed the king, and the princes: and the king did according to the counſel of Mamuchan.

22 And he ſent letters to all the provinces of his kingdom, as every nation could hear and read, in divers languages and characters, that the huſbands ſhould be rulers and maſters in their houſes: and that this ſhould be publiſhed to every people.

CHAP. II.

Eſther is advanced to be queen. Mardochai detecteth a plot againſt the king.

AFTER this, when the wrath of king Aſſuerus, was appeaſed, he remembered Vaſthi, and what ſhe had done and what ſhe had ſuffered:

2 And the king's ſervants and his officers ſaid: Let young women be ſought for the king, virgins and beautiful,

3 And let ſome perſons be ſent through all the provinces to look for beautiful maidens and virgins: and let them bring them to the city of Suſan, and put them into the houſe of the women under the hand of Egeus the eunuch, who is the overſeer and keeper of the king's women: and let them receive women's ornaments, and other things neceſſary for their uſe.

4 And whoſoever among them all ſhall pleaſe the king's eyes, let her be queen inſtead of Vaſthi. The word pleaſed the king: and he commanded it ſhould be done as they had ſuggeſted.

5 There was a man in the city of Suſan, a Jew, named Mardochai, ‖ the ſon of Jair, the ſon of Semei, the ſon of Cis, of the race of Jemini, ‖ Infra 11. 2.

6 Who had been carried away from Jeruſalem at the time that Nabuchodonoſor king of Babylon carried away ‖ Jechonias king of Juda, * ‖ 4 Kings 24. 15. Infra 11. 4.

7 And he had brought up his brother's daughter Ediſſa, who by another name was called Eſther: now ſhe had loſt both her parents: and was exceeding fair and beautiful. * A. M. 3465.

And her father and mother being dead, Mardochai adopted her for his daughter.

8 And when the king's ordinance was noiſed abroad, and according to his commandment many beautiful virgins were brought to Suſan, and were delivered to Egeus the eunuch: Eſther alſo among the reſt of the maidens was delivered to him to be kept in the number of the women.

9 And ſhe pleaſed him, and found favour in his ſight. And he commanded the eunuch to haſten the women's ornaments, and to deliver to her her part, and ſeven of the moſt beautiful maidens of the king's houſe, and to adorn and deck out both her and her waiting-maids.

10 And ſhe would not tell him her people nor her country. For Mardochai had charged her to ſay nothing at all of that:

11 And he walked every day before the court of the houſe, in which the choſen virgins were kept, having a care for Eſther's welfare, and deſiring to know what would befall her.

12 Now when every virgin's turn came to go in to the king, after all had been done for ſetting them off to advantage, it was the twelfth month: ſo that for ſix months they were anointed with oil of myrrh, and for other ſix months they uſed certain perfumes and ſweet ſpices.

13 And when they were going in to the king, whatſoever they aſked to adorn themſelves they received: and being decked out, as it pleaſed them, they paſſed from the chamber of the women to the king's chamber.

14 And ſhe that went in at evening, came out in the morning, and from thence ſhe was conducted to the ſecond houſe, that was under the hand of Suſagaz the eunuch, who had the charge over the king's concubines: neither could ſhe return any more to the king, unleſs the king deſired it, and had ordered her by name to come.

15 And as the time came orderly about, the day was at hand, when Eſther the daughter of Abihail the brother of Mardochai, whom he had adopted for his daughter, was to go in to the king. But ſhe ſought not women's ornaments, but whatſoever Egeus the eunuch the keeper of the virgins had a mind, he gave her to adorn her. For ſhe was exceeding fair, and her incredible beauty made her appear agreeable and amiable in the eyes of all.

16 So ſhe was brought to the chamber of king Aſſuerus the tenth month, which is called Tebeth, in the ſeventh year * of his reign.

* A. M. 3490. Ante C. 514.

17 And the king loved her more than all the women, and ſhe had favour and kindneſs before him above all the women, and he ſet the royal crown on her head, and made her queen inſtead of Vaſthi.

18 And he commanded a magnificent feaſt to be prepared for all the princes, and for his ſervants, for the marriage and wedding of Eſther. And he gave reſt to all the provinces, and beſtowed gifts according to princely magnificence.

19 And when the virgins were ſought the ſecond time and gathered together, Mardochai ſtayed at the king's gate,

20 Neither had Eſther as yet declared her country, and people, according to his commandment. For whatſoever he commanded, Eſther obſerved: and ſhe did all things in the ſame manner as ſhe was wont at that time when he brought her up a little one.

21 At that time therefore, when Mardochai abode at the king's gate, Bagathan and Thares, two of the king's eunuchs, who were porters, and preſided in the firſt entry of the palace, were angry: and they deſigned to riſe up againſt the king, and to kill him.

22 And Mardochai had notice of it, and immediately he told it to queen Eſther: and ſhe to the king in Mardochai's name, who had reported the thing unto her.

23 It was inquired into, and found out: and they were both hanged on a gibbet. And it was put in the hiſtories, and recorded in the chronicles before the king.

CHAP. III.

Aman advanced by the king, is offended at Mardochai, and therefore procureth the king's decree to deſtroy the whole nation of the Jews.

AFTER theſe things, king Aſſuerus advanced Aman the ſon of Amadathi, who was of the race of Agag: and he ſet his throne above all the princes that were with him.

2 And all the king's ſervants, that were at the doors of the palace, bent their knees, and worſhipped Aman: for ſo the emperor had commanded them, only Mardochai did not bend his knee, nor worſhip him.

3 And the king's ſervants that were chief at the doors of the palace, ſaid to him: Why doſt thou alone not obſerve the king's commandment?

4 And when they were ſaying this often, and he would not hearken to them, they told Aman, deſirous to know whether he would continue in his reſolution: for he had told them that he was a Jew.

5 Now when Aman had heard this, and had proved by experience that Mardochai did not bend his knee to him, nor worſhip him, he was exceedingly angry.

6 And he counted it as nothing to lay his hands upon Mardochai alone: for he had heard that he was of the nation of the Jews, and he choſe rather to deſtroy all the nation of the Jews that were in the kingdom of Aſſuerus.

7 In the firſt month (which is called Niſan) in the twelfth year * of the reign of Aſſuerus, the lot was caſt into an urn, which in Hebrew is called Phur, before Aman, on what day and what month the nation of the Jews ſhould be deſtroyed: and there came out the twelfth month, which is called Adar.

* A. M. 3494. Ante C. 510.

8 And Aman ſaid to king Aſſuerus: There is a people ſcattered through all the provinces of thy kingdom, and ſeparated one from another, that uſe new laws and ceremonies, and moreover deſpiſe the king's ordinances: and thou knoweſt very well that it is not expedient for thy kingdom that they ſhould grow inſolent by impunity.

9 If it pleaſe thee, decree that they may be deſtroyed, and I will pay ten thouſand talents to thy treaſurers.

10 And the king took the ring that he uſed, from his own hand, and gave it to Aman the ſon of Amadathi of the race of Agag, the enemy of the Jews,

11 And he ſaid to him: As to the money which thou promiſeſt, keep it for thyſelf: and as to the people do with them as ſeemeth good to thee.

12 And the king's ſcribes were called in the firſt month Niſan, on the thirteenth day of the ſame month: and they wrote, as Aman had commanded, to all the king's lieutenants, and to the judges of the provinces, and of divers nations, as every nation could read, and hear according to their different languages, in the name of king Aſſuerus: and the letters ſealed with his ring

A. M. 3495.

13 Were ſent by the king's meſſengers to all provinces, to kill and deſtroy all the Jews, both young and old, little children, and women, in one day, that is, on the thirteenth of the twelfth month, which is called Adar, and to make a ſpoil of their goods.

14 And the contents of the letters were to this effect, that all provinces might know, and be ready againſt that day.

15 The couriers that were ſent made haſte to fulfil the king's commandment. And immediately the edict was hung up in Suſan, the king and Aman feaſting together, and all the Jews that were in the city weeping.

CHAP. IV.

Mardochai deſireth Eſther to petition the king for the Jews. They join in faſting and prayer.

NOW when Mardochai had heard theſe things, he rent his garments, and put on ſack-cloth, ſtrewing aſhes on his head: and he cried with a loud voice in the ſtreet in the midſt of the city, ſhewing the anguiſh of his mind.

2 And he came lamenting in this manner even to the gate of the palace: for no one clothed with ſack-cloth might enter the king's court.

3 And in all provinces, towns, and places, to which the king's cruel edict was come, there was great mourning among the Jews, with faſting, wailing, and weeping, many uſing ſack-cloth and aſhes for their bed.

4 Then Eſther's maids and her eunuchs went in, and told her. And when ſhe heard it ſhe was in a conſternation: and ſhe ſent a garment, to cloth him, and to take away the ſack-cloth: but he would not receive it.

5 And ſhe called for Athach the eunuch, whom the king had appointed to attend upon her, and ſhe commanded him to go to Mardochai and to learn of him, why he did this.

6 And Athach going out went to Mardochai who was ſtanding in the ſtreet of the city, before the palace-gate:

7 And Mardochai told him all that had happened, how Aman had promiſed, to pay money into the king's treaſures to have the Jews deſtroyed.

8 He gave him alſo a copy of the edict which was hanging up in Suſan, that he ſhould ſhew it to the queen, and admoniſh her to go in to the king, and to intreat him for her people.

9 And Athach went back and told Eſther all that Mardochai had ſaid.

10 She anſwered him, and bad him ſay to Mardochai:

11 All the king's ſervants, and all the provinces that are under his dominion, know, that whoſoever, whether man or woman, cometh into the king's inner court, who is not called for, is immediately to be put to death without any delay: except the king ſhall hold out the golden ſcepter to him, in token of clemency, that ſo he may live. How then can I go in to the king, who for theſe thirty days now have not been called unto him?

12 And when Mardochai had heard this,

13 He ſent word to Eſther again, ſaying: Think not that thou mayſt ſave thy life only, becauſe thou art in the king's houſe, more than all the Jews:

14 For if thou wilt now hold thy peace, the Jews ſhall be delivered by ſome other occaſion: and thou, and thy father's houſe ſhall periſh. And who knoweth whether thou art not therefore come to the kingdom, that thou mighteſt be ready in ſuch a time as this?

15 And again Eſther ſent to Mardochai in theſe words:

16 Go, and gather together all the Jews whom thou ſhalt find in Suſan, and pray ye for me. Neither eat, nor drink for three days and three nights: and I with my handmaids will faſt in like manner, and then I will go in to the king, againſt the law, not being called, and expoſe myſelf to death and to danger.

17 So Mardochai went, and did all that Eſther had commanded him.

CHAP. V.

Eſther is graciouſly received: ſhe inviteth the king and Aman to dinner. Aman prepareth a gibbet for Mardochai.

A. M. 3495. AND on the third day Eſther put on her royal apparel, and ſtood in the inner court of the king's houſe, over-againſt the king's hall: now he ſat upon his throne in the hall of the palace, over-againſt the door of the houſe.

2 And when he ſaw Eſther the queen ſtanding, ſhe pleaſed his eyes, and he held out toward her the golden ſcepter, which he held in his hand: and ſhe drew near, and kiſſed the top of his ſcepter.

3 And the king ſaid to her: What wilt thou, queen Eſther? what is thy requeſt? if thou ſhouldſt even aſk one half of the kingdom, it ſhall be given to thee.

4 But ſhe anſwered: If it pleaſe the king, I beſeech thee to come to me this day, and Aman with thee to the banquet which I have prepared.

5 And the king ſaid forthwith: Call ye Aman quickly, that he may obey Eſther's will. So the king and Aman came to the banquet which the queen had prepared for them.

6 And the king ſaid to her, after he had drunk wine plentifully: What doſt thou deſire ſhould be given thee? and for what thing aſkeſt thou? although thou ſhouldſt aſk the half of my kingdom, thou ſhalt have it.

7 And Eſther anſwered: My petition and requeſt is this:

8 If I have found favour in the king's ſight, and if it pleaſe the king to give me what I aſk, and to fulfil my petition: let the king and Aman come to the banquet which I have prepared them, and to-morrow I will open my mind to the king.

9 So Aman went out that day joyful and merry. And when he ſaw Mardochai ſitting before the gate of the palace, and that he not only did not riſe up to honour him, but did not ſo much as move from the place where he ſat, he was exceedingly angry:

10 But diſſembling his anger, and returning into his houſe, he called together to him his friends, and Zares his wife:

11 And he declared to them the greatneſs of his riches, and the multitude of his children, and with how great glory the king had advanced him above all his princes and ſervants.

12 And after this he ſaid: Queen Eſther alſo hath invited no other to the banquet with the king, but me: and with her I am alſo to dine to-morrow with the king.

13 And whereas I have all theſe things, I think I have nothing, ſo long as I ſee Mardochai the Jew ſitting before the king's gate.

14 Then Zares his wife, and the reſt of his friends anſwered him: Order a great beam to be prepared, fifty cubits high, and in the morning ſpeak to the king, that Mardochai may be hanged upon it; and ſo thou ſhalt go full of joy with the king to the banquet. The counſel pleaſed him, and he commanded a high gibbet to be prepared.

CHAP. VI.

The king hearing of the good ſervice done him by Mardochai, commandeth Aman to honour him next to the king, which he performeth.

A. M. 3495. THAT night the king paſſed without ſleep, and he commanded the hiſtories and chronicles of former times to be brought him. And when they were reading them before him,

2 They came to that place where it was written, how Mardochai had diſcovered the treaſon of Bagathan and Thares the eunuchs, who ſought to kill king Aſſuerus.

3 And when the king heard this, he ſaid: What honour and reward hath Mardochai received for this fidelity? His ſervants and miniſters ſaid to him: He hath received no reward at all.

4 And the king ſaid immediately: Who is

CHAP. VI. VER. 3. No reward at all. He received ſome preſents from the king, chap. xii. 5. but theſe were ſo inconſiderable in the opinion of the courtiers, that they eſteemed them as nothing at all.

in the court? for Aman was coming in to the inner court of the king's houſe, to ſpeak to the king, that he might order Mardochai to be hanged upon the gibbet which was prepared for him.

5 The ſervants anſwered: Aman ſtandeth in the court. And the king ſaid: Let him come in.

6 And when he was come in, he ſaid to him: What ought to be done to the man whom the king is deſirous to honour? But Aman thinking in his heart, and ſuppoſing that the king would honour no other but himſelf,

7 Anſwered: The man whom the king deſireth to honour,

8 Ought to be clothed with the king's apparel, and to be ſet upon the horſe that the king rideth upon, and to have the royal crown upon his head,

9 And let the firſt of the king's princes and nobles hold his horſe, and going through the ſtreet of the city, proclaim before him and ſay: Thus ſhall he be honoured, whom the king hath a mind to honour.

10 And the king ſaid to him: Make haſte and take the robe and the horſe, and do as thou haſt ſpoken to Mardochai the Jew, who ſitteth before the gates of the palace. Beware thou paſs over any of thoſe things which thou haſt ſpoken.

11 So Aman took the robe and the horſe, and arraying Mardochai in the ſtreet of the city, and ſetting him on the horſe, went before him, and proclaimed: This honour is he worthy of, whom the king hath a mind to honour.

12 And Mardochai returned to the palace gate: and Aman made haſte to go to his houſe, mourning and having his head covered:

13 And he told Zares his wife, and his friends all that had befallen him. And the wiſe men whom he had in counſel, and his wife anſwered him: If Mardochai be of the ſeed of the Jews, before whom thou haſt begun to fall, thou canſt not reſiſt him, but thou ſhalt fall in his ſight.

14 As they were yet ſpeaking, the king's eunuchs came, and compelled him to go quickly to the banquet which the queen had prepared.

CHAP. VII.

Eſther's petition for herſelf and her people: Aman is hanged upon the gibbet he had prepared for Mardochai.

A. M. 3495. SO the king and Aman went in, to drink with the queen.

2 And the king ſaid to her again the ſecond day, after he was warm with wine: What is thy petition Eſther, that it may be granted thee? and what wilt thou have done: although thou aſk the half of my kingdom, thou ſhalt have it.

3 Then ſhe anſwered: If I have found favour in thy ſight, O king, and if it pleaſe thee, give me my life for which I aſk, and my people for which I requeſt.

4 For we are given up, I and my people, to be deſtroyed, to be ſlain, and to periſh. And would God we were ſold for bond-men and bond-women: the evil might be borne with, and I would have mourned in ſilence: but now we have an enemy, whoſe cruelty redoundeth upon the king.

5 And king Aſſuerus anſwered, and ſaid: Who is this, and of what power, that he ſhould do theſe things?

6 And Eſther ſaid: It is this Aman that is our adverſary and moſt wicked enemy. Aman hearing this was forthwith aſtoniſhed, not being able to bear the countenance of the king and of the queen.

7 But the king being angry roſe up, and went from the place of the banquet into the garden ſet with trees. Aman alſo roſe up, to intreat Eſther the queen for his life, for he underſtood that evil was prepared for him by the king.

8 And when the king came back out of the garden ſet with trees, and entered into the place of the banquet, he found Aman was fallen upon the bed on which Eſther lay, and he ſaid: He will force the queen alſo in my preſence, in my own houſe. The word was not yet gone out of the king's mouth, and immediately they covered his face.

9 And Harbona, one of the eunuchs that ſtood waiting on the king, ſaid: Behold the gibbet which he hath prepared for Mardochai, who ſpoke for the king, ſtandeth in Aman's houſe, being fifty cubits high. And the king ſaid to him: Hang him upon it.

10 So Aman was hanged on the gibbet which he had prepared for Mardochai: and the king's wrath ceaſed.

CHAP. VIII.

Mardochai is advanced: Aman's letters are reverſed.

ON that day king Aſſuerus gave the houſe of Aman, the Jews enemy, to queen Eſther, and Mardochai came in before the king. For Eſther had confeſſed to him that he was her uncle. A. M. 3495.

2 And the king took the ring which he had commanded to be taken again from Aman, and gave it to Mardochai. And Eſther ſet Mardochai over her houſe.

3 And not content with theſe things, ſhe fell down at the king's feet and wept, and ſpeaking to him beſought him, that he would give orders that the malice of Aman the Agagite, and his moſt wicked devices which he had invented againſt the Jews, ſhould be of no effect.

4 But he, as the manner was, held out the golden ſceptre with his hand, which was the ſign of clemency: and ſhe aroſe up and ſtood before him,

5 And ſaid: If it pleaſe the king, and if I have found favour in his ſight, and my requeſt be not diſagreeable to him, I beſeech thee, that the former letters of Aman the traitor and enemy of the Jews, by which he commanded that they ſhould be deſtroyed in all the king's provinces, may be reverſed by new letters.

6 For how can I endure the murdering and ſlaughter of my people?

7 And king Aſſuerus anſwered Eſther the queen, and Mardochai the Jew: I have given Aman's houſe to Eſther, and I have commanded him to be hanged on a gibbet, becauſe he durſt lay hands on the Jews.

8 Write ye therefore to the Jews, as it pleaſeth you, in the king's name, and ſeal the letters with my ring. For this was the cuſtom, that no man durſt gainſay the letters which were ſent in the king's name, and were ſealed with his ring.

9 Then the king's ſcribes and ſecretaries were called for (now it was the time of the third month which is called Siban) the three and twentieth day of the month, and letters were written, as Mordachai had a mind, to the Jews, and to the governors, and to the deputies, and to the Judges, who were rulers over the hundred and twenty ſeven provinces, from India even to Ethiopia: to province and province, to people and people, according to their languages and characters, and to the Jews, according as they could read and hear.

10 And theſe letters which were ſent in the king's name, were ſealed with his ring, and ſent by poſts: who were to run through all the provinces, to prevent the former letters with new meſſages.

11 And the king gave orders to them, to ſpeak to the Jews in every city, and to command them to gather themſelves together, and to ſtand for their lives, and to kill and deſtroy all their enemies with their wives and children and all their houſes, and to take their ſpoil.

12 And one day of revenge was appointed through all the provinces, to wit, the thirteenth of the twelfth month Adar.

13 And this was the content of the letter, that it ſhould be notified in all lands and peoples that were ſubject to the empire of king Aſſuerus, that the Jews were ready to be revenged of their enemies.

14 So the ſwift poſts went out carrying the meſſages, and the king's edict was hung up in Suſan.

15 And Mardochai going forth out of the palace, and from the king's preſence, ſhone in royal apparel, to wit, of violet and ſky-colour wearing a golden crown on his head, and clothed with a cloak of ſilk and purple. And all the city rejoiced, and was glad.

16 But to the Jews a new light ſeemed to riſe, joy, honour, and dancing.

17 And in all peoples, cities, and provinces, whitherſoever the king's commandments came, there was wonderful rejoicing, feaſts and banquets, and keeping holy-day: inſomuch that many of other nations and religion, joined themſelves to their worſhip and ceremonies. For a great dread of the name of the Jews had fallen upon all.

CHAP. IX.

The Jews kill their enemies that would have killed them. The days of Phurim are appointed to be kept holy.

SO on the thirteenth day of the twelfth month, which as we have ſaid above is called Adar, when all the Jews were deſigned to be maſſacred, and their enemies were greedy after their blood, the caſe being altered, the Jews began to have the upper hand, and to revenge themſelves of their adverſaries. A. M. 3496. Ante C. 508.

2 And they gathered themſelves together in every city, and town, and place, to lay their hands on their enemies, and their perſecutors. And no one durſt withſtand them, for the fear of their power had gone through every people.

3 And the judges of the provinces, and the governors, and lieutenants, and every one in dignity, that preſided over every place and work, extolled the Jews for fear of Mardochai:

4 For they knew him to be prince of the palace, and to have great power: and the fame of his name increaſed daily, and was ſpread abroad through all mens mouths.

CHAP. IX. VER. 1. To revenge, &c. The Jews on this occaſion by authority from the king, were made executioners of the public juſtice, for puniſhing by death a crime worthy of death, viz. A malicious conſpiracy for extirpating their whole nation.

5 So the Jews made a great ſlaughter of their enemies, and killed them, repaying according to what they had prepared to do to them:

6 Inſomuch that even in Suſan they killed five hundred men, beſides the ten ſons of Aman the Agagite the enemy of the Jews: whoſe names are theſe:

7 Pharſandatha, and Delphon, and Eſphatha.

8 And Phoratha, and Adalia, and Aridatha,

9 And Phermeſta, and Ariſai, and Aridai, and Jezatha.

10 And when they had ſlain them, they would not touch the ſpoils of their goods.

11 And preſently the number of them that were killed in Suſan was brought to the king.

12 And he ſaid to the queen: The Jews have killed five hundred men in the city of Suſan, beſides the ten ſons of Aman: how many doſt thou think they have ſlain in all the provinces? What aſkeſt thou more, and what wilt thou have me to command to be done?

13 And ſhe anſwered: If it pleaſe the king, let it be granted to the Jews, to do to-morrow in Suſan as they have done to-day, and that the ten ſons of Aman may be hanged upon gibbets.

14 And the king commanded that it ſhould be ſo done. And forthwith the edict was hung up in Suſan, and the ten ſons of Aman were hanged.

15 And on the fourteenth day of the month Adar the Jews gathered themſelves together, and they killed in Suſan three hundred men: but they took not their ſubſtance.

16 Moreover through all the provinces which were ſubject to the king's dominion the Jews ſtood for their lives, and ſlew their enemies and perſecutors: inſomuch that the number of them that were killed amounted to ſeventy five thouſand, and no man took any of their goods.

17 Now the thirteenth day of the month Adar was the firſt day with them all of the ſlaughter, and on the fourteenth day they left off. Which they ordained to be kept holy-day, ſo that all times hereafter they ſhould celebrate it with feaſting, joy, and banquets.

18 But they that were killing in the city of Suſan, were employed in the ſlaughter on the thirteenth and fourteenth day of the ſame month: and on the fifteenth day they reſted. And therefore they appointed that day to be a holy-day of feaſting and gladneſs.

19 But thoſe Jews that dwelt in towns not walled and in villages, appointed the fourteenth day of the month Adar for banquets and gladneſs, ſo as to rejoice on that day, and ſend one another portions of their banquets and meats.

20 And Mardochai wrote all theſe things, and ſent them compriſed in letters to the Jews that abode in all the king's provinces, both thoſe that lay near and thoſe afar off,

21 That they ſhould receive the fourteenth and fifteenth day of the month Adar for holy-days, and always at the return of the year ſhould celebrate them with ſolemn honour:

22 Becauſe on thoſe days the Jews revenged themſelves of their enemies, and their mourning and ſorrow were turned into mirth and joy, and that theſe ſhould be days of feaſting and gladneſs, in which they ſhould ſend one to another portions of meats, and ſhould give gifts to the poor.

23 And the Jews undertook to obſerve with ſolemnity all they had begun to do at that time, which Mardochai by letters had commanded to be done.

24 For Aman, the ſon of Amadathi of the race of Agag, the enemy and adverſary of the Jews, had deviſed evil againſt them, to kill them and deſtroy them: and had caſt Phur, that is the lot.

25 And afterwards Eſther went in to the king, beſeeching him that his endeavours might be made void by the king's letters: and the evil that he had intended againſt the Jews, might return upon his own head. And ſo both he and his ſons were hanged upon gibbets,

26 And ſince that time theſe days are called Phurim, that is, of Lots: becauſe Phur, that is, the lot, was caſt into the urn. And all things that were done, are contained in the volume of this epiſtle, that is, of this book:

27 And the things that they ſuffered, and that were afterwards changed, the Jews took upon themſelves and their ſeed, and upon all that had a mind to be joined to their religion, ſo that it ſhould be lawful for none to paſs theſe days without ſolemnity: which the writing teſtifieth, and certain times require, as the years continually ſucceed one another.

28 Theſe are the days which ſhall never be forgot: and which all provinces in the whole world ſhall celebrate throughout all generations: neither is there any city wherein the days of Phurim, that is, of lots, muſt not be obſerved by the Jews, and by their poſterity, which is bound to theſe ceremonies.

29 And Eſther the queen the daughter of Abihail, and Mardochai the Jew wrote alſo a ſecond epiſtle, that with all diligence this day ſhould be eſtabliſhed a feſtival for the time to come.

30 And they ſent to all the Jews that were in the hundred and twenty ſeven provinces of king Aſſuerus, that they ſhould have peace, and receive truth,

31 And obſerve the days of lots, and celebrate them with joy in their proper time: as Mardochai and Eſther had appointed, and they undertook them to be obſerved by themſelves and by their ſeed, faſts, and cries, and the days of lots, 32 And all things which are contained in the hiſtory of this book, which is called Eſther.

CHAP. X.

Aſſuerus's greatneſs. Mardochai's dignity.

AND king Aſſuerus made all the land, and all the iſlands of the ſea tributary.

2 And his ſtrength and his empire, and the dignity and greatneſs wherewith he exalted Mardochai, are written in the books of the Medes, and of the Perſians:

3 And how Mardochai of the race of the Jews, was next after king Aſſuerus: and great among the Jews, and acceptable to the people of his brethren, ſeeking the good of his people, and ſpeaking thoſe things which were for the welfare of his ſeed.

4 Then Mardochai ſaid: God hath done theſe things.

5 I remember a dream that I ſaw, which ſignified theſe ſame things: and nothing thereof hath failed.

6 The little fountain which grew into a river, and was turned into a light, and into the ſun, and abounded into many waters, is Eſther, whom the king married, and made queen.

7 But the two dragons: are I, and Aman.

8 The nations that were aſſembled: are they that endeavoured to deſtroy the name of the Jews.

9 And my nation: is Iſrael, who cried to the Lord, and the Lord ſaved his people: and he delivered us from all evils, and hath wrought great ſigns and wonders among the nations:

10 And he commanded that there ſhould be two lots, one of the people of God, and the other of all the nations.

11 And both lots came to the day appointed already from that time before God to all nations:

12 And the Lord remembered his people, and had mercy on his inheritance.

13 And theſe days ſhall be obſerved in the month of Adar on the fourteenth, and fifteenth day of the ſame month, with all diligence, and joy of the people gathered into one aſſembly, throughout all the generations hereafter of the people of Iſrael.

CHAP. XI.

The dream of Mardochai which in the ancient Greek and Latin bibles was in the beginning of the book, but was detached by St. Jerome, and put in this place.

IN the fourth year * of the reign of Ptolemy and Cleopatra, Doſitheus, who ſaid he was a prieſt, and of the Levitical race, and Ptolemy his ſon brought this epiſtle of Phurim, which they ſaid Lyſimachus the ſon of Ptolemy had interpreted in Jeruſalem. * A. M. 3827. Ante C. 177.

2 In the ſecond year * of the reign of Artaxerxes the great in the firſt day of the month Niſan, Mardochai the ſon of Jair, the ſon of Semei, the ſon of Cis, of the tribe of Benjamin: * A. M. 3484. Ante C. 520.

3 A Jew who dwelt in the city of Suſan, a great man and among the firſt of the king's court, had a dream.

5 And this was his dream: Behold there were voices, and tumults, and thunders and earthquakes, and a diſturbance upon the earth.

6 || And behold two great dragons came forth ready to fight one againſt another. || Supra 10. 7.

7 And at their cry all nations were ſtirred up to fight againſt the nation of the juſt.

8 And that was a day of darkneſs and danger, of tribulation and diſtreſs, and great fear upon the earth.

9 And the nation of the juſt was troubled, fearing their own evils, and was prepared for death.

10 And they cried to God: and as they were crying, a little fountain grew into a very great river, and abounded into many waters.

11 The light and the ſun roſe up, and the humble were exalted, and they devoured the glorious.

12 And when Mardochai had ſeen this, and aroſe out of his bed, he was thinking what God would do: and he kept it fixed in his Mardochai detects the conspiracy of the two eunuchs.

Supra 2. 21. & 6. 2.

AND he abode at that time in the king's court with Bagatha and Thara the king's eunuchs, who were porters of the palace.

2 And when he understood their designs, and had diligently searched into their projects, he learned that they went about to lay violent hands on king Artaxerxes, and he told the king thereof.

3 Then the king had them both examined, and after they had confessed commanded them to be put to death.

4 But the king made a record of what was done: and Mardochai also committed the memory of the thing to writing.

5 And the king commanded him, to abide in the court of the palace, and gave him presents for the information.

6 But Aman the son of Amadathi the Bugite was in great honour with the king, and sought to hurt Mardochai and his people, because of the two eunuchs of the king who were put to death.

CHAP. XIII.

A copy of a letter sent by Aman to destroy the Jews. Mardochai's prayer for the people.

AND this was the copy of the letter. Artaxerxes the great king who reigneth from India to Ethiopia, to the princes and governors of the hundred and twenty seven provinces, that are subject to his empire, greeting.

2 Whereas I reigned over many nations, and had brought all the world under my dominion, I was not willing to abuse the greatness of my power, but to govern my subjects with clemency and lenity, that they might live quietly without any terror, and might enjoy peace, which is desired by all men.

3 But when I asked my counsellors how this might be accomplished, one that excelled the rest in wisdom and fidelity, and was second after the king, Aman by name,

4 Told me that there was a people scattered through the whole world, which used new laws, and acted against the customs of all nations, despised the commandments of kings, and violated by their opposition the concord of all nations.

5 Wherefore having learned this, and seeing one nation in opposition to all mankind using perverse laws, and going against our commandments, and disturbing the peace and concord of the provinces subject to us,

6 We have commanded that all whom Aman shall mark out, who is chief over all the provinces, and second after the king, and whom we honour as a father, shall be utterly destroyed by their enemies, with their wives and children, and that none shall have pity on them, on the fourteenth day of the twelfth month Adar of this present year:

7 That these wicked men going down to hell in one day, may restore to our empire the peace which they had disturbed.

8 But Mardochai besought the Lord, remembering all his works,

9 And said: O Lord, Lord, almighty king, for all things are in thy power, and there is none that can resist thy will, if thou determine to save Israel.

10 Thou hast made heaven and earth, and all things that are under the cope of heaven.

11 Thou art Lord of all, and there is none that can resist thy majesty.

12 Thou knowest all things, and thou knowest that it was not out of pride and contempt, or any desire of glory, that I refused to worship the proud Aman,

13 (For I would willingly and readily for the salvation of Israel have kissed even the steps of his feet,)

14 But I feared lest I should transfer the honour of my God to a man, and lest I should adore any one except my God.

15 And now, O Lord, O king, O God of Abraham, have mercy on thy people, because our enemies resolve to destroy us, and extinguish thy inheritance.

16 Despise not thy portion, which thou hast redeemed for thyself out of Egypt.

17 Hear my supplication, and be merciful to thy lot and inheritance, and turn our mourning into joy, that we may live and praise thy name, O Lord, and shut not the mouths of them that sing to thee.

18 And all Israel with like mind and supplication cried to the Lord, because they saw certain death hanging over their heads.

CHAP. XIV.

The prayer of Esther for herself and her people.

QUEEN Esther also, fearing the danger that was at hand, had recourse to the Lord.

2 And when she had laid away her royal apparel, she put on garments suitable for weeping and mourning, instead of divers precious ointments, she covered her head with ashes and dung, and she humbled her body with fasts: and all the places in which before she was accustomed to rejoice, she filled with her torn hair.

3 And she prayed to the Lord the God of Israel, saying: O my Lord, who alone art our king, help me a desolate woman, and who have no other helper but thee.

4 My danger is in my hands.

‖ Deut. 4. 20. 34. & 32. 9.

5 ‖ I have heard of my father that thou, O Lord, didst take Israel from among all nations, and our fathers from all their predecessors, to possess them as an everlasting inheritance, and thou hast done to them as thou hast promised.

6 We have sinned in thy sight, and therefore thou hast delivered us into the hands of our enemies:

7 For we have worshipped their gods. Thou art just, O Lord.

8 And now they are not content to oppress us with most hard bondage, but attributing the strength of their hands to the power of their idols,

9 They design to change thy promises, and destroy thy inheritance, and shut the mouths of them that praise thee, and extinguish the glory of thy temple and altar,

10 That they may open the mouths of Gentiles, and praise the strength of idols, and magnify for ever a carnal king.

11 Give not, O Lord, thy sceptre to them that are not, lest they laugh at our ruin: but turn their counsel upon themselves, and destroy him that hath begun to rage against us.

12 Remember, O Lord, and shew thyself to us in the time of our tribulation, and give me boldness, O Lord, king of gods, and of all power:

13 Give me a well ordered speech in my mouth in the presence of the lion, and turn his heart to the hatred of our enemy, that both he himself may perish, and the rest that consent to him.

14 But deliver us by thy hand, and help me, who have no other helper, but thee, O Lord, who hast the knowledge of all things,

15 And thou knowest that I hate the glory of the wicked, and abhor the bed of the uncircumcised, and of every stranger.

16 Thou knowest my necessity, that I abominate the sign of my pride and glory, which is upon my head in the days of my public appearance, and detest it as a menstruous rag, and wear it not in the days of my silence.

17 And that I have not eaten at Aman's table, nor hath the king's banquet pleased me, and that I have not drunk the wine of the drink-offerings:

18 And that thy handmaid hath never rejoiced, since I was brought hither unto this day, but in thee, O Lord, the God of Abraham.

19 O God, who art mighty above all, hear the voice of them, that have no other hope, and deliver us from the hand of the wicked, and deliver me from my fear.

CHAP. XV.

Esther comes into the king's presence: she is terrified, but God turns his heart.

AND he commanded her (no doubt but he was Mardochai) to go to the king, and petition for her people, and for her country.

2 Remember (said he) the days of thy low estate, how thou wast brought up by my hand, because Aman the second after the king hath spoken against us unto death.

3 And do thou call upon the Lord, and speak to the king for us, and deliver us from death.

4 And on the third day she laid away the garments she wore, and put on her glorious apparel.

5 And glittering in royal robes, after she had called upon God the ruler and saviour of all, she took two maids with her,

6 And upon one of them she leaned, as if for delicateness and overmuch tenderness, she were not able to bear up her own body:

7 And the other maid followed her lady, bearing up her train flowing on the ground.

8 But she with a rosy colour in her face, and with gracious and bright eyes, hid a mind full of anguish, and exceeding great fear.

9 So going in she passed through all the doors in order, and stood before the king, where he sat upon his royal throne, clothed with his royal robes, and glittering with gold, and precious stones, and he was terrible to behold.

10 And when he had lifted up his countenance, and with burning eyes had shewn the wrath of his heart, the queen sunk down, and her colour turned pale, and she rested her weary head upon her hand-maid.

11 And God changed the king's spirit into mildness, and all in haste and in fear he leaped from his throne, and holding her up in his arms, till she came to herself, caressed her with these words:

12 What is the matter, Esther? I am thy brother, fear not.

13 Thou shalt not die: for this law is not made for thee, but for all others.

14 Come near then, and touch the sceptre.

15 And as she held her peace, he took the golden sceptre, and laid it upon her neck, and kissed her, and said: Why dost thou not speak to me?

‖ Gen. 33. 10. 2 Kings 9. 17.

16 She answered: ‖ I saw thee, my lord, as an Angel of God, and my heart was troubled for fear of thy majesty.

17 For thou, my lord, art very admirable, and thy face is full of graces.

18 And while she was speaking, she fell down again, and was almost in a swoon.

19 But the king was troubled, and all his servants comforted her.

CHAP. XVI.

A copy of the king's letter in favour of the Jews.

Supra 11. 2. THE great king Artaxerxes, from India to Ethiopia, to the governors and princes of a hundred and twenty seven provinces, which obey our command, sendeth greeting.

‖ Supra 3. 10. 2 Many ‖ have abused unto pride the the goodness of princes, and the honour that hath been bestowed upon them:

3 And not only endeavour to oppress the king's subjects, but not bearing the glory that is given them, take in hand to practise also against them that gave it.

4 Neither are they content not to return thanks for benefits received, and to violate in themselves the laws of humanity, but they think they can also escape the justice of God who seeth all things.

5 And they break out into so great madness, as to endeavour to undermine by lies such as observe diligently the offices committed to them, and do all things in such manner as to be worthy of all mens praise,

6 While with crafty fraud they deceive the ears of princes that are well-meaning, and judge of others by their own nature.

7 Now this is proved both from ancient histories, and by the things which are done daily, how the good designs of kings are depraved by the evil suggestions of certain men.

8 Wherefore we must provide for the peace of all provinces.

9 Neither must you think, if we command different things, that it cometh of the levity of our mind, but that we give sentence according to the quality and necessity of times, as the profit of the commonwealth requireth.

‖ Supra 3. 1. 10 Now that you may more plainly understand what we say, ‖ Aman the son of Amadathi, a Macedonian both in mind and country, and having nothing of the Persian blood, but with his cruelty staining our goodness, was received being a stranger by us:

11 And found our humanity so great towards him, that he was called our father, and was worshipped by all as the next man after the king:

12 But he was so far puffed up with arrogancy, as to go about to deprive us of our kingdom and life.

13 For with certain new and unheard of devices he hath sought the destruction of Mardochai, by whose fidelity and good services our life was saved, and of Esther the partner of our kingdom, with all their nation:

14 Thinking that after they were slain, he might work treason against us left alone without friends, and might transfer the kingdom of the Persians to the Macedonians.

15 But we have found that the Jews, who were by that most wicked man appointed to be slain, are in no fault at all, but contrariwise use just laws,

16 And are the children of the highest and the greatest, and the ever-living God, by whose benefit the kingdom was given both to our fathers and to us, and is kept unto this day.

17 Wherefore know ye that those letters which he sent in our name, are void and of no effect.

18 For which crime both he himself that devised it, and all his kindred hang on gibbets, before the gates of this city Susan: not we, but God repaying him as he deserved.

19 But this edict, which we now send, shall be published in all cities, that the Jews may freely follow their own laws.

20 And you shall aid them that they may kill those who had prepared themselves to kill them, on the thirteenth day of the twelfth month, which is called Adar.

21 For the almighty God hath turned this day of sadness and mourning into joy to them.

22 Wherefore you shall also count this day among other festival days, and celebrate it with all joy, that it may be known also in times to come,

23 That all they who faithfully obey the Persians, receive a worthy reward for their fidelity: but they that are traitors to their kingdom, are destroyed for their wickedness.

24 And let every province and city, that will not be partaker of this solemnity, perish by the sword and by fire, and be destroyed in such manner as to be made unpassable, both to men and beasts, for an example of contempt, and disobedience.

CHAP. XVI. VER. 1. From India to Ethiopia. That is, who reigneth from India to Ethiopia.

THE BOOK OF JOB.

This book takes its name from the holy man, of whom it treats: who, according to the more probable opinion, was of the race of Esau; and the same as Jobab, king of Edom, mentioned Gen. xxxvi. 33. It is uncertain who was the writer of it. Some attribute it to Job himself; others to Moses, or some one of the prophets. In the Hebrew it is written in verse, from the beginning of the third chapter to the forty second chapter.

CHAP. I.

Job's virtue and riches. Satan by permission from God strippeth him of all his substance. His patience.

A. M. circiter 2520. Ante C. 1484.

THERE was a man in the land of Hus, whose name was Job, and that man was simple and upright, and fearing God, and avoiding evil.

2 And there were born to him seven sons and three daughters.

3 And his possession was seven thousand sheep, and three thousand camels, and five hundred yoke of oxen, and five hundred she-asses, and a family exceeding great: and this man was great among all the people of the east.

4 And his sons went, and made a feast by houses, every one in his day. And sending they called their three sisters, to eat and drink with them.

5 And when the days of their feasting were gone about, Job sent to them, and sanctified them: and rising up early offered holocausts for every one of them. For he said: Lest perhaps my sons have sinned, and have blessed God in their hearts. So did Job all days.

6 Now on a certain day when the sons of God came to stand before the Lord, Satan also was present among them.

7 And the Lord said to him: Whence comest thou? And he answered and said: I have gone round about the earth, and walked through it.

8 And the Lord said to him: Hast thou considered my servant Job, that there is none like him in the earth, a simple and upright man, and fearing God, and avoiding evil?

9 And Satan answering, said: Doth Job fear God in vain?

10 Hast not thou made a fence for him, and his house, and all his substance round about, blessed the works of his hands, and his possession hath increased on the earth?

CHAP. I. VER. 1. Hus. The land of Hus was a part of Edom: as appears from Lament. iv. 21.

Ibid. Simple. That is, innocent, sincere, and without guile.

VER. 4. And made a feast by houses. That is, each made a feast in his own house and had his day, inviting the others and their sisters.

VER. 5. Blessed. For greater horror of the very thought of blasphemy, the scripture both here and ver. 11. and in the following chapter, ver. 5. and 9. uses the word bless to signify its contrary.

VER. 6. The sons of God. The angels.

Ibid. Satan also, &c. This passage represents to us in a figure, accommodated to the ways and understandings of men, 1. The restless endeavours of Satan against the servants of God; 2. That he can do nothing without God's permission; 3. That God doth not permit him to attempt them above their strength: but assists them by his divine grace in such manner, that the vain efforts of the enemy only serve to illustrate their virtue and increase their merit.

11 But ſtretch forth thy hand a little, and touch all that he hath, and ſee if he bleſſeth thee not to thy face.

12 Then the Lord ſaid to Satan: Behold, all that he hath is in thy hand: only put not forth thy hand upon his perſon. And Satan went forth from the preſence of the Lord.

13 Now upon a certain day when his ſons and daughters were eating and drinking wine in the houſe of their eldeſt brother,

14 There came a meſſenger to Job, and ſaid: The oxen were ploughing, and the aſſes feeding beſide them,

15 And the Sabeans ruſhed in, and took all away, and ſlew the ſervants with the ſword, and I alone have eſcaped to tell thee.

16 And while he was yet ſpeaking, another came, and ſaid: The fire of God fell from heaven, and ſtriking the ſheep and the ſervants, hath conſumed them, and I alone have eſcaped to tell thee.

17 And while he alſo was yet ſpeaking, there came another and ſaid: The Chaldeans made three troops, and have fallen upon the camels, and taken them, moreover they have ſlain the ſervants with the ſword, and I alone have eſcaped to tell thee.

18 He was yet ſpeaking, and behold another came in, and ſaid: Thy ſons and daughters were eating and drinking wine in the houſe of their elder brother,

19 A violent wind came on a ſudden from the ſide of the deſert, and ſhook the four corners of the houſe, and it fell upon thy children and they are dead, and I alone have eſcaped to tell thee.

20 Then Job roſe up, and rent his garments, and having ſhaven his head fell down upon the ground, and worſhipped, ‖ Eccli. 5. 14. 1 Tim. 6. 7.

21 And ſaid: ‖ Naked came I out of my mother's womb, and naked ſhall I return thither: the Lord gave, and the Lord hath taken away: as it hath pleaſed the Lord, ſo is it done: bleſſed be the name of the Lord.

22 In all theſe things Job ſinned not by his lips, nor ſpoke he any fooliſh thing againſt God.

CHAP. II.

Satan, by God's permiſſion, ſtriketh Job with ulcers from head to foot: his patience is ſtill invincible.

AND it came to paſs when on a certain day the ſons of God came, and ſtood before the Lord, and Satan came among them, and ſtood in his ſight,

2 That the Lord ſaid to Satan: Whence comeſt thou? And he anſwered, and ſaid: I have gone round about the earth, and walked through it.

3 And the Lord ſaid to Satan: Haſt thou conſidered my ſervant Job, that there is none like him in the earth, a man ſimple, and upright, and fearing God, and avoiding evil, and ſtill keeping his innocence? But thou haſt moved me againſt him, that I ſhould afflict him without cauſe.

4 And Satan anſwered, and ſaid: Skin for ſkin, and all that a man hath he will give for his life:

5 But put forth thy hand, and touch his bone and his fleſh, and then thou ſhalt ſee that he will bleſs thee to thy face.

6 And the Lord ſaid to Satan: Behold he is in thy hand, but yet ſave his life.

7 So Satan went forth from the preſence of the Lord, and ſtruck Job with a very grievous ulcer, from the ſole of the foot even to the top of his head:

8 And he took a potſherd and ſcraped the corrupt matter, ſitting on a dunghil.

9 And his wife ſaid to him: Doſt thou ſtill continue in thy ſimplicity? bleſs God and die.

10 And he ſaid to her: Thou haſt ſpoken like one of the fooliſh women: if we have received good things at the hand of God, why ſhould we not receive evil? In all theſe things Job did not ſin with his lips.

11 Now when Job's three friends heard all the evil, that had befallen him, they came every one from his own place, Eliphaz the Themanite, and Baldad the Suhite, and Sophar the Naamathite. For they had made an appointment to come together and viſit him, and comfort him.

12 And when they had lift up their eyes afar off, they knew him not, and crying out they wept, and rending their garments they ſprinkled duſt upon their heads toward heaven.

13 And they ſat with him on the ground ſeven days and ſeven nights, and no man ſpoke to him a word: for they ſaw that his grief was very great.

CHAP. III.

Job expreſſeth his ſenſe of the miſeries of man's life, by curſing the day of his birth.

AFTER this Job opened his mouth, and curſed his day,

CHAP. III. VER. 1. Curſed his day. Job curſed the day of his birth, not by way of wiſhing evil to any thing of God's creation; but only to expreſs in a ſtronger manner his ſenſe of human miſeries in general, and of his own calamities in particular.

2 And he said:

|| Jerem. 20. 14. 3 || Let the day perish wherein I was born, and the night in which it was said: A man-child is conceived.

4 Let that day be turned into darkness, let not God regard it from above, and let not the light shine upon it.

5 Let darkness, and the shadow of death cover it, let a mist overspread it, and let it be wrapped up in bitterness.

6 Let a darksome whirlwind seize upon that night, let it not be counted in the days of the year, nor numbered in the months.

7 Let that night be solitary, and not worthy of praise.

8 Let them curse it who curse the day, who are ready to raise up a Leviathan:

9 Let the stars be darkened with the mist thereof: let it expect light and not see it, nor the rising of the dawning of the day:

10 Because it shut not up the doors of the womb that bore me, nor took away evils from my eyes.

11 Why did I not die in the womb, why did I not perish when I came out of the belly?

12 Why received upon the knees? why suckled at the breasts?

13 For now I should have been asleep and still, and should have rest in my sleep:

14 With kings and consuls of the earth, who build themselves solitudes:

15 Or with princes, that possess gold, and fill their houses with silver:

16 Or as a hidden untimely birth I should not be, or as they that being conceived have not seen the light.

17 There the wicked cease from tumult, and there the wearied in strength are at rest.

18 And they sometime bound together without disquiet, have not heard the voice of the oppressor.

19 The small and great are there, and the servant is free from his master.

20 Why is light given to him that is in misery, and life to them that are in bitterness of soul?

21 That look for death, and it cometh not, as they that dig for a treasure:

22 And they rejoice exceedingly when they have found the grave.

23 To a man whose way is hidden, and God hath surrounded him with darkness?

24 Before I eat I sigh: and as overflowing waters, so is my roaring:

25 For the fear which I feared, hath come upon me: and that which I was afraid of, hath befallen me.

26 Have I not dissembled? have I not kept silence? have I not been quiet? and indignation is come upon me.

CHAP. IV.

Eliphaz charges Job with impatience, and pretends that God never afflicts the innocent.

THEN Eliphaz the Themanite answered, and said:

2 If we begin to speak to thee, perhaps thou wilt take it ill, but who can withhold the words he hath conceived?

3 Behold thou hast taught many, and thou hast strengthened the weary hands:

4 Thy words have confirmed them that were staggering, and thou hast strengthened the trembling knees:

5 But now the scourge is come upon thee, and thou faintest: it hath touched thee, and thou art troubled.

6 Where is thy fear, thy fortitude, thy patience, and the perfection of thy ways?

7 Remember, I pray thee, who ever perished being innocent? or when were the just destroyed?

8 On the contrary I have seen those who work iniquity, and sow sorrows, and reap them,

9 Perishing by the blast of God, and consumed by the spirit of his wrath.

10 The roaring of the lion, and the voice of the lioness, and the teeth of the whelps of lions are broken:

11 The tiger hath perished for want of prey, and the young lions are scattered abroad.

12 Now there was a word spoken to me in private, and my ears by stealth as it were received the veins of its whisper.

13 In the horror of a vision by night, when deep sleep is wont to hold men,

14 Fear seized upon me, and trembling, and all my bones were affrighted:

15 And when a spirit passed before me, the hair of my flesh stood up.

16 There stood one whose countenance I knew not, an image before my eyes, and I heard the voice as it were of a gentle wind:

17 || Shall man be justified in comparison of God, or shall a man be more pure than his maker? || Infra 25. 4.

18 ‡ Behold they that serve him are not stedfast, and in his angels he found wickedness: ‡ Infra 15. 15. 2 Peter 2. 4. Jude 1. 6.

CHAP. IV. VER. 17. Shall man be justified in comparison of God, &c. These are the words which Eliphaz had heard from an Angel, which, ver. 15. he calls a spirit.

19 How much more ſhall they that dwell in houſes of clay, who have an earthly foundation, be conſumed as with the moth?

20 From morning till evening they ſhall be cut down: and becauſe no one underſtandeth, they ſhall periſh for ever.

21 And they that ſhall be left, ſhall be taken away from them: they ſhall die, and not in wiſdom.

CHAP. V.

Eliphaz proceeds in his charge, and exhorts Job to acknowledge his ſins.

CALL now if there be any that will anſwer thee, and turn to ſome of the ſaints.

2 Anger indeed killeth the fooliſh, and envy ſlayeth the little one.

3 I have ſeen a fool with a ſtrong root, and I curſed his beauty immediately.

4 His children ſhall be far from ſafety, and ſhall be deſtroyed in the gate, and there ſhall be none to deliver them.

5 Whoſe harveſt the hungry ſhall eat, and the armed man ſhall take him by violence, and the thirſty ſhall drink up his riches.

6 Nothing upon earth is done without a cauſe, and ſorrow doth not ſpring out of the ground.

7 Man is born to labour, and the bird to fly.

8 Wherefore I will pray to the Lord, and addreſs my ſpeech to God:

9 Who doth great things and unſearchable and wonderful things without number:

10 Who giveth rain upon the face of the earth, and watereth all things with waters:

11 Who ſetteth up the humble on high, and comforteth with health thoſe that mourn.

12 Who bringeth to nought the deſigns of the malignant, ſo that their hands cannot accompliſh what they had begun:

[1 Cor. 3. 19. 13 || Who catcheth the wiſe in their craftineſs, and diſappointeth the counſel of the wicked:

14 They ſhall meet with darkneſs in the day, and grope at noon-day as in the night.

15 But he ſhall ſave the needy from the ſword of their mouth, and the poor from the hand of the violent.

16 And to the needy there ſhall be hope, but iniquity ſhall draw in her mouth.

17 Bleſſed is the man whom God correcteth: refuſe not therefore the chaſtiſing of the Lord:

18 For he woundeth, and cureth: he ſtriketh, and his hands ſhall heal.

19 In ſix troubles he ſhall deliver thee, and in the ſeventh, evil ſhall not touch thee.

20 In famine he ſhall deliver thee from death; and in battle, from the hand of the ſword.

21 Thou ſhalt be hidden from the ſcourge of the tongue: and thou ſhalt not fear calamity when it cometh.

22 In deſtruction and famine thou ſhalt laugh: and thou ſhalt not be afraid of the beaſts of the earth.

23 But thou ſhalt have a covenant with the ſtones of the lands, and the beaſts of the earth ſhall be at peace with thee.

24 And thou ſhalt know that thy tabernacle is in peace, and viſiting thy beauty thou ſhalt not ſin.

25 Thou ſhalt know alſo that thy ſeed ſhall be multiplied, and thy offſpring like the graſs of the earth.

26 Thou ſhalt enter into the grave in abundance, as a heap of wheat is brought in its ſeaſon.

27 Behold, this is even ſo, as we have ſearched out: which thou having heard, conſider it thoroughly in thy mind.

CHAP. VI.

Job maintains his innocence, and complains of his friends.

BUT Job anſwered, and ſaid:

2 O that my ſins, whereby I have deſerved wrath, and the calamity that I ſuffer, were weighed in a balance.

3 As the ſand of the ſea this would appear heavier: therefore my words are full of ſorrow:

4 For the arrows of the Lord are in me, the rage whereof drinketh up my ſpirit, and the terrors of the Lord war againſt me.

5 Will the wild aſs bray when he hath graſs? or will the ox low when he ſtandeth before a full manger?

6 Or can an unſavoury thing be eaten, that is not ſeaſoned with ſalt? or can a man taſte that which when taſted bringeth death?

7 The things which before my ſoul would not touch, now, through anguiſh are my meats.

8 Who will grant that my requeſt may come: and that God may give me what I look for?

9 And that he that hath begun may deſtroy me, that he may let looſe his hand, and cut me off?

CHAP. VI. VER. 2. My ſins, &c. He does not mean to compare his ſufferings with his real ſins; but with the imaginary crimes which his friends imputed to him: and eſpecially with his wrath, or grief; expreſſed in the third chapter, which they ſo much accuſed. Though, as he tells them here, it bore no proportion with the greatneſs of his calamity.

10 And that this may be my comfort, that afflicting me with ſorrow, he ſpare not, nor I contradict the words of the Holy one.

11 For what is my ſtrength, that I can hold out? or what is my end that I ſhould keep patience?

12 My ſtrength is not the ſtrength of ſtones, nor is my fleſh of braſs.

13 Behold there is no help for me in myſelf, and my familiar friends alſo are departed from me.

14 He that taketh away mercy from his friend, forſaketh the fear of the Lord.

15 My brethren have paſſed by me, as the torrent that paſſeth ſwiftly in the valleys.

16 They that fear the hoary froſt, the ſnow ſhall fall upon them.

17 At the time when they ſhall be ſcattered they ſhall periſh: and after it groweth hot they ſhall be melted out of their place.

18 The paths of their ſteps are intangled: they ſhall walk in vain, and ſhall periſh.

19 Conſider the paths of Thema, the ways of Saba, and wait a little while.

20 They are confounded, becauſe I have hoped: they are come alſo even unto me, and are covered with ſhame.

21 Now you are come: and now ſeeing my affliction you are afraid.

22 Did I ſay: Bring to me, and give me of your ſubſtance?

23 Or deliver me from the hand of the enemy, and reſcue me out of the hand of the mighty?

24 Teach me, and I will hold my peace: and if I have been ignorant in any thing, inſtruct me.

25 Why have you detracted the words of truth, whereas there is none of you that can reprove me?

26 You dreſs up ſpeeches only to rebuke, and you utter words to the wind.

27 You ruſh in upon the fatherleſs, and you endeavour to overthrow your friend.

28 However finiſh what you have begun: give ear, and ſee whether I lie.

29 Anſwer, I beſeech you, without contention: and ſpeaking that which is juſt, judge ye.

30 And you ſhall not find iniquity in my tongue, neither ſhall folly found in my mouth.

CHAP. VII.

Job declares the miſeries of man's life: and addreſſes himſelf to God.

THE life of man upon earth is a warfare, and his days are like the days of a hireling.

2 As a ſervant longeth for the ſhade, as the hireling looketh for the end of his work.

3 So I alſo have had empty months and have numbered to myſelf weariſome nights.

4 If I lie down to ſleep, I ſhall ſay: When ſhall I ariſe? and again I ſhall look for the evening, and ſhall be filled with ſorrows even till darkneſs.

5 My fleſh is clothed with rottenneſs and the filth of duſt, my ſkin is withered and drawn together.

6 My days have paſſed more ſwiftly than the web is cut by the weaver, and are conſumed without any hope.

7 Remember that my life is but wind, and my eye ſhall not return to ſee good things.

8 Nor ſhall the ſight of man behold me: thy eyes are upon me, and I ſhall be no more.

9 As a cloud is conſumed, and paſſeth away: ſo he that ſhall go down to hell ſhall not come up.

10 Nor ſhall he return any more into his houſe, neither ſhall his place know him any more.

11 Wherefore I will not ſpare my mouth, I will ſpeak in the affliction of my ſpirit: I will talk with the bitterneſs of my ſoul.

12 Am I a ſea, or a whale, that thou haſt encloſed me in a priſon?

13 If I ſay: My bed ſhall comfort me, and I ſhall be relieved ſpeaking with myſelf on my couch:

14 Thou wilt frighten me with dreams and terrify me with viſions.

15 So that my ſoul rather chooſeth hanging, and my bones death.

16 I have done with hope, I ſhall now live no longer: ſpare me, for my days are nothing.

17 What is a man that thou ſhouldſt magnify him? or why doſt thou ſet thy heart upon him?

18 Thou viſiteſt him early in the morning, and thou proveſt him ſuddenly.

19 How long wilt thou not ſpare me, nor ſuffer me to ſwallow down my ſpittle?

20 I have ſinned, what ſhall I do to thee, O keeper of men? why haſt thou ſet me oppoſite to thee, and I am become burdenſome to myſelf?

21 Why doſt thou not remove my ſin, and why doſt thou not take away my iniquity? Behold now I ſhall ſleep in the duſt: and if thou ſeek me in the morning, I ſhall not be.

CHAP. VIII.

Baldad under pretence of defending the juſtice of God, accuſes Job, and exhorts him to return to God.

THEN Baldad the Suhite anſwered, and ſaid:

2 How long wilt thou ſpeak theſe things, and how long ſhall the words of thy mouth be like a ſtrong wind?

3 Doth God pervert judgment, or doth the almighty overthrow that which is juſt?

4 Although thy children have ſinned againſt him, and he hath left them in the hand of their iniquity:

5 Yet if thou wilt ariſe early to God, and wilt beſeech the Almighty:

6 If thou wilt walk clean and upright, he will preſently awake unto thee, and will make the dwelling of thy juſtice peaceable:

7 In ſo much, that if thy former things were ſmall, thy latter things would be multiplied exceedingly.

8 For enquire of the former generation, and ſearch diligently into the memory of the fathers:

9 (For we are but of yeſterday, and are ‖ Infra 14. 2. Pſ. 143. 4. ignorant ‖ that our days upon earth are but a ſhadow:)

10 And they ſhall teach thee: they ſhall ſpeak to thee, and utter words out of their hearts.

11 Can the ruſh be green without moiſture? or a ſedge-buſh grow without water?

12 When it is yet in flower, and is not plucked up with the hand, it withereth before all herbs.

13 Even ſo are the ways of all that forget God, and the hope of the hypocrite ſhall periſh:

14 His folly ſhall not pleaſe him, and his truſt ſhall be like the ſpider's web.

15 He ſhall lean upon his houſe, and it ſhall not ſtand: he ſhall prop it up, and it ſhall not riſe:

16 He ſeemeth to have moiſture before the ſun cometh, and at his riſing his bloſſom ſhall ſhoot forth.

17 His roots ſhall be thick upon a heap of ſtones, and among the ſtones he ſhall abide.

18 If one ſwallow him up out of his place, he ſhall deny him, and ſhall ſay: I know thee not.

19 For this is the joy of his way, that others may ſpring again out of the earth.

20 God will not caſt away the ſimple, nor reach out his hand to the evil doer:

21 Until thy mouth be filled with laughter, and thy lips with rejoicing.

22 They that hate thee, ſhall be cloathed with confuſion: and the dwelling of the wicked ſhall not ſtand.

CHAP. IX.

Job acknowledges God's juſtice: although he often afflicts the innocent.

AND Job anſwered and ſaid:

2 Indeed I know it is ſo, and that man cannot be juſtified compared with God.

3 If he will contend with him, he cannot anſwer him one for a thouſand.

4 He is wiſe in heart, and mighty in ſtrength: who hath reſiſted him, and hath had peace?

5 Who hath removed mountains, and they whom he overthrew in his wrath, knew it not.

6 Who ſhaketh the earth out of her place, and the pillars thereof tremble.

7 Who commandeth the ſun, and it riſeth not: and ſhutteth up the ſtars as it were under a ſeal:

8 Who alone ſpreadeth out the heavens, and walketh upon the waves of the ſea.

9 Who maketh Arcturus, and Orion, and Hyades, and the inner parts of the ſouth.

10 Who doth things great and incomprehenſible, and wonderful, of which there is no number.

11 If he come to me, I ſhall not ſee him: if he depart I ſhall not underſtand.

12 If he examine on a ſudden, who ſhall anſwer him? or who can ſay: Why doſt thou ſo?

13 God, whoſe wrath no man can reſiſt, and under whom they ſtoop that bear up the world.

14 What am I then, that I ſhould anſwer him, and have words with him?

15 I, who although I ſhould have any juſt thing, would not anſwer, but would make ſupplication to my judge.

16 And if he ſhould hear me when I call, I ſhould not believe that he had heard my voice.

17 For he ſhall cruſh me in a whirlwind, and multiply my wounds even without cauſe.

18 He alloweth not my ſpirit to reſt, and he filleth me with bitterneſs.

19 If ſtrength be demanded, he is moſt ſtrong: if equity of judgment, no man dare bear witneſs for me.

20 If I would juſtify myſelf, my own mouth ſhall condemn me: if I would ſhew myſelf innocent, he ſhall prove me wicked.

21 Although I ſhould be ſimple, even this my ſoul ſhall be ignorant of, and I ſhall be weary of my life,

22 One thing there is that I have ſpoken,

CHAP. IX. VER. 9. Arcturus, &c. Theſe are names of ſtars or conſtellations. In Hebrew, Aſh, Ceſil, and Cimah. See note ch. xxxviii. ver. 31.

VER. 17. Without cauſe. That is, without my knowing the cauſe: or without any crime of mine.

both the innocent and the wicked he conſumeth.

23 If he ſcourge, let him kill at once, and not laugh at the pains of the innocent.

24 The earth is given into the hand of the wicked, he covereth the face of the judges thereof: and if it be not he, who is it then?

25 My days have been ſwifter than a poſt: they have fled away and have not ſeen good.

26 They have paſſed by as ſhips carrying fruits, as an eagle flying to the prey.

27 If I ſay: I will not ſpeak ſo: I change my face, and am tormented with ſorrow.

28 I feared all my works, knowing that thou didſt not ſpare the offender.

29 But if ſo alſo I am wicked, why have I laboured in vain?

30 If I be waſhed as it were with ſnow-waters, and my hands ſhall ſhine ever ſo clean:

31 Yet thou ſhalt plunge me in filth, and my garments ſhall abhor me.

32 For I ſhall not anſwer a man that is like myſelf: nor one that may be heard with me equally in judgment.

33 There is none that may be able to reprove both, and to put his hand between both.

34 Let him take his rod away from me, and let not his fear terrify me.

35 I will ſpeak, and will not fear him: for I cannot anſwer while I am in fear.

CHAP. X.

Job laments his afflictions and begs to be delivered.

MY ſoul is weary of my life, I will let go my ſpeech againſt myſelf, I will ſpeak in the bitterneſs of my ſoul.

2 I will ſay to God: Do not condemn me: tell me why thou judgeſt me ſo.

3 Doth it ſeem good to thee that thou ſhouldſt calumniate me, and oppreſs me, the work of thy own hands, and help the counſel of the wicked?

4 Haſt thou eyes of fleſh: or, ſhalt thou ſee as man ſeeth?

5 Are thy days as the days of man, and are thy years as the times of men:

6 That thou ſhouldſt enquire after my iniquity, and ſearch after my ſin?

7 And ſhouldſt know that I have done no wicked thing, whereas there is no man that can deliver out of thy hand.

8 Thy hands have made me, and faſhioned me wholly round about, and doſt thou thus caſt me down headlong on a ſudden?

9 Remember, I beſeech thee, that thou haſt made me as the clay, and thou wilt bring me into duſt again.

10 Haſt thou not milked me as milk, and curdled me like cheeſe?

11 Thou haſt cloathed me with ſkin and fleſh: thou haſt put me together with bones and ſinews:

12 Thou haſt granted me life and mercy, and thy viſitation hath preſerved my ſpirit.

13 Although thou conceal theſe things in thy heart, yet I know that thou remembereſt all things.

14 If I have ſinned and thou haſt ſpared me for an hour: why doſt thou not ſuffer me to be clean from my iniquity?

15 And if I be wicked, wo unto me: and if juſt, I ſhall not lift up my head, being filled with affliction and miſery.

16 And for pride thou wilt take me as a lioneſs, and returning thou tormenteſt me wonderfully.

17 Thou reneweſt thy witneſſes againſt me, and multiplieſt thy wrath upon me, and pains war againſt me.

18 Why didſt thou bring me forth out of the womb? O that I had been conſumed that eye might not ſee me!

19 I ſhould have been as if I had not been, carried from the womb to the grave.

20 Shall not the fewneſs of my days be ended ſhortly? ſuffer me, therefore, that I may lament my ſorrow a little:

21 Before I go, and return no more, to a land that is dark and covered with the miſt of death:

22 A land of miſery and darkneſs, where the ſhadow of death, and no order, but everlaſting horror dwelleth.

CHAP. XI.

Sophar reproveth Job, for juſtifying himſelf, and inviteth him to repentance.

THEN Sophar the Naamathite anſwered, and ſaid:

2 Shall not he that ſpeaketh much, hear alſo? or ſhall a man full of talk be juſtified?

3 Shall men hold their peace to thee only? and when thou haſt mocked others, ſhall no man confute thee?

4 For thou haſt ſaid: My word is pure, and I am clean in thy ſight.

5 And I wiſh that God would ſpeak with thee, and would open his lips to thee,

6 That he might ſhew thee the ſecrets of wiſdom and that his law is manifold, and thou mighteſt underſtand that he exacteth much leſs of thee, than thy iniquity deſerveth.

7 Peradventure thou wilt comprehend the ſteps of God, and wilt find out the Almighty perfectly?
8 He is higher than heaven, and what wilt thou do? he is deeper than hell, and how wilt thou know?
9 The meaſure of him is longer than the earth, and broader than the ſea.
10 If he ſhall overturn all things, or ſhall preſs them together, who ſhall contradict him?
11 For he knoweth the vanity of men, and when he ſeeth iniquity, doth he not conſider it?
12 A vain man is lifted up into pride, and thinketh himſelf born free like a wild aſs's colt.
13 But thou haſt hardened thy heart, and haſt ſpread thy hands to him.
14 If thou wilt put away from thee the iniquity that is in thy hand, and let not injuſtice remain in thy tabernacle:
15 Then mayſt thou lift up thy face without ſpot, and thou ſhalt be ſtedfaſt, and ſhalt not fear.
16 Thou ſhalt alſo forget miſery, and remember it only as waters that are paſſed away.
17 And brightneſs like that of the noon day, ſhall ariſe to thee at evening: and when thou ſhalt think thyſelf conſumed, thou ſhalt riſe as the day-ſtar.
18 And thou ſhalt have confidence, hope being ſet before thee, and being buried thou ſhalt ſleep ſecure.
‖ Levit. 26. 6. 19 ‖ Thou ſhalt reſt, and there ſhall be none to make thee afraid: and many ſhall intreat thy face.
‖ Levit. 26. 16. 20 ‖ But the eyes of the wicked ſhall decay, and the way to eſcape ſhall fail them, and their hope the abomination of the ſoul.

CHAP. XII.

Job's reply to Sophar. He extols God's power and wiſdom.

THEN Job anſwered, and ſaid:
2 Are you then men alone, and ſhall wiſdom die with you?
‖ Infra 20. 3. 3 ‖ I alſo have a heart as well as you: for who is ignorant of theſe things, which you know?
‖ Prov. 14. 2. 4 ‖ He that is mocked by his friend as I, ſhall call upon God and he will hear him: for the ſimplicity of the juſt man is laughed to ſcorn.
5 The lamp deſpiſed in the thoughts of the rich, is ready for the time appointed.
‖ Pſ. 43. 11. & 48. 7. 6 ‖ The tabernacles of robbers abound, and they provoke God boldly, whereas it is he that hath given all into their hands:
7 But aſk now the beaſts, and they ſhall teach thee: and the birds of the air and they ſhall tell thee.
8 Speak to the earth, and it ſhall anſwer thee: and the fiſhes of the ſea ſhall tell.
9 Who is ignorant that the hand of the Lord hath made all theſe things?
10 In whoſe hand is the ſoul of every living thing, and the ſpirit of all fleſh of man.
‖ Infra 34. 3. 11 ‖ Doth not the ear diſcern words, and the palate of him that eateth, the taſte?
12 In the ancient is wiſdom, and in length of days prudence.
13 With him is wiſdom and ſtrength, he hath counſel and underſtanding.
‖ Iſai. 22. 22. Apoc. 3. 7. 14 ‖ If he pull down, there is no man that can build up: if he ſhut up a man, there is none that can open.
15 If he withhold the waters, all things ſhall be dried up: and if he ſend them out, they ſhall overturn the earth.
16 With him is ſtrength and wiſdom: he knoweth both the deceiver, and him that is deceived.
17 He bringeth counſellors to a fooliſh end, and judges to inſenſibility.
18 He looſeth the belt of kings, and girdeth their loins with a cord.
19 He leadeth away prieſts without glory, and overthroweth nobles.
20 He changeth the ſpeech of the true ſpeakers, and taketh away the doctrine of the aged.
21 He poureth contempt upon princes, and relieveth them that were oppreſſed.
22 He diſcovereth deep things out of darkneſs, and bringeth up to light the ſhadow of death.
23 He multiplieth nations, and deſtroyeth them, and reſtoreth them again after they were overthrown.
24 He changeth the heart of the princes of the people of the earth, and deceiveth them that they walk in vain where there is no way.
25 They ſhall grope as in the dark, and not in the light, and he ſhall make them ſtagger like men that are drunk.

CHAP. XIII.

Job perſiſts in maintaining his innocence: and reproves his friends.

BEHOLD my eye hath ſeen all theſe things, and my ear hath heard them, and I have underſtood them all.
2 According to your knowledge I alſo know: neither am I inferior to you.
3 But yet I will ſpeak to the Almighty, and I deſire to reaſon with God.

4 Having firſt ſhewn that you are forgers of lies, and maintainers of perverſe opinions.

5 And I wiſh you would hold your peace, that you might be thought to be wiſe men.

6 Hear ye therefore my reproof, and attend to the judgment of my lips.

7 Hath God any need of your lie, that you ſhould ſpeak deceitfully for him?

8 Do you accept his perſon, and do you endeavour to judge for God?

9 Or ſhall it pleaſe him, from whom nothing can be concealed? or ſhall he be deceived as a man, with your deceitful dealings?

13 He ſhall reprove you, becauſe in ſecret you accept his perſon.

11 As ſoon as he ſhall move himſelf, he ſhall trouble you: and his dread ſhall fall upon you.

12 Your remembrance ſhall be compared to aſhes, and your necks ſhall be brought to clay.

13 Hold your peace a little while, that I may ſpeak whatſoever my mind ſhall ſuggeſt to me.

14 Why do I tear my fleſh with my teeth, and carry my ſoul in my hands?

15 Although he ſhould kill me, I will truſt in him: but yet I will reprove my ways in his ſight.

16 And he ſhall be my ſaviour: for no hypocrite ſhall come before his preſence.

17 Hear ye my ſpeech, and receive with your ears hidden truths.

18 If I ſhall be judged, I know that I ſhall be found juſt.

19 Who is he that will plead againſt me? let him come: why am I conſumed holding my peace?

20 Two things only do not to me, and then from thy face I ſhall not be hid:

21 Withdraw thy hand far from me, and let not thy dread terrify me.

22 Call me, and I will anſwer thee: or elſe I will ſpeak, and do thou anſwer me.

23 How many are my iniquities and ſins? make me know my crimes and offences.

24 Why hideſt thou thy face, and thinkeſt me thy enemy?

25 Againſt a leaf, that is carried away with the wind, thou ſheweſt thy power, and thou purſueſt a dry ſtraw.

26 For thou writeſt bitter things againſt me, and wilt conſume me for the ſins of my youth.

27 Thou haſt put my feet in the ſtocks and haſt obſerved all my paths, and haſt conſidered the ſteps of my feet:

28 Who am to be conſumed as rottenneſs, and as a garment that is moth-eaten.

CHAP. XIV.

Job declares the ſhortneſs of man's days: and profeſſes his belief of a reſurrection.

MAN born of a woman, living for a ſhort time, is filled with many miſeries.

2 ‖ Who cometh forth like a flower, and is deſtroyed, and fleeth as a ſhadow, and never continueth in the ſame ſtate. ‖ Supra 8. 9. Pſ. 143. 4.

3 And doſt thou think it meet to open thy eyes upon ſuch an one, and to bring him into judgment with thee?

4 ‖ Who can make him clean that is conceived of unclean ſeed? is it not thou who only art? ‖ Pſ. 50. 4.

5 The days of man are ſhort, and the number of his months is with thee: thou haſt appointed his bounds which cannot be paſſed.

6 Depart a little from him, that he may reſt, until his wiſhed for day come, as that of the hireling.

7 A tree hath hope: if it be cut, it groweth green again, and the boughs thereof ſprout.

8 If its root be old in the earth, and its ſtock be dead in the duſt:

9 At the ſcent of water it ſhall ſpring, and bring forth leaves, as when it was firſt planted.

10 But man when he ſhall be dead, and ſtripped and conſumed, I pray you where is he?

11 As if the waters ſhould depart out of the ſea, and an emptied river ſhould be dried up:

12 So man when he is fallen aſleep ſhall not riſe again till the heavens be broken, he ſhall not awake, nor riſe up out of his ſleep.

13 Who will grant me this, that thou mayſt protect me in hell, and hide me till thy wrath paſs, and appoint me a time when thou wilt remember me?

14 Shall man that is dead, thinkeſt thou, live again? all the days, in which I am now in warfare, I expect until my change come.

15 Thou ſhalt call me, and I will anſwer thee: to the work of thy hands thou ſhalt reach out thy right hand.

16 ‖ Thou indeed haſt numbered my ſteps, but ſpare my ſins. ‖ Infra 31. 4. & 34. 31. Prov. 5. 21.

CHAP. XIV. VER. 13. That thou mayſt protect me in hell. That is, in the ſtate of the dead; and in the place where the ſouls are kept waiting for their Redeemer.

17 Thou haſt ſealed up my offences as it were in a bag, but haſt cured my iniquity.
18 A mountain falling cometh to naught, and a rock is removed out of its place.
19 Waters wear away the ſtones, and with inundation the ground by little and little is waſhed away: ſo in like manner thou ſhalt deſtroy man.
20 Thou haſt ſtrengthened him for a little while, that he may paſs away for ever: thou ſhalt change his face, and ſhalt ſend him away.
21 Whether his children come to honour or diſhonour, he ſhall not underſtand.
22 But yet his fleſh, while he ſhall live, ſhall have pain, and his ſoul ſhall mourn over him.

CHAP. XV.

Eliphaz returns to the charge againſt Job; and deſcribes the wretched ſtate of the wicked.

AND Eliphaz the Themanite anſwered, and ſaid:
2 Will a wiſe man anſwer as if he were ſpeaking in the wind, and fill his ſtomach with burning heat?
3 Thou reproveſt him by words, who is not equal to thee, and thou ſpeakeſt that which is not good for thee.
4 As much as is in thee, thou haſt made void fear, and haſt taken away prayers from before God.
5 For thy iniquity hath taught thy mouth, and thou imitateſt the tongue of blaſphemers.
6 Thy own mouth ſhall condemn thee, and not I: and thy own lips ſhall anſwer thee.
7 Art thou the firſt man that was born, or waſt thou made before the hills?
8 Haſt thou heard God's counſel, and ſhall his wiſdom be inferior to thee?
9 What knoweſt thou that we are ignorant of? what doſt thou underſtand that we know not?
‖ Eccli. 18. 8. 10 ‖ There are with us alſo aged and ancient men, much elder than thy fathers.
11 Is it a great matter that God ſhould comfort thee? but thy wicked words hinder this.
12 Why doth thy heart elevate thee, and why doſt thou ſtare with thy eyes, as if they were thinking great things?
13 Why doth thy ſpirit ſwell againſt God, to utter ſuch words out of thy mouth?
14 What is man that he ſhould be without ſpot, and he that is born of a woman that he ſhould appear juſt?
‖ Supra 4. 18. 15 ‖ Behold among his ſaints none is unchangeable, and the heavens are not pure in his ſight.
16 How much more is man abominable, and unprofitable, who drinketh iniquity like water?
17 I will ſhew thee, hear me: and I will tell thee what I have ſeen.
18 Wiſe men confeſs and hide not their fathers.
19 To whom alone the earth was given, and no ſtranger hath paſſed among them.
20 The wicked man is proud all his days, and the number of the years of his tyranny is uncertain.
21 The ſound of dread is always in his ears: and when there is peace, he always ſuſpecteth treaſon.
22 He believeth not that he may return from darkneſs to light, looking round about for the ſword on every ſide.
23 When he moveth himſelf to ſeek bread, he knoweth that the day of darkneſs is ready at his hand.
24 Tribulation ſhall terrify him, and diſtreſs ſhall ſurround him, as a king that is prepared for the battle.
25 For he hath ſtretched out his hand againſt God, and hath ſtrengthened himſelf againſt the Almighty.
26 He hath run againſt him with his neck raiſed up, and is armed with a fat neck.
27 Fatneſs hath covered his face, and the fat hangeth down on his ſides.
28 He hath dwelt in deſolate cities, and in deſert houſes that are reduced into heaps.
29 He ſhall not be enriched, neither ſhall his ſubſtance continue, neither ſhall he puſh his root in the earth.
30 He ſhall not depart out of darkneſs: the flame ſhall dry up his branches, and he ſhall be taken away by the breath of his own mouth.
31 He ſhall not believe, being vainly deceived by error, that he may be redeemed with any price.
32 Before his days be full he ſhall periſh: and his hands ſhall wither away.
33 He ſhall be blaſted as a vine when its grapes are in the firſt flower, and as an olive-tree that caſteth its flower.
34 For the congregation of the hypocrite

CHAP. XV. VER. 4. Thou haſt made void fear. That is caſt off the fear of offending God.
VER. 18. Wiſe men confeſs and hide not their fathers. That is, the knowledge and documents they have received from their fathers they are not aſhamed to own.

is barren, and fire ſhall devour their tabernacles, who love to take bribes.

‖ Pſ. 7. 15. Iſai. 59. 4. 35 ‖ He hath conceived ſorrow, and hath brought forth iniquity, and his womb prepareth deceits.

CHAP. XVI.

Job expoſtulates with his friends: and appeals to the judgment of God.

THEN Job anſwered, and ſaid:

2 I have often heard ſuch things as theſe: you are all troubleſome comforters.

3 Shall windy words have no end? or is it any trouble to thee to ſpeak?

4 I alſo could ſpeak like you: and would God your ſoul were for my ſoul.

5 I would comfort you alſo with words, and would wag my head over you.

6 I would ſtrengthen you with my mouth, and would move my lips, as ſparing you.

7 But what ſhall I do? If I ſpeak, my pain will not reſt: and if I hold my peace, it will not depart from me.

8 But now my ſorrow hath oppreſſed me, and all my limbs are brought to nothing.

9 My wrinkles bear witneſs againſt me, and a falſe ſpeaker riſeth up againſt my face, contradicting me.

10 He hath gathered together his fury againſt me, and threatening me he hath gnaſhed with his teeth upon me: my enemy hath beheld me with terrible eyes.

11 They have opened their mouths upon me, and reproaching me they have ſtruck me on the cheek, they are filled with my pains.

12 God hath ſhut me up with the unjuſt man, and hath delivered me into hands of the wicked.

13 I that was formerly ſo wealthy, am all on a ſudden broken to pieces: he hath taken me by my neck, he hath broken me, and hath ſet me up to be his mark.

14 He hath compaſſed me round about with his lances, he hath wounded my loins, he hath not ſpared, and hath poured out my bowels on the earth.

15 He hath torn me with wound upon wound, he hath ruſhed in upon me like a giant.

16 I have ſowed ſack cloth upon my ſkin, and have covered my fleſh with aſhes.

17 My face is ſwoln with weeping, and my eye-lids are dim.

18 Theſe things have I ſuffered without the iniquity of my hand, when I offered pure prayers to God.

19 O earth, cover not thou my blood, neither let my cry find a hiding place in thee.

20 For behold my witneſs is in heaven, and he that knoweth my conſcience is on high.

21 My friends are full of words: my eye poureth out tears to God.

22 And O that a man might ſo be judged with God, as the ſon of man is judged with his companion!

23 For behold ſhort years paſs away, and I am walking in a path by which I ſhall not return.

CHAP. XVII.

Job's hope in God: he expects reſt in death.

MY ſpirit ſhall be waſted, my days ſhall be ſhortened, and only the grave remaineth for me.

2 I have not ſinned, and my eye abideth in bitterneſs.

3 Deliver me, O Lord, and ſet me beſide thee, and let any man's hand fight againſt me.

4 Thou haſt ſet their heart far from underſtanding, therefore they ſhall not be exalted.

5 He promiſeth a prey to his companions, and the eyes of his children ſhall fail.

6 He hath made me as it were a bye-word of the people, and I am an example before them.

7 My eye is dim through indignation, and my limbs are brought as it were to nothing.

8 The juſt ſhall be aſtoniſhed at this, and the innocent ſhall be raiſed up againſt the hypocrite.

9 And the juſt man ſhall hold on his way, and he that hath clean hands ſhall be ſtronger and ſtronger.

10 Wherefore be you all converted, and come, and I ſhall not find among you any wiſe man.

11 My days have paſſed away, my thoughts are diſſipated, tormenting my heart.

12 They have turned night into day, and after darkneſs I hope for light again.

13 If I wait hell is my houſe, and I have made my bed in darkneſs.

14 I have ſaid to rottenneſs: Thou art my father; to worms, my mother and my ſiſter.

15 Where is now then my expectation, and who conſidereth my patience?

16 All that I have ſhall go down into the deepeſt pit: thinkeſt that there at leaſt I ſhall have reſt?

CHAP. XVII. VER. 2. Not ſinned. That is, I am not guilty of ſuch ſins as they charge me with.

VER. 13. Hell. Seol. The region of the dead.
VER. 16. Deepeſt pit. Literally hell.

CHAP. XVIII.

Baldad again reproves Job: and describes the miseries of the wicked.

THEN Baldad the Suhite answered, and said:

2 How long will ye throw out words? understand first, and so let us speak.

3 Why are we reputed as beasts, and counted vile before you?

4 Thou that destroyest thy soul in thy fury, shall the earth be forsaken for thee, and shall rocks be removed out of their place?

5 Shall not the light of the wicked be extinguished, and the flame of his fire not shine?

6 The light shall be dark in his tabernacle, and the lamp that is over him, shall be put out.

7 The step of his strength shall be straitened, and his own counsel shall cast him down headlong.

8 For he hath thrust his feet into a net, and walketh in its meshes.

9 The sole of his foot shall be held in a a snare, and thirst shall burn against him.

10 A gin is hidden for him in the earth, and his trap upon the path.

11 Fears shall terrify him on every side, and shall entangle his feet.

12 Let his strength be wasted with famine, and let hunger invade his ribs.

13 Let it devour the beauty of his skin, let the first-born death consume his arms.

14 Let his confidence be rooted out of his tabernacle, and let destruction tread upon him like a king.

15 Let the companions of him that is not, dwell in his tabernacle, let brimstone be sprinkled in his tent.

16 Let his roots be dried up beneath, and his harvest destroyed above.

‖ Prov. 2. 22. 17 ‖ Let the memory of him perish from the earth, and let not his name be renowned in the streets.

18 He shall drive him out of light into darkness, and shall remove him out of the world.

19 His seed shall not subsist, nor his offspring among his people, nor any remnants in his country.

20 They that come after him shall be astonished at his day, and horror shall fall upon them that went before.

21 These then are the tabernacles of the wicked, and this the place of him that knoweth not God.

CHAP. XIX.

Job complains of the cruelty of his friends: he describes his own sufferings: and his belief of a future resurrection.

THEN Job answered, and said:

2 How long do you afflict my soul, and break me in pieces with words?

3 Behold, these ten times you confound me, and are not ashamed to oppress me.

4 For if I have been ignorant, my ignorance shall be with me.

5 But you set yourselves up against me, and reprove me with my reproaches.

6 At least now understand, that God hath not afflicted me with an equal judgment, and compassed me with his scourges.

7 Behold I shall cry suffering violence, and no one will hear: I shall cry aloud, and there is none to judge.

8 He hath hedged in my path round about, and I cannot pass, and in my way he hath set darkness.

9 He hath stript me of my glory, and hath taken the crown from my head.

10 He hath destroyed me on every side, and I am lost, and he hath taken away my hope, as from a tree that is plucked up.

11 His wrath is kindled against me, and he hath counted me as his enemy.

12 His troops have come together, and have made themselves a way by me, and have besieged my tabernacle round about.

13 He hath put my brethren far from me, and my acquaintance like strangers have departed from me.

14 My kinsmen have forsaken me, and they that knew me have forgotten me.

15 They that dwell in my house, and my maid-servants have counted me as a stranger, and I have been like an alien in their eyes.

16 I called my servant, and he gave me no answer, I entreated him with my own mouth.

17 My wife hath abhorred my breath, and I entreated the children of my womb.

CHAP. XIX. VER. 6. With an equal judgment. St. Gregory explains these words thus: Job being a just man, and truly considering his own life, thought that his affliction was greater than his sins deserved; and in that respect, that the punishment was not equal, yet it was just, as coming from God, who gives a crown of justice to those who suffer for righteousness sake, and proves the just with tribulations, as gold is tried by fire.

18 Even fools deſpiſed me, and when I was gone from them, they ſpoke againſt me.

19 They that were ſome time my counſellors, have abhorred me: and he whom I loved moſt, is turned againſt me.

20 The fleſh being conſumed, my bone hath cleaved to my ſkin, and nothing but lips are left about my teeth.

21 Have pity on me, have pity on me, at leaſt you my friends, becauſe the hand of the Lord hath touched me.

22 Why do you perſecute me as God, and glut yourſelves with my fleſh?

23 Who will grant me that my words may be written? who will grant me that they may be marked down in a book:

24 With an iron pen, and in a plate of lead, or elſe be graven with an inſtrument in flint-ſtone?

25 For I know that my Redeemer liveth, and in the laſt day I ſhall riſe out of the earth.

26 And I ſhall be clothed again with my ſkin, and in my fleſh I ſhall ſee my God.

27 Whom I myſelf ſhall ſee, and my eyes ſhall behold, and not another: this my hope is laid up in my boſom.

28 Why then do you ſay now: Let us perſecute him, and let us find occaſion of word againſt him?

29 Flee then from the face of the ſword, for the ſword is the revenger of iniquities: and know ye that there is a judgment.

CHAP. XX.

Sophar declares the ſhortneſs of the proſperity of the wicked: and their ſudden downfal.

THEN Sophar the Naamathite anſwered, and ſaid:

2 Therefore various thoughts ſucceed one another in me, and my mind is hurried away to different things.

3 The doctrine with which thou reproveſt me, I will hear, and the ſpirit of my underſtanding ſhall anſwer for me.

4 This I know from the beginning, ſince man was placed upon the earth,

5 That the praiſe of the wicked is ſhort, and the joy of the hypocrite but for a moment.

6 If his pride mount up even to heaven, and his head touch the clouds:

7 In the end he ſhall be deſtroyed like a dunghil, and they that had ſeen him, ſhall ſay: Where is he?

8 As a dream that fleeth away he ſhall not be found, he ſhall paſs as a viſion of the night:

9 The eyes that had ſeen him, ſhall ſee him no more, neither ſhall his place any more behold him.

10 His children ſhall be oppreſſed with want, and his hands ſhall render to him his ſorrow.

11 His bones ſhall be filled with the vices of his youth, and they ſhall ſleep with him in the duſt.

12 For when evil ſhall be ſweet in his mouth, he will hide it under his tongue.

13 He will ſpare it, and not leave it, and will hide it in his throat.

14 His bread in his belly ſhall be turned into the gall of aſps within him.

15 The riches which he hath ſwallowed, he ſhall vomit up, and God ſhall draw them out of his belly.

16 He ſhall ſuck the head of aſps, and the viper's tongue ſhall kill him.

17 (Let him not ſee the ſtreams of the river, the brooks of honey and of butter.)

18 He ſhall be puniſhed for all that he did, and yet ſhall not be conſumed: according to the multitude of his devices ſo alſo ſhall he ſuffer.

19 Becauſe he broke in and ſtript the poor: he hath violently taken away a houſe which he did not build.

20 ‖ And yet his belly was not filled: and when he hath the things he coveted, he ſhall not be able to poſſeſs them. ‖ Eccli. 5.

21 There was nothing left of his meat, and therefore nothing ſhall continue of his goods:

22 When he ſhall be filled, he ſhall be ſtraitened, he ſhall burn, and every ſorrow ſhall fall upon him.

23 May his belly be filled, that God may ſend forth the wrath of his indignation upon him, and rain down his war upon him,

24 He ſhall flee from weapons of iron, and ſhall fall upon a bow of braſs.

25 The ſword is drawn out, and cometh forth from its ſcabbard, and glittereth in

---

VER. 25, 26, & 27, Shew Job's explicit belief in his Redeemer, and alſo of the reſurrection of the fleſh: not as one tree riſeth in place of another, but that the ſelf ſame fleſh ſhall riſe at the laſt day, by the power of God, changed in quality but not in ſubſtance, every one to receive ſentence according to his works in this life.

CHAP. XX. VER. 18. According to the multitude of his devices. That is, his ſtratagems to gratify his paſſions, and to oppreſs and deſtroy the poor.

his bitterneſs: the terrible ones ſhall go and come upon him.

26 All darkneſs is hid in his ſecret places: a fire that is not kindled ſhall devour him, he ſhall be afflicted when left in his tabernacle.

27 The heavens ſhall reveal his iniquity, and the earth ſhall riſe up againſt him.

28 The offspring of his houſe ſhall be expoſed, he ſhall be pulled down in the day of God's wrath.

29 This is the portion of a wicked man from God, and the inheritance of his doings from the Lord.

CHAP. XXI.

Job ſhews that the wicked often proſper in this world, even to the end of their life: but that their judgment is in another world.

THEN Job anſwered, and ſaid:

2 Hear, I beſeech you, my words, and do penance.

3 Suffer me, and I will ſpeak, and after, if you pleaſe, laugh at my words.

4 Is my debate againſt man, that I ſhould not have juſt reaſon to be troubled?

5 Hearken to me and be aſtoniſhed, and lay your finger on your mouth.

6 As for me, when I remember, I am afraid, and trembling taketh hold on my fleſh.

‖ Jerem. 12. 1. 1. 3. & 13. Habac. 6. 3. 13.

7 ‖ Why then do the wicked live, are they advanced, and ſtrengthened with riches?

8 Their ſeed continueth before them, a multitude of kinſmen, and of children's children in their ſight.

9 Their houſes are ſecure and peaceable, and the rod of God is not upon them.

10 Their cattle have conceived, and failed not: their cow hath calved, and is not deprived of her fruit.

11 Their little ones go out like a flock, and their children dance and play.

12 They take the timbrel, and the harp, and rejoice at the ſound of the organ.

13 They ſpend their days in wealth, and in a moment they go down to hell.

14 Who have ſaid to God: Depart from us, we deſire not the knowledge of thy ways.

15 ‖ Who is the Almighty, that we ſhould ſerve him? and what doth it profit us if we pray to him? ‖ Malac. 3. 14.

16 Yet becauſe their good things are not in their hand, may the counſel of the wicked be far from me.

17 How often ſhall the lamp of the wicked be put out, and a deluge come upon them, and he ſhall diſtribute the ſorrows of his wrath?

18 They ſhall be as chaff before the face of the wind, and as aſhes which the whirlwind ſcattereth.

19 God ſhall lay up the ſorrow of the father for his children: and when he ſhall repay, then ſhall he know.

20 His eyes ſhall ſee his own deſtruction, and he ſhall drink of the wrath of the Almighty.

21 For what is it to him what befalleth his houſe after him: and if the number of his months be diminiſhed by one half?

22 Shall any one teach God knowledge, who judgeth thoſe that are high.

23 One man dieth ſtrong and heal, rich and happy.

24 His bowels are full of fat, and his bones are moiſtened with marrow.

25 But another dieth in bitterneſs of ſoul without any riches:

26 And yet they ſhall ſleep together in the duſt, and worms ſhall cover them.

27 Surely I know your thoughts, and your unjuſt judgments againſt me.

28 For you ſay: Where is the houſe of the prince? and where are the dwelling-places of the wicked?

29 Aſk any one of them that go by the way, and you ſhall perceive that he knoweth theſe ſame things.

30 Becauſe the wicked man is reſerved to the day of deſtruction, and he ſhall be brought to the day of wrath.

31 Who ſhall reprove his way to his face? and who ſhall repay him what he hath done?

32 He ſhall be brought to the graves, and ſhall watch in the heap of the dead.

33 He hath been acceptable to the gravel of Cocytus, and he ſhall draw every man after him, and there are innumerable before him.

34 How then do ye comfort me in vain, whereas your anſwer is ſhewn to be repugnant to truth?

CHAP. XXI. VER. 33. Acceptable to the gravel of Cocytus. The Hebrew word, which St. Jerome has here rendered by the name Cocytus (which the poets repreſent as a river in hell) ſignifies a valley or a torrent: and in this place, is taken for the low region of death, and hell: which willingly, as it were, receives the wicked at their death: who are uſhered in by innumerable others that have gone before them; and are followed by multitudes above number.

CHAP. XXII.

Eliphaz falsly imputes many crimes to Job: but promises him prosperity if he will repent.

THEN Eliphaz the Themanite answered, and said:

2 Can man be compared with God, even though he were of perfect knowledge?

3 What doth it profit God if thou be just? or what dost thou give him if thy way be unspotted?

4 Shall he reprove thee for fear, and come with thee into judgment:

5 And not for thy manifold wickedness, and thy infinite iniquities?

6 For thou hast taken away the pledge of thy brethren without cause, and stript the naked of their cloathing.

7 Thou hast not given water to the weary, thou hast withdrawn bread from the hungry.

8 In the strength of thy arm thou didst possess the land, and being the most mighty thou holdedst it.

9 Thou hast sent widows away empty, and the arms of the fatherless thou hast broken in pieces.

10 Therefore art thou surrounded with snares, and sudden fear troubleth thee.

11 And didst thou think that thou shouldst not see darkness, and that thou shouldst not be covered with the violence of overflowing waters?

12 Dost not thou think that God is higher than heaven, and is elevated above the height of the stars?

13 And thou sayst: What doth God know? and he judgeth as it were through a mist.

14 The clouds are his covert, and he doth not consider our things, and he walketh about the poles of heaven.

15 Dost thou desire to keep the path of ages, which wicked men have trodden?

16 Who were taken away before their time, and a flood hath overthrown their foundation:

17 Who said to God: Depart from us: and looked upon the Almighty as if he could do nothing:

18 Whereas he had filled their houses with good things: whose way of thinking be far from me.

‖ Ps. 106. 42. 19 ‖ The just shall see, and shall rejoice, and the innocent shall laugh them to scorn.

20 Is not their exaltation cut down, and hath not fire devoured the remnants of them?

21 Submit thyself then to him, and be at peace: and thereby thou shalt have the best fruits.

22 Receive the law of his mouth, and lay up his words in thy heart.

23 If thou wilt return to the Almighty, thou shalt be built up, and shalt put away iniquity far from thy tabernacle.

24 He shall give for earth flint, and for flint torrents of gold.

25 And the Almighty shall be against thy enemies, and silver shall be heaped together for thee.

26 Then shalt thou abound in delights in the Almighty, and shalt lift up thy face to God.

27 Thou shalt pray to him, and he will hear thee, and thou shalt pay vows.

28 Thou shalt decree a thing, and it shall come to thee, and light shall shine in thy ways.

‖ Prov. 29. 23. 29 ‖ For he that hath been humbled, shall be in glory: and he that shall bow down his eyes, he shall be saved.

30 The innocent shall be saved, and he shall be saved by the cleanness of his hands.

CHAP. XXIII.

Job wishes to be tried at God's tribunal.

THEN Job answered, and said:

2 Now also my words are in bitterness, and the hand of my scourge is more grievous than my mourning.

3 Who will grant me that I might know and find him, and come even to his throne?

4 I would set judgment before him, and would fill my mouth with complaints.

5 That I might know the words that he would answer me, and understand what he would say to me.

6 I would not that he should contend with me with much strength, nor overwhelm me with the weight of his greatness.

7 Let him propose equity against me, and let my judgment come to victory.

8 But if I go to the east, he appeareth not: if to the west, I shall not understand him.

9 If to the left hand, what shall I do? I shall not take hold on him: if I turn myself to the right hand, I shall not see him.

10 But he knoweth my way, and has tried me as gold that passeth through the fire:

11 My foot hath followed his steps, I have kept his way, and have not declined from it.

12 I have not departed from the commandments of his lips, and the words of his mouth I have hid in my bosom.

13 For he is alone, and no man can turn away his thought: and whatsoever his soul hath desired, that hath he done.

14 And when he shall have fulfilled his will in me, many other like things are also at hand with him.

15 And therefore I am troubled at his presence, and when I consider him I am made pensive with fear.

16 God hath softened my heart, and the Almighty hath troubled me.

17 For I have not perished because of the darkness that hangs over me, neither hath the mist covered my face.

CHAP. XXIV.

God's providence often suffers the wicked to go on a long time in their sins: but punisheth them in another life.

TIMES are not hid from the Almighty: but they that know him, know not his days.

2 Some have removed land-marks, have taken away flocks by force, and fed them.

3 They have driven away the ass of the fatherless, and have taken away the widow's ox for a pledge.

4 They have overturned the way of the poor, and have oppressed together the meek of the earth.

5 Others like wild asses in the desert go forth to their work: by watching for a prey, they get bread for their children.

6 They reap the field that is not their own, and gather the vintage of his vineyard whom by violence they have oppressed.

7 They send men away naked, taking away their clothes who have no covering in the cold:

8 Who are wet with the showers of the mountains, and having no covering embrace the stones.

9 They have violently robbed the fatherless, and stript the poor common people.

10 From the naked and them that go without clothing, and from the hungry they have taken away the ears of corn.

11 They have taken their rest at noon among the stores of them, who after having trodden the wines-presses suffer thirst.

12 Out of the cities they have made men to groan, and the soul of the wounded hath cried out, and God doth not suffer it to pass unrevenged.

13 They have been rebellious to the light, they have not known his ways, neither have they returned by his paths.

14 The murderer riseth at the very break of day, he killeth the needy, and the poor man: but in the night he will be as a thief.

15 The eye of the adulterer observeth darkness, saying: No eye shall see me: and he will cover his face.

16 He diggeth through houses in the dark, as in the day they had appointed for themselves, and they have not known the light.

17 If the morning suddenly appear, it is to them the shadow of death: and they walk in darkness as if it were in light.

18 He is light upon the face of the water: cursed be his portion on the earth, let him not walk by the way of the vineyards.

19 Let him pass from the snow waters to excessive heat, and his sin even to hell.

20 Let mercy forget him: may worms be his sweetness: let him be remembered no more, but be broken in pieces as an unfruitful tree.

21 For he hath fed the barren that beareth not, and to the widow he hath done no good.

22 He hath pulled down the strong by his might: and when he standeth up, he shall not trust to his life.

23 ‖ God hath given him place for penance, and he abuseth it unto pride: but his eyes are upon his ways. ‖ Apoc. 2: 21.

24 They are lifted up for a little while and shall not stand, and shall be brought down as all things, and shall be taken away, and as the tops of the ears of corn they shall be broken.

25 And if it be not so, who can convince me that I have lied, and set my words before God?

CHAP. XXV.

Baldad represents the justice of God, before whom no man can be justified.

THEN Baldad the Suhite answered, and said:

2 Power and terror are with him, who maketh peace in his high places.

3 Is there any numbering of his soldiers? and upon whom shall not his light arise?

4 Can man be justified compared with God, or he that is born of a woman appear clean?

5 Behold even the moon doth not shine, and the stars are not pure in his sight.

6 How much less man that is rottenness, and the son of man who is a worm?

CHAP. XXVI.

Job declares his sentiments of the wisdom and power of God.

THEN Job answered, and said:

2 Whose helper art thou? is it of him that is weak? and doſt thou hold up the arm of him that has no ſtrength?

3 To whom haſt thou given counſel? perhaps to him that hath no wiſdom, and thou haſt ſhewn thy very great prudence.

4 Whom haſt thou deſired to teach? was it not him that made life?

5 Behold the giants groan under the waters, and they that dwell with them.

6 Hell is naked before him, and there is no covering for deſtruction.

7 He ſtretched out the north over the empty ſpace, and hangeth the earth upon nothing.

8 He bindeth up the waters in his clouds, ſo that they break not out and fall down together.

9 He withholdeth the face of his throne, and ſpreadeth his cloud over it.

10 He hath ſet bounds about the waters, till light and darkneſs come to an end.

11 The pillars of heaven tremble, and dread at his beck.

12 By his power the ſeas are ſuddenly gathered together, and his wiſdom has ſtruck the proud one.

13 His Spirit hath adorned the heavens, and his obſtetric hand brought forth the winding ſerpent.

14 Lo, theſe things are ſaid in part of his ways: and ſeeing we have heard ſcarce a little drop of his word, who ſhall be able to behold the thunder of his greatneſs?

CHAP. XXVII.

Job perſiſts in aſſerting his own innocence, and that hypocrites will be puniſhed in the end.

JOB alſo added, taking up his parable, and ſaid:

2 As God liveth, who hath taken away my judgment, and the Almighty, who hath brought my ſoul to bitterneſs.

3 As long as breath remaineth in me, and the Spirit of God in my noſtrils,

4 My lips ſhall not ſpeak iniquity, neither ſhall my tongue contrive lying.

5 God forbid that I ſhould judge you to be juſt: till I die I will not depart from my innocence.

6 My juſtification, which I have begun to hold, I will not forſake: for my heart doth not reprehend me in all my life.

7 Let my enemy be as the ungodly, and my adverſary as the wicked one.

8 For what is the hope of the hypocrite if through covetouſneſs he take by violence, and God deliver not his ſoul?

9 Will God hear his cry, when diſtreſs ſhall come upon him?

10 Or can he delight himſelf in the Almighty, and call upon God at all times?

11 I will teach you by the hand of God, what the Almighty hath, and I will not conceal it.

12 Behold you all know it, and why do you ſpeak vain things without cauſe?

13 This is the portion of a wicked man with God, and the inheritance of the violent, which they ſhall receive of the Almighty.

14 If his ſons be multiplied, they ſhall be for the ſword, and his grandſons ſhall not be filled with bread.

15 They that ſhall remain of him, ſhall be buried in death, and his widows ſhall not weep.

16 If he ſhall heap together ſilver as earth, and prepare raiment as clay:

17 He ſhall prepare indeed, but the juſt man ſhall be clothed with it: and the innocent ſhall divide the ſilver.

18 He hath built his houſe as a moth, and as a keeper he hath made a booth.

19 ‖ The rich man when he ſhall ſleep ſhall take away nothing with him: he ſhall open his eyes, and find nothing. ‖ Pſ. 48. 18.

20 Poverty like water ſhall take hold on him, a tempeſt ſhall oppreſs him in the night:

21 A burning wind ſhall take him up, and carry him away, and as a whirlwind ſhall ſnatch him from his place.

22 And he ſhall caſt upon him, and ſhall not ſpare: out of his hand he would willingly flee.

23 He ſhall claſp his hands upon him, and ſhall hiſs at him, beholding his place.

CHAP. XXVIII.

Man's induſtry ſearcheth out many things: true wiſdom is taught by God alone.

SILVER hath beginnings of its veins, and gold hath a place, wherein it is melted.

2 Iron is taken out of the earth, and ſtone melted with heat is turned into braſs.

3 He hath ſet a time for darkneſs, and

CHAP. XXVI. VER. 13. His obſtetric hand brought forth the winding ſerpent. That is, the omnipotent power of God: which brought forth all things created in time, but conceived in the Divine mind from all eternity. The winding ſerpent, a conſtellation of fixed ſtars winding round the north pole, called Draco. This appears from the foregoing part of the ſame verſe: His Spirit hath adorned the heavens.

the end of all things he considereth, the stone also that is in the dark, and the shadow of death.

4 The flood divideth from the people that are on their journey, those whom the foot of the needy man hath forgotten, and who cannot be come at.

5 The land, out of which bread grew in its place, hath been overturned with fire.

6 The stones of it are the place of sapphires, and the clods of it are gold.

7 The bird hath not known the path, neither hath the eye of the vulture beheld it.

8 The children of the merchants have not trodden it, neither hath the lioness passed by it.

9 He hath stretched forth his hand to the flint, he hath overturned mountains from the roots.

10 In the rocks he hath cut out rivers, and his eye hath seen every precious thing.

11 The depths also of rivers he hath searched, and hidden things he hath brought forth to light.

12 But where is wisdom to be found, and where is the place of understanding?

13 Man knoweth not the price thereof, neither is it found in the land of them that live in delights.

14 The depth saith: It is not in me: and the sea saith: It is not with me.

15 ‖ The finest gold shall not purchase it, neither shall silver be weighed in exchange for it. ‖ Wis. 7. 9.

16 It shall not be compared with the dyed colours of India, or with the most precious stone sardonyx, or the sapphire.

17 Gold or crystal cannot equal it, neither shall any vessels of gold be changed for it.

18 High and eminent things shall not be mentioned in comparison of it: but wisdom is drawn out of secret places.

19 The topaz of Ethiopia shall not be equal to it, neither shall it be compared to the cleanest dying.

20 Whence then cometh wisdom? and where is the place of understanding?

21 It is hid from the eyes of all living, and the fowls of the air know it not.

22 Destruction and death have said: With our ears we have heard the fame thereof.

23 God understandeth the way of it, and he knoweth the place thereof.

24 For he beholdeth the ends of the world: and looketh on all things that are under heaven.

25 Who made a weight for the winds, and weighed the waters by measure.

26 When he gave a law for the rain, and a way for the sounding storms.

27 Then he saw it, and declared, and prepared, and searched it.

28 And he said to man: Behold the fear of the Lord, that is wisdom: and to depart from evil, is understanding.

CHAP. XXIX.

Job relates his former happiness, and the respect that all men shewed him.

JOB also added, taking up his parable, and said:

2 Who will grant me, that I might be according to the months past, according to the days in which God kept me?

3 When his lamp shined over my head, and I walked by his light in darkness?

4 As I was in the days of my youth, when God was secretly in my tabernacle?

5 When the Almighty was with me: and my servants round about me?

6 When I washed my feet with butter, and the rock poured me out rivers of oil?

7 When I went out to the gate of the city, and in the street they prepared me a chair?

8 The young men saw me, and hid themselves: and the old men rose up and stood.

9 The princes ceased to speak, and laid the finger on their mouth.

10 The rulers held their peace, and their tongue cleaved to their throat.

11 The ear that heard me blessed me, and the eye that saw me gave witness to me:

12 Because I had delivered the poor man that cried out; and the fatherless, that had no helper.

13 The blessing of him that was ready to perish came upon me, and I comforted the heart of the widow.

14 I was clad with justice: and I clothed myself with my judgment, as with a robe and a diadem.

15 I was an eye to the blind, and a foot to the lame.

16 I was the father of the poor: and the cause which I knew not, I searched out most diligently.

17 I broke the jaws of the wicked man, and out of his teeth I took away the prey.

18 And I said: I shall die in my nest, and as a palm-tree shall multiply my days.

19 My root is opened beside the waters, and dew shall continue in my harvest.

20 My glory shall always be renewed, and my bow in my hand shall be repaired.

21 They that heard me, waited for my sentence, and being attentive held their peace at my counsel.

22 To my words they durſt add nothing, and my ſpeech dropped upon them.

23 They waited for me as for rain, and they opened their mouth as for a latter ſhower.

24 If at any time I laughed on them, they believed not, and the light of my countenance fell not on the earth.

25 If I had a mind to go to them, I ſat firſt, and when I ſat as a king, with his army ſtanding about him, yet I was a comforter of them that mourned.

CHAP. XXX.

Job ſhews the wonderful change of his temporal eſtate, from welfare to great calamity.

BUT now the younger in time ſcorn me, whoſe fathers I would not have ſet with the dogs of my flock:

2 The ſtrength of whoſe hands was to me as nothing, and they were thought unworthy of life itſelf.

3 Barren with want and hunger, who gnawed in the wilderneſs, disfigured with calamity and miſery.

4 And they eat graſs, and barks of trees, and the root of junipers was their food.

5 Who ſnatched up theſe things out of the valleys, and when they had found any of them, they ran to them with a cry.

6 They dwelt in the deſert places of torrents, and in caves of the earth, or upon the gravel.

7 They pleaſed themſelves among theſe kind of things, and counted it delightful to be under the briars.

8 The children of fooliſh and baſe men, and not appearing at all upon the earth.

9 Now I am turned into their ſong, and am become their bye-word.

10 They abhor me, and flee far from me, and are not afraid to ſpit in my face.

11 For he hath opened his quiver, and hath afflicted me, and hath put a bridle into my mouth.

12 At the right hand of my riſing, my calamities forthwith aroſe: they have overthrown my feet, and have overwhelmed me with their paths as with waves.

13 They have deſtroyed my ways, they have lain in wait againſt me, and they have prevailed, and there was none to help.

14 They have ruſhed in upon me, as when a wall is broken, and a gate opened, and have rolled themſelves down to my miſeries.

15 I am brought to nothing: as a wind thou haſt taken away my deſire: and my proſperity hath paſſed away like a cloud.

16 And now my ſoul fadeth within myſelf, and the days of affliction poſſeſs me.

17 In the night my bone is pierced with ſorrows: and they that feed upon me, do not ſleep.

18 With the multitude of them my garment is conſumed, and they have girded me about, as with the collar of my coat.

19 I am compared to dirt, and am likened to embers and aſhes.

20 I cry to thee, and thou heareſt me not: I ſtand up, and thou doſt not regard me.

21 Thou art changed to be cruel toward me, and in the hardneſs of thy hand thou art againſt me.

22 Thou haſt lifted me up, and ſet me as it were upon the wind and thou haſt mightily daſhed me.

23 I know that thou wilt deliver me to death, where a houſe is appointed for every one that liveth.

24 But yet thou ſtretcheſt not forth thy hand to their conſumption: and if they ſhall fall down thou wilt ſave.

25 I wept heretofore for him that was afflicted, and my ſoul had compaſſion on the poor.

26 I expected good things, and evils are come upon me: I waited for light, and darkneſs broke out.

27 My inner parts have boiled without any reſt, the days of affliction have prevented me.

28 I went mourning without indignation; I roſe up, and cried in the crowd.

29 I was the brother of dragons, and companion of oſtriches.

30 My ſkin is become black upon me, and my bones are dried up with heat.

31 My harp is turned to mourning, and my organ into the voice of thoſe that weep.

CHAP. XXXI.

Job, to defend himſelf from the unjuſt judgments of his friends, gives a ſincere account of his own virtues.

I Made a covenant with my eyes, that I would not ſo much as think upon a virgin.

2 For what part ſhould God from above have in me, and what inheritance the Almighty from on high?

CHAP. XXX. VER. 1. But the younger in time: that is, younger than I am, and as it were obſcure, when I was conſpicuous and in magnificence; they now look down on me.

VER. 29. Brother of dragons, &c. Imitating theſe creatures in their lamentable noiſe.

3 Is not deſtruction to the wicked, and averſion to them that work iniquity?
4 Doth not he conſider my ways, and number all my ſteps?
5 If I have walked in vanity, and my foot hath made haſte to deceit:
6 Let him weigh me in a juſt balance, and let God know my ſimplicity.
7 If my ſtep hath turned out of the way, and if my heart hath followed my eyes, and if a ſpot hath cleaved to my hands:
8 Then let me ſow, and let another eat: and let my offspring be rooted out.
9 If my heart hath been deceived upon a woman, and if I have laid wait at my friend's door:
10 Let my wife be the harlot of another, and let other men lie with her.
11 For this is a heinous crime, and a moſt grievous iniquity.
12 It is a fire that devoureth even to deſtruction, and rooteth up all things that ſpring.
13 If I have deſpiſed to abide judgment with my man-ſervant, or my maid-ſervant, when they had any controverſy againſt me:
14 For what ſhall I do when God ſhall riſe to judge? and when he ſhall examine, what ſhall I anſwer him?
15 Did not he that made me in the womb make him alſo: and did not one and the ſame form me in the womb?
16 If I have denied to the poor what they deſired, and have made the eyes of the widow wait:
17 If I have eaten my morſel alone, and the fatherleſs hath not eaten thereof:
18 (For from my infancy mercy grew up with me: and it came out with me from my mother's womb):
19 If I have deſpiſed him that was periſhing for want of clothing, and the poor man that had no covering:
20 If his ſides have not bleſſed me, and if he were not warmed with the fleece of my ſheep:
21 If I have lifted up my hand againſt the fatherleſs, even when I ſaw myſelf ſuperior in the gate:
22 Let my ſhoulder fall from its joint, and let my arm with its bones be broken.
23 For I have always feared God as waves ſwelling over me, and his weight I was not able to bear.
24 If I have thought gold my ſtrength, and have ſaid to fine gold: My confidence.
25 If I have rejoiced over my great riches, and becauſe my hand had gotten much.
26 If I beheld the ſun when it ſhined, and the moon going in brightneſs:
27 And my heart in ſecret hath rejoiced, and I have kiſſed my hand with my mouth:
28 Which is a very great iniquity, and a denial againſt the moſt high God.
29 If I have been glad at the downfall of him that hated me, and have rejoiced that evil had found him.
30 For I have not given my mouth to ſin, by wiſhing a curſe to his ſoul.
31 If the men of my tabernacle have not ſaid: Who will give us of his fleſh that we may be filled?
32 The ſtranger did not ſtay without, my door was open to the traveller.
33 If as a man I have hid my ſin, and have concealed my iniquity in my boſom.
34 If I have been afraid at a very great multitude, and the contempt of kinſmen hath terrified me: and I have not rather held my peace, and not gone out of the door.
35 Who would grant me a hearer, that the Almighty may hear my deſire: and that he himſelf that judgeth would write a book.
36 That I may carry it on my ſhoulder, and put it about me as a crown?
37 At every ſtep of mine I would pronounce it, and offer it as to a prince.
38 If my land cry againſt me, and with it the furrows thereof mourn:
39 If I have eaten the fruits thereof without money, and have afflicted the ſoul of the tillers thereof:
40 Let thiſtles grow up to me, inſtead of wheat, and thorns inſtead of barley.

The words of Job are ended.

CHAP. XXXII.

Eliu is angry both with Job and his friends. He boaſts of himſelf.

SO theſe three men ceaſed to anſwer Job, becauſe he ſeemed juſt to himſelf.
2 And Eliu the ſon of Barachel the Buzite, of the kindred of Ram, was angry and was moved to indignation: now he was angry againſt Job, becauſe he ſaid he was juſt before God.
3 And he was angry with his friends,

CHAP. XXXI. VER. 26. If I beheld the ſun, &c. If I behold the ſun and moon with admiration, knowing them to be created and governed by the power of God, I call on my adverſaries to produce any thing againſt me, whereby I could be charged with worſhipping the ſun or moon.

because they had not found a reasonable answer, but only had condemned Job.

4 So Eliu waited while Job was speaking, because they were his elders that were speaking.

5 But when he saw that the three were not able to answer, he was exceedingly angry.

6 Then Eliu the son of Barachel the Buzite answered, and said: I am younger in days, and you are more ancient, therefore hanging down my head, I was afraid to shew you my opinion.

7 For I hoped that greater age would speak, and that a multitude of years would teach wisdom.

8 But, as I see, there is a spirit in men, and the inspiration of the Almighty giveth understanding.

9 They that are aged are not the wise men, neither do the ancients understand judgment.

10 Therefore I will speak: Hearken to me, I also will shew you my wisdom.

11 For I have waited for your words, I have given ear to your wisdom, as long as you were disputing in words.

12 And as long as I thought you said something, I considered: but, as I see, there is none of you that can convince Job, and answer his words.

13 Lest you should say: We have found wisdom, God hath cast him down, not man.

14 He hath spoken nothing to me, and I will not answer him according to your words.

15 They were afraid, and answered no more, and they left off speaking.

16 Therefore because I have waited, and they have not spoken: they stood, and answered no more:

17 I also will answer my part, and will shew my knowledge.

18 For I am full of matter to speak of, and the spirit of my bowels straiteneth me.

19 Behold, my belly is as new wine which wanteth vent, which bursteth the new vessels.

20 I will speak, and take breath a little; I will open my lips, and will answer.

21 I will not accept the person of man, and I will not level God with man.

22 For I know not how long I shall continue, and whether after a while my maker may take me away.

CHAP. XXXIII.

Eliu blames Job for asserting his own innocence.

HEAR therefore, O Job, my speeches, and hearken to all my words.

2 Behold now I have opened my mouth, let my tongue speak within my jaws.

3 My words are from my upright heart, and my lips shall speak a pure sentence.

4 The Spirit of God made me, and the breath of the Almighty gave me life.

5 If thou canst, answer me, and stand up against my face.

6 Behold God hath made me as well as thee, and of the same clay I also was formed.

7 But yet let not my wonder terrify thee, and let not my eloquence be burdensome to thee.

8 Now thou hast said in my hearing, and I have heard the voice of thy words:

9 I am clean, and without sin: I am unspotted, and there is no iniquity in me.

10 Because he hath found complaints against me, therefore he hath counted me for his enemy.

11 He hath put my feet in the stocks, he hath observed all my paths.

12 Now this is the thing in which thou art not justified: I will answer thee, that God is greater than man.

13 Dost thou strive against him, because he hath not answered thee to all words?

14 God speaketh once, and repeateth not the self same thing the second time.

15 By a dream in a vision by night, when deep sleep falleth upon men, and they are sleeping in their beds:

16 Then he openeth the ears of men, and teaching instructeth them in what they are to learn.

17 That he may withdraw a man from the things he is doing, and may deliver him from pride.

18 Rescuing his soul from corruption: and his life from passing to the sword.

19 He rebuketh also by sorrow in the bed, and he maketh all his bones to wither.

20 Bread becometh abominable to him in his life, and to his soul the meat which before he desired.

21 His flesh shall be consumed away, and his bones that were covered, shall be made bare.

CHAP. XXXII. VER. 21. I will not level God with man. Here Eliu considers that Job hath put himself on a level with God, by the manner he assumed to justify his own life in speaking to God as if he spoke to an equal: Eliu expresses in the following ver. 22, his fear of punishment hereafter for such an attempt.

22 His ſoul hath drawn near to corruption, and his life to the deſtroyers.
23 If there ſhall be an Angel ſpeaking for him, one among thouſands, to declare man's uprightneſs.
24 He ſhall have mercy on him, and ſhall ſay: Deliver him, that he may not go down to corruption: I have found wherein I may be merciful to him.
25 His fleſh is conſumed with puniſhments, let it return to the days of his youth.
26 He ſhall pray to God, and he will be gracious to him: and he ſhall ſee his face with joy, and he will render to man his juſtice.
27 He ſhall look upon men, and ſhall ſay: I have ſinned, and indeed I have offended, and I have not received what I have deſerved.
28 He hath delivered his ſoul from going into deſtruction, that it may live and ſee the light.
29 Behold, all theſe things God worketh three times within every one.
30 That he may withdraw their ſouls from corruption, and enlighten them with the light of the living.
31 Attend Job, and hearken to me: and hold thy peace, whilſt I ſpeak.
32 But if thou haſt any thing to ſay, anſwer me, ſpeak: for I would have thee to appear juſt.
33 And if thou have not, hear me: hold thy peace, and I will teach thee wiſdom.

CHAP. XXXIV.

Eliu charges Job with blaſphemy: and ſets forth the power and juſtice of God.

AND Eliu continued his diſcourſe, and ſaid:
2 Hear ye, wiſe men, my words, and ye learned hearken to me:
‖ Supra 12. 11. 3 ‖ For the ear trieth words, and the mouth diſcerneth meats by the taſte.
4 Let us chooſe to us judgment, and let us ſee among ourſelves what is the beſt.
5 For Job hath ſaid: I am juſt, and God hath overthrown my judgment.
6 For in judging me there is a lie: my arrow is violent without any ſin.
7 What man is there like Job, who drinketh up ſcorning like water?
8 Who goeth in company with them that work iniquity, and walketh with wicked men?
9 For he hath ſaid: Man ſhall not pleaſe God, although he run with him.
10 Therefore, ye men of underſtanding, hear me: far from God be wickedneſs, and iniquity from the Almighty.
11 For he will render to a man his work, and according to the ways of every one he will reward them.
12 For in very deed God will not condemn without cauſe, neither will the Almighty pervert judgment.
13 What other hath he appointed over the earth? or whom hath he ſet over the world which he made?
14 If he turn his heart to him, he ſhall draw his ſpirit and breath unto himſelf.
15 All fleſh ſhall periſh together, and man ſhall return into aſhes.
16 If then thou haſt underſtanding, hear what is ſaid, and hearken to the voice of my words.
17 Can he be healed that loveth not judgment? and how doſt thou ſo far condemn him that is juſt?
18 Who ſaith to the king: Thou art an apoſtate: who calleth rulers ungodly:
‖ Deut. 10. 17. 2 Par. 19. 7. Wiſd. 6. 8. Eccli. 35. 16. Acts 10. 34. Rom. 2. 11. Gal. 2. 6. Epheſ. 6. 9. Coloſſ. 3. 25. 1 Peter 1. 17. 19 ‖ Who accepteth not the perſons of princes: nor hath regarded the tyrant, when he contended againſt the poor man: for all are the work of his hands.
20 They ſhall ſuddenly die, and the people ſhall be troubled at midnight, and they ſhall paſs, and take away the violent without hand.
21 For his eyes are upon the ways of men, and he conſidereth all their ſteps.
22 There is no darkneſs, and there is no ſhadow of death, where they may be hid who work iniquity.
23 For it is no longer in the power of man, to enter into judgment with God.
24 He ſhall break in pieces many and innumerable, and ſhall make others to ſtand in their ſtead.
25 For he knoweth their works: and therefore he ſhall bring night on them, and they ſhall be deſtroyed.
26 He hath ſtruck them as being wicked, in open ſight.
27 Who as it were on purpoſe have revolted from him, and would not underſtand all his ways:
28 So that they cauſed the cry of the needy to come to him, and he heard the voice of the poor.
29 For when he granteth peace, who is there that can condemn? When he hideth his countenance, who is there that can behold him, whether it regard nations, or all men?
30 Who maketh a man that is a hypocrite to reign for the ſins of the people?
31 Seeing then I have ſpoken of God, I will not hinder thee in thy turn.

32 If I have erred, teach thou me: if I have ſpoken iniquity, I will add no more.

33 Doth God require it of thee, becauſe it hath diſpleaſed thee? for thou beganneſt to ſpeak, and not I: but if thou know any thing better, ſpeak.

34 Let men of underſtanding ſpeak to me, and let a wiſe man hearken to me.

35 But Job hath ſpoken fooliſhly, and his words ſound not diſcipline.

36 My father, let Job be tried even to the end: ceaſe not from the man of iniquity.

37 Becauſe he addeth blaſphemy upon his ſins, let him be tied faſt in the mean time among us: and then let him provoke God to judgment with his ſpeeches.

CHAP. XXXV.

Eliu declares that the good or evil done by man cannot reach God.

MOREOVER Eliu ſpoke theſe words:

2 Doth thy thought ſeem right to thee, that thou ſhouldſt ſay: I am more juſt than God?

3 For thou ſaidſt: That which is right doth not pleaſe thee: or what will it profit thee if I ſin?

4 Therefore I will anſwer thy words, and thy friends with thee.

5 Look up to heaven and ſee, and behold the ſky, that it is higher than thee.

6 If thou ſin, what ſhalt thou hurt him? and if thy iniquities be multiplied, what ſhalt thou do againſt him?

7 And if thou do juſtly, what ſhalt thou give him, or what ſhall he receive of thy hand?

8 Thy wickedneſs may hurt a man that is like thee: and thy juſtice may help the ſon of man.

9 By reaſon of the multitude of oppreſſors they ſhall cry out: and ſhall wail for the violence of the arm of tyrants.

10 And he hath not ſaid: Where is God, who made me, who hath given ſongs in the night?

11 Who teacheth us more than the beaſts of the earth, and inſtructeth us more than the fowls of the air.

12 There ſhall they cry, and he will not hear, becauſe of the pride of evil men.

13 God therefore will not hear in vain, and the Almighty will look into the cauſes of every one.

14 Yea when thou ſhalt ſay: He conſidereth not: be judged before him, and expect him.

15 For he doth not now bring on his fury, neither doth he revenge wickedneſs exceedingly.

16 Therefore Job openeth his mouth in vain, and multiplieth words without knowledge.

CHAP. XXXVI.

Eliu proceeds in ſetting forth the juſtice and power of God.

ELIU alſo proceeded, and ſaid:

2 Suffer me a little, and I will ſhew thee: for I have yet ſomewhat to ſpeak in God's behalf.

3 I will repeat my knowledge from the beginning, and I will prove my maker juſt.

4 For indeed my words are without a lie, and perfect knowledge ſhall be proved to thee.

5 God doth not caſt away the mighty, whereas he himſelf alſo is mighty.

6 But he ſaveth not the wicked, and he giveth judgment to the poor.

7 He will not take away his eyes from the juſt, and he placeth kings on the throne for ever, and they are exalted.

8 And if they ſhall be in chains, and be bound with the cords of poverty:

9 He ſhall ſhew them their works, and their wicked deeds, becauſe they have been violent.

10 He alſo ſhall open their ear, to correct them: and ſhall ſpeak, that they may return from iniquity.

11 If they ſhall hear and obſerve, they ſhall accompliſh their days in good, and their years in glory.

12 But if they hear not, they ſhall paſs by the ſword, and ſhall be conſumed in folly.

13 Diſſemblers and crafty men prove the wrath of God, neither ſhall they cry when they are bound.

14 Their ſoul ſhall die in a ſtorm, and their life among the effeminate.

15 He ſhall deliver the poor out of his diſtreſs, and ſhall open his ear in affliction.

16 Therefore he ſhall ſet thee at large out of the narrow mouth, and which hath no foundation under it: and the reſt of thy table ſhall be full of fatneſs.

17 Thy cauſe hath been judged as that of the wicked, cauſe and judgment thou ſhalt recover.

CHAP. XXXVI. VER. 16. Out of the narrow mouth. That is, out of hell, whoſe entrance is narrow, and its depth bottomleſs, but figuratively meant here, that is, from his miſeries and calamity to be reſtored to his former ſtate of happineſs.

18 Therefore let not anger overcome thee, to oppreſs any man: neither let multitude of gifts turn thee aſide.

19 Lay down thy greatneſs without tribulation, and all the mighty of ſtrength.

20 Prolong not the night, that people may come up for them.

21 Beware thou turn not aſide to iniquity: for this thou haſt begun to follow after miſery.

22 Behold, God is high in his ſtrength, and none is like him among the law-givers.

23 Who can ſearch out his ways? or who can ſay to him: Thou haſt wrought iniquity?

24 Remember that thou knoweſt not his work, concerning which men have ſung.

25 All men ſee him, every one beholdeth afar off.

26 Behold, God is great exceeding our knowledge: the number of his years is ineſtimable.

27 He lifteth up the drops of rain, and poureth out ſhowers like floods:

28 Which flow from the clouds that cover all above.

29 If he will ſpread out clouds as his tent,

30 And lighten with his light from above, he ſhall cover alſo the ends of the ſea.

31 For by theſe he judgeth people, and giveth food to many mortals.

32 In his hands he hideth the light, and commandeth it to come again.

33 He ſheweth his friend concerning it, that it is his poſſeſſion, and that he may come up to it.

CHAP. XXXVII.

Eliu goes on in his diſcourſe, ſhewing God's wiſdom and power, by his wonderful works.

AT this my heart trembleth, and is moved out of its place.

2 Hear ye attentively the terror of his voice, and the ſound that cometh out of his mouth.

3 He beholdeth under all the heavens, and his light is upon the ends of the earth.

4 After it a noiſe ſhall roar, he ſhall thunder with the voice of his majeſty, and ſhall not be found out, when his voice ſhall be heard.

5 God ſhall thunder wonderfully with his voice, he that doth great and unſearchable things.

6 He commandeth the ſnow to go down upon the earth, and the winter rain, and the ſhower of his ſtrength.

7 He ſealeth up the hand of all men, that every one may know his works.

8 Then the beaſt ſhall go into his covert, and ſhall abide in his den.

9 Out of the inner parts ſhall a tempeſt come, and cold out of the north.

10 When God bloweth there cometh froſt, and again the waters are poured out abundantly.

11 Corn deſireth clouds, and the clouds ſpread their light:

12 Which go round about, whitherſoever the will of him that governeth them ſhall lead them, to whatſoever he ſhall command them upon the face of the whole earth:

13 Whether in one tribe, or in his own land, or in what place ſoever of his mercy he ſhall command them to be found.

14 Hearken to theſe things, Job: Stand, and conſider the wondrous works of God.

15 Doſt thou know when God commanded the rains, to ſhew his light of his clouds?

16 Knoweſt thou the great paths of the clouds, and the perfect knowledges?

17 Are not thy garments hot, when the ſouth-wind blows upon the earth?

18 Thou perhaps haſt made the heavens with him, which are moſt ſtrong, as if they were of molten braſs.

19 Shew us what we may ſay to him: for we are wrapped up in darkneſs.

20 Who ſhall tell him the things I ſpeak? even if a man ſhall ſpeak, he ſhall be ſwallowed up.

21 But now they ſee not the light: the air on a ſudden ſhall be thickened into clouds, and the wind ſhall paſs and drive them away.

22 Gold cometh out of the north, and to God praiſe with fear.

23 We cannot find him worthily: he is great in ſtrength, and in judgment, and in juſtice, and he is ineffable.

VER. 21. For this thou haſt begun to follow after miſery. Eliu charges Job, that notwithſtanding his miſery, he does not fear God as he ought: but in his judgment, falls into iniquity.

CHAP. XXXVII. VER. 7. He ſealeth up, &c. When he ſends thoſe ſhowers of his ſtrength, that is, thoſe ſtorms of rain, he ſeals up, that is, he ſhuts up the hands of men from their uſual works abroad, and confines them within doors, to conſider his works; or to foreca ſt their works, that is, what they themſelves are to do.

VER. 20. He ſhall be ſwallowed up. All that man can ſay when he ſpeaks of God, is ſo little and inconſiderable in compariſon with the ſubject, that man is loſt, and as it were ſwallowed up in ſo immenſe an ocean.

24 Therefore men ſhall fear him, and all that ſeem to themſelves to be wiſe, ſhall not dare to behold him.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

God interpoſes and ſhews from the things he hath made, that man cannot comprehend his power and wiſdom.

THEN the Lord anſwered Job out of a whirlwind, and ſaid:

2 Who is this that wrappeth up ſentences in unſkilful words?

3 Gird up thy loins like a man: I will aſk thee, and anſwer thou me.

4 Where waſt thou when I laid the foundations of the earth? tell me if thou haſt underſtanding.

5 Who hath laid the meaſures thereof, if thou knoweſt? or who hath ſtretched the line upon it?

6 Upon what are its baſes grounded? or who laid the corner ſtone thereof,

7 When the morning ſtars praiſed me together, and all the ſons of God made a joyful melody?

8 Who ſhut up the ſea with doors, when it broke forth as iſſuing out of the womb:

9 When I made a cloud the garment thereof, and wrapped it in a miſt as in ſwadling bands?

10 I ſet my bounds around it, and made it bars and doors;

11 And I ſaid: Hitherto thou ſhalt come, and ſhalt go no further, and here thou ſhalt break thy ſwelling waves.

12 Didſt thou ſince thy birth command the morning, and ſhew the dawning of the day its place?

13 And didſt thou hold the extremities of the earth ſhaking them, and haſt thou ſhaken the ungodly out of it?

14 The ſeal ſhall be reſtored as clay, and ſhall ſtand as a garment:

15 From the wicked their light ſhall be taken away, and the high arm ſhall be broken.

16 Haſt thou entered into the depths of the ſea, and walked in the loweſt parts of the deep?

17 Have the gates of death been opened to thee, and haſt thou ſeen the darkſome doors?

18 Haſt thou conſidered the breadth of the earth? tell me, if thou knoweſt all things?

19 Where is the way where light dwelleth, and where is the place of darkneſs:

20 That thou mayſt bring every thing to its own bounds, and underſtand the paths of the houſe thereof.

21 Didſt thou know then that thou ſhouldſt be born? and didſt thou know the number of thy days?

22 Haſt thou entered into the ſtorehouſes of the ſnow, or haſt thou beheld the treaſures of the hail:

23 Which I have prepared for the time of the enemy, againſt the day of battle and war?

24 By what way is the light ſpread, and heat divided upon the earth?

25 Who gave a courſe to violent ſhowers, or a way for noiſy thunder:

26 That it ſhould rain on the earth without man in the wilderneſs, where no mortal dwelleth:

27 That it ſhould fill the deſert and deſolate land, and ſhould bring forth green graſs?

28 Who is the father of rain? or who begot the drops of dew?

29 Out of whoſe womb came the ice? and the froſt from heaven who hath gendered it?

30 The waters are hardened like a ſtone, and the ſurface of the deep is congealed.

31 Shalt thou be able to join together the ſhining ſtars the Pleiades, or canſt thou ſtop the turning about of Arcturus?

32 Canſt thou bring forth the day ſtar in its time, and make the evening ſtar to riſe upon the children of the earth?

33 Doſt thou know the order of heaven, and canſt thou ſet down the reaſon thereof on the earth?

34 Canſt thou lift up thy voice to the clouds, that an abundance of waters may cover thee?

35 Canſt thou ſend lightnings, and will they go, and will they return and ſay to thee: Here we are?

36 Who hath put wiſdom in the heart of man? or who gave the cock underſtanding?

37 Who can declare the order of the CHAP. XXXVIII. VER. 1. The Lord. That is, an Angel ſpeaking in the name of the Lord.

VER. 31. Pleiades, Hebrew Cimah. A cluſter of ſeven ſtars in the conſtellation Taurus, or the Bull. Arcturus a bright ſtar in the conſtellation Bootes. The Hebrew name Ceſil is variouſly interpreted; by ſome, Orion; by others, the great Bear is underſtood.

heavens, or who can make the harmony of heaven to ſleep?

38 When was the duſt poured on the earth, and the clods faſtened together?

39 Wilt thou take the prey for the lioneſs, and ſatisfy the appetite of her whelps, 40 When they couch in the dens, and lie in wait in holes?

§ Pſ. 146. 9. 41 ‖ Who provideth food for the raven, when her young ones cry to God, wandering about, becauſe they have no meat?

CHAP. XXXIX.

The wonders of the power and providence of God in many of his creatures.

KNOWEST thou the time when the wild goats bring forth among the the rocks, or haſt thou obſerved the hinds when they fawn?

2 Haſt thou numbered the months of their conceiving, or knoweſt thou the time when they bring forth?

3 They bow themſelves to bring forth young, and they caſt them, and ſend forth roarings.

4 Their young are weaned, and go to feed: they go forth, and return not to them.

5 Who hath ſent out the wild-aſs free, and who hath looſed his bonds?

6 To whom I have given a houſe in the wilderneſs, and his dwellings in the barren land.

7 He ſcorneth the multitude of the city, he heareth not the cry of the driver.

8 He looketh round about the mountains of his paſture, and ſeeketh for every green thing.

9 Shall the rhinoceros be willing to ſerve thee, or will he ſtay at thy crib?

10 Canſt thou bind the rhinoceros with thy thong to plough, or will he break the clods of the valleys after thee?

11 Wilt thou have confidence in his great ſtrength, and leave thy labours to him?

12 Wilt thou truſt him that he will render thee the ſeed, and gather it into thy barn-floor?

13 The wing of the oſtrich is like the wings of the heron, and of the hawk.

14 When ſhe leaveth her eggs on the earth, thou perhaps wilt warm them in the duſt.

15 She forgetteth that the foot may tread upon them, or that the beaſt of the field may break them.

16 She is hardened againſt her young ones, as though they were not hers, ſhe hath laboured in vain no fear conſtraining her.

17 For God hath deprived her of wiſdom, neither hath he given her underſtanding?

18 When time ſhall be, ſhe ſetteth up her wings on high: ſhe ſcorneth the horſe and his rider.

19 Wilt thou give ſtrength to the horſe, or cloath his neck with neighing?

20 Wilt thou lift him up like the locuſts? the glory of his noſtrils is terror.

21 He breaketh up the earth with his hoof, he pranceth boldly, he goeth forward to meet armed men.

22 He deſpiſeth fear, he turneth not his back to the ſword.

23 Above him ſhall the quiver rattle, the ſpear and ſhield ſhall glitter.

24 Chaſing and raging he ſwalloweth the ground, neither doth he make account when the noiſe of the trumpet ſoundeth.

25 When he heareth the trumpet he ſaith: Ha, ha, he ſmelleth the battle afar off, the encouraging of the captains, and the ſhouting of the army.

26 Doth the hawk wax feathered by thy wiſdom, ſpreading her wings to the ſouth?

27 Will the eagle mount up at thy command, and make her neſt in high places?

28 She abideth among the rocks, and dwelleth among cragged flints, and ſtony hills, where there is no acceſs.

29 From thence ſhe looketh for the prey, and her eyes behold afar off.

30 Her young ones ſhall ſuck up blood: and whereſoever the carcaſe ſhall be, ſhe is immediately there.

31 And the Lord went on, and ſaid to Job:

32 Shall he that contendeth with God be ſo eaſily ſilenced? ſurely he that reproveth God, ought to anſwer him.

33 Then Job anſwered the Lord, and ſaid:

34 What can I anſwer, who have ſpoken inconſiderately? I will lay my hand upon my mouth.

35 One thing I have ſpoken, which I

CHAP. XXXIX. VER. 34. Spoken inconſiderately. If we diſcuſs all Job's words (ſaith St. Gregory), we ſhall find nothing impiouſly ſpoken; as may be gathered from the words of the Lord himſelf, chap. xlii. ver. 7. & 8. but what was reprehenſible in him, was the manner of expreſſing himſelf at times, ſpeaking too much of his own affliction, and too little of God's goodneſs towards him, which here he acknowledges as inconſiderate.

wish I had not said: and another, to which I will add no more.

CHAP. XL.

Of the power of God in the behemoth and the leviathan.

AND the Lord answering Job out of the whirlwind, said:

2 Gird up thy loins like a man: I will ask thee, and do thou tell me.

3 Wilt thou make void my judgment: and condemn me, that thou mayst be justified?

4 And hast thou an arm like God, and canst thou thunder with a voice like him?

5 Cloath thyself with beauty, and set thyself up on high, and be glorious, and put on goodly garments.

6 Scatter the proud in thy indignation, and behold every arrogant man, and humble him.

7 Look on all that are proud, and confound them, and crush the wicked in their place.

8 Hide them in the dust together, and plunge their faces into the pit.

9 Then I will confess that thy right hand is able to save thee.

10 Behold behemoth whom I made with thee, he eateth grass like an ox.

11 His strength is in his loins, and his force in the navel of his belly.

12 He setteth up his tail like a cedar, the sinews of his testicles are wrapped together.

13 His bones are like pipes of brass, his griſtle like plates of iron.

14 He is the beginning of the ways of God, who made him, he will apply his sword.

15 To him the mountains bring forth grass: there all the beasts of the field shall play.

16 He sleepeth under the shadow, in the covert of the reed, and in moist places.

17 The shades cover his shadow, the willows of the brook shall compass him about.

18 Behold, he will drink up a river, and not wonder: and he trusteth that the Jordan may run into his mouth.

19 In his eyes as with a hook he shall take him, and bore through his nostrils with stakes.

20 Canst thou draw out the leviathan with a hook, or canst thou tie his tongue with a cord?

21 Canst thou put a ring in his nose, or bore through his jaw with a buckle?

22 Will he make many supplications to thee, or speak soft words to thee?

23 Will he make a covenant with thee, and wilt thou take him to be a servant for ever?

24 Shalt thou play with him as with a bird, or tie him up for thy handmaids?

25 Shall friends cut him in pieces, shall merchants divide him?

26 Wilt thou fill nets with his skin, and the cabins of fishes with his head.

27 Lay thy hand upon him: remember the battle, and speak no more.

28 Behold his hope shall fail him, and in the sight of all he shall be cast down.

CHAP. XLI.

A further description of the leviathan.

I Will not stir him up, like one that is cruel: for who can resist my countenance?

2 Who hath given me before that I should repay him? All things that are under heaven are mine.

3 I will not spare him, nor his mighty words, and framed to make supplication.

4 Who can discover the face of his garment? or who can go into the midst of his mouth?

5 Who can open the doors of his face? his teeth are terrible round about.

6 His body is like molten shields, shut close up with scales pressing upon one another.

7 One is joined to another, and not so much as any air can come between them:

8 They stick one to another, and they hold one another fast, and shall not be separated.

9 His sneezing is like the shining of fire, and his eyes like the eye-lids of the morning.

10 Out of his mouth go forth lamps, like torches of lighted fire.

11 Out of his nostrils goeth smoke, like that of a pot heated and boiling.

12 His breath kindleth coals, and a flame cometh forth out of his mouth.

CHAP. XL. VER. 10. Behemoth, in Hebrew behema, which signifies in general an animal: but many authors explain, that here it is put for the Elephant.

VER. 14. He will apply his sword. This text is variously explained: some explain the sword, the horn given to the animal for his defence: others the power that God hath given to man to slay him, notwithstanding his great size and strength.

VER. 20. Leviathan. The whale, or some sea monster.

13 In his neck ſtrength ſhall dwell, and want goeth before his face.

14 The members of his fleſh cleave one to another: he ſhall ſend lightnings againſt him, and they ſhall not be carried to another place.

15 His heart ſhall be as hard as a ſtone, and as firm as a ſmith's anvil.

16 When he ſhall raiſe him up, the angels ſhall fear, and being affrighted ſhall purify themſelves.

17 When a ſword ſhall lay at him, it ſhall not be able to hold, nor a ſpear, nor a breaſtplate.

18 For he ſhall eſteem iron as ſtraw, and braſs as rotten wood.

19 The archer ſhall not put him to flight, the ſtones of the ſling to him are like ſtubble.

20 As ſtubble will he eſteem the hammer, and he will laugh him to ſcorn who ſhaketh the ſpear.

21 The beams of the ſun ſhall be under him, and he ſhall ſtrew gold under him like mire.

22 He ſhall make the deep ſea to boil like a pot, and ſhall make it as when ointments boil.

23 A path ſhall ſhine after him, he ſhall eſteem the deep as growing old.

24 There is no power upon earth that can be compared with him who was made to fear no one.

25 He beholdeth every high thing, he is king over all the children of pride.

CHAP. XLII.

Job ſubmits himſelf. God pronounces in his favour. Job offers ſacrifice for his friends. He is bleſſed with riches and children, and dies happily.

THEN Job anſwered the Lord, and ſaid:

2 I know that thou canſt do all things, and no thought is hid from thee.

3 Who is this that hideth counſel without knowledge? Therefore I have ſpoken unwiſely, and things that above meaſure exceeded my knowledge.

4 Hear, and I will ſpeak: I will aſk thee, and do thou tell me.

5 With the hearing of the ear I have heard thee, but now my eye ſeeth thee.

6 Therefore I reprehend myſelf, and do penance in duſt and aſhes.

7 And after the Lord had ſpoken theſe words to Job, he ſaid to Eliphaz the Themanite: My wrath is kindled againſt thee, and againſt thy two friends, becauſe you have not ſpoken the thing that is right before me, as my ſervant Job hath.

8 Take unto you therefore ſeven oxen, and ſeven rams, and go to my ſervant Job, and offer for yourſelves a holocauſt: and my ſervant Job ſhall pray for you: his face I will accept, that folly be not imputed to you: for you have not ſpoken right things before me, as my ſervant Job hath.

9 So Eliphaz the Themanite, and Baldad the Suhite, and Sophar the Naamathite went, and did as the Lord had ſpoken to them, and the Lord accepted the face of Job.

10 The Lord alſo was turned at the penance of Job, when he prayed for his friends. And the Lord gave Job twice as much as he had before.

11 And all his brethren came to him, and all his ſiſters, and all that knew him before, and they eat bread with him in his houſe: and bemoaned him, and comforted him upon all the evil that God had brought upon him. And every man gave him one ewe, and one ear-ring of gold.

12 And the Lord bleſſed the latter end of Job more than his beginning. And he had fourteen thouſand ſheep, and ſix thouſand camels, and a thouſand yoke of oxen, and a thouſand ſhe-aſſes.

13 And he had ſeven ſons, and three daughters.

14 And he called the name of one Dies, and the name of the ſecond Caſſia, and the name of the third Cornuſtibij.

15 And there were not found in all the earth women ſo beautiful as the daughters of Job: and their father gave them inheritance among their brethren.

16 And Job lived after theſe things, a hundred and forty years, and he ſaw his children, and his children's children, unto the fourth generation, and he died an old man, and full of days.

CHAP. XLI. VER. 16. Angels. Elim, Hebrew: which ſignifies here, the mighty, the moſt valiant, ſhall fear this monſtrous fiſh, and in their fear ſhall ſeek to be purified.

VER. 21. Under him. He ſhall not value the beams of the ſun; and gold to him ſhall be like mire.

VER. 23. The deep as growing old. Growing hoary, as it were, with the froth which he leaves behind him.

VER. 25. He is king, &c. He is ſuperior in ſtrength to all that are great and ſtrong amongſt living creatures: myſtically it is underſtood of the devil, who is king over all the proud.

THE BOOK OF PSALMS.

The Pſalms are called by the Hebrews TEHILLIM, that is, hymns of praiſe. The author, of a great part of them at leaſt, was king David: but many are of opinion that ſome of them were made by Aſaph, and others, whoſe names are prefixed in the titles.

PSALM I.

Beatus vir.

The happineſs of the juſt: and the evil ſtate of the wicked.

BLESSED is the man who hath not walked in the counſel of the ungodly, nor ſtood in the way of ſinners, nor ſat in the chair of peſtilence.

|| Joſue 1. 8. 2 || But his will is in the law of the Lord; and on his law he ſhall meditate day and night.

|| Jerem. 17. 8. 3 || And he ſhall be like a tree which is planted near the running waters, which ſhall bring forth its fruit, in due ſeaſon.

And his leaf ſhall not fall off: and all whatſoever he ſhall do ſhall proſper.

4 Not ſo the wicked, not ſo: but like the duſt, which the wind driveth from the face of the earth.

5 Therefore the wicked ſhall not riſe again in judgment: nor ſinners in the council of the juſt.

6 For the Lord knoweth the way of the juſt: and the way of the wicked ſhall periſh.

PSALM II.

Quare fremuerunt.

The vain efforts of perſecutors againſt Chriſt and his church.

Acts 4. 25. WHY have the gentiles raged, and the people deviſed vain things?

2 The kings of the earth ſtood up, and the princes met together, againſt the Lord, and againſt his Chriſt.

3 Let us break their bonds aſunder: and let us caſt away their yoke from us.

4 He that dwelleth in heaven ſhall laugh at them: and the Lord ſhall deride them.

5 Then ſhall he ſpeak to them in his anger, and trouble them in his rage.

6 But I am appointed king by him over Sion his holy mountain, preaching his commandment.

|| Acts 13. 33. Heb. 1. 5. & 5. 5. 7 || The Lord hath ſaid to me: Thou art my ſon, this day have I begotten thee.

8 Aſk of me, and I will give thee the gentiles for thy inheritance, and the utmoſt parts of the earth for thy poſſeſſion.

|| Apoc. 2. 27. & 19. 15. 9 || Thou ſhalt rule them with a rod of iron, and ſhalt break them in pieces like a potter's veſſel.

10 And now, O ye kings, underſtand: receive inſtruction you that judge the earth.

11 Serve ye the Lord with fear: and rejoice unto him with trembling.

12 Embrace diſcipline, leſt at any time the Lord be angry, and you periſh from the juſt way.

13 When his wrath ſhall be kindled in a ſhort time, bleſſed are all they that truſt in him.

PSALM III.

Domine quid multiplicati.

The prophet's danger and delivery from his son Absalom: mystically the passion and resurrection of Christ.

1 The psalm of David when he fled from the face of his son Absalom. [2 Kings xv.]

2 WHY, O Lord, are they multiplied that afflict me? many are they who rise up against me.

3 Many say to my soul: There is no salvation for him in his God.

4 But thou, O Lord, art my protector, my glory, and the lifter up of my head.

5 I have cried to the Lord with my voice: and he hath heard me from his holy hill.

6 I have slept and have taken my rest: and I have risen up, because the Lord hath protected me.

7 I will not fear thousands of the people, surrounding me: arise, O Lord; save me, O my God.

8 For thou hast struck all them who are my adversaries without cause: thou hast broken the teeth of sinners.

9 Salvation is of the Lord: and thy blessing is upon thy people.

PSALM IV.

Cum invocarem.

The prophet teacheth us to flee to God in tribulation, with confidence in him.

1 Unto the end, in verses. A psalm for David.

2 WHEN I called upon him, the God of my justice heard me: when I was in distress, thou hast enlarged me.

Have mercy on me: and hear my prayer.

3 O ye sons of men, how long will you be dull of heart? why do you love vanity, and seek after lying?

4 Know ye also that the Lord hath made his holy one wonderful: the Lord will hear me when I shall cry unto him.

‖ Ephes. 4. 26. 5 ‖ Be ye angry, and sin not: the things you say in your hearts, be sorry for them upon your beds.

6 Offer up the sacrifice of justice, and trust in the Lord: many say, Who sheweth us good things?

7 The light of thy countenance, O Lord, is signed upon us: thou hast given gladness in my heart.

8 By the fruit of their corn, their wine, and oil, they are multiplied.

9 In peace in the self same I will sleep, and I will rest:

10 For thou, O Lord, singularly hast settled me in hope.

PSALM V.

Verba mea auribus.

A prayer to God against the iniquities of men.

1 Unto the end, for her that obtaineth the inheritance. A psalm for David.

2 GIVE ear, O Lord, to my words, understand my cry.

3 Hearken to the voice of my prayer, O my King and my God.

4 For to thee will I pray: O Lord, in the morning thou shalt hear my voice.

5 In the morning I will stand before thee, and will see: because thou art not a God that willest iniquity.

6 Neither shall the wicked dwell near thee: nor shall the unjust abide before thy eyes.

7 Thou hatest all the workers of iniquity: thou wilt destroy all that speak a lye.

The bloody and the deceitful man the Lord will abhor.

8 But as for me in the multitude of thy mercy,

I will come into thy house; I will worship towards thy holy temple, in thy fear.

9 Conduct me, O Lord, in thy justice: because of my enemies, direct my way in thy sight.

10 For there is no truth in their mouth: their heart is vain.

11 ‖ Their throat is an open sepulchre: they dealt deceitfully with their tongues: judge them, O God. ‖ Ps. 13. 5. & 39. 4. Rom. 3. 13.

Let them fall from their devices: according to the multitude of their wickednesses cast them out: for they have provoked thee, O Lord.

12 But let all them be glad that hope in thee: they shall rejoice for ever, and thou shalt dwell in them.

PSALM IV. VER. 1. Unto the end. Or, as St. Jerome renders it, victori, to him that overcometh: which some understand of the chief musician; to whom they suppose the psalms, which bear that title, were given to be sung: we rather understand the psalms thus inscribed to refer to Christ, who is the end of the law, and the great conqueror of death and hell, and to the New Testament.

Ibid. In verses, in carminibus. In the Hebrew it is neghinoth, supposed by some to be a musical instrument, with which this psalm was to be sung.

Ibid. For David, or to David, τῷ Δαυὶδ that is, inspired to David himself, or to be sung.

PSALM V. VER. 1. For her that obtaineth the inheritance. That is, for the church of Christ.

And all they that love thy name ſhall glory in thee:

13 For thou wilt bleſs the juſt.

O Lord, thou haſt crowned us, as with a ſhield of thy good will.

PSALM VI.

Domine ne in furore.

A prayer of a penitent ſinner, under the ſcourge of God. The firſt penitential Pſalm.

1 Unto the end, in verſes, a pſalm for David, for the octave.

2 O LORD, rebuke me not in thy indignation, nor chaſtiſe me in thy wrath.

3 Have mercy on me, O Lord, for I am weak: heal me, O Lord, for my bones are troubled.

4 And my ſoul is troubled exceedingly: but thou, O Lord, how long?

5 Turn to me, O Lord, and deliver my ſoul: O ſave me for thy mercy's ſake.

6 For there is no one in death, that is mindful of thee: and who ſhall confeſs to thee in hell?

7 I have laboured in my groanings, every night I will waſh my bed: I will water my couch with my tears.

8 My eye is troubled through indignation: I have grown old amongſt all my enemies.

|| Mat. 7. 23. & 25. 41. Luke 13.27. 9 || Depart from me all ye workers of iniquity: for the Lord hath heard the voice of my weeping.

10 The Lord hath heard my ſupplication: the Lord hath received my prayer.

11 Let all my enemies be aſhamed, and be very much troubled: let them be turned back, and be aſhamed very ſpeedily.

PSALM VII.

Domine Deus meus.

David, truſting in the juſtice of his cauſe, prayeth for God's help againſt his enemies.

1 The pſalm of David which he ſung to the Lord, for the words of Chuſi the ſon of Jemini. [2 Kings xvi.]

2 O LORD my God, in thee have I put my truſt: ſave me from all them that perſecute me, and deliver me.

3 Leſt at any time he ſeize upon my ſoul like a lion, while there is no one to redeem me, nor to ſave.

4 O Lord my God, if I have done this thing, if there be iniquity in my hands:

5 If I have rendered to them that repaid me evils, let me deſervedly fall empty before my enemies.

6 Let the enemy purſue my ſoul, and take it, and tread down my life on the earth, and bring down my glory to the duſt.

7 Riſe up, O Lord, in thy anger: and be thou exalted in the borders of my enemies.

And ariſe, O Lord my God, in the precept which thou haſt commanded: 8 and a congregation of people ſhall ſurround thee.

And for their ſakes return thou on high.

9 The Lord judgeth the people.

Judge me, O Lord, according to my juſtice, and according to my innocence in me.

10 The wickedneſs of ſinners ſhall be brought to nought; and thou ſhalt direct the juſt: || the ſearcher of hearts and reins is God. || 1 Par. 28. 9. Jer. 11. 20. & 17. 10. & 20. 12.

Juſt 11 is my help from the Lord: who ſaveth the upright of heart.

12 God is a juſt judge, ſtrong and patient: is he angry every day?

13 Except you will be converted, he will brandiſh his ſword: he hath bent his bow, and made it ready.

14 And in it he hath prepared the inſtruments of death, he hath made ready his arrows for them that burn.

15 || Behold he hath been in labour with injuſtice: he hath conceived ſorrow, and brought forth iniquity. || Job 15. 35. Iſai. 59. 4.

16 He hath opened a pit and dug it: and he is fallen into the hole he made.

17 His ſorrow ſhall be turned on his own head: and his iniquity ſhall come down upon his crown.

18 I will give glory to the Lord according to his juſtice: and will ſing to the name of the Lord the moſt high.

PSALM VIII.

Domine Dominus noſter.

God is wonderful in his works; eſpecially in mankind, ſingularly exalted by the incarnation of Chriſt.

PSALM VI. VER. 1. For the octave. That is, to be ſung on an inſtrument of eight ſtrings. St. Auguſtine underſtands it myſtically, of the laſt reſurrection, and the world to come; which is, as it were, the octave, or eighth day, after the ſeven days of this mortal life: and for this octave, ſinners muſt diſpoſe themſelves, like David, by bewailing their ſins, whilſt they are here upon earth.

PSALM VII. VER. 14. For them that burn. That is, againſt the perſecutors of his Saints.

1 Unto the end, for the preſſes: a pſalm for David.

2 O LORD our Lord, how admirable is thy name in the whole earth!
For thy magnificence is elevated above the heavens.

3 Out of the mouth of infants and of ſucklings thou haſt perfected praiſe, becauſe of thy enemies, that thou mayſt deſtroy the enemy and the avenger.

4 For I will behold thy heavens, the works of thy fingers: the moon and the ſtars which thou haſt founded.

5 What is man that thou art mindful of him? or the ſon of man that thou viſiteſt him?

§ Heb. 2. 7. 6 ‖ Thou haſt made him a little leſs than the Angels, thou haſt crowned him with glory and honour: 7 and haſt ſet him over the works of thy hands.

‖ Gen. 1. 28. 1 Cor. 15. 26. 8 ‖ Thou haſt ſubjected all things under his feet, all ſheep and oxen: moreover the beaſts alſo of the fields.

9 The birds of the air, and the fiſhes of the ſea, that paſs through the paths of the ſea.

10 O Lord our Lord, how admirable is thy name in all the earth!

PSALM IX.

Confitebor tibi Domine.

The church praiſeth God for his protection againſt her enemies.

1 Unto the end, for the hidden things of the ſon. A pſalm for David.

2 I Will give praiſe to thee, O Lord, with my whole heart: I will relate all thy wonders.

3 I will be glad and rejoice in thee: I will ſing to thy name, O thou moſt high.

4 When my enemy ſhall be turned back: they ſhall be weakened and periſh before thy face.

5 For thou haſt maintained my judgment and my cauſe: thou haſt ſat on the throne, who judgeſt juſtice.

6 Thou haſt rebuked the gentiles, and the wicked one hath periſhed: thou haſt blotted out their name for ever and ever.

7 The ſwords of the enemy have failed unto the end: and their cities thou haſt deſtroyed.
Their memory hath periſhed with a noiſe:
8 But the Lord remaineth for ever.
He hath prepared his throne in judgment:
9 and he ſhall judge the world in equity, he ſhall judge the people in juſtice.

10 And the Lord is become a refuge for the poor: a helper in due time in tribulation.

11 And let them truſt in thee who know thy name: for thou haſt not forſaken them that ſeek thee, O Lord.

12 Sing ye to the Lord, who dwelleth in Sion: declare his ways among the gentiles:

13 For requiring their blood he hath remembered them: he hath not forgotten the cry of the poor.

14 Have mercy on me, O Lord: ſee my humiliation which I ſuffer from my enemies.

15 Thou that lifteſt me up from the gates of death, that I may declare all thy praiſes in the gates of the daughter of Sion.

16 I will rejoice in thy ſalvation: the gentiles have ſtuck faſt in the deſtruction which they prepared.
Their foot hath been taken in the very ſnare which they hid.

17 The Lord ſhall be known when he executeth judgments: the ſinner hath been caught in the works of his own hands.

18 The wicked ſhall be turned into hell, all the nations that forget God.

19 For the poor man ſhall not be forgotten to the end: the patience of the poor ſhall not periſh for ever.

20 Ariſe, O Lord, let not man be ſtrengthened: let the gentiles be judged in thy ſight.

21 Appoint, O Lord, a law-giver over them: that the gentiles may know themſelves to be but men.

Pſalm x. according to the Hebrews.

1 Why, O Lord, haſt thou retired afar off? why doſt thou ſlight us in our wants, in the time of trouble?

2 Whilſt the wicked man is proud, the PSALM VIII. VER. 1. The preſſes. In Hebrew Gittith, ſuppoſed to be a muſical inſtrument.

PSALM IX. VER. 1. The hidden things of the ſon. The humility and ſufferings of Chriſt, the Son of God; and of good chriſtians, who are his ſons by adoption; are called hidden things, with regard to the children of this world, who know not the value and merit of them.

VER. 21. Here the late Hebrew doctors divide this pſalm into two, making ver. 22. the beginning of pſalm x. And again they join the pſalms cxlvi. & cxlvii. into one, in order that the whole number of pſalms ſhould not exceed 150. And in this manner the pſalms are numbered in the proteſtant bible.

poor is set on fire: they are caught in the counsels which they devise.

3 For the sinner is praised in the desires of his soul: and the unjust man is blessed.

4 The sinner hath provoked the Lord, according to the multitude of his wrath he will not seek him:

5 God is not before his eyes: his ways are filthy at all times.

Thy judgments are removed from his sight: he shall rule over all his enemies.

6 For he hath said in his heart: I shall not be moved from generation to generation, and shall be without evil.

‖ Infra 13. 3. Rom. 3. 14.

7 ‖ His mouth is full of cursing, and of bitterness, and of deceit: under his tongue are labour and sorrow.

8 He sitteth in ambush with the rich in private places, that he may kill the innocent.

9 His eyes are upon the poor man: he lieth in wait in secret like a lion in his den.

He lieth in ambush that he may catch the poor man: to catch the poor, whilst he draweth him to him.

10 In his net he will bring him down, he will crouch and fall, when he shall have power over the poor.

11 For he hath said in his heart: God hath forgotten, he hath turned away his face not to see to the end.

12 Arise, O Lord God, let thy hand be exalted: forget not the poor.

13 Wherefore hath the wicked provoked God? for he hath said in his heart: He will not require it.

14 Thou seest it, for thou considerest labour and sorrow: that thou mayst deliver them into thy hands.

To thee is the poor man left: thou wilt be a helper to the orphan.

15 Break thou the arm of the sinner and of the malignant: his sin shall be sought, and shall not be found.

16 The Lord shall reign to eternity, yea for ever and ever: ye gentiles shall perish from his land.

17 The Lord hath heard the desire of the poor: thy ear hath heard the preparation of their heart.

18 To judge for the fatherless and for the humble, that man may no more presume to magnify himself upon earth.

PSALM X.

In Domino confido.

The just man's confidence in God in the midst of persecutions.

1 Unto the end. A psalm for David.

2 IN the Lord I put my trust: how then do you say to my soul: Get thee away from hence to the mountain like a sparrow?

3 For lo the wicked have bent their bow; they have prepared their arrows in the quiver; to shoot in the dark the upright of heart.

4 For they have destroyed the things which thou hast made: but what has the just man done?

5 ‖ The Lord is in his holy temple, the Lord's throne is in heaven. ‖ Habac. 2. 20.

His eyes look on the poor man: his eye-lids examine the sons of men.

6 The Lord trieth the just and the wicked: but he that loveth iniquity hateth his own soul.

7 He shall rain snares upon sinners: fire and brimstone and storms of winds shall be the portion of their cup.

8 For the Lord is just, and hath loved justice; his countenance hath beheld righteousness.

PSALM XI.

Salvum me fac.

The prophet calls for God's help against the wicked.

1 Unto the end; for the octave, a psalm for David.

2 SAVE me, O Lord, for there is now no Saint: truths are decayed from among the children of men.

3 They have spoken vain things every one to his neighbour: with deceitful lips, and with a double heart have they spoken.

4 May the Lord destroy all deceitful lips, and the tongue that speaketh proud things.

5 Who have said: We will magnify our tongue; our lips are our own; who is Lord over us?

6 By reason of the misery of the needy, and the groans of the poor, now will I arise, saith the Lord.

I will set him in safety; I will deal confidently in his regard.

7 ‖ The words of the Lord are pure words: as silver tried by the fire, purged from the earth, refined seven times. ‖ Prov. 30. 5.

8 Thou, O Lord, wilt preserve us: and keep us from this generation for ever.

9 The wicked walk round about: according to thy highness, thou hast multiplied the children of men.

PSALM XII.

Usquequo Domine.

A prayer in tribulation.

1 Unto the end, a psalm for David.

HOW long, O Lord, wilt thou forget me unto the end? how long dost thou turn away thy face from me?

2 How long shall I take counsels in my soul, sorrow in my heart all the day?

3 How long shall my enemy be exalted over me? 4 Consider, and hear me, O Lord my God.

Enlighten my eyes, that I never sleep in death: 5 lest at any time my enemy say: I have prevailed against him.

They that trouble me will rejoice when I am moved: 6 but I have trusted in thy mercy.

My heart shall rejoice in thy salvation: I will sing to the Lord, who giveth me good things: yea I will sing to the name of the Lord the most high.

PSALM XIII.

Dixit insipiens. 1.

The general corruption of man before our redemption by Christ.

1 Unto the end, a psalm for David.

‖ Ps. 52. 1. THE fool hath said in his heart: ‖ There is no God.

They are corrupt, and are become abominable in their ways: there is none that doth good, no not one.

2 The Lord hath looked down from heaven upon the children of men, to see if there be any that understand and seek God.

3 They are all gone aside, they are become unprofitable together: there is none that doth good, no not one.

Their throat is an open sepulchre; with their tongues they acted deceitfully; the poison of asps is under their lips.

Their mouth is full of cursing and bitterness; their feet are swift to shed blood.

Destruction and unhappiness in their ways; and the way of peace they have not known: there is no fear of God before their eyes.

4 Shall not all they know that work iniquity, who devour my people as they eat bread?

5 They have not called upon the Lord: there have they trembled for fear, where there was no fear.

6 For the Lord is in the just generation: you have confounded the counsel of the poor man, but the Lord is his hope.

7 Who shall give out of Sion the salvation of Israel? when the Lord shall have turned away the captivity of his people, Jacob shall rejoice and Israel shall be glad.

PSALM XIV.

Domine quis habitabit.

What kind of men shall dwell in the heavenly Sion.

1 A psalm for David.

LORD, who shall dwell in thy tabernacle? or who shall rest in thy holy hill?

2 He that walketh without blemish, and worketh justice:

3 He that speaketh truth in his heart, who hath not used deceit in his tongue:

Nor hath done evil to his neighbour: nor taken up a reproach against his neighbours.

4 In his sight the malignant is brought to nothing: but he glorifieth them that fear the Lord.

He that sweareth to his neighbour, and deceiveth not, 5 he that hath not put out his money to usury, nor taken taken bribes against the innocent:

He that doth these things shall not be moved for ever.

PSALM XV.

Conserva me Domine.

Christ's future victory and triumph over the world, and death.

1 The inscription of a title to David himself.

PRESERVE me, O Lord, for I have put my trust in thee. 2 I have said to the Lord, thou art my God, for thou hast no need of my goods.

3 To the Saints, who are in his land, he hath made wonderful all my desires in them.

4 Their infirmities were multiplied: afterwards they made haste.

I will not gather together their meetings for blood-offerings: nor will I be mindful of their names by my lips.

5 The Lord is the portion of my inheritance and of my cup: it is thou that wilt restore my inheritance to me.

6 The lines are fallen unto me in goodly places: for my inheritance is goodly to me.

PSALM XV. VER. 1. The inscription of a title. That is, of a pillar or monument, στηλογραφια: which is as much as to say, that this psalm is most worthy to be engraved on an everlasting monument.

7 I will bleſs the Lord, who hath given me underſtanding: moreover my reins alſo have corrected me even till night.

‖ Acts 2. 25. 8 ‖ I ſet the Lord always in my ſight: for he is at my right hand, that I be not moved.

9 Therefore my heart hath been glad, and my tongue hath rejoiced: moreover my fleſh alſo ſhall reſt in hope.

‖ Acts 2. 31. & 13. 35. 10 ‖ Becauſe thou wilt not leave my ſoul in hell; nor wilt thou give thy holy one to ſee corruption.

11 Thou haſt made known to me the ways of life, thou ſhalt fill me with joy with thy countenance: at thy right hand are delights even to the end.

PSALM XVI.

Exaudi Domine juſtitiam.

A juſt man's prayer in tribulation againſt the malice of his enemies.

1 The prayer of David.

HEAR, O Lord, my juſtice: attend to my ſupplication.

Give ear unto my prayer, which proceedeth not from deceitful lips.

2 Let my judgment come forth from thy countenance: let thy eyes behold the things that are equitable.

3 Thou haſt proved my heart, and viſited it by night, thou haſt tried me by fire: and iniquity hath not been found in me.

4 That my mouth may not ſpeak the works of men: for the ſake of the words of thy lips, I have kept hard ways.

5 Perfect thou my goings in thy paths: that my footſteps be not moved.

6 I have cried to thee, for thou, O God, haſt heard me: O incline thy ear unto me, and hear my words.

7 Shew forth thy wonderful mercies; thou who ſaveſt them that truſt in thee.

8 From them that reſiſt thy right hand keep me, as the apple of thy eye.

Protect me under the ſhadow of thy wings.

9 From the face of the wicked who have afflicted me.

My enemies have ſurrounded my ſoul: 10 they have ſhut up their fat: their mouth hath ſpoken proudly.

11 They have caſt me forth and now they have ſurrounded me: they have ſet their eyes bowing down to the earth.

12 They have taken me, as a lion prepared for the prey; and as a young lion dwelling in ſecret places.

13 Ariſe, O Lord, diſappoint him and ſupplant him; deliver my ſoul from the wicked one; thy ſword 14 from the enemies of thy hand.

O Lord, divide them from the few of the earth in their life: their belly is filled from thy hidden ſtores.

They are full of children: and they have left to their little ones the reſt of their ſubſtance.

15 But as for me, I will appear before thy ſight in juſtice: I ſhall be ſatisfied when thy glory ſhall appear.

PSALM XVII.

Diligam te Domine.

David's thanks to God for his delivery from all his enemies.

1 Unto the end, for David the ſervant of the Lord, who ſpoke to the Lord the words of this canticle, in the day that the Lord delivered him from the hand of all his enemies, and from the hand of Saul. [2 Kings xxii.]

2 I Will love thee, O Lord, my ſtrength:

3 The Lord is my firmament, my refuge, and my deliverer.

‖ Heb. 2. 13. ‖ My God is my helper, and in him will I put my truſt.

My protector and the horn of my ſalvation, and my ſupport.

4 Praiſing I will call upon the Lord: and I ſhall be ſaved from my enemies.

5 The ſorrows of death ſurrounded me: and the torrents of iniquity troubled me.

6 The ſorrows of hell encompaſſed me: and the ſnares of death prevented me.

7 In my affliction I called upon the Lord, and I cried to my God:

And he heard my voice from his holy temple: and my cry before him came into his ears.

8 The earth ſhook and trembled: the

PSALM XVI. VER. 10. Their fat. That is, their bowels of compaſſion: for they have none for me.

VER. 14. Divide them from the few, &c. That is, cut them off from the earth, and the few trifling things thereof; which they are ſo proud of, or, divide them from the few; that is from thy elect, who are but few; that they may no longer have it in their power to oppreſs them. It is not meant by way of a curſe or imprecation; but, as many other the like paſſages in the pſalms, by way of a prediction, or prophecy of what ſhould come upon them, in puniſhment of their wickedneſs.

foundations of the mountains were troubled and were moved, becauſe he was angry with them.

9 There went up a ſmoke in his wrath: and a fire flamed from his face: coals were kindled by it.

10 He bowed the heavens, and came down: and darkneſs was under his feet.

11 And he aſcended upon the cherubim, and he flew upon the wings of the winds.

12 And he made darkneſs his covert, his pavilion round about him: dark waters in the clouds of the air.

13 At the brightneſs that was before him the clouds paſſed, hail and coals of fire.

14 And the Lord thundered from heaven, and the higheſt gave his voice: hail and coals of fire.

15 And he ſent forth his arrows, and he ſcattered them: he multiplied lightnings, and troubled them.

16 Then the fountains of waters appeared, and the foundations of the world were diſcovered:

At thy rebuke, O Lord, at the blaſt of the ſpirit of thy wrath.

17 He ſent from on high, and took me: and received me out of many waters.

18 He delivered me from my ſtrongeſt enemies, and from them that hated me: for they were too ſtrong for me.

19 They prevented me in the day of my affliction: and the Lord became my protector.

20 And he brought me forth into a large place: he ſaved me, becauſe he was well pleaſed with me.

21 And the Lord will reward me according to my juſtice; and will repay me according to the cleanneſs of my hands:

22 Becauſe I have kept the ways of the Lord; and have not done wickedly againſt my God.

23 For all his judgments are in my ſight: and his juſtices I have not put away from me.

24 And I ſhall be ſpotleſs with him: and ſhall keep myſelf from my iniquity.

25 And the Lord will reward me according to my juſtice; and according to the cleanneſs of my hands before his eyes.

26 With the holy, thou wilt be holy; and with the innocent man thou wilt be innocent:

27 And with the elect thou wilt be elect: and with the perverſe thou wilt be perverted.

28 For thou wilt ſave the humble people; but wilt bring down the eyes of the proud.

29 For thou lighteſt my lamp, O Lord: O my God, enlighten my darkneſs.

30 For by thee I ſhall be delivered from temptation; and through my God I ſhall go over a wall.

31 As for my God, his way is undefiled: the words of the Lord are fire-tried: he is the protector of all that truſt in him.

32 For who is God but the Lord? or who is God but our God?

33 God who hath girt me with ſtrength; and made my way blameleſs.

34 ‖ Who hath made my feet like the feet of harts: and who ſetteth me upon high places. ‖ 2 Kings 22. 34.

35 ‡ Who teacheth my hands to war: and thou haſt made my arms like a brazen bow. ‡ 2 Kings 22. 35.

36 And thou haſt given me the protection of thy ſalvation: and thy right hand hath held me up:

And thy diſcipline hath corrected me unto the end: and thy diſcipline, the ſame ſhall teach me.

37 Thou haſt enlarged my ſteps under me; and my feet are not weakened.

38 I will purſue after my enemies, and overtake them: and I will not turn again till they are conſumed.

39 I will break them, and they ſhall not be able to ſtand: they ſhall fall under my feet.

40 And thou haſt girded me with ſtrength unto battle; and haſt ſubdued under me them that roſe up againſt me.

41 And thou haſt made my enemies turn their back upon me, and haſt deſtroyed them that hated me.

42 They cried, but there was none to ſave them, to the Lord: but he heard them not.

43 And I ſhall beat them as ſmall as the duſt before the wind; I ſhall bring them to naught, like the dirt in the ſtreets.

44 Thou wilt deliver me from the contradictions of the people: thou wilt make me head of the gentiles.

45 A people, which I knew not, hath ſerved me: at the hearing of the ear they have obeyed me.

46 The children that are ſtrangers have lied to me, ſtrange children have faded away, and have halted from their paths.

47 The Lord liveth, and bleſſed be my God, and let the God of my ſalvation be exalted.

48 O God, who avengeſt me, and ſubdueſt the people under me, my deliverer from my enemies.

PSALM XVIII.

Cœli enarrant.

The works of God shew forth his glory: his law is greatly to be esteemed and loved.

1 Unto the end. A psalm for David.

2 THE Heavens shew forth the glory of God, and the firmament declareth the work of his hands.

3 Day to day uttereth speech, and night to night sheweth knowledge.

4 There are no speeches nor languages, where their voices are not heard.

‖ Rom. 10. 18. 5 ‖ Their sound hath gone forth into all the earth: and their words unto the ends of the world.

6 He hath set his tabernacle in the sun: ‖ Luke 24. 46. ‖ and he as a bridegroom coming out of his bride chamber,

Hath rejoiced as a giant to run the way: 7 His going out is from the end of heaven,

And his circuit even to the end thereof: and there is no one that can hide himself from his heat.

8 The law of the Lord is unspotted, converting souls: the testimony of the Lord is faithful, giving wisdom to little ones.

9 The justices of the Lord are right, rejoicing hearts: the commandment of the Lord is lightsome, enlightening the eyes.

10 The fear of the Lord is holy, enduring for ever and ever: the judgments of the Lord are true, justified in themselves.

11 More to be desired than gold and many precious stones: and sweeter than honey and the honey-comb.

12 For thy servant keepeth them, and in keeping them there is a great reward.

13 Who can understand sins? from my secret ones cleanse me, O Lord: 14 and from those of others spare thy servant.

If they shall have no dominion over me, then shall I be without spot: and I shall be cleansed from the greatest sin.

15 And the words of my mouth shall be such as may please: and the meditation of my heart always in thy sight.

O Lord, my helper, and my redeemer.

PSALM XIX.

Exaudiat te Dominus.

A prayer for the king.

1 Unto the end. A psalm for David.

2 MAY the Lord hear thee in the day of tribulation: may the name of the God of Jacob protect thee.

3 May he send thee help from the sanctuary: and defend thee out of Sion.

4 May he be mindful of all thy sacrifices: and may thy whole burnt-offering be made fat.

5 May he give thee according to thy own heart; and confirm all thy counsels.

6 We will rejoice in thy salvation; and in the name of our God we shall be exalted.

7 The Lord fulfil all thy petitions: now have I known that the Lord hath saved his anointed.

He will hear him from his holy heaven: the salvation of his right hand is in powers.

8 Some trust in chariots, and some in horses: but we will call upon the name of the Lord our God.

9 They are bound, and have fallen: but we are risen, and are set upright.

O Lord, save the king: and hear us in the day that we shall call upon thee.

PSALM XX.

Domine in virtute.

Praise to God for Christ's exaltation after his passion.

1 Unto the end. A psalm for David.

2 IN thy strength, O Lord, the king shall joy; and in thy salvation he shall rejoice exceedingly.

3 Thou hast given him his heart's desire: and hast not withholden from him the will of his lips.

4 For thou hast prevented him with blessings of sweetness: thou hast set on his head a crown of precious stones.

5 He asked life of thee: and thou hast given him length of days for ever and ever.

6 His glory is great in thy salvation: glory and great beauty shalt thou lay upon him.

PSALM XIX. VER. 7. The salvation of his right hand is in powers. That is, in strength. His right hand is strong and mighty to save them that trust in him.

7 For thou ſhalt give him to be a bleſſing for ever and ever: thou ſhalt make him joyful in gladneſs with thy countenance.

8 For the king hopeth in the Lord: and through the mercy of the moſt High he ſhall not be moved.

9 Let thy hand be found by all thy enemies: let thy right hand find out all them that hate thee.

10 Thou ſhalt make them as an oven of fire, in the time of thy anger: the Lord ſhall trouble them in his wrath, and fire ſhall devour them.

11 Their fruit ſhalt thou deſtroy from the earth: and their ſeed from among the children of men.

12 For they have intended evils againſt thee: they have deviſed counſels which they have not been able to eſtabliſh.

13 For thou ſhalt make them turn their back: in thy remnants thou ſhalt prepare their face.

14 Be thou exalted, O Lord, in thy own ſtrength: we will ſing and praiſe thy power.

PSALM XXI.

Deus Deus meus.

Chriſt's paſſion: and the converſion of the Gentiles.

1 Unto the end, for the morning protection, a pſalm for David.

‖ Mat. 27. 46. Mark 15. 34. 2 O God my God, look upon me: why haſt thou forſaken me?

Far from my ſalvation are the words of my ſins.

3 O my God, I ſhall cry by day, and thou wilt not hear: and by night, and it ſhall not be reputed as folly in me.

4 But thou dwelleſt in the holy place, the praiſe of Iſrael.

5 In thee have our fathers hoped; they have hoped, and thou haſt delivered them.

6 They cried to thee, and they were ſaved: they truſted in thee, and were not confounded.

7 But I am a worm, and no man: the reproach of men, and the outcaſt of the people.

‖ Mat. 27. 39. Mark 15. 29. 8 ‖ All they that ſaw me have laughed me to ſcorn: they have ſpoken with the lips, and wagged the head.

9 ‡ He hoped in the Lord, let him deliver him: let him ſave him, ſeeing he delighteth in him. ‡ Mat. 27. 43.

10 For thou art he that haſt drawn me out of the womb: my hope from the breaſts of my mother. 11 I was caſt upon thee from the womb:

From my mother's womb thou art my God, 12 depart not from me.

For tribulation is very near: for there is none to help me.

13 Many calves have ſurrounded me: fat bulls have beſieged me.

14 They have opened their mouths againſt me, as a lion ravening and roaring.

15 I am poured out like water; and all my bones are ſcattered.

My heart is become like wax melting in the midſt of my bowels.

16 My ſtrength is dried up like a potſherd, and my tongue hath cleaved to my jaws: and thou haſt brought me down into the duſt of death.

17 For many dogs have encompaſſed me; the council of the malignant hath beſieged me.

They have dug my hands and feet. 18 They have numbered all my bones.

And they have looked and ſtared upon me.

‖ Mat. 27. 35. John. 19. 23. & 24. 19 ‖ They parted my garments amongſt them; and upon my veſture they caſt lots.

20 But thou, O Lord, remove not thy help to a diſtance from me; look towards my defence.

21 Deliver, O God, my ſoul from the ſword: my only one from the hand of the dog.

22 Save me from the lion's mouth; and my lowneſs from the horns of the unicorns.

‖ Heb. 2. 12. 23 ‖ I will declare thy name to my brethren: in the midſt of the church will I praiſe thee.

24 Ye that fear the Lord praiſe him: all ye the ſeed of Jacob glorify him.

25 Let all the ſeed of Iſrael fear him: becauſe he hath not ſlighted nor deſpiſed the ſupplication of the poor man.

Neither hath he turned away his face from me: and when I cried to him he heard me.

26 With thee is my praiſe in a great church: I will pay my vows in the ſight of them that fear him.

PSALM XX. VER. 13. In thy remnants thou ſhalt prepare their face: or thou ſhalt ſet thy remnants againſt their faces. That is, thou ſhalt make them ſee what puniſhments remain for them hereafter from thy juſtice. Inſtead of remnants, St. Jerome renders it funes, that is, cords or ſtrings, viz. of the bow of divine juſtice, from which God directs his arrows againſt the faces of his enemies.

PSALM XXI. VER. 2. The words of my ſins. That is, the ſins of the world, which I have taken upon myſelf, cry out againſt me, and are the cauſe of all my ſufferings.

27 The poor ſhall eat and ſhall be filled; and they ſhall praiſe the Lord that ſeek him: their hearts ſhall live for ever and ever.

28 All the ends of the earth ſhall remember, and ſhall be converted to the Lord:

And all the kindreds of the gentiles ſhall adore in his ſight.

29 For the kingdom is the Lord's; and he ſhall have dominion over the nations.

30 All the fat ones of the earth have eaten and have adored: all they that go down to the earth ſhall fall before him.

31 And to him my ſoul ſhall live: and my ſeed ſhall ſerve him.

32 There ſhall be declared to the Lord a generation to come: and the heavens ſhall ſhew forth his juſtice to a people that ſhall be born, which the Lord hath made.

PSALM XXII.

Dominus regit me.

God's ſpiritual benefits to faithful ſouls.

1 A pſalm for David.

Iſai. 40. 11. Jerem. 23. 5. Ezec. 34. 11. & 23. 1 Peter 2. 25. & 5. 3.

THE Lord ruleth me: and I ſhall want nothing. 2 He hath ſet me in a place of paſture.

He hath brought me up, on the water of refreſhment: 3 he hath converted my ſoul.

He hath led me on the paths of juſtice, for his own name's ſake.

4 For though I ſhould walk in the midſt of the ſhadow of death, I will fear no evils, for thou art with me.

Thy rod and thy ſtaff, they have comforted me.

5 Thou haſt prepared a table before me, againſt them that afflict me.

Thou haſt anointed my head with oil; and my chalice which inebriateth me how goodly is it!

6 And thy mercy will follow me all the days of my life.

And that I may dwell in the houſe of the Lord, unto length of days.

PSALM XXIII.

Domini eſt terra.

Who are they that ſhall aſcend to heaven: Chriſt's triumphant aſcenſion thither.

1 On the firſt day of the week, a pſalm for David.

Pſal. 49. 12. 1 Cor. 10. 26.

THE earth is the Lord's and the fulneſs thereof: the world, and all they that dwell therein.

2 For he hath founded it upon the ſeas; and hath prepared it upon the rivers.

3 Who ſhall aſcend into the mountain of the Lord: or who ſhall ſtand in his holy place?

4 The innocent in hands, and clean of heart, who hath not taken his ſoul in vain, nor ſworn deceitfully to his neighbour.

5 He ſhall receive a bleſſing from the Lord, and mercy from God his Saviour.

6 This is the generation of them that ſeek him, of them that ſeek the face of the God of Jacob.

7 Lift up your gates, O ye princes, and be ye lifted up, O eternal gates: and the King of Glory ſhall enter in.

8 Who is this King of Glory? the Lord who is ſtrong and mighty: the Lord mighty in battle.

9 Lift up your gates, O ye princes, and be ye lifted up, O eternal gates: and the King of Glory ſhall enter in.

10 Who is this King of Glory? the Lord of hoſts he is the King of Glory.

PSALM XXIV.

Ad te Domine levavi.

A prayer for grace, mercy, and protection againſt our enemies.

1 Unto the end, a pſalm for David.

TO thee, O Lord, have I lifted up my ſoul. 2 In thee, O my God, I put my truſt; let me not be aſhamed.

3 Neither let my enemies laugh at me: for none of them that wait on thee ſhall be confounded.

4 Let all them be confounded that act unjuſt things without cauſe.

Shew, O Lord, thy ways to me, and teach me thy paths.

5 Direct me in thy truth, and teach me; for thou art God my Saviour; and on thee have I waited all the day long.

6 Remember, O Lord, thy bowels of compaſſion; and thy mercies that are from the beginning of the world.

7 The ſins of my youth and my ignorances do not remember.

According to thy mercy remember thou me: for thy goodneſs ſake, O Lord.

8 The Lord is ſweet and righteous: therefore he will give a law to ſinners in the way.

9 He will guide the mild in judgment: he will teach the meek his ways.

10 All the ways of the Lord are mercy

PSALM XXII. VER. 1. Ruleth me. In Hebrew, Is my ſhepherd, viz. to feed, guide, and govern me.

and truth, to them that ſeek after his covenant and his teſtimonies.

11 For thy name's ſake, O Lord, thou wilt pardon my ſin: for it is great.

12 Who is the man that feareth the Lord? He hath appointed him a law in the way he hath choſen.

13 His ſoul ſhall dwell in good things: and his ſeed ſhall inherit the land.

14 The Lord is a firmament to them that fear him: and his covenant ſhall be made manifeſt to them.

15 My eyes are ever towards the Lord: for he ſhall pluck my feet out of the ſnare.

16 Look thou upon me, and have mercy on me; for I am alone and poor.

17 The troubles of my heart are multiplied: deliver me from my neceſſities.

18 See my abjection and my labour; and forgive me all my ſins.

19 Conſider my enemies for they are multiplied, ‖ and have hated me with an unjuſt hatred.

‖ John 15. 25.

20 Keep thou my ſoul, and deliver me: I ſhall not be aſhamed, for I have hoped in thee.

21 The innocent and the upright have adhered to me: becauſe I have waited on thee.

22 Deliver Iſrael, O God, from all his tribulations.

PSALM XXV.

Judica me Domine.

David's prayer to God in his diſtreſs, to be delivered, that he may come to worſhip him in his tabernacle.

1 Unto the end, a pſalm for David.

JUDGE me, O Lord, for I have walked in my innocence: and I have put my truſt in the Lord, and ſhall not be weakened.

2 Prove me, O Lord, and try me; burn my reins and my heart.

3 For thy mercy is before my eyes: and I am well pleaſed with thy truth.

4 I have not ſat with the council of vanity: neither will I go in with the doers of unjuſt things.

5 I have hated the aſſembly of the malignant; and with the wicked I will not ſit.

6 I will waſh my hands among the innocent: and will compaſs thy altar, O Lord.

7 That I may hear the voice of thy praiſe: and tell of all thy wondrous works.

8 I have loved, O Lord, the beauty of thy houſe; and the place where thy glory dwelleth.

9 Take not away my ſoul, O God, with the wicked: nor my life with bloody men:

10 In whoſe hands are iniquities: their right hand is filled with gifts.

11 But as for me, I have walked in my innocence: redeem me, and have mercy on me.

12 My foot hath ſtood in the direct way: in the churches I will bleſs thee, O Lord.

PSALM XXVI.

Dominus illuminatio.

David's faith and hope in God.

1 The pſalm of David before he was anointed.

THE Lord is my light and my ſalvation, whom ſhall I fear?

The Lord is the protector of my life; of whom ſhall I be afraid?

2 Whilſt the wicked draw near againſt me, to eat my fleſh.

My enemies that trouble me, have themſelves been weakened, and have fallen.

3 If armies in camp ſhould ſtand together againſt me, my heart ſhall not fear.

If a battle ſhould riſe up againſt me, in this will I be confident.

4 One thing I have aſked of the Lord, this will I ſeek after; that I may dwell in the houſe of the Lord all the days of my life.

That I may ſee the delight of the Lord, and may viſit his temple.

5 For he hath hidden me in his tabernacle; in the day of evils, he hath protected me in the ſecret place of his tabernacle.

6 He hath exalted me upon a rock: and now he hath lifted up my head above my enemies.

I have gone round, and have offered up in his tabernacle a ſacrifice of jubilation: I will ſing, and recite a pſalm to the Lord.

7 Hear, O Lord, my voice, with which I have cried to thee: have mercy on me and hear me.

8 My heart hath ſaid to thee: My face hath ſought thee: thy face, O Lord, will I ſtill ſeek.

9 Turn not away thy face from me; decline not in thy wrath from thy ſervant.

Be thou my helper, forſake me not; do not thou deſpiſe me, O God my Saviour.

10 For my father and my mother have left me: but the Lord hath taken me up.

11 Set me, O Lord, a law in thy way, and guide me in the right path, becauſe of my enemies.

12 Deliver me not over to the will of them that trouble me: for unjuſt witneſſes have risen up against me; and iniquity hath lied to itself.

13 I believe to see the good things of the Lord in the land of the living.

14 Expect the Lord, do manfully, and let thy heart take courage, and wait thou for the Lord.

PSALM XXVII.

Ad te Domine clamabo.

David's prayer that his enemies may not prevail over him.

1 A psalm for David himself.

UNTO thee will I cry, O Lord: O my God, be not thou silent to me; lest if thou be silent to me, I become like them that go down into the pit.

2 Hear, O Lord, the voice of my supplication, when I pray to thee; when I lift up my hands to thy holy temple.

3 Draw me not away together with the wicked; and with the workers of iniquity destroy me not:

Who speak peace with their neighbour, but evils are in their hearts.

4 Give them according to their works, and according to the wickedness of their inventions.

According to the works of their hands give thou to them: render to them their reward.

5 Because they have not understood the works of the Lord, and the operations of his hands; thou shalt destroy them, and shalt not build them up.

6 Blessed be the Lord, for he hath heard the voice of my supplication.

7 The Lord is my helper and my protector: in him hath my heart confided, and I have been helped.

And my flesh hath flourished again, and with my will I will give praise to him.

8 The Lord is the strength of his people, and the protector of the salvation of his anointed.

9 Save, O Lord, thy people, and bless thy inheritance: and rule them and exalt them for ever.

PSALM XXVIII.

Afferte Domino.

An invitation to glorify God, with a commemoration of his mighty works.

1 A psalm for David, at the finishing of the tabernacle.

BRING to the Lord, O ye children of God: bring to the Lord the offspring of rams.

2 Bring to the Lord glory and honour; bring to the Lord glory to his name: adore ye the Lord in his holy court.

3 The voice of the Lord is upon the waters; the God of majesty hath thundered, The Lord upon many waters.

4 The voice of the Lord is in power; the voice of the Lord in magnificence.

5 The voice of the Lord breaketh the cedars: yea the Lord shall break the cedars of Libanus.

6 And shall reduce them to pieces, as a calf of Libanus, and as the beloved son of unicorns.

7 The voice of the Lord divideth the flame of fire: 8 The voice of the Lord shaketh the desert: and the Lord shall shake the desert of Cades.

9 The voice of the Lord prepareth the stags: and he will discover the thick woods: and in his temple all shall speak his glory.

10 The Lord maketh the flood to dwell: and the Lord shall sit king for ever.

The Lord will give strength to his people: the Lord will bless his people with peace.

PSALM XXIX.

Exaltabo te Domine.

David praiseth God for his deliverance, and his merciful dealings with him.

1 A psalm of a canticle, at the dedication of David's house.

2 I WILL extol thee, O Lord, for thou hast upheld me: and hast not made my enemies to rejoice over me.

3 O Lord my God, I have cried to thee, and thou hast healed me.

4 Thou hast brought forth, O Lord, my soul from hell: thou hast saved me from them that go down into the pit.

5 Sing to the Lord, O ye his saints:

PSALM XXVIII. VER. 6. Shall reduce them to pieces, &c. In Hebrew, Shall make them to skip like a calf. The psalmist here describes the effects of thunder (which he calls the voice of the Lord) which sometimes breaks down the tallest and strongest trees; and makes their broken branches skip, &c. All this is to be understood mystically, of the powerful voice of God's word in his church; which has broke the pride of the great ones of this world, and brought many of them meekly and joyfully to submit their necks to the sweet yoke of Christ.

and give praiſe to the memory of his holineſs.

6 For wrath is in his indignation; and life in his good will.

In the evening weeping ſhall have place, and in the morning gladneſs.

7 And in my abundance I ſaid: I ſhall never be moved.

8 O Lord, in thy favour, thou gaveſt ſtrength to my beauty.

Thou turnedſt away thy face from me, and I became troubled.

9 To thee, O Lord, will I cry; and I will make ſupplication to my God.

10 What profit is there in my blood, whilſt I go down to corruption?

Shall duſt confeſs to thee, or declare thy truth?

11 The Lord hath heard, and hath had mercy on me: the Lord became my helper.

12 Thou haſt turned for me my mourning into joy: thou haſt cut my ſack-cloth, and haſt compaſſed me with gladneſs:

13 To the end that my glory may ſing to thee, and I may not regret: O Lord my God, I will give praiſe to thee for ever.

PSALM XXX.

In te Domine ſperavi.

A prayer of a juſt man under affliction.

1 Unto the end, a pſalm for David, in an extaſy.

2 IN thee, O Lord, have I hoped, let me never be confounded: deliver me in thy juſtice.

3 Bow down thy ear to me: make haſte to deliver me.

Be thou unto me a God a protector, and a houſe of refuge, to ſave me.

4 For thou art my ſtrength and my refuge; and for thy name's ſake thou wilt lead me, and nouriſh me.

5 Thou wilt bring me out of this ſnare, which they have hidden for me: for thou art my protector.

‖ Luke 23. 46. 6 ‖ Into thy hands I commend my ſpirit: thou haſt redeemed me, O Lord, the God of truth.

7 Thou haſt hated them that regard vanities, to no purpoſe.

But I have hoped in the Lord: 8 I will be glad and rejoice in thy mercy.

For thou haſt regarded my humility, thou haſt ſaved my ſoul out of diſtreſſes.

9 And thou haſt not ſhut me up in the hands of the enemy: thou haſt ſet my feet in a ſpacious place.

10 Have mercy on me, O Lord, for I am afflicted: my eye is troubled with wrath, my ſoul, and my belly:

11 For my life is waſted with grief: and my years in ſighs.

My ſtrength is weakened through poverty: and my bones are diſturbed.

12 I am become a reproach among all my enemies, and very much to my neighbours; and a fear to my acquaintance.

They that ſaw me without fled from me.

13 I am forgotten as one dead from the heart.

I am become as a veſſel that is deſtroyed.

14 For I have heard the blame of many that dwell round about.

While they aſſembled together againſt me, they conſulted to take away my life.

15 But I have put my truſt in thee, O Lord: I ſaid: Thou art my God. 16 My lots are in thy hands.

Deliver me out of the hands of my enemies; and from them that perſecute me.

17 Make thy face to ſhine upon thy ſervant; ſave me in thy mercy.

18 Let me not be confounded, O Lord, for I have called upon thee.

Let the wicked be aſhamed, and be brought down to hell. 19 Let deceitful lips be made dumb.

Which ſpeak iniquity againſt the juſt, with pride and abuſe.

20 O how great is the multitude of thy ſweetneſs, O Lord, which thou haſt hidden for them that fear thee!

Which thou haſt wrought for them that hope in thee, in the ſight of the ſons of men.

21 Thou ſhalt hide them in the ſecret of thy face, from the diſturbance of men.

Thou ſhalt protect them in thy tabernacle from the contradiction of tongues.

22 Bleſſed be the Lord, for he hath ſhewn his wonderful mercy to me in a fortified city.

23 But I ſaid in the exceſs of my mind: I am caſt away from before thy eyes.

Therefore thou haſt heard the voice of my prayer, when I cried to thee

24 O love the Lord, all ye his ſaints: for the Lord will require truth, and will repay them abundantly that act proudly.

25 Do ye manfully, and let your heart be ſtrengthened, all ye that hope in the Lord.

PSALM XXXI.

Beati quorum.

The ſecond penitential pſalm.

1 To David himſelf, underſtanding.

BLESSED are they whoſe iniquities are forgiven, and whoſe ſins are covered. Rom. 4. 7.

2 Bleſſed is the man to whom the Lord hath not imputed ſin, and in whoſe ſpirit there is no guile.

3 Becauſe I was ſilent, my bones grew old; whilſt I cried out all the day long.

4 For day and night thy hand was heavy upon me: I am turned in my anguiſh, whilſt the thorn is faſtened.

5 I have acknowledged my ſin to thee, and my injuſtice I have not concealed.

‖ Iſai. 65. 24. ‖ I ſaid I will confeſs againſt myſelf my injuſtice to the Lord; and thou haſt forgiven the wickedneſs of my ſin.

6 For this ſhall every one that is holy pray to thee, in a ſeaſonable time.

And yet in a flood of many waters, they ſhall not come nigh unto him.

7 Thou art my refuge from the trouble which hath encompaſſed me: my joy, deliver me from them that ſurround me.

8 I will give thee underſtanding, and I will inſtruct thee in this way, in which thou ſhalt go: I will fix my eyes upon thee.

9 Do not become like the horſe and the mule, who have no underſtanding.

With bit and bridle bind faſt their jaws, who come not near unto thee.

10 Many are the ſcourges of the ſinner, but mercy ſhall encompaſs him that hopeth in the Lord.

11 Be glad in the Lord, and rejoice ye juſt, and glory all ye right of heart.

PSALM XXXII.

Exultate juſti.

An exhortation to praiſe God, and to truſt in him.

1 A pſalm for David.

REJOICE in the Lord, O ye juſt: praiſe becometh the upright.

2 Give praiſe to the Lord on the harp; ſing to him with the pſaltery, the inſtrument of ten ſtrings.

3 Sing to him a new canticle, ſing well unto him with a loud noiſe.

4 For the word of the Lord is right, and all his works are done with faithfulneſs.

5 He loveth mercy and judgment; the earth is full of the mercy of the Lord.

6 By the word of the Lord, the heavens were eſtabliſhed; and all the power of them by the ſpirit of his mouth:

7 Gathering together the waters of the ſea, as in a veſſel; laying up the depths in ſtore-houſes.

8 Let all the earth fear the Lord, and let all the inhabitants of the world be in awe of him.

9 ‖ For he ſpoke and they were made: he commanded and they were created. ‖ Gen. 1. 8. Judith 16. 17.

10 The Lord bringeth to nought the counſels of nations; and he rejecteth the devices of people, and caſteth away the counſels of princes.

11 But the counſel of the Lord ſtandeth for ever: the thoughts of his heart to all generations.

12 Bleſſed is the nation whoſe God is the Lord: the people whom he hath choſen for his inheritance.

13 The Lord hath looked from heaven: he hath beheld all the ſons of men.

14 From his habitation which he hath prepared, he hath looked upon all that dwell on the earth.

15 He who hath made the hearts of every one of them: who underſtandeth all their works.

16 The king is not ſaved by a great army: nor ſhall the giant be ſaved by his own great ſtrength.

17 Vain is the horſe for ſafety: neither ſhall he be ſaved by the abundance of his ſtrength.

18 Behold the eyes of the Lord are on them that fear him: and on them that hope in his mercy.

19 To deliver their ſouls from death: and feed them in famine.

20 Our ſoul waiteth for the Lord: for he is our helper and protector.

21 For in him our heart ſhall rejoice: and in his holy name we have truſted.

22 Let thy mercy, O Lord, be upon us, as we have hoped in thee.

PSALM XXXIII.

Benedicam Dominum.

An exhortation to the praiſe, and ſervice of God.

1 For David when he changed his countenance before Achimelech, who diſmiſſed him, and he went his way. [1 Kings xxi.]

2 I WILL bleſs the Lord at all times, his praiſe ſhall be always in my mouth.

PSALM XXXI. VER. 3. Becauſe I was ſilent, &c. That is, whilſt I kept ſilence, by concealing, or refuſing to confeſs my ſins, thy hand was heavy upon me, &c.

VER. 4. I am turned, &c. That is, I turn and roll about in my bed, to ſeek for eaſe in my pain, whilſt the thorn of thy juſtice pierces my fleſh, and ſticks faſt in me. Or, I am turned; that is, I am converted to thee my God, by being brought to a better underſtanding by thy chaſtiſements. In the Hebrew it is, my moiſture is turned into the droughts of the ſummer.

3 In the Lord ſhall my ſoul be praiſed; let the meek hear and rejoice.

4 O magnify the Lord with me: and let us extol his name together.

5 I ſought the Lord, and he heard me; and he delivered me from all my troubles.

6 Come ye to him and be enlightened: and your faces ſhall not be confounded.

7 This poor man cried, and the Lord heard him: and ſaved him out of all his troubles.

8 The angel of the Lord ſhall encamp round about them that fear him: and ſhall deliver them.

9 O taſte, and ſee that the Lord is ſweet: bleſſed is the man that hopeth in him.

10 Fear the Lord, all ye his ſaints: for there is no want to them that fear him.

‖ Luke 1. 53. 11 ‖ The rich have wanted, and have ſuffered hunger: but they that ſeek the Lord ſhall not be deprived of any good.

12 Come, children, hearken to me: I will teach you the fear of the Lord.

‖ 1 Peter 3. 10. 13 ‖ Who is the man that deſireth life: who loveth to ſee good days?

14 Keep thy tongue from evil, and thy lips from ſpeaking guile.

15 Turn away from evil and do good: ſeek after peace and purſue it.

‖ Eccli. 15. 20. Heb. 4. 13. 16 The eyes of the Lord are ‖ upon the juſt: and his ears unto their prayers.

17 But the countenance of the Lord is againſt them that do evil things: to cut off the remembrance of them from the earth.

18 The juſt cried, and the Lord heard them: and delivered them out of all their troubles.

19 The Lord is nigh unto them that are of a contrite heart: and he will ſave the humble of ſpirit.

20 Many are the afflictions of the juſt; but out of them all will the Lord deliver them.

21 The Lord keepeth all their bones, not one of them ſhall be broken.

22 The death of the wicked is very evil: and they that hate the juſt ſhall be guilty.

23 The Lord will redeem the ſouls of his ſervants: and none of them that truſt in him ſhall offend.

PSALM XXXIV.

Judica Domine nocentes me.

David, in the perſon of Chriſt, prayeth againſt his perſecutors: prophetically foreſhewing the puniſhments that ſhall fall upon them.

1 For David himſelf.

JUDGE thou, O Lord, them that wrong me: overthrow them that fight againſt me.

2 Take hold of arms and ſhield: and riſe up to help me.

3 Bring out the ſword, and ſhut up the way againſt them that perſecute me: ſay to my ſoul: I am thy ſalvation.

Infra 39. 15. 4 ‖ Let them be confounded and aſhamed that ſeek after my ſoul.

Let them be turned back and be confounded that deviſe evil againſt me.

5 Let them become as duſt before the wind: and let the Angel of the Lord ſtraiten them.

6 Let their way become dark and ſlippery; and let the Angel of the Lord purſue them.

7 For without cauſe they have hidden their net for me unto deſtruction: without cauſe they have upbraided my ſoul.

8 Let the ſnare which he knoweth not come upon him: and let the net which he hath hidden catch him: and into that very ſnare let them fall.

9 But my ſoul ſhall rejoice in the Lord; and ſhall be delighted in his ſalvation.

10 All my bones ſhall ſay: Lord, who is like to thee?

Who deliverеſt the poor from the hand of them that are ſtronger than he; the needy and the poor from them that ſtrip him.

11 Unjuſt witneſſes riſing up have aſked me things I knew not.

12 They repaid me evil for good: to the depriving me of my ſoul.

13 But as for me, when they were troubleſome to me, I was clothed with hair-cloth.

I humbled my ſoul with faſting; and my prayer ſhall be turned into my boſom.

14 As a neighbour and as an own brother, ſo did I pleaſe: as one mourning and ſorrowful ſo was I humbled.

15 But they rejoiced againſt me, and came together: ſcourges were gathered together upon me, and I knew not.

16 They were ſeparated, and repented not: they tempted me, they ſcoffed at me with ſcorn: they gnaſhed upon me with their teeth.

17 Lord, when wilt thou look upon me? reſcue thou my ſoul from their malice: my only one from the lions.

18 I will give thanks to thee in a great church; I will praiſe thee in a ſtrong people.

19 Let not them that are my enemies wrongfully rejoice over me: ‖ who have hated me without cauſe, and wink with the eyes. ‖ John 15. 25.

20 For they ſpoke indeed peaceably to me: and ſpeaking in the anger of the earth they deviſed guile.

21 And they opened their mouth wide againſt me; they ſaid: Well done, well done, our eyes have ſeen it.

22 Thou haſt ſeen, O Lord, be not thou ſilent: O Lord, depart not from me.

23 Ariſe, and be attentive to my judgment: to my cauſe, my God and my Lord.

24 Judge me, O Lord my God, according to thy juſtice, and let them not rejoice over me.

25 Let them not ſay in their hearts: It is well, it is well, to our mind: neither let them ſay: We have ſwallowed him up.

26 Let them bluſh; and be aſhamed together, who rejoice at my evils.

Let them be clothed with confuſion and ſhame, who ſpeak great things againſt me.

27 Let them rejoice and be glad, who are well pleaſed with my juſtice: and let them ſay always: The Lord be magnified, who delight in the peace of his ſervant.

28 And my tongue ſhall meditate thy juſtice, thy praiſe all the day long.

PSALM XXXV.

Dixit injuſtus.

The malice of ſinners, and the goodneſs of God.

1 Unto the end, for the ſervant of God David himſelf.

2 THE unjuſt hath ſaid within himſelf, that he would ſin: there is no fear of God before his eyes.

3 || For in his ſight he hath done deceitfully, that his iniquity may be found unto hatred. || Supra 13. 2.

4 The words of his mouth are iniquity and guile: he would not underſtand that he might do well.

5 He hath deviſed iniquity on his bed, he hath ſet himſelf on every way that is not good; but evil he hath not hated.

6 O Lord, thy mercy is in heaven, and thy truth reacheth even to the clouds.

7 Thy juſtice is as the mountains of God, thy judgments are a great deep.

Men and beaſts thou wilt preſerve, O Lord: 8 O how haſt thou multiplied thy mercy, O God!

But the children of men ſhall put their truſt under the covert of thy wings.

9 They ſhall be inebriated with the plenty of thy houſe; and thou ſhalt make them drink of the torrent of thy pleaſure.

10 For with thee is the fountain of life; and in thy light we ſhall ſee light.

11 Extend thy mercy to them that know thee, and thy juſtice to them that are right in heart.

12 Let not the foot of pride come to me, and let not the hand of the ſinner move me.

13 There the workers of iniquity are fallen, they are caſt out, and could not ſtand.

PSALM XXXVI.

Noli æmulari.

An exhortation to deſpiſe this world; and the ſhort proſperity of the wicked; and to truſt in providence.

1 A pſalm for David himſelf.

BE not emulous of evil doers; nor envy them that work iniquity.

2 For they ſhall ſhortly wither away as graſs, and as the green herbs ſhall quickly fall.

3 Truſt in the Lord, and do good, and dwell in the land, and thou ſhalt be fed with its riches.

4 Delight in the Lord, and he will give thee the requeſts of thy heart.

5 Commit thy way to the Lord, and truſt in him, and he will do it.

6 And he will bring forth thy juſtice as the light, and thy judgment as the noon day. 7 Be ſubject to the Lord and pray to him.

Envy not the man who proſpereth in his way; the man who doth unjuſt things.

8 Ceaſe from anger, and leave rage; have no emulation to do evil.

9 For evil doers ſhall be cut off: but they that wait upon the Lord, they ſhall inherit the land.

10 For yet a little while and the wicked ſhall not be: and thou ſhalt ſeek his place, and ſhalt not find it.

11 || But the meek ſhall inherit the land, and ſhall delight in abundance of peace. || Mat. 5. 4

12 The ſinner ſhall watch the juſt man: and ſhall gnaſh upon him with his teeth.

13 But the Lord ſhall laugh at him: for he foreſeeth that his day ſhall come.

14 The wicked have drawn out the ſword: they have bent their bow.

To caſt down the poor and needy, to kill the upright of heart.

15 Let their ſword enter into their own hearts, and let their bow be broken.

16 Better is a little to the juſt, than the great riches of the wicked.

17 For the arms of the wicked ſhall be

PSALM XXXV. VER. 3. Unto hatred. That is, hateful to God.

broken in pieces; but the Lord ſtrengtheneth the juſt.

18 The Lord knoweth the days of the undefiled; and their inheritance ſhall be for ever.

19 They ſhall not be confounded in the evil time; and in the days of famine they ſhall be filled: 20 becauſe the wicked ſhall periſh.

And the enemies of the Lord, preſently after they ſhall be honoured and exalted, ſhall come to nothing and vaniſh like ſmoke.

21 The ſinner ſhall borrow, and not pay again: but the juſt ſheweth mercy and ſhall give.

22 For ſuch as bleſs him ſhall inherit the land: but ſuch as curſe him ſhall periſh.

23 With the Lord ſhall the ſteps of a man be directed, and he ſhall like well his way.

24 When he ſhall fall, he ſhall not be bruiſed, for the Lord putteth his hand under him.

25 I have been young, and now am old; and I have not ſeen the juſt forſaken, nor his ſeed ſeeking bread.

26 He ſheweth mercy and lendeth all the day long; and his ſeed ſhall be in bleſſing.

27 Decline from evil and do good, and dwell for ever and ever.

28 For the Lord loveth judgment, and will not forſake his ſaints: they ſhall be preſerved for ever.

The unjuſt ſhall be puniſhed, and the ſeed of the wicked ſhall periſh.

29 But the juſt ſhall inherit the land, and ſhall dwell therein for evermore.

‖ Prov. 31. 26. 30 ‖ The mouth of the juſt ſhall meditate wiſdom; and his tongue ſhall ſpeak judgment.

‡ Iſai. 51. 7. 31 ‡ The law of his God is in his heart, and his ſteps ſhall not be ſupplanted.

32 The wicked watcheth the juſt man, and ſeeketh to put him to death.

33 But the Lord will not leave him in his hands; nor condemn him when he ſhall be judged.

34 Expect the Lord and keep his way: and he will exalt thee to inherit the land: when the ſinners ſhall periſh thou ſhalt ſee.

35 I have ſeen the wicked highly exalted, and lifted up like the cedars of Libanus.

36 And I paſſed by, and lo he was not. and I ſought him and his place was not found.

37 Keep innocence, and behold juſtice; for there are remnants for the peaceable man.

38 But the unjuſt ſhall be deſtroyed together: the remnants of the wicked ſhall periſh.

39 But the ſalvation of the juſt is from the Lord, and he is their protector in the time of trouble.

40 And the Lord will help them and deliver them: and he will reſcue them from the wicked, and ſave them, becauſe they have hoped in him.

PSALM XXXVII.

Domine ne in furore.

A prayer of a penitent for the remiſſion of his ſins. The third penitential pſalm.

1 A pſalm for David, for a remembrance of the ſabbath.

2 REBUKE me not, O Lord, in thy indignation; nor chaſtiſe me in thy wrath. Supra 6. 2.

3 For thy arrows are faſtened in me: and thy hand hath been ſtrong upon me.

4 There is no health in my fleſh, becauſe of thy wrath: there is no peace for my bones becauſe of my ſins.

5 For my iniquities are gone over my head: and as a heavy burden are become heavy upon me.

6 My ſores are putrified and corrupted, becauſe of my fooliſhneſs.

7 I am become miſerable, and am bowed down even to the end: I walked ſorrowful all the day long.

8 For my loins are filled with illuſions; and there is no health in my fleſh.

9 I am afflicted and humbled exceedingly: I roared with the groaning of my heart.

10 Lord, all my deſire is before thee, and my groaning is not hidden from thee.

11 My heart is troubled, my ſtrength hath left me, and the light of my eyes itſelf is not with me.

12 My friends and my neighbours have drawn near, and ſtood againſt me.

And they that were near me ſtood afar off: 13 and they that ſought my ſoul uſed violence.

And they that ſought evils to me ſpoke vain things, and ſtudied deceits all the day long.

14 But I, as a deaf man, heard not: and as a dumb man not opening his mouth.

15 And I became as a man that heareth not: and that hath no reproofs in his mouth.

16 For in thee, O Lord, have I hoped: thou wilt hear me, O Lord my God.

PSALM XXXVII. VER. 1. For a remembrance, viz. of our miſeries and ſins; and to be ſung on the ſabbath-day.

17 For I ſaid: Leſt at any time my enemies rejoice over me: and whilſt my feet are moved, they ſpeak great things againſt me.

18 For I am ready for ſcourges: and my ſorrow is continually before me.

19 For I will declare my iniquity: and I will think for my ſin.

20 But my enemies live, and are ſtronger than I: and they that hate me wrongfully are multiplied.

21 They that render evil for good, have detracted me, becauſe I followed goodneſs.

22 Forſake me not, O Lord my God: do not thou depart from me.

23 Attend unto my help, O Lord, the God of my ſalvation.

PSALM XXXVIII.

Dixi cuſtodiam.

A juſt man's peace and patience in his ſufferings; conſidering the vanity of the world, and the providence of God.

1 Unto the end, for Iduthun himſelf, a canticle of David.

2 I Said: I will take heed to my ways: that I ſin not with my tongue.

I have ſet a guard to my mouth, when the ſinner ſtood againſt me.

3 I was dumb, and was humbled, and kept ſilence from good things: and my ſorrow was renewed.

4 My heart grew hot within me: and in my meditation a fire ſhall flame out.

5 I ſpoke with my tongue: O Lord, make me know my end,

And what is the number of my days: that I may know what is wanting to me.

6 Behold thou haſt made my days meaſurable: and my ſubſtance is as nothing before thee.

And indeed all things are vanity: every man living.

7 Surely man paſſeth as an image: yea, and he is diſquieted in vain.

He ſtoreth up: and he knoweth not for whom he ſhall gather theſe things.

8 And now what is my hope? is it not the Lord? and my ſubſtance is with thee.

9 Deliver thou me from all my iniquities: thou haſt made me a reproach to the fool.

10 I was dumb, and I opened not my mouth, becauſe thou haſt done it. 11 Remove thy ſcourges from me.

The ſtrength of thy hand hath made me faint in rebukes: 12 thou haſt corrected man for iniquity.

And thou haſt made his ſoul to waſte away like a ſpider: ſurely in vain is any man diſquieted.

13 Hear my prayer, O Lord, and my ſupplication: give ear to my tears.

Be not ſilent; for I am a ſtranger with thee, and a ſojourner as all my fathers were.

14 O forgive me, that I may be refreſhed, before I go hence, and be no more.

PSALM XXXIX.

Expectans expectavi.

Chriſt's coming, and redeeming mankind.

1 Unto the end, a pſalm for David himſelf.

2 WITH expectation I have waited for the Lord, and he was attentive to me.

3 And he heard my prayers, and brought me out of the pit of miſery and the mire of dregs.

And he ſet my feet upon a rock, and directed my ſteps.

4 And he put a new canticle into my mouth, a ſong to our God.

Many ſhall ſee, and ſhall fear: and they ſhall hope in the Lord.

5 Bleſſed is the man whoſe truſt is in the name of the Lord: and who hath not had regard to vanities, and lying follies.

6 Thou haſt multiplied thy wonderful works, O Lord my God: and in thy thoughts there is no one like to thee.

I have declared and I have ſpoken: they are multiplied above number.

7 || Sacrifice and oblation thou didſt not deſire; but thou haſt pierced ears for me. || Heb. 10. 5.

Burnt-offering and ſin-offering thou didſt not require: 8 then ſaid I, Behold I come.

In the head of the book it is written of me 9 that I ſhould do thy will: O my God, I have deſired it, and thy law in the midſt of my heart.

10 I have declared thy juſtice in a great church, lo I will not reſtrain my lips: O Lord, thou knoweſt it.

11 I have not hid thy juſtice within my heart: I have declared thy truth and thy ſalvation.

I have not concealed thy mercy and thy truth from a great council.

12 Withhold not thou, O Lord, thy tender mercies from me: thy mercy and thy truth have always upheld me.

13 For evils without number have ſurrounded me; my iniquities have overtaken me, and I was not able to ſee.

PSALM XXXIX. VER. 13. My iniquities. That is, the ſins of all mankind, which I have taken upon me.

They are multiplied above the hairs of my head: and my heart hath forſaken me.

14 Be pleaſed, O Lord, to deliver me: look down, O Lord, to help me.

‖ Infra 69. 2. ‡ Supra 34. 4.

15 ‡ Let them be confounded and aſhamed together, that ſeek after my ſoul to take it away.

Let them be turned backward and be aſhamed that deſire evils to me.

16 Let them immediately bear their confuſion, that ſay to me: 'Tis well, 'tis well.

17 Let all that ſeek thee rejoice and be glad in thee: and let ſuch as love thy ſalvation ſay always: The Lord be magnified.

18 But I am a beggar and poor; the Lord is careful for me.

Thou art my helper and my protector: O my God, be not ſlack.

PSALM XL.

Beatus qui intelligit.

The happineſs of him that ſhall believe in Chriſt; notwithſtanding the humility and poverty in which he ſhall come: the malice of his enemies, eſpecially of the traitor Judas.

1 Unto the end, a pſalm for David himſelf.

2 BLESSED is he that underſtandeth concerning the needy and the poor: the Lord will deliver him in the evil day.

3 The Lord preſerve him and give him life, and make him bleſſed upon the earth: and deliver him not up to the will of his enemies.

4 The Lord help him on his bed of ſorrow: thou haſt turned all his couch in his ſickneſs.

5 I ſaid: O Lord, be thou merciful to me: heal my ſoul, for I have ſinned againſt thee.

6 My enemies have ſpoken evils againſt me: when ſhall he die and his name periſh?

7 And if he came in to ſee me, he ſpoke vain things; his heart gathered together iniquity to itſelf.

He went out and ſpoke to the ſame purpoſe.

8 All my enemies whiſpered together againſt me: they deviſed evils to me.

9 They determined againſt me an unjuſt word: ſhall he that ſleepeth riſe again no more?

‖ Acts 31. 16.

10 ‖ For even the man of my peace, in whom I truſted, who eat my bread, hath greatly ſupplanted me.

11 But thou, O Lord, have mercy on me, and raiſe me up again: and I will requite them.

12 By this I know, that thou haſt had a good will for me: becauſe my enemy ſhall not rejoice over me.

13 But thou haſt upheld me by reaſon of my innocence: and haſt eſtabliſhed me in thy ſight for ever.

14 Bleſſed be the Lord the God of Iſrael from eternity to eternity. So be it. So be it.

PSALM XLI.

Quemadmodum deſiderat.

The fervent deſire of the juſt after God: hope in afflictions.

1 Unto the end, underſtanding for the ſons of Core.

2 AS the hart panteth after the fountains of waters; ſo my ſoul panteth after thee, O God.

3 My ſoul hath thirſted after the ſtrong living God; when ſhall I come and appear before the face of God?

4 My tears have been my bread day and night, whilſt it is ſaid to me daily: Where is thy God?

5 Theſe things I remembered, and poured out my ſoul in me: for I ſhall go over into the place of the wonderful tabernacle, even to the houſe of God?

With the voice of joy and praiſe; the noiſe of one feaſting.

6 Why art thou ſad, O my ſoul? and why doſt thou trouble me?

Hope in God, for I will ſtill give praiſe to him: the ſalvation of my countenance,

7 and my God.

My ſoul is troubled within myſelf: therefore will I remember thee from the land of Jordan and Hermoniim, from the little hill.

8 Deep calleth on deep, at the noiſe of thy flood-gates.

All thy heights and thy billows have paſſed over me.

9 In the day time the Lord hath commanded his mercy; and a canticle to him in the night.

With me is prayer to the God of my life,

10 I will ſay to God: Thou art my ſupport.

Why haſt thou forgotten me? and why go I mourning, whilſt my enemy afflicteth me?

V. 16. 'Tis well. The Hebrew here is an interjection of inſult and deriſion, like the Vah. Matt. xxvii. 40.

11 Whilſt my bones are broken, my enemies who trouble me have reproached me.
Whilſt they ſay to me day by day: Where is thy God?
12 Why art thou caſt down, O my ſoul? and why doſt thou diſquiet me?
Hope thou in God, for I will ſtill give praiſe to him: the ſalvation of my countenance, and my God.

PSALM XLII.

Judica me Deus.

The prophet aſpireth after the temple and altar of God.

1 A pſalm for David.

JUDGE me, O God, and diſtinguiſh my cauſe from the nation that is not holy, deliver me from the unjuſt and deceitful man.
2 For thou art God my ſtrength: why haſt thou caſt me off? and why do I go ſorrowful whilſt the enemy afflicteth me?
3 Send forth thy light and thy truth: they have conducted me, and brought me unto thy holy hill, and into thy tabernacles.
4 And I will go in to the altar of God: to God who giveth joy to my youth.
5 To thee, O God my God, I will give praiſe upon the harp: why art thou ſad, O my ſoul? and why doſt thou diſquiet me?
6 Hope in God, for I will ſtill give praiſe to him: the ſalvation of my countenance, and my God.

PSALM XLIII.

Deus auribus noſtris.

The church commemorates former favours, and preſent afflictions; under which ſhe prays for ſuccour.

1 Unto the end, for the ſons of Core to give underſtanding.

2 WE have heard, O God, with our ears: our fathers have declared to us,
The work thou haſt wrought in their days, and in the days of old.
3 Thy hand deſtroyed the gentiles, and thou planteſt them: thou didſt afflict the people and caſt them out.
4 For they got not the poſſeſſion of the land by their own ſword: neither did their own arm ſave them.
But thy right hand and thy arm, and the light of thy countenance: becauſe thou waſt pleaſed with them.
5 Thou art thy ſelf my king and my God: who commandeſt the ſaving of Jacob.
6 Through thee we will puſh down our enemies with the horn: and through thy name we will deſpiſe them that riſe up againſt us.
7 For I will not truſt in my bow: neither ſhall my ſword ſave me.
8 But thou haſt ſaved us from them that afflict us: and haſt put them to ſhame that hate us.
9 In God ſhall we glory all the day long: and in thy name we will give praiſe for ever.
10 But now thou haſt caſt us off, and put us to ſhame: and thou, O God, wilt not go out with our armies.
11 Thou haſt made us turn our back to our enemies: and they that hated us plundered for themſelves.
12 Thou haſt given us up like ſheep to be eaten: thou haſt ſcattered us among the nations.
13 Thou haſt ſold thy people for no price: and there was no reckoning in the exchange of them.
14 Thou haſt made us a reproach to our neighbours, a ſcoff and deriſion to them that are round about us.
15 Thou haſt made us a bye-word among the Gentiles: a ſhaking of the head among the peoples.
16 All the day long my ſhame is before me: and the confuſion of my face hath covered me.
17 At the voice of him that reproacheth and detracteth me: at the face of the enemy and perſecutor.
18 All theſe things have come upon us, yet we have not forgotten thee: and we have not done wickedly in thy covenant.
19 And our heart hath not turned back: neither haſt thou turned aſide our ſteps from thy way.
20 For thou haſt humbled us in the place of affliction: and the ſhadow of death hath covered us.
21 If we have forgotten the name of our God, and if we have ſpread forth our hands to a ſtrange god:
22 Shall not God ſearch out theſe things: for he knoweth the ſecrets of the heart.
‖ Becauſe for thy ſake we are killed all the day long: we are counted as ſheep for the ſlaughter. ‖ Rom. 8. 36.
23 Ariſe, why ſleepeſt thou, O Lord? ariſe, and caſt us not off to the end.
24 Why turneſt thou thy face away? and forgetteſt our want and our trouble?
25 For our ſoul is humbled down to the duſt: our belly cleaveth to the earth.
26 Ariſe, O Lord, help us and redeem us for thy name's ſake.

PSALM XLIV.

Eructavit cor meum.

The excellence of Christ's kingdom, and the endowments of his church.

1 Unto the end, for them that shall be changed, for the sons of Core, for understanding: A canticle for the beloved.

2 MY heart hath uttered a good word: I speak my works to the king:
My tongue is the pen of a scrivener that writeth swiftly.

3 Thou art beautiful above the sons of men: grace is poured abroad in thy lips; therefore hath God blessed thee for ever.

4 Gird thy sword upon thy thigh, O thou most mighty.

5 With thy comeliness and thy beauty set out, proceed prosperously, and reign.
Because of truth and meekness and justice: and thy right hand shall conduct thee wonderfully.

6 Thy arrows are sharp: under thee shall people fall, into the hearts of the king's enemies.

‖ Heb. 1. 8. 7 ‖ Thy throne, O God, is for ever and ever: the sceptre of thy kingdom is a sceptre of uprightness.

8 Thou hast loved justice, and hatedst iniquity: therefore God, thy God hath anointed thee with the oil of gladness above thy fellows.

9 Myrrh and stacte and casia perfume thy garments, from the ivory houses: out of which 10 the daughters of kings have delighted thee in thy glory.
The queen stood on thy right hand, in gilded clothing; surrounded with variety.

11 Hearken, O daughter, and see, and incline thy ear: and forget thy people and thy father's house.

12 And the king shall greatly desire thy beauty: for he is the Lord thy God, and him they shall adore.

13 And the daughters of Tyre with gifts, yea all the rich among the people, shall entreat thy countenance.

14 All the glory of the king's daughter is within in golden borders, 15 clothed round about with varieties.
After her shall virgins be brought to the king: her neighbours shall be brought to thee.

16 They shall be brought with gladness and rejoicing: they shall be brought into the temple of the king.

17 Instead of thy fathers, sons are born to thee: thou shalt make them princes over all the earth.

18 They shall remember thy name throughout all generations.
Therefore shall people praise thee for ever, yea for ever and ever.

PSALM XLV.

Deus noster refugium.

The church in persecution trusteth in the protection of God.

1 Unto the end, for the sons of Core for the hidden.

2 OUR God is our refuge and strength: a helper in troubles, which have found us exceedingly.

3 Therefore we will not fear, when the earth shall be troubled; and the mountains shall be removed into the heart of the sea.

4 Their waters roared and were troubled: the mountains were troubled with his strength.

5 The stream of the river maketh the city of God joyful: the most High hath sanctified his own tabernacle.

6 God is in the midst thereof, it shall not be moved: God will help it in the morning early.

7 Nations were troubled, and kingdoms were bowed down: he uttered his voice, the earth trembled.

8 The Lord of armies is with us: the God of Jacob is our protector.

9 Come and behold ye the works of the Lord: what wonders he hath done upon earth, 10 making wars to cease even to the end of the earth.
He shall destroy the bow, and break the weapons: and the shield he shall burn in the fire.

11 Be still and see that I am God; I will be exalted among the nations, and I will be exalted in the earth.

12 The Lord of armies is with us: the God of Jacob is our protector.

PSALM XLVI.

Omnes gentes plaudite.

The gentiles are invited to praise God for the establishment of the kingdom of Christ.

1 Unto the end, for the sons of Core.

2 O Clap your hands, all ye nations: shout unto God with the voice of joy.

PSALM XLIV. VER. 1. For them that shall be changed. i. e. For souls happily changed by being converted to God.
Ibid. The beloved. viz. Our Lord Jesus Christ.

3 For the Lord is high, terrible: a great king over all the earth.

4 He hath ſubdued the people under us; and the nations under our feet.

5 He hath choſen for us his inheritance, the beauty of Jacob which he hath loved.

‖ 2 Kings. 6. 15. 6 ‖ God is aſcended with jubilee, and the Lord with the ſound of trumpet.

7 Sing praiſes to our God, ſing ye: ſing praiſes to our king, ſing ye.

8 For God is the king of all the earth: ſing ye wiſely.

9 God ſhall reign over the nations: God ſitteth on his holy throne.

10 The princes of the people are gathered together, with the God of Abraham: for the ſtrong gods of the earth are exceedingly exalted.

PSALM XLVII.

Magnus Dominus.

God is greatly to be praiſed for the eſtabliſhment of his church.

1 A pſalm of a canticle, for the ſons of Core, on the ſecond day of the week.

2 GREAT is the Lord, and exceedingly to be praiſed in the city of our God, in his holy mountain.

3 With the joy of the whole earth is mount Sion founded, on the ſides of the north, the city of the great king.

4 In her houſes ſhall God be known, when he ſhall protect her.

5 For behold the kings of the earth aſſembled themſelves: they gathered together.

6 So they ſaw, and they wondered, they were troubled, they were moved: 7 trembling took hold of them.

There were pains as of a woman in labour.

8 With a vehement wind thou ſhalt break in pieces the ſhips of Tharſis.

9 As we have heard, ſo have we ſeen, in the city of the Lord of hoſts, in the city of our God: God hath founded it for ever.

10 We have received thy mercy, O God, in the midſt of thy temple.

11 According to thy name, O God, ſo alſo is thy praiſe unto the ends of the earth: thy right hand is full of juſtice.

12 Let mount Sion rejoice, and the daughters of Juda be glad; becauſe of thy judgments, O Lord.

13 Surround Sion, and encompaſs her: tell ye in her towers.

14 Set your hearts on her ſtrength; and diſtribute her houſes, that ye may relate it in another generation.

15 For this is God, our God unto eternity, and for ever and ever: he ſhall rule us for evermore.

PSALM XLVIII.

Audite hæc omnes gentes.

The folly of worldlings, who live on in ſin, without thinking of death or hell.

1 Unto the end, a pſalm for the ſons of Core.

2 HEAR theſe things, all ye nations: give ear, all ye inhabitants of the world.

3 All you that are earth-born, and you ſons of men: both rich and poor together.

4 My mouth ſhall ſpeak wiſdom: and the meditation of my heart underſtanding.

‖ Pſ. 77. 2. Matt. 13. 35. 5 ‖ I will incline my ear to a parable; I will open my propoſition on the pſaltery.

6 Why ſhall I fear in the evil day? the iniquity of my heel ſhall encompaſs me.

7 They that truſt in their own ſtrength, and glory in the multitude of their riches.

8 No brother can redeem, nor ſhall man redeem: he ſhall not give to God his ranſom.

9 Nor the price of the redemption of his ſoul: and ſhall labour for ever, 10 and ſhall ſtill live unto the end.

11 He ſhall not ſee deſtruction, when he ſhall ſee the wiſe dying: the ſenſeleſs and the fool ſhall periſh together:

And they ſhall leave their riches to ſtran-

PSALM XLVIII. VER. 6. The iniquity of my heel. That is the iniquity of my ſteps or ways: or the iniquity of my pride, with which as with the heel, I have ſpurned and kicked at my neighbours: or the iniquity of my heel, that is, the iniquity in which I ſhall be found in death. The meaning of this verſe is, why ſhould I now indulge thoſe paſſions and ſinful affections, or commit now thoſe ſins, which will cauſe me ſo much fear and anguiſh in the evil day; when the ſorrows of death ſhall compaſs me, and the perils of hell ſhall find me?

VER. 7. They that truſt, &c. As much as to ſay, let them fear, that truſt in their ſtrength or riches: for they have great reaſon to fear: ſeeing no brother or other man, how much a friend ſoever, can by any price or labour reſcue them from death.

VER. 9. And ſhall labour for ever, &c. This ſeems to be a continuation of the foregoing ſentence; as much as to ſay, no man can by any price or ranſom prolong his life, that ſo he may ſtill continue to labour here, and live to the end of the world. Others underſtand it of the eternal ſorrows, and dying life of hell, which is the dreadful conſequence of dying in ſin.

VER. 11. He ſhall not ſee deſtruction, &c. or ſhall he not ſee deſtruction? As much as to ſay, however thoughtleſs he may be of his death, he muſt not expect to eſcape: when even the wiſe and the good are not exempt from dying.

gers: 12 and their ſepulchres ſhall be their houſes for ever.

Their dwelling places to all generations: they have called their lands by their names.

13 And man when he was in honour did not underſtand; he is compared to ſenſeleſs beaſts, and is become like to them.

14 This way of theirs is a ſtumbling-block to them: and afterwards they ſhall delight in their mouth.

15 They are laid in hell like ſheep: death ſhall feed upon them.

And the juſt ſhall have dominion over them in the morning: and their help ſhall decay in hell from their glory.

16 But God will redeem my ſoul from the hand of hell, when he ſhall receive me.

17 Be not thou afraid, when a man ſhall be made rich, and when the glory of his houſe ſhall be increaſed.

18 For when he ſhall die he ſhall take nothing away; nor ſhall his glory deſcend with him.

19 For in his life-time his ſoul will be bleſſed: and he will praiſe thee when thou ſhalt do well to him.

20 He ſhall go in to the generations of his fathers: and he ſhall never ſee light.

21 Man when he was in honour did not underſtand: he hath been compared to ſenſeleſs beaſts, and made like to them.

PSALM XLIX.

Deus deorum.

The coming of Chriſt: who prefers virtue and inward purity before the blood of victims.

1 A pſalm for Aſaph.

THE God of gods, the Lord hath ſpoken: and he hath called the earth,

From the riſing of the ſun, to the going down thereof: 2 out of Sion the lovelineſs of his beauty.

3 God ſhall come manifeſtly: our God ſhall come, and ſhall not keep ſilence.

A fire ſhall burn before him: and a mighty tempeſt ſhall be round about him.

4 He ſhall call heaven from above, and the earth, to judge his people.

5 Gather ye together his ſaints to him: who ſet his covenant before ſacrifices.

6 And the heavens ſhall declare his juſtice: for God is judge.

7 Hear, O my people, and I will ſpeak: O Iſrael, and I will teſtify to thee: I am God thy God.

8 I will not reprove thee for thy ſacrifices: and thy burnt-offerings are always in my ſight.

9 I will not take calves out of thy houſe: nor he-goats out of thy flocks.

10 For all the beaſts of the woods are mine: the cattle on the hills, and the oxen.

11 I know all the fowls of the air: and with me is the beauty of the field.

12 If I ſhould be hungry, I would not tell thee: for the world is mine, and the fulneſs thereof.

13 Shall I eat the fleſh of bullocks? or ſhall I drink the blood of goats?

14 Offer to God the ſacrifice of praiſe: and pay thy vows to the moſt High.

15 And call upon me in the day of trouble: I will deliver thee, and thou ſhalt glorify me.

16 But to the ſinner God hath ſaid: Why doſt thou declare my juſtices, and take my covenant in thy mouth?

17 Seeing thou haſt hated diſcipline: and haſt caſt my words behind thee.

18 If thou didſt ſee a thief thou didſt run with him: and with adulterers thou haſt been a partaker.

19 Thy mouth hath abounded with evil, and thy tongue framed deceits.

20 Sitting thou didſt ſpeak againſt thy brother, and didſt lay a ſcandal againſt thy mother's ſon: 21 theſe things haſt thou done, and I was ſilent.

Thou thoughteſt unjuſtly that I ſhall be like to thee: but I will reprove thee, and ſet before thy face.

22 Underſtand theſe things you that forget God; leſt he ſnatch you away, and there be none to deliver you.

23 The ſacrifice of praiſe ſhall glorify me: and there is the way by which I will ſhew him the ſalvation of God.

VER. 12. They have called, &c. That is, they have left their names on their graves, which alone remain of their lands.

VER. 14. They ſhall delight in their mouth. Notwithſtanding the wretched way in which they walk, they ſhall applaud themſelves with their mouths, and glory in their doings.

VER. 15. In the morning. That is, in the reſurrection to a new life; when the juſt ſhall judge and condemn the wicked.

Ibid. From their glory. That is, when their ſhort-lived glory in this world ſhall be paſt, and be no more.

PSALM L.

Miserere.

The repentance and confession of David after his sin. The fourth penitential psalm.

1 Unto the end, a psalm of David, 2 when Nathan the prophet came to him, after he had sinned with Bethsabee. [2 Kings xii.]

3 HAVE mercy on me, O God, according to thy great mercy.
And according to the multitude of thy tender mercies, blot out my iniquity.

4 Wash me yet more from my iniquity, and cleanse me from my sin.

5 For I know my iniquity, and my sin is always before me.

6 To thee only have I sinned, and have done evil before thee; ‖ that thou mayst be justified in thy words, and mayst overcome when thou art judged. ‖ Rom. 3. 4.

7 For behold I was conceived in iniquities; and in sins did my mother conceive me.

8 For behold thou hast loved truth: the uncertain and hidden things of thy wisdom thou hast made manifest to me.

9 ¶ Thou shalt sprinkle me with hyssop, and I shall be cleansed: thou shalt wash me, and I shall be made whiter than snow. ¶ Lev. 14. Num. 19.

10 To my hearing thou shalt give joy and gladness; and the bones that have been humbled shall rejoice.

11 Turn away thy face from my sins, and blot out all my iniquities.

12 Create a clean heart in me, O God: and renew a right spirit within my bowels.

13 Cast me not away from thy face; and take not thy holy spirit from me.

14 Restore unto me the joy of thy salvation, and strengthen me with a perfect spirit.

15 I will teach the unjust thy ways: and the wicked shall be converted to thee.

16 Deliver me from blood, O God, thou God of my salvation: and my tongue shall extol thy justice.

17 O Lord, thou wilt open my lips: and my mouth shall declare thy praise.

18 For if thou hadst desired sacrifice, I would indeed have given it: with burnt-offerings thou wilt not be delighted.

19 A sacrifice to God is an afflicted spirit: a contrite and humbled heart, O God, thou wilt not despise.

20 Deal favourably, O Lord, in thy good-will with Sion; that the walls of Jerusalem may be built up.

21 Then shalt thou accept the sacrifice of justice, oblations and whole burnt-offerings: then shall they lay calves upon thy altar.

PSALM LI.

Quid gloriaris.

David condemneth the wickedness of Doeg, and foretelleth his destruction.

1 Unto the end, understanding for David, 2 when Doeg the Edomite came and told Saul: David went to the house of Achimelech. [1 Kings xxii. 9.]

3 WHY dost thou glory in malice, thou that art mighty in iniquity?

4 All the day long thy tongue hath devised injustice: as a sharp razor, thou hast wrought deceit.

5 Thou hast loved malice more than goodness: and iniquity rather than to speak righteousness.

6 Thou hast loved all the words of ruin, O deceitful tongue.

7 Therefore will God destroy thee for ever: he will pluck thee out, and remove thee from thy dwelling place: and thy root out of the land of the living:

8 The just shall see and fear, and shall laugh at him, and say: 9 Behold the man that made not God his helper.

But trusted in the abundance of his riches: and prevailed in his vanity.

10 But I, as a fruitful olive-tree in the house of God, have hoped in the mercy of God for ever, yea for ever and ever.

11 I will praise thee for ever, because thou hast done it: and I will wait on thy name, for it is good in the sight of thy saints.

PSALM LII.

Dixit insipiens.

The general corruption of man before the coming of Christ.

1 Unto the end, for Maeleth understandings to David.

THE fool said in his heart: ‖ There is no God. ‖ Ps. 13. 1.

2 They are corrupted, and become abominable in iniquities: there is none that doth good.

3 God looked down from heaven on the children of men: to see if there were any that did understand, or did seek God.

4 ‖ All have gone aside, they are become ‖ Rom. 3. 12.

PSALM LII. VER. 1. Maeleth, or Machalath. A musical instrument, or a chorus of musicians: for St. Jerome renders it, per chorum.

unprofitable together: there is none that doth good, no not one.

5 Shall not all the workers of iniquity know, who eat up my people as they eat bread?

6 They have not called upon God: there have they trembled for fear, where there was no fear.

For God hath ſcattered the bones of them that pleaſe men: they have been confounded, becauſe God hath deſpiſed them.

7 Who will give out of Sion the ſalvation of Iſrael? when God ſhall bring back the captivity of his people, Jacob ſhall rejoice, and Iſrael ſhall be glad.

PSALM LIII.

Deus in nomine tuo.

A prayer for help in diſtreſs.

1 Unto the end, in verſes, underſtanding for David. 2 When the men of Ziph had come and ſaid to Saul: Is not David hidden with us? [1 Kings xxiii. 19.]

3 SAVE me, O God, by thy name, and judge me in thy ſtrength.

4 O God, hear my prayer: give ear to the words of my mouth.

5 For ſtrangers have riſen up againſt me; and the mighty have ſought after my ſoul; and they have not ſet God before their eyes.

6 For behold God is my helper: and the Lord is the protector of my ſoul.

7 Turn back the evils upon my enemies: and cut them off in thy truth.

8 I will freely ſacrifice to thee, and will give praiſe, O God, to thy name: becauſe it is good:

9 For thou haſt delivered me out of all trouble: and my eye hath looked down upon my enemies.

PSALM LIV.

Exaudi Deus.

A prayer of a juſt man under perſecution from the wicked. It agrees to Chriſt perſecuted by the Jews, and betrayed by Judas.

1 Unto to the end, in verſes, underſtanding for David.

2 HEAR, O God, my prayer, and deſpiſe not my ſupplication: 3 be attentive to me and hear me.

I am grieved in my exerciſe; and am troubled, 4 at the voice of the enemy, and at the tribulation of the ſinner.

For they have caſt iniquities upon me: and in wrath they were troubleſome to me.

5 My heart is troubled within me: and the fear of death is fallen upon me.

6 Fear and trembling are come upon me; and darkneſs hath covered me.

7 And I ſaid: Who will give me wings like a dove, and I will fly and be at reſt?

8 Lo, I have gone far off flying away; and I abode in the wilderneſs.

9 I waited for him that hath ſaved me from puſillanimity of ſpirit, and a ſtorm.

10 Caſt down, O Lord, and divide their tongues; for I have ſeen iniquity and contradiction in the city.

11 Day and night ſhall iniquity ſurround it upon its walls: and in the midſt thereof are labour, 12 and injuſtice.

And uſury and deceit have not departed from its ſtreets.

13 For if my enemy had reviled me, I would verily have born with it.

And if he that hated me had ſpoken great things againſt me: I would perhaps have hidden myſelf from him.

14 But thou a man of one mind, my guide, and my familiar:

15 Who didſt take ſweet meats together with me: in the houſe of God we walked with conſent.

16 Let death come upon them, and let them go down alive into hell.

For there is wickedneſs in their dwellings: in the midſt of them.

17 But I have cried to God: and the Lord will ſave me.

18 Evening and morning, and at noon I will ſpeak and declare: and he ſhall hear my voice.

19 He ſhall redeem my ſoul in peace from them that draw near to me: for among many they were with me.

20 God ſhall hear, and the Eternal ſhall humble them.

For there is no change with them, and they have not feared God: 21 he hath ſtretched forth his hand to repay.

VER. 6. God hath ſcattered the bones, &c. That is, God has brought to nothing the ſtrength of all thoſe, that ſeek to pleaſe men, to the prejudice of their duty to their maker.

PSALM LIV. VER. 16. Let death, &c. This, and ſuch like imprecations which occur in the pſalms, are delivered prophetically; that is, by way of foretelling the puniſhments which ſhall fall upon the wicked from divine juſtice, and appproving the righteous ways of God: but not by way of ill-will, or uncharitable curſes, which the law of God diſallows.

VER. 19. Among many, &c. That is, they that drew near to attack me were many in company, all combining to fight againſt me.

They have defiled his covenant, 22 they are divided by the wrath of his countenance, and his heart hath drawn near.

His words are ſmoother than oil, and the ſame are darts.

‖ Mat. 6. 25. Luke 12. 22. 1 Peter 5. 7.

23 ‖ Caſt thy care upon the Lord, and he ſhall ſuſtain thee: he ſhall not ſuffer the juſt to waver for ever.

24 But thou, O God, ſhalt bring them down into the pit of deſtruction.

Bloody and deceitful men ſhall not live out half their days: but I will truſt in thee, O Lord.

PSALM LV.

Miſerere mei Deus.

A prayer of David in danger and diſtreſs.

1 Unto the end, for a people that is removed at a diſtance from the ſanctuary: for David, for an inſcription of a title (or pillar) when the Philiſtines held him in Geth.

2 HAVE mercy on me, O God, for man hath trodden me under foot: all the day long he hath afflicted me fighting againſt me.

3 My enemies have trodden on me all the day long; for they are many that make war againſt me.

4 From the height of the day I ſhall fear: but I will truſt in thee.

5 In God I will praiſe my words, in God I have put my truſt: I will not fear what fleſh can do againſt me.

6 All the day long they deteſted my words: all their thoughts were againſt me unto evil.

7 They will dwell and hide themſelves: they will watch my heel.

As they have waited for my ſoul, 8 for nothing ſhalt thou ſave them: in thy anger thou ſhalt break the people in pieces.

O God, 9 I have declared to thee my life: thou haſt ſet my tears in thy ſight,

As alſo in thy promiſe. 10 Then ſhall my enemies be turned back.

In what day ſoever I ſhall call upon thee, behold I know thou art my God.

11 In God will I praiſe the word, in the Lord will I praiſe his ſpeech. In God have I hoped, I will not fear what man can do to me.

12 In me, O God, are vows to thee, which I will pay, praiſes to thee.

13 Becauſe thou haſt delivered my ſoul from death, my feet from falling: that I may pleaſe in the ſight of God, in the light of the living.

PSALM LVI.

Miſerere mei Deus.

The prophet prays in his affliction, and praiſes God for his delivery.

1 Unto the end, deſtroy not, for David, for an inſcription of a title, when he fled from Saul into the cave. [1 Kings xxiv.]

2 HAVE mercy on me, O God, have mercy on me: for my ſoul truſteth in thee.

And in the ſhadow of thy wings will I hope, until iniquity paſs away.

3 I will cry to God the moſt High; to God who hath done good to me.

4 He hath ſent from heaven and delivered me: he hath made them a reproach that trod upon me.

God hath ſent his mercy and his truth, 5 and he hath delivered my ſoul from the midſt of the young lions. I ſlept troubled.

The ſons of men, whoſe teeth are weapons and arrows, and their tongue a ſharp ſword.

6 Be thou exalted, O God, above the heavens, and thy glory above all the earth.

7 They prepared a ſnare for my feet; and they bowed down my ſoul.

They dug a pit before my face, and they are fallen into it.

8 My heart is ready, O God, my heart is ready: I will ſing, and rehearſe a pſalm.

9 Ariſe, O my glory, ariſe pſaltery and harp: I will ariſe early.

10 I will give praiſe to thee, O Lord, among the people: I will ſing a pſalm to thee among the nations.

11 For thy mercy is magnified even to the heavens: and thy truth unto the clouds.

12 Be thou exalted, O God, above the heavens: and thy glory above all the earth.

VER. 22. They are divided, &c. Diſperſed, ſcattered, and brought to nothing, by the wrath of God; who looks with indignation on their wicked and deceitful ways.

PSALM LV. VER. 4. The height of the day. That is, even at noon day, when the ſun is the higheſt, I am ſtill in danger.

VER. 5. My words. The words or promiſes God has made in my favour.

VER. 8. For nothing ſhalt thou ſave them. That is, ſince they lie in wait to ruin my ſoul, thou ſhalt for no conſideration favour or aſſiſt them, but execute thy juſtice upon them.

PSALM LVI. VER. 1. Deſtroy not. Suffer me not to be deſtroyed.

CHAP. LVII.

Si vere utique.

David reproveth the wicked, and foretelleth their punishment.

1 Unto the end, destroy not, for David, for an inscription of a title.

2 IF in very deed you speak justice: judge right things, ye sons of men.

3 For in your heart you work iniquity: your hands forge injustice in the earth.

4 The wicked are alienated from the womb, they have gone astray from the womb: they have spoken false things.

5 Their madness is according to the likeness of a serpent: like the deaf asp that stoppeth her ears:

6 Which will not hear the voice of the charmers; nor of the wizard that charmeth wisely.

7 God shall break in pieces their teeth in their mouth: the Lord shall break the grinders of the lions.

8 They shall come to nothing, like water running down: he hath bent his bow till they be weakened.

9 Like wax that melteth they shall be taken away: fire hath fallen on them, and they shall not see the sun.

10 Before your thorns could know the briar; he swalloweth them up, as alive, in his wrath.

11 The just shall rejoice when he shall see the revenge: he shall wash his hands in the blood of the sinner.

12 And man shall say: If indeed there be fruit to the just; there is indeed a God that judgeth them on the earth.

PSALM LVIII.

Eripe me.

A prayer to be delivered from the wicked, with confidence in God's help and protection. It agrees to Christ and his enemies the Jews.

1 Unto the end, destroy not, for David for an inscription of a title, when Saul sent and watched his house to kill him. [1 Kings xix.]

2 DELIVER me from my enemies, O my God; and defend me from them that rise up against me.

3 Deliver me from them that work iniquity, and save me from bloody men.

4 For behold they have caught my soul: the mighty have rushed in upon me:

5 Neither is it my iniquity, nor my sin, O Lord; without iniquity have I run, and directed my steps.

6 Rise up thou to meet me, and behold: even thou, O Lord the God of hosts, the God of Israel.

Attend to visit all the nations: have no mercy on all them that work iniquity.

7 They shall return at evening, and shall suffer hunger like dogs: and shall go round about the city.

8 Behold they shall speak with their mouth, and a sword is in their lips: for who, say they, hath heard us?

9 But thou, O Lord, shalt laugh at them: thou shalt bring all the nations to nothing.

10 I will keep my strength to thee: for thou art my protector: 11 my God, his mercy shall prevent me.

12 God shall let me see over my enemies: slay them not, lest at any time my people forget.

Scatter them by thy power; and bring them down, O Lord my protector:

13 For the sin of their mouth, and the word of their lips: and let them be taken in their pride.

And for their cursing and lying they shall be talked of, 14 when they are consumed: when they are consumed by thy wrath, and they shall be no more.

And they shall know that God will rule Jacob, and all the ends of the earth.

15 They shall return at evening and shall suffer hunger like dogs: and shall go round about the city.

16 They shall be scattered abroad to eat, and shall murmur if they be not filled.

17 But I will sing thy strength; and will extol thy mercy in the morning.

For thou art become my support, and my refuge, in the day of my trouble.

18 Unto thee, O my helper, will I sing, for thou art God my defence: my God my mercy.

PSALM LVII. VER. 10. Before your thorns, &c. That is, before your thorns grow up, so as to become strong briars, they shall be overtaken and consumed by divine justice, swallowing them up, as it were alive in his wrath.

VER. 11. Shall wash his hands, &c. Shall applaud the justice of God, and take occasion from the consideration of the punishment of the wicked to wash and cleanse his hands from sin.

PSALM LIX.

Deus repulisti nos.

After many afflictions, the church of Christ shall prevail.

1 Unto the end, for them that shall be changed, for the inscription of a title, to David himself, for doctrine, 2 when he set fire to Mesopotamia of Syria and Sobal; and Joab returned and slew of Edom, in the vale of the salt-pits, twelve thousand men.

3 O God, thou hast cast us off, and hast destroyed us; thou hast been angry, and hast had mercy on us.

4 Thou hast moved the earth, and hast troubled it: heal thou the breaches thereof, for it has been moved.

5 Thou hast shewn thy people hard things; thou hast made us drink the wine of sorrow.

6 Thou hast given a warning to them that fear thee: that they may flee from before the bow:

That thy beloved may be delivered. 7 Save me with thy right hand, and hear me.

8 God hath spoken in his holy place: I will rejoice, and I will divide Sichem; and will mete out the vale of tabernacles.

9 Galaad is mine, and Manasses is mine: and Ephraim is the strength of my head.

Juda is my king: 10 Moab is the pot of my hope.

Into Edom will I stretch out my shoe: to me the foreigners are made subject.

11 Who will bring me into the strong city? who will lead me into Edom?

12 Wilt not thou, O God, who hast cast us off? and wilt not thou, O God, go out with our armies?

13 Give us help from trouble: for vain is the salvation of man.

14 Through God we shall do mightily: and he shall bring to nothing them that afflict us.

PSALM LX.

Exaudi Deus.

A prayer for the coming of the kingdom of Christ, which shall have no end.

1 Unto the end, in hymns, for David.

2 HEAR, O God, my supplication: be attentive to my prayer.

3 To thee have I cried from the ends of the earth; when my heart was in anguish, thou hast exalted me on a rock.

Thou hast conducted me; 4 for thou hast been my hope; a tower of strength against the face of the enemy.

5 In thy tabernacle I shall dwell for ever: I shall be protected under the covert of thy wings.

6 For thou, my God, hast heard my prayer: thou hast given an inheritance to them that fear thy name.

7 Thou wilt add days to the days of the king; his years even to generation and generation.

8 He abideth for ever in the sight of God: his mercy and truth who shall search?

9 So will I sing a psalm to thy name for ever and ever: that I may pay my vows from day to day.

PSALM LXI.

Nonne Deo.

The prophet encourageth himself and all others to trust in God, and serve him.

1 Unto the end, for Idithun, a psalm of David.

2 SHALL not my soul be subject to God? for from him is my salvation.

3 For he is my God and my saviour: he is my protector, I shall be moved no more.

4 How long do you rush in upon a man? you all kill, as if you were thrusting down a leaning wall, and a tottering fence.

5 But they have thought to cast away my price, I ran in thirst: they blessed with their mouth, but cursed with their heart.

6 But be thou, O my soul, subject to God: for from him is my patience.

7 For he is my God and my saviour: he is my helper, I shall not be moved.

8 In God is my salvation and my glory: he is the God of my help, and my hope is in God.

9 Trust in him, all ye congregation of people: pour out your hearts before him: God is our helper for ever.

PSALM LIX. VER. 10. The pot of my hope; or my watering pot. That is, a vessel for meaner uses, by being reduced to serve me, even in the meanest employments.

Ibid. Foreigners. So the Philistines are called who had no kindred with the Israelites; whereas the Edomites, Moabites, &c. were originally of the same family.

10 But vain are the ſons of men, the ſons of men are liars in the balances: that by vanity they may together deceive.

11 Truſt not in iniquity, and cover not robberies: if riches abound, ſet not your heart upon them.

12 God hath ſpoken once, theſe two things have I heard, that power belongeth to God, 13 and mercy to thee, O Lord; || for thou wilt render to every man according to his works.

|| Matt. 16. 27. Rom. 2. 6. 1 Cor. 3. 8. Gal. 6. 5.

PSALM LXII.

Deus Deus meus ad te.

The prophet aſpireth after God.

1 A pſalm of David when he was in the deſert of Edom.

2 O God my God, to thee do I watch at break of day.

For thee my ſoul hath thirſted; for thee my fleſh, O how many ways!

3 In a deſert land, and where there is no way, and no water: ſo in the ſanctuary have I come before thee, to ſee thy power and thy glory.

4 For thy mercy is better than lives: thee my lips ſhall praiſe.

5 Thus will I bleſs thee all my life long: and in thy name I will lift up my hands.

6 Let my ſoul be filled as with marrow and fatneſs: and my mouth ſhall praiſe thee with joyful lips.

7 If I have remembered thee upon my bed, I will meditate on thee in the morning: 8 becauſe thou haſt been my helper.

And I will rejoice under the covert of thy wings: 9 my ſoul hath ſtuck cloſe to thee: thy right hand hath received me.

10 But they have ſought my ſoul in vain, they ſhall go into the lower parts of the earth:

11 They ſhall be delivered into the hands of the ſword, they ſhall be the portions of foxes.

12 But the king ſhall rejoice in God, all they ſhall be praiſed that ſwear by him: becauſe the mouth is ſtopped of them that ſpeak wicked things.

PSALM LXIII.

Exaudi Deus orationem.

A prayer in affliction, with confidence in God that he will bring to naught the machinations of perſecutors.

1 Unto the end, a pſalm for David.

2 HEAR, O God, my prayer, when I make ſupplication to thee: deliver my ſoul from the fear of the enemy.

3 Thou haſt protected me from the aſſembly of the malignant; from the multitude of the workers of iniquity.

4 For they have whetted their tongues like a ſword; they have bent their bow a bitter thing, 5 to ſhoot in ſecret the undefiled.

6 They will ſhoot at him on a ſudden, and will not fear: they are reſolute in wickedneſs.

They have talked of hiding ſnares; they have ſaid: Who ſhall ſee them?

7 They have ſearched after iniquities: they have failed in their ſearch.

Man ſhall come to a deep heart: 8 and God ſhall be exalted.

The arrows of children are their wounds: 9 and their tongues againſt them are made weak.

All that ſaw them were troubled; 10 and every man was afraid.

And they declared the works of God: and underſtood his doings.

11 The juſt ſhall rejoice in the Lord, and ſhall hope in him: and all the upright in heart ſhall be praiſed.

PSALM LXIV.

Te decet.

God is to be praiſed in his church, to which all nations ſhall be called.

1 To the end, a pſalm of David. The canticle of Jeremias and Ezechiel to the people of the captivity, when they began to go out.

2 A Hymn, O God, becometh thee in Sion: and a vow ſhall be paid to thee in Jeruſalem.

PSALM LXI. VER. 10. Are liars in the balances, &c. They are ſo vain and light, that if they are put into the ſcales, they will be found to be of no weight; and to be mere lies, deceit, and vanity. Or, They are liars in their balances, by weighing things by falſe weights, and preferring the temporal before the eternal.

PSALM LXIII. VER. 7. A deep heart. That is, crafty, ſubtle, deep projects and deſigns; which nevertheleſs ſhall not ſucceed; for God ſhall be exalted in bringing them to naught by his wiſdom and power.

VER. 8. The arrows of children are their wounds. That is, the wounds, ſtripes, or blows, they ſeek to inflict upon the juſt, are but like the weak efforts of children's arrows, which can do no execution: and their tongues, that is, their ſpeeches againſt them, come to nothing.

PSALM LXIV. VER. 1. Of the captivity. That is, The people of the captivity of Babylon. This is not in the Hebrew, but is found in the ancient tranſlation of the Septuagint.

3 O hear my prayer: all fleſh ſhall come to thee.

4 The words of the wicked have prevailed over us: and thou wilt pardon our tranſgreſſions.

5 Bleſſed is he whom thou haſt choſen, and taken to thee: he ſhall dwell in thy courts.

We ſhall be filled with the good things of thy houſe; holy is thy temple, 6 wonderful in juſtice.

Hear us, O God our ſaviour, who art the hope of all the ends of the earth, and in the ſea afar off.

7 Thou who prepareſt the mountains by thy ſtrength, being girded with power: 8 who troubleſt the depth of the ſea, the noiſe of its waves.

The gentiles ſhall be troubled, 9 and they that dwell in the uttermoſt borders ſhall be afraid at thy ſigns: thou ſhalt make the outgoings of the morning and of the evening to be joyful.

10 Thou haſt viſited the earth, and haſt plentifully watered it; thou haſt many ways enriched it.

The river of God is filled with water, thou haſt prepared their food: for ſo is its preparation.

11 Fill up plentifully the ſtreams thereof, multiply its fruits; it ſhall ſpring up and rejoice in its ſhowers.

12 Thou ſhalt bleſs the crown of the year of thy goodneſs: and thy fields ſhall be filled with plenty.

13 The beautiful places of the wilderneſs ſhall grow fat: and the hills ſhall be girded about with joy.

14 The rams of the flock are clothed, and the vales ſhall abound with corn: they ſhall ſhout, yea they ſhall ſing a hymn.

PSALM LXV.

Jubilate Deo.

An invitation to praiſe God.

1 Unto the end, a canticle of a pſalm of the reſurrection.

SHOUT with joy to God, all the earth, 2 ſing ye a pſalm to his name; give glory to his praiſe.

3 Say unto God, How terrible are thy works, O Lord! in the multitude of thy ſtrength thy enemies ſhall lye to thee.

4 Let all the earth adore thee, and ſing to thee: let it ſing a pſalm to thy name.

5 Come and ſee the works of God: who is terrible in his counſels over the ſons of men.

6 Who turneth the ſea into dry land, in the river they ſhall paſs on foot: there ſhall we rejoice in him.

7 Who by his power ruleth for ever: his eyes behold the nations; let not them that provoke him be exalted in themſelves.

8 O bleſs our God, ye gentiles; and make the voice of his praiſe to be heard.

9 Who hath ſet my ſoul to live: and hath not ſuffered my feet to be moved.

10 For thou, O God, haſt proved us: thou haſt tried us by fire, as ſilver is tried.

11 Thou haſt brought us into a net, thou haſt laid afflictions on our back: 12 thou haſt ſet men over our heads.

We have paſſed through fire and water, and thou haſt brought us out into a refreſhment.

13 I will go into thy houſe with burnt-offerings: I will pay thee my vows, 14 which my lips have uttered,

And my mouth hath ſpoken, when I was in trouble.

15 I will offer up to thee holocauſts full of marrow, with burnt-offerings of rams: I will offer to thee bullocks with goats.

16 Come and hear, all ye that fear God: and I will tell you what great things he hath done for my ſoul.

17 I cried to him with my mouth: and I extolled him with my tongue.

18 If I have looked at iniquity in my heart, the Lord will not hear me.

19 Therefore hath God heard me, and hath attended to the voice of my ſupplication.

20 Bleſſed be God, who hath not turned away my prayer, nor his mercy from me.

PSALM LXVI.

Deus miſereatur.

A prayer for the propagation of the church.

1 Unto the end, in hymns, a pſalm of a canticle for David.

2 MAY God have mercy on us, and bleſs us: may he cauſe the light of his countenance to ſhine upon us, and may he have mercy on us.

3 That we may know thy way upon earth: thy ſalvation in all nations.

4 Let people confeſs to thee, O God: let all people give praiſe to thee.

5 Let the nations be glad and rejoice: for thou judgeſt the people with juſtice, and directeſt the nations upon earth.

6 Let the people, O God, confeſs to thee: let all the people give praiſe to thee: 7 the earth hath yielded her fruit.

May God our God bleſs us, 8 may God bleſs us: and all the ends of the earth fear him.

PSALM LXVII.

Exurgat Deus.

The glorious eſtabliſhment of the church of the new Teſtament, prefigured by the benefits beſtowed on the people of Iſrael.

1 Unto the end, a pſalm of a canticle for David himſelf.

2 LET God ariſe, and let his enemies be ſcattered: and let them that hate him flee from before his face.

3 As ſmoke vaniſheth, ſo let them vaniſh away; as wax melteth before the fire, ſo let the wicked periſh at the preſence of God.

4 And let the juſt feaſt, and rejoice before God: and be delighted with gladneſs.

5 Sing ye to God, ſing a pſalm to his name: make a way for him who aſcendeth upon the weſt: the Lord is his name.

Rejoice ye before him: but the wicked ſhall be troubled at his preſence, 6 who is the father of orphans, and the judge of widows.

God in his holy place: 7 God who maketh men of one manner to dwell in a houſe:

Who bringeth out them that were bound in ſtrength; in like manner them that provoke, that dwell in ſepulchres.

8 O God, when thou didſt go forth in the ſight of thy people, when thou didſt paſs through the deſert:

9 The earth was moved, and the heavens dropped at the preſence of the God of Sina, at the preſence of the God of Iſrael.

10 Thou ſhalt ſet aſide for thy inheritance a free rain, O God: and it was weakened, but thou haſt made it perfect.

11 In it ſhall thy animals dwell; in thy ſweetneſs, O God, thou haſt provided for the poor.

12 The Lord ſhall give the word to them that preach good tidings with great power.

13 The king of powers is of the beloved, of the beloved; and the beauty of the houſe ſhall divide ſpoils.

14 If you ſleep among the midſt of lots; you ſhall be as the wings of a dove covered with ſilver, and the hinder parts of her back with the paleneſs of gold.

15 When he that is in heaven appointeth kings over her, they ſhall be whited with ſnow in Selmon. 16 The mountain of God is a fat mountain.

A curdled mountain, a fat mountain. 17 Why ſuſpect ye curdled mountains?

PSALM LXVII. VER. 5. Who aſcendeth upon the weſt. Super occaſum. St. Gregory underſtands it of Chriſt, who after his going down, like the ſun, in the weſt, by his paſſion and death, aſcended more glorious, and carried all before him. St. Jerome renders it, who aſcendeth, or cometh up, through the deſerts.

VER. 7. Of one manner. That is, agreeing in faith, unanimous in love, and following the ſame manner of diſcipline. It is verified in the ſervants of God living together in his houſe, which is the church. 1 Tim. iii. 15.

Ibid. Them that were bound, &c. The power and mercy of God appears, in his bringing out of their captivity thoſe that were ſtrongly bound in their ſins: and in reſtoring to his grace thoſe whoſe behaviour had been moſt provoking; and who by their evil habits were not only dead, but buried in their ſepulchres.

VER. 10. A free rain. The manna, which rained plentifully from heaven, in favour of God's inheritance, that is, of his people Iſrael: which was weakened indeed under a variety of afflictions, but was made perfect by God; that is was ſtill ſupported by divine providence, and brought on to the promiſed land. It agrees particularly to the church of Chriſt, his true inheritance, which is plentifully watered with the free rain of heavenly grace; and through many infirmities, that is, croſſes and tribulations, is made perfect, and fitted for eternal glory.

VER. 11. In it, &c. That is, in this church, which is thy fold and thy inheritance, ſhall thy animals, thy ſheep, dwell: where thou haſt plentifully provided for them.

VER. 12. To them that preach good tidings. Evangelizantibus. That is, to the preachers of the goſpel; who receiving the word from the Lord, ſhall with great power and efficacy preach throughout the world the glad tidings of a Saviour, and of eternal ſalvation through him.

VER. 13. The king of powers. That is, the mighty King, the Lord of hoſts, is of the beloved, of the beloved; that is, is on the ſide of Chriſt his moſt beloved ſon: and his beautiful houſe, viz. the church, in which God dwells for ever, ſhall by her ſpiritual conqueſts divide the ſpoils of many nations. The Hebrew (as it now ſtands pointed) is thus rendered, The kings of armies have fled, they have fled, and ſhe that dwells at home (or the beauty of the houſe) ſhall divide the ſpoils.

VER. 14. If you ſleep among the midſt of lots, (inter medios cleros, &c.) viz. In ſuch dangers and perſecutions, as if your enemies were caſting lots for your goods and perſons: or in the midſt of the lots (inter medios terminos, as St. Jerome renders it) that is, upon the very bounds or borders of the dominions of your enemies: you ſhall be ſecure nevertheleſs under the divine protection; and ſhall be enabled to fly away, like a dove, with glittering wings, and feathers ſhining like the paleſt and moſt precious gold; that is, with great increaſe of virtue, and glowing with the fervour of charity.

VER. 15. Kings over her. That is, paſtors and rulers over his church, viz. the apoſtles and their ſucceſſors. Then by their miniſtry ſhall men be made whiter than the ſnow which lies on the top of the high mountain Selmon.

VER. 16. The mountain of God. The church, which, Iſaiah ii. 2. is called The mountain of the houſe of the Lord upon the top of mountains. It is here called a fat and a curdled mountain; that is to ſay, moſt fruitful, and enriched by the ſpiritual gifts and graces of the Holy Ghoſt.

VER. 17. Why ſuſpect ye curdled moumtains? Why do you ſuppoſe or imagine there may be any other ſuch curdled mountains? You are miſtaken: the mountain thus favoured by God is but one; and this ſame he has choſen for his dwelling for ever.

A mountain in which God is well pleased to dwell: for there the Lord shall dwell unto the end.

18 The chariot of God is attended by ten thousands; thousands of them that rejoice: the Lord is among them in Sina, in the holy place.

19 Thou hast ascended on high, thou hast led captivity captive; thou hast received gifts in men.

Yea for those also that do not believe, the dwelling of the Lord God.

20 Blessed be the Lord day by day: the God of our salvation will make our journey prosperous to us.

21 Our God is the God of salvation: and of the Lord, of the Lord are the issues from death.

22 But God shall break the heads of his enemies: the hairy crown of them that walk on in their sins.

23 The Lord said: I will turn them from Basan, I will turn them into the depth of the sea:

24 That thy foot may be dipped in the blood of thy enemies; the tongue of thy dogs be red with the same.

25 They have seen thy goings, O God, the goings of my God: of my king who is in his sanctuary.

26 Princes went before joined with singers, in the midst of young damsels playing on timbrels.

27 In the churches bless ye God the Lord, from the fountains of Israel.

28 There is Benjamin a youth, in extasy of mind.

The princes of Juda are their leaders: the princes of Zabulon, the princes of Nephthali.

29 Command thy strength, O God: confirm, O God, what thou hast wrought in us.

30 From thy temple in Jerusalem, kings shall offer presents to thee.

31 Rebuke the wild beasts of the reeds, the congregation of bulls with the kine of the people; who seek to exclude them who are tried with silver.

Scatter thou the nations that delight in wars: 32 embassadors shall come out of Egypt: Ethiopia shall soon stretch out her hands to God.

33 Sing to God, ye kingdoms of the earth: sing ye to the Lord:

Sing ye to God, 34 who mounteth above the heaven of heavens, to the east.

Behold he will give to his voice the voice of power, 35 give ye glory to God for Israel, his magnificence, and his power is in the clouds.

36 God is wonderful in his saints: the God of Israel is he who will give power and strength to his people. Blessed be God.

VER. 18. The chariot of God, descending to give his law on mount Sina; as also of Jesus Christ his Son, ascending into heaven, to send from thence the Holy Ghost, to publish his new law, is attended with ten thousands, that is, with an innumerable multitude of joyful angels.

VER. 19. Led captivity captive. Carrying away with thee to heaven those who before had been the captives of satan; and receiving from God the Father gifts to be distributed to men; even to those who were before unbelievers.

VER. 21. The issues from death. The Lord alone is master of the issues, by which we may escape from death.

VER. 23. I will turn them from Basan, &c. I will cast out my enemies from their rich possessions, signified by Basan, a fruitful country: and I will drive them into the depth of the sea: and make such a slaughter of them, that the feet of my servants may be died in their blood, &c.

VER. 25. Thy goings. Thy ways, thy proceedings, by which thou didst formerly take possession of the promised land in favour of thy people; and shalt afterwards of the whole world, which thou shalt subdue to thy Son.

VER. 26. Princes. The apostles, the first converters of nations; attended by numbers of perfect souls, singing the divine praises, and virgins consecrated to God.

VER. 27. From the fountains of Israel. From whom both Christ and his apostles sprung. By Benjamin, the holy fathers on this place understand St. Paul, who was of that tribe, named here a youth, because he was the last called to the apostleship. By the princes of Juda, Zabulon, and Nephthali, we may understand the other apostles, who were of the tribe of Juda; or of the tribes of Zabulon and Nephthali, where our Lord began to preach, Matt. iv. 13. &c.

VER. 29. Command thy strength. Give orders that thy strength may be always with us.

VER. 31. Rebuke the wild beasts of the reeds: or the wild beasts. which lie hid in the reeds. That is, the devils, who hide themselves in order to surprise their prey. Or by wild beasts, are here understood persecutors, who, for all their attempts against the Church, are but as weak reeds, which cannot prevail against them who are supported by the strength of the Almighty. The same are also called the congregation of bulls (from their rage against the Church) who assemble together all their kine, that is, the people, their subjects, to exclude, if they can, from Christ and his inheritance, his constant confessors, who are like silver tried by fire.

VER. 32. Embassadors shall come, &c. It is a prophecy of the conversion of the gentiles, and by name of the Egyptians and Ethiopians.

VER. 34. To the east. From mount Olivet, which is on the east side of Jerusalem.

Ibid. The voice of power. That is, he will make his voice to be a powerful voice: by calling from death to life, such as were dead in mortal sin: as at the last day he will by the power of his voice call all the dead from their graves.

PSALM LXVIII.

Salvum me fac Deus.

Christ in his passion declareth the greatness of his sufferings, and the malice of his persecutors the Jews; and foretelleth their reprobation.

1 Unto the end, for them that shall be changed; for David.

2 SAVE me, O God: for the waters are come in even unto my soul.

3 I stick fast in the mire of the deep: and there is no sure standing.

I am come into the depth of the sea: and a tempest hath overwhelmed me.

4 I have laboured with crying; my jaws are become hoarse: my eyes have failed, whilst I hope in my God.

5 They are multiplied above the hairs of my head, who hate me without cause.

My enemies are grown strong who have wrongfully persecuted me: then did I pay that which I took not away.

6 O God, thou knowest my foolishness; and my offences are not hidden from thee:

7 Let not them be ashamed for me, who look for thee, O Lord the Lord of hosts.

Let them not be confounded on my account, who seek thee, O God of Israel.

8 Because for thy sake I have borne reproach; shame hath covered my face.

9 I am become a stranger to my brethren, and an alien to the sons of my mother.

‖ John 2. 17. ‡ Rom. 15. 3.

10 ‖ For the zeal of thy house hath eaten me up: ‡ and the reproaches of them that reproached thee are fallen upon me.

11 And I covered my soul in fasting: and it was made a reproach to me.

12 And I made haircloth my garment: and I became a bye-word to them.

13 They that sat in the gate spoke against me: and they that drank wine made me their song.

14 But as for me, my prayer is to thee, O Lord; for the time of thy good pleasure, O God.

In the multitude of thy mercy hear me, in the truth of thy salvation.

15 Draw me out of the mire, that I may not stick fast: deliver me from them that hate me, and out of the deep waters.

16 Let not the tempest of water drown me, nor the deep swallow me up: and let not the pit shut her mouth upon me.

17 Hear me, O Lord, for thy mercy is kind; look upon me according to the multitude of thy tender mercies.

18 And turn not away thy face from thy servant: for I am in trouble, hear me speedily.

19 Attend to my soul, and deliver it: save me because of my enemies.

20 Thou knowest my reproach, and my confusion, and my shame.

21 In thy sight are all they that afflict me: my heart hath expected reproach and misery.

And I looked for one that would grieve together with me, but there was none: and for one that would comfort me, and I found none.

‖ Matt. 27. 48.

22 ‖ And they gave me gall for my food, and in my thirst they gave me vinegar to drink.

‡ Rom. 11. 9.

23 ‡ Let their table become as a snare before them, and a recompence, and a stumbling-block.

24 Let their eyes be darkened that they see not; and their back bend thou down always.

25 Pour out thy indignation upon them: and let thy wrathful anger take hold of them.

‖ Acts 1. 20.

26 ‖ Let their habitation be made desolate; and let there be none to dwell in their tabernacles.

27 Because they have persecuted him whom thou hast smitten; and they have added to the grief of my wounds.

28 Add thou iniquity upon their iniquity: and let them not come into thy justice.

29 Let them be blotted out of the book of the living; and with the just let them not be written.

30 But I am poor and sorrowful: thy salvation, O God, hath set me up.

31 I will praise the name of God with a canticle: and I will magnify him with praise.

32 And it shall please God better than

PSALM LXVIII. VER. 1. For them that shall be changed. A psalm for christian converts, to remember the passion of Christ.

VER. 2. The waters. Of afflictions and sorrows. My soul is sorrowful even unto death. Matt. xxvi.

VER. 5. I pay that which I took not away. Christ in his passion made restitution of what he had not taken away, by suffering the punishment due to our sins, and so repairing the injury we had done to God.

VER. 6. My foolishness and my offences; which my enemies impute to me: or the follies and sins of men, which I have taken upon myself.

VER. 23. Let their table, &c. What here follows in the stile of an imprecation, is a prophesy of the wretched state to which the Jews should be reduced in punishment of their wilful obstinacy.

33 Let the poor ſee and rejoice: ſeek ye God, and your ſoul ſhall live.

34 For the Lord hath heard the poor: and hath not deſpiſed his priſoners.

35 Let the heavens and the earth praiſe him; the ſea, and every thing that creepeth therein.

36 For God will ſave Sion, and the cities of Juda ſhall be built up.

And they ſhall dwell there, and acquire it by inheritance.

37 And the ſeed of his ſervants ſhall poſſeſs it: and they that love his name ſhall dwell therein.

PSALM LXIX.

Deus in adjutorium.

A prayer in perſecution.

1 Unto the end, a pſalm for David, to bring to remembrance that the Lord ſaved him.

2 O GOD, come to my aſſiſtance; O Lord, make haſte to help me.

3 Let them be confounded and aſhamed that ſeek my ſoul:

4 Let them be turned backward, and bluſh for ſhame that deſire evils to me:

Let them be preſently turned away bluſhing for ſhame that ſay to me: 'Tis well, 'tis well.

5 Let all that ſeek thee rejoice and be glad in thee; and let ſuch as love thy ſalvation ſay always: The Lord be magnified.

6 But I am needy and poor; O God help me.

Thou art my helper and my deliverer: O Lord, make no delay.

PSALM LXX.

In te Domine.

A prayer for perſeverance.

1 A pſalm for David. Of the ſons of Jonadab, and the former captives.

IN thee, O Lord, I have hoped, let me never be put to confuſion: 2 deliver me in thy juſtice, and reſcue me.

Incline thy ear unto me, and ſave me.

3 Be thou unto me a God, a protector, and a place of ſtrength: that thou mayſt make me ſafe.

For thou art my firmament and my refuge.

4 Deliver me, O my God, out of the hand of the ſinner, and out of the hand of the tranſgreſſor of the law and of the unjuſt.

5 For thou art my patience, O Lord: my hope, O Lord, from my youth.

6 By thee have I been confirmed from the womb: from my mother's womb thou art my protector.

Of thee ſhall I continually ſing: 7 I am become unto many as a wonder, but thou art a ſtrong helper.

8 Let my mouth be filled with praiſe, that I may ſing thy glory; thy greatneſs all the day long.

9 Caſt me not off in the time of old age: when my ſtrength ſhall fail, do not thou forſake me.

10 For my enemies have ſpoken againſt me; and they that watched my ſoul have conſulted together,

11 Saying: God hath forſaken him: purſue and take him, for there is none to deliver him.

12 O God, be not thou far from me: O my God, make haſte to my help.

13 Let them be confounded and come to nothing that detract my ſoul; let them be covered with confuſion and ſhame that ſeek my hurt.

14 But I will always hope; and will add to all thy praiſe.

15 My mouth ſhall ſhew forth thy juſtice; thy ſalvation all the day long.

Becauſe I have not known learning, 16 I will enter into the powers of the Lord: O Lord, I will be mindful of thy juſtice alone.

17 Thou haſt taught me, O God, from my youth: and till now I will declare thy wonderful works.

18 And unto old age and grey hairs: O God, forſake me not,

Until I ſhew forth thy arm to all the generation that is to come:

Thy power, 19 and thy juſtice, O God,

VER. 36. Sion. The catholic church. The cities of Juda, &c. her places of worſhip, which ſhall be eſtabliſhed throughout the world. And there, viz. in this church of Chriſt, ſhall his ſervants dwell, &c.

PSALM LXIX. VER. 4. 'Tis well, 'tis well. Euge, euge. St. Jerome renders it, vah, vah! which is the voice of one inſulting and deriding. Some underſtand it as a deteſtation of deceitful flatterers.

PSALM LXX. VER. 1. Of the ſons of Jonadab. The Rechabites, of whom ſee Jeremias xxxv. By this addition of the ſeventy-two interpreters, we gather that this pſalm was uſually ſung in the ſynagogue, in the perſon of the Rechabites, and of thoſe who were firſt carried away into captivity.

VER. 15. Learning. As much as to ſay, I build not upon human learning, but only on the power and juſtice of God.

even to the higheſt great things thou haſt done: O God, who is like to thee?

20 How great troubles haſt thou ſhewn me, many and grievous: and turning thou haſt brought me to life, and haſt brought me back again from the depths of the earth:

21 Thou haſt multiplied thy magnificence; and turning to me thou haſt comforted me.

22 For I will alſo confeſs to thee: thy truth with the inſtruments of pſaltery: O God, I will ſing to thee with the harp, thou holy one of Iſrael.

23 My lips ſhall greatly rejoice, when I ſhall ſing to thee; and my ſoul which thou haſt redeemed.

24 Yea and my tongue ſhall meditate on thy juſtice all the day; when they ſhall be confounded and put to ſhame that ſeek evils to me.

PSALM LXXI.

Deus judicium tuum.

A prophecy of the coming of Chriſt, and of his kingdom: preſigured by Solomon and his happy reign.

1 A pſalm on Solomon.

2 GIVE to the king thy judgment, O God: and to the king's ſon thy juſtice:

To judge thy people with juſtice, and thy poor with judgment.

3 Let the mountains receive peace for the people: and the hills juſtice.

4 He ſhall judge the poor of the people, and he ſhall ſave the children of the poor: and he ſhall humble the oppreſſor.

5 And he ſhall continue with the ſun, and before the moon, throughout all generations.

6 He ſhall come down like rain upon the fleece; and as ſhowers falling gently upon the earth.

7 In his days ſhall juſtice ſpring up, and abundance of peace, till the moon be taken away.

8 And he ſhall rule from ſea to ſea, and from the river unto the ends of the earth.

9 Before him the Ethiopians ſhall fall down: and his enemies ſhall lick the ground.

10 The kings of Tharſis and the iſlands ſhall offer preſents: the kings of the Arabians and of Saba ſhall bring gifts:

11 And all kings of the earth ſhall adore him: all nations ſhall ſerve him.

12 For he ſhall deliver the poor from the mighty: and the needy that had no helper.

13 He ſhall ſpare the poor and needy: and he ſhall ſave the ſouls of the poor.

14 He ſhall redeem their ſouls from uſuries and iniquity: and their name ſhall be honourable in his ſight.

15 And he ſhall live, and to him ſhall be given of the gold of Arabia, for him they ſhall always adore, they ſhall bleſs him all the day.

16 And there ſhall be a firmament on the earth on the tops of mountains, above Libanus ſhall the fruit thereof be exalted: and they of the city ſhall flouriſh like the graſs of the earth.

17 Let his name be bleſſed for evermore: his name continueth before the ſun.

And in him ſhall all the tribes of the earth be bleſſed: all nations ſhall magnify him.

18 Bleſſed be Lord the God of Iſrael, who alone doth wonderful things.

19 And bleſſed be the name of his majeſty for ever; and the whole earth ſhall be filled with his majeſty. So be it. So be it.

20 The praiſes of David the ſon of Jeſſe are ended.

PSALM LXXII.

Quam bonus Iſrael Deus.

The temptation of the weak, upon ſeeing the proſperity of the wicked, is overcome by the conſideration of the juſtice of God, who will quickly render to every one according to his works.

1 A pſalm for Aſaph.

HOW good is God to Iſrael, to them that are of a right heart!

2 But my feet were almoſt moved; my ſteps had well nigh ſlipt.

3 Becauſe I had a zeal on occaſion of the wicked, ſeeing the proſperity of ſinners.

4 For there is no regard to their death, nor is there ſtrength in their ſtripes.

5 They are not in the labour of men: neither ſhall they be ſcourged like other men.

PSALM LXXI. VER. 16. A firmament on the earth, &c. This may be underſtood of the church of Chriſt, ever firm and viſible; and of the flouriſhing condition of its congregation.

VER. 20. Are ended. By this it appears that this pſalm, tho' placed here, was in order of time the laſt of thoſe which David compoſed.

6 Therefore pride hath held them faſt: they are covered with their iniquity and their wickedneſs.

7 Their iniquity hath come forth, as it were from fatneſs: they have paſſed into the affection of the heart.

8 They have thought and ſpoken wickedneſs: they have ſpoken iniquity on high.

9 They have ſet their mouth againſt heaven: and their tongue hath paſſed through the earth.

10 Therefore will my people return here: and full days ſhall be found in them.

11 And they ſaid: How doth God know? and is there knowledge in the Moſt High?

12 Behold theſe are ſinners; and yet abounding in the world they have obtained riches.

13 And I ſaid: Then have I in vain juſtified my heart, and waſhed my hands among the innocent.

14 And I have been ſcourged all the day; and my chaſtiſement hath been in the mornings.

15 If I ſaid: I will ſpeak thus; behold I ſhould condemn the generation of thy children.

16 I ſtudied that I might know this thing, it is a labour in my ſight:

17 Until I go into the ſanctuary of God, and underſtand concerning their laſt ends.

18 But indeed for deceits thou haſt put it to them: when they were lifted up thou haſt caſt them down.

19 How are they brought to deſolation? they have ſuddenly ceaſed to be: they have periſhed by reaſon of their iniquity.

20 As the dream of them that awake, O Lord; ſo in thy city thou ſhalt bring their image to nothing.

21 For my heart hath been inflamed, and my reins have been changed: 22 and I am brought to nothing, and I knew not.

23 I am become as a beaſt before thee: and I am always with thee.

24 Thou haſt held me by my right hand; and by thy will thou haſt conducted me, and with thy glory thou haſt received me.

25 For what have I in heaven? and beſides thee what do I deſire upon earth?

26 For thee my fleſh and my heart hath fainted away: thou art the God of my heart, and the God that is my portion for ever.

27 For behold they that go far from thee ſhall periſh: thou haſt deſtroyed all them that are diſloyal to thee.

28 But it is good for me to adhere to my God, to put my hope in the Lord God:

That I may declare all thy praiſes, in the gates of the daughter of Sion.

PSALM LXXIII.

Ut quid Deus.

A prayer of the church under grievous perſecutions.

1 Underſtanding for Aſaph.

O GOD, why haſt thou caſt us off unto the end: why is thy wrath enkindled againſt the ſheep of thy paſture?

2 Remember thy congregation, which thou haſt poſſeſſed from the beginning.

The ſcepter of thy inheritance which thou haſt redeemed: mount Sion in which thou haſt dwelt.

3 Lift up thy hands againſt their pride unto the end; ſee what things the enemy hath done wickedly in the ſanctuary.

4 And they that hate thee have made their boaſts, in the midſt of thy ſolemnity.

They have ſet up their enſigns for ſigns: 5 and they knew not both in the going out, and on the higheſt top.

As with axes in a wood of trees, 6 they have cut down at once the gates thereof with ax and hatchet they have brought it down.

7 ‖ They have ſet fire to thy ſanctuary: they have defiled the dwelling place of thy name on the earth. ‖ 4 Kings 25. 9.

8 They ſaid in their heart, the whole kindred of them together: Let us aboliſh all the feſtival days of God from the land.

PSALM LXXII. VER. 7. Fatneſs. Abundance, and temporal proſperity, which hath encouraged them in their iniquity; and made them give themſelves up to their irregular affections.

VER. 10. Return here; or hither. The weak among the ſervants of God, will be apt often to return to this thought, and will be ſhocked when they conſider the full days, that is, the long and proſperous life of the wicked; and will be tempted to make the reflections againſt providence which are ſet down in the following verſes.

VER. 15. If I ſaid, &c. That is, if I ſhould indulge ſuch thoughts as theſe.

VER. 18. Thou haſt put it to them. In puniſhment of their deceits, or for deceiving them, thou haſt brought evils upon them in their laſt end, which in their proſperity they never apprehended.

PSALM LXXIII. VER. 4. Their enſigns, &c. They have fixed their colours for ſigns and trophies, both on the gates, and on the higheſt top of the temple: and they knew not, that is, they regarded not the ſanctity of the place. This pſalm manifeſtly foretells the time of the Machabees, and the profanation of the temple by Antiochus.

9 Our ſigns we have not ſeen, there is now no prophet: and he will know us no more.

10 How long, O God, ſhall the enemy reproach: is the adverſary to provoke thy name for ever?

11 Why doſt thou turn away thy hand: and thy right hand out of the midſt of thy boſom for ever?

‖ Luke 1. 68. 12 ‖ But God is our king before ages: he hath wrought ſalvation in the midſt of the earth.

13 Thou by thy ſtrength didſt make the ſea firm: thou didſt cruſh the heads of the dragons in the waters.

14 Thou haſt broken the heads of the dragon: thou haſt given him to be meat for the people of the Ethiopians.

15 Thou haſt broken up the fountains and the torrents: thou haſt dried up the Ethan rivers.

16 Thine is the day, and thine is the night: thou haſt made the morning light and the ſun.

17 Thou haſt made all the borders of the earth: the ſummer and the ſpring were formed by thee.

18 Remember this, the enemy hath reproached the Lord: and a fooliſh people hath provoked thy name.

19 Deliver not up to beaſts the ſouls that confeſs to thee: and forget not to the end the ſouls of thy poor.

20 Have regard to thy covenant: for they that are the obſcure of the earth have been filled with dwellings of iniquity.

21 Let not the humble be turned away with confuſion: the poor and needy ſhall praiſe thy name.

22 Ariſe, O God, judge thy own cauſe: remember thy reproaches with which the fooliſh man hath reproached thee all the day.

23 Forget not the voices of thy enemies: the pride of them that hate thee aſcendeth continually.

PSALM LXXIV.

Confitebimur tibi.

There is a juſt judgment to come: therefore let the wicked take care.

1 Unto the end, corrupt not, a pſalm of a canticle for Aſaph.

2 WE will praiſe thee, O God: we will praiſe, and we will call upon thy name.

We will relate thy wondrous works: 3 when I ſhall take a time, I will judge juſtices.

4 The earth is melted, and all that dwell therein: I have eſtabliſhed the pillars thereof.

5 I ſaid to the wicked: Do not act wickedly: and to the ſinners: Lift not up the horn.

6 Lift not up your horn on high: ſpeak not iniquity againſt God.

7 For neither from the eaſt, nor from the weſt, nor from the deſert hills: 8 for God is the judge.

One he putteth down, and another he lifteth up: 9 for in the hand of the Lord there is a cup of ſtrong wine full of mixture.

And he hath poured it out from this to that: but the dregs thereof are not emptied: all the ſinners of the earth ſhall drink.

10 But I will declare for ever: I will ſing to the God of Jacob.

11 And I will break all the horns of ſinners: but the horns of the juſt ſhall be exalted.

PSALM LXXV.

Notus in Judæa.

God is known in his church: and exerts his power in protecting it. It alludes to the ſlaughter of the Aſſyrians, in the days of king Ezechias.

1 Unto the end, in praiſes, a pſalm for Aſaph: a canticle to the Aſſyrians.

2 IN Judea God is known: his name is great in Iſrael,

3 And his place is in peace: and his abode in Sion:

VER. 13. The ſea firm. By making the waters of the Red ſea ſtand like firm walls, whilſt Iſrael paſſed through: and deſtroying the Egyptians, called here dragons from their cruelty, in the ſame waters, with their king; caſting up their bodies on the ſhore to be ſtript by the Ethiopians, inhabiting in thoſe days the coaſt of Arabia.

VER. 15. Ethan rivers. That is, rivers which run with ſtrong ſtreams. This was verified in Jordan, Joſue iii. and in Arnon, Numb. xxi. 14.

VER. 20. The obſcure of the earth. Mean and ignoble wretches have been filled, that is, enriched, with houſes of iniquity, that is, with our eſtates and poſſeſſions, which they have unjuſtly acquired.

PSALM LXXIV. VER. 1. Corrupt not. 'Tis believed to have been the beginning of ſome ode or hymn, to the tune of which this pſalm was to be ſung. St. Auguſtine and other fathers take it to be an admonition of the Spirit of God, not to faint or fail in our hope: but to perſevere with conſtancy in good: becauſe God will not fail in his due time to render to every man according to his works.

VER. 3. When I ſhall take a time. In proper times: particularly at the laſt day, when the earth ſhall melt away at the preſence of the great judge: the ſame who originally laid the foundations of it, and as it were eſtabliſhed its pillars.

4 There hath he broken the powers of bows, the ſhield, the ſword, and the battle.

5 Thou enlighteneſt wonderfully from the everlaſting hills: 6 All the fooliſh of heart were troubled.

They have ſlept their ſleep: and all the men of riches have found nothing in their hands.

7 At thy rebuke, O God of Jacob, they have all ſlumbered that mounted on horſe-back.

8 Thou art terrible, and who ſhall reſiſt thee? from that time thy wrath.

9 Thou haſt cauſed judgment to be heard from heaven: the earth trembled and was ſtill.

10 When God aroſe in judgment, to ſave all the meek of the earth.

11 For the thought of man ſhall give praiſe to thee: and the remainders of the thought ſhall keep holiday to thee.

12 Vow ye, and pay to the Lord your God: all you that round about him bring preſents.

To him that is terrible, 13 even to him who taketh away the ſpirit of princes: to the terrible with the kings of the earth.

PSALM LXXVI.

Voce meâ.

The faithful have recourſe to God in trouble of mind, with confidence in his mercy and power.

1 Unto the end, for Idithun, a pſalm of Aſaph.

2 I Cried to the Lord with my voice; to God with my voice, and he gave ear to me.

3 In the day of my trouble I ſought God, with my hands lifted up to him in the night: and I was not deceived.

My ſoul refuſed to be comforted: 4 I remembered God, and was delighted, and was exerciſed, and my ſpirit ſwooned away.

5 My eyes prevented the watches: I was troubled, and I ſpoke not.

6 I thought upon the days of old: and I had in my mind the eternal years.

7 And I meditated in the night with my own heart: and I was exerciſed, and I ſwept my ſpirit.

8 Will God then caſt off for ever? or will he never be more favourable again?

9 Or will he cut off his mercy for ever, from generation to generation.

10 Or will God forget to ſhew mercy? or will he in his anger ſhut up his mercies?

11 And I ſaid, Now have I begun: this is the change of the right hand of the moſt High.

12 I remembered the works of the Lord: for I will be mindful of thy wonders from the beginning.

13 And I will meditate on all thy works: and will be employed in thy inventions.

14 Thy way, O God, is in the holy place: who is the great God like our God? 15 Thou art the God that doſt wonders.

Thou haſt made thy power known among the nations: 16 with thy arm thou haſt redeemed thy people the children of Jacob and of Joſeph.

17 The waters ſaw thee, O God, the waters ſaw thee: and they were afraid, and the depths were troubled.

18 Great was the noiſe of the waters: the clouds ſent out a ſound.

For thy arrows paſs: 19 the voice of thy thunder in a wheel.

Thy lightnings enlightened the world: the earth ſhook and trembled.

20 Thy way is in the ſea, and thy paths in many waters: and thy foot-ſteps ſhall not be known.

21 ‖ Thou haſt conducted thy people like ſheep, by the hand of Moſes and Aaron. ‖ Exod. 14. 29.

PSALM LXXVII.

Attendite.

God's great benefits to the people of Iſrael, notwithſtanding their ingratitude.

1 Underſtanding for Aſaph.

ATTEND, O my people, to my law: incline your ears to the words of my mouth.

2 I will open my mouth in parables: I will utter propoſitions from the beginning.

3 How great things have we heard and known, and our fathers have told us.

4 They have not been hidden from their children, in another generation.

Declaring the praiſes of the Lord, and his powers, and his wonders which he hath done.

5 And he ſet up a teſtimony in Jacob: and made a law in Iſrael.

PSALM LXXV. VER. 8. From that time, &c. From the time that thy wrath ſhall break out.

PSALM LXXVII. VER. 2. Propoſitions. Deep and myſterious ſayings. By this it appears that the hiſtorical facts of ancient times, commemorated in this pſalm, were deep and myſterious; as being figures of great truths appertaining to the time of the new teſtament.

How great things he commanded our fathers, that they ſhould make the ſame known to their children: 6 that another generation might know them.

The children that ſhould be born, and ſhould riſe up, and declare them to their children.

7 That they may put their hope in God, and may not forget the works of God: and may ſeek his commandments.

8 That they may not become like their fathers, a perverſe and exaſperating generation.

A generation that ſet not their heart aright: and whoſe ſpirit was not faithful to God.

9 The ſons of Ephraim who bend and ſhoot with the bow: they have turned back in the day of battle.

10 They kept not the covenant of God: and in his law they would not walk.

11 And they forgot his benefits, and his wonders that he had ſhewn them.

12 Wonderful things did he do in the ſight of their fathers, in the land of Egypt, in the field of Tanis.

‖ Exod. 14. 22. 13 ‖ He divided the ſea and brought them through: and he made the waters to ſtand as in a veſſel.

14 And he conducted them with a cloud by day: and all the night with a light of fire.

‖ Exod. 17. 6. Pſ. 104. 41. 15 ‖ He ſtruck the rock in the wilderneſs: and gave them to drink, as out of the great deep.

16 He brought forth water out of the rock: and made ſtreams run down as rivers.

17 And they added yet more ſin againſt him: they provoked the moſt High to wrath in the place without water.

18 And they tempted God in their hearts, by aſking meat for their deſires.

19 And they ſpoke ill of God: they ſaid: Can God furniſh a table in the wilderneſs?

20 Becauſe he ſtruck the rock, and the waters guſhed out, and the ſtreams overflowed.

Can he alſo give bread, or provide a table for his people?

‖ Num. 11. 1. 21 ‖ Therefore the Lord heard, and was angry: and a fire was kindled againſt Jacob, and wrath came up againſt Iſrael.

22 Becauſe they believed not in God: and truſted not in his ſalvation.

23 And he had commanded the clouds from above, and had opened the doors of heaven.

‖ Exod. 16. 4. Num. 11. 7. 24 ‖ And had rained down manna upon them to eat, and had given them the bread of heaven.

John 6. 31. 1 Cor. 10. 3. 25 ‡ Man eat the bread of angels: he ſent them proviſions in abundance.

26 ‖ He removed the ſouth-wind from heaven: and by his power brought in the ſouth-weſt wind. ‖ Num. 11. 31.

27 And he rained upon them fleſh as duſt: and feathered fowls like as the ſand of the ſea.

28 And they fell in the midſt of their camp, round about their pavilions.

29 So they did eat, and were filled exceedingly, and he gave them their deſire: 30 they were not defrauded of that which they craved.

‖ As yet their meat was in their mouth: 31 and the wrath of God came upon them. ‖ Num. 11. 33.

And he ſlew the fat ones amongſt them, and brought down the choſen men of Iſrael.

32 In all theſe things they ſinned ſtill: and they believed not for his wondrous works.

33 And their days were conſumed in vanity, and their years in haſte.

34 When he ſlew them, then they ſought him: and they returned, and came to him early in the morning.

35 And they remembered that God was their helper: and the moſt high God their redeemer.

36 And they loved him with their mouth: and with their tongue they lied unto him:

37 But their heart was not right with him: nor were they counted faithful in his covenant.

38 But he is merciful, and will forgive their ſins: and will not deſtroy them.

And many a time did he turn away his anger: and did not kindle all his wrath.

39 And he remembered that they are fleſh: a wind that goeth and returneth not.

40 How often did they provoke him in the deſert: and move him to wrath in the place without water?

41 And they turned back and tempted God: and grieved the holy one of Iſrael.

42 They remembered not his hand, in the day that he redeemed them from the hand of him that afflicted them:

43 How he wrought his ſigns in Egypt: and his wonders in the field of Tanis.

44 ‖ And he turned their rivers into blood, and their ſhowers that they might not drink. ‖ Exod. 7. 20.

45 ‡ He ſent amongſt them divers ſorts of flies, which devoured them: ‖ and frogs which deſtroyed them. ‡ Exod. 8. 24. ‖ Exod. 8. 6.

46 ‖ And he gave up their fruits to the blaſt, and their labours to the locuſt. ‖ Exod. 10. 15.

47 ‡ And he deſtroyed their vineyards with hail, and their mulberry-trees with hoar froſt. ‡ Exod 9. 25.

48 And he gave up their cattle to the hail, and their ſtock to the fire.

49 And he ſent upon them the wrath of his indignation: indignation and wrath and trouble, which he ſent by evil angels.

50 He made a way for a path to his anger: he ſpared not their ſouls from death, and their cattle he ſhut up in death.

‖ Exod. 12. 29. 51 ‖ And he killed all the firſt-born in the land of Egypt: the firſt-fruits of all their labour in the tabernacles of Cham.

52 And he took away his own people as ſheep: and guided them in the wilderneſs like a flock.

‖ Exod. 14. 27. 53 And he brought them out in hope, and they feared not: ‖ and the ſea overwhelmed their enemies.

54 And he brought them into the mountain of his ſanctuary: the mountain which his right hand had purchaſed.

‖ Joſue 13. 6. & 7. ‖ And he caſt out the gentiles before them: and by lot divided to them their land by a line of diſtribution.

55 And he made the tribes of Iſrael to dwell in their tabernacles.

56 Yet they tempted, and provoked the moſt high God: and they kept not his teſtimonies.

57 And they turned away, and kept not the covenant: even like their fathers they were turned aſide as a crooked bow.

58 They provoked him to anger on their hills: and moved him to jealouſy with their graven things.

59 God heard, and deſpiſed them, and he reduced Iſrael exceedingly as it were to nothing.

‖ 1 Kings 4. 4. Jerem. 7. 12. 14. & 26. 6. 60 ‖ And he put away the tabernacle of Silo, his tabernacle where he dwelt among men.

61 And he delivered their ſtrength into captivity: and their beauty into the hands of the enemy.

62 And he ſhut up his people under the ſword: and he deſpiſed his inheritance.

63 Fire conſumed their young men: and their maidens were not lamented.

64 Their prieſts fell by the ſword: and their widows did not mourn.

65 And the Lord was awaked as one out of ſleep, and like a mighty man that hath been ſurfeited with wine.

66 And he ſmote his enemies on the hinder parts: he put them to an everlaſting reproach.

67 And he rejected the tabernacle of Joſeph: and choſe not the tribe of Ephraim:

68 But he choſe the tribe of Juda, mount Sion which he loved.

69 And he built his ſanctuary as of unicorns, in the land which he founded for ever.

70 And he choſe his ſervant David, and took him from the flocks of ſheep: he brought him from following the ewes great with young,

71 To feed Jacob his ſervant, and Iſrael his inheritance.

72 And he fed them in the innocence of his heart: and conducted them by the ſkilfulneſs of his hands.

PSALM LXXVIII.

Deus venerunt gentes.

The church in time of perſecution prayeth for relief. It ſeems to belong to the time of the Machabees.

1 A pſalm for Aſaph.

O God, the heathens are come into thy inheritance, they have defiled thy holy temple: they have made Jeruſalem as a place to keep fruit.

2 They have given the dead bodies of thy ſervants to be meat for the fowls of the air: the fleſh of thy ſaints for the beaſts of the earth.

3 They have poured out their blood as water, round about Jeruſalem, and there was none to bury them.

4 We are become a reproach to our neighbours; a ſcorn and deriſion to them that are round about us.

5 How long, O Lord, wilt thou be angry for ever: ſhall thy zeal be kindled like a fire?

‖ Jerem. 10. 25. 6 ‖ Pour out thy wrath upon the nations that have not known thee: and upon the kingdoms that have not called upon thy name.

7 Becauſe they have devoured Jacob; and have laid waſte his place.

‖ Iſai. 64. 9. 8 ‖ Remember not our former iniquities: let thy mercies ſpeedily prevent us, for we are become exceeding poor.

9 Help us, O God, our Saviour: and for the glory of thy name, O Lord, deliver us: and forgive us our ſins for thy name's ſake:

10 Leſt they ſhould ſay among the Gentiles: Where is their God? And let him be

VER. 69. As of unicorns. That is, firm and ſtrong, like the horn of the unicorn. This is one of the chiefeſt of the propoſitions of this pſalm, foreſhewing the firm eſtabliſhment of the one, true, and everlaſting ſanctuary of God, in his church.

made known among the nations before our eyes,

By the revenging the blood of thy ſervants, which hath been ſhed: 11 let the ſighing of the priſoners come in before thee.

According to the greatneſs of thy arm, take poſſeſſion of the children of them that have been put to death.

12 And render to our neighbours ſevenfold in their boſom: the reproach wherewith they have reproached thee, O Lord.

13 But we thy people, and the ſheep of thy paſture, will give thanks to thee for ever.

We will ſhew forth thy praiſe, unto generation and generation.

PSALM LXXIX.

Qui regis Iſrael.

A prayer for the church in tribulation, commemorating God's former favours.

1 Unto the end, for them that ſhall be changed, a teſtimony for Aſaph, a pſalm.

2 GIVE ear, O thou that ruleſt Iſrael: thou that leadeſt Joſeph like a ſheep.

Thou that ſitteſt upon the cherubims, ſhine forth 3 before Ephraim, Benjamin and Manaſſes.

Stir up thy might, and come to ſave us.

4 Convert us, O God: and ſhew us thy face, and we ſhall be ſaved.

5 O Lord God of hoſts, how long wilt thou be angry againſt the prayer of thy ſervant?

6 How long wilt thou feed us with the bread of tears: and give us for our drink tears in meaſure?

7 Thou haſt made us to be a contradiction to our neighbours: and our enemies have ſcoffed at us.

8 O God of hoſts, convert us: and ſhew thy face, and we ſhall be ſaved.

9 Thou haſt brought a vineyard out of Egypt: thou haſt caſt out the gentiles and planted it.

10 Thou waſt the guide of its journey in its ſight: thou plantedſt the roots thereof, and it filled the land.

11 The ſhadow of it covered the hills: and the branches thereof the cedars of God.

12 It ſtretched forth its branches unto the ſea, and its boughs unto the river.

13 Why haſt thou broken down the hedge thereof; ſo that all they who paſs by the way do pluck it?

14 The boar out of the wood hath laid it waſte: and a ſingular wild beaſt hath devoured it.

15 Turn again, O God of hoſts, look down from heaven, and ſee, and viſit this vineyard:

16 And perfect the ſame which thy right hand hath planted: and upon the ſon of man whom thou haſt confirmed for thyſelf.

17 Things ſet on fire and dug down ſhall periſh at the rebuke of thy countenance.

18 Let thy hand be upon the man of thy right hand: and upon the ſon of man whom thou haſt confirmed for thyſelf.

19 And we depart not from thee, thou ſhalt quicken us: and we will call upon thy name.

20 O Lord God of hoſts, convert us: and ſhew thy face, and we ſhall be ſaved.

PSALM LXXX.

Exultate Deo.

An invitation to a ſolemn praiſing of God.

1 Unto the end, for the wine-preſſes, a pſalm for Aſaph himſelf.

2 REJOICE to God our helper: ſing aloud to the God of Jacob.

3 Take a pſalm, and bring hither the timbrel: the pleaſant pſaltery with the harp.

4 Blow up the trumpet on the new moon, on the noted day of your ſolemnity.

5 For it is a commandment in Iſrael, and a judgment to the God of Jacob.

PSALM LXXXI.

Deus ſtetit.

An exhortation to judges and men in power.

1 A pſalm for Aſaph.

GOD hath ſtood in the congregation of gods: and being in the midſt of them he judgeth gods.

2 How long will you judge unjuſtly: and accept the perſons of the wicked?

3 Judge for the needy and fatherleſs: do juſtice to the humble and the poor.

Prov. 24. 11.

4 || Reſcue the poor; and deliver the needy out of the hand of the ſinner.

5 They have not known nor underſtood; they walk on in darkneſs: all the foundations of the earth ſhall be moved.

|| John 10. 34.

6 || I have ſaid: You are gods, and all of you the ſons of the moſt High.

7 But you like men ſhall die: and ſhall fall like one of the princes.

8 Ariſe, O God, judge thou the earth: for thou ſhalt inherit among all the nations.

PSALM LXXXII.

Deus quis ſimilis.

A prayer againſt the enemies of God's church.

1 A canticle of a pſalm for Aſaph.

2 O GOD, who ſhall be like to thee? hold not thy peace, neither be thou ſtill, O God.

3 For lo thy enemies have made a noiſe: and they that hate thee have lifted up the head.

4 They have taken a malicious counſel againſt thy people, and have conſulted againſt thy ſaints.

5 They have ſaid: Come and let us deſtroy them, ſo that they be not a nation: and let the name of Iſrael be remembered no more.

6 For they have contrived with one conſent: they have made a covenant together againſt thee; 7 the tabernacles of the Edomites, and the Iſmahelites:

Moab, and the Agarens, 8 Gebal, and Ammon and Amalec: the Philiſtines, with the inhabitants of Tyre.

9 Yea, and the Aſſyrian alſo is joined with them: they are come to the aid of the ſons of Lot.

10 Do to them || as thou didſt to Madian ‡ and to Siſara: as to Jabin at the brook of Ciſſon.

|| Judges 7. 22.

‡ Judges 4. 15.

11 Who periſhed at Endor: and became as dung for the earth.

12 || Make their princes like Oreb, ‡ and Zeb, and Zebee, and Salmana.

|| Judges 7. 25.

‡ Judges 8. 21.

All their princes, 13 who have ſaid: Let us poſſeſs the ſanctuary of God for an inheritance.

14 O my God, make them like a wheel; and as ſtubble before the wind.

15 As fire which burneth the wood: and as a flame burning mountains:

16 So ſhalt thou purſue them with thy tempeſt: and ſhalt trouble them in thy wrath.

17 Fill their faces with ſhame; and they ſhall ſeek thy name, O Lord.

18 Let them be aſhamed and troubled for ever and ever: and let them be confounded and periſh.

19 And let them know that the Lord is thy name: thou alone art the moſt High over all the earth.

PSALM LXXXIII.

Quam dilecta.

The ſoul aſpireth after heaven; rejoicing in the mean time, in being in the communion of God's church upon earth.

1 Unto the end, for the wine-preſſes, a pſalm for the ſons of Core.

2 HOW lovely are thy tabernacles, O Lord of hoſts! 3 my ſoul longeth and fainteth for the courts of the Lord.

My heart and my fleſh have rejoiced in the living God.

4 For the ſparrow hath found herſelf a houſe, and the turtle a neſt for herſelf where ſhe may lay her young ones:

VER. 16. Their time ſhall be for ever. Impenitent ſinners ſhall ſuffer for ever.

Thy altars, O Lord of hosts, my king and my God.

5 Blessed are they that dwell in thy house, O Lord: they shall praise thee for ever and ever.

6 Blessed is the man whose help is from thee: in his heart he hath disposed to ascend by steps, 7 in the vale of tears, in the place which he hath set.

8 For the lawgiver shall give a blessing, they shall go from virtue to virtue: the God of gods shall be seen in Sion.

9 O Lord God of hosts, hear my prayer: give ear, O God of Jacob.

10 Behold, O God our protector: and look on the face of thy Christ.

11 For better is one day in thy courts above thousands.

I have chosen to be an abject in the house of my God, rather than to dwell in the tabernacles of sinners.

12 For God loveth mercy and truth: the Lord will give grace and glory.

13 He will not deprive of good things them that walk in innocence: O Lord of hosts, blessed is the man that trusteth in thee.

PSALM LXXXIV.

Benedixisti Domine.

The coming of Christ, to bring peace and salvation to man.

1 Unto the end, for the sons of Core, a psalm.

2 LORD, thou hast blessed thy land: thou hast turned away the captivity of Jacob.

3 Thou hast forgiven the iniquity of thy people: thou hast covered all their sins.

4 Thou hast mitigated all thy anger: thou hast turned away from the wrath of thy indignation.

5 Convert us, O God our saviour: and turn off thy anger from us.

6 Wilt thou be angry with us for ever: or wilt thou extend thy wrath from generation to generation?

7 Thou wilt turn, O God, and bring us to life: and thy people shall rejoice in thee.

8 Shew us, O Lord, thy mercy; and grant us thy salvation.

9 I will hear what the Lord God will speak in me: for he will speak peace unto his people:

And unto his saints: and unto them that are converted to the heart.

10 Surely his salvation is near to them that fear him: that glory may dwell in our land.

11 Mercy and truth have met each other: justice and peace have kissed.

12 Truth is sprung out of the earth: and justice hath looked down from heaven.

13 For the Lord will give goodness: and our earth shall yield her fruit.

14 Justice shall walk before him: and shall set his steps in the way.

PSALM LXXXV.

Inclina Domine.

A prayer for God's grace to assist us to the end.

1 A prayer for David himself.

INCLINE thy ear, O Lord, and hear me: for I am needy and poor.

2 Preserve my soul, for I am holy: save thy servant, O my God, that trusteth in thee.

3 Have mercy on me, O Lord, for I have cried to thee all the day. 4 Give joy to the soul of thy servant, for to thee, O Lord, I have lifted up my soul.

5 || For thou, O Lord, art sweet and mild: and plenteous in mercy to all that call upon thee. || Joel 2. 13.

6 Give ear, O Lord, to my prayer: and attend to the voice of my petition.

7 I have called upon thee in the day of my trouble: because thou hast heard me.

8 There is none among the gods like unto thee, O Lord: and there is none according to thy works.

9 All the nations thou hast made shall come and adore before thee, O Lord: and they shall glorify thy name.

10 For thou art great and dost wonderful things: thou art God alone.

11 Conduct me, O Lord, in thy way, and I will walk in thy truth: let my heart rejoice that it may fear thy name.

12 I will praise thee, O Lord my God, with my whole heart, and I will glorify thy name for ever:

13 For thy mercy is great towards me: and thou hast delivered my soul out of the lower hell.

PSALM LXXXIII. VER. 6. In his heart, he hath disposed to ascend by steps, &c. ascensiones in corde suo disposuit. As by steps men ascended to the temple of God. situated on a hill; so the good christian ascends towards the eternal temple by certain steps of virtue disposed or ordered within the heart: And this whilst he lives as yet in the body, in this vale of tears, the place which man hath set: that is, which he hath brought himself to: being cast out of paradise for his sin.

PSALM LXXXV. VER. 2. I am holy. I am by my office and profession dedicated to thy service.

14 O God, the wicked are riſen up againſt me, and the aſſembly of the mighty have ſought my ſoul: and they have not ſet thee before their eyes.

15 And thou, O Lord, art a God of compaſſion, and merciful, patient, and of much mercy, and true.

16 O look upon me, and have mercy on me: give thy command to thy ſervant, and ſave the ſon of thy handmaid.

17 Shew me a token for good: that they who hate me may ſee, and be confounded, becauſe thou, O Lord, haſt helped me and haſt comforted me.

PSALM LXXXVI.

Fundamenta ejus.

The glory of the church of Chriſt.

1 For the ſons of Core, a pſalm of a canticle.

THE foundations thereof are in the holy mountains:

2 The Lord loveth the gates of Sion above all the tabernacles of Jacob.

3 Glorious things are ſaid of thee, O city of God.

4 I will be mindful of Rahab and of Babylon knowing me.

Behold the foreigners and Tyre, and the people of the Ethiopians, theſe were there.

5 Shall not Sion ſay: This man and that man is born in her? and the Higheſt himſelf hath founded her.

6 The Lord ſhall tell in his writings of peoples and of princes, of them that have been in her.

7 The dwelling in thee is as it were of all rejoicing.

PSALM LXXXVII.

Domine Deus ſalutis.

A prayer of one under grievous affliction: it agrees to Chriſt in his paſſion, and alludes to his death and burial.

1 A canticle of a pſalm for the ſons of Core: unto the end, for Maheleth, to anſwer, underſtanding of Eman the Ezrahite.

2 O LORD the God of my ſalvation: I have cried in the day, and in the night before thee.

3 Let my prayer come in before thee: incline thy ear to my petition.

4 For my ſoul is filled with evils: and my life hath drawn nigh to hell.

5 I am counted among them that go down to the pit: I am become as a man without help, 6 free among the dead.

Like the ſlain ſleeping in the ſepulchres, whom thou remembereſt no more: and they are caſt off from thy hand.

7 They have laid me in the lower pit: in the dark places, and in the ſhadow of death.

8 Thy wrath is ſtrong over me: and all thy waves thou haſt brought in upon me.

9 Thou haſt put away my acquaintance far from me: they have ſet me an abomination to themſelves.

I was delivered up, and came not forth: 10 my eyes languiſhed through poverty.

All the day I cried to thee, O Lord: I ſtretched out my hands to thee.

11 Wilt thou ſhew wonders to the dead? or ſhall phyſicians raiſe to life, and give praiſe to thee?

12 Shall any one in the ſepulchre declare thy mercy: and thy truth in deſtruction?

13 Shall thy wonders be known in the dark; and thy juſtice in the land of forgetfulneſs?

14 But I, O Lord, have cried to thee: and in the morning my prayer ſhall prevent thee.

15 Lord, why caſteſt thou off my prayer: why turneſt thou away thy face from me?

16 I am poor, and in labours from my youth: and being exalted have been humbled and troubled.

17 Thy wrath hath come upon me: and thy terrors have troubled me.

18 They have come round about me like water all the day: they have compaſſed me about together.

19 Friend and neighbour thou haſt put far from me: and my acquaintance, becauſe of miſery.

PSALM LXXXVI. VER. 1. The holy mountains. The apoſtles and prophets. Eph. ii. 20.

VER. 4. Rahab. Egypt, &c. To this Sion, which is the church of God, many ſhall reſort from all nations.

VER. 5. Shall not Sion ſay, &c. The meaning is, that Sion, viz. the church, ſhall not only be able to commemorate this or that particular perſon of renown born in her, but alſo to glory in great multitudes of people and princes, of her communion; who have been foretold in the writings of the prophets, and regiſtered in the writings of the apoſtles.

PSALM LXXXVII. VER. 1. Maheleth. A muſical inſtrument, or chorus of muſicians, to anſwer one another.

Ibid. Underſtanding. Or a pſalm of inſtruction, compoſed by Eman the Ezrahite, or by David, in his name.

PSALM LXXXVIII.

Misericordias Domini.

The perpetuity of the church of Christ, in consequence of the promises of God: which notwithstanding, God permits her to suffer sometimes most grievous afflictions.

1 Of understanding, for Ethan the Ezrahite.

2 THE mercies of the Lord I will sing for ever.
I will shew forth thy truth with my mouth to generation and generation.
3 For thou hast said: Mercy shall be built up for ever in the heavens: thy truth shall be prepared in them.
4 I have made a covenant with my elect: ‖ 2 Kings 7. 12. ‖ I have sworn to David my servant: 5 Thy seed will I settle for ever.
And I will build up thy throne unto generation and generation.
6 The heavens shall confess thy wonders, O Lord: and thy truth in the church of the saints.
7 For who in the clouds can be compared to the Lord: or who among the sons of God shall be like to God?
8 God who is glorified in the assembly of the saints: great and terrible above all them that are about him.
9 O Lord God of hosts, who is like to thee? thou art mighty, O Lord, and thy truth is round about thee.
10 Thou rulest the power of the sea: and appeasest the motion of the waves thereof.
11 Thou hast humbled the proud one, as one that is slain: with the arm of thy strength thou hast scattered thy enemies.
‖ Gen. 1. 2. 12 ‖ Thine are the heavens, and thine is the earth: the world and the fulness thereof thou hast founded: 13 the north and the sea thou hast created.
Thabor and Hermon shall rejoice in thy name: 14 thy arm is with might.
Let thy hand be strengthened, and thy right hand exalted: 15 justice and judgment are the preparation of thy throne.
Mercy and truth shall go before thy face: 16 blessed is the people that knoweth jubilation.
They shall walk, O Lord, in the light of thy countenance: 17 and in thy name they shall rejoice all the day, and in thy justice they shall be exalted.
18 For thou art the glory of their strength; and in thy good pleasure shall our horn be exalted.
19 For our protection is of the Lord, and of our king the holy one of Israel.
20 Then thou spokest in a vision to thy saints, and saidst: I have laid help upon one that is mighty, and have exalted one chosen out of my people.
21 ‖ I have found David my servant: with my holy oil I have anointed him. ‖ 1 Kings 16. 1. & 12. Acts 13. 22.
22 For my hand shall help him: and my arm shall strengthen him.
23 The enemy shall have no advantage over him: nor the son of iniquity have power to hurt him.
24 And I will cut down his enemies before his face; and them that hate him I will put to flight.
25 And my truth and my mercy shall be with him: and in my name shall his horn be exalted.
26 And I will set his hand in the sea; and his right hand in the rivers.
27 He shall cry out to me: Thou art my father: my God and the support of my salvation.
28 And I will make him my first-born, high above the kings of the earth.
29 I will keep my mercy for him for ever: and my covenant faithful to him.
30 And I will make his seed to endure for evermore: and his throne as the days of heaven.
31 And if his children forsake my law, and walk not in my judgments:
32 If they profane my justices; and keep not my commandments:
33 I will visit their iniquities with a rod: and their sins with stripes.
34 But my mercy I will not take away from him: nor will I suffer my truth to fail.
35 Neither will I profane my covenant: and the words that proceed from my mouth I will not make void.
36 Once have I sworn by my holiness: I will not lie unto David: 37 his seed shall endure for ever.
38 ‖ And his throne as the sun before me: and as the moon perfect for ever, and a faithful witness in heaven. ‖ 2 Kings 7. 16.
39 But thou hast rejected and despised: thou hast been angry with thy anointed.
40 Thou hast overthrown the covenant of thy servant: thou hast profaned his sanctuary on the earth.

PSALM LXXXVIII. VER. 40. Overthrown the covenant, &c. All this seems to relate to the time of the captivity of Babylon, in which, for the sins of the people and their princes, God seemed to have set aside for a while the covenant he made with David.

41 Thou hast broken down all his hedges: thou hast made his strength fear.

42 All that pass by the way have robbed him: he is become a reproach to his neighbours.

43 Thou hast set up the right hand of them that oppress him: thou hast made all his enemies to rejoice.

44 Thou hast turned away the help of his sword: and hast not assisted him in battle.

45 Thou hast made his purification to cease: and thou hast cast his throne down to the ground.

46 Thou hast shortened the days of his time: thou hast covered him with confusion.

47 How long, O Lord, turnest thou away unto the end? shall thy anger burn like fire?

48 Remember what my substance is: for hast thou made all the children of men in vain?

49 Who is the man that shall live, and not see death: that shall deliver his soul from the hand of hell?

50 Lord, where are thy ancient mercies, ‖ 2 Kings 7. 11. according to ‖ what thou didst swear to David in thy truth?

51 Be mindful, O Lord, of the reproach of thy servants (which I have held in my bosom) of many nations:

52 Wherewith thy enemies have reproached, O Lord; wherewith they have reproached the change of thy anointed.

53 Blessed be the Lord for evermore. So be it, so be it.

PSALM LXXXIX.

Domine refugium.

A prayer for the mercy of God; recounting the shortness and miseries of the days of man.

1 A prayer of Moses the man of God.

LORD, thou hast been our refuge from generation to generation.

2 Before the mountains were made, or the earth and the world was formed; from eternity and to eternity thou art God.

3 Turn not man away to be brought low: and thou hast said: Be converted, O ye sons of men.

4 For a thousand years in thy sight are as yesterday, which is past.

And as a watch in the night, 5 things that are counted nothing, shall their years be.

6 In the morning man shall grow up like grass, in the morning he shall flourish and pass away: in the evening he shall fall, grow dry and wither.

7 For in thy wrath we have fainted away: and are troubled in thy indignation.

8 Thou hast set our iniquities before thy eyes: our life in the light of thy countenance.

9 For all our days are spent; and in thy wrath we have fainted away.

Our years shall be considered as a spider: 10 ‖ the days of our years in them are threescore and ten years. ‖ Eccli. 18. 8.

But if in the strong they be fourscore years: and what is more of them is labour and sorrow.

For mildness is come upon us: and we shall be corrected.

11 Who knoweth the power of thy anger, and for thy fear 12 can number thy wrath?

So make thy right hand known: and men learned in heart in wisdom.

13 Return, O Lord, how long? and be intreated in favour of thy servants.

14 We are filled in the morning with thy mercy: and we have rejoiced, and are delighted all our days.

15 We have rejoiced for the days in which thou hast humbled us: for the years in which we have seen evils.

16 Look upon thy servants and upon their works: and direct their children.

17 And let the brightness of the Lord our God be upon us: and direct thou the works of our hands over us; yea the work of our hands do thou direct.

PSALM XC.

Qui habitat.

The just is secure under the protection of God.

1 The praise of a canticle for David.

HE that dwelleth in the aid of the Most High, shall abide under the protection of the God of Jacob.

2 He shall say to the Lord: Thou art my

PSALM LXXXIX. VER. 3. Turn not man away, &c. Suffer him not quite to perish from thee, since thou art pleased to call upon him to be converted to thee.

VER. 9. As a spider. As frail and weak as a spider's web; and miserable withal, whilst, like a spider, we spend our bowels in weaving webs to catch flies.

VER. 10. Mildness is come upon us, &c. God's mildness corrects us; in as much as he deals kindly with us, in shortening the days of this miserable life; and so weaning our affections from all its transitory enjoyments, and teaching us true wisdom.

protector, and my refuge: my God, in him will I trust.

3 For he hath delivered me from the snare of the hunters: and from the sharp word.

4 He will overshadow thee with his shoulders: and under his wings thou shalt trust.

5 His truth shall compass thee with a shield: thou shalt not be afraid of the terror of the night.

6 Of the arrow that flyeth in the day, of the business that walketh about in the dark: of invasion, or of the noon-day devil.

7 A thousand shall fall at thy side, and ten thousand at thy right hand: but it shall not come nigh thee.

8 But thou shalt consider with thy eyes: and shalt see the reward of the wicked.

9 Because thou, O Lord, art my hope: thou hast made the Most High thy refuge.

10 There shall no evil come to thee: nor shall the scourge come near thy dwelling.

‖ Matt. 4. 6. Luke 4. 10.

11 ‖ For he hath given his Angels charge over thee: to keep thee in all thy ways.

12 In their hands they shall bear thee up: lest thou dash thy foot against a stone.

13 Thou shalt walk upon the asp and the basilisk: and thou shalt trample under foot the lion and the dragon.

14 Because he hoped in me I will deliver him: I will protect him because he hath known my name.

15 He shall cry to me, and I will hear him: I am with him in tribulation, I will deliver him, and I will glorify him.

16 I will fill him with him length of days; and I will shew him my salvation.

PSALM XCI.

Bonum est confiteri.

God is to be praised for his wondrous works.

1 A psalm of a canticle on the sabbath-day.

2 IT is good to give praise to the Lord: and to sing to thy name, O Most High.

3 To shew forth thy mercy in the morning, and thy truth in the night:

4 Upon an instrument of ten strings, upon the psaltery: with a canticle upon the harp.

5 For thou hast given me, O Lord, a delight in thy doings: and in the works of thy hands I shall rejoice.

6 O Lord, how great are thy works! thy thoughts are exceeding deep.

7 The senseless man shall not know: nor will the fool understand these things.

8 When the wicked shall spring up as grass: and all the workers of iniquity shall appear:

That they may perish for ever and ever: 9 but thou, O Lord, art Most High for evermore.

10 For behold thy enemies, O Lord, for behold thy enemies shall perish: and all the workers of iniquity shall be scattered.

11 But my horn shall be exalted like that of the unicorn: and my old age in plentiful mercy.

12 My eye also hath looked down upon my enemies: and my ear shall hear of the downfal of the malignant that rise up against me.

13 The just shall flourish like the palm-tree: he shall grow up like the cedar of Libanus.

14 They that are planted in the house of the Lord shall flourish in the courts of the house of our God.

15 They shall still increase in a fruitful old age: and shall be well treated, 16 that they may shew,

That the Lord our God is righteous, and there is no iniquity in him.

PSALM XCII.

Dominus regnavit.

The glory and stability of the kingdom; that is, of the church of Christ.

Praise in the way of a canticle, for David himself, on the day before the sabbath, when the earth was founded.

1 THE Lord hath reigned, he is clothed with beauty: the Lord is clothed with strength, and hath girded himself.

For he hath established the world which shall not be moved.

2 Thy throne is prepared from of old: thou art from everlasting.

3 The floods have lifted up, O Lord: the floods have lifted up their voice.

The floods have lifted up their waves, 4 with the noise of many waters.

Wonderful are the surges of the sea: wonderful is the Lord on high.

5 Thy testimonies are become exceedingly credible: holiness becometh thy house, O Lord, unto length of days.

PSALM XCIII.

Deus ultionum.

God shall judge and punish the oppressors of his people.

A psalm for David himself, on the fourth day of the week.

1 THE Lord is the God to whom revenge belongeth: the God of revenge hath acted freely.

2 Lift up thyself, thou that judgest the earth: render a reward to the proud.

3 How long shall sinners, O Lord: how long shall sinners glory?

4 Shall they utter, and speak iniquity: shall all speak who work injustice?

5 Thy people, O Lord, they have brought low: and they have afflicted thy inheritance.

6 They have slain the widow and the stranger: and they have murdered the fatherless.

7 And they have said: The Lord shall not see: neither shall the God of Jacob understand.

8 Understand, ye senseless among the people: and you fools be wise at last.

9 He that planted the ear, shall he not hear? or he that formed the eye, doth he not consider?

10 He that chastiseth nations, shall he not rebuke: he that teacheth man knowledge?

11 The Lord knoweth the thoughts of men, that they are vain.

12 Blessed is the man whom thou shalt instruct, O Lord: and shalt teach him out of thy law.

13 That thou mayst give him rest from the evil days: till a pit be dug for the wicked.

14 For the Lord will not cast off his people: neither will he forsake his own inheritance.

15 Until justice be turned into judgment: and they that are near it are all the upright in heart.

16 Who shall rise up for me against the evil doers? or who shall stand with me against the workers of iniquity?

17 Unless the Lord had been my helper; my soul had almost dwelt in hell.

18 If I said: My foot is moved: thy mercy, O Lord, assisted me.

19 According to the multitude of my sorrows in my heart, thy comforts have given joy to my soul.

20 Doth the seat of iniquity stick to thee, who framest labour in commandment?

21 They will hunt after the soul of the just, and will condemn innocent blood.

22 But the Lord is my refuge: and my God the help of my hope.

23 And he will render them their iniquity: and in their malice he will destroy them: the Lord our God will destroy them.

PSALM XCIV.

Venite exultemus.

An invitation to adore and serve God, and to hear his voice.

Praise of a canticle for David himself.

1 COME let us praise the Lord with joy: let us joyfully sing to God our Saviour.

2 Let us come before his presence with thanksgiving: and make a joyful noise to him with psalms.

3 For the Lord is a great God, and a great King above all gods.

4 For in his hand are all the ends of the earth: and the heights of the mountains are his.

5 For the sea is his, and he made it: and his hands formed the dry land.

6 Come let us adore and fall down: and weep before the Lord that made us.

7 For he is the Lord our God: and we are the people of his pasture and the sheep of his hand.

8 ‖ To-day if you shall hear his voice, harden not your hearts: ‖ Heb. 3. 7. & 4. 7.

9 As in the provocation, according to the day of temptation in the wilderness: where your fathers tempted me, they proved me, and saw my works.

10 ‖ Forty years long was I offended with that generation, and I said: These always err in heart. ‖ Num. 14. 34.

11 And these men have not known my ways: ‖ so I swore in my wrath that they shall not enter into my rest. ‖ Heb. 4. 3.

PSALM XCIII. VER. 13. Rest from the evil days. That thou mayst mitigate the sorrows, to which he is exposed, during the short and evil days of his mortality.

VER. 15. Until justice be turned into judgment, &c. By being put in execution: which will be agreeable to all the upright in heart.

VER. 20. Doth the seat of iniquity stick to thee, &c. That is, wilt thou, O God, who art always just, admit of the seat of iniquity; that is, of unjustice, or unjust judges, to have any partnership with thee? Thou who framest, or makest, labour in commandment, that is, thou who obligest us to labour with all diligence to keep thy commandments.

CHAP. XCV.

Cantate Domino.

An exhortation to praiſe God for the coming of Chriſt and his kingdom.

1 A canticle for David himſelf, when the houſe was built after the captivity.

SING ye to the Lord a new canticle: ſing to the Lord, all the earth.
2 Sing ye to the Lord and bleſs his name: ſhew forth his ſalvation from day to day.
3 Declare his glory among the gentiles: his wonders among all people.
4 For the Lord is great, and exceedingly to be praiſed: he is to be feared above all gods.
5 For all the gods of the gentiles are devils: but the Lord made the heavens.
6 Praiſe and beauty are before him: holineſs and majeſty in his ſanctuary.
7 Bring ye to the Lord, O ye kindreds of the gentiles, bring ye to the Lord glory and honour; 8 bring to the Lord glory unto his name.
Bring up ſacrifices, and come into his courts: 9 adore ye the Lord in his holy court.
Let all the earth be moved at his preſence.
10 Say ye among the gentiles, the Lord hath reigned.
For he hath corrected the world, which ſhall not be moved: he will judge the people with juſtice.
11 Let the heavens rejoice, and let the earth be glad, let the ſea be moved, and the fulneſs thereof: 12 the fields and all things that are in them ſhall be joyful.
Then ſhall all the trees of the woods rejoice 13 before the face of the Lord, becauſe he cometh: becauſe he cometh to judge the earth.
He ſhall judge the world with juſtice, and the people with his truth.

PSALM XCVI.

Dominus regnavit.

All are invited to rejoice at the glorious coming and reign of Chriſt.

1 For the ſame David, when his land was reſtored again to him.

THE Lord hath reigned, let the earth rejoice: let many iſlands be glad.
2 Clouds and darkneſs are round about him: juſtice and judgment are the eſtabliſhment of his throne.
3 A fire ſhall go before him, and ſhall burn his enemies round about.
4 His lightnings have ſhone forth to the world: the earth ſaw and trembled.
5 The mountains melted like wax, at the preſence of the Lord: at the preſence of the Lord all the earth.
6 The heavens declared his juſtice: and all people ſaw his glory.
7 ‖ Let them be all confounded that adore graven things, and that glory in their idols. ‖ Exod. 20. 4. Lev. 26 1. Deut. 5. 8.
‡ Adore him, all you his Angels: 8 Sion heard, and was glad. ‡ Heb. 1. 6.
And the daughters of Juda rejoiced, becauſe of thy judgments, O Lord.
9 For thou art the moſt high Lord over all the earth: thou art exalted exceedingly above all gods.
10 ‖ You that love the Lord, hate evil: the Lord preſerveth the ſouls of his ſaints, he will deliver them out of the hand of the ſinner. ‖ Amos 5. 15. Rom. 12. 9.
11 Light is riſen to the juſt, and joy to the right of heart.
12 Rejoice, ye juſt, in the Lord: and give praiſe to the remembrance of his holineſs.

PSALM XCVII.

Cantate Domino.

All are again invited to praiſe the Lord, for the victories of Chriſt.

1 A pſalm for David himſelf.

SING ye to the Lord a new canticle: becauſe he hath done wonderful things.
His right hand hath wrought for him ſalvation, and his arm is holy.
2 ‖ The Lord hath made known his ſalvation: he hath revealed his juſtice in the ſight of the gentiles. ‖ Iſai. 52. 10. & 63. 8. Luke 3. 6.
3 He hath remembered his mercy and his truth toward the houſe of Iſrael.
All the ends of the earth have ſeen the ſalvation of our God.
4 Sing joyfully to God, all the earth: make melody, rejoice and ſing.
5 Sing praiſe to the Lord on the harp, on the harp, and with the voice of a pſalm: 6 with long trumpets, and ſound of cornet.
Make a joyful noiſe before the Lord our

PSALM XCV. VER. 1. When the houſe was built, &c. Alluding to that time, and then ordered to be ſung: but principally relating to the building of the church of Chriſt, after our redemption from the captivity of ſatan.

PSALM XCVI. VER. 2. Clouds and darkneſs. The coming of Chriſt in the clouds with great terror and majeſty to judge the world, is here propheſied.

king: 7 let the sea be moved and the fulness thereof: the world and they that dwell therein.

8 The rivers shall clap their hands, the mountains shall rejoice together 9 at the presence of the Lord: because he cometh to judge the earth.

He shall judge the world with justice, and the people with equity.

PSALM XCVIII.

Dominus regnavit.

The reign of the Lord in Sion: that is, of Christ in his church.

1 A psalm for David himself.

THE Lord hath reigned, let the people be angry: he that sitteth on the cherubims: let the earth be moved.

2 The Lord is great in Sion, and high above all people.

3 Let them give praise to thy great name: for it is terrible and holy: 4 and the king's honour loveth judgment.

Thou hast prepared directions: thou hast done judgment and justice in Jacob.

5 Exalt ye the Lord our God, and adore his foot-stool, for it is holy.

6 Moses and Aaron among his priests: and Samuel among them that call upon his name.

They called upon the Lord, and he heard them: 7 he spoke to them in the pillar of the cloud.

They kept his testimonies, and the commandment which he gave them.

8 Thou didst hear them, O Lord, our God: thou wast a merciful God to them, and taking vengeance on all their inventions.

9 Exalt ye the Lord our God, and adore at his holy mountain: for the Lord our God is holy.

PSALM XCIX.

Jubilate Deo.

All are invited to rejoice in God the creator of all.

1 A psalm of praise.

2 SING joyfully to God, all the earth: serve ye the Lord with gladness.

Come in before his presence with exceeding great joy.

3 Know ye that the Lord he is God: he made us, and not we ourselves.

We are his people and the sheep of his pasture. 4 Go ye into his gates with praise, into his courts with hymns: and give glory to him.

Praise ye his name: 5 for the Lord is sweet, his mercy endureth for ever, and his truth to generation and generation.

PSALM C.

Misericordiam & judicium.

The prophet exhorteth all by his example, to follow mercy and justice.

1 A psalm for David himself.

MERCY and judgment I will sing to thee, O Lord:

I will sing, 2 and I will understand in the unspotted way, when thou shalt come to me.

I walked in the innocence of my heart, in the midst of my house.

3 I did not set before my eyes any unjust thing: I hated the workers of iniquities.

4 The perverse heart did not cleave to me: and the malignant, that turned aside from me, I would not know.

5 The man that in private detracted his neighbour, him did I persecute.

With him that had a proud eye, and an unsatiable heart, I would not eat.

PSALM XCVIII. VER. 1. Let the people be angry. Though many enemies rage, and the whole earth be stirred up to oppose the reign of Christ, he shall still prevail.

VER. 4. Loveth judgment. Requireth discretion.

Ibid. Directions. Most right and just laws to direct men.

VER. 5. Adore his foot-stool. The ark of the covenant was called, in the old testament, God's foot-stool: over which he was understood to sit, on his propitiatory, or mercy-seat, as on a throne, between the wings of the cherubims, in the sanctuary: to which the children of Israel paid a great veneration. But as this psalm evidently relates to Christ, and the new testament, where the ark has no place, the holy fathers understand this text, of the worship paid by the church to the body and blood of Christ in the sacred mysteries; in as much as the humanity of Christ is, as it were, the foot-stool of the divinity. So St. Ambrose, L. 3. de Spiritu Sancto, c. 12. And St. Augustine upon this psalm.

VER. 6. Moses and Aaron among his priests. By this it is evident, that Moses also was a priest, and indeed the chief priest, in as much as he consecrated Aaron, and offered sacrifice for him. Leviticus viii. So that his pre-eminence over Aaron makes nothing for lay church headship.

VER. 8. All their inventions. That is, all the enterprizes of their enemies against them, as in the case of Core, Dathan and Abiron.

PSALM C. VER. 2. I will understand, &c. That is, I will apply my mind, I will do my endeavour, to know and to follow the perfect way of thy commandments: not trusting to my own strength, but relying on thy coming to me by thy grace.

6 My eyes were upon the faithful of the earth, to ſit with me: the man that walked in the perfect way, he ſerved me.

7 He that worketh pride ſhall not dwell in the midſt of my houſe: he that ſpeaketh unjuſt things did not proſper before my eyes.

8 In the morning I put to death all the wicked of the land: that I might cut off all the workers of iniquity from the city of the Lord.

PSALM CI.

Domine exaudi.

A prayer for one in affliction: the fifth penitential pſalm.

1 The prayer of the poor man, when he was anxious, and poured out his ſupplication before the Lord.

2 HEAR, O Lord, my prayer: and let my cry come to thee.

3 Turn not away thy face from me: in the day when I am in trouble, incline thy ear to me.

In what day ſoever I ſhall call upon thee, hear me ſpeedily.

4 For my days are vaniſhed like ſmoke: and my bones are grown dry like fewel for the fire.

5 I am ſmitten as graſs, and my heart is withered: becauſe I forgot to eat my bread.

6 Through the voice of my groaning, my bone hath cleaved to my fleſh.

7 I am become like to a pelican of the wilderneſs: I am like a night-raven in the houſe.

8 I have watched, and am become as a ſparrow, all alone on the houſe top.

9 All the day long my enemies reproached me: and they that praiſed me did ſwear againſt me.

10 For I did eat aſhes like bread, and mingled my drink with weeping.

11 Becauſe of thy anger and indignation: for having lifted me up thou haſt thrown me down.

12 My days have declined like a ſhadow, and I am withered like graſs.

13 But thou, O Lord, endureſt for ever: and thy memorial to all generations.

14 Thou ſhalt ariſe and have mercy on Sion: for it is time to have mercy on it, for the time is come.

15 For the ſtones thereof have pleaſed thy ſervants: and they ſhall have pity on the earth thereof.

16 And the gentiles ſhall fear thy name, O Lord, and all the kings of the earth thy glory.

17 For the Lord hath built up Sion: and he ſhall be ſeen in his glory.

18 He hath had regard to the prayer of the humble: and he hath not deſpiſed their petition.

19 Let theſe things be written unto another generation: and the people that ſhall be created ſhall praiſe the Lord:

20 Becauſe he hath looked forth from his high ſanctuary: from heaven the Lord hath looked upon the earth.

21 That he might hear the groans of them that are in fetters: that he might releaſe the children of the ſlain:

22 That they may declare the name of the Lord in Sion: and his praiſe in Jeruſalem.

23 When the people aſſemble together, and kings to ſerve the Lord.

24 He anſwered him in the way of his ſtrength: Declare unto me the fewneſs of my days.

25 Call me not away in the midſt of my days: thy years are unto generation and generation.

26 In the beginning, O Lord, thou foundedſt the earth: and the heavens are the works of thy hands.

27 They ſhall periſh, but thou remaineſt: and all of them ſhall grow old like a garment:

And as a veſture thou ſhalt change them, and they ſhall be changed. 28 But thou art always the ſelf-ſame, and thy years ſhall not fail.

29 The children of thy ſervants ſhall continue: and their ſeed ſhall be directed for ever.

PSALM CII.

Benedic anima.

Thankſgiving to God for his mercies.

1 For David himſelf.

BLESS the Lord, O my ſoul: and let all that is within me bleſs his holy name.

2 Bleſs the Lord, O my ſoul, and never forget all he hath done for thee.

PSALM CI. VER. 7. A pelican, &c. I am become, through grief, like birds that affect ſolitude and darkneſs.

VER. 24. He anſwered him in the way of his ſtrength. That is, the people mentioned in the foregoing verſe, or the penitent, in whoſe perſon this pſalm is delivered, anſwered the Lord in the way of his ſtrength: that is, according to the beſt of his power and ſtrength: or when he was in the flower of his age and ſtrength: inquiring after the fewneſs of his days: to know if he ſhould live long enough to ſee the happy reſtoration of Sion, &c.

3 Who forgiveth all thy iniquities: who healeth all thy diſeaſes.

4 Who redeemeth thy life from deſtruction: who crowneth thee with mercy and compaſſion.

5 Who ſatisfieth thy deſire with good things: thy youth ſhall be renewed like the eagle's.

6 The Lord doth mercies, and judgment for all that ſuffer wrong.

7 He hath made his ways known to Moſes: his wills to the children of Iſrael.

‖ Exod. 34. 6. Num. 14. 8. 8 ‖ The Lord is compaſſionate and merciful: long ſuffering and plenteous in mercy.

9 He will not always be angry: nor will he threaten for ever.

10 He hath not dealt with us according to our ſins: nor rewarded us according to our iniquities.

11 For according to the height of the heaven above the earth: he hath ſtrengthened his mercy towards them that fear him.

12 As far as the eaſt is from the weſt, ſo far hath he removed our iniquities from us.

13 As a father hath compaſſion on his children, ſo hath the Lord compaſſion on them that fear him: 14 for he knoweth our frame.

He remembereth that we are duſt: 15 man's days are as graſs, as the flower of the field ſo ſhall he flouriſh.

16 For the ſpirit ſhall paſs in him, and he ſhall not be: and he ſhall know his place no more.

17 But the mercy of the Lord is from eternity and unto eternity upon them that fear him:

And his juſtice unto children's children, 18 to ſuch as keep his covenant,

And are mindful of his commandments to do them.

19 The Lord hath prepared his throne in heaven: and his kingdom ſhall rule over all.

20 Bleſs the Lord, all ye his angels: you that are mighty in ſtrength, and execute his word, hearkening to the voice of his orders.

21 Bleſs the Lord, all ye his hoſts: you miniſters of his that do his will.

22 Bleſs the Lord, all his works: in every place of his dominion, O my ſoul, bleſs thou the Lord.

PSALM CIII.

Benedic anima.

God is to be praiſed for his mighty works, and wonderful providence.

1 For David himſelf.

BLESS the Lord, O my ſoul: O Lord my God, thou art exceedingly great.

Thou haſt put on praiſe and beauty: 2 and art clothed with light as with a garment.

Who ſtretcheſt out the heaven like a pavilion: 3 who covereſt the higher rooms thereof with water.

Who makeſt the clouds thy chariot: who walkeſt upon the wings of the winds.

4 ‖ Who makeſt thy Angels ſpirits: and thy miniſters a burning fire. ‖ Heb. 1. 7.

5 Who haſt founded the earth upon its own baſes: it ſhall not be moved for ever and ever.

6 The deep like a garment is its cloathing: above the mountains ſhall the waters ſtand.

7 At thy rebuke they ſhall flee: at the voice of thy thunder they ſhall fear.

8 The mountains aſcend, and the plains deſcend into the place which thou haſt founded for them.

9 Thou haſt ſet a bound which they ſhall not paſs over: neither ſhall they return to cover the earth.

10 Thou ſendeſt forth ſprings in the vales: between the midſt of the hills the waters ſhall paſs.

11 All the beaſts of the field ſhall drink: the wild aſſes ſhall expect in their thirſt.

12 Over them the birds of the air ſhall dwell: from the midſt of the rocks they ſhall give forth their voices.

13 Thou watereſt the hills from thy upper rooms: the earth ſhall be filled with the fruit of thy works:

14 Bringing forth graſs for cattle, and herb for the ſervice of men.

That thou mayſt bring bread out of the earth: 15 and that wine may cheer the heart of man.

That he may make the face cheerful with oil: and that bread may ſtrengthen man's heart.

16 The trees of the field ſhall be filled, and the cedars of Libanus which he hath planted: 17 there the ſparrows ſhall make their neſts.

The higheſt of them is the houſe of the heron. 18 The high hills are a refuge for the harts, the rock for the irchins.

19 He hath made the moon for ſeaſons: the ſun knoweth his going down.

20 Thou haſt appointed darkneſs, and it is night: in it ſhall all the beaſts of the woods go about.

21 The young lions roaring after their prey, and ſeeking their meat from God.

22 The ſun ariſeth, and they are gathered together: and they ſhall lie down in their dens.

23 Man ſhall go forth to his work, and to his labour until the evening.

24 How great are thy works, O Lord! thou haſt made all things in wiſdom; the earth is filled with thy riches.

25 So is this great ſea, which ſtretcheth wide its arms: there are creeping things without number.

Creatures little and great. 26 There the ſhips ſhall go.

This ſea-dragon which thou haſt formed to play therein. 27 All expect of thee that thou give them food in ſeaſon.

28 What thou giveſt to them they ſhall gather up: when thou openeſt thy hand, they ſhall all be filled with good.

29 But if thou turneſt away thy face, they ſhall be troubled: thou ſhalt take away their breath, and they ſhall fail, and ſhall return to their duſt.

30 Thou ſhalt ſend forth thy ſpirit, and they ſhall be created: and thou ſhalt renew the face of the earth.

31 May the glory of the Lord endure for ever: the Lord ſhall rejoice in his works.

32 He looketh upon the earth, and maketh it tremble: he toucheth the mountains, and they ſmoke.

‖ Infra 145. 2. 33 ‖ I will ſing to the Lord as long as I live: I will ſing praiſe to my God while I have my being.

34 Let my ſpeech be acceptable to him: but I will take delight in the Lord.

35 Let ſinners be conſumed out of the earth, and the unjuſt, ſo that they be no more: O my ſoul, bleſs thou the Lord.

PSALM CIV.

Confitemini Domino.

A thankſgiving to God for his benefits to his people Iſrael.

Alleluia.

1 Par. 16. 8. Iſai. 12. 4. GIVE glory to the Lord, and call upon his name: declare his deeds among the gentiles.

2 Sing to him, yea ſing praiſes to him: relate all his wondrous works.

3 Glory ye in his holy name: let the heart of them rejoice that ſeek the Lord.

4 Seek ye the Lord, and be ſtrengthened: ſeek his face evermore.

5 Remember his marvellous works which he hath done; his wonders, and the judgments of his mouth.

6 O ye ſeed of Abraham his ſervant; ye ſons of Jacob his choſen.

7 He is the Lord our God: his judgments are in all the earth.

8 He hath remembered his covenant for ever: the word which he commanded to a thouſand generations:

9 ‖ Which he made to Abraham; and his oath to Iſaac: ‖ Gen. 22. 16.

10 And he appointed the ſame to Jacob for a law, and to Iſrael for an everlaſting teſtament:

11 Saying: To thee will I give the land of Chanaan, the lot of your inheritance.

12 When they were but a ſmall number: yea very few, and ſojourners therein:

13 And they paſſed from nation to nation, and from one kingdom to another people.

14 He ſuffered no man to hurt them: and he reproved kings for their ſakes.

15 ‖ Touch ye not my anointed: and do no evil to my prophets. ‖ 2 Kings 1. 14. 1 Par. 16. 22.

17 He ſent a man before them: ‡ Joſeph, who was ſold for a ſlave. ‡ Gen. 37. 36.

18 ‖ They humbled his feet in fetters: the iron pierced his ſoul, 19 until his word came. ‖ Gen. 39. 20.

The word of the Lord inflamed him.

20 ‡ The king ſent, and he releaſed him: the ruler of the people, and he ſet him at liberty. ‡ Gen. 41. 14.

21 He made him maſter of his houſe, and ruler of all his poſſeſſion.

22 That he might inſtruct his princes as himſelf, and teach his ancients wiſdom.

23 ‖ And Iſrael went into Egypt: and Jacob was a ſojourner in the land of Cham. ‖ Gen. 46. 6.

24 ‡ And he increaſed his people exceedingly: and ſtrengthened them over their enemies. ‡ Exod. 1. 7. Acts 7. 17.

25 He turned their heart to hate his people: and to deal deceitfully with his ſervants.

26 ‖ He ſent Moſes his ſervant: Aaron the man whom he had choſen. ‖ Exod. 3. 10. & 4. 29.

27 ‡ He gave them power to ſhew his ſigns, and his wonders in the land of Cham. ‡ Exod. 7. 10.

PSALM CIV. VER. 25. He turned their hearts, &c. Not that God (who is never the author of ſin) moved the Egyptians to hate and perſecute his people: but that the Egyptians took occaſion of hating and envying them, from the ſight of the benefits which God beſtowed upon them.

28 || He sent darkness, and made it obscure: and grieved not his words.

29 ‡ He turned their waters into blood, and destroyed their fish.

30 || Their land brought forth frogs, in the inner chambers of their kings.

31 ‡ He spoke, and there came divers sorts of flies, and cinifes in all their coasts.

32 He gave them hail for rain, a burning fire in their land.

33 And he destroyed their vineyards and their fig-trees: and he broke in pieces the trees of their coasts.

34 || He spoke, and the locust came, and the bruchus, of which there was no number:

35 And they devoured all the grass in their land, and consumed all the fruit of their ground.

36 || And he slew all the first-born in their land: the first-fruits of all their labour.

37 ‡ And he brought them out with silver and gold: and there was not among their tribes one that was feeble.

38 Egypt was glad when they departed: for the fear of them lay upon them.

39 || He spread a cloud for their protection, and fire to give them light in the night.

40 † They asked, and the quail came: and he filled them with the bread of heaven.

41 || He opened the rock, and waters flowed: rivers ran down in the dry land.

42 ‡ Because he remembered his holy word, which he had spoken to his servant Abraham.

43 And he brought forth his people with joy, and his chosen with gladness.

44 And he gave them the lands of the gentiles: and they possessed the labours of the people:

45 That they might observe his justifications, and seek after his law.

PSALM CV.

Confitemini Domino.

A confession of the manifold sins and ingratitudes of the Israelites.

GIVE glory to the Lord, for he is good: for his mercy endureth for ever.

2 || Who shall declare the powers of the Lord! who shall set forth all his praises:

3 Blessed are they that keep judgment, and do justice at all times.

4 Remember us, O Lord, in the favour of thy people: visit us with thy salvation.

5 That we may see the good of thy chosen, that we may rejoice in the joy of thy nation: that thou mayst be praised with thy inheritance.

6 || We have sinned with our fathers: we have acted unjustly, we have wrought iniquity.

7 Our fathers understood not thy wonders in Egypt: they remembered not the multitude of thy mercies:

And they provoked to wrath going up to the sea, even the Red sea.

8 And he saved them for his own name's sake: that he might make his power known.

9 || And he rebuked the Red sea, and it was dried up: and he led them through the depths, as in a wilderness.

10 And he saved them from the hand of them that hated them: and he redeemed them from the hand of the enemy.

11 || And the water covered them that afflicted them: there was not one of them left.

12 And they believed his words: and they sang his praises.

13 They had quickly done, they forgot his works: and they waited not for his counsel.

14 || And they coveted their desire in the desert: and they tempted God in the place without water.

15 ‡ And he gave them their request: and sent fulness into their souls.

16 And they provoked Moses in the camp, Aaron the holy one of the Lord.

17 || The earth opened and swallowed up Dathan: and covered the congregation of Abiron.

18 And a fire was kindled in their congregation: the flame burned the wicked.

19 || They made also a calf in Horeb: and they adored the graven thing.

20 And they changed their glory into the likeness of a calf that eateth grass.

21 They forgot God, who saved them, who had done great things in Egypt, 22

‖ Deut. 30. 1. 45 ‖ And he was mindful of his covenant: and repented according to the multitude of his mercies.

46 And he gave them unto mercies, in the sight of all those that had made them captives.

47 Save us, O Lord, our God: and gather us from among the nations:

11 Becauſe they had exaſperated the words of God: and provoked the counſel of the Moſt High:

12 And their heart was humbled with labours: they were weakened, and there was none to help them.

13 Then they cried to the Lord in their affliction: and he delivered them out of their diſtreſſes.

14 And he brought them out of darkneſs, and the ſhadow of death: and broke their bonds in ſunder.

15 Let the mercies of the Lord give glory to him, and his wonderful works to the children of men.

16 Becauſe he hath broken gates of braſs, and burſt iron bars.

17 He took them out of the way of their iniquity: for they were brought low for their injuſtices.

18 Their ſoul abhorred all manner of meat: and they drew nigh even to the gates of death.

19 And they cried to the Lord in their affliction: and he delivered them out of their diſtreſſes.

20 He ſent his word, and healed them: and delivered them from their deſtructions.

21 Let the mercies of the Lord give glory to him: and his wonderful works to the children of men.

22 And let them ſacrifice the ſacrifice of praiſe: and declare his works with joy.

23 They that go down to the ſea in ſhips, doing buſineſs in the great waters:

24 Theſe have ſeen the works of the Lord, and his wonders in the deep.

25 He ſaid the word, and there aroſe a ſtorm of wind: and the waves thereof were lifted up.

26 They mount up to the heavens, and they go down to the depths: their ſoul pined away with evils.

27 They were troubled, and reeled like a drunken man: and all their wiſdom was ſwallowed up.

28 And they cried to the Lord in their affliction: and he brought them out of their diſtreſſes.

29 And he turned the ſtorm into a breeze: and its waves were ſtill.

30 And they rejoiced becauſe they were ſtill: and he brought them to the haven which they wiſhed for.

31 Let the mercies of the Lord give glory to him, and his wonderful works to the children of men.

32 And let them exalt him in the church of the people: and praiſe him in the chair of the ancients.

33 He hath turned rivers into a wilderneſs: and the ſources of waters into dry ground:

34 A fruitful land into barrenneſs, for the wickedneſs of them that dwell therein.

35 He hath turned a wilderneſs into pools of waters, and a dry land into water ſprings.

36 And hath placed there the hungry: and they made a city for their habitation.

37 And they ſowed fields, and planted vineyards: and they yielded fruit of birth.

38 And he bleſſed them, and they were multiplied exceedingly: and their cattle he ſuffered not to decreaſe.

39 Then they were brought to be few: and they were afflicted through the trouble of evils and ſorrow.

40 Contempt was poured forth upon their princes: and he cauſed them to wander where there was no paſſing, and out of the way.

41 And he helped the poor out of poverty: and made him families like a flock of ſheep.

42 ‖ The juſt ſhall ſee, and ſhall rejoice: and all iniquity ſhall ſtop her mouth. ‖ Job 22. 19.

43 Who is wiſe, and will keep theſe things: and will underſtand the mercies of the Lord?

PSALM CVII.

Paratum cor meum.

The prophet praiſeth God for benefits received.

1 A canticle of a pſalm for David himſelf.

2 MY heart is ready, O God, my heart is ready: I will ſing, and will give praiſe, with my glory.

3 Ariſe, my glory; ariſe, pſaltery and harp: I will ariſe in the morning early.

4 I will praiſe thee, O Lord, among the people: and I will ſing unto thee among the nations.

5 For thy mercy is great above the heavens: and thy truth even unto the clouds.

6 Be thou exalted, O God, above the heavens, and thy glory over all the earth: 7 that thy beloved may be delivered.

Save with thy right hand and hear me.

8 God hath ſpoken in his holineſs:

I will rejoice, and I will divide Sichem: and I will mete out the vale of tabernacles.

9 Galaad is mine, and Manaſſes is mine: and Ephraim the protection of my head.

Juda is my king: 10 Moab the pot of my hope.

Over Edom I will ſtretch out my ſhoe: the aliens are become my friends.

11 Who will bring me into the ſtrong city? who will lead me into Edom?

12 Wilt not thou, O God, who haſt caſt us off? and wilt not thou, O God, go forth with our armies?

13 O grant us help from trouble: for vain is the help of man.

14 Through God we ſhall do mightily: and he will bring our enemies to nothing.

PSALM CVIII.

Deus laudem meam.

David in the perſon of Chriſt prayeth againſt his perſecutors; more eſpecially the traitor Judas: foretelling and approving his juſt puniſhment for his obſtinacy in ſin, and final impenitence.

1 Unto the end, a pſalm for David.

2 O GOD, be not thou ſilent in my praiſe: for the mouth of the wicked and the mouth of the deceitful man is opened againſt me.

3 They have ſpoken againſt me with deceitful tongues; and they have compaſſed me about with words of hatred; and have fought againſt me without cauſe.

4 Inſtead of making me a return of love, they detracted me: but I gave myſelf to prayer.

5 And they repaid me evil for good: and hatred for my love.

6 Set thou the ſinner over him: and may the devil ſtand at his right hand.

7 When he is judged, may he go out condemned; and may his prayer be turned to ſin.

8 May his days be few: and his biſhopric let another take.

9 May his children be fatherleſs, and his wife a widow.

10 Let his children be carried about vagabonds, and beg; and let them be caſt out of their dwellings.

11 May the uſurer ſearch all his ſubſtance: and let ſtrangers plunder his labours.

12 May there be none to help him; nor none to pity his fatherleſs offſpring.

13 May his poſterity be cut off; in one generation may his name be blotted out.

14 May the iniquity of his fathers be remembered in the ſight of the Lord: and let not the ſin of his mother be blotted out.

15 May they be before the Lord continually, and let the memory of them periſh from the earth: 16 becauſe he remembered not to ſhew mercy.

17 But perſecuted the poor man and the beggar; and the broken in heart, to put him to death.

18 And he loved curſing, and it ſhall come unto him: and he would not have bleſſing, and it ſhall be far from him.

And he put on curſing, like a garment: and it went in like water into his entrails, and like oil in his bones.

19 May it be unto him like a garment which covereth him; and like a girdle with which he is girded continually.

20 This is the work of them who detract me before the Lord; and who ſpeak evils againſt my ſoul.

21 But thou, O Lord, do with me for thy name's ſake: becauſe thy mercy is ſweet.

Do thou deliver me, 22 for I am poor and needy, and my heart is troubled within me.

23 I am taken away like the ſhadow when it declineth: and I am ſhaken off as locuſts.

24 My knees are weakened through faſting: and my fleſh is changed for oil.

25 And I am become a reproach to them: they ſaw me, and they ſhaked their heads.

26 Help me, O Lord my God: ſave me according to thy mercy.

27 And let them know that this is thy hand: and that thou, O Lord, haſt done it.

28 They will curſe and thou wilt bleſs: let them that riſe up againſt me be confounded: but thy ſervant ſhall rejoice.

29 Let them that detract me be clothed with ſhame: and let them be covered with their confuſion as with a double cloak.

30 I will give great thanks to the Lord with my mouth; and in the midſt of many I will praiſe him.

31 Becauſe he hath ſtood at the right hand of the poor, to ſave my ſoul from perſecutors.

PSALM CVIII. VER. 6. Set thou the ſinner over him, &c. Give to the devil, that arch-ſinner, power over him: let him enter into him, and poſſeſs him. The imprecations, contained in the thirty verſes of this pſalm, are oppoſed to the thirty pieces of ſilver for which Judas betrayed our Lord: and are to be taken as prophetic denunciations of the evils that ſhould befal the traitor and his accomplices the Jews; and not properly as curſes.

VER. 24. For oil, præ oleum. The meaning is, my fleſh is changed, being perfectly emaciated and dried up, as having loſt all its oil or fatneſs.

PSALM CIX.

Dixit Dominus.

Christ's exaltation, and everlasting Priesthood.

1 A psalm of David.

Mat. 22. 44. THE Lord said to my Lord: Sit thou at my right hand:

‖ 1 Cor. 15. 25. Heb. 1. 13. & 10. 13. ‖ Until I make thy enemies thy footstool.

2 The Lord will send forth the sceptre of thy power out of Sion: rule thou in the midst of thy enemies.

3 With thee is the principality in the day of thy strength; in the brightness of the saints: from the womb before the day-star I begot thee.

‖ John 12. 34. Heb. 5. 6. & 7. 17. 4 The Lord hath sworn, and he will not repent: ‖ Thou art a priest for ever according to the order of Melchisedech.

5 The Lord at thy right hand hath broken kings in the day of his wrath.

6 He shall judge among nations, he shall fill ruins: he shall crush the heads in the land of many.

7 He shall drink of the torrent in the way: therefore shall he lift up the head.

PSALM CX.

Confitebor tibi Domine.

God is to be praised for his graces, and benefits to his church.

Alleluia.

I WILL praise thee, O Lord, with my whole heart; in the counsel of the just, and in the congregation.

2 Great are the works of the Lord: sought out according to all his wills.

3 His work is praise and magnificence: and his justice continueth for ever and ever.

4 He hath made a remembrance of his wonderful works, being a merciful and gracious Lord: 5 he hath given food to them that fear him.

He will be mindful for ever of his covenant: 6 he will shew forth to his people the power of his works.

7 That he may give them the inheritance of the Gentiles: the works of his hands are truth and judgment.

8 All his commandments are faithful: confirmed for ever and ever, made in truth and equity.

9 He hath sent redemption to his people: he hath commanded his covenant for ever.

Holy and terrible is his name: 10 ‖ the fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom. ‖ Prov. 1. 7. & 9. 17. Eccli. 1. 16.

A good understanding to all that do it: his praise continueth for ever and ever.

PSALM CXI.

Beatus vir.

The good man is happy.

Alleluia, of the returning of Aggeus and Zacharias.

BLESSED is the man that feareth the Lord: he shall delight exceedingly in his commandments.

2 His seed shall be mighty upon earth: the generation of the righteous shall be blessed.

3 Glory and wealth shall be in his house: and his justice remaineth for ever and ever.

4 To the righteous a light is risen up in darkness: he is merciful, and compassionate and just.

5 Acceptable is the man that sheweth mercy and lendeth: he shall order his words with judgment: 6 because he shall not be moved for ever.

7 The just shall be in everlasting remembrance: he shall not fear the evil hearing.

His heart is ready to hope in the Lord: 8 his heart is strengthened, he shall not be moved until he look over his enemies.

9 He hath distributed, he hath given to the poor: his justice remaineth for ever and ever: his horn shall be exalted in glory.

10 The wicked shall see, and shall be angry, he shall gnash with his teeth and pine away: the desire of the wicked shall perish.

PSALM CXII.

Laudate pueri.

God is to be praised, for his regard to the poor and humble.

Alleluia.

PRAISE the Lord, ye children: praise ye the name of the Lord.

2 Blessed be the name of the Lord, from henceforth now and for ever.

3 ‖ From the rising of the sun unto the going down of the same, the name of the Lord is worthy of praise. ‖ Malac. 1. 11.

4 The Lord is high above all nations: and his glory above the heavens.

PSALM CXI. Of the returning, &c. This is in the Greek and Latin, but not in the Hebrew. It signifies that this psalm was proper to be sung at the time of the return of the people from their captivity; to inculcate to them, how happy they might be, if they would be constant in the service of God.

5 Who is as the Lord our God, who dwelleth on high: 6 and looketh down on the low things in heaven and in earth?

7 Raising up the needy from the earth, and lifting up the poor out of the dunghill:

8 That he may place him with princes, with the princes of his people.

9 Who maketh a barren woman to dwell in a house, the joyful mother of children.

PSALM CXIII.

In exitu Israel.

God hath shewn his power in delivering his people: idols are vain. The Hebrews divide this into two Psalms.

Alleluia.

Exod. 13. 3. WHEN Israel went out of Egypt, the house of Jacob from a barbarous people:

2 Judea was made his sanctuary, Israel his dominion.

3 The sea saw and fled: Jordan was turned back.

4 The mountains skipped like rams, and the hills like the lambs of the flock.

5 What ailed thee, O thou sea, that thou didst flee: and thou, O Jordan, that thou wast turned back?

6 Ye mountains, that ye skipped like rams, and ye hills, like lambs of the flock?

7 At the presence of the Lord the earth was moved, at the presence of the God of Jacob:

8 Who turned the rock into pools of water, and the stony hill into fountains of waters.

1 Not to us, O Lord, not to us; but to thy name give glory.

2 For thy mercy, and for thy truth's sake: lest the Gentiles should say: Where is their God?

3 But our God is in heaven: he hath done all things whatsoever he would.

‖ Infra 134. 15. 4 ‖ The idols of the Gentiles are silver and gold, the works of the hands of men.

‡ Wis. 15. 15. 5 ‡ They have mouths and speak not: they have eyes and see not.

6 They have ears and hear not: they have noses and smell not.

7 They have hands and feel not: they have feet and walk not: neither shall they cry out through their throat.

8 Let them that make them become like unto them: and all such as trust in them.

9 The house of Israel hath hoped in the Lord: he is their helper and their protector.

10 The house of Aaron hath hoped in the Lord: he is their helper and their protector.

11 They that fear the Lord have hoped in the Lord: he is their helper and their protector.

12 The Lord hath been mindful of us, and hath blessed us.

He hath blessed the house of Israel: he hath blessed the house of Aaron.

13 He hath blessed all that fear the Lord, both little and great.

14 May the Lord add blessings upon you: upon you, and upon your children.

15 Blessed be you of the Lord, who made heaven and earth.

16 The heaven of heaven is the Lord's: but the earth he has given to the children of men.

‖ Baruc. 2. 17. 17 ‖ The dead shall not praise thee, O Lord: nor any of them that go down to hell.

18 But we that live bless the Lord: from this time now and for ever.

PSALM CXIV.

Dilexi.

The prayer of a just man in affliction, with a lively confidence in God.

Alleluia.

I HAVE loved, because the Lord will hear the voice of my prayer.

2 Because he hath inclined his ear unto me: and in my days I will call upon him.

3 The sorrows of death have compassed me: and the perils of hell have found me.

I met with trouble and sorrow: 4 and I called upon the name of the Lord.

O Lord, deliver my soul. 5 The Lord is merciful and just, and our God sheweth mercy.

6 The Lord is the keeper of little ones: I was humbled, and he delivered me.

7 Turn, O my soul, into thy rest: for the Lord hath been bountiful to thee.

8 For he hath delivered my soul from death: my eyes from tears, my feet from falling.

9 I will please the Lord in the land of the living.

PSALM CXV.

Credidi.

This in the Hebrew is joined with the foregoing Psalm, and continues to express the faith and gratitude of the Psalmist.

Alleluia.

2 Cor. 4. 13. 10 I HAVE believed, therefore have I spoken: but I have been humbled exceedingly.

‖ Rom. 3. 4.

11 I ſaid in my exceſs: ‖ Every man is a liar.

12 What ſhall I render to the Lord, for all the things that he hath rendered to me?

13 I will take the chalice of ſalvation; and I will call upon the name of the Lord.

14 I will pay my vows to the Lord, before all his people: 15 precious in the ſight of the Lord is the death of his ſaints.

16 O Lord, for I am thy ſervant: I am thy ſervant, and the ſon of thy handmaid.

Thou haſt broken my bonds: 17 I will ſacrifice to thee the ſacrifice of praiſe, and I will call upon the name of the Lord.

18 I will pay my vows to the Lord in the ſight of all his people: 19 in the courts of the houſe of the Lord, in the midſt of thee, O Jeruſalem.

PSALM CXVI.

Laudate Dominum.

All nations are called upon to praiſe God for his mercy and truth.

Alleluia.

Rom. 15. 11. O PRAISE the Lord, all ye nations: praiſe him, all ye people.

‖ John. 12. 34. 2 For his mercy is confirmed upon us: ‖ and the truth of the Lord remaineth for ever.

PSALM CXVII.

Confitemini Domino.

The pſalmiſt præiſeth God for his delivery from evils; putteth his whole truſt in him; and foretelleth the coming of Chriſt.

Alleluia.

GIVE praiſe to the Lord, for he is good: for his mercy endureth for ever.

2 Let Iſrael now ſay, that he is good: that his mercy endureth for ever.

3 Let the houſe of Aaron now ſay, that his mercy endureth for ever.

4 Let them that fear the Lord now ſay, that his mercy endureth for ever.

5 In my trouble I called upon the Lord: and the Lord heard me, and enlarged me.

6 The Lord is my helper: I will not fear what man can do unto me.

‖ Heb. 13. 6. 7 ‖ The Lord is my helper: and I will look over my enemies.

8 It is good to confide in the Lord, rather than to have confidence in man.

9 It is good to truſt in the Lord, rather than to truſt in princes.

10 All nations compaſſed me about; and in the name of the Lord I have been revenged on them.

11 Surrounding me they compaſſed me about: and in the name of the Lord I have been revenged on them.

12 They ſurrounded me like bees, and they burned like fire among thorns: and in the name of the Lord I was revenged on them.

13 Being puſhed I was overturned that I might fall: but the Lord ſupported me.

‖ Exod. 15. 2. 14 ‖ The Lord is my ſtrength and my praiſe: and he is become my ſalvation.

15 The voice of rejoicing and of ſalvation is in the tabernacles of the juſt.

16 The right hand of the Lord hath wrought ſtrength: the right hand of the Lord hath exalted me: the right hand of the Lord hath wrought ſtrength.

17 I ſhall not die, but live: and ſhall declare the works of the Lord.

18 The Lord chaſtiſing hath chaſtiſed me: but he hath not delivered me over to death.

19 Open ye to me the gates of juſtice: I will go in to them, and give praiſe to the Lord. 20 This is the gate of the Lord, the juſt ſhall enter into it.

21 I will give glory to thee becauſe thou haſt heard me: and art become my ſalvation.

‖ Iſai. 28. 16. Mat. 21. 42. Luke 20. 17. Acts 4. 11. Rom. 9. 33. 1 Peter 2. 7. 22 ‖ The ſtone which the builders rejected; the ſame is become the head of the corner.

23 This is the Lord's doing: and it is wonderful in our eyes.

24 This is the day which the Lord hath made: let us be glad and rejoice therein.

25 O Lord, ſave me: O Lord, give good ſucceſs. 26 Bleſſed be he that cometh in the name of the Lord.

We have bleſſed you out of the houſe of the Lord. 27 The Lord is God, and he hath ſhone upon us.

Appoint a ſolemn day, with ſhady boughs, even to the horn of the altar.

28 Thou art my God, and I will praiſe thee: thou art my God, and I will exalt thee.

I will praiſe thee, becauſe thou haſt heard me, and art become my ſalvation.

29 O praiſe ye the Lord, for he is good: for his mercy endureth for ever.

PSALM CXVIII.

Beati immaculati.

Of the excellence of virtue conſiſting in the love and obſervance of the commandments of God.

Alleluia.

ALEPH.

BLESSED are the undefiled in the way, who walk in the law of the Lord.

2 Bleſſed are they that ſearch his teſtimonies: that ſeek him with their whole heart.

3 For they that work iniquity, have not walked in his ways.

4 Thou haſt commanded thy commandments to be kept moſt diligently.

5 O! that my ways may be directed to keep thy juſtifications.

6 Then ſhall I not be confounded, when I ſhall look into all thy commandments.

7 I will praiſe thee with uprightneſs of heart, when I ſhall have learned the judgments of thy juſtice.

8 I will keep thy juſtifications: O! do not thou utterly forſake me.

BETH.

9 By what doth a young man correct his way? by obſerving thy words.

10 With my whole heart have I ſought after thee: let me not ſtray from thy commandments.

11 Thy words have I hidden in my heart, that I may not ſin againſt thee.

12 Bleſſed art thou, O Lord: teach me thy juſtifications.

13 With my lips I have pronounced all the judgments of thy mouth.

14 I have been delighted in the way of thy teſtimonies, as in all riches.

15 I will meditate on thy commandments: and I will conſider thy ways.

16 I will think of thy juſtifications: I will not forget thy words.

GIMEL.

17 Give bountifully to thy ſervant, enliven me: and I ſhall keep thy words.

18 Open thou my eyes: and I will conſider the wondrous things of thy law.

19 I am a ſojourner on the earth: hide not thy commandments from me.

20 My ſoul hath coveted to long for thy juſtifications, at all times.

21 Thou haſt rebuked the proud: they are curſed who decline from thy commandments.

22 Remove from me reproach and contempt: becauſe I have ſought after thy teſtimonies.

23 For princes ſat, and ſpoke againſt me: but thy ſervant was employed in thy juſtifications.

24 For thy teſtimonies are my meditation; and thy juſtifications my counſel.

DALETH.

25 My ſoul hath cleaved to the pavement: quicken thou me according to thy word.

26 I have declared my ways, and thou haſt heard me: teach me thy juſtifications.

27 Make me to underſtand the way of thy juſtifications: and I ſhall be exerciſed in thy wondrous works.

28 My ſoul hath ſlumbered through heavineſs: ſtrengthen thou me in thy words.

29 Remove from me the way of iniquity: and out of thy law have mercy on me.

30 I have choſen the way of truth: thy judgments I have not forgotten.

31 I have ſtuck to thy teſtimonies, O Lord: put me not to ſhame.

32 I have run the way of thy commandments, when thou didſt enlarge my heart.

HE.

33 Set before me for a law the way of thy juſtifications, O Lord: and I will always ſeek after it.

34 Give me underſtanding, and I will ſearch thy law; and I will keep it with my whole heart.

35 Lead me into the path of thy commandments; for this ſame I have deſired.

36 Incline my heart unto thy teſtimonies, and not to covetouſneſs.

PSALM CXVIII. ALEPH. The firſt eight verſes of this pſalm in the original begin with ALEPH, which is the name of the firſt letter of the Hebrew alphabet. The ſecond eight verſes begin with BETH, the name of the ſecond letter of the Hebrew alphabet: and ſo to the end of the whole alphabet, in all twenty-two letters, each letter having eight verſes. This order is variouſly expounded by the holy fathers; which ſhews the difficulty of underſtanding the holy ſcriptures, and conſequently with what humility, and ſubmiſſion to the Church they are to be read.

Ibid. VER. 2. His teſtimonies. The commandments of God are called his teſtimonies, becauſe they teſtify his holy will unto us. Note here, that in almoſt every verſe of this pſalm (which in number are 176) the word and law of God, and the love and obſervance of it, is perpetually inculcated, under a variety of denominations, all ſignifying the ſame thing.

37 Turn away my eyes that they may not behold vanity: quicken me in thy way.

38 Eſtabliſh thy word to thy ſervant, in thy fear.

39 Turn away my reproach, which I have apprehended: for thy judgments are delightful.

40 Behold I have longed after thy precepts: quicken me in thy juſtice.

V A U.

41 Let thy mercy alſo come upon me, O Lord: thy ſalvation according to thy word.

42 So ſhall I anſwer them that reproach me in any thing; that I have truſted in thy words.

43 And take not thou the word of truth utterly out of my mouth: for in thy words, I have hoped exceedingly.

44 So ſhall I always keep thy law, for ever and ever.

45 And I walked at large: becauſe I have ſought after thy commandments.

46 And I ſpoke of thy teſtimonies before kings; and I was not aſhamed.

47 I meditated alſo on thy commandments, which I loved.

48 And I lifted up my hands to thy commandments, which I loved: and I was exerciſed in thy juſtification.

Z A I N.

49 Be thou mindful of thy word to thy ſervant, in which thou haſt given me hope.

50 This hath comforted me in my humiliation: becauſe thy word hath enlivened me.

51 The proud did iniquitouſly altogether: but I declined not from thy law.

52 I remembered, O Lord, thy judgments of old: and I was comforted.

53 A fainting hath taken hold of me, becauſe of the wicked that forſake thy law.

54 Thy juſtifications were the ſubject of my ſong, in the place of my pilgrimage.

55 In the night I have remembered thy name, O Lord: and have kept thy law.

56 This happened to me: becauſe I ſought after thy juſtifications.

H E T H.

57 O Lord, my portion, I have ſaid, I would keep thy law.

58 I intreated thy face with all my heart: have mercy on me according to thy word.

59 I have thought on my ways: and turned my feet unto thy teſtimonies.

60 I am ready, and am not troubled: that I may keep thy commandments.

61 The cords of the wicked have encompaſſed me: but I have not forgotten thy law.

62 I roſe at midnight to give praiſe to thee; for the judgments of thy juſtification.

63 I am a partaker with all them that fear thee, and that keep thy commandments.

64 The earth, O Lord, is full of thy mercy: teach me thy juſtifications.

T E T H.

65 Thou haſt done well with thy ſervant, O Lord, according to thy word.

66 Teach me goodneſs and diſcipline and knowledge; for I have believed thy commandments.

67 Before I was humbled I offended; therefore have I kept thy word.

68 Thou art good; and in thy goodneſs teach me thy juſtifications.

69 The iniquity of the proud hath been multiplied over me: but I will ſeek thy commandments with my whole heart.

70 Their heart is curdled like milk: but I have meditated on thy law.

71 It is good for me that thou haſt humbled me, that I may learn thy juſtifications.

72 The law of thy mouth is good to me, above thouſands of gold and ſilver.

J O D.

73 Thy hands have made me and formed me: give me underſtanding, and I will learn thy commandments.

74 They that fear thee ſhall ſee me, and ſhall be glad: becauſe I have greatly hoped in thy words.

75 I know, O Lord, that thy judgments are equity: and in thy truth thou haſt humbled me.

76 O! let thy mercy be for my comfort, according to thy word unto thy ſervant.

77 Let thy tender mercies come unto me, and I ſhall live: for thy law is my meditation.

78 Let the proud be aſhamed, becauſe they have done unjuſtly towards me: but I will be employed in thy commandments.

79 Let them that fear thee turn to me: and they that know thy teſtimonies.

80 Let my heart be undefiled in thy juſtifications, that I may not be confounded.

C A P H.

81 My ſoul hath fainted after thy ſalvation: and in thy word I have very much hoped.

82 My eyes have failed for thy word, ſaying: When wilt thou comfort me?

83 For I am become like a bottle in the frost: I have not forgotten thy justifications.

84 How many are the days of thy servant: when wilt thou execute judgment on them that persecute me?

85 The wicked have told me fables: but not as thy law.

86 All thy statutes are truth: they have persecuted me unjustly, do thou help me.

87 They had almost made an end of me upon earth: but I have not forsaken thy commandments.

88 Quicken thou me according to thy mercy: and I shall keep the testimonies of thy mouth.

L A M E D.

89 For ever, O Lord, thy word standeth firm in heaven.

90 Thy truth unto all generations: thou hast founded the earth, and it continueth.

91 By thy ordinance the day goeth on: for all things serve thee.

92 Unless thy law had been my meditation, I had then perhaps perished in my abjection.

93 Thy justifications I will never forget: for by them thou hast given me life.

94 I am thine, save thou me: for I have sought thy justifications.

95 The wicked have waited for me to destroy me: but I have understood thy testimonies.

96 I have seen an end of all perfection: thy commandment is exceeding broad.

M E M.

97 O how have I loved thy law, O Lord! it is my meditation all the day.

98 Through thy commandment, thou hast made me wiser than my enemies: for it is ever with me.

99 I have understood more than all my teachers: because thy testimonies are my meditation.

100 I have had understanding above ancients: because I have sought thy commandments.

101 I have restrained my feet from every evil way; that I may keep thy words.

102 I have not declined from thy judgments, because thou hast set me a law.

103 How sweet are thy words to my palate! more than honey to my mouth.

104 By thy commandments I have had understanding: therefore have I hated every way of iniquity.

N U N.

105 Thy word is a lamp to my feet, and a light to my paths.

106 I have sworn and am determined to keep the judgments of thy justice.

107 I have been humbled, O Lord, exceedingly: quicken thou me according to thy word.

108 The free offerings of my mouth make acceptable, O Lord: and teach me thy judgments.

109 My soul is continually in my hands: and I have not forgotten thy law.

110 Sinners have laid a snare for me: but I have not erred from thy precepts.

111 I have purchased thy testimonies for an inheritance for ever: because they are the joy of my heart.

112 I have inclined my heart to do thy justifications for ever, for the reward.

S A M E C H.

113 I have hated the unjust: and have loved thy law.

114 Thou art my helper and my protector: and in thy word I have greatly hoped.

115 Depart from me, ye malignant: and I will search the commandments of my God.

116 Uphold me according to thy word, and I shall live: and let me not be confounded in my expectation.

117 Help me, and I shall be saved: and I will meditate always on thy justifications.

118 Thou hast despised all them that fall off from thy judgments; for their thought is unjust.

119 I have accounted all the sinners of the earth prevaricators: therefore have I loved thy testimonies.

120 Pierce thou my flesh with thy fear: for I am afraid of thy judgments.

A I N.

121 I have done judgment and justice: give me not up to them that slander me.

122 Uphold thy servant unto good: let not the proud calumniate me.

123 My eyes have fainted after thy salvation: and for the word of thy justice.

124 Deal with thy servant according to thy mercy: and teach me thy justifications.

125 I am thy servant: give me understanding that I may know thy testimonies.

126 It is time, O Lord, to do: they have dissipated thy law.

127 Therefore have I loved thy commandments above gold and the topaz.

128 Therefore was I directed to all thy commandments: I have hated all wicked ways.

PHE.

129 Thy teſtimonies are wonderful: therefore my ſoul hath ſought them.

130 The declaration of thy words giveth light: and giveth underſtanding to little ones.

131 I opened my mouth, and panted: becauſe I longed for thy commandments.

132 Look thou upon me, and have mercy on me, according to the judgment of them that love thy name.

133 Direct my ſteps according to thy word: and let no iniquity have dominion over me.

134 Redeem me from the calumnies of men: that I may keep thy commandments.

135 Make thy face to ſhine upon thy ſervant: and teach me thy juſtifications.

136 My eyes have ſent forth ſprings of water: becauſe they have not kept thy law.

SADE.

137 Thou art juſt, O Lord: and thy judgment is right.

138 Thou haſt commanded juſtice thy teſtimonies: and thy truth exceedingly.

139 My zeal hath made me pine away: becauſe my enemies forgot thy words.

140 Thy word is exceedingly refined: and thy ſervant hath loved it.

141 I am very young and deſpiſed; but I forget not thy juſtifications.

142 Thy juſtice is juſtice for ever: and thy law is the truth.

143 Trouble and anguiſh have found me; thy commandments are my meditation.

144 Thy teſtimonies are juſtice for ever; give me underſtanding, and I ſhall live.

COPH.

145 I cried with my whole heart, hear me, O Lord: I will ſeek thy juſtifications.

146 I cried unto thee, ſave me: that I may keep thy commandments.

147 I prevented the dawning of the day, and cried: becauſe in thy words I very much hoped.

148 My eyes to thee have prevented the morning: that I might meditate on thy words.

149 Hear thou my voice, O Lord, according to thy mercy: and quicken me according to thy judgment.

150 They that perſecute me have drawn nigh to iniquity; but they are gone far off from thy law.

151 Thou art near, O Lord: and all thy ways are truth.

152 I have known from the beginning concerning thy teſtimonies: that thou haſt founded them for ever.

RES.

153 See my humiliation and deliver me: for I have not forgotten thy law.

154 Judge my judgment and redeem me: quicken thou me for thy word's ſake.

155 Salvation is far from ſinners; becauſe they have not ſought thy juſtifications.

156 Many, O Lord, are thy mercies; quicken me according to thy judgment.

157 Many are they that perſecute me, and afflict me; but I have not declined from thy teſtimonies.

158 I beheld the tranſgreſſors, and I pined away; becauſe they kept not thy word.

159 Behold I have loved thy commandments, O Lord; quicken me thou in thy mercy.

160 The beginning of thy words is truth: all the judgments of thy juſtice are for ever.

SIN.

161 Princes have perſecuted me without cauſe: and my heart hath been in awe of thy words.

162 I will rejoice at thy words, as one that hath found great ſpoil.

163 I have hated and abhorred iniquity; but I have loved thy law.

164 Seven times a day I have given praiſe to thee, for the judgments of thy juſtice.

165 Much peace have they that love thy law; and to them there is no ſtumbling-block.

166 I looked for thy ſalvation, O Lord; and I loved thy commandments.

167 My ſoul hath kept thy teſtimonies, and hath loved them exceedingly.

168 I have kept thy commandments and thy teſtimonies; becauſe all my ways are in thy ſight.

TAU.

169 Let my ſupplication, O Lord, come near in thy ſight; give me underſtanding according to thy word.

170 Let my requeſt come in before thee; deliver thou me according to thy word.

171 My lips ſhall utter a hymn, when thou ſhalt teach me thy juſtifications.

172 My tongue ſhall pronounce thy word: becauſe all thy commandments are juſtice.

173 Let thy hand be with me to ſave me; for I have choſen thy precepts.

174 I have longed for thy ſalvation, O Lord; and thy law is my meditation.

175 My ſoul ſhall live, and ſhall praiſe thee; and thy judgments ſhall help me.

176 I have gone aſtray like a ſheep that is loſt: ſeek thy ſervant, becauſe I have not forgotten thy commandments.

PSALM CXIX.

Ad Dominum.

A prayer in tribulation.

A gradual canticle.

IN my trouble I cried to the Lord: and he heard me.

2 O Lord, deliver my ſoul from wicked lips, and a deceitful tongue.

3 What ſhall be given to thee, or what ſhall be added to thee, to a deceitful tongue?

4 The ſharp arrows of the mighty, with coals that lay waſte.

5 Wo is me, that my ſojourning is prolonged! I have dwelt with the inhabitants of Cedar: 6 my ſoul hath been long a ſojourner.

7 With them that hated peace I was peaceable: when I ſpoke to them they fought againſt me without cauſe.

PSALM CXX.

Levavi oculos.

God is the keeper of his ſervants.

A gradual canticle.

I HAVE lifted up my eyes to the mountains, from whence help ſhall come to me.

2 My help is from the Lord, who made heaven and earth.

3 May he not ſuffer thy foot to be moved; neither let him ſlumber that keepeth thee.

4 Behold he ſhall neither ſlumber nor ſleep, that keepeth Iſrael.

5 The Lord is thy keeper, the Lord is thy protection upon thy right hand.

6 The ſun ſhall not burn thee by day: nor the moon by night.

7 The Lord keepeth thee from all evil: may the Lord keep thy ſoul.

8 May the Lord keep thy coming in and thy going out; from henceforth now and for ever.

PSALM CXXI.

Lætatus ſum in his.

The deſire and hope of the juſt for the coming of the kingdom of God, and the peace of his church.

A gradual canticle.

I REJOICED at the things that were ſaid to me: We ſhall go into the houſe of the Lord.

2 Our feet were ſtanding in thy courts, O Jeruſalem.

3 Jeruſalem which is built as a city, which is compact together.

4 For thither did the tribes go up, the tribes of the Lord; the teſtimony of Iſrael, to praiſe the name of the Lord.

5 Becauſe their ſeats have ſat in judgment, ſeats upon the houſe of David.

6 Pray ye for the things that are for the peace of Jeruſalem: and abundance for them that love thee.

7 Let peace be in thy ſtrength: and abundance in thy towers.

8 For the ſake of my brethren and of my neighbours, I ſpoke peace of thee.

9 Becauſe of the houſe of the Lord our God, I have ſought good things for thee.

PSALM CXXII.

Ad te levavi.

A prayer in affliction, with confidence in God.

A gradual canticle.

TO thee have I lifted up my eyes, who dwelleſt in heaven.

2 Behold as the eyes of ſervants are on the hands of their maſters,

As the eyes of the hand-maid are on the hands of her miſtreſs: ſo are our eyes unto the Lord our God, until he have mercy on us.

3 Have mercy on us, O Lord, have mercy on us; for we are greatly filled with contempt.

4 For our ſoul is greatly filled: we are a reproach to the rich, and contempt to the proud.

PSALM CXIX. A gradual canticle. The following pſalms, in number fifteen, are called gradual pſalms or canticles, from the word gradus, ſignifying ſteps, aſcenſions, or degrees: either becauſe they were appointed to be ſung on the fifteen ſteps, by which the people aſcended to the temple: or that in the ſinging of them the voice was to be raiſed by certain ſteps or aſcenſions: or that they were to be ſung by the people returning from their captivity and aſcending to Jeruſalem, which was ſeated amongſt mountains. The holy fathers, in a myſtical ſenſe, underſtand theſe ſteps, or aſcenſions, of the degrees by which chriſtians ſpiritually aſcend to virtue and perfection; and to the true temple of God in the heavenly Jeruſalem.

PSALM CXXIII.

Nisi quia Dominus.

The church giveth glory to God for her deliverance from the hands of her enemies.

A gradual canticle.

IF it had not been that the Lord was with us, let Israel now say: 2 If it had not been that the Lord was with us,

When men rose up against us, 3 perhaps they had swallowed us up alive.

When their fury was enkindled against us, 4 perhaps the water had swallowed us up.

5 Our soul hath passed through a torrent: perhaps our soul had passed through a water insupportable.

6 Blessed be the Lord, who hath not given us to be a prey to their teeth.

7 Our soul hath been delivered, as a sparrow out of the snare of the fowlers.

The snare is broken, and we are delivered.

8 Our help is in the name of the Lord, who made heaven and earth.

PSALM CXXIV.

Qui confidunt.

The just are always under God's protection.

A gradual canticle.

THEY that trust in the Lord shall be as mount Sion: he shall not be moved for ever that dwelleth 2 in Jerusalem.

Mountains are round about it: so the Lord is round about his people from henceforth now and for ever.

3 For the Lord will not leave the rod of sinners upon the lot of the just: that the just may not stretch forth their hands to iniquity.

4 Do good, O Lord, to those that are good, and to the upright of heart.

5 But such as turn aside into bonds, the Lord shall lead out with the workers of iniquity: peace upon Israel.

PSALM CXXV.

In convertendo.

The people of God rejoice at their delivery from captivity.

A gradual canticle.

WHEN the Lord brought back the captivity of Sion, we became like men comforted.

2 Then was our mouth filled with gladness; and our tongue with joy.

Then shall they say among the gentiles: The Lord hath done great things for them.

3 The Lord hath done great things for us: we are become joyful.

4 Turn again our captivity, O Lord, as a stream in the south.

5 They that sow in tears shall reap in joy.

6 Going they went and wept, casting their seeds.

7 But coming they shall come with joyfulness, carrying their sheaves.

PSALM CXXVI.

Nisi Dominus.

Nothing can be done without God's grace and blessing.

A gradual canticle of Solomon.

UNLESS the Lord build the house, they labour in vain that build it.

Unless the Lord keep the city, he watcheth in vain that keepeth it.

2 It is vain for you to rise before light: rise ye after you have sitten, you that eat the bread of sorrow.

When he shall give sleep to his beloved: 3 behold the inheritance of the Lord are children: the reward, the fruit of the womb.

4 As arrows in the hand of the mighty, so the children of them that have been shaken.

5 Blessed is the man that hath filled his desire with them; he shall not be confounded when he shall speak to his enemies in the gate.

PSALM CXXVII.

Beati omnes.

The fear of God is the way to happiness.

A gradual canticle.

BLESSED are all they that fear the Lord; that walk in his ways.

2 For thou shalt eat the labours of thy hands: blessed art thou, and it shall be well with thee.

3 Thy wife as a fruitful vine, on the sides of thy house.

Thy children as olive plants, round about thy table.

PSALM CXXVI. Ver. 2. It is vain for you to rise before light. That is, your early rising, your labour and worldly solicitude, will be vain, that is, will avail you nothing, without the light, grace, and blessing of God

4 Behold, thus ſhall the man be bleſſed that feareth the Lord.

5 May the Lord bleſs thee out of Sion: and mayſt thou ſee the good things of Jeruſalem all the days of thy life.

6 And mayſt thou ſee thy childrens children, peace upon Iſrael.

PSALM CXXVIII.

Sæpe expugnaverunt.

The church of God is invincible: her perſecutors come to nothing.

A gradual canticle.

OFTEN have they fought againſt me from my youth, let Iſrael now ſay.

2 Often have they fought againſt me from my youth: but they could not prevail over me.

3 The wicked have wrought upon my back: they have lengthened their iniquity.

4 The Lord who is juſt will cut the necks of ſinners: 5 let them all be confounded and turned back that hate Sion.

6 Let them be as graſs upon the tops of houſes: which withereth before it be plucked up:

7 Wherewith the mower filleth not his hand; nor he that gathereth ſheaves, his boſom.

8 And they that paſſed by have not ſaid: The bleſſing of the Lord be upon you: we have bleſſed you in the name of the Lord.

PSALM CXXIX.

De profundis.

A prayer of a ſinner, truſting in the mercies of God. The 6th penitential pſalm.

A gradual canticle.

OUT of the depths I have cried to thee, O Lord: 2 Lord, hear my voice.

Let thy ears be attentive to the voice of my ſupplication.

3 If thou, O Lord, wilt mark iniquities; Lord, who ſhall ſtand it.

4 For with thee there is merciful forgiveneſs: and by reaſon of thy law, I have waited for thee, O Lord.

My ſoul hath relied on his word: 5 my ſoul hath hoped in the Lord.

6 From the morning watch even until night, let Iſrael hope in the Lord.

7 Becauſe with the Lord there is mercy; and with him plentiful redemption.

8 And he ſhall redeem Iſrael from all his iniquities.

PSALM CXXX.

Domine non eſt.

The prophet's humility.

A gradual canticle of David.

LORD, my heart is not exalted: nor are my eyes lofty.

Neither have I walked in great matters, nor in wonderful things above me.

2 If I was not humbly minded, but exalted my ſoul:

As a child that is weaned is towards his mother, ſo reward in my ſoul.

3 Let Iſrael hope in the Lord, from henceforth now and for ever.

PSALM CXXXI.

Memento Domine.

A prayer for the fulfilling of the promiſe made to David.

A gradual canticle.

O LORD, remember David, and all his meekneſs.

2 How he ſwore to the Lord, he vowed a vow to the God of Jacob.

3 ‖ If I ſhall enter into the tabernacle of my houſe: if I ſhall go up into the bed wherein I lie: ‖ 2 Kings 7. 2.

4 If I ſhall give ſleep to my eyes, or ſlumber to my eye-lids,

5 Or reſt to my temples: until I find out a place for the Lord, a tabernacle for the God of Jacob.

6 Behold we have heard of it in Ephrata: we have found it in the fields of the wood.

7 We will go into his tabernacle: we will adore in the place where his feet ſtood.

8 ‖ Ariſe, O Lord, into thy reſting place: thou and the ark, which thou haſt ſanctified. ‖ 2 Par. 6. 41.

9 Let thy prieſts be clothed with juſtice: and let thy ſaints rejoice.

10 For thy ſervant David's ſake, turn not away the face of thy anointed.

11 The Lord hath ſworn truth to David, and he will not make it void: ‖ of ‖ 2 Kings 7. 12. Luke 1. 55. Acts 2. 30.

PSALM CXXXI. VER. 6. We have heard of it in Ephrata. When I was young, and lived in Bethlehem, otherwiſe called Ephrata, I heard of God's tabernacle and ark, and had a devout deſire of ſeeking it; and accordingly I found it, at Cariathiarim, the city of the woods: where it was till it was removed to Jeruſalem. See 1 Paralipom. xiii.

the fruit of thy womb I will ſet upon thy throne.

12 If thy children will keep my covenant, and theſe my teſtimonies which I ſhall teach them:

Their children alſo for evermore ſhall ſit upon thy throne.

13 For the Lord hath choſen Sion: he hath choſen it for his dwelling.

14 This is my reſt for ever and ever: here will I dwell for I have choſen it.

15 Bleſſing I will bleſs her widow: I will ſatisfy her poor with bread.

16 I will clothe her prieſts with ſalvation: and her ſaints ſhall rejoice with exceeding great joy.

17 || There will I bring forth a horn to David: I have prepared a lamp for my anointed. || Malac. 3. 1. Luke 1. 69.

18 His enemies I will clothe with confuſion: but upon him ſhall my ſanctification flouriſh.

PSALM CXXXII.

Ecce quàm bonum.

The happineſs of brotherly love and concord.

A gradual canticle of David.

BEHOLD how good and how pleaſant it is for brethren to dwell together in unity:

2 Like the precious ointment on the head, that ran down upon the beard, the beard of Aaron,

Which ran down to the ſkirt of his garment: 3 as the dew of Hermon, which deſcendeth upon mount Sion.

For there the Lord hath commanded bleſſing, and life for evermore.

PSALM CXXXIII.

Ecce nunc benedicite.

An exhortation to praiſe God continually.

A gradual canticle.

BEHOLD now bleſs ye the Lord, all ye ſervants of the Lord:

Who ſtand in the houſe of the Lord, in the courts of the houſe of our God.

2 In the nights lift up your hands to the holy places, and bleſs ye the Lord.

3 May the Lord out of Sion bleſs thee, he that made heaven and earth.

PSALM CXXXIV.

Laudate nomen.

An exhortation to praiſe God: the vanity of idols.

1 Alleluia.

PRAISE ye the name of the Lord: O you his ſervants praiſe the Lord:

2 You that ſtand in the houſe of the Lord, in the courts of the houſe of our God.

3 Praiſe ye the Lord, for the Lord is good: ſing ye to his name, for it is ſweet.

4 For the Lord hath choſen Jacob unto himſelf: Iſrael for his own poſſeſſion.

5 For I have known that the Lord is great, and our God is above all gods.

6 Whatſoever the Lord pleaſed he hath done, in heaven, in earth, in the ſea, and in all the deeps.

7 || He bringeth up clouds from the end of the earth: he hath made lightnings for the rain. || Jerem. 10. 13.

He bringeth forth winds out of his ſtores:

8 || He ſlew the firſt-born of Egypt from man even unto beaſt. || Exod. 12. 29.

9 He ſent forth ſigns and wonders in the midſt of thee, O Egypt: upon Pharao, and upon all his ſervants.

10 || He ſmote many nations, and ſlew mighty kings: || Joſue 12. 1. 7.

11 ‡ Sehon king of the Amorrhites, and Og king of Baſan, and all the kingdoms of Chanaan. ‡ Num. 21. 24. 34.

12 And gave their land for an inheritance, for an inheritance to his people Iſrael.

13 Thy name, O Lord, is for ever: thy memorial, O Lord, unto all generations.

14 For the Lord will judge his people, and will be intreated in favour of his ſervants.

15 || The idols of the Gentiles are ſilver and gold, the works of mens hands. || Supra 113. 4.

16 || They have a mouth, but they ſpeak not: they have eyes, but they ſee not. || Wiſ. 15. 15.

17 They have ears, but they hear not: neither is there any breath in their mouths.

18 Let them that make them be like to them: and every one that truſteth in them.

19 Bleſs the Lord, O houſe of Iſrael: bleſs the Lord, O houſe of Aaron.

20 Bleſs the Lord, O houſe of Levi: you that fear the Lord, bleſs the Lord.

21 Bleſſed be the Lord out of Sion, who dwelleth in Jeruſalem.

PSALM CXXXV.

Confitemini Domino.

God is to be praiſed for his wonderful works.

Alleluia.

PRAISE the Lord, for he is good: for his mercy endureth for ever.

2 Praiſe ye the God of gods: for his mercy endureth for ever.

3 Praiſe ye the Lord of lords: for his mercy endureth for ever.

4 Who alone doth great wonders: for his mercy endureth for ever.

‖ Gen. 1. 1. 5 ‖ Who made the heavens in underſtanding: for his mercy endureth for ever.

6 Who eſtabliſhed the earth above the waters: for his mercy endureth for ever.

7 Who made the great lights: for his mercy endureth for ever.

8 The ſun to rule the day: for his mercy endureth for ever.

9 The moon and the ſtars to rule the night: for his mercy endureth for ever.

‖ Exod. 12. 29. 10 ‖ Who ſmote Egypt with their firſt-born: for his mercy endureth for ever.

‖ Exod. 13. 17. 11 ‖ Who brought out Iſrael from among them: for his mercy endureth for ever.

12 With a mighty hand and with a ſtretched-out arm: for his mercy endureth for ever.

13 Who divided the Red ſea into parts: for his mercy endureth for ever.

14 And brought out Iſrael through the midſt thereof: for his mercy endureth for ever.

‖ Exod. 14. 28. 15 ‖ And overthrew Pharao and his hoſt in the Red ſea: for his mercy endureth for ever.

16 Who led his people through the deſert: for his mercy endureth for ever.

17 Who ſmote great kings: for his mercy endureth for ever.

‖ Num. 21. 24. 18 ‖ And ſlew ſtrong kings: for his mercy endureth for ever.

19 Sehon king of the Amorrhites: for his mercy endureth for ever.

‖ Num. 21. 33. 20 ‖ And Og king of Baſan: for his mercy endureth for ever.

‡ Joſue 13. 7. 21 ‡ And he gave their land for an inheritance: for his mercy endureth for ever.

22 For an inheritance to his ſervant Iſrael: for his mercy endureth for ever.

23 For he was mindful of us in our affliction: for his mercy endureth for ever.

24 And he redeemed us from our enemies: for his mercy endureth for ever.

25 Who giveth food to all fleſh: for his mercy endureth for ever.

26 Give glory to the God of heaven: for his mercy endureth for ever.

27 Give glory to the Lord of lords: for his mercy endureth for ever.

PSALM CXXXVI.

Super flumina.

The lamentation of the people of God in their captivity in Babylon.

A pſalm of David, for Jeremias.

UPON the rivers of Babyſon, there we ſat and wept: when we remembered Sion:

2 On the willows in the midſt thereof we hung up our inſtruments. 3 For there they that led us into captivity required of us the words of ſongs.

And they that carried us away, ſaid: Sing ye to us a hymn of the ſongs of Sion.

4 How ſhall we ſing the ſong of the Lord in a ſtrange land?

5 If I forget thee, O Jeruſalem, let my right hand be forgotten.

6 Let my tongue cleave to my jaws, if I do not remember thee:

If I make not Jeruſalem the beginning of my joy.

7 Remember, O Lord, the children of Edom, in the day of Jeruſalem:

Who ſay: Raſe it, raſe it, even to the foundation thereof.

8 O daughter of Babylon miſerable: bleſſed ſhall he be who ſhall repay thee thy payment which thou haſt paid us.

9 Bleſſed he that ſhall take and daſh thy little ones againſt the rock.

PSALM CXXXVII.

Confitebor tibi.

Thankſgiving to God for his benefits.

For David himſelf.

I WILL praiſe thee, O Lord, with my whole heart: for thou haſt heard the words of my mouth.

PSALM CXXXV. VER. 1. 2. & 3. Praiſe the Lord. By this invitation to praiſe the Lord, thrice repeated, we profeſs the Bleſſed Trinity, One God in Three diſtinct Perſons, the Father, and the Son, and the Holy Ghoſt.

PSALM CXXXVI. For Jeremias. For the time of Jeremias, and the captivity of Babylon.

VER. 9. Daſh thy little ones, &c. In the ſpiritual ſenſe, we daſh the little ones of Babylon againſt the rock, when we mortify our paſſions, and ſtifle the firſt motions of them, by a ſpeedy recourſe to the rock, which is Chriſt.

I will ſing praiſe to thee in the ſight of the Angels: 2 I will worſhip towards thy holy temple, and I will give glory to thy name.

For thy mercy, and for thy truth: for thou haſt magnified thy holy name above all.

3 In what day ſoever I ſhall call upon thee, hear me: thou ſhalt multiply ſtrength in my ſoul.

4 May all the kings of the earth give glory to thee: for they have heard all the words of thy mouth.

5 And let them ſing in the ways of the Lord: for great is the glory of the Lord.

6 For the Lord is high, and looketh on the low: and the high he knoweth afar off.

7 If I ſhall walk in the midſt of tribulation, thou wilt quicken me: and thou haſt ſtretched forth thy hand againſt the wrath of my enemies: and thy right hand hath ſaved me.

8 The Lord will repay for me: thy mercy, O Lord, endureth for ever: O deſpiſe not the works of thy hands.

PSALM CXXXVIII.

Domine probaſti.

God's ſpecial providence over his ſervants.

1 Unto the end, a pſalm of David.

LORD, thou haſt proved me, and known me: 2 thou haſt known my ſitting down, and my riſing up.

3 Thou haſt underſtood my thoughts afar off: my path and my line thou haſt ſearched out.

4 And thou haſt foreſeen all my ways: for there is no ſpeech in my tongue.

5 Behold, O Lord, thou haſt known all things, the laſt and thoſe of old: thou haſt formed me, and haſt laid thy hand upon me.

6 Thy knowledge is become wonderful to me: it is high, and I cannot reach to it.

7 Whither ſhall I go from thy ſpirit? or whither ſhall I flee from thy face?

8 ‖ If I aſcend into heaven, thou art there: if I deſcend into hell, thou art preſent. ‖ Amos 9.

9 If I take my wings early in the morning, and dwell in the uttermoſt parts of the ſea:

10 Even there alſo ſhall thy hand lead me: and thy right hand ſhall hold me.

11 And I ſaid: Perhaps darkneſs ſhall cover me: and night ſhall be my light in my pleaſures.

12 But darkneſs ſhall not be dark to thee, and night ſhall be light as the day: the darkneſs thereof, and the light thereof are alike to thee.

13 For thou haſt poſſeſſed my reins: thou haſt protected me from my mother's womb.

14 I will praiſe thee, for thou art fearfully magnified: wonderful are thy works, and my ſoul knoweth right well.

15 My bone is not hidden from thee, which thou haſt made in ſecret: and my ſubſtance in the lower parts of the earth.

16 Thy eyes did ſee my imperfect being, and in thy book all ſhall be written: days ſhall be formed, and no one in them.

17 But to me thy friends, O God, are made exceedingly honourable: their principality is exceedingly ſtrengthened.

18 I will number them, and they ſhall be multiplied above the ſand: I roſe up and am ſtill with thee.

19 If thou wilt kill the wicked, O God: ye men of blood depart from me:

20 Becauſe you ſay in thought: They ſhall receive thy cities in vain.

21 Have I not hated them, O Lord, that hated thee: and pined away becauſe of thy enemies?

22 I have hated them with a perfect hatred: and they are become enemies to me.

23 Prove me, O God, and know my heart: examine me, and know my paths.

24 And ſee if there be in me the way of iniquity: and lead me in the eternal way.

PSALM CXXXIX.

Eripe me Domine.

A prayer to be delivered from the wicked.

1 Unto the end, a pſalm of David.

2 DELIVER me, O Lord, from the evil man: reſcue me from the unjuſt man.

PSALM CXXXVIII. VER. 4. There is no ſpeech, &c. viz. unknown to thee: or when there is no ſpeech in my tongue, yet my whole interior and my moſt ſecret thoughts are known to thee.

VER. 20. Becauſe you ſay in thought, &c. Depart from me you wicked, who plot againſt the ſervants of God, and think to caſt them out of the cities of their habitation; as if they have received them in vain, and to no purpoſe.

VER. 22. I have hated them. Not with an hatred of malice, but a zeal for the obſervance of God's commandments; which he ſaw were deſpiſed by the wicked, who are to be conſidered enemies to God.

3 Who have deviſed iniquities in their hearts: all the day long they deſigned battles.

‖ Supra 5. 11. Rom. 3. 13. 4 ‖ They have ſharpened their tongues like a ſerpent: the venom of aſps is under their lips.

5 Keep me, O Lord, from the hand of the wicked: and from unjuſt men deliver me.

Who have propoſed to ſupplant my ſteps: 6 the proud have hidden a net for me.

And they have ſtretched out cords for a ſnare: they have laid for me a ſtumbling-block by the way ſide.

7 I ſaid to the Lord: Thou art my God: hear, O Lord, the voice of my ſupplication.

8 O Lord, Lord, the ſtrength of my ſalvation: thou haſt overſhadowed my head in the day of battle.

9 Give me not up, O Lord, from my deſire to the wicked: they have plotted againſt me; do not thou forſake me, leſt they ſhould triumph.

10 The head of them compaſſing me about: the labour of their lips ſhall overwhelm them.

11 Burning coals ſhall fall upon them; thou wilt caſt them down into the fire: in miſeries they ſhall not be able to ſtand.

12 A man full of tongue ſhall not be eſtabliſhed in the earth: evils ſhall catch the unjuſt man unto deſtruction.

13 I know that the Lord will do juſtice to the needy, and will revenge the poor.

14 But as for the juſt, they ſhall give glory to thy name: and the upright ſhall dwell with thy countenance.

PSALM CXL.

Domine clamavi.

A prayer againſt ſinful words, and deceitful flatterers.

A pſalm of David.

I HAVE cried to thee, O Lord, hear me: hearken to my voice, when I cry to thee.

2 Let my prayer be directed as incenſe in thy ſight; the lifting up of my hands, as evening ſacrifice.

3 Set a watch, O Lord, before my mouth: and a door round about my lips.

4 Incline not my heart to evil words; to make excuſes in ſins.

With men that work iniquity: and I will not communicate with the choiceſt of them.

5 The juſt man ſhall correct me in mercy, and ſhall reprove me: but let not the oil of the ſinner fatten my head.

For my prayer alſo ſhall ſtill be againſt the things with which they are well pleaſed: 6 their judges falling upon the rock have been ſwallowed up.

They ſhall hear my words, for they have prevailed: 7 as when the thickneſs of the earth is broken up upon the ground:

Our bones are ſcattered by the ſide of hell. 8 But to thee, O Lord, Lord, are my eyes: in thee have I put my truſt, take not away my ſoul.

9 Keep me from the ſnare, which they have laid for me, and from the ſtumbling-blocks of them that work iniquity.

10 The wicked ſhall fall in his net: I am alone until I paſs.

PSALM CXLI.

Voce mea.

A prayer of David in extremity of danger.

1 Of underſtanding for David. A prayer when he was in the cave. 1 Kings xxiv.

2 I CRIED to the Lord with my voice: with my voice I made ſupplication to the Lord. Supra 76. 2

3 In his ſight I pour out my prayer, and before him I declare my trouble.

4 When my ſpirit failed me, then thou kneweſt my paths.

In this way wherein I walked, they have hidden a ſnare for me.

5 I looked on my right hand, and beheld: and there was no one that would know me.

Flight hath failed me: and there is no one that hath regard to my ſoul.

6 I cried to thee, O Lord; I ſaid: Thou art my hope, my portion in the land of the living.

PSALM CXL. VER. 5. Let not the oil of the ſinner, &c. That is, the flattery, or deceitful praiſe.

Ibid. For my prayer, &c. So far from coveting their praiſes, who are never well pleaſed but with things that are evil; I ſhall continually pray to be preſerved from ſuch things as they are delighted with.

VER. 6. Their judges, &c. Their rulers, or chiefs quickly vaniſh and periſh, like ſhips daſhed againſt the rocks, and ſwallowed up by the waves. Let them then hear my words, for they are powerful and will prevail; or, as it is in the Hebrew, for they are ſweet.

VER. 10. I am alone, &c. Singularly protected by the Almighty, until I paſs all their nets and ſnares.

7 Attend to my ſupplication: for I am brought very low.

Deliver me from my perſecutors; for they are ſtronger than I.

8 Bring my ſoul out of priſon, that I may praiſe thy name: the juſt wait for me, until thou reward me.

PSALM CXLII.

Domine exaudi.

The pſalmiſt in tribulation calleth upon God for his delivery. The ſeventh penitential pſalm.

1 A pſalm of David, when his ſon Abſalom purſued him. 2 Kings xvii.

HEAR, O Lord, my prayer: give ear to my ſupplication in thy truth: hear me in thy juſtice.

2 And enter not into judgment with thy ſervant: for in thy ſight no man living ſhall be juſtified.

3 For the enemy hath perſecuted my ſoul: he hath brought down my life to the earth.

He hath made me to dwell in darkneſs as thoſe that have been dead of old: 4 and my ſpirit is in anguiſh within me: my heart within me is troubled.

5 I remembered the days of old, I meditated on all thy works: I meditated upon the works of thy hands.

6 I ſtretched forth my hands to thee: my ſoul is as earth without water unto thee.

7 Hear me ſpeedily, O Lord: my ſpirit hath fainted away.

Turn not away thy face from me, leſt I be like unto them that go down into the pit.

8 Cauſe me to hear thy mercy in the morning; for in thee have I hoped.

Make the way known to me, wherein I ſhould walk: for I have lifted up my ſoul to thee.

9 Deliver me from my enemies, O Lord, to thee have I fled: 10 teach me to do thy will, for thou art my God.

Thy good ſpirit ſhall lead me into the right land: 11 for thy name's ſake, O Lord, thou wilt quicken me in thy juſtice.

Thou wilt bring my ſoul out of trouble: 12 and in thy mercy thou wilt deſtroy my enemies.

And thou wilt cut off all them that afflict my ſoul; for I am thy ſervant.

PSALM CXLIII.

Benedictus Dominus.

The prophet praiſeth God, and prayeth to be delivered from his enemies. No worldly happineſs is to be compared with that of ſerving God.

A pſalm of David againſt Goliath.

BLESSED be the Lord my God, who teacheth my hands to fight, and my fingers to war.

2 My mercy, and my refuge: my ſupport, and my deliverer:

My protector, and I have hoped in him: who ſubdueth my people under me.

3 Lord, what is man, that thou art made known to him? or the ſon of man that thou makeſt account of him?

4 Man is like to vanity: || his days paſs away like a ſhadow. || Job 8. 9. & 14. 2.

5 Lord, bow down thy heavens and deſcend: touch the mountains, and they ſhall ſmoke.

6 Send forth lightning, and thou ſhalt ſcatter them: ſhoot out thy arrows, and thou ſhalt trouble them.

7 Put forth thy hand from on high, take me out, and deliver me from many waters: from the hand of ſtrange children:

8 Whoſe mouth hath ſpoken vanity: and their right hand is the right hand of iniquity.

9 To thee, O God, I will ſing a new canticle: on the pſaltery and an inſtrument of ten ſtrings I will ſing praiſes to thee.

10 Who giveſt ſalvation to kings: who haſt redeemed thy ſervant David from the malicious ſword: 11 deliver me,

And reſcue me out of the hand of ſtrange children; whoſe mouth hath ſpoken vanity: and their right hand is the right hand of iniquity:

12 Whoſe ſons are as new plants in their youth:

Their daughters decked out, adorned round about after the ſimilitude of a temple:

13 Their ſtorehouſes full, flowing out of this into that.

Their ſheep fruitful in young, abounding in their goings forth: 14 their oxen fat.

There is no breach of wall, nor paſſage, nor crying out in their ſtreets.

15 They have called the people happy, that hath theſe things: but happy is that people whoſe God is the Lord.

PSALM CXLIV.

Exaltabo te Deus.

A pſalm of praiſe, to the infinite majeſty of God.

Praiſe, for David himſelf.

I Will extol thee, O God my king: and I will bleſs thy name for ever, yea for ever and ever.

2 Every day will I bleſs thee: and I will praiſe thy name for ever, yea for ever and ever.

3 Great is the Lord, and greatly to be praiſed: and of his greatneſs there is no end.

4 Generation and generation ſhall praiſe thy works: and they ſhall declare thy power.

5 They ſhall ſpeak of the magnificence of the glory of thy holineſs: and ſhall tell thy wondrous works.

6 And they ſhall ſpeak of the might of thy terrible acts: and ſhall declare thy greatneſs.

7 They ſhall publiſh the memory of the abundance of thy ſweetneſs: and ſhall rejoice in thy juſtice.

8 The Lord is gracious and merciful: patient and plenteous in mercy.

9 The Lord is ſweet to all: and his tender mercies are over all his works.

10 Let all thy works, O Lord, praiſe thee: and let thy ſaints bleſs thee.

11 They ſhall ſpeak of the glory of thy kingdom: and ſhall tell of thy power:

12 To make thy might known to the ſons of men: and the glory of the magnificence of thy kingdom.

13 Thy kingdom is a kingdom of all ages: and thy dominion endureth throughout all generations.

The Lord is faithful in all his words: and holy in all his works.

14 The Lord lifteth up all that fall: and ſetteth up all that are caſt down.

15 The eyes of all hope in thee, O Lord: and thou giveſt them meat in due ſeaſon.

16 Thou openeſt thy hand, and filleſt with bleſſing every living creature.

17 The Lord is juſt in all his ways: and holy in all his works.

18 The Lord is nigh unto all them that call upon him: to all that call upon him in truth.

19 He will do the will of them that fear him: and he will hear their prayer, and ſave them.

20 The Lord keepeth all them that love him: but all the wicked he will deſtroy.

21 My mouth ſhall ſpeak the praiſe of the Lord: and let all fleſh bleſs his holy name for ever, yea for ever and ever.

PSALM CXLV.

Lauda anima.

We are not to truſt in men, but in God alone.

1 Alleluia, of Aggeus and Zacharias.

2 PRAISE the Lord, O my ſoul, in my life I will praiſe the Lord: I will ſing to my God as long as I ſhall be. Supra 144. 2.

Put not your truſt in princes: 3 in the children of men, in whom there is no ſalvation.

4 His ſpirit ſhall go forth, and he ſhall return into his earth: in that day all their thoughts ſhall periſh.

5 Bleſſed is he who hath the God of Jacob for his helper, whoſe hope is in the Lord his God: 6 ‖ who made heaven and earth, the ſea, and all things that are in them. ‖ Acts 14. 14. Apoc. 14. 7.

7 Who keepeth truth for ever: who executeth judgment for them that ſuffer wrong: who giveth food to the hungry.

The Lord looſeth them that are fettered: 8 the Lord enlighteneth the blind.

The Lord lifteth up them that are caſt down: the Lord loveth the juſt.

9 The Lord keepeth the ſtrangers, he will ſupport the fatherleſs and the widow: and the ways of ſinners he will deſtroy.

10 The Lord ſhall reign for ever: thy God, O Sion, unto generation and generation.

PSALM CXLVI.

Laudate Dominum.

An exhortation to praiſe God for his benefits.

Alleluia.

PRAISE ye the Lord, becauſe pſalm is good: to our God be joyful and comely praiſe.

2 The Lord buildeth up Jeruſalem: he will gather together the diſperſed of Iſrael.

3 Who healeth the broken of heart, and bindeth up their bruiſes.

4 Who telleth the number of the ſtars: and calleth them all by their names.

5 Great is our Lord, and great is his power: and of his wiſdom there is no number.

6 The Lord lifteth up the meek: and bringeth the wicked down even to the ground.

7 Sing ye to the Lord with praiſe: ſing to our God upon the harp.

8 Who covereth the heaven with clouds: and prepareth rain for the earth.

Who maketh graſs to grow on the mountains, and herbs for the ſervice of men.

9 Who giveth to beaſts their food: and to the young ravens that call upon him.

10 He ſhall not delight in the ſtrength of the horſe: nor take pleaſure in the legs of a man.

11 The Lord taketh pleaſure in them that fear him: and in them that hope in his mercy.

PSALM CXLVII.

Lauda Jeruſalem.

The church is called upon to praiſe God for his peculiar graces and favours to his people. In the Hebrew this pſalm is joined to the foregoing.

Alleluia.

12 PRAISE the Lord, O Jeruſalem: praiſe thy God, O Sion.

13 Becauſe he hath ſtrengthened the bolts of thy gates, he hath bleſſed thy children within thee.

14 Who hath placed peace in thy borders: and filleth thee with the fat of corn.

15 Who ſendeth forth his ſpeech to the earth: his word runneth ſwiftly.

16 Who giveth ſnow like wool: ſcattereth miſts like aſhes.

17 He ſendeth his cryſtal like morſels: who ſhall ſtand before the face of his cold?

18 He ſhall ſend out his word, and ſhall melt them: his wind ſhall blow, and the waters ſhall run.

19 Who declareth his word to Jacob: his juſtices and his judgments to Iſrael.

20 He hath not done in like manner to every nation: and his judgments he hath not made manifeſt to them. Alleluia.

PSALM CXLVIII.

Laudate Dominum de cælis.

All creatures are invited to praiſe their creator.

Alleluia.

PRAISE ye the Lord from the heavens: praiſe ye him in the high places.

2 Praiſe ye him all his Angels: praiſe ye him all his hoſts.

3 Praiſe ye him O ſun and moon: praiſe him all ye ſtars and light.

4 ‖ Praiſe him ye heavens of heavens: and let all the waters that are above the heavens 5 praiſe the name of the Lord.

‖ Dan. 3. 59. 60.

For he ſpoke, and they were made: he commanded, and they were created.

6 He hath eſtabliſhed them for ever, and for ages of ages: he hath made a decree, and it ſhall not paſs away.

7 Praiſe the Lord from the earth, ye dragons, and all ye deeps.

8 Fire, hail, ſnow, ice, ſtormy winds, which fulfil his word.

9 Mountains and all hills, fruitful trees and all cedars.

10 Beaſts and all cattle: ſerpents and feathered fowls.

11 Kings of the earth, and all people: princes and all judges of the earth.

12 Young men and maidens: let the old with the younger, praiſe the name of the Lord: 13 for his name alone is exalted.

14 The praiſe of him is above heaven and earth: and he hath exalted the horn of his people.

A hymn to all his ſaints: to the children of Iſrael, a people approaching to him. Alleluia.

PSALM CXLIX.

Cantate Domino.

The church is particularly bound to praiſe God.

Alleluia.

SING ye to the Lord a new canticle: let his praiſe be in the church of the ſaints.

2 Let Iſrael rejoice in him that made him: and let the children of Sion be joyful in their king.

3 Let them praiſe his name in choir: let them ſing to him with the timbrel and the pſaltery.

4 For the Lord is well pleaſed with his people: and he will exalt the meek unto ſalvation.

5 The ſaints ſhall rejoice in glory: they ſhall be joyful in their beds.

6 The high praiſes of God ſhall be in their mouth: and two-edged ſwords in their hands:

7 To execute vengeance upon the nations, chaſtiſements among the people:

8 To bind their kings with fetters, and their nobles with manacles of iron.

9 To execute upon them the judgment that is written: this glory is to all his ſaints. Alleluia.

PSALM CXLVII. VER. 17. He ſendeth his cryſtal. That is his ice. Some underſtand it of hail, which is as it were ice, divided into particles or morſels.

PSALM CL.

Laudate Dominum in ſanctis.

An exhortation to praiſe God with all ſorts of inſtruments.

Alleluia.

PRAISE ye the Lord in his holy places: praiſe ye him in the firmament of his power.

2 Praiſe ye him for his mighty acts: praiſe ye him according to the multitude of his greatneſs.

3 Praiſe him with ſound of trumpet: praiſe him with pſaltery and harp.

4 Praiſe him with timbrel and choir: praiſe him with ſtrings and organs.

5 Praiſe him on high ſounding cymbals: praiſe him on cymbals of joy: let every ſpirit praiſe the Lord. Alleluia.

THE BOOK OF PROVERBS.

This book is ſo called, becauſe it conſiſts of wiſe and weighty ſentences: regulating the morals of men: and directing them to wiſdom and virtue. And theſe ſentences are alſo called PARABLES, becauſe great truths are often couched in them under certain figures and ſimilitudes.

CHAP. I.

The uſe and end of the proverbs. An exhortation to flee the company of the wicked: and to hearken to the voice of wiſdom.

THE parables of Solomon, the ſon of David, king of Iſrael.

2 To know wiſdom, and inſtruction:

3 To underſtand the words of prudence: and to receive the inſtruction of doctrine, juſtice, and judgment, and equity:

4 To give ſubtilty to little ones, to the young man knowledge and underſtanding.

5 A wiſe man ſhall hear and ſhall be wiſer: and he that underſtandeth, ſhall poſſeſs governments.

6 He ſhall underſtand a parable, and the interpretation, the words of the wiſe, and their myſterious ſayings.

‖ Pſ. 110. 10. Eccli. 1. 16. 7 ‖ The fear of the Lord is the beginning of wiſdom. Fools deſpiſe wiſdom and inſtruction.

8 My ſon, hear the inſtruction of thy father, and forſake not the law of thy mother:

9 That grace may be added to thy head, and a chain of gold to thy neck.

10 My ſon, if ſinners ſhall entice thee, conſent not to them.

11 If they ſhall ſay: Come with us, let us lie in wait for blood, let us hide ſnares for the innocent without cauſe:

12 Let us ſwallow him up alive like hell, and whole as one that goeth down into the pit.

13 We ſhall find all precious ſubſtance, we ſhall fill our houſes with ſpoils.

14 Caſt in thy lot with us, let us all have one purſe.

15 My ſon, walk not thou with them, reſtrain thy foot from their paths.

16 ‖ For their feet run to evil, and make haſte to ſhed blood. ‖ Iſai. 59. 7.

17 But a net is ſpread in vain before the eyes of them that have wings.

18 And they themſelves lie in wait for their own blood, and practiſe deceits againſt their own ſouls.

19 So the ways of every covetous man deſtroy the ſouls of the poſſeſſors.

20 Wiſdom preacheth abroad, ſhe uttereth her voice in the ſtreets:

21 At the head of multitudes ſhe crieth out, in the entrance of the gates of the city ſhe uttereth her words, ſaying:

22 O children, how long will you love childiſhneſs, and fools covet thoſe things which art hurtful to themſelves, and the unwiſe hate knowledge?

23 Turn ye at my reproof: behold I will utter my ſpirit to you, and will ſhew you my words.

24 || Because I called, and you refused: I stretched out my hand, and there was none that regarded. || Isai. 65. 12. & 66. 4. Jerem. 7. 13.

25 You have despised all my counsel, and have neglected my reprehensions.

26 I also will laugh in your destruction, and will mock when that shall come to you which you feared.

27 When sudden calamity shall fall on you, and destruction, as a tempest, shall be at hand: when tribulation and distress shall come upon you:

28 Then shall they call upon me, and I will not hear: they shall rise in the morning and shall not find me:

29 Because they have hated instruction, and received not the fear of the Lord,

30 Nor consented to my counsel, but despised all my reproof.

51 Therefore they shall eat the fruit of their own way, and shall be filled with their own devices.

32 The turning away of little ones shall kill them, and the prosperity of fools shall destroy them.

33 But he that shall hear me, shall rest without terror, and shall enjoy abundance, without fear of evils.

CHAP. II.

The advantages of wisdom: and the evils from which it delivers.

MY son, if thou wilt receive my words, and wilt hide my commandments with thee,

2 That thy ear may hearken to wisdom: incline thy heart to know prudence.

3 For if thou shalt call for wisdom, and incline thy heart to prudence:

4 If thou shalt seek her as money, and shalt dig for her as for a treasure:

5 Then shalt thou understand the fear of the Lord, and shalt find the knowledge of God:

6 Because the Lord giveth wisdom: and out of his mouth cometh prudence and knowledge.

7 He will keep the salvation of the righteous, and protect them that walk in simplicity.

8 Keeping the paths of justice, and guarding the ways of saints.

9 Then shalt thou understand justice, and judgment, and equity, and every good path.

10 If wisdom shall enter into thy heart, and knowledge please thy soul:

11 Counsel shall keep thee, and prudence shall preserve thee,

12 That thou mayst be delivered from the evil way, and from the man that speaketh perverse things:

13 Who leave the right way, and walk by dark ways:

14 Who are glad when they have done evil, and rejoice in most wicked things:

15 Whose ways are perverse, and their steps infamous.

16 That thou mayst be delivered from the strange woman, and from the stranger, who softeneth her words;

17 And forsaketh the guide of her youth,

18 And hath forgotten the covenant of her God: for her house inclineth unto death, and her paths to hell.

19 None that go in unto her, shall return again, neither shall they take hold of the paths of life.

20 That thou mayst walk in a good way: and mayst keep the paths of the just.

21 For they that are upright, shall dwell in the earth, and the simple shall continue in it.

22 || But the wicked shall be destroyed from the earth: and they that do unjustly shall be taken away from it. || Job 18. 17.

CHAP. III.

An exhortation to the practice of virtue.

MY son, forget not my law, and let thy heart keep my commandments.

2 For they shall add to thee length of days, and years of life, and peace.

3 Let not mercy and truth leave thee, put them about thy neck, and write them in the tables of thy heart:

4 And thou shalt find grace, and good understanding before God and men.

5 Have confidence in the Lord with all thy heart, and lean not upon thy own prudence.

6 In all thy ways think on him, and he will direct thy steps.

7 || Be not wise in thy own conceit: fear God, and depart from evil: || Rom. 12. 16.

8 For it shall be health to thy navel, and moistening to thy bones.

9 || Honour the Lord with thy substance, and give him of the first of all thy fruits: || Tobias 4. 7. Luke 14. 13.

10 And thy barns shall be filled with abundance, and thy presses shall run over with wine.

11 || My son, reject not the correction of the Lord: and do not faint when thou art chastised by him: || Heb. 12. 5. Apoc. 3. 10.

12 For whom the Lord loveth, he chastiseth: and as a father in the son he pleaseth himself.

13 Bleſſed is the man that findeth wiſdom, and is rich in prudence:
14 The purchaſing thereof is better than the merchandiſe of ſilver, and her fruit than the chiefeſt and pureſt gold:
15 She is more precious than all riches: and all the things that are deſired, are not to be compared with her.
16 Length of days is in her right hand, and in her left hand riches and glory.
17 Her ways are beautiful ways, and all her paths are peaceable.
18 She is a tree of life to them that lay hold on her: and he that ſhall retain her is bleſſed.
19 The Lord by wiſdom hath founded the earth, hath eſtabliſhed the heavens by prudence.
20 By his wiſdom the depths have broken out, and the clouds grow thick with dew.
21 My ſon, let not theſe things depart from thy eyes: keep the law and counſel:
22 And there ſhall be life to thy ſoul, and grace to thy mouth.
23 Then ſhalt thou walk confidently in thy way, and thy foot ſhall not ſtumble:
24 If thou ſleep, thou ſhalt not fear: thou ſhalt reſt, and thy ſleep ſhall be ſweet.
25 Be not afraid of ſudden fear, nor of the power of the wicked falling upon thee.
26 For the Lord will be at thy ſide, and will keep thy foot that thou be not taken.
27 Do not withhold him from doing good, who is able: if thou art able, do good thyſelf alſo.
28 Say not to thy friend: Go, and come again: and to-morrow I will give to thee: when thou canſt give at preſent.
29 Practiſe not evil againſt thy friend, when he hath confidence in thee.
30 Strive not againſt a man without cauſe, when he hath done thee no evil.
‖ Pſ. 36. 1. 31 ‖ Envy not the unjuſt man, and do not follow his ways:
32 For every mocker is an abomination to the Lord, and his communication is with the ſimple.
33 Want is from the Lord in the houſe of the wicked: but the habitations of the juſt ſhall be bleſſed.
34 He ſhall ſcorn the ſcorners, and to the meek he will give grace.
35 The wiſe ſhall poſſeſs glory: the promotion of fools is diſgrace.

CHAP. IV.

A further exhortation to ſeek after wiſdom.

HEAR, ye children, the inſtruction of a father, and attend that you may know prudence.
2 I will give you a good gift, forſake not my law.
3 For I alſo was my father's ſon, tender and as an only ſon in the ſight of my mother:
4 And he taught me, and ſaid: Let thy heart receive my words, keep my commandments, and thou ſhalt live.
5 Get wiſdom, get prudence: forget not, neither decline from the words of my mouth.
6 Forſake her not, and ſhe ſhall keep thee: love her, and ſhe ſhall preſerve thee.
7 The beginning of wiſdom, get wiſdom, and with all thy poſſeſſion purchaſe prudence.
8 Take hold on her, and ſhe ſhall exalt thee: thou ſhalt be glorified by her, when thou ſhalt embrace her.
9 She ſhall give to thy head increaſe of graces, and protect thee with a noble crown.
10 Hear, O my ſon, and receive my words, that years of life may be multiplied to thee.
11 I will ſhew thee the way of wiſdom, I will lead thee by the paths of equity:
12 Which when thou ſhalt have entered, thy ſteps ſhall not be ſtraitened, and when thou runneſt thou ſhalt not meet a ſtumbling block.
13 Take hold on inſtruction, leave it not: keep it, becauſe it is thy life.
14 Be not delighted in the paths of the wicked, neither let the way of evil men pleaſe thee.
15 Flee from it, paſs not by it: go aſide, and forſake it.
16 For they ſleep not except they have done evil: and their ſleep is taken away unleſs they have made ſome to fall.
17 They eat the bread of wickedneſs, and drink the wine of iniquity.
18 But the path of the juſt, as a ſhining light, goeth forwards and increaſeth even to perfect day.
19 The way of the wicked is darkſome: they know not where they fall.
20 My ſon, hearken to my words, and incline thy ear to my ſayings.
21 Let them not depart from thy eyes, keep them in the midſt of thy heart:
22 For they are life to thoſe that find them, and health to all fleſh.
23 With all watchfulneſs keep thy heart, becauſe life iſſueth out from it.
24 Remove from thee a froward mouth, and let detracting lips be far from thee.
25 Let thy eyes look ſtraight on, and let eye-lids go before thy ſteps.

26 Make ſtraight the path for thy feet, and all thy ways ſhall be eſtabliſhed.

27 Decline not to the right hand, nor to the left: turn away thy foot from evil. For the Lord knoweth the ways that are on the right hand: but thoſe are perverſe which are on the left hand. But he will make thy courſes ſtraight, he will bring forward thy ways in peace.

CHAP. V.

An exhortation to fly unlawful luſt, and the occaſions of it.

MY ſon, attend to my wiſdom, and incline thy ear to my prudence.

2 That thou mayſt keep thoughts, and thy lips may preſerve inſtruction. Mind not the deceit of a woman.

3 For the lips of a harlot are like a honey-comb dropping, and her throat is ſmoother than oil.

4 But her end is bitter as wormwood, and ſharp as a two-edged ſword.

5 Her feet go down into death, and her ſteps go in as far as hell.

6 They walk not by the path of life, her ſteps are wandering, and unaccountable.

7 Now therefore, my ſon, hear me, and depart not from the words of my mouth.

8 Remove thy way far from her, and come not nigh the doors of her houſe.

9 Give not thy honour to ſtrangers, and thy years to the cruel.

10 Leſt ſtrangers be filled with thy ſtrength, and thy labours be in another man's houſe,

11 And thou mourn at the laſt, when thou ſhalt have ſpent thy fleſh and thy body, and ſay:

12 Why have I hated inſtruction, and my heart conſented not to reproof,

13 And have not heard the voice of them that taught me, and have not inclined my ear to maſters?

14 I have almoſt been in all evil, in the midſt of the church and of the congregation.

15 Drink water out of thy own ciſtern, and the ſtreams of thy own well:

16 Let thy fountains be conveyed abroad, and in the ſtreets divide thy waters.

17 Keep them to thyſelf alone, neither let ſtrangers be partakers with thee.

18 Let thy vein be bleſſed, and rejoice with the wife of thy youth:

19 Let her be thy deareſt hind, and moſt agreeable fawn: let her breaſts inebriate thee at all times, be thou delighted continually with her love.

20 Why art thou ſeduced, my ſon, by a ſtrange woman, and art cheriſhed in the boſom of another?

21 ‖ The Lord beholdeth the ways of man, and conſidereth all his ſteps. ‖ Job 14. 16. & 31. 4. & 34. 21.

22 His own iniquities catch the wicked, and he is faſt bound with the ropes of his own ſins.

23 He ſhall die, becauſe he hath not received inſtruction, and in the multitude of his folly he ſhall be deceived.

CHAP. VI.

Documents on ſeveral heads.

MY ſon, if thou be ſurety for thy friend, thou haſt engaged faſt thy hand to a ſtranger,

2 Thou art enſnared with the words of thy mouth, and caught with thy own words.

3 Do therefore, my ſon, what I ſay, and deliver thyſelf: becauſe thou art fallen into the hand of thy neighbour. Run about, make haſte, ſtir up thy friend:

4 Give not ſleep to thy eyes, neither let thy eye-lids ſlumber.

5 Deliver thyſelf as a doe from the hand, and as a bird from the hand of the fowler.

6 Go to the ant, O ſluggard, and conſider her ways, and learn wiſdom:

7 Which, although ſhe hath no guide, nor maſter, nor captain,

8 Provideth her meat for herſelf in the ſummer, and gathereth her food in the harveſt.

9 How long wilt thou ſleep, O ſluggard? when wilt thou riſe out of thy ſleep?

10 ‖ Thou wilt ſleep a little, thou wilt ſlumber a little, thou wilt fold thy hands a little to ſleep: ‖ Infra 24. 33.

11 And want ſhall come upon thee, as a traveller, and poverty as a man armed. But if thou be diligent, thy harveſt ſhall come as a fountain, and want ſhall flee far from thee.

12 A man that is an apoſtate, an unprofitable man walketh with a perverſe mouth,

13 He winketh with the eyes, preſſeth with the foot, ſpeaketh with the finger.

14 With a wicked heart he deviſeth evil, and at all times he ſoweth diſcord.

15 To ſuch a one his deſtruction ſhall preſently come, and he ſhall ſuddenly be deſtroyed, and ſhall no longer have any remedy.

16 Six things there are, which the Lord hateth, and the ſeventh his ſoul deteſteth:

17 Haughty eyes, a lying tongue, hands that ſhed innocent blood,

18 A heart that deviſeth wicked plots, feet that are ſwift to run into miſchief,

19 A deceitful witneſs that uttereth lies, and him that ſoweth diſcord among brethren.

20 My ſon, keep the commandments of thy father, and forſake not the law of thy mother.

21 Bind them in thy heart continually, and put them about thy neck.

22 When thou walkeſt, let them go with thee: when thou ſleepeſt, let them keep thee, and when thou awakeſt talk with them.

23 Becauſe the commandment is a lamp, and the law a light, and reproofs of inſtruction are the way of life:

24 That they may keep thee from the evil woman, and from the flattering tongue of the ſtranger.

25 Let not thy heart covet her beauty, be not caught with her winks:

26 For the price of a harlot, is ſcarce one loaf: but the woman catcheth the precious ſoul of a man.

27 Can a man hide fire in his boſom, and his garments not burn?

28 Or can he walk upon hot coals, and his feet not be burnt?

29 So he that goeth in to his neighbour's wife, ſhall not be clean when he ſhall touch her.

30 The fault is not ſo great when a man hath ſtolen: for he ſtealeth to fill his hungry ſoul:

31 And if he be taken he ſhall reſtore ſevenfold, and ſhall give up all the ſubſtance of his houſe.

32 But he that is an adulterer, for the folly of his heart ſhall deſtroy his own ſoul:

33 He gathered to himſelf ſhame and diſhonour, and his reproach ſhall not be blotted out.

34 Becauſe the jealouſy and rage of the huſband will not ſpare in the day of revenge.

35 Nor will he yield to any man's prayers, nor will he accept for ſatisfaction ever ſo many gifts.

CHAP. VII.

The love of wiſdom is the beſt preſervative from being led aſtray by temptation.

MY ſon, keep my words, and lay up my precepts with thee. Son,

2 Keep my commandments, and thou ſhalt live: and my law as the apple of thy eye:

3 Bind it upon thy fingers, write it upon the tables of thy heart.

4 Say to wiſdom: Thou art my ſiſter: and call prudence thy friend,

5 That ſhe may keep thee from the woman that is not thine, and from the ſtranger who ſweeteneth her words.

6 For I looked out of the window of my houſe through the lattice,

7 And I ſee little ones, I behold a fooliſh young man,

8 Who paſſeth through the ſtreet by the corner, and goeth nigh the way of her houſe,

9 In the dark, when it grows late, in the darkneſs and obſcurity of the night,

10 And behold a woman meeteth him in harlot's attire, prepared to deceive ſouls: talkative and wandering,

11 Not bearing to be quiet, not able to abide ſtill at home,

12 Now abroad, now in the ſtreets, now lying in wait near the corners.

13 And catching the young man, ſhe kiſſeth him, and with an impudent face, flattereth, ſaying:

14 I vowed victims for proſperity, this day I have paid my vows.

15 Therefore I am come out to meet thee, deſirous to ſee thee, and I have found thee.

16 I have woven my bed with cords, I have covered it with painted tapeſtry, brought from Egypt.

17 I have perfumed my bed with myrrh, aloes, and cinnamon.

18 Come let us be inebriated with the breaſts, and let us enjoy the deſired embraces, till the day appear.

19 For my huſband is not at home, he is gone a very long journey.

20 He took with him a bag of money: he will return home the day of the full moon.

21 She intangled him with many words, and drew him away with the flattery of her lips.

22 Immediately he followeth her as an ox led to be a victim, and as a lamb playing the wanton, and not knowing that he is drawn like a fool to bonds,

23 Till the arrow pierce his liver: as if a bird ſhould make haſte to the ſnare, and knoweth not that his life is in danger.

24 Now therefore, my ſon, hear me, and attend to the words of my mouth.

CHAP. VI. VER. 30. The fault is not ſo great, &c. The ſin of theft is not ſo great, as to be compared with adultery: eſpecially when a perſon preſſed with hunger, (which is the caſe here ſpoken of) ſteals to ſatisfy nature. Moreover the damage done by theft may much more eaſily be repaired, than the wrong done by adultery. But this does not hinder but that theft alſo is a mortal ſin, forbidden by one of the ten commandments.

25 Let not thy mind be drawn away in her ways: neither be thou deceived with her paths.

26 For she hath cast down many wounded, and the strongest have been slain by her.

27 Her house is the way to hell, reaching even to the inner chambers of death.

CHAP. VIII.

The preaching of wisdom. Her excellence.

DOTH not wisdom cry aloud, and prudence put forth her voice?

2 Standing in the top of the highest places by the way, in the midst of the paths,

3 Beside the gates of the city, in the very doors she speaketh, saying:

4 O ye men, to you I call, and my voice is to the sons of men.

5 O little ones, understand subtilty, and ye unwise, take notice.

6 Hear, for I will speak of great things: and my lips shall be opened to preach right things.

7 My mouth shall meditate truth, and my lips shall hate wickedness.

8 All my words are just, there is nothing wicked, nor perverse in them.

9 They are right to them that understand, and just to them that find knowledge.

10 Receive my instruction, and not money: choose knowledge rather than gold.

11 For wisdom is better than all the most precious things: and whatsoever may be desired cannot be compared to it.

12 I wisdom dwell in counsel, and am present in learned thoughts.

13 The fear of the Lord hateth evil: I hate arrogance, and pride, and every wicked way, and a mouth with a double tongue.

14 Counsel and equity is mine, prudence is mine, strength is mine.

15 By me kings reign, and lawgivers decree just things.

16 By me princes rule, and the mighty decree justice.

17 I love them that love me: and they that in the morning early watch for me, shall find me.

18 With me are riches and glory, glorious riches and justice.

19 For my fruit is better than gold and the precious stone, and my blossoms than choice silver.

20 I walk in the way of justice, in the midst of the paths of judgment,

21 That I may enrich them that love me, and may fill their treasures.

22 The Lord possessed me in the beginning of his ways, before he made any thing from the beginning.

23 I was set up from eternity, and of old before the earth was made.

24 The depths were not as yet, and I was already conceived, neither had the fountains of waters as yet sprung out:

25 The mountains with their huge bulk had not as yet been established: before the hills I was brought forth:

26 He had not yet made the earth, nor the rivers, nor the poles of the world.

27 When he prepared the heavens, I was present: when with a certain law, and compass he enclosed the depths:

28 When he established the sky above, and poised the fountains of waters:

29 When he compassed the sea with its bounds, and set a law to the waters that they should not pass their limits: when he balanced the foundations of the earth.

30 I was with him forming all things: and was delighted every day, playing before him at all times;

31 Playing in the world: and my delights were to be with the children of men.

32 Now therefore, ye children, hear me: Blessed are they that keep my ways.

33 Hear instruction and be wise, and refuse it not.

34 Blessed is the man that heareth me, and that watcheth daily at my gates, and waiteth at the posts of my doors.

35 He that shall find me, shall find life, and shall have salvation from the Lord:

36 But he that shall sin against me, shall hurt his own soul. All that hate me love death.

CHAP. IX.

Wisdom invites all to her feast. Folly calls another way.

WISDOM hath built herself a house, she hath hewn her out seven pillars.

2 She hath slain her victims, mingled her wine, and set forth her table.

3 She hath sent her maids to invite to the tower, and to the walls of the city:

4 Whosoever is a little one, let him come to me. And to the unwise she said:

5 Come, eat my bread, and drink the wine which I have mingled for you.

6 Forsake childishness, and live, and walk by the ways of prudence.

7 He that teacheth a scorner, doth an injury to himself; and he that rebuketh a wicked man, getteth himself a blot.

8 Rebuke not a scorner lest he hate thee. Rebuke a wise man, and he will love thee.

9 Give an occasion to a wise man, and wiſdom ſhall be added to him. Teach a juſt man, and he ſhall make haſte to receive it.

|| Pſ. 110. 10. Supra 1. 7. Eccli. 1. 16.

10 || The fear of the Lord is the beginning of wiſdom: and the knowledge of the holy is prudence.

11 For by me ſhall thy days be multiplied, and years of life ſhall be added to thee.

12 If thou be wiſe, thou ſhalt be ſo to thyſelf: and if a ſcorner, thou alone ſhalt bear the evil.

13 A fooliſh woman and clamorous, and full of allurements, and knowing nothing at all,

14 Sat at the door of her houſe, upon a ſeat, in a high place of the city,

15 To call them that paſs by the way, and go on their journey:

16 He that is a little one, let him turn to me. And to the fool ſhe ſaid:

17 Stolen waters are ſweeter, and hidden bread is more pleaſant.

18 And he did not know that giants are there, and that her gueſts are in the depths of hell.

THE PARABLES OF SOLOMON.

CHAP. X.

In the twenty following chapters are contained many wiſe ſayings and axioms, relating to wiſdom and folly, virtue and vice.

A Wiſe ſon maketh the father glad: but a fooliſh ſon is the ſorrow of his mother.

|| Infra 11. 4.

2 || Treaſures of wickedneſs ſhall profit nothing: but juſtice ſhall deliver from death.

3 The Lord will not afflict the ſoul of the juſt with famine, and he will diſappoint the deceitful practices of the wicked.

4 The ſlothful hand hath wrought poverty: but the hand of the induſtrious getteth riches.

He that truſteth to lies feedeth the winds: and the ſame runneth after birds, that fly away.

5 He that gathered in the harveſt, is a wiſe ſon: but he that ſnorteth in the ſummer, is the ſon of confuſion.

6 The bleſſing of the Lord is upon the head of the juſt: but iniquity covereth the mouth of the wicked.

7 The memory of the juſt is with praiſes: and the name of the wicked ſhall rot.

8 The wiſe of heart receiveth precepts: a fool is beaten with lips.

9 He that walketh ſincerely, walketh confidently: but he that perverteth his ways, ſhall be manifeſt.

|| Eccli. 27. 25.

10 || He that winketh with the eye ſhall cauſe ſorrow: and the fooliſh in lips ſhall be beaten.

11 The mouth of the juſt is a vein of life: and the mouth of the wicked covereth iniquity.

12 Hatred ſtirreth up ſtrifes: || and charity covereth all ſins.

|| 1 Cor. 13. 4. 1 Peter 4. 8.

13 In the lips of the wiſe is wiſdom found: and a rod on the back of him that wanteth ſenſe.

14 Wiſe men lay up knowledge: but the mouth of the fool is next to confuſion.

15 The ſubſtance of a rich man, is the city of his ſtrength: the fear of the poor is their poverty.

16 The work of the juſt is unto life: but the fruit of the wicked unto ſin.

17 The way of life to him that obſerveth correction: but he that forſaketh reproofs goeth aſtray.

18 Lying lips hide hatred: he that uttereth reproach is fooliſh.

19 In the multitude of words there ſhall not want ſin: but he that refraineth his lips is moſt wiſe.

20 The tongue of the juſt is as choice ſilver: but the heart of the wicked is nothing worth.

21 The lips of the juſt teach many: but they that are ignorant, ſhall die in the want of underſtanding.

22 The bleſſing of the Lord maketh men rich: neither ſhall affliction be joined to them.

23 A fool worketh miſchief as it were for ſport: but wiſdom is prudence to a man.

24 That which the wicked feareth, ſhall come upon him: to the juſt their deſire ſhall be given.

25 As a tempeſt that paſſeth, ſo the wicked ſhall be no more: but the juſt is as an everlaſting foundation.

26 As vinegar to the teeth, and ſmoke to the eyes, ſo is the ſluggard to them that ſent him.

27 The fear of the Lord ſhall prolong days: and the years of the wicked ſhall be ſhortened.

28 The expectation of the juſt is joy: but the hope of the wicked ſhall periſh.

29 The ſtrength of the upright is the way of the Lord: and fear to them that work evil.

30 The juſt ſhall never be moved: but the wicked ſhall not dwell on the earth.

31 The mouth of the juſt ſhall bring forth wiſdom: the tongue of the perverſe ſhall periſh.

32 The lips of the juſt conſider what is acceptable: and the mouth of the wicked uttereth perverſe things.

CHAP. XI.

Infra 20. 10. & 20. A Deceitful balance is an abomination before the Lord: and a juſt weight is his will.

2 Where pride is, there alſo ſhall be reproach: || but where humility is, there alſo is wiſdom. || Infra 15. 33.

3 The ſimplicity of the juſt ſhall guide them: and the deceitfulneſs of the wicked ſhall deſtroy them.

|| Supra 10. 4. 4 || Riches ſhall not profit in the day of revenge: but juſtice ſhall deliver from death.

5 The juſtice of the upright ſhall make his way proſperous: and the wicked man ſhall fall by his own wickedneſs.

6 The juſtice of the righteous ſhall deliver them: and the unjuſt ſhall be caught in their own ſnares.

7 When the wicked man is dead, there ſhall be no hope any more: and the expectation of the ſolicitous ſhall periſh.

8 The juſt is delivered out of diſtreſs: and the wicked ſhall be given up for him.

9 The diſſembler with his mouth deceiveth his friend: but the juſt ſhall be delivered by knowledge.

10 When it goeth well with the juſt the city ſhall rejoice: and when the wicked periſh there ſhall be praiſe.

11 By the bleſſing of the juſt the city ſhall be exalted: and by the mouth of the wicked it ſhall be overthrown.

12 He that deſpiſeth his friend, is mean of heart: but the wiſe man will hold his peace.

13 He that walketh deceitfully, revealeth ſecrets: but he that is faithful, concealeth the thing committed to him by his friend.

14 Where there is no governor, the people ſhall fall: but there is ſafety where there is much counſel.

15 He ſhall be afflicted with evil, that is ſurety for a ſtranger: but he that is aware of the ſnares, ſhall be ſecure.

16 A gracious woman ſhall find glory: and the ſtrong ſhall have riches.

17 A merciful man doth good to his own ſoul: but he that is cruel caſteth off even his own kindred.

18 The wicked maketh an unſteady work: but to him that ſoweth juſtice, there is a faithful reward.

19 Clemency prepareth life: and the purſuing of evils things death.

20 A perverſe heart is abominable to the Lord: and his will is in them that walk ſincerely.

21 Hand in hand the evil man ſhall not be innocent: but the ſeed of the juſt ſhall be ſaved.

22 A golden ring in a ſwine's ſnout, a woman fair and fooliſh.

23 The deſire of the juſt is all good: the expectation of the wicked is indignation.

24 Some diſtribute their own goods, and grow richer: others take away what is not their own, and are always in want.

25 The ſoul which bleſſeth, ſhall be made fat: and he that inebriateth, ſhall be inebriated alſo himſelf.

26 He that hideth up corn, ſhall be curſed among the people: but a bleſſing upon the head of them that ſell.

27 Well doth he riſe early who ſeeketh good things: but he that ſeeketh after evil things ſhall be oppreſſed by them.

28 He that truſteth in his riches ſhall fall: but the juſt ſhall ſpring up as a green leaf.

29 He that troubleth his own houſe, ſhall inherit the winds: and the fool ſhall ſerve the wiſe.

30 The fruit of the juſt man is a tree of life: and he that gaineth ſouls, is wiſe.

|| 1 Pet. 4. 18. 31 || If the juſt man receive in the earth, how much more the wicked and the ſinner.

CHAP. XII.

HE that loveth correction, loveth knowledge: but he that hateth reproof is fooliſh.

2 He that is good, ſhall draw grace from the Lord: but he that truſteth in his own devices, doth wickedly.

3 Man ſhall not be ſtrengthened by wickedneſs: and the root of the juſt ſhall not be moved.

4 A diligent woman is a crown to her huſband: and ſhe that doth things worthy of confuſion, is as rottenneſs in his bones.

5 The thoughts of the juſt are judgments: and the counſels of the wicked are deceitful.

6 The words of the wicked lie in wait for blood: the mouth of the juſt ſhall deliver them.

7 Turn the wicked, and they ſhall not be: but the houſe of the juſt ſhall ſtand firm.

8 A man ſhall be known by his learning: but he that is vain and fooliſh, ſhall be expoſed to contempt.

|| Eccli. 10. 30. 9 || Better is the poor man that provideth for himſelf, than he that is glorious and wanteth bread.

10 The juſt regardeth the lives of his beaſts: but the bowels of the wicked are cruel.

|| Eccli. 20. 30. 11 || He that tilleth his land ſhall be ſatisfied with bread: but he that purſueth idleneſs is very fooliſh.

He that is delighted in paſſing his time over wine, leaveth a reproach in his ſtrongholds.

12 The deſire of the wicked is the fortification of evil men: but the root of the juſt ſhall proſper.

13 For the ſins of the lips ruin draweth nigh to the evil man: but the juſt ſhall eſcape out of diſtreſs.

14 By the fruit of his own mouth ſhall a man be filled with good things, and according to the works of his hands it ſhall be repaid him.

15 The way of a fool is right in his own eyes: but he that is wiſe hearkeneth unto counſels.

16 A fool immediately ſheweth his anger: but he that diſſembleth injuries is wiſe.

17 He that ſpeaketh that which he knoweth, ſheweth forth juſtice: but he that lieth, is a deceitful witneſs.

18 There is that promiſeth, and is pricked as it were with a ſword of conſcience: but the tongue of the wiſe is health.

19 The lip of truth ſhall be ſteadfaſt for ever: but he that is a haſty witneſs, frameth a lying tongue.

20 Deceit is in the heart of them that think evil things: but joy followeth them that take counſels of peace.

21 Whatſoever ſhall befal the juſt man, it ſhall not make him ſad: but the wicked ſhall be filled with miſchief.

22 Lying lips are an abomination to the Lord: but they that deal faithfully pleaſe him.

23 A cautious man concealeth knowledge: and the heart of fools publiſheth folly.

24 The hand of the valiant ſhall bear rule: but that which is ſlothful, ſhall be under tribute.

25 Grief in the heart of a man ſhall bring him low, but with a good word he ſhall be made glad.

26 He that neglecteth a loſs for the ſake of a friend, is juſt: but the way of the wicked ſhall deceive them.

27 The deceitful man ſhall not find gain: but the ſubſtance of a juſt man ſhall be precious gold.

28 In the path of juſtice is life: but the bye-way leadeth to death.

CHAP. XIII.

A Wiſe ſon heareth the doctrine of his father: but he that is a ſcorner, heareth not when he is reproved.

2 Of the fruit of his own mouth ſhall a man be filled with good things: but the ſoul of tranſgreſſors is wicked.

3 He that keepeth his mouth, keepeth his ſoul: but he that hath no guard on his ſpeech ſhall meet with evils.

4 The ſluggard willeth and willeth not: but the ſoul of them that work, ſhall be made fat.

5 The juſt ſhall hate a lying word: but the wicked confoundeth, and ſhall be confounded.

6 Juſtice keepeth the way of the innocent: but wickedneſs overthroweth the ſinner.

7 One is as it were rich, when he hath nothing: and another is as it were poor, when he hath great riches.

8 The ranſom of a man's life are his riches: but he that is poor, beareth not reprehenſion.

9 The light of the juſt giveth joy: but the lamp of the wicked ſhall be put out.

10 Among the proud there are always contentions: but they that do all things with counſel, are ruled by wiſdom.

11 Subſtance got in haſte ſhall be diminiſhed: but that which by little and little is gathered with the hand, ſhall increaſe.

12 Hope that is deferred afflicteth the ſoul: deſire when it cometh, is a tree of life.

13 Whoſoever ſpeaketh ill of any thing, bindeth himſelf for the time to come: but he that feareth the commandment, ſhall dwell in peace.

Deceitful ſouls go aſtray in ſins: the juſt are merciful, and ſhew mercy.

14 The law of the wiſe is a fountain of life, that he may decline from the ruin of death.

15 Good inſtruction ſhall give grace: in the way of ſcorners is a deep pit.

16 The prudent man doth all things with counſel: but he that is a fool, layeth open his folly.

17 The meſſenger of the wicked ſhall fall into miſchief: but a faithful ambaſſador is health.

18 Poverty and ſhame to him that refuſeth inſtruction: but he that yieldeth to reproof, ſhall be glorified.

19 The deſire that is accompliſhed, delighteth the ſoul: fools hate them that flee from evil things.

20 He that walketh with the wiſe, ſhall be wiſe: a friend of fools ſhall become like to them.

21 Evil purſueth ſinners: and to the juſt good ſhall be repaid.

22 The good man leaveth heirs, ſons, and grandſons: and the ſubſtance of the ſinner is kept for the juſt.

23 Much food is in the tillage of fathers: but for others it is gathered without judgment.

24 || He that spareth the rod hateth his son: but he that loveth him correcteth him betimes. || Infra 23. 15.

25 The just eateth and filleth his soul: but the belly of the wicked is never to be filled.

CHAP. XIV.

A Wise woman buildeth her house: but the foolish will pull down with her hands that also which is built.

2 He that walketh in the right way, and feareth God, || is despised by him that goeth by an infamous way. || Job 12. 4.

3 In the mouth of a fool is the rod of pride: but the lips of the wise preserve them.

4 Where there are no oxen, the crib is empty: but where there is much corn, there the strength of the ox is manifest.

5 A faithful witness will not lie: but a deceitful witness uttereth a lie.

6 A scorner seeketh wisdom, and findeth it not: the learning of the wise is easy.

7 Go against a foolish man, and he knoweth not the lips of prudence.

8 The wisdom of a discreet man is to understand his way: and the imprudence of fools erreth.

9 A fool will laugh at sin, but among the just grace shall abide.

10 The heart that knoweth the bitterness of his own soul, in his joy the stranger shall not intermeddle.

11 The house of the wicked shall be destroyed: but the tabernacles of the just shall flourish.

12 There is a way which seemeth just to a man: but the ends thereof lead to death.

13 Laughter shall be mingled with sorrow, and mourning taketh hold of the end of joy.

14 A fool shall be filled with his own ways, and the good man shall be above him.

15 The innocent believeth every word: the discreet man considereth his steps.

No good shall come to the deceitful son: but the wise servant shall prosper in his dealings, and his way shall be made straight.

16 A wise man feareth and declineth from evil: the fool leapeth over and is confident.

17 The impatient man shall work folly: and the crafty man is hateful.

18 The childish shall possess folly, and the prudent shall look for knowledge.

19 The evil shall fall down before the good: and the wicked before the gates of the just.

20 The poor man shall be hateful even to his own neighbour: but the friends of the rich are many.

21 He that despiseth his neighbour, sinneth: but he that sheweth mercy to the poor, shall be blessed.

He that believeth in the Lord, loveth mercy.

22 They err that work evil: but mercy and truth prepare good things.

23 In much work there shall be abundance: but where there are many words, there is oftentimes want.

24 The crown of the wise, is their riches: the folly of fools, imprudence.

25 A faithful witness delivereth souls: and the double dealer uttereth lies.

26 In the fear of the Lord is confidence of strength, and there shall be hope for his children.

27 The fear of the Lord is a fountain of life, to decline from the ruin of death.

28 In the multitude of people is the dignity of the king: and in the small number of people the dishonour of the prince.

29 He that is patient, is governed with much wisdom: but he that is impatient, exalteth his folly.

30 Soundness of heart is the life of the flesh: but envy is the rottenness of the bones.

31 || He that oppresseth the poor, upbraideth his maker: but he that hath pity on the poor, honoureth him. || Infra 17. 5.

32 The wicked man shall be driven out in his wickedness: but the just hath hope in his death.

33 In the heart of the prudent resteth wisdom, and it shall instruct all the ignorant.

34 Justice exalteth a nation: but sin maketh nations miserable.

35 A wise servant is acceptable to the king: he that is good for nothing shall feel his anger.

CHAP. XV.

A Mild answer breaketh wrath: but a harsh word stirreth up fury. || Infra 25. 15.

2 The tongue of the wise adorneth knowledge: but the mouth of fools bubbleth out folly.

3 The eyes of the Lord in every place behold the good and the evil.

4 A peaceable tongue is a tree of life: but that which is immoderate, shall crush the spirit.

5 A fool laugheth at the instruction of his father: but he that regardeth reproofs shall become prudent.

In abundant juſtice there is the greateſt ſtrength: but the devices of the wicked ſhall be rooted out.

6 The houſe of the juſt is very much ſtrength: and in the fruits of the wicked is trouble.

7 The lips of the wiſe ſhall diſperſe knowledge: the heart of fools ſhall be unlike.

8 ‖ The victims of the wicked are abominable to the Lord: the vows of the juſt are acceptable. ‖ Infra 21. 27. Eccli. 34. 21.

9 The way of the wicked is an abomination to the Lord: he that followeth juſtice is beloved by him.

10 Inſtruction is grievous to him that forſaketh the way of life: he that hateth reproof ſhall die.

11 Hell and deſtruction are before the Lord: how much more the hearts of the children of men?

12 A corrupt man loveth not one that reproveth him: nor will he go to the wiſe.

13 ‖ A glad heart maketh a cheerful countenance: but by grief of mind the ſpirit is caſt down. ‖ Infra 16. 24. & 17. 22.

14 The heart of the wiſe ſeeketh inſtruction: and the mouth of fools feedeth on fooliſhneſs.

15 All the days of the poor are evil: a ſecure mind is like a continual feaſt.

16 Better is a little with the fear of the Lord, than great treaſures without content.

17 It is better to be invited to herbs with love: than to a fatted calf with hatred.

18 A paſſionate man ſtirreth up ſtrifes: he that is patient appeaſeth thoſe that are ſtirred up.

19 The way of the ſlothful is as a hedge of thorns: the way of the juſt is without offence.

20 A wiſe ſon maketh a father joyful: but the fooliſh man deſpiſeth his mother.

21 Folly is joy to the fool: and the wiſe man maketh ſtraight his ſteps.

22 Deſigns are brought to nothing where there is no counſel: but where there are many counſellors, they are eſtabliſhed.

23 A man rejoiceth in the ſentence of his mouth: and a word in due time is beſt.

24 The path of life is above for the wiſe, that he may decline from the loweſt hell.

25 The Lord will deſtroy the houſe of the proud: and will ſtrengthen the borders of the widow.

26 Evil thoughts are an abomination to the Lord: and pure words moſt beautiful ſhall be confirmed by him.

27 He that is greedy of gain troubleth his own houſe: but he that hateth bribes ſhall live.

‖ By mercy and faith ſins are purged away: and by the fear of the Lord every one declineth from evil. ‖ Infra 16. 6.

28 The mind of the juſt ſtudieth obedience: the mouth of the wicked overfloweth with evils.

29 The Lord is far from the wicked: and he will hear the prayers of the juſt.

30 The light of the eyes rejoiceth the ſoul: a good name maketh the bones fat.

31 The ear that heareth the reproofs of life, ſhall abide in the midſt of the wiſe.

32 He that rejecteth inſtruction, deſpiſeth his own ſoul: but he that yielded to reproof poſſeſſeth underſtanding.

33 The fear of the Lord, is the leſſon of wiſdom: and humility goeth before glory.

CHAP. XVI.

‖ IT is the part of man to prepare the ſoul: and of the Lord to govern the tongue. ‖ Infra ver. 5.

2 ‖ All the ways of a man are open to his eyes: the Lord is the weigher of ſpirits. ‖ Infra 20. 24. & 21. 2.

3 Lay open thy works to the Lord: and thy thoughts ſhall be directed.

4 The Lord hath made all things for himſelf: the wicked alſo for the evil day.

5 Every proud man is an abomination to the Lord: though hand ſhould be joined to hand, he is not innocent.

The beginning of a good way, is to do juſtice: and this is more acceptable with God, than to offer ſacrifices.

6 ‖ By mercy and truth iniquity is redeemed: and by the fear of the Lord men depart from evil. ‖ Supra 15. 27.

7 When the ways of man ſhall pleaſe the Lord, he will convert even his enemies to peace.

8 Better is a little with juſtice, than great revenues with iniquity.

9 ‖ The heart of man diſpoſeth his way: but the Lord muſt direct his ſteps. ‖ Supra ver. 1.

10 Divination is in the lips of the king, his mouth ſhall not err in judgment.

11 Weight and balance are judgments of the Lord: and his work all the weights of the bag.

CHAP. XVI. VER. 1. It is the part of man, &c. That is, a man ſhould prepare in his heart and ſoul what he is to ſay: but after all it muſt be the Lord that muſt govern his tongue, to ſpeak to the purpoſe. Not that we can think any thing of good without God's grace: but that after we have (with God's grace) thought and prepared within our ſouls what we could ſpeak; if God does not govern our tongue, we ſhall not ſucceed in what we ſpeak.

12 They that act wickedly are abominable to the king: for the throne is eſtabliſhed by juſtice.

13 Juſt lips are the delight of kings: he that ſpeaketh right things ſhall be loved.

14 The wrath of a king is as meſſengers of death: and the wiſe man will pacify it.

15 In the cheerfulneſs of the king's countenance is life: and his clemency is like the latter rain.

16 Get wiſdom, becauſe it is better than gold: and purchaſe prudence, for it is more precious than ſilver.

17 The path of the juſt departeth from evils: he that keepeth his ſoul keepeth his way.

18 Pride goeth before deſtruction: and the ſpirit is lifted up before a fall.

19 It is better to be humbled with the meek, than to divide ſpoils with the proud.

20 The learned in word ſhall find good things: and he that truſteth in the Lord is bleſſed.

21 The wiſe in heart, ſhall be called prudent: and he that is ſweet in words ſhall attain to greater things.

22 Knowledge is a fountain of life to him that poſſeſſeth it: the inſtruction of fools is fooliſhneſs.

23 The heart of the wiſe ſhall inſtruct his mouth: and ſhall add grace to his lips.

§ Supra 15. 23. Infra 17. 22. 24 ‖ Well ordered words are as a honeycomb: ſweet to the ſoul, and health to the bones.

25 There is a way that ſeemeth to a man right: and the ends thereof lead to death.

26 The ſoul of him that laboureth, laboureth for himſelf, becauſe his mouth hath obliged him to it.

27 The wicked man diggeth evil, and in his lips is a burning fire.

28 A perverſe man ſtirreth up quarrels: and one full of words ſeparateth princes.

29 An unjuſt man allureth his friend: and leadeth him into a way that is not good.

30 He that with fixed eyes deviſeth wicked things, biting his lips bringeth evil to paſs.

31 Old age is a crown of dignity, when it is found in the ways of juſtice.

32 The patient man is better than the valiant: and he that ruleth his ſpirit, than he that taketh cities.

33 Lots are caſt into the lap, but they are diſpoſed of by the Lord.

CHAP. XVII.

BETTER is a dry morſel with joy, than a houſe full of victims with ſtrife.

2 ‖ A wiſe ſervant ſhall rule over fooliſh ſons, and ſhall divide the inheritance among the brethren. ‖ Eccli. 10. 28.

3 As ſilver is tried by fire, and gold in the furnace: ſo the Lord trieth the hearts.

4 The evil man obeyeth an unjuſt tongue: and the deceitful hearkeneth to lying lips.

5 ‖ He that deſpiſeth the poor, reproacheth his maker: and he that rejoiceth at another man's ruin, ſhall not be unpuniſhed. ‖ Supra 14. 31.

6 Childrens children are the crown of old men: and the glory of children are their fathers.

7 Eloquent words do not become a fool, nor lying lips a prince.

8 The expectation of him that expecteth, is a moſt acceptable jewel: whitherſoever he turneth himſelf, he underſtandeth wiſely.

9 He that concealeth a tranſgreſſion, ſeeketh friendſhips: he that repeateth it again, ſeparateth friends.

10 A reproof availeth more with a wiſe man, than a hundred ſtripes with a fool.

11 An evil man always ſeeketh quarrels: but a cruel angel ſhall be ſent againſt him.

12 It is better to meet a bear robbed of her whelps, than a fool truſting in his own folly.

13 ‖ He that rendereth evil for good, evil ſhall not depart from his houſe. ‖ Rom. 12. 17. 1 Theſſ. 5. 15. 1 Peter 3. 9.

14 The beginning of quarrels is as when one letteth out water: before he ſuffereth reproach he forſaketh judgment.

15 ‖ He that juſtifieth the wicked, and he that condemneth the juſt, both are abominable before God. ‖ Iſai. 5. 23.

16 What doth it avail a fool to have riches, ſeeing he cannot buy wiſdom?

He that maketh his houſe high, ſeeketh a downfal: and he that refuſeth to learn, ſhall fall into evils.

17 He that is a friend loveth at all times: and a brother is proved in diſtreſs.

18 A fooliſh man will clap hands, when he is ſurety for his friend.

19 He that ſtudieth diſcords, loveth quarrels: and he that exalteth his door, ſeeketh ruin.

20 He that is of a perverſe heart, ſhall not find good: and he that perverteth his tongue, ſhall fall into evil.

21 A fool is born to his own diſgrace: and even his father ſhall not rejoice in a fool.

22 ‖ A joyful mind maketh age flouriſhing: a ſorrowful ſpirit drieth up the bones. ‖ Supra 15. 13. & 16. 24.

23 The wicked man taketh gifts out of the boſom, that he may pervert the paths of judgment.

24 ‖ Wiſdom ſhineth in the face of the ‖ Eccli. 2. 14. & 8. 1.

wise: the eyes of fools are in the ends of the earth.

25 A foolish son is the anger of the father: and the sorrow of the mother that bore him.

26 It is no good thing to do hurt to the just: nor to strike the prince, who judgeth right.

‖ James 1. 19. 27 ‖ He that setteth bounds to his words, is knowing and wise: and the man of understanding is of a precious spirit.

28 Even a fool, if he will hold his peace shall be counted wise: and if he close his lips, a man of understanding.

CHAP. XVIII.

HE that hath a mind to depart from a friend seeketh occasions: he shall ever be subject to reproach.

2 A fool receiveth not the words of prudence: unless thou say those things which are in his heart.

3 The wicked man when he is come into the depth of sins, contemneth: but ignominy and reproach follow him.

‖ Infra. 20. 5. 4 ‖ Words from the mouth of a man are as deep water: and the fountain of wisdom as an overflowing stream.

5 It is not good to accept the person of the wicked, to decline from the truth of judgment.

6 The lips of a fool intermeddle with strife: and his mouth provoketh quarrels.

7 The mouth of a fool is his destruction: and his lips are the ruin of his soul.

8 The words of the double-tongued are as if they were harmless: and they reach even to the inner parts of the bowels.

Fear casteth down the slothful: and the souls of the effeminate shall be hungry.

9 He that is loose and slack in his work, is the brother of him that wasteth his own works.

10 The name of the Lord is a strong tower: the just runneth to it, and shall be exalted.

11 The substance of the rich man is the city of his strength, and as a strong wall compassing him about.

‖ Supra 11. 2. Eccli. 10. 15. 12 ‖ Before destruction, the heart of a man is exalted: and before he be glorified, it is humbled.

‡ Eccli. 11. 8. 13 ‡ He that answereth before he heareth, sheweth himself to be a fool, and worthy of confusion.

14 The spirit of a man upholdeth his infirmity: but a spirit that is easily angered, who can bear?

15 A wise heart shall acquire knowledge: and the ear of the wise seeketh instruction.

16 A man's gift enlargeth his way, and maketh him room before princes.

17 The just is first accuser of himself: his friend cometh, and shall search him.

18 The lot suppresseth contentions, and determineth even between the mighty.

19 A brother that is helped by his brother, is like a strong city: and judgments are like the bars of cities.

20 Of the fruit of a man's mouth shall his belly be satisfied: and the offspring of his lips shall fill him.

21 Death and life are in the power of the tongue: they that love it, shall eat the fruits thereof.

22 He that hath found a good wife, hath found a good thing, and shall receive a pleasure from the Lord. He that driveth away a good wife, driveth away a good thing: but he that keepeth an adultress, is foolish and wicked.

23 The poor will speak with supplications, and the rich will speak roughly.

24 A man amiable in society, shall be more friendly than a brother.

CHAP. XIX.

BETTER is the poor man, that walketh in his simplicity, than a rich man that is perverse in his lips, and unwise.

‖ Infra 21. 16. 2 ‖ Where there is no knowledge of the soul, there is no good: and he that is hasty with his feet shall stumble.

3 The folly of a man supplanteth his steps: and he fretteth in his mind against God.

4 Riches make many friends: but from the poor man, even they whom he had, depart.

‖ Dan. 13. 61. 5 ‖ A false witness shall not be unpunished: and he that speaketh lies, shall not escape.

6 Many honour the person of him that is mighty, and are friends of him that give gifts.

7 The brethren of the poor man hate him: moreover also his friends have departed far from him.

He that followeth after words only, shall have nothing.

8 But he that possesseth a mind, loveth his own soul, and he that keepeth prudence shall find good things.

9 A false witness shall not be unpunished: and he that speaketh lies, shall perish.

10 Delicacies are not seemly for a fool: nor for a servant to have rule over princes.

11 The learning of a man is known by patience: and his glory is to pass over wrongs.

12 As the roaring of a lion, so also is the anger of a king: and his cheerfulneſs as the dew upon the graſs.

13 A fooliſh ſon is the grief of his father: and a wrangling wife is like a roof continually dropping through.

14 Houſe and riches are given by parents: but a prudent wife is properly from the Lord.

15 Slothfulneſs caſteth into a deep ſleep, and an idle ſoul ſhall ſuffer hunger.

16 He that keepeth the commandment, keepeth his own ſoul: but he that neglecteth his own way, ſhall die.

17 He that hath mercy on the poor, lendeth to the Lord: and he will repay him.

18 Chaſtiſe thy ſon, deſpair not: but to the killing of him ſet not thy ſoul.

19 He that is impatient, ſhall ſuffer damage: and when he ſhall take away he ſhall add another thing.

20 Hear counſel, and receive inſtruction, that thou mayſt be wiſe in thy latter end.

21 There are many thoughts in the heart of a man: but the will of the Lord ſhall ſtand firm.

22 A needy man is merciful: and better is the poor than the lying man.

23 The fear of the Lord is unto life: and he ſhall abide in fulneſs without being viſited with evil.

24 ‖ The ſlothful hideth his hand under his arm-pit, and will not ſo much as bring it to his mouth. ‖ Infra 26. 15.

25 ‖ The wicked man being ſcourged, the fool ſhall be wiſer: but if thou rebuke a wiſe man he will underſtand diſcipline. ‖ Infra 21. 21.

26 He that afflicteth his father, and chaſeth away his mother, is infamous and unhappy.

27 Ceaſe not, O my ſon, to hear inſtruction, and be not ignorant of the words of knowledge.

28 An unjuſt witneſs ſcorneth judgment: and the mouth of the wicked devoureth iniquity.

29 Judgments are prepared for ſcorners: and ſtriking hammers for the bodies of fools.

CHAP. XX.

WINE is a luxurious thing, and drunkenneſs riotous: whoſoever is delighted therewith ſhall not be wiſe.

2 As the roaring of a lion, ſo alſo is the dread of a king: he that provoketh him, ſinneth againſt his own ſoul.

3 It is an honour for a man, to ſeparate himſelf from quarrels: but all fools are meddling with reproaches.

4 Becauſe of the cold the ſluggard would not plough: he ſhall beg therefore in the ſummer, and it ſhall not be given him.

5 Counſel in the heart of a man is like deep water: but a wiſe man will draw it out. ‖ Supra 18. 4.

6 Many men are called merciful: but who ſhall find a faithful man?

7 The juſt that walketh in his ſimplicity, ſhall leave behind him bleſſed children.

8 The king, that ſitteth on the throne of judgment, ſcattereth away all evil with his look.

9 ‖ Who can ſay: My heart is clean, I am pure from ſin? ‖ 3 Kings 8. 46. 2 Par. 6. 36. Eccli. 7. 21. 1 John 1. 8.

10 ‡ Diverſe weights and diverſe meaſures, both are abominable before God. ‡ Supra 11. 1. Infra ver. 23.

11 By his inclinations a child is known, if his works be clean and right.

12 The hearing ear, and the ſeeing eye, the Lord hath made them both.

13 Love not ſleep, leſt poverty oppreſs thee: open thy eyes, and be filled with bread.

14 It is naught, it is naught, ſaith every buyer: and when he is gone away, then he will boaſt.

15 There is gold, and a multitude of jewels: but the lips of knowledge are a precious veſſel.

16 ‖ Take away the garment of him that is ſurety for a ſtranger, and take a pledge from him for ſtrangers. ‖ Infra 27. 13.

17 The bread of lying is ſweet to a man: but afterwards his mouth ſhall be filled with gravel.

18 Deſigns are ſtrengthened by counſels: and wars are to be managed by governments.

19 Meddle not with him that revealeth ſecrets, and walketh deceitfully, and openeth wide his lips.

20 ‖ He that curſeth his father, and mother, his lamp ſhall be put out in the midſt of darkneſs. ‖ Exod. 21. 16. Levit. 20. 9. Mat. 15. 4.

21 The inheritance gotten haſtily in the beginning, in the end ſhall be without a bleſſing.

22 ‖ Say not: I will return evil: wait for the Lord, and he will deliver thee. ‖ Rom. 12. 17. 1 Theſſ. 5. 15. 1 Peter 3. 9.

23 ‡ Diverſe weights are an abomination before the Lord: a deceitful balance is not good. ‡ Supra ver. 10.

24 ‖ The ſteps of man are guided by the Lord: but who is the man that can underſtand his own way? ‖ Supra 16. 2.

25 It is ruin to a man to devour holy ones, and after vows to retract.

26 A wiſe king ſcattereth the wicked, and bringeth over them the wheel.

27 The ſpirit of a man is the lamp of the Lord, which ſearcheth all the hidden things of the bowels.

28 Mercy and truth preſerve the king, and his throne is ſtrengthened by clemency.
29 The joy of young men, is their ſtrength: and the dignity of old men, their grey hairs.
30 The blueneſs of a wound ſhall wipe away evils: and ſtripes in the more inward parts of the belly.

CHAP. XXI.

AS the diviſions of waters, ſo the heart of the king is in the hand of the Lord: whitherſoever he will he ſhall turn it.
|| Supra 16. 2. & 20. 24. 2 || Every way of a man ſeemeth right to himſelf: but the Lord weigheth the hearts.
3 To do mercy and judgment, pleaſeth the Lord more than victims.
4 Haughtineſs of the eyes is the enlarging of the heart: the lamp of the wicked is ſin.
5 The thoughts of the induſtrious always bring forth abundance: but every ſluggard is always in want.
6 He that gathereth treaſures by a lying tongue, is vain and fooliſh, and ſhall ſtumble upon the ſnares of death.
7 The robberies of the wicked, ſhall be their downfal, becauſe they would not do judgment.
8 The perverſe way of a man is ſtrange: but as for him that is pure, his work is right.
|| Infra 25. 24. 9 || It is better to ſit in a corner of the houſe-top, than with a brawling woman, and in a common houſe.
10 The ſoul of the wicked deſireth evil, he will not have pity on his neighbour.
|| Supra 19. 25. 11 || When a peſtilent man is puniſhed, the little one will be wiſer: and if he follow the wiſe, he will receive knowledge.
12 The juſt conſidereth ſeriouſly the houſe of the wicked, that he may withdraw the wicked from evil.
13 He that ſtoppeth his ear againſt the cry of the poor, ſhall alſo cry himſelf and ſhall not be heard.
14 A ſecret preſent quencheth anger: and a gift in the boſom the greateſt wrath.
15 It is joy to the juſt to do judgment: and dread to them that work iniquity.
16 A man that ſhall wander out of the way of doctrine, ſhall abide in the company of the giants.
17 He that loveth good cheer, ſhall be in want: he that loveth wine, and fat things, ſhall not be rich.
18 The wicked is delivered up for the juſt: and the unjuſt for the righteous.
|| Supra ver. 9. Eccli. 25. 23. 19 || It is better to dwell in a wilderneſs, than with a quarrelſome and paſſionate woman.
20 There is a treaſure to be deſired, and oil in the dwelling of the juſt: and the fooliſh man ſhall ſpend it.
21 He that followeth juſtice and mercy, ſhall find life, juſtice, and glory.
22 The wiſe man hath ſcaled the city of the ſtrong, and hath caſt down the ſtrength of the confidence thereof.
23 He that keepeth his mouth and his tongue, keepeth his ſoul from diſtreſs.
24 The proud and the arrogant is called ignorant, who in anger worketh pride.
25 Deſires kill the ſlothful: for his hands have refuſed to work at all.
26 He longeth and deſireth all the day: but he that is juſt, will give, and will not ceaſe.
|| Supra 15. 8. Eccli. 34. 21. 27 || The ſacrifices of the wicked are abominable, becauſe they are offered of wickedneſs.
28 A lying witneſs ſhall periſh: an obedient man ſhall ſpeak of victory.
29 The wicked man impudently hardeneth his face: but he that is righteous, correcteth his way.
30 There is no wiſdom, there is no prudence, there is no counſel againſt the Lord.
31 The horſe is prepared for the day of battle: but the Lord giveth ſafety.

CHAP. XXII.

Eccli. 7. 2. A Good name is better than great riches: and good favour is above ſilver and gold.
|| Infra 29. 23. 2 || The rich and poor have met one another: the Lord is the maker of them both.
3 The prudent man ſaw the evil, and hid himſelf: the ſimple paſſed on, and ſuffered loſs.
4 The fruit of humility is the fear of the Lord, riches and glory and life.
5 Arms and ſwords are in the way of the perverſe: but he that keepeth his own ſoul departeth far from them.
6 It is a proverb: A young man according to his way, even when he is old, he will not depart from it.
7 The rich ruleth over the poor: and the borrower is ſervant to him that lendeth.
8 He that ſoweth iniquity, ſhall reap evils, and with the rod of his anger he ſhall be conſumed.
|| Eccli. 31. 28. 9 || He that is inclined to mercy, ſhall be bleſſed: for of his bread he hath given to the poor.

He that maketh presents shall purchase victory and honour: but he carrieth away the souls of the receivers.

10 Cast out the scoffer, and contention shall go out with him, and quarrels and reproaches shall cease.

11 He that loveth cleanness of heart, for the grace of his lips shall have the king for his friend.

12 The eyes of the Lord preserve knowledge: and the words of the unjust are overthrown.

13 The slothful man saith: There is a lion without, I shall be slain in the midst of the streets.

14 The mouth of a strange woman is a deep pit: he whom the Lord is angry with, shall fall into it.

15 Folly is bound up in the heart of a child, and the rod of correction shall drive it away.

16 He that oppresseth the poor, to increase his own riches, shall himself give to one that is richer, and shall be in need.

17 Incline thy ear, and hear the words of the wise: and apply thy heart to my doctrine:

18 Which shall be beautiful for thee, if thou keep it in thy bowels, and it shall flow in thy lips:

19 That thy trust may be in the Lord, wherefore I have also shewn it to thee this day.

20 Behold I have described it to thee three manner of ways, in thoughts and knowledge:

21 That I might shew thee the certainty, and the words of truth, to answer out of these to them that sent thee.

22 Do no violence to the poor, because he is poor: and do not oppress the needy in the gate:

23 Because the Lord will judge his cause, and will afflict them, that have afflicted his soul.

24 Be not a friend to an angry man, and do not walk with a furious man:

25 Lest perhaps thou learn his ways, and take scandal to thy soul.

26 Be not with them that fasten down their hands, and that offer themselves sureties for debts:

27 For if thou have not wherewith to restore, what cause is there, that he should take the covering from thy bed?

28 Pass not beyond the ancient bounds which thy fathers have set.

29 Hast thou seen a man swift in his work? he shall stand before kings, and shall not be before those that are obscure.

CHAP. XXIII.

WHEN thou shalt sit to eat with a prince, consider diligently what is set before thy face:

2 And put a knife to thy throat, if it be so that thou have thy soul in thy own power.

3 Be not desirous of his meats, in which is the bread of deceit.

4 Labour not to be rich: but set bounds to thy prudence.

5 Lift not up thy eyes to riches which thou canst not have: because they shall make themselves wings like those of an eagle, and shall fly towards heaven.

6 Eat not with an envious man, and desire not his meats:

7 Because like a soothsayer, and diviner, he thinketh that which he knoweth not. Eat and drink, will he say to thee: and his mind is not with thee.

8 The meats which thou hadst eaten, thou shalt vomit up: and shalt lose thy beautiful words.

9 Speak not in the ears of fools: because they will despise the instruction of thy speech.

10 Touch not the bounds of little ones: and enter not into the field of the fatherless:

11 For their near kinsman is strong: and he will judge their cause against thee.

12 Let thy heart apply itself to instruction: and thy ears to words of knowledge.

13 ‖ Withhold not correction from a child: for if thou strike him with the rod, he shall not die. ‖ Supra 13. 24. Eccli. 30. 1. Supra 29. 15.

14 Thou shalt beat him with the rod, and deliver his soul from hell.

15 My son, if thy mind be wise, my heart shall rejoice with thee:

16 And my reins shall rejoice, when thy lips shall speak what is right.

17 ‖ Let not thy heart envy sinners: but be thou in the fear of the Lord all the day long: ‖ Infra 24. 1.

18 Because thou shalt have hope in the latter end, and thy expectation shall not be taken away.

19 Hear thou, my son, and be wise: and guide thy mind in the way.

20 Be not in the feasts of great drinkers, nor in their revellings, who contribute flesh to eat:

21 Because they that give themselves to drinking, and that club together, shall be consumed; and drousiness shall be clothed with rags.

22 Hearken to thy father, that begot thee: and despise not thy mother when she is old.

23 Buy truth, and do not ſell wiſdom, and inſtruction, and underſtanding.
24 The father of the juſt rejoiceth greatly: he that hath begotten a wiſe ſon, ſhall have joy in him.
25 Let thy father, and thy mother be joyful, and let her rejoice that bore thee.
26 My ſon, give me thy heart: and let thy eyes keep my ways.
27 For a harlot is a deep ditch: and a ſtrange woman is a narrow pit.
28 She lyeth in wait in the way as a robber, and him whom ſhe ſhall ſee unwary, ſhe will kill.
29 Who hath wo? whoſe father hath wo? who hath contentions? who falls into pits? who hath wounds without cauſe? who hath redneſs of eyes?
30 Surely they that paſs their time in wine, and ſtudy to drink off their cups.
31 Look not upon the wine when it is yellow, when the colour thereof ſhineth in the glaſs: it goeth in pleaſantly,
32 But in the end, it will bite like a ſnake, and will ſpread abroad poiſon like a baſiliſk.
33 Thy eyes ſhall behold ſtrange women, and thy heart ſhall utter perverſe things.
34 And thou ſhalt be as one ſleeping in the midſt of the ſea, and as a pilot faſt aſleep, when the ſtern is loſt.
35 And thou ſhalt ſay: They have beaten me, but I was not ſenſible of pain: they drew me, and I felt not: when ſhall I awake, and find wine again?

CHAP. XXIV.

Supra 23. 17. SEEK not to be like evil men, neither deſire to be with them:
2 Becauſe their mind ſtudieth robberies, and their lips ſpeak deceits.
3 By wiſdom the houſe ſhall be built, and by prudence it ſhall be ſtrengthened.
4 By inſtruction the ſtore-rooms ſhall be filled with all precious and moſt beautiful wealth.
5 A wiſe man is ſtrong: and a knowing man, ſtout and valiant.
6 Becauſe war is managed by due ordering: and there ſhall be ſafety where there are many counſels.
7 Wiſdom is too high for a fool, in the gate he ſhall not open his mouth.
8 He that deviſeth to do evils, ſhall be called a fool.
9 The thought of a fool is ſin: and the detracter is the abomination of men.
10 If thou loſe hope being weary in the day of diſtreſs, thy ſtrength ſhall be diminiſhed.
11 || Deliver them that are led to death: and thoſe that are drawn to death forbear not to deliver. || Pſ. 81. 4.
12 If thou ſay: I have not ſtrength enough: he that ſeeth into the heart, he underſtandeth, and nothing deceiveth the keeper of thy ſoul, and he ſhall render to a man according to his works.
13 || Eat honey, my ſon, becauſe it is good, and the honeycomb moſt ſweet to thy throat: || Infra 25. 16. & 27.
14 So alſo is the doctrine of wiſdom to thy ſoul: which when thou haſt found, thou ſhalt have hope in the end, and thy hope ſhall not periſh.
15 Lie not in wait, nor ſeek after wickedneſs in the houſe of the juſt, nor ſpoil his reſt.
16 For a juſt man ſhall fall ſeven times, and ſhall riſe again: but the wicked ſhall fall down into evil.
17 When thy enemy ſhall fall, be not glad, and in his ruin let not thy heart rejoice:
18 Leſt the Lord ſee, and it diſpleaſe him, and he turn away his wrath from him.
19 Contend not with the wicked, nor ſeek to be like the ungodly:
20 For evil men have no hope of things to come, and the lamp of the wicked ſhall be put out.
21 My ſon, fear the Lord, and the king: and have nothing to do with detracters.
22 For their deſtruction ſhall riſe ſuddenly: and who knoweth the ruin of both?
23 Theſe things alſo to the wiſe: || It is not good to have reſpect to perſons in judgment. || Lev. 19. 15. Deut. 1. 17. & 16. 19 Eccli. 42. 1.
24 They that ſay to the wicked man: Thou art juſt: ſhall be curſed by the people, and the tribes ſhall abhor them.
25 They that rebuke him, ſhall be praiſed: and a bleſſing ſhall come upon them.
26 He ſhall kiſs the lips, who anſwereth right words.
27 Prepare thy work without, and diligently till thy ground: that afterward thou mayſt build thy houſe.
28 Be not witneſs without cauſe againſt thy neighbour: and deceive not any man with thy lips.
29 || Say not: I will do to him as he hath done to me: I will render to every one according to his work. || Supra 20. 22.
30 I paſſed by the field of the ſlothful man, and by the vineyard of the fooliſh man:
31 And behold it was all filled with nettles, and thorns had covered the face thereof, and the ſtone-wall was broken down.
32 Which when I had ſeen, I laid it up in my heart, and by the example I received instruction.

33 Thou wilt sleep a little, said I, thou wilt slumber a little, thou wilt fold thy hands a little to rest:

34 And poverty shall come to thee as a runner, and beggary as an armed man.

CHAP. XXV.

THESE are also parables of Solomon, which the men of Ezechias king of Juda copied out.

2 It is the glory of God to conceal the word, and the glory of kings to search out the speech.

6 The heaven above, and the earth beneath, and the heart of kings is unsearchable.

4 Take away the rust from silver, and the there shall come forth a most pure vessel:

5 Take away wickedness from the face of the king, and his throne shall be established with justice.

6 Appear not glorious before the king, and stand not in the place of great men.

7 For it is better that it should be said to thee: Come up hither; than that thou shouldst be humbled before the prince.

8 The things which thy eyes have seen, utter not hastily in a quarrel: lest afterward thou mayst not be able to make amends, when thou hast dishonoured thy friend.

9 Treat thy cause with thy friend, and discover not the secret to a stranger:

10 Lest he insult over thee, when he hath heard it, and cease not to upbraid thee.

Grace and friendship deliver a man: keep these for thyself, lest thou fall under reproach.

11 To speak a word in due time, is like apples of gold on beds of silver.

12 As an ear-ring of gold and a bright pearl, so is he that reproveth the wise, and the obedient ear.

13 ‖ As the cold of snow in the time of harvest, so is a faithful messenger to him that sent him, for he refresheth his soul. ‖ Infra 26. 6.

14 As clouds, and wind, when no rain followeth, so is the man that boasteth, and doth not fulfil his promises.

15 By patience a prince shall be appeased, ‖ and a soft tongue shall break hardness. ‖ Supra 15. 18.

16 Thou hast found honey, eat what is sufficient for thee, lest being glutted therewith thou vomit it up.

17 Withdraw thy foot from the house of thy neighbour, lest having his fill he hate thee.

18 A man that beareth false witness against his neighbour, is like a dart and a sword and a sharp arrow.

19 To trust to an unfaithful man in the time of trouble, is like a rotten tooth, and weary foot,

20 And one that loseth his garment in cold weather.

As vinegar upon nitre, so is he that singeth songs to a very evil heart. As a moth doth by a garment, and a worm by the wood: so the sadness of a man consumeth the heart.

21 ‖ If thy enemy be hungry, give him to eat: if he thirst, give him water to drink: ‖ Rom. 12. 20.

22 For thou shalt heap hot coals upon his head, and the Lord will reward thee.

23 The north wind driveth away rain, as doth a sad countenance a backbiting tongue.

24 ‖ It is better to sit in a corner of the house-top, than with a brawling woman, and in a common house. ‖ Supra 21. 9.

25 As cold water to a thirsty soul, so is good tidings from a far country.

26 A just man falling down before the wicked, is as a fountain troubled with the foot, and a corrupted spring.

27 As it is not good for a man to eat much honey, ‖ so he that is a searcher of majesty, shall be overwhelmed by glory. ‖ Eccli. 3. 22.

28 As a city that lieth open and is not compassed with walls, so is a man that cannot refrain his own spirit in speaking.

CHAP. XXVI.

AS snow in summer, and rain in harvest: so glory is not seemly for a fool.

2 As a bird flying to other places, and a sparrow going here or there: so a curse uttered without cause shall come upon a man.

3 A whip for a horse, and a snaffle for an ass, ‖ and a rod for the back of fools. ‖ Supra 25. 13.

4 Answer not a fool according to his folly, lest thou be made like him.

5 Answer a fool according to his folly, lest he imagine himself to be wise.

CHAP. XXV. VER. 27. Majesty, viz. of God. For to search into that incomprehensible Majesty, and to pretend to sound the depths of the wisdom of God, is exposing our weak understanding to be blinded with an excess of light and glory, which it cannot comprehend.

CHAP. XXVI. VER. 2. As a bird, &c. The meaning is, that a curse uttered without cause shall do no harm to the person that is cursed, but will return upon him that curseth, as whithersoever a bird flies, it returns to its own nest.

VER. 4. Answer not a fool, &c. Viz. so as to imitate him, but only so as to reprove his folly.

6 || He that ſendeth words by a fooliſh meſſenger, is lame of feet and drinketh iniquity. || Supra 25. 13.

7 As a lame man hath fair legs in vain: ſo a parable is unſeemly in the mouth of fools.

8 As he that caſteth a ſtone into the * heap of Mercury: ſo is he that giveth honour to a fool. * i. e. heap of ſtones at the foot of this idol.

9 As if a thorn ſhould grow in the hand of a drunkard: ſo is a parable in the mouth of fools.

10 Judgment determineth cauſes: and he that putteth a fool to ſilence, appeaſeth anger.

11 || As a dog that returneth to his vomit, ſo is the fool that repeateth his folly. || 2 Peter 2. 22.

12 Haſt thou ſeen a man wiſe in his own conceit? there ſhall be more hope of a fool than of him.

13 The ſlothful man ſaith: There is a lion in the way, and a lioneſs in the roads.

14 As the door turneth upon its hinges, ſo doth the ſlothful upon his bed.

15 || The ſlothful hideth his hand under his arm-pit, and it grieveth him to turn it to his mouth. || Supra 19. 24.

16 The ſluggard is wiſer in his own conceit, than ſeven men that ſpeak ſentences.

17 As he that taketh a dog by the ears, ſo is he that paſſeth by in anger, and meddleth with another man's quarrel.

18 As he is guilty that ſhooteth arrows, and lances unto death:

19 So is the man, that hurteth his friend deceitfully: and when he is taken, ſaith: I did it in jeſt.

20 When the wood faileth, the fire ſhall go out: and when the tale-bearer is taken away, contentions ſhall ceaſe.

21 As coals are to burning coals, and wood to fire, || ſo an angry man ſtirreth up ſtrife. || Supra 15. 18.

22 The words of a tale-bearer are as it were ſimple, but they reach to the innermoſt parts of the belly.

23 Swelling lips joined with a corrupt heart, are like an earthen veſſel adorned with ſilver droſs.

24 An enemy is known by his lips, when in his heart he entertaineth deceit.

25 When he ſhall ſpeak low, truſt him not: becauſe there are ſeven miſchiefs in his heart.

26 He that covereth hatred deceitfully, his malice ſhall be laid open in the public aſſembly.

27 He that diggeth a pit, ſhall fall into it: and he that rolleth a ſtone, it ſhall return to him.

28 A deceitful tongue loveth not truth: and a ſlippery mouth worketh ruin.

CHAP. XXVII.

BOAST not for to-morrow, for thou knoweſt not what the day to come may bring forth.

2 Let another praiſe thee, and not thy own mouth: a ſtranger and not thy own lips.

3 || A ſtone is heavy, and ſand weighty: but the anger of a fool is heavier than them both. || Eccli. 22. 18.

4 Anger hath no mercy, nor fury when it breaketh forth: and who can bear the violence of one provoked?

5 Open rebuke is better than hidden love.

6 Better are the wounds of a friend, than the deceitful kiſſes of an enemy.

7 || A ſoul that is full ſhall tread upon the honeycomb: and a ſoul that is hungry ſhall take even bitter for ſweet. || Job 6. 7.

8 As a bird that wandereth from her neſt, ſo is a man that leaveth his place.

9 Ointment and perfumes rejoice the heart: and the good counſels of a friend are ſweet to the ſoul.

10 Thy own friend, and thy father's friend forſake not: and go not into thy brother's houſe in the day of thy affliction.

Better is a neighbour that is near, than a brother afar off.

11 Study wiſdom, my ſon, and make my heart joyful, that thou mayſt give an anſwer to him that reproacheth.

12 The prudent man ſeeing evil hideth himſelf: little ones paſſing on have ſuffered loſſes.

13 || Take away his garment that hath been ſurety for a ſtranger: and take from him a pledge for ſtrangers. || Supra 20. 16.

14 He that bleſſeth his neighbour with a loud voice, riſing in the night, ſhall be like to him that curſeth.

15 || Roofs dropping through in a cold day, and a contentious woman are alike. || Supra 19. 13.

16 He that retaineth her, is as he that would hold the wind, and ſhall call in the oil of his right hand.

17 Iron ſharpeneth iron, ſo a man ſharpeneth the countenance of his friend.

18 He that keepeth the fig-tree, ſhall eat the fruit thereof: and he that is the keeper of his maſter, ſhall be glorified.

19 As the faces of them that look therein, ſhine in the water, ſo the hearts of men are laid open to the wiſe.

20 Hell and deſtruction are never filled: || ſo the eyes of men are never ſatisfied. || Eccli. 14. 9.

21 ‡ As ſilver is tried in the fining-pot, and gold in the furnace: ſo a man is tried by the mouth of him that praiſeth. ‡ Supra 17. 3.

The heart of the wicked ſeeketh after evils, but the righteous heart ſeeketh after knowledge.

22 Though thou ſhouldeſt bray a fool in the mortar, as when a peſtle ſtriketh upon ſodden barley, his folly would not be taken from him.

23 Be diligent to know the countenance of thy cattle, and conſider thy own flocks:

24 For thou ſhalt not always have power: but a crown ſhall be given to generation and generation.

25 The meadows are open, and the green herbs have appeared, and the hay is gathered out of the mountains.

‖ 1 Tim. 6. 8. 26 ‖ Lambs are for thy clothing: and kids for the price of the field.

27 Let the milk of the goats be enough for thy food, and for the neceſſities of thy houſe, and for maintenance for thy handmaids.

CHAP. XXVIII.

THE wicked man fleeth, when no man purſueth: but the juſt, bold as a lion, ſhall be without dread.

2 For the ſins of the land many are the princes thereof: and for the wiſdom of a man, and the knowledge of thoſe things that are ſaid, the life of the prince ſhall be prolonged.

3 A poor man that oppreſſeth the poor, is like a violent ſhower, which bringeth a famine.

4 They that forſake the law, praiſe the wicked man: they that keep it, are incenſed againſt him.

5 Evil men think not on judgment: but they that ſeek after the Lord, take notice of all things.

‖ Supra 19. 1. 6 ‖ Better is the poor man walking in his ſimplicity, than the rich in crooked ways.

7 He that keepeth the law, is a wiſe ſon: but he that feedeth gluttons, ſhameth his father.

8 He that heapeth together riches by uſury and loan, gathereth them for him that will be bountiful to the poor.

9 He that turneth away his ears from hearing the law, his prayer ſhall be an abomination.

10 He that deceiveth the juſt in a wicked way, ſhall fall in his own deſtruction: and the upright ſhall poſſeſs his goods.

11 The rich man ſeemeth to himſelf wiſe: but the poor man that is prudent ſhall ſearch him out.

12 In the joy of the juſt there is great glory: when the wicked reign, men are ruined.

13 He that hideth his ſins, ſhall not proſper: but he that ſhall confeſs, and forſake them, ſhall obtain mercy.

14 Bleſſed is the man that is always fearful: but he that is hardened in mind, ſhall fall into evil.

15 As a roaring lion, and a hungry bear, ſo is a wicked prince over the poor people.

16 A prince void of prudence ſhall oppreſs many by calumny: but he that hateth covetouſneſs, ſhall prolong his days.

17 A man that doth violence to the blood of a perſon, if he flee even to the pit, no man will ſtay him.

18 He that walketh uprightly, ſhall be ſaved: he that is perverſe in his ways, ſhall fall at once.

‖ Supra 12. 11. Eccli. 20. 30. 19 ‖ He that tilleth his ground, ſhall be filled with bread: but he that followeth idleneſs, ſhall be filled with poverty.

‡ Supra 13. 11. & 20. 21. & Infra ver. 22. 20 A faithful man ſhall be much praiſed: ‡ but he that maketh haſt to be rich, ſhall not be innocent.

21 He that hath reſpect to a perſon in judgment, doth not well: ſuch a man even for a morſel of bread forſaketh the truth.

22 A man, that maketh haſte to be rich, and envieth others, is ignorant that poverty ſhall come upon him.

23 He that rebuketh a man, ſhall afterward find favour with him, more than he that by a flattering tongue deceiveth him.

24 He that ſtealeth any thing from his father, or from his mother: and ſaith, This is no ſin, is the partner of a murderer.

25 He that boaſteth, and puffeth up himſelf, ſtirreth up quarrels: but he that truſteth in the Lord, ſhall be healed.

26 He that truſteth in his own heart, is a fool: but he that walketh wiſely, he ſhall be ſaved.

27 He that giveth to the poor, ſhall not want: he that deſpiſeth his entreaty, ſhall ſuffer indigence.

28 When the wicked riſe up, men ſhall hide themſelves: when they periſh, the juſt ſhall be multiplied.

CHAP. XXIX.

THE man that with a ſtiff neck deſpiſeth him that reproveth him, ſhall ſuddenly be deſtroyed: and health ſhall not follow him.

2 When juſt men increaſe, the people ſhall rejoice: when the wicked ſhall bear rule, the people ſhall mourn.

3 A man that loveth wiſdom, rejoiceth his father: but he that maintaineth harlots, ſhall ſquander away his ſubſtance.

4 A juſt king ſetteth up the land: a covetous man ſhall deſtroy it.

5 A man that ſpeaketh to his friend with flattering and diſſembling words, ſpreadeth a net for his feet.

6 A ſnare ſhall entangle the wicked man when he ſinneth: and the juſt ſhall praiſe and rejoice.

7 The juſt taketh notice of the cauſe of the poor: the wicked is void of knowledge.

8 Corrupt men bring a city to ruin: but wiſe men turn away wrath.

9 If a wiſe man contend with a fool, whether he be angry, or laugh, he ſhall find no reſt.

10 Blood-thirſty men hate the upright: but juſt men ſeek his ſoul.

11 A fool uttereth all his mind: a wiſe man deferreth, and keepeth it till afterwards.

12 A prince that gladly heareth lying words, hath all his ſervants wicked.

‖ Supra 22. 2. 13 ‖ The poor man and the creditor have met one another: the Lord is the enlightener of them both.

14 The king that judgeth the poor in truth, his throne ſhall be eſtabliſhed for ever.

‖ Supra 23. 13. & Infra ver. 17. 15 ‖ The rod and reproof give wiſdom: but the child that is left to his own will bringeth his mother to ſhame.

16 When the wicked are multiplied, crimes ſhall be multiplied: but the juſt ſhall ſee their downfal.

17 Inſtruct thy ſon, and he ſhall refreſh thee, and ſhall give delight to thy ſoul.

18 When prophecy ſhall fail, the people ſhall be ſcattered abroad: but he that keepeth the law, is bleſſed.

19 A ſlave will not be corrected by words: becauſe he underſtandeth what thou ſayeſt, and will not anſwer.

20 Haſt thou ſeen a man haſty to ſpeak? folly is rather to be looked for, than his amendment.

21 He that nouriſheth his ſervant delicately from his childhood, afterwards ſhall find him ſtubborn.

22 A paſſionate man provoketh quarrels: and he that is eaſily ſtirred up to wrath, ſhall be more prone to ſin.

‖ Job 22. 29. 23 ‖ Humiliation followeth the proud: and glory ſhall uphold the humble of ſpirit.

24 He that is partaker with a thief, hateth his own ſoul: he heareth one putting him to his oath, and diſcovereth not.

25 He that feareth man, ſhall quickly fall: he that truſteth in the Lord, ſhall be ſet on high.

26 Many ſeek the face of the prince: but the judgment of every one cometh forth from the Lord.

27 The juſt abhor a wicked man: and the wicked loath them that are in the right way.

The ſon that keepeth the word, ſhall be free from deſtruction.

CHAP. XXX.

The wiſe man thinketh humbly of himſelf. His prayer, and ſentiments upon certain virtues and vices.

THE words of Gatherer the ſon of Vomiter. The viſion which the man ſpoke, with whom God is, and who being ſtrengthened by God, abiding with him, ſaid:

2 I am the moſt fooliſh of men, and the wiſdom of men is not with me.

3 I have not learned wiſdom, and have not known the ſcience of ſaints.

4 Who hath aſcended up into heaven, and deſcended? who hath held the wind in his hands? who hath bound up the waters together as in a garment? who hath raiſed up all the borders of the earth? what is his name, and what is the name of his ſon, if thou knoweſt?

‖ Pſ. 11. 7. 5 ‖ Every word of God is fire-tried: he is a buckler to them that hope in him.

‡ Deut. 4. 2. & 12. 32. 6 ‡ Add not any thing to his words, leſt thou be reproved and found a liar:

7 Two things I have aſked of thee, deny them not to me before I die.

8 Remove far from me vanity, and lying words. Give me neither beggary, nor riches: give me only the neceſſaries of life:

9 Leſt perhaps being filled, I ſhould be tempted to deny, and ſay: Who is the Lord? or being compelled by poverty, I ſhould ſteal, and forſwear the name of my God.

10 Accuſe not a ſervant to his maſter, leſt he curſe thee, and thou fall.

11 There is a generation that curſeth their father, and doth not bleſs their mother.

12 A generation, that are pure in their own eyes, and yet are not waſhed from their filthineſs.

13 A generation, whoſe eyes are lofty, and their eye-lids lifted up on high.

CHAP. XXX. VER. 1. Gatherer, &c. or, as it is in the Latin, Congregans the ſon of Vomens. The Latin interpreter has given us in this place the ſignification of the Hebrew names, inſtead of the names themſelves, which are in the Hebrew, Agur the ſon of Jakeh. But whether this Agur be the ſame perſon as Solomon, as many think, or a different perſon, whoſe doctrine was adopted by Solomon, and inſerted among his parables or proverbs, is uncertain.

VER. 5. Is fire tried: that is, moſt pure, like gold purified by fire.

14 A generation, that for teeth hath ſwords, and grindeth with their jaw-teeth, to devour the needy from off the earth, and the poor from among men.

15 The horſe-leech hath two daughters that ſay: Bring, bring.

There are three things that never are ſatisfied, and the fourth never ſaith: It is enough.

16 Hell, and the mouth of the womb, and the earth which is not ſatisfied with water: and the fire never ſaith: It is enough.

17 The eye that mocketh at his father, and that deſpiſeth the labour of his mother in bearing him, let the ravens of the brooks pick it out, and the young eagles eat it.

18 Three things are hard to me, and the fourth I am utterly ignorant of.

19 The way of an eagle in the air, the way of a ſerpent upon a rock, the way of a ſhip in the midſt of the ſea, and the way of a man in youth.

20 Such is alſo the way of an adulterous woman, who eateth, and wipeth her mouth, and ſaith: I have done no evil.

21 By three things the earth is diſturbed, and the fourth it cannot bear:

22 By a ſlave when he reigneth: by a fool when he is filled with meat:

23 By an odious woman when ſhe is married: and by a bond-woman when ſhe is heir to her miſtreſs.

24 There are four very little things of the earth, and they are wiſer than the wiſe:

25 The ants, a feeble people, which provide themſelves food in the harveſt:

26 The rabbit, a weak people, which maketh its bed in the rock:

27 The locuſt hath no king, yet they all go out by their bands:

28 The ſtellio ſupporteth itſelf on hands, and dwelleth in kings houſes.

29 There are three things, which go well, and the fourth that walketh happily:

30 A lion, the ſtrongeſt of beaſts, who hath no fear of any thing he meeteth:

31 A cock girded about the loins: and a ram: and a king, whom none can reſiſt.

32 There is that hath appeared a fool after he was lifted up on high: for if he had underſtood, he would have laid his hand upon his mouth.

33 And he that ſtrongly ſqueezeth the paps to brings out milk, ſtraineth out butter: and he that violently bloweth his noſe, bringeth out blood: and he that provoketh wrath, bringeth forth ſtrife.

CHAP. XXXI.

An exhortation to chaſtity, temperance, and works of mercy; with the praiſe of a wiſe woman.

THE words of king Lamuel. The viſion wherewith his mother inſtructed him.

2 What, O my beloved, what, O the beloved of my womb, what, O the beloved of my vows?

3 Give not thy ſubſtance to women, and thy riches to deſtroy kings.

4 Give not to kings, O Lamuel, give not wine to kings: becauſe there is no ſecret where drunkenneſs reigneth:

5 And leſt they drink and forget judgments, and pervert the cauſe of the children of the poor.

6 Give ſtrong drink to them that are ſad, and wine to them that are grieved in mind:

7 Let them drink, and forget their want, and remember their ſorrow no more.

8 Open thy mouth for the dumb, and for the cauſes of all the children that paſs.

9 Open thy mouth, decree that which is juſt, and do juſtice to the needy and poor.

10 Who ſhall find a valiant woman? far, and from the uttermoſt coaſts is the price of her.

11 The heart of her huſband truſteth in her, and he ſhall have no need of ſpoils.

12 She will render him good, and not evil, all the days of her life.

13 She hath ſought wool and flax, and hath wrought by the counſel of her hands.

14 She is like the merchant's ſhip, ſhe bringeth her bread from afar.

15 And ſhe hath riſen in the night, and given a prey to her houſhold, and victuals to her maidens.

16 She hath conſidered a field, and bought it: with the fruit of her hands ſhe hath planted a vineyard.

17 She hath girded her loins with ſtrength, and hath ſtrengthened her arm.

18 She hath taſted and ſeen that her traffic is good: her lamp ſhall not be put out in the night.

VER. 15. The horſe-leech. Concupiſcence, which hath two daughters that are never ſatisfied, viz. luſt and avarice.

VER. 28. The ſtellio. A kind of houſe-lizard marked with ſpots like ſtars, from whence it has its name.

CHAP. XXXI. VER. 1. Lamuel. This name ſignifies God with him, and is ſuppoſed to have been one of the names of Solomon.

19 She hath put out her hand to ſtrong things, and her fingers have taken hold of the ſpindle.

20 She hath opened her hand to the needy, and ſtretched out her hands to the poor.

21 She ſhall not fear for her houſe in the cold of ſnow: for all her domeſticks are clothed with double garments.

22 She hath made for herſelf clothing of tapeſtry: fine linen, and purple is her covering.

23 Her huſband is honourable in the gates, when he ſitteth among the ſenators of the land.

24 She made fine linen, and ſold it, and delivered a girdle to the Chananite.

25 Strength and beauty are her clothing, and ſhe ſhall laugh in the latter day.

26 She hath opened her mouth to wiſdom, and the law of clemency is on her tongue.

27 She hath looked well to the paths of her houſe, and hath not eaten her bread idle.

28 Her children roſe up, and called her bleſſed: her huſband, and he praiſed her.

29 Many daughters have gathered together riches: thou haſt ſurpaſſed them all.

30 Favour is deceitful, and beauty is vain: the woman that feareth the Lord, ſhe ſhall be praiſed.

31 Give her of the fruit of her hands: and let her works praiſe her in the gates.

ECCLESIASTES.

This book is called Eccleſiaſtes, or the preacher, (in Hebrew Coheleth) becauſe in it, Solomon, as an excellent preacher, ſetteth forth the vanity of the things of this world: to withdraw the hearts and affections of men from ſuch empty toys.

CHAP. I.

The vanity of all temporal things.

THE words of Eccleſiaſtes, the ſon of David, king of Jeruſalem.

2 Vanity of vanities, ſaid Eccleſiaſtes: vanity of vanities, and all is vanity.

3 What hath a man more of all his labour, that he taketh under the ſun?

4 One generation paſſeth away, and another generation cometh: but the earth ſtandeth for ever.

5 The ſun riſeth, and goeth down, and returneth to his place: and there riſing again,

6 Maketh his round by the South, and turneth again to the North: the ſpirit goeth forward ſurveying all places round about, and returneth to his circuits.

7 All the rivers run into the ſea, yet the ſea doth not overflow: unto the place from whence the rivers come, they return, to flow again.

8 All things are hard: man cannot explain them by word. The eye is not filled with ſeeing, neither is the ear filled with hearing.

9 What is it that hath been? the ſame thing that ſhall be. What is it that hath been done? the ſame that ſhall be done.

10 Nothing under the ſun is new, neither is any man able to ſay: Behold, this is new: for it hath already gone before, in the ages that were before us.

11 There is no remembrance of former things: nor indeed of thoſe things which hereafter are to come, ſhall there be any remembrance with them that ſhall be in the latter end.

12 I Eccleſiaſtes was king over Iſrael in Jeruſalem,

13 And I propoſed in my mind to ſeek and ſearch out wiſely concerning all things that are done under the ſun. This painful occupation hath God given to the children of men, to be exerciſed therein.

VER. 24. The Chananite, the merchant: for Chananite in Hebrew ſignifies a merchant.

14 I have ſeen all things that are done under the ſun, and behold all is vanity, and vexation of ſpirit.

15 The perverſe are hard to be corrected, and the number of fools is infinite.

16 I have ſpoken in my heart, ſaying: Behold I am become great, and have gone beyond all in wiſdom, that were before me in Jeruſalem: and my mind hath contemplated many things wiſely, and I have learned.

17 And I have given my heart to know prudence, and learning, and errors, and folly: and I have perceived that in theſe alſo there was labour, and vexation of ſpirit,

18 Becauſe in much wiſdom there is much indignation: and he that addeth knowledge, addeth alſo labour.

CHAP. II.

The vanity of pleaſures, riches, and worldly labours.

I SAID in my heart: I will go, and abound with delights, and enjoy good things. And I ſaw that this alſo was vanity.

2 Laughter I counted error: and to mirth I ſaid: Why art thou vainly deceived?

3 I thought in my heart, to withdraw my fleſh from wine, that I might turn my mind to wiſdom, and might avoid folly, till I might ſee what was profitable for the children of men: and what they ought to do under the ſun, all the days of their life.

4 I made me great works, I built me houſes, and planted vineyards,

5 I made gardens, and orchards, and ſet them with trees of all kinds,

6 And I made me ponds of water, to water therewith the wood of the young trees,

7 I got me men ſervants, and maid-ſervants, and had a great family: and herds of oxen, and great flocks of ſheep, above all that were before me in Jeruſalem:

‖ 3 Kings 12. 4. 8 ‖ I heaped together for myſelf ſilver and gold, and the wealth of kings, and provinces: I made me ſinging men, and ſinging women, and the delights of the ſons of men, cups and veſſels to ſerve to pour out wine:

9 And I ſurpaſſed in riches all that were before me in Jeruſalem: my wiſdom alſo remained with me.

10 And whatſoever my eyes deſired, I refuſed them not: and I withheld not my heart from enjoying every pleaſure, and delighting itſelf in the things which I had prepared: and eſteemed this my portion, to make uſe of my own labour.

11 And when I turned myſelf to all the works which my hands had wrought, and to the labours wherein I had laboured in vain, I ſaw in all things vanity, and vexation of mind, and that nothing was laſting under the ſun.

12 I paſſed further to behold wiſdom, and errors and folly (What is man, ſaid I, that he can follow the king his maker?)

13 And I ſaw that wiſdom excelled folly, as much as light differeth from darkneſs.

14 ‖ The eyes of a wiſe man are in his head: the fool walketh in darkneſs: and I learned that they were to die both alike. ‖ Prov. 17. 24. Infra 8. 1.

15 And I ſaid in my heart: If the death of the fool and mine ſhall be one, what doth it avail me, that I have applied myſelf more to the ſtudy of wiſdom? And ſpeaking with my own mind, I perceived that this alſo was vanity.

16 For there ſhall be no remembrance of the wiſe no more than of the fool for ever, and the times to come ſhall cover all things together with oblivion: the learned dieth in like manner as the unlearned.

17 And therefore I was weary of my life, when I ſaw that all things under the ſun are evil, and all vanity and vexation of ſpirit.

18 Again I hated all my application wherewith I had earneſtly laboured under the ſun, being like to have an heir after me,

19 Whom I know not whether he will be a wiſe man or a fool, and he ſhall have rule over all my labours with which I have laboured and been ſolicitous: and is there any thing ſo vain?

20 Wherefore I left off and my heart renounced labouring any more under the ſun.

21 For when a man laboureth in wiſdom, and knowledge, and carefulneſs, he leaveth what he hath gotten to an idle man: ſo this alſo is vanity, and a great evil.

22 For what profit ſhall a man have of all his labour, and vexation of ſpirit, with which he hath been tormented under the ſun?

23 All his days are full of ſorrows and miſeries, even in the night he doth not reſt in mind: and is not this vanity?

24 Is it not better to eat and drink, and to ſhew his ſoul good things of his labours? and this is from the hand of God.

25 Who ſhall ſo feaſt and abound with delights as I?

26 God hath given to a man that is good in his ſight, wiſdom and knowledge, and joy: but to the ſinner he hath given vexation, and ſuperfluous care, to heap up and to gather together, and to give it to him that hath pleaſed God: but this alſo is vanity, and a fruitleſs ſolicitude of the mind.

CHAP. III.

All human things are liable to perpetual changes. We are to rest on God's providence and cast away fruitless cares.

ALL things have their season, and in their times all things pass under heaven.

2 A time to be born, and a time to die. A time to plant, and a time to pluck up that which is planted.

3 A time to kill, and a time to heal. A time to destroy, and a time to build.

4 A time to weep, and a time to laugh. A time to mourn, and a time to dance.

5 A time to scatter stones, and a time to gather. A time to embrace, and a time to be far from embraces.

6 A time to get, and a time to lose. A time to keep, and a time to cast away.

7 A time to rend, and a time to sew. A time to keep silence, and a time to speak.

8 A time of love, and a time of hatred. A time of war, and a time of peace.

9 What hath man more of his labour?

10 I have seen the trouble, which God hath given the sons of men, to be exercised in it.

11 He hath made all things good in their time, and hath delivered the world to their consideration, so that man cannot find out the work which God hath made from the beginning to the end.

12 And I have known that there was no better thing than to rejoice, and to do well in his life.

13 For every man that eateth and drinketh, and seeth good of his labour, this is the gift of God.

14 I have learned that all the works which God hath made, continue for ever: we cannot add any thing, nor take away from those things which God hath made that he may be feared.

15 That which hath been made, the same continueth: the things that shall be, have already been: and God restoreth that which is past.

16 I saw under the sun in the place of judgment wickedness, and in the place of justice iniquity.

17 And I said in my heart: God shall judge both the just and the wicked, and then shall be the time of every thing.

18 I said in my heart concerning the sons of men, that God would prove them, and shew them to be like beasts.

19 Therefore the death of man, and of beasts is one, and the condition of them both is equal: as man dieth, so they also die: all things breathe alike, and man hath nothing more than beast: all things are subject to vanity,

20 And all things go to one place: of earth they were made, and into earth they return together.

21 Who knoweth if the spirit of the children of Adam ascend upward, and if the spirit of the beasts descend downward?

22 And I have found that nothing is better than for a man to rejoice in his work, and that this is his portion. For who shall bring him to know the things that shall be after him?

CHAP. IV.

Other instances of human miseries.

I TURNED myself to other things, and I saw the oppressions that are done under the sun, and the tears of the innocent, and they had no comforter; and they were not able to resist their violence, being destitute of help from any.

2 And I praised the dead rather than the living:

3 And I judged him happier than them both, that is not yet born, nor hath seen the evils that are done under the sun.

4 Again I considered all the labours of men, and I remarked that their industries are exposed to the envy of their neighbour: so in this also there is vanity, and fruitless care.

5 The fool foldeth his hands together, and eateth his own flesh, saying:

6 Better is a handful with rest, than both hands full with labour, and vexation of mind.

7 Considering I found also another vanity under the sun:

8 There is but one, and he hath not a second, no child no brother, and yet he ceaseth not to labour, neither are his eyes satisfied with riches, neither doth he reflect, saying: For whom do I labour, and defraud my soul of good things? in this also is vanity, and a grievous vexation.

9 It is better therefore that two should be together, than one: for they have the advantage of their society:

CHAP. III. VER. 19. Man hath nothing more, &c. viz. as to the life of the body.

VER. 21. Who knoweth, &c. viz. experimentally; since no one in this life can see a spirit. But as to the spirit of the beasts which is merely animal, and becomes extinct by the death of the beast, who can tell the manner it acts so as to give life and motion, and by death to descend downward, that is, to be no more.

10 If one fall he ſhall be ſupported by the other: wo to him that is alone, for when he falleth, he hath none to lift him up.

11 And if two lie together, they ſhall warm one another: how ſhall one alone be warmed?

12 And if a man prevail againſt one, two ſhall withſtand him: a threefold cord is not eaſily broken.

13 Better is a child that is poor and wiſe, than a king that is old and fooliſh, who knoweth not to foreſee for hereafter.

14 Becauſe out of priſon and chains ſometimes a man cometh forth to a kingdom: and another born king is conſumed with poverty.

15 I ſaw all men living, that walk under the ſun with the ſecond young man, who ſhall riſe up in his place.

16 The number of the people, of all that were before him is infinite: and they that ſhall come afterwards, ſhall not rejoice in him: but this alſo is vanity, and vexation of ſpirit.

17 Keep thy foot, when thou goeſt into the houſe of God, and draw nigh to hear. ‖ For much better is obedience, than the victims of fools, who know not what evil they do. ‖ 1 Kings 15. 22. Oſee 6. 6.

CHAP. V.

Caution in words. Vows are to be paid. Riches are often pernicious: the moderate uſe of them is the gift of God.

SPEAK not any thing raſhly, and let not thy heart be haſty to utter a word before God. For God is in heaven, and thou upon earth: therefore let thy words be few.

2 Dreams follow many cares; and in many words ſhall be found folly.

3 If thou haſt vowed any thing to God, defer not to pay it: for an unfaithful and fooliſh promiſe diſpleaſeth him: but whatſoever thou haſt vowed, pay it:

4 And it is much better not to vow, than after a vow not to perform the things promiſed.

5 Give not thy mouth to cauſe thy fleſh to ſin: and ſay not before the angel: There is no providence: leſt God be angry at thy words, and deſtroy all the works of thy hands.

6 Where there are many dreams, there are many vanities, and words without number: but do thou fear God.

7 If thou ſhalt ſee the oppreſſions of the poor, and violent judgments, and juſtice perverted in the province, wonder not at this matter: for he that is high hath another higher, and there are others ſtill higher than theſe.

8 Moreover there is the king that reigneth over all the land ſubject to him.

9 A covetous man ſhall not be ſatisfied with money: and he that loveth riches ſhall reap no fruit from them: ſo this alſo is vanity.

10 Where there are great riches, there are alſo many to eat them. And what doth it profit the owner, but that he ſeeth the riches with his eyes?

11 Sleep is ſweet to a labouring man, whether he eat little or much: but the fulneſs of the rich will not ſuffer him to ſleep.

12 ‖ There is alſo another grievous evil which I have ſeen under the ſun: riches kept to the hurt of the owner. ‖ Job 20. 20.

13 For they are loſt with very great affliction: he hath begotten a ſon, who ſhall be in extremity of want.

14 ‖ As he came forth naked from his mother's womb, ſo ſhall he return, and ſhall take nothing away with him of his labour. ‖ Job 1. 21. 1 Tim. 6. 7.

15 A moſt deplorable evil: as he came, ſo ſhall he return. What then doth it profit him that he hath laboured for the wind?

16 All the days of his life he eateth in darkneſs, and in many cares, and in miſery, and ſorrow.

17 This therefore hath ſeemed good to me, that a man ſhould eat and drink, and enjoy the fruit of his labour, wherewith he hath laboured under the ſun, all the days of his life, which God hath given him: and this is his portion.

18 And every man to whom God hath given riches, and ſubſtance, and hath given him power to eat thereof, and to enjoy his portion, and to rejoice of his labour: this is the gift of God.

19 For he ſhall not much remember the days of his life, becauſe God entertaineth his heart with delight.

CHAP. VI.

The miſery of the covetous man.

THERE is alſo another evil, which I have ſeen under the ſun, and that frequent among men:

2 A man to whom God hath given riches, and ſubſtance, and honour, and his ſoul wanteth nothing of all that he deſireth: yet God doth not give him power to eat thereof, but a ſtranger ſhall eat it up. This is vanity and a great miſery.

3 If a man beget a hundred children, and live many years, and attain to a great age, and his ſoul make no uſe of the goods of his ſubſtance, and he be without burial: of this man I pronounce, that the untimely born is better than he.

4 For he came in vain, and goeth to darkneſs, and his name ſhall be wholly forgotten.
5 He hath not ſeen the ſun, nor known the diſtance of good and evil:
6 Although he lived two thouſand years, and hath not enjoyed good things: do not all make haſte to one place?
7 All the labour of man is for his mouth: but his ſoul ſhall not be filled.
8 What hath the wiſe man more than the fool? and what the poor man, but to go thither, where there is life?
9 Better it is to ſee what thou mayſt deſire, than to deſire that which thou canſt not know. But this alſo is vanity, and preſumption of ſpirit.
10 ‖ He that ſhall be, his name is already called: and it is known, that he is man, and cannot contend in judgment with him that is ſtronger than himſelf.
‖ 1 Kings 13. 14. & 3 Kings 13. 2.
11 There are many words that have much vanity in diſputing.

CHAP. VII.

Preſcriptions againſt worldly vanities: mortification, patience, and ſeeking wiſdom.

WHAT needeth a man to ſeek things that are above him, whereas he knoweth not, what is profitable for him in his life, in all the days of his pilgrimage, and the time that paſſeth like a ſhadow? Or who can tell him what ſhall be after him under the ſun?
‖ Prov. 22. 1.
2 ‖ A good name is better than precious ointments: and the day of death than the day of one's birth.
3 It is better to go to the houſe of mourning, than to the houſe of feaſting: for in that we are put in mind of the end of all, and the living thinketh what is to come.
4 Anger is better than laughter: becauſe by the ſadneſs of the countenance the mind of the offender is corrected.
5 The heart of the wiſe is where there is mourning, and the heart of fools where there is mirth.
6 It is better to be rebuked by a wiſe man, than to be deceived with the flattery of fools.
7 For as the crackling of thorns burning under a pot, ſo is the laughter of a fool: now this alſo is vanity.
8 Oppreſſion troubleth the wiſe, and ſhall deſtroy the ſtrength of his heart.
9 Better is the end of a ſpeech, than the beginning. Better is the patient man than the preſumptuous.
10 Be not quickly angry: for anger reſteth in the boſom of a fool.
11 Say not: What thinkeſt thou is the cauſe that former times were better than they are now? for this manner of queſtion is fooliſh.
12 Wiſdom with riches is more profitable, and bringeth more advantage to them that ſee the ſun.
13 For as wiſdom is a defence, ſo money is a defence: but learning and wiſdom excel in this, that they give life to him that poſſeſſeth them.
14 Conſider the works of God, that no man can correct whom he hath deſpiſed.
15 In the good day enjoy good things, and beware beforehand of the evil day: for God hath made both the one and the other, that man may not find againſt him any juſt complaint.
16 Theſe things alſo I ſaw in the days of my vanity: A juſt man periſheth in his juſtice, and a wicked man liveth a long time in his wickedneſs.
17 Be not over juſt: and be not more wiſe than is neceſſary, leſt thou become ſtupid.
18 Be not overmuch wicked: and be not fooliſh, leſt thou die before thy time.
19 It is good that thou ſhouldſt hold up the juſt, yea and from him withdraw not thy hand: for he that feareth God, neglecteth nothing.
20 Wiſdom hath ſtrengthened the wiſe more than ten princes of the city.
21 ‖ For there is no juſt man upon earth, that doth good, and ſinneth not.
‖ 3 Kings 8. 46. 2 Par. 6. 36.
22 But do not apply thy heart to all words that are ſpoken: leſt perhaps thou hear thy ſervant reviling thee.
Prov. 20. 9. 1 John 1. 8.
23 For thy conſcience knoweth, that thou alſo haſt often ſpoken evil of others.
24 I have tried all things in wiſdom. I have ſaid: I will be wiſe: and it departed farther from me.
25 Much more than it was: it is a great depth, who ſhall find it out?
26 I have ſurveyed all things with my mind, to know, and conſider, and ſeek out wiſdom, and reaſon: and to know the wickedneſs of the fool, and the error of the imprudent:
27 And I have found a woman more bitter than death, who is the hunter's ſnare, and her heart is a net, and her hands are bands. He that pleaſeth God ſhall eſcape from her: but he that is a ſinner, ſhall be caught by her.

CHAP. VII. VER. 4. Anger. That is, correction, or juſt wrath and zeal againſt evil.
VER. 17. Over juſt, viz. By an exceſſive rigour in cenſuring the ways of God in bearing with the wicked.
VER. 18. Be not overmuch wicked, That is, leſt by the greatneſs of your ſin you leave no room for mercy.

28 Lo this have I found, ſaid Eccleſiaſtes, weighing one thing after another, that I might find out the account,

29 Which yet my ſoul ſeeketh, and I have not found it. One man among a thouſand I have found, a woman among them all I have not found.

30 Only this I have found, that God made man right, and he hath intangled himſelf with an infinity of queſtions. Who is as the wiſe man? and who hath known the reſolution of the word?

CHAP. VIII.

True wiſdom is to obſerve God's commandments. The ways of God are unſearchable.

Supra 2. 14.

THE wiſdom of a man ſhineth in his countenance, and the moſt mighty will change his face.

2 I obſerve the mouth of the king, and the commandments of the oath of God.

3 Be not haſty to depart from his face, and do not continue in an evil work: for he will do all that pleaſeth him:

4 And his word is full of power: neither can any man ſay to him: Why doſt thou ſo?

5 He that keepeth the commandment, ſhall find no evil. The heart of a wiſe man underſtandeth time and anſwer.

6 There is a time and opportunity for every buſineſs, and great affliction for man:

7 Becauſe he is ignorant of things paſt, and things to come he cannot know by any meſſenger.

8 It is not in man's power to ſtop the ſpirit, neither hath he power in the day of death, neither is he ſuffered to reſt when war is at hand, neither ſhall wickedneſs ſave the wicked.

9 All theſe things I have conſidered, and applied my heart to all the works that are done under the ſun. Sometimes one man ruleth over another to his own hurt.

10 I ſaw the wicked buried: who alſo when they were yet living were in the holy place, and were praiſed in the city as men of juſt works: but this alſo is vanity.

11 For becauſe ſentence is not ſpeedily pronounced againſt the evil, the children of men commit evils without any fear.

12 But though a ſinner do evil a hundred times, and by patience be borne withal, I know from thence that it ſhall be well with them that fear God, who dread his face.

13 But let it not be well with the wicked, neither let his days be prolonged, but as a ſhadow let them paſs away that fear not the face of the Lord.

14 There is alſo another vanity, which is done upon the earth. There are juſt men to whom evils happen, as though they had done the works of the wicked: and there are wicked men, who are as ſecure, as though they had the deeds of the juſt: but this alſo I judge moſt vain.

15 Therefore I commended mirth, becauſe there was no good for a man under the ſun, but to eat, and drink, and be merry: and that he ſhould take nothing elſe with him of his labour in the days of his life, which God hath given him under the ſun.

16 And I applied my heart to know wiſdom, and to underſtand the diſtraction that is upon earth: for there are ſome that day and night take no ſleep with their eyes.

17 And I underſtood that man can find no reaſon of all thoſe works of God that are done under the ſun: and the more he ſhall labour to ſeek, ſo much the leſs ſhall he find: yea though the wiſeman ſhould ſay, that he knoweth it, he ſhall not be able to find it.

CHAP. IX.

Man knows not certainly that he is in God's grace. After death no more work or merit.

ALL theſe things have I conſidered in my heart, that I might carefully underſtand them: There are juſt men and wiſe men, and their works are in the hand of God: and yet man knoweth not whether he be worthy of love, or hatred:

2 But all things are kept uncertain for the time to come, becauſe all things equally happen to the juſt and to the wicked, to the good and to the evil, to the clean and to the unclean, to him that offereth victims, and to him that deſpiſeth ſacrifices. As the good is, ſo alſo is the ſinner: as the perjured, ſo he alſo that ſweareth truth.

3 This is a very great evil among all things that are done under the ſun, that the ſame things happen to all men: whereby alſo the hearts of the children of men

---

VER. 30. Of the word. That is, of this obſcure and difficult matter.

CHAP. VIII. VER. 15. No good for a man, &c. Some commentators think the wiſe man here ſpeaks in the perſon of the libertine: repreſenting the objections of theſe men againſt divine providence, and the inferences they draw from thence, which he takes care afterwards to refute. But it may alſo be ſaid, that his meaning is to commend the moderate uſe of the goods of this world, preferably to the cares and ſolicitudes of worldlings, their attachment to vanity and curioſity, and preſumptuouſly diving into the unſearchable ways of divine providence.

are filled with evil, and with contempt while they live, and afterwards they ſhall be brought down to hell.

4 There is no man that liveth always, or that hopeth for this: a living dog is better than a dead lion.

5 For the living know that they ſhall die, but the dead know nothing more, neither have they a reward any more: for the memory of them is forgotten.

6 Their love alſo, and their hatred, and their envy are all periſhed, neither have they any part in this world, and in the work that is done under the ſun.

7 Go then, and eat thy bread with joy, and drink thy wine with gladneſs: becauſe thy works pleaſe God.

8 At all times let thy garments be white, and let not oil depart from thy head.

9 Live joyfully with the wife whom thou loveſt, all the days of thy unſteady life, which are given to thee under the ſun, all the time of thy vanity: for this is thy portion in life, and in thy labour wherewith thou laboureſt under the ſun.

10 Whatſoever thy hand is able to do, do it earneſtly: for neither work, nor reaſon, nor wiſdom, nor knowledge ſhall be in hell, whither thou art haſtening.

11 I turned me to another thing, and I ſaw that under the ſun, the race is not to the ſwift, nor the battle to the ſtrong, nor bread to the wiſe, nor riches to the learned, nor favour to the ſkilful: but time and chance in all.

12 Man knoweth not his own end: but as fiſhes are taken with the hook, and as birds are caught with the ſnare, ſo men are taken in the evil time, when it ſhall ſuddenly come upon them.

13 This wiſdom alſo I have ſeen under the ſun, and it ſeemed to me to be very great:

14 A little city, and few men in it: there came againſt it a great king, and inveſted it, and built bulwarks round about it, and the ſiege was perfect.

15 Now there was found in it a man poor and wiſe, and he delivered the city by his wiſdom, and no man afterward remembered that poor man.

16 And I ſaid that wiſdom is better than ſtrength: how then is the wiſdom of the poor man ſlighted, and his words not heard?

17 The words of the wiſe are heard in ſilence, more than the cry of a prince among fools.

18 ‖ Better is wiſdom, than weapons of war: and he that ſhall offend in one, ſhall loſe many good things. ‖ Supra 7. 20.

CHAP. X.

Obſervations on wiſdom and folly, ambition and detraction.

DYING flies ſpoil the ſweetneſs of the ointment. Wiſdom and glory is more precious than a ſmall and ſhort-lived folly.

2 The heart of a wiſe man is in his right hand, and the heart of a fool is in his left hand.

3 Yea and the fool when he walketh in the way, whereas he himſelf is a fool, eſteemeth all men fools.

4 If the ſpirit of him that hath power, aſcend upon thee, leave not thy place: becauſe care will make the greateſt ſins to ceaſe.

5 There is an evil that I have ſeen under the ſun, as it were by an error proceeding from the face of the prince:

6 A fool ſet in high dignity, and the rich ſitting beneath.

7 I have ſeen ſervants upon horſes: and princes walking on the ground as ſervants.

8 ‖ He that diggeth a pit, ſhall fall into it: and he that breaketh a hedge, a ſerpent ſhall bite him. ‖ Prov. 26. 27. Eccli. 27. 29.

9 He that removeth ſtones, ſhall be hurt by them: and he that cutteth trees, ſhall be wounded by them.

10 If the iron be blunt, and be not as before, but be made blunt, with much labour it ſhall be ſharpened: and after induſtry ſhall follow wiſdom.

11 If a ſerpent bite in ſilence, he is nothing better that backbiteth ſecretly.

12 The words of the mouth of a wiſe man are grace: but the lips of a fool ſhall throw him down headlong.

13 The beginning of his words is folly, and the end of his talk is a miſchievous error.

14 A fool multiplieth words. A man cannot tell what hath been before him: and what ſhall be after him, who can tell him?

15 The labour of fools ſhall afflict them that know not how to go to the city.

16 Wo to thee, O land, when thy king is a child, and when thy princes eat in the morning.

CHAP. IX. VER. 5. Know nothing more, viz. As to the tranſactions of this world, in which they have now no part, unleſs it be revealed to them; neither have they any knowledge or power now of doing any thing to ſecure their eternal ſtate, (if they have not taken care of it in their life time); nor can they now procure themſelves any good, as the living always may do, by the grace of God.

17 Bleſſed is the land, whoſe king is noble, and whoſe princes eat in due ſeaſon for refreſhment, and not for riotouſneſs.

18 By ſlothfulneſs a building ſhall be brought down, and through the weakneſs of hands, the houſe ſhall drop through.

19 For laughter they make bread, and wine that the living may feaſt: and all things obey money.

20 Detract not the king, no not in thy thought; and ſpeak not evil of the rich man in thy private chamber: becauſe even the birds of the air will carry thy voice, and he that hath wings will tell what thou haſt ſaid.

CHAP. XI.

Exhortation to works of mercy, while we have time, to diligence in good, and to the remembrance of death and judgment.

CAST thy bread upon the running waters: for after a long time thou ſhalt find it again.

2 Give a portion to ſeven, and alſo to eight: for thou knoweſt not what evil ſhall be upon the earth.

3 If the clouds be full, they will pour out rain upon the earth. If the tree fall to the ſouth, or to the north, in what place ſoever it ſhall fall, there ſhall it be.

4 He that obſerveth the wind, ſhall not ſow: and he that conſidereth the clouds, ſhall never reap.

5 As thou knoweſt not what is the way of the ſpirit, nor how the bones are joined together in the womb of her that is with child: ſo thou knoweſt not the works of God, who is the maker of all.

6 In the morning ſow thy ſeed, and in the evening let not thy hand ceaſe: for thou knoweſt not which may rather ſpring up, this or that: and if both together, it ſhall be the better.

7 The light is ſweet, and it is delightful for the eyes to ſee the ſun.

8 If a man live many years, and have rejoiced in them all, he muſt remember the darkſome time, and the many days: which when they ſhall come, the things paſſed ſhall be accuſed of vanity.

9 Rejoice therefore, O young man, in thy youth, and let thy heart be in that which is good in the days of thy youth, and walk in the ways of thy heart, and in the ſight of thy eyes: and know that for all theſe God will bring thee into judgment.

10 Remove anger from thy heart, and put away evil from thy fleſh. For youth and pleaſure are vain.

CHAP. XII.

The creator is to be remembered in the days of our youth: all worldly things are vain: we ſhould fear God and keep his commandments.

REMEMBER thy creator in the days of thy youth, before the time of affliction come, and the years draw nigh of which thou ſhalt ſay: They pleaſe me not:

2 Before the ſun, and the light, and the moon, and the ſtars be darkened, and the clouds return after the rain:

3 When the keepers of the houſe ſhall tremble, and the ſtrong men ſhall ſtagger, and the grinders ſhall be idle in a ſmall number, and they that look through the holes ſhall be darkened:

4 And they ſhall ſhut the doors in the ſtreet, when the grinder's voice ſhall be low, and they ſhall riſe up at the voice of the bird, and all the daughters of muſic ſhall grow deaf.

5 And they ſhall fear high things, and they ſhall be afraid in the way, the almond tree ſhall flouriſh, the locuſt ſhall be made fat, and the caper-tree ſhall be deſtroyed: becauſe man ſhall go into the houſe of his eternity, and the mourners ſhall go round about in the ſtreet.

6 Before the ſilver cord be broken, and the golden fillet ſhrink back, and the pitcher be cruſhed at the fountain, and the wheel be broken upon the ciſtern,

7 And the duſt return into its earth, from whence it was, and the ſpirit return to God, who gave it.

8 Vanity of vanities, ſaid Eccleſiaſtes, and all things are vanity.

9 And whereas Eccleſiaſtes was very wiſe, he taught the people, and declared the things that he had done: and ſeeking out, he ſet forth many parables.

10 He ſought profitable words, and wrote words moſt right, and full of truth.

11 The words of the wiſe are as goads, and as nails deeply faſtened in, which by

CHAP. XI. VER. 3. If the tree fall, &c. The ſtate of the ſoul is unchangeable when once ſhe comes to heaven or hell: and a ſoul that departs this life in the ſtate of grace, ſhall never fall from grace; as on the other ſide, a ſoul that dies out of the ſtate of grace, ſhall never come to it. But this does not exclude a place of temporal punihments for ſuch ſouls as die in the ſtate of grace; yet not ſo as to be entirely pure: and therefore they ſhall be ſaved, indeed, yet ſo as by fire. 1 Cor. iii. 13. 14. 15.

CHAP. XII. VER. 2. Before the ſun, &c. That is, before old age: the effects of which upon all the ſenſes and faculties are deſcribed in the following verſes, under a variety of figures.

the counſel of maſters are given from one ſhepherd.

12 More than theſe, my ſon, require not. Of making many books there is no end: and much ſtudy is an affliction of the fleſh.

13 Let us all hear together the concluſion of the diſcourſe. Fear God, and keep his commandments: for this is all man:

14 And all things that are done, God will bring into judgment for every error, whether it be good or evil.

VER. 13. All man. The whole buſineſs and duty of man.

VER. 14. Error. Or hidden and ſecret thing.

SOLOMON'S CANTICLE OF CANTICLES.

This book is called thé Canticle of Canticles, that is to ſay, the moſt excellent of all canticles: becauſe it is full of high myſteries, relating to the happy union of Chriſt and his ſpouſe; which is here begun by love; and is to be eternal in heaven. The ſpouſe of Chriſt is the church: more eſpecially as to the happieſt part of it, viz. perfect ſouls, every one of which is his beloved; but, above all others, the immaculate and ever bleſſed virgin mother.

CHAP. I.

The ſpouſe aſpires to an union with Chriſt, their mutual love for one another.

LET him kiſs me with the kiſs of his mouth: for thy breaſts are better than wine.

2 Smelling ſweet of the beſt ointments. Thy name is as oil poured out: therefore young maidens have loved thee.

3 Draw me: we will run after thee to the odour of thy ointments. The king hath brought me into his ſtore-rooms: we will be glad and rejoice in thee, remembering thy breaſts more than wine: the righteous love thee.

4 I am black but beautiful, O ye daughters of Jeruſalem, as the tents of Cedar, as the curtains of Solomon.

5 Do not conſider me that I am brown, becauſe the ſun hath altered my colour: the ſons of my mother have fought againſt me, they have made me the keeper in the vineyards: my vineyard I have not kept.

6 Shew me, O thou whom my ſoul loveth, where thou feedeſt, where thou lieſt in the CHAP. I. VER. 1. Let him kiſs me. The Church the ſpouſe of Chriſt prays, that he may love and have peace with her, which the ſpouſe prefers to every thing howſoever delicious: and therefore expreſſes (ver. 2.) that young maidens, that is, the ſouls of the faithful, have loved thee.

VER. 3. Draw me. That is, with thy grace; otherwiſe I ſhould not be able to come to thee. This metaphor ſhews that we cannot of ourſelves come to Chriſt our Lord, unleſs he draws us by his grace, which is laid up in his ſtore-rooms: that is, in the myſteries of Faith, which God in his goodneſs and love for mankind hath revealed, firſt by his ſervant Moſes in the Old Law in figure only, and afterwards in reality by his only begotten Son Jeſus Chriſt.

VER. 4. I am black but beautiful. That is, the Church of Chriſt founded in humility, appearing outwardly afflicted and as it were black and contemptible; but inwardly, that is, in its doctrine and morality, fair and beautiful.

mid-day, leſt I begin to wander after the flocks of thy companions.

7 If thou know not thyſelf, O faireſt among women, go forth, and follow after the ſteps of the flocks, and feed thy kids beſide the tents of the ſhepherds.

8 To my company of horſemen, in Pharao's chariots, have I likened thee, O my love.

9 Thy cheeks are beautiful as the turtle dove's, thy neck as jewels.

10 We will make thee chains of gold, inlaid with ſilver.

11 While the king was at his repoſe, my ſpikenard ſent forth the odour thereof.

12 A bundle of myrrh is my beloved to me, he ſhall abide between my breaſts.

13 A cluſter of cyprus my love is to me, in the vineyards of Engaddi.

14 Behold thou art fair, O my love, behold thou art fair, thy eyes are as thoſe of doves.

15 Behold thou art fair, my beloved, and comely. Our bed is flouriſhing.

16 The beams of our houſes are of cedar, our rafters of cypreſs trees.

CHAP. II.

Chriſt careſſes his ſpouſe: he invites her to him.

I AM the flower of the field, and the lily of the vallies.

2 As the lily among thorns, ſo is my love among the daughters.

3 As the apple-tree among the trees of the woods, ſo is my beloved among the ſons. I ſat down under his ſhadow, whom I deſired: and his fruit was ſweet to my palate.

4 He brought me into the cellar of wine, he ſet in order charity in me.

5 Stay me up with flowers, compaſs me about with apples: becauſe I languiſh with love.

6 His left hand is under my head, and his right hand ſhall embrace me.

7 I adjure you, O ye daughters of Jeruſalem, by the roes, and the harts of the fields, that you ſtir not up, nor make the beloved to awake, till ſhe pleaſe.

8 The voice of my beloved, behold he cometh leaping upon the mountains, ſkipping over the hills.

9 My beloved is like a roe, or a young hart. Behold he ſtandeth behind our wall, looking through the windows, looking through the lattices.

10 Behold my beloved ſpeaketh to me: Ariſe, make haſte, my love, my dove, my beautiful one, and come.

11 For winter is now paſt, the rain is over and gone.

12 The flowers have appeared in our land, the time of pruning is come: the voice of the turtle is heard in our land:

13 The fig-tree hath put forth her green figs: the vines in flower yield their ſweet ſmell. Ariſe, my love, my beautiful one, and come:

14 My dove in the clifts of the rock, in the hollow places of the wall, ſhew me thy face, let thy voice ſound in my ears: for thy voice is ſweet, and thy face comely.

15 Catch us the little foxes that deſtroy the vines: for our vineyard hath flouriſhed.

16 My beloved to me, and I to him who feedeth among the lilies,

17 Till the day break, and the ſhadows retire. Return: be like, my beloved, to a roe, or to a young hart upon the mountains of Bether.

CHAP. III.

The ſpouſe ſeeks Chriſt. The glory of his humanity.

IN my bed by night I ſought him whom my ſoul loveth: I ſought him, and found him not.

2 I will riſe, and will go about the city: in the ſtreets and the broad ways I will ſeek him whom my ſoul loveth: I ſought him, and I found him not.

3 The watchmen who keep the city,

VER. 7. If thou know not thyſelf, &c. Chriſt encourages his ſpouſe to follow and watch her flock; and though ſhe know not entirely the power at hand to aſſiſt her, he tells her, ver. 8. my company of horſemen, that is, his Angels, are always watching and protecting her. And in the following verſes he reminds her of the virtues and gifts with which he has endowed her.

CHAP. II. VER. 1. I am the flower of the field. Chriſt profeſſes himſelf the flower of mankind, yea, the Lord of all creatures: and ver. 2. declares the excellence of his ſpouſe, the true Church above all other ſocieties, which are to be conſidered as thorns.

VER. 8. The voice of my beloved: that is, the preaching of the Goſpel ſurmounting difficulties, figuratively here expreſſed by mountains and little hills.

VER. 15. Catch us the little foxes. Chriſt commands his paſtors to catch falſe teachers, by holding forth their fallacy and erroneous doctrine, which like foxes would bite and deſtroy the vines.

CHAP. III. VER. 1. In my bed by night, &c. The Gentiles as in the dark, and ſeeking in heathen deluſion what they could not find, the true God, until Chriſt revealed his doctrine to them by his watchmen (ver. 3.), that is, by the Apoſtles, and teachers, by whom they were converted to the true faith; and holding that faith firmly, the ſpouſe (the Catholic Church) declares, ver. 4. That ſhe will not let him go, till ſhe bring him into her mother's houſe, &c. that is, till at laſt, the Jews alſo ſhall find him.

found me: Have you ſeen him, whom my ſoul loveth?

4 When I had a little paſſed by them, I found him whom my ſoul loveth: I held him: and I will not let him go, till I bring him into my mother's houſe, and into the chamber of her that bore me.

5 I adjure you, O daughters of Jeruſalem, by the roes and the harts of the fields, that you ſtir not up, nor awake my beloved, till ſhe pleaſe.

6 Who is ſhe that goeth up by the deſert, as a pillar of ſmoke of aromatical ſpices, of myrrh, and frankincenſe, and of all the powders of the perfumer?

7 Behold threeſcore valiant ones of the moſt valiant of Iſrael, ſurround the bed of Solomon:

8 All holding ſwords, and moſt expert in war: every man's ſword upon his thigh, becauſe of fears in the night.

9 King Solomon hath made him a litter of the wood of Libanus:

10 The pillars thereof he made of ſilver, the ſeat of gold, the going up of purple: the midſt he covered with charity for the daughters of Jeruſalem.

11 Go forth, ye daughters of Sion, and ſee king Solomon in the diadem, wherewith his mother crowned him in the day of his eſpouſals, and in the day of the joy of his heart.

CHAP. IV.

Chriſt ſets forth the graces of his ſpouſe: and declares his love for her.

HOW beautiful art thou my love, how beautiful art thou! thy eyes are doves eyes, beſides what is hid within. Thy hair is as flocks of goats, which come up from mount Galaad.

2 Thy teeth as flocks of ſheep, that are ſhorn, which come up from the waſhing, all with twins, and there is none barren among them.

3 Thy lips are as a ſcarlet lace: and thy ſpeech ſweet. Thy cheeks are as a piece of a pomegranate, beſides that which lieth hid within.

4 Thy neck is as the tower of David, which is built with bulwarks: a thouſand bucklers hang upon it, all the armour of valiant men.

5 Thy two breaſts like two young roes that are twins, which feed among the lilies.

6 Till the day break, and the ſhadows retire, I will go to the mountain of myrrh, and to the hill of frankincenſe.

7 Thou art all fair, O my love, and there is not a ſpot in thee.

8 Come from Libanus, my ſpouſe, come from Libanus, come: thou ſhalt be crowned from the top of Amana, from the top of Sanir and Hermon, from the dens of the lions, from the mountains of the leopards.

9 Thou haſt wounded my heart, my ſiſter, my ſpouſe, thou haſt wounded my heart with one of thy eyes, and with one hair of thy neck.

10 How beautiful are thy breaſts, my ſiſter, my ſpouſe! thy breaſts are more beautiful than wine, and the ſweet ſmell of thy ointments above all aromatical ſpices.

11 Thy lips, my ſpouſe, are as a dropping honeycomb, honey and milk are under thy tongue: and the ſmell of thy garments, as the ſmell of frankincenſe.

12 My ſiſter my ſpouſe is a garden incloſed, a garden incloſed, a fountain ſealed up.

13 Thy plants are a paradiſe of pomegranates with the fruits of the orchard. Cyprus with ſpikenard, 14 Spikenard and ſaffron, ſweet cane and cinnamon, with all the trees of Libanus, myrrh and aloes with all the chief perfumes.

15 The fountain of gardens: the well of living waters, which run with a ſtrong ſtream from Libanus.

16 Ariſe, O north wind, and come, O ſouth wind, blow through my garden, and let the aromatical ſpices thereof flow.

CHAP. V.

Chriſt calls his ſpouſe: ſhe languiſhes with love: and deſcribes him by his graces.

LET my beloved come into his garden, and eat the fruit of his apple-trees. I

CHAP. IV. VER. 1. How beautiful art thou. Chriſt again praiſes the beauties of his Church, which through the whole of this chapter are exemplified by a variety of metaphors, ſetting forth her purity, her ſimplicity, and her ſtability.

VER. 5. Thy two breaſts, &c. Myſtically to be underſtood: the love of God and the love of our neighbour, which are ſo united as twins which feed among the lilies; that is, the love of God and of our neighbour, feeds on the divine myſteries and the holy ſacraments, left by Chriſt to his ſpouſe to feed and nouriſh her children.

VER. 12. My ſiſter, &c. a garden incloſed. Figuratively the Church is incloſed, containing only the faithful. A fountain ſealed up. That none can drink of its waters, that is, the graces and ſpiritual benefits of the holy ſacraments, but thoſe who are within its walls.

CHAP. V. VER. 1. Let my beloved come into his garden, &c. Garden, myſtically the Church of Chriſt, abounding with fruit, that is, the good works of the elect.

am come into my garden, O my ſiſter, my ſpouſe, I have gathered my myrrh, with my aromatical ſpices: I have eaten the honey-comb with my honey, I have drunk my wine with my milk: eat, O friends, and drink, and be inebriated, my dearly beloved.

2 I ſleep, and my heart watcheth: the voice of my beloved knocking: Open to me, my ſiſter, my love, my dove, my undefiled: for my head is full of dew, and my locks of the drops of the nights.

3 I have put off my garment, how ſhall I put it on? I have waſhed my feet, how ſhall I defile them?

4 My beloved put his hand through the key-hole, and my bowels were moved at his touch.

5 I aroſe up to open to my beloved: my hands dropped with myrrh, and my fingers were full of the choiceſt myrrh.

6 I opened the bolt of my door to my beloved: but he had turned aſide, and was gone. My ſoul melted, when he ſpoke: I ſought him, and found him not: I called, and he did not anſwer me.

7 The keepers that go about the city found me: they ſtruck me, and wounded me: the keepers of the walls took away my veil from me.

8 I adjure you, O daughters of Jeruſalem, if you find my beloved, that you tell him that I languiſh with love.

9 What manner of one is thy beloved of the beloved, O thou moſt beautiful among women? what manner of one is thy beloved of the beloved, that thou haſt ſo adjured us?

10 My beloved is white and ruddy, choſen out of thouſands.

11 His head is as the fineſt gold: his locks as branches of palm trees, black as a raven.

12 His eyes as doves upon brooks of waters, which are waſhed with milk, and ſit beſide the plentiful ſtreams.

13 His cheeks are as beds of aromatical ſpices ſet by the perfumers. His lips are as lilies dropping choice myrrh.

14 His hands are turned and as of gold, full of hyacinths. His belly as of ivory, ſet with ſapphires.

15 His legs as pillars of marble, that are ſet upon baſes of gold. His form as of Libanus, excellent as the cedars.

16 His throat moſt ſweet, and he is all lovely: ſuch is my beloved, and he is my friend, O ye daughters of Jeruſalem.

17 Whither is thy beloved gone, O thou moſt beautiful among women? whither is thy beloved turned aſide, and we will ſeek him with thee?

CHAP. VI.

The ſpouſe of Chriſt is but one: ſhe is fair and terrible.

MY beloved is gone down into his garden, to the bed of aromatical ſpices, to feed in the gardens, and to gather lilies.

2 I to my beloved, and my beloved to me, who feedeth among the lilies.

3 Thou art beautiful, O my love, ſweet and comely as Jeruſalem: terrible as an army ſet in array.

4 Turn away thy eyes from me, for they have made me flee away. Thy hair is as a flock of goats, that appear from Galaad.

5 Thy teeth as a flock of ſheep, which come up from the waſhing, all with twins, and there is none barren among them.

6 Thy cheeks are as the bark of a pomegranate, beſide what is hidden within thee.

7 There are threeſcore queens, and fourſcore concubines, and young maidens without number.

8 One is my dove, my perfect one is but one, ſhe is the only one of her mother, the choſen of her that bore her. The daughters ſaw her, and declared her moſt bleſſed: the queens and concubines, and they praiſed her.

9 Who is ſhe that cometh forth as the morning riſing, fair as the moon, bright as the ſun, terrible as an army ſet in array?

VER. 4. My beloved put his hand through the key-hole, &c. The ſpouſe of Chriſt, his Church, at times as it were penned up by its perſecutors, and in fears, expecting the divine aſſiſtance, here ſignified by his hand: and ver. 6. but he had turned aſide and was gone, that is, Chriſt permitting a further trial of ſuffering: And again, ver. 7. The keepers, &c. ſignifying the violent and cruel perſecutors of the Church taking her veil, deſpoiling the Church of its places of worſhip and ornaments for the divine ſervice.

VER. 10. My beloved, &c. In this and the following verſes the Church myſtically deſcribes Chriſt to thoſe who know him not, that is, to infidels, in order to convert them to the true faith.

CHAP. VI. VER. 1. My beloved is gone down into his garden. Chriſt pleaſed with the good works of his holy and devout ſervants labouring in his garden, is always preſent with them; but the words is gone down are to be underſtood that after trying his Church by permitting perſecution, he comes to her aſſiſtance and ſhe rejoiceth at his coming.

VER. 8. One is my dove, &c. That is, my Church is one, and ſhe only is perfect and bleſſed.

VER. 9. Who is ſhe, &c. Here is a beautiful metaphor deſcribing the Church from the beginning. As, the morning riſing, ſignifying the Church before the written Law: fair as the moon, ſhewing her under the written law of Moſes: bright as the ſun: under the light of the goſpel: and terrible as an army: the power of Chriſt's Church againſt its enemies.

10 I went down into the garden of nuts, to see the fruits of the vallies, and to look if the vineyard had flourished, and the pomegranates budded.

11 I knew not: my soul troubled me for the chariots of Aminadab.

12 Return, return, O Sulamites: return, return that we may behold thee.

CHAP. VII.

A further description of the graces of the church the spouse of Christ.

WHAT shalt thou see in the Sulamites but the companies of camps? How beautiful are thy steps in shoes, O prince's daughter! The joints of thy thighs are like jewels, that are made by the hand of a skilful workman.

2 Thy navel is like a round bowl never wanting cups. Thy belly is like a heap of wheat, set about with lilies.

3 Thy two breasts are like two young roes that are twins.

4 Thy neck as a tower of ivory. Thy eyes like the fish-pools in Hesebon, which are in the gate of the daughter of the multitude. Thy nose is as the tower of Libanus, that looketh toward Damascus.

5 Thy head is like Carmel: and the hairs of thy head as the purple of the king bound in the channel.

6 How beautiful art thou, and how comely, my dearest, in delights!

7 Thy stature is like to a palm-tree, and thy breasts to clusters of grapes.

8 I said: I will go up into the palm-tree, and will take hold of the fruit thereof: and thy breasts shall be as the clusters of the vine: and the odour of thy mouth like apples.

9 Thy throat like the best wine, worthy for my beloved to drink, and for his lips and his teeth to ruminate.

10 I to my beloved, and his turning is towards me.

11 Come, my beloved, let us go forth into the field, let us abide in the villages.

12 Let us get up early to the vineyards, let us see if the vineyard flourish, if the flowers be ready to bring forth fruits, if the pomegranates flourish: there will I give thee my breasts.

13 The mandrakes give a smell. In our gates are all fruits: the new and the old, my beloved, I have kept for thee.

CHAP. VIII.

The love of the church to Christ: his love to her.

WHO shall give thee to me for my brother, sucking the breasts of my mother, that I may find thee without, and kiss thee, and now no man may despise me?

2 I will take hold of thee, and bring thee into my mother's house: there thou shalt teach me, and I will give thee a cup of spiced wine, and new wine of my pomegranates.

3 His left hand under my head, and his right hand shall embrace me.

4 I adjure you, O daughters of Jerusalem, that you stir not up, nor awake my love till she please.

5 Who is this that cometh up from the desert, flowing with delights, leaning upon her beloved? Under the apple-tree I raised thee up: there thy mother was corrupted, there she was defloured that bore thee.

6 Put me as a seal upon thy heart, as a seal upon thy arm: for love is strong as death: jealousy is hard as hell, the lamps thereof are fire and flames.

7 Many waters cannot quench charity, neither can the floods drown it: if a man should give all the substance of his house for love, he shall despise it as nothing.

8 Our sister is little, and hath no breasts. What shall we do to our sister in the day when she is to be spoken to?

9 If she be a wall, let us build upon it bulwarks of silver: if she be a door, let us join it together with boards of cedar.

10 I am a wall: and my breasts are as a

CHAP. VII. VER. 1. How beautiful are thy steps, &c. By these metaphors are signified the power and mission of the Church in propagating the true faith.

VER. 5. Thy head is like Carmel. Christ the invisible head of his Church is here signified.

CHAP. VIII. VER. 3. His left hand, &c. Words of the Church to Christ. His left hand signifying the Old Testament, and his right hand the New.

VER. 5. Who is this, &c. The Angels with admiration behold the Gentiles converted to the faith: coming up from the desert, that is, coming from Heathenism and false worship: flowing with delights, that is, abounding with good works which are pleasing to God: leaning on her beloved, on the promise of Christ to his Church, that the gates of hell should not prevail against it; and supported by his grace, conferred by the sacraments. Under the apple-tree I raised thee up: That is, that Christ redeemed the Gentiles at the foot of the cross, where the synagogue of the Jews (the mother Church) was corrupted by their denying him, and crucifying him.

VER. 8. Our sister is little, &c. Mystically signifies the Jews, who are to be spoken to: that is, converted towards the end of the world; and then shall become a wall, that is, a part of the building, the Church of Christ.

tower, ſince I am become in his preſence as one finding peace.

11 The peaceable had a vineyard, in that which hath people: he let out the ſame to keepers, every man bringeth for the fruit thereof a thouſand pieces of ſilver.

12 My vineyard is before me. A thouſand are for thee, the peaceable, and two hundred for them that keep the fruit thereof.

13 Thou that dwelleſt in the gardens, the friends hearken: make me hear thy voice.

14 Flee away, O my beloved, and be like to the roe, and to the young hart upon the mountains of aromatical ſpices.

THE BOOK OF WISDOM.

This book is ſo called, becauſe it treats of the excellence of WISDOM, the means to obtain it, and the happy fruits it produces. It is written in the perſon of Solomon and contains his ſentiments. But it is uncertain who was the writer. It abounds with inſtructions and exhortations to kings and all magiſtrates to miniſter juſtice in the commonwealth, teaching all kinds of virtues under the general names of juſtice and wiſdom. It contains alſo many prophecies of Chriſt's coming, paſſion, reſurrection, and other chriſtian myſteries. The whole may be divided into three parts: In the ſix firſt chapters, the author admoniſhes all ſuperiors to love and exerciſe juſtice and wiſdom. In the next three, he teacheth that wiſdom proceedeth only from God, and is procured by prayer and a good life. In the other ten chapters, he ſheweth the excellent effects, and utility of wiſdom and juſtice.

CHAP. I.

An exhortation to ſeek God ſincerely, who cannot be deceived, and deſireth not our death.

3 Kings 3. 9. Iſai. 56. 1. LOVE juſtice, you that are the judges of the earth. Think of the Lord in goodneſs, and ſeek him in ſimplicity of heart:

‡ 2 Par. 15. 2. 2 ‡ For he is found by them that tempt him not: and he ſheweth himſelf to them that have faith in him.

3 For perverſe thoughts ſeparate from God: and his power, when it is tried, reproveth the unwiſe:

4 For wiſdom will not enter into a malicious ſoul, nor dwell in a body ſubject to ſins.

5 For the Holy Spirit of diſcipline will flee from the deceitful, and will withdraw himſelf from thoughts that are without underſtanding, and he ſhall not abide when iniquity cometh in.

‖ Gal. 5. 22. 6 ‖ For the ſpirit of wiſdom is benevolent, and will not acquit the evil ſpeaker from his lips: ‖ for God is witneſs of his reins, and he is a true ſearcher of his heart, and a hearer of his tongue. ‖ Jerem. 17. 10.

7 ‖ For the Spirit of the Lord hath filled the whole world: and that, which containeth all things, hath knowledge of the voice. ‖ Iſai. 6. 3.

8 Therefore he that ſpeaketh unjuſt things, cannot be hid, neither ſhall the chaſtiſing judgment paſs him by.

9 For inquiſition ſhall be made into the thoughts of the ungodly: and the hearing of his words ſhall come to God, to the chaſtiſing of his iniquities.

10 For the ear of jealouſy heareth all things, and the tumult of murmuring ſhall not be hid.

11 Keep yourſelves therefore from murmuring, which profiteth nothing, and refrain your tongue from detraction, for an obſcure ſpeech ſhall not go for nought: and the mouth that belieth, killeth the ſoul.

12 Seek not death in the error of your life, neither procure ye deſtruction by the works of your hands.

‖ Ezec. 18. 32. & 33. 11.

13 ‖ For God made not death, neither hath he pleasure in the destruction of the living.

14 For he created all things that they might be: and he made the nations of the earth for health: and there is no poison of destruction in them, nor kingdom of hell upon the earth.

15 For justice is perpetual and immortal.

16 But the wicked with works and words ‖ Isai. 28. 15. have called it ‖ to them: and esteeming it a friend, have fallen away, and have made a covenant with it: because they are worthy to be of the part thereof.

CHAP. II.

The vain reasonings of the wicked: their persecuting the just, especially the Son of God.

‖ Job 7. 1. & 14. 1.

FOR they have said, reasoning with themselves, but not right: ‖ The time of our life is short and tedious, and in the end of a man there is no remedy, and no man hath been known to have returned from hell:

2 For we are born of nothing, and after this we shall be as if we had not been: for the breath in our nostrils is smoke: and speech a spark to move our heart,

3 Which being put out, our body shall be ashes, and our spirit shall be poured abroad as soft air, and our life shall pass away as the trace of a cloud, and shall be dispersed as a mist, which is driven away by the beams of the sun, and overpowered with the heat thereof:

4 And our name in time shall be forgotten, and no man shall have any remembrance of our works.

‖ 1 Par. 29. 15. 5 ‖ For our time is as the passing of a shadow, and there is no going back of our end: for it is fast sealed, and no man returneth.

‖ Isai. 22. 13. & 56. 12. 1 Cor. 15. 32. 6 ‖ Come therefore, and let us enjoy the good things that are present, and let us speedily use the creatures as in youth.

7 Let us fill ourselves with costly wine, and ointments: and let not the flower of the time pass by us.

8 Let us crown ourselves with roses, before they be withered: let no meadow escape our riot.

9 Let none of us go without his part in luxury: let us every where leave tokens of joy: for this is our portion, and this our lot.

10 Let us oppress the poor just man, and not spare the widow, nor honour the ancient grey hairs of the aged.

11 But let our strength be the law of justice: for that which is feeble, is found to be nothing worth.

12 Let us therefore lie in wait for the just, because he is not for our turn, and he is contrary to our doings, and upbraideth us with transgressions of the law, and divulgeth against us the sins of our way of life.

13 ‖ He boasteth that he hath the know- ledge of God, and calleth himself the son of God. ‖ Matt. 27. 42.

14 ‡ He is become a censurer of our thoughts. ‡ John 7. 7.

15 He is grievous unto us, even to behold: for his life is not like other mens, and his ways are very different.

16 We are esteemed by him as triflers, and he abstaineth from our ways as from filthiness, and he preferreth the latter end of the just, and glorieth that he hath God for his father.

17 Let us see then if his words be true, and let us prove what shall happen to him, and we shall know what his end shall be.

18 ‖ For if he be the true son of God, he will defend him, and will deliver him from the hands of his enemies. ‖ Ps. 21. 9.

19 Let us examine him by outrages and tortures, that we may know his meekness and try his patience.

20 ‖ Let us condemn him to a most shameful death: for there shall be respect had unto him by his words. ‖ Jerem. 11. 19.

21 These things they thought, and were deceived: for their own malice blinded them.

22 And they knew not the secrets of God, nor hoped for the wages of justice, nor esteemed the honour of holy souls.

23 ‖ For God created man incorruptible, and to the image of his own likeness he made him. ‖ Gen. 1. 27. & 2. 7. & 5. 1. Eccli. 17. 1.

24 ‡ But by the envy of the devil, death came into the world: ‡ Gen. 3. 1.

25 And they follow him that are of his side.

CHAP. III.

The happiness of the just: and the unhappiness of the wicked.

BUT the souls of the just are in the hand of God, and the torment of death shall not touch them. Deut. 33. 3. Infra 5. 4.

2 In the sight of the unwise they seemed to die: and their departure was taken for misery:

3 And their going away from us, for utter destruction: but they are in peace.

4 And though in the sight of men they suffered torments, their hope is full of immortality.

5 Afflicted in few things, in many they shall be well rewarded: because God hath tried them, and found them worthy of himself.

6 As gold in the furnace he hath proved them, and as a victim of a holocaust he hath received them, and in time there shall be respect had to them.

|| Matt. 13. 41. 7 || The just shall shine, and shall run to and fro like sparks among the reeds.

‡ 1 Cor. 6. 2. 8 ‡ They shall judge nations, and rule over people, and their Lord shall reign for ever.

9 They that trust in him, shall understand the truth: and they that are faithful in love shall rest in him: for grace and peace is to his elect.

10 But the wicked shall be punished according to their own devices: who have neglected the just, and have revolted from the Lord.

11 For he that rejecteth wisdom, and discipline, is unhappy: and their hope is vain, and their labours without fruit, and their works unprofitable.

12 Their wives are foolish, and their children wicked.

13 Their offspring is cursed: for happy is the barren: and the undefiled, that hath not known bed in sin: she shall have fruit in the visitation of holy souls.

|| Isai. 56. 3. 14 || And the eunuch, that hath not wrought iniquity with his hands, nor thought wicked things against God: for the precious gift of faith shall be given to him, and a most acceptable lot in the temple of God.

15 For the fruit of good labours is glorious, and the root of wisdom never faileth.

16 But the children of adulterers shall not come to perfection, and the seed of the unlawful bed shall be rooted out.

17 And if they live long, they shall be nothing regarded, and their last old age shall be without honour.

18 And if they die quickly, they shall have no hope, nor speech of comfort in the day of trial.

19 For dreadful are the ends of a wicked race.

CHAP. IV.

The difference between the chaste and the adulterous generations: and between the death of the just, and the wicked.

O How beautiful is the chaste generation with glory: for the memory thereof is immortal: because it is known both with God and with men.

2 When it is present, they imitate it: and they desire it when it hath withdrawn itself, and it triumpheth crowned for ever, winning the reward of undefiled conflicts.

3 But the multiplied brood of the wicked shall not thrive, and bastard slips shall not take deep root, nor any fast foundation.

|| Jer. 17. 6. Matt. 7. 27. 4 || And if they flourish in branches for a time, yet standing not fast, they shall be shaken with the wind, and through the force of winds they shall be rooted out.

5 For the branches not being perfect, shall be broken, and their fruits shall be unprofitable, and sour to eat, and fit for nothing.

6 For the children that are born of unlawful beds, are witnesses of wickedness against their parents in their trial.

7 But the just man, if he be prevented with death, shall be in rest.

8 For venerable old age is not that of long time, nor counted by the number of years: but the understanding of a man is grey hairs,

9 And a spotless life is old age.

|| Heb. 11. 5. 10 || He pleased God and was beloved, and living among sinners he was translated.

11 He was taken away lest wickedness should alter his understanding, or deceit beguile his soul.

12 For the bewitching of vanity obscureth good things, and the wandering of concupiscence overturneth the innocent mind.

13 Being made perfect in a short space, he fulfilled a long time:

14 For his soul pleased God: therefore he hastened to bring him out of the midst of iniquities: but the people see this, and understand not, nor lay up such things in their hearts:

15 That the grace of God, and his mercy is with his saints, and that he hath respect to his chosen.

16 But the just that is dead, condemneth the wicked that are living, and youth soon ended, the long life of the unjust.

17 For they shall see the end of the wise man, and shall not understand what God hath designed for him, and why the Lord hath set him in safety.

18 They shall see him, and shall despise him: but the Lord shall laugh them to scorn,

19 And they shall fall after this without honour, and be a reproach among the dead for ever: for he shall burst them puffed up and speechless, and shall shake them from the foundations, and they shall be utterly laid waste: they shall be in sorrow, and their memory shall perish.

20 They shall come with fear at the thought of their sins, and their iniquities shall stand against them to convict them.

CHAP. V.

The fruitleſs repentance of the wicked in another world: the reward of the juſt.

THEN ſhall the juſt ſtand with great conſtancy againſt thoſe that have afflicted them, and taken away their labours.

2 Theſe ſeeing it, ſhall be troubled with terrible fear, and ſhall be amazed at the ſuddenneſs of their unexpected ſalvation,

3 Saying within themſelves, repenting, and groaning for anguiſh of ſpirit: Theſe are they, whom we had ſometime in deriſion, and for a parable of reproach.

[Supra 3. 2. 4 || We fools eſteemed their life madneſs, and their end without honour.

5 Behold, how they are numbered among the children of God, and their lot is among the ſaints.

6 Therefore we have erred from the way of truth, and the light of juſtice hath not ſhined unto us, and the ſun of underſtanding hath not riſen upon us.

7 We wearied ourſelves in the way of iniquity and deſtruction, and have walked through hard ways, but the way of the Lord we have not known.

8 What hath pride profited us? or what advantage hath the boaſting of riches brought us?

|| 1 Par. 29. 15. Supra 2. 5. 9 || All thoſe things are paſſed away like a ſhadow, and like a poſt that runneth on,

‡ Prov. 30. 19. 10 ‡ And as a ſhip, that paſſeth through the waves: whereof when it is gone by, the trace cannot be found, nor the path of its keel in the waters:

11 Or as when a bird flieth through the air, of the paſſage of which no mark can be found, but only the ſound of the wings beating the light air, and parting it by the force of her flight; ſhe moved her wings, and hath flown through, and there is no mark found afterwards of her way:

12 Or as when an arrow is ſhot at a mark, the divided air preſently cometh together again, ſo that the paſſage thereof is not known:

13 So we alſo being born, forthwith ceaſed to be: and have been able to ſhew no mark of virtue: but are conſumed in our wickedneſs.

14 Such things as theſe the ſinners ſaid in hell:

† Pſ. 1. 4. Prov. 10. 28. & 11. 7. 15 || For the hope of the wicked is as duſt, which is blown away with the wind, and as a thin froth which is diſperſed by the ſtorm: and a ſmoke that is ſcattered abroad by the wind: and as the remembrance of a gueſt of one day that paſſeth by.

16 But the juſt ſhall live for evermore: and their reward is with the Lord, and the care of them with the moſt High.

17 Therefore ſhall they receive a kingdom of glory, and a crown of beauty at the hand of the Lord: for with his right hand he will cover them, and with his holy arm he will defend them.

|| Pſ. 17. 40. Epheſ. 6. 13. 18 || And his zeal will take armour, and he will arm the creature for the revenge of his enemies.

19 He will put on juſtice as a breaſtplate, and will take true judgment inſtead of a helmet:

20 He will take equity for an invincible ſhield:

21 And he will ſharpen his ſevere wrath for a ſpear, and the whole world ſhall fight with him againſt the unwiſe.

22 Then ſhafts of lightning ſhall go directly from the clouds, as from a bow well bent, they ſhall be ſhot out, and ſhall fly to the mark.

23 And thick hail ſhall be caſt upon them from the ſtone-caſting wrath: the water of the ſea ſhall rage againſt them, and the rivers ſhall run together in a terrible manner.

24 A mighty wind ſhall ſtand up againſt them, and as a whirlwind ſhall divide them: and their iniquity ſhall bring all the earth to a deſert, and wickedneſs ſhall overthrow the thrones of the mighty.

CHAP. VI.

An addreſs to princes to ſeek after wiſdom: ſhe is eaſily found by thoſe that ſeek her.

WISDOM is better than ſtrength: and a wiſe man is better than a ſtrong man. Eccli. 9. 18.

2 Hear therefore ye kings, and underſtand, learn ye that are judges of the ends of the earth.

3 Give ear, you that rule the people, and that pleaſe yourſelves in multitudes of nations:

|| Rom. 13. 1. 4 || For power is given you by the Lord, and ſtrength by the moſt High, who will examine your works, and ſearch out your thoughts:

5 Becauſe being miniſters of his kingdom, you have not judged rightly, nor kept the law of juſtice, nor walked according to the will of God.

6 Horribly and ſpeedily will he appear to you: for a moſt ſevere judgment ſhall be for them that bear rule.

7 For to him that is little, mercy is granted: but the mighty ſhall be mightily tormented.

8 ‖ For God will not except any man's perſon, neither will he ſtand in awe of any man's greatneſs: for he made the little and the great, and he hath equally care of all.

‖ Deut. 10. 17. 2 Par. 19. 7. Eccli. 35. 15. Acts 10. 34. Rom. 2. 11. Gal. 2. 6. Epheſ. 6. 9. Coloſſ. 3. 25. 1 Pet. 1. 17.

9 But a greater puniſhment is ready for the more mighty.

10 To you therefore, O kings, are theſe my words, that you may learn wiſdom, and not fall from it.

11 For they that have kept juſt things juſtly, ſhall be juſtified: and they that have learned theſe things, ſhall find what to anſwer.

12 Covet ye therefore my words, and love them, and you ſhall have inſtruction.

13 Wiſdom is glorious, and never fadeth away, and is eaſily ſeen by them that love her, and is found by them that ſeek her.

14 She preventeth them that covet her, ſo that ſhe firſt ſheweth herſelf unto them.

15 He that awaketh early to ſeek her, ſhall not labour: for he ſhall find her ſitting at his door.

16 To think therefore upon her, is perfect underſtanding: and he that watcheth for her, ſhall quickly be ſecure.

17 For ſhe goeth about ſeeking ſuch as are worthy of her, and ſhe ſheweth herſelf to them cheerfully in the ways, and meeteth them with all providence.

18 For the beginning of her is the moſt true deſire of diſcipline.

19 And the care of diſcipline is love: and love is the keeping of her laws: and the keeping of her laws is the firm foundation of incorruption:

20 And incorruption bringeth near to God.

21 Therefore the deſire of wiſdom bringeth to the everlaſting kingdom.

22 If then your delight be in thrones, and ſcepters, O ye kings of the people, love wiſdom, that you may reign for ever.

23 Love the light of wiſdom, all ye that bear rule over peoples.

24 Now what wiſdom is, and what was her origin, I will declare: and I will not hide from you the myſteries of God, but will ſeek her out from the beginning of her birth, and bring the knowledge of her to light, and will not paſs over the truth:

25 Neither will I go with conſuming envy: for ſuch a man ſhall not be partaker of wiſdom.

26 Now the multitude of the wiſe is the welfare of the whole world: and a wiſe king is the upholding of the people.

27 Receive therefore inſtruction by my words, and it ſhall be profitable to you.

CHAP. VII.

The excellence of wiſdom: how ſhe is to be found.

I Myſelf alſo am a mortal man, like all others, and of the race of him, that was firſt made of the earth, and in the womb of my mother I was faſhioned to be fleſh,

2 In the time of ten months I was compacted in blood, of the ſeed of man, ‖ and the pleaſure of ſleep concurring. ‖ Job 10. 10.

3 And being born I drew in the common air, and fell upon the earth, that is made alike, and the firſt voice which I uttered was crying, as all others do.

4 I was nurſed in ſwadling cloths, and with great cares.

5 For none of the kings had any other beginning of birth.

6 ‖ For all men have one entrance into life, and the like going out. ‖ Job 1. 21. 1 Tim. 6. 7.

7 Wherefore I wiſhed, and underſtanding was given me: and I called upon God, and the ſpirit of wiſdom came upon me:

8 And I preferred her before kingdoms and thrones, and eſteemed riches nothing in compariſon of her.

9 ‖ Neither did I compare unto her any precious ſtone: for all gold in compariſon of her, is as a little ſand, and ſilver in reſpect to her ſhall be counted as clay. ‖ Job 28. 15. Prov. 8. 11.

10 I loved her above health and beauty, and choſe to have her inſtead of light: for her light cannot be put out.

11 ‖ Now all good things came to me together with her, and innumerable riches through her hands, ‖ 3 Kings 3. 13. Matt. 6. 33.

12 And I rejoiced in all theſe: for this wiſdom went before me, and I knew not that ſhe was the mother of them all.

13 Which I have learned without guile, and communicate without envy, and her riches I hide not.

14 For ſhe is an infinite treaſure to men: which they that uſe, become the friends of God, being commended for the gift of diſcipline.

15 And God hath given to me to ſpeak as I would, and to conceive thoughts worthy of thoſe things that are given me: becauſe he is the guide of wiſdom, and the director of the wiſe:

16 For in his hand are both we, and our words, and all wiſdom, and the knowledge and ſkill of works.

17 For he hath given me the true knowledge of the things that are: to know the diſposition of the whole world, and the virtues of the elements,

18 The beginning, and ending, and midst of the times, the alterations of their courses, and the changes of seasons,

19 The revolutions of the year, and the dispositions of the stars,

20 The natures of living creatures, and rage of wild beasts, the force of winds, and reasonings of men, the diversities of plants, and the virtues of roots,

21 And all such things as are hid and not foreseen, I have learned: for wisdom, which is the worker of all things, taught me.

22 For in her is the spirit of understanding: holy, one, manifold, subtile, eloquent, active, undefiled, sure, sweet, loving that which is good, quick, which nothing hindereth, beneficent,

23 Gentle, kind, stedfast, assured, secure, having all power, overseeing all things, and containing all spirits: intelligible, pure, subtile.

24 For wisdom is more active than all active things: and reacheth every where by reason of her purity.

25 For she is a vapour of the power of God, and a certain pure emanation of the glory of the almighty God: and therefore no defiled thing cometh into her.

‖ Heb. 1. 3. 26 ‖ For she is the brightness of eternal light, and the unspotted mirrour of God's majesty, and the image of his goodness.

27 And being but one, she can do all things: and remaining in herself the same, she reneweth all things, and through nations conveyeth herself into holy souls, she maketh the friends of God and prophets.

28 For God loveth none but him that dwelleth with wisdom.

29 For she is more beautiful than the sun, and above all the order of the stars: being compared with the light, she is found before it.

30 For after this cometh night, but no evil can overcome wisdom.

CHAP. VIII.

Further praises of wisdom: and her fruits.

SHE reacheth therefore from end to end mightily, and ordereth all things sweetly.

2 Her have I loved, and have sought her out from my youth, and have desired to take her for my spouse, and I became a lover of her beauty.

3 She glorifieth her nobility by being versant with God: yea and the Lord of all things hath loved her.

4 For it is she that teacheth the knowledge of God, and is the chooser of his works.

5 And if riches be desired in life, what is richer than wisdom, which maketh all things?

6 And if sense do work: who is a more artful worker than she of those things that are?

7 And if a man love justice: her labours have great virtues: for she teacheth temperance, and prudence, and justice, and fortitude, which are such things as men can have nothing more profitable in life.

8 And if a man desire much knowledge: she knoweth things past, and judgeth of things to come: she knoweth the subtilties of speeches, and the solutions of arguments: she knoweth signs and wonders before they be done, and the events of times and ages.

9 I purposed therefore to take her to me to live with me: knowing that she will communicate to me of her good things, and will be a comfort in my cares and grief.

10 For her sake I shall have glory among the multitude, and honour with the ancients, though I be young:

11 And I shall be found of a quick conceit in judgment, and shall be admired in the sight of the mighty, and the faces of princes shall wonder at me.

12 They shall wait for me when I hold my peace, and they shall look upon me when I speak, and if I talk much they shall lay their hands on their mouth.

13 Moreover by the means of her I shall have immortality: and shall leave behind me an everlasting memory to them that come after me.

14 I shall set the people in order: and nations shall be subject to me.

15 Terrible kings hearing shall be afraid of me: among the multitude I shall be found good, and valiant in war.

16 When I go into my house, I shall repose myself with her: for her conversation hath no bitterness, nor her company any tediousness, but joy and gladness.

17 Thinking these things with myself, and pondering them in my heart, that to be allied to wisdom is immortality,

18 And that there is great delight in her friendship, and inexhaustible riches in the works of her hands, and in the exercise of conference with her, wisdom, and glory in the communication of her words: I went about seeking, that I might take her to myself.

19 And I was a witty child, and had received a good soul.

20 And whereas I was more good, I came to a body undefiled.

21 And as I knew that I could not otherwise be continent, except God gave it, and this also was a point of wisdom, to know whose gift it was: I went to the Lord, and besought him, and said with my whole heart:

CHAP. IX.

Solomon's prayer for wisdom.

1 Kings 3. 9. GOD of my fathers, and Lord of mercy, who hast made all things with thy word,

2 And by thy wisdom hast appointed man, that he should have dominion over the creature that was made by thee,

3 That he should order the world according to equity and justice, and execute justice with an upright heart:

4 Give me wisdom, that sitteth by thy throne, and cast me not off from among thy children:

‖ Ps. 115. 16. 5 ‖ For I am thy servant, and the son of thy handmaid, a weak man, and of short time, and falling short of the understanding of judgment and laws.

6 For if one be perfect among the children of men, yet if thy wisdom be not with him, he shall be nothing regarded.

‖ 1 Par. 28. 4. & 5. 2 Par. 1. 9. 7 ‖ Thou hast chosen me to be king of thy people, and a judge of thy sons and daughters:

8 And hast commanded me to build a temple on thy holy mount, and an altar in the city of thy dwelling-place, a resemblance of thy holy tabernacle, which thou hast prepared from the beginning:

‖ Prov. 8. 22. & 27. John 1. 1. 9 ‖ And thy wisdom with thee, which knoweth thy works, which then also was present when thou madest the world, and knew what was agreeable to thy eyes, and what was right in thy commandments.

10 Send her out of thy holy heaven, and from the throne of thy majesty, that she may be with me, and may labour with me, that I may know what is acceptable with thee:

11 For she knoweth and understandeth all things, and shall lead me soberly in my works, and shall preserve me by her power.

12 So shall my works be acceptable, and I shall govern thy people justly, and shall be worthy of the throne of my father.

13 ‖ For who among men is he that can know the counsel of God? or who can think what the will of God is? ‖ Isai. 40. 13. Rom. 11. 34.

14 For the thoughts of mortal men are fearful, and our counsels uncertain. 1 Cor. 2. 16.

15 For the corruptible body is a load upon the soul, and the earthly habitation presseth down the mind that museth upon many things.

16 And hardly do we guess aright at things that are upon earth: and with labour do we find the things that are before us. But the things that are in heaven, who shall search out?

17 And who shall know thy thought, except thou give wisdom, and send thy holy Spirit from above:

18 And so the ways of them that are upon earth may be corrected, and men may learn the things that please thee?

19 For by wisdom they were healed, whosoever have pleased thee, O Lord, from the beginning.

CHAP. X.

What wisdom did for Adam, Noe, Abraham, Lot, Jacob, Joseph, and the people of Israel.

SHE preserved him, that was first formed by God the father of the world, when he was created alone, Gen. 1. 27.

2 ‖ And she brought him out of his sin, and gave him power to govern all things. ‖ Gen. 2. 7.

3 ‡ But when the unjust went away from her in his anger, he perished by the fury wherewith he murdered his brother. ‡ Gen. 4. 8.

4 ‖ For whose cause, when water destroyed the earth, wisdom healed it again, directing the course of the just by contemptible wood. ‖ Gen. 7. 6.

5 ‡ Moreover when the nations had conspired together to consent to wickedness, she knew the just, and preserved him without blame to God, and kept him strong against the compassion for his son. ‡ Gen. 11. 2.

6 ‖ She delivered the just man who fled from the wicked that were perishing, when the fire came down upon Pentapolis: ‖ Gen. 19. 17. & 22.

7 Whose land for a testimony of their wickedness is desolate, and smoketh to this day, and the trees bear fruits that ripen not, and a ſtanding pillar of ſalt is a monument of an incredulous ſoul.

8 For regarding not wiſdom, they did not only ſlip in this, that they were ignorant of good things, but they left alſo unto men a memorial of their folly, ſo that in the things in which they ſinned, they could not ſo much as lie hid.

9 But wiſdom hath delivered from ſorrow them that attend upon her.

‖ Gen. 28. 5. & 10. 10 ‖ She conducted the juſt, when he fled from his brother's wrath, through the right ways, and ſhewed him the kingdom of God, and gave him the knowledge of the holy things, made him honourable in his labours, and accompliſhed his labours.

11 In the deceit of them that over-reached him, ſhe ſtood by him, and made him honourable.

‖ Exod. 1. 11. 15 ‖ She delivered the juſt people, and blameleſs ſeed from the nations that oppreſſed them.

16 She entered into the ſoul of the ſervant of God, and ſtood againſt dreadful kings in wonders and ſigns.

event: their thirsting being unlike to that of the just.

16 But for the foolish devices of their iniquity, ‖ because some being deceived worshipped dumb serpents, and worthless beasts, thou didst send upon them a multitude of dumb beasts for vengeance: ‖ Infra 12. 24.

17 That they might know that by what things a man sinneth, by the same also he is tormented.

18 For thy almighty hand, which made the world of matter without form, was not unable to send upon them a multitude of bears, or fierce lions,

22 For great power always belonged to thee alone: and who shall resist the strength of thy arm?

23 For the whole world before thee is as the least grain of the balance, and as a drop of the morning dew, that falleth down upon the earth.

24 But thou hast mercy upon all, because thou canst do all things, and overlookest the sins of men for the sake of repentance.

25 For thou lovest all things that are, and hatest none of the things which thou hast made: for thou didst not appoint, or make any thing hating it.

26 And how could any thing endure, if thou wouldst not? or be preserved, if not called by thee?

27 But thou sparest all: because they are thine, O Lord, who lovest souls.

CHAP. XII.

God's wisdom and mercy in his proceedings with the Chananites.

O How good and sweet is thy Spirit, O Lord, in all things!

2 And therefore thou chastisest them that err, by little and little: and admonishest them, and speakest to them, concerning the things wherein they offend: that leaving their wickedness, they may believe in thee, O Lord.

3 ‖ For, those ancient inhabitants of thy holy land, whom thou didst abhor, ‖ Deut. 9. 3. & 12. 29. & 18. 12.

4 Because they did works hateful to thee by their sorceries, and wicked sacrifices,

5 And those merciless murderers of their own children, and eaters of mens bowels, and devourers of blood from the midst of thy consecration,

6 And those parents sacrificing with their own hands helpless souls, it was thy will to destroy by the hands of our parents,

7 That the land which of all is most dear to thee might receive a worthy colony of the children of God.

8 Yet even those thou sparedst as men, and didst send wasps forerunners of thy host, to destroy them by little and little.

9 Not that thou wast unable to bring the wicked under the just by war, or by cruel beasts, or with one rough word to destroy them at once:

10 ‖ But executing thy judgments by degrees thou gavest them place of repentance, not being ignorant that they were a wicked generation, and their malice natural, and that their thought could never be changed. ‖ Exod. 23. 30. Deut. 7. 22.

11 For it was a cursed seed from the beginning: neither didst thou for fear of any one give pardon to their sins.

12 For who shall say to thee: What hast thou done? or who shall withstand thy judgment? or who shall come before thee to be a revenger of wicked men? or who shall accuse thee, if the nations perish, which thou hast made?

13 For there is no other God but thou, ‖ who hast care of all, that thou shouldst shew that thou dost not give judgment unjustly. ‖ 1 Peter 5. 7.

14 Neither shall king, nor tyrant in thy sight enquire about them whom thou hast destroyed.

15 For so much then as thou art just, thou ordereſt all things justly: thinking it not agreeable to thy power, to condemn him who deserveth not to be punished.

16 For thy power is the beginning of justice: and because thou art Lord of all, thou makest thyself gracious to all.

17 For thou shewest thy power, when men will not believe thee to be absolute in power, and thou convincest the boldness of them that know thee not.

disposest of us: for thy power is at hand when thou wilt.

19 But thou hast taught thy people by such works, that they must be just and humane, and hast made thy children to be of a good hope: because in judging thou givest place for repentance for sins.

20 For if thou didst punish the enemies of thy servants, and that deserved to die, with so great deliberation, giving them time and place whereby they might be changed from their wickedness:

21 With what circumspection hast thou judged thy own children, to whose parents thou hast sworn and made covenants of good promises?

22 Therefore whereas thou chastisest us, thou scourgest our enemies very many ways, to the end that when we judge we may think on thy goodness: and when we are judged, we may hope for thy mercy.

23 Wherefore thou hast also greatly tormented them who in their life have lived foolishly and unjustly, by the same things which they worshipped.

24 ‖ For they went astray for a long time in the ways of error, holding those things for gods which are the most worthless among beasts, living after the manner of children without understanding.

‖ Supra 11. 16. Rom. 1. 23.

25 Therefore thou hast sent a judgment upon them as senseless children to mock them.

26 But they that were not amended by mockeries and reprehensions, experienced the worthy judgment of God.

27 For seeing with indignation that they suffered by those very things which they took for gods, when they were destroyed by the same, they acknowledged him the true God, whom in time past they denied that they knew: for which cause the end also of their condemnation came upon them.

CHAP. XIII.

Idolaters are inexcusable: and those most of all that worship for gods the works of the hands of men.

Rom. 1. 18. BUT all men are vain, in whom there is not the knowledge of God: and who by these good things that are seen, could not understand him that is, neither by attending to the works have acknowledged who was the workman:

‖ Deut. 4. 19. & 17. 3. 2 ‖ But have imagined either the fire, or the wind, or the swift air, or the circle of the stars, or the great water, or the sun and moon, to be the gods that rule the world.

3 With whose beauty if they being delighted, took them to be gods: let them know how much the Lord of them is more beautiful than they: for the first author of beauty made all those things.

4 Or if they admired their power and their effects, let them understand by them, that he that made them, is mightier than they:

5 For by the greatness of the beauty, and of the creature, the creator of them may be seen, so as to be known thereby.

6 But yet as to these they are less to be blamed. For they perhaps err, seeking God, and desirous to find him.

7 ‖ For being conversant among his works, they search: and they are persuaded that the things are good which are seen.

‖ Rom. 1. 21.

8 But then again they are not to be pardoned.

9 For if they were able to know so much, as to make a judgment of the world: how did they not more easily find out the Lord thereof?

10 But unhappy are they, and their hope is among the dead, who have called gods the works of the hands of men, gold and silver, the inventions of art, and the resemblances of beasts, or an unprofitable stone the work of an ancient hand.

11 ‖ Or if an artist a carpenter hath cut down a tree proper for his use in the wood, and skilfully taken off all the bark thereof, and with his art, diligently formeth a vessel profitable for the common uses of life,

‖ Isai. 44. 12. Jerem. 10. 3.

12 And useth the chips of his work to dress his meat:

13 And taking what was left thereof, which is good for nothing, being a crooked piece of wood, and full of knots, carveth it diligently when he hath nothing else to do, and by the skill of his art fashioneth it and maketh it like the image of a man.

14 Or the resemblance of some beast, laying it over with vermilion, and painting it red, and covering every spot that is in it:

15 And maketh a convenient dwelling-place for it, and setting it in a wall, and fastening it with iron,

16 Providing for it, lest it should fall, knowing that it is unable to help itself: for it is an image, and hath need of help.

17 And then maketh prayer to it, inquiring concerning his substance, and his children, or his marriage. And he is not ashamed to speak to that which hath no life:

18 And for health he maketh supplication to the weak, and for life prayeth to that which is dead, and for help calleth upon that which is unprofitable:

19 And for a good journey he petitioneth him that cannot walk: and for getting, and for working, and for the event of all things he asketh him that is unable to do any thing.

CHAP. XIV.

The beginning of worshipping idols: and the effects thereof.

AGAIN, another designing to sail, and beginning to make his voyage through the raging waves, calleth upon a piece of wood more frail than the wood that carrieth him.

2 For this the desire of gain devised, and the workman built it by his skill.

3 But thy providence, O Father, gov-
‖ Exod. 14. 22. erneth it: ‖ for thou hast made a way even in the sea, and a most sure path among the waves,

4 Shewing that thou art able to save out of all things, yea though a man went to sea without art.

5 But that the works of thy wisdom might not be idle: therefore men also trust their lives even to a little wood, and passing over the sea by ship are saved.

‖ Gen. 6. 4. & 7. 7. 6 ‖ And from the beginning also when the proud giants perished, the hope of the world fleeing to a vessel, which was governed by thy hand, left to the world seed of generation.

7 For blessed is the wood, by which justice cometh.

‖ Ps. 113. 4. Baruch 6. 3. 8 ‖ But the idol that is made by hands, is cursed, as well it, as he that made it: he because he made it; and it because being frail it is called a god.

9 But to God the wicked and his wickedness are hateful alike.

10 For that which is made, together with him that made it, shall suffer torments.

11 Therefore there shall be no respect had even to the idols of the Gentiles: because the creatures of God are turned to an abomination, and a temptation to the souls of men, and a snare to the feet of the unwise.

12 For the beginning of fornication is the devising of idols: and the invention of them is the corruption of life.

13 For neither were they from the beginning, neither shall they be for ever.

14 For by the vanity of men they came into the world: and therefore they shall be found to come shortly to an end.

15 For a father being afflicted with bitter grief, made to himself the image of his son who was quickly taken away: and him who then had died as a man, he began now to worship as a god, and appointed him rites and sacrifices among his servants.

16 Then in process of time, wicked custom prevailing, this error was kept as a law, and statues were worshipped by the commandment of tyrants.

17 And those whom men could not honour in presence, because they dwelt far off, they brought their resemblance from afar, and made an express image of the king whom they had a mind to honour: that by this their diligence, they might honour as present, him that was absent.

18 And to the worshipping of these, the singular diligence also of the artificer helped to set forward the ignorant.

19 For he being willing to please him that employed him, laboured with all his art to make the resemblance in the best manner.

20 And the multitude of men, carried away by the beauty of the work, took him now for a god that a little before was but honoured as a man.

21 And this was the occasion of deceiving human life: for men serving either their affection, or their kings, gave the incommunicable name to stones and wood.

22 And it was not enough for them to err about the knowledge of God, but whereas they lived in a great war of ignorance, they call so many and so great evils peace.

‖ Deut. 18. 10. Jerem. 7. 6. 23 ‖ For either they sacrifice their own children, or use hidden sacrifices, or keep watches full of madness,

24 So that now they neither keep life, nor marriage undefiled, but one killeth another through envy, or grieveth him by adultery:

25 And all things are mingled together, blood, murder, theft and dissimulation, corruption and unfaithfulness, tumults and perjury, disquieting of the good,

26 Forgetfulness of God, defiling of souls, changing of nature, disorder in marriage, and the irregularity of adultery and uncleanness.

27 For the worship of abominable idols is the cause, and the beginning and end of all evil.

28 For either they are mad when they are merry: or they prophesy lies, or they live unjustly, or easily forswear themselves.

29 For whilst they trust in idols, which are without life, though they swear amiss, they look not to be hurt.

30 But for two things they shall be justly punished, because they have thought not well of God, giving heed to idols, and have sworn unjustly, in guile despising justice.

31 For it is not the power of them, by whom they ſwear, but the juſt vengeance of ſinners always puniſheth the tranſgreſſion of the unjuſt.

CHAP. XV.

The ſervants of God praiſe him who hath delivered them from idolatry; condemning both the makers and the worſhippers of idols.

BUT thou, our God, art gracious and true, patient, and ordering all things in mercy.

2 For if we ſin, we are thine, knowing thy greatneſs: and if we ſin not, we know that we are counted with thee.

3 For to know thee, is perfect juſtice: and to know thy juſtice, and thy power, is the root of immortality.

4 For the invention of miſchievous men hath not deceived us, nor the ſhadow of a picture, a fruitleſs labour, a graven figure with divers colours,

5 The ſight whereof enticeth the fool to luſt after it, and he loveth the lifeleſs figure of a dead image.

6 The lovers of evil things deſerve to have no better things to truſt in, both they that make them, and they that love them, and they that worſhip them.

‖ Rom. 9. 21. 7 ‖ The potter alſo tempering ſoft earth, with labour faſhioneth every veſſel for our ſervice, and of the ſame clay he maketh both veſſels that are for clean uſes, and likewiſe ſuch as ſerve to the contrary: but what is the uſe of theſe veſſels, the potter is the judge.

8 And of the ſame clay by a vain labour he maketh a god: he who a little before was made of earth himſelf, and a little after returneth to the ſame out of which he was taken, when his life which was lent him ſhall be called for again.

9 But his care is, not that he ſhall labour, nor that his life is ſhort, but he ſtriveth with the goldſmiths and ſilverſmiths: and he endeavoureth to do like the workers in braſs, and counteth it a glory to make vain things.

10 For his heart is aſhes, and his hope vain earth, and his life more baſe than clay:

11 Foraſmuch as he knew not his maker, and him that inſpired into him the ſoul that worketh, and that breathed into him a living ſpirit.

12 Yea and they have counted our life a paſtime, and the buſineſs of life to be gain, and that we muſt be getting every way, even out of evil.

13 For that man knoweth that he offendeth above all others, who of earthly matter maketh brittle veſſels, and graven gods.

14 But all the enemies of thy people that hold them in ſubjection, are fooliſh, and unhappy, and proud beyond meaſure:

‖ Pſal. 113. 5. & 134. 16. 15 ‖ For they have eſteemed all the idols of the heathens for gods, which neither have the uſe of eyes to ſee, nor noſes to draw breath, nor ears to hear, nor fingers of hands to handle, and as for their feet, they are ſlow to walk.

16 For man made them: and he that borroweth his own breath, faſhioned them. For no man can make a god like to himſelf.

17 For being mortal himſelf, he formeth a dead thing with his wicked hands. For he is better than they whom he worſhippeth, becauſe he indeed hath lived, though he were mortal, but they never.

18 Moreover they worſhip alſo the vileſt creatures: but things without ſenſe compared to theſe, are worſe than they.

19 Yea neither by ſight can any man ſee good of theſe beaſts. But they have fled from the praiſe of God, and from his bleſſing.

CHAP. XVI.

God's different dealings with the Egyptians and with his own people.

FOR theſe things, and by the like things to theſe, they were worthily puniſhed, and were deſtroyed by a multitude of beaſts.

‖ Num. 11. 31. 2 Inſtead of which puniſhment, dealing well with thy people, ‖ thou gaveſt them their deſire of delicious food, of a new taſte, preparing for them quails for their meat:

3 To the end that they indeed deſiring food, by means of thoſe things that were ſhewn and ſent among them, might loath even that which was neceſſary to ſatisfy their deſire. But theſe, after ſuffering want for a ſhort time, taſted a new meat.

4 For it was requiſite that inevitable deſtruction ſhould come upon them that exerciſed tyranny: but to theſe it ſhould only be ſhewn how their enemies were deſtroyed.

‖ Num. 21. 6. 5 ‖ For when the fierce rage of beaſts came upon theſe, they were deſtroyed with the bitings of crooked ſerpents.

CHAP. XVI. VER. 3. They indeed deſiring food, &c. He means the Egyptians: who were reſtrained even from that food which was neceſſary, by the frogs and the flies that were ſent amongſt them, and ſpoiled all their meats.

Ibid. But theſe, viz. The Iſraelites.

6 But thy wrath endured not for ever, but they were troubled for a ſhort time for their correction, having a ſign of ſalvation to put them in remembrance of the commandment of thy law.

7 For he that turned to it, was not healed by that which he ſaw, but by thee the Saviour of all.

8 And in this thou didſt ſhew to our enemies, that thou art he who delivereſt from all evil.

‖ Exod. 8. 24. & 10. 4. Apoc. 9. 7.

9 ‖ For the bitings of locuſts, and of flies killed them, and there was found no remedy for their life: becauſe they were worthy to be deſtroyed by ſuch things.

10 But not even the teeth of venemous ſerpents overcame thy children: for thy mercy came and healed them.

11 For they were examined for the remembrance of thy words, and were quickly healed, leſt falling into deep forgetfulneſs, they might not be able to uſe thy help.

12 For it was neither herb, nor mollifying plaſter that healed them, but thy word, O Lord, which healeth all things.

‖ Deut. 32. 39. 1 Kings 2. 6. Tobias 13. 2.

13 ‖ For it is thou, O Lord, that haſt power of life and death, and leadeſt down to the gates of death, and bringeſt back again:

14 A man indeed killeth through malice, and when the ſpirit is gone forth, it ſhall not return, neither ſhall he call back the ſoul that is received:

15 But it is impoſſible to eſcape thy hand.

‖ Exod. 9. 23.

16 ‖ For the wicked that denied to know thee, were ſcourged by the ſtrength of thy arm, being perſecuted by ſtrange waters, and hail, and rain, and conſumed by fire.

17 And which was wonderful, in water, which extinguiſheth all things, the fire had more force: for the world fighteth for the juſt.

18 For at one time, the fire was mitigated, that the beaſts which were ſent againſt the wicked might not be burnt, but that they might ſee and perceive that they were perſecuted by the judgment of God.

19 And at another time the fire, above its own power, burnt in the midſt of water, to deſtroy the fruits of a wicked land.

‖ Exod. 16. 14. Num. 11. 7. Pſal. 77. 25. John 6. 31.

20 ‖ Inſtead of which things thou didſt feed thy people with the food of Angels, and gaveſt them bread from heaven prepared without labour; having in it all that is delicious, and the ſweetneſs of every taſte.

21 For thy ſuſtenance ſhewed thy ſweetneſs to thy children, and ſerving every man's will, it was turned to what every man liked.

22 ‖ But ſnow and ice endured the force of fire, and melted not: that they might know that fire burning in the hail and flaſhing in the rain deſtroyed the fruits of the enemies. ‖ Exod. 9. 24.

23 But this ſame again, that the juſt might be nouriſhed, did even forget its own ſtrength.

24 For the creature ſerving thee the Creator, is made fierce againſt the unjuſt for their puniſhment: and abateth its ſtrength for the benefit of them that truſt in thee.

25 Therefore even then it was transformed into all things, and was obedient to thy grace that nouriſheth all, according to the will of them that deſired it of thee:

‖ Deut. 8. 3. Mat. 4. 4.

26 That thy children, O Lord, ‖ whom thou lovedſt, might know that it is not the growing of fruits that nouriſheth men, but thy word preſerveth them that believe in thee.

27 For that which could not be deſtroyed by fire, being warmed with a little ſun-beam preſently melted away:

28 That it might be known to all, that we ought to prevent the ſun to bleſs thee, and adore thee at the dawning of the light.

29 For the hope of the unthankful ſhall melt away as the winter's ice, and ſhall run off as unprofitable water.

CHAP. XVII.

The Egyptian darkneſs.

FOR thy judgments, O Lord, are great, and thy words cannot be expreſſed: therefore undiſciplined ſouls have erred.

‖ Exod. 10. 23.

2 ‖ For while the wicked thought to be able to have dominion over the holy nation, they themſelves being fettered with the bonds of darkneſs, and a long night, ſhut up in their houſes, lay there exiled from the eternal providence.

3 And while they thought to lie hid in their obſcure ſins, they were ſcattered under a dark veil of forgetfulneſs, being horribly afraid and troubled with exceeding great aſtoniſhment.

4 For neither did the den that held them, keep them from fear: for noiſes coming down troubled them, and ſad viſions appearing to them, affrighted them.

5 And no power of fire could give them light, neither could the bright flames of the ſtars enlighten that horrible night.

6 But there appeared to them a ſudden fire, very dreadful: and being ſtruck with the fear of that face, which was not ſeen, they thought the things which they saw to be worse:

‖ Exod. 7. 22. & 8. 7. 7 ‖ And the delusions of their magic art were put down, and their boasting of wisdom was reproachfully rebuked.

8 For they who promised to drive away fears and troubles from a sick soul, were sick themselves of a fear worthy to be laughed at.

9 For though no terrible thing disturbed them: yet being scared with the passing by of beasts, and hissing of serpents, they died for fear: and denying that they saw the air, which could by no means be avoided.

10 For whereas wickedness is fearful, it beareth witness of its condemnation: for a troubled conscience always forecasteth grievous things.

11 For fear is nothing else but a yielding up of the succours from thought.

12 And while there is less expectation from within, the greater doth it count the ignorance of that cause which bringeth the torment.

13 But they that during that night, in which nothing could be done, and which came upon them from the lowest and deepest hell, slept the same sleep,

14 Were sometimes molested with the fear of monsters, sometimes fainted away, their soul failing them: for a sudden and unlooked for fear was come upon them.

15 Moreover if any of them had fallen down, he was kept shut up in prison without irons.

16 For if any one were a husbandman, or a shepherd, or a labourer in the field, and was suddenly overtaken, he endured a necessity from which he could not fly.

17 For they were all bound together with one chain of darkness. Whether it were a whistling wind, or the melodious voice of birds, among the spreading branches of trees, or a fall of water running down with violence,

18 Or the mighty noise of stones tumbling down, or the running that could not be seen of beasts playing together, or the roaring voice of wild beasts, or a rebounding echo from the highest mountains: these things made them to swoon for fear.

19 For the whole world was enlightened with a clear light, and none were hindered in their labours.

20 But over them only was spread a heavy night, an image of that darkness which was to come upon them. But they were to themselves more grievous than the darkness.

CHAP. XVIII.

The slaughter of the first born in Egypt: the efficacy of Aaron's intercession, in the sedition on occasion of Core.

BUT thy saints had a very great light, ‖ Exod. 10. 23. and they heard their voice indeed, but did not see their shape. And because they also did not suffer the same things, they glorified thee:

2 And they that before had been wronged, gave thanks, because they were not hurt now: and asked this gift, that there might be a difference.

3 ‖ Therefore they received a burning pillar of fire for a guide of the way which they knew not, and thou gavest them a harmless sun of a good entertainment. ‖ Exod. 14. 24. Psal. 77. 14. & 104. 39.

4 The others indeed were worthy to be deprived of light, and imprisoned in darkness, who kept thy children shut up, by whom the pure light of the law was to be given to the world.

5 ‖ And whereas they thought to kill the babes of the just: one child being cast forth, and saved, to reprove them, thou tookest away a multitude of their children, † and destroyedst them all together in a mighty water. ‖ Exod. 1. 16. & 2. 3. † Exod. 14. 27.

6 For that night was known before by our fathers, that assuredly knowing what oaths they had trusted to, they might be of better courage.

7 So thy people received the salvation of the just, and destruction of the unjust.

8 For as thou didst punish the adversaries: so thou didst also encourage and glorify us.

9 For the just children of good men were offering sacrifice secretly, and they unanimously ordered a law of justice: that the just should receive both good and evil alike, singing now the praises of the fathers.

10 But on the other side there sounded an ill-according cry of the enemies, and a lamentable mourning was heard for the children that were bewailed.

11 ‖ And the servant suffered the same ‖ Exod. 12. 30.

CHAP. XVIII. VER. 3. A harmless sun. A light that should not hurt or molest them; but that should be an agreeable guest to them.

VER. 5. One child, viz. Moses.

VER. 9. Of good men, viz. of the patriarchs. Their children, the Israelites, offered in private the sacrifice of the paschal lamb; and were regulating what they were to do in their journey, when that last and most dreadful plague was coming upon their enemies.

punishment as the master, and a common man suffered in like manner as the king.

12 So all alike had innumerable dead, with one kind of death. Neither were the living sufficient to bury them: for in one moment the noblest offspring of them was destroyed.

13 For whereas they would not believe any thing before by reason of the enchantments, then first upon the destruction of the first-born, they acknowledged the people to be of God.

14 For while all things were in quiet silence, and the night was in the midst of her course,

15 Thy almighty word leapt down from heaven from thy royal throne, as a fierce conqueror into the midst of the land of destruction,

16 With a sharp sword carrying thy unfeigned commandment, and he stood and filled all things with death, and standing on the earth reached even to heaven.

17 Then suddenly visions of evil dreams troubled them, and fears unlooked for came upon them.

18 And one thrown here, another there, half dead, shewed the cause of his death.

19 For the visions that troubled them foreshewed these things, lest they should perish and not know why they suffered these evils.

20 But the just also were afterwards touched by an assault of death, and there was a disturbance of the multitude in the wilderness: but thy wrath did not long continue.

‖ Num. 16. 46. 21 ‖ For a blameless man made haste to pray for the people, bringing forth the shield of his ministry, prayer, and by incense making supplication, withstood the wrath, and put an end to the calamity, shewing that he was thy servant.

22 And he overcame the disturbance, not by strength of body nor with force of arms, but with a word he subdued him that punished them, alleging the oaths and covenant made with the fathers.

23 For when they were now fallen down dead by heaps one upon another, he stood between and stayed the assault, and cut off the way to the living.

‖ Exod. 28. 6. 24 ‖ For in the priestly robe which he wore, was the whole world: and in the four rows of the stones the glory of the fathers was graven, and thy majesty was written upon the diadem of his head.

25 And to these the destroyer gave place, and was afraid of them: for the proof only of wrath was enough.

CHAP. XIX.

Why God shewed no mercy to the Egyptians. His favour to the Israelites. All creatures obey God's orders for the service of the good, and the punishment of the wicked.

BUT as to the wicked, even to the end there came upon them wrath without mercy. For he knew before also what they would do:

2 For when they had given them leave to depart, and had sent them away with great care, they repented, and pursued after them.

‖ Exod. 14. 5. 3 ‖ For whilst they were yet mourning; and lamenting at the graves of the dead, they took up another foolish device: and pursued them as fugitives whom they had pressed to be gone:

4 For a necessity, of which they were worthy, brought them to this end: and they lost the remembrance of those things which had happened, that their punishment might fill up what was wanting to their torments:

5 And that thy people might wonderfully pass through, but they might find a new death.

6 For every creature according to its kind was fashioned again as from the beginning, obeying thy commandments, that thy children might be kept without hurt.

7 For a cloud overshadowed their camp, and where water was before, dry land appeared, and in the Red sea a way without hinderance, and out of the great deep a springing field:

8 Through which all the nation passed which was protected with thy hand, seeing thy miracles and wonders.

9 For they fed on their food like horses, and they skipped like lambs, praising thee, O Lord, who hadst delivered them.

10 For they were yet mindful of those things which had been done in the time of their sojourning, how the ground brought forth flies instead of cattle, and how the river cast up a multitude of frogs instead of fishes.

‖ Exod. 16 13. Num. 11. 31. Supra 16 2. 11 ‖ And at length they saw a new generation of birds, when being led by their appetite they asked for delicate meats.

12 For to satisfy their desire, the quail came up to them from the sea: and punishments came upon the sinners, not without foregoing signs by the force of thunders: for they suffered justly according to their own wickedness.

13 For they exercised a more detestable

VER. 12. The noblest offspring. That is, the first-born.

inhospitality than any: others indeed received not strangers unknown to them, but these brought their guests into bondage that had deserved well of them.

14 And not only so, but in another respect also they were worse: for the others against their will received the strangers.

15 But these grievously afflicted them whom they had received with joy, and who lived under the same laws.

‖ Gen. 19. 11. 16 But they were struck with blindness: ‖ as those others were at the doors of the just man, when they were covered with sudden darkness, and every one sought the passage of his own door.

17 For while the elements are changed in themselves, as in an instrument the sound of the quality is changed, yet all keep their sound: which may clearly be perceived by the very sight.

18 For the things of the land were turned into things of the water: and the things before swam in the water passed upon the land.

19 The fire had power in water above its own virtue, and the water forgot its quenching nature.

20 On the other side, the flames wasted not the flesh of corruptible animals walking therein, neither did they melt that good food, which was apt to melt as ice. For in all things thou didst magnify thy people, O Lord, and didst honour them, and didst not despise them, but didst assist them at all times, and in every place.

CHAP. XIX. VER. 17. Elements are changed, &c. The meaning is, that whatever changes God wrought in the elements by miracles in favour of his people, they still kept their harmony by obeying his will.

VER. 20. That good food. The manna.

ECCLESIASTICUS.

This book is so called from a Greek word that signifies a preacher: because, like an excellent preacher, it gives admirable lessons of all virtues. The author was Jesus the son of Sirach of Jerusalem, who flourished about two hundred years before Christ. As it was written after the time of Esdras, it is not in the Jewish canon: but is received as canonical and divine by the catholic church, instructed by apostolical tradition, and directed by the Spirit of God. It was first wrote in the Hebrew, but afterwards translated into Greek by another Jesus the grandson of the author: whose prologue to this book is the following:

THE PROLOGUE.

THE knowledge of many and great things hath been shewn us by the law, and the prophets, and others that have followed them: for which things Israel is to be commended for doctrine and wisdom: because not only they that speak must needs be skilful, but strangers also both speaking and writing, may by their means become most learned. My grandfather Jesus, after he had much given himself to a diligent reading of the law, and the prophets, and other books, that were delivered to us from our fathers, had a mind also to write something himself, pertaining to doctrine and wisdom: that such as are desirous to learn, and are made knowing in these things, may be more and more attentive in mind, and be strengthened to live according to the law. I entreat you therefore to come with benevolence, and to read with attention, and to pardon us for those things wherein we may seem, while we follow the image of wisdom, to come short in the composition of words: for the Hebrew words have not the same force in them when translated into another tongue. And not only these, but the law also itself, and the prophets, and the rest of the books, have no small difference, when they are spoken in their own language. For in the eighth and thirtieth year coming into Egypt, when Ptolemy Evergetes was king, and continuing there a long time, I found there books left, of no small nor contemptible learning. Therefore I thought it good, and necessary for me to bestow some diligence and labour to interpret this book: and with much watching and study in some space of time, I brought the book to an end, and set it forth for the service of them that are willing to apply their mind, and to learn how they ought to conduct themselves, who purpose to lead their life according to the law of the Lord.

CHAP. I.

All Wisdom is from God, and is given to them that fear and love God.

3 Kings 3. 9. & 4. 29. ALL wisdom is from the Lord God, and hath been always with him, and is before all time.

2 Who hath numbered the sand of the sea, and the drops of rain, and the days of the world? Who hath measured the height of heaven, and the breadth of the earth, and the depth of the abyss?

3 Who hath searched out the wisdom of God that goeth before all things?

4 Wiſdom hath been created before all things, and the underſtanding of prudence from everlaſting.

5 The word of God on high is the fountain of wiſdom, and her ways are everlaſting commandments.

6 To whom hath the root of wiſdom been revealed, and who hath known her wiſe counſels?

7 To whom hath the diſcipline of wiſdom been revealed and made manifeſt? and who hath underſtood the multiplicity of her ſteps?

8 There is one moſt high Creator Almighty, and a powerful King, and greatly to be feared, who ſitteth upon his throne, and is the God of dominion.

9 He created her in the Holy Ghoſt, and ſaw her, and numbered her, and meaſured her.

10 And he poured her out upon all his works, and upon all fleſh according to his gift, and hath given her to them that love him.

11 The fear of the Lord is honour, and glory, and gladneſs, and a crown of joy.

12 The fear of the Lord ſhall delight the heart, and ſhall give joy, and gladneſs, and length of days.

13 With him that feareth the Lord, it ſhall go well in the latter end, and in the day of his death he ſhall be bleſſed.

14 The love of God is honourable wiſdom.

15 And they to whom ſhe ſhall ſhew herſelf, love her by the ſight, and by the knowledge of her great works.

|| Pſal. 110. 10. Prov. 1. 7. & 9. 10.

16 || The fear of the Lord is the beginning of wiſdom, and was created with the faithful in the womb, it walketh with choſen women, and is known with the juſt and faithful.

17 The fear of the Lord is the religiouſneſs of knowledge.

18 Religiouſneſs ſhall keep and juſtify the heart, it ſhall give joy and gladneſs.

19 It ſhall go well with him that feareth the Lord, and in the days of his end he ſhall be bleſſed.

20 To fear God is the fulneſs of wiſdom, and fulneſs is from the fruits thereof.

21 She ſhall fill all her houſe with her increaſe, and the ſtorehouſes with her treaſures.

22 The fear of the Lord is a crown of wiſdom, filling up peace and the fruit of ſalvation:

23 And it hath ſeen, and numbered her: but both are the gifts of God.

24 Wiſdom ſhall diſtribute knowledge, and underſtanding of prudence: and exalteth the glory of them that hold her.

25 The root of wiſdom is to fear the Lord: and the branches thereof are long lived.

26 In the treaſures of wiſdom is underſtanding, and religiouſneſs of knowledge: but to ſinners wiſdom is an abomination.

27 The fear of the Lord driveth out ſin:

28 For he that is without fear, cannot be juſtified: for the wrath of his high ſpirits is his ruin.

29 A patient man ſhall bear for a time, and afterwards joy ſhall be reſtored to him.

30 A good underſtanding will hide his words for a time, and the lips of many ſhall declare his wiſdom.

31 In the treaſures of wiſdom is the ſignification of diſcipline:

32 But the worſhip of God is an abomination to a ſinner.

33 Son, if thou deſire wiſdom, keep juſtice, and God will give her to thee.

34 For the fear of the Lord is wiſdom and diſcipline: and that which is agreeable to him, 35 Is faith, and meekneſs: and he will fill up his treaſures.

36 Be not incredulous to the fear of the Lord: and come not to him with a double heart.

37 Be not a hypocrite in the ſight of men, and let not thy lips be a ſtumbling-block to thee.

38 Watch over them, leſt thou fall, and bring diſhonour upon thy ſoul,

39 And God diſcover thy ſecrets, and caſt thee down in the midſt of the congregation.

40 Becauſe thou cameſt to the Lord wickedly, and thy heart is full of guile and deceit.

CHAP. II.

God's ſervants muſt look for temptations: and muſt arm themſelves with patience and confidence in God.

SON, when thou comeſt to the ſervice of God, ſtand in juſtice and in fear, and prepare thy ſoul for temptation. Mat. 4. 1. 2 Tim. 3. 12.

2 Humble thy heart, and endure: incline thy ear, and receive the words of underſtanding: and make not haſte in the time of clouds.

3 Wait on God with patience: join thyſelf to God, and endure, that thy life may be increaſed in the latter end.

4 Take all that ſhall be brought upon thee: and in thy ſorrow endure, and in thy humiliation keep patience:

5 || For gold and ſilver are tried in the fire, but acceptable men in the furnace of humiliation. || Wiſ. 3. 6.

6 Believe God, and he will recover thee: and direct thy way, and truſt in him. Keep his fear, and grow old therein.

7 Ye that fear the Lord, wait for his mercy: and go not aſide from him, leſt ye fall.

8 Ye that fear the Lord believe him: and your reward ſhall not be made void.

9 Ye that fear the Lord, hope in him: and mercy ſhall come to you for your delight.

10 Ye that fear the Lord love him, and your hearts ſhall be enlightened.

11 My children behold the generations of men: and know ye that no one hath hoped in the Lord, and hath been confounded.

‖ Pſal. 30. 1. 12 ‖ For who hath continued in his commandment, and hath been forſaken? or who hath called upon him, and he deſpiſed him?

13 For God is compaſſionate and merciful, and will forgive ſins in the day of tribulation: and he is a protector to all that ſeek him in truth.

‖ 3 Kings 18. 21. 14 Wo to them that are of a double heart, and to wicked lips, and to the hands that do evil, ‖ and to the ſinner that goeth on the earth two ways.

15 Wo to them that are faint-hearted, who believe not God: and therefore they ſhall not be protected by him.

16 Wo to them that have loſt patience, and that have forſaken the right ways, and have gone aſide into crooked ways.

17 And what will they do, when the Lord ſhall begin to examine?

‖ John 14. 23. 18 They that fear the Lord, will not be incredulous to his word: ‖ and they that love him will keep his way.

19 They that fear the Lord, will ſeek after the things that are well pleaſing to him: and they that love him, ſhall be filled with his law.

20 They that fear the Lord, will prepare their hearts, and in his ſight will ſanctify their ſouls.

21 They that fear the Lord, keep his commandments, and will have patience even until his viſitation,

22 Saying: If we do not penance, we ſhall fall into the hands of the Lord, and not into the hands of men.

23 For according to his greatneſs, ſo alſo is his mercy with him.

CHAP. III.

Leſſons concerning the honour of parents, and humility, and avoiding curioſity.

THE ſons of wiſdom are the church of the juſt: and their generation, obedience and love.

2 Children, hear the judgment of your father, and ſo do that you may be ſaved.

3 For God hath made the father honourable to the children: and ſeeking the judgment of the mothers, hath confirmed it upon the children.

4 He that loveth God, ſhall obtain pardon for his ſins by prayer, and ſhall refrain himſelf from them, and ſhall be heard in the prayer of days.

5 And he that honoureth his mother is as one that layeth up a treaſure.

6 He that honoureth his father ſhall have joy in his own children, and in the day of his prayer he ſhall be heard.

7 He that honoureth his father ſhall enjoy a long life: and he that obeyeth the father, ſhall be a comfort to his mother.

8 He that feareth the Lord, honoureth his parents, and will ſerve them as his maſters that brought him into the world.

‖ Exod. 20. 12. Deut. 5. 16. Mat. 15. 4. Mark 7. 10. Epheſ. 6. 2. 9 ‖ Honour thy father, in work and word, and all patience,

10 That a bleſſing may come upon thee from him, and his bleſſing may remain in the latter end.

‡ Gen. 27. 27. & 49. 28. 11 ‡ The father's bleſſing eſtabliſheth the houſes of the children: but the mother's curſe rooteth up the foundation.

12 Glory not in the diſhonour of thy father: for his ſhame is no glory to thee.

13 For the glory of a man is from the honour of his father, and a father without honour is the diſgrace of the ſon.

14 Son ſupport the old age of thy father, and grieve him not in his life:

15 And if his underſtanding fail, have patience with him, and deſpiſe him not when thou art in thy ſtrength: for the relieving of the father ſhall not be forgotten.

16 For good ſhall be repaid to thee for the ſin of thy mother,

17 And in juſtice thou ſhalt be built up, and in the day of affliction thou ſhalt be remembered: and thy ſins ſhall melt away as the ice in the fair warm weather.

18 Of what an evil fame is he that forſaketh his father: and he is curſed of God that angereth his mother.

19 My ſon, do thy works in meekneſs, and thou ſhalt be beloved above the glory of men.

‖ Phil. 2. 3. 20 ‖ The greater thou art, the more humble thyſelf in all things, and thou ſhalt find grace before God:

21 For great is the power of God alone, and he is honoured by the humble.

‖ Prov. 25. 27. 22 ‖ Seek not the things that are too high for thee, and ſearch not into things above thy ability: but the things that God hath commanded thee, think on them always, and in many of his works be not curious.

23 For it is not neceſſary for thee to ſee with thy eyes thoſe things that are hid.

24 In unneceſſary matters be not over-curious, and in many of his works thou ſhalt not be inquiſitive.

25 For many things are ſhewn to thee above the underſtanding of men.

26 And the ſuſpicion of them hath deceived many, and hath detained their minds in vanity.

27 A hard heart ſhall fare evil at the laſt: and he that loveth danger ſhall periſh in it.

28 A heart that goeth two ways ſhall not have ſucceſs, and the perverſe of heart ſhall be ſcandelized therein.

29 A wicked heart ſhall be laden with ſorrows, and the ſinner will add ſin to ſin.

30 The congregation of the proud ſhall not be healed: for the plant of wickedneſs ſhall take root in them, and it ſhall not be perceived.

31 The heart of the wiſe is underſtood in wiſdom, and a good ear will hear wiſdom with all deſire.

32 A wiſe heart, and which hath underſtanding, will abſtain from ſins, and in the works of juſtice ſhall have ſucceſs.

‖ Dan. 4. 24. 33 ‖ Water quencheth a flaming fire, and alms reſiſteth ſins:

34 And God provideth for him that ſheweth favour: he remembereth him afterwards, and in the time of his fall he ſhall find a ſure ſtay.

CHAP. IV.

An exhortation to works of mercy, and to the love of wiſdom.

Tobias 4. 7. SON, defraud not the poor of alms, and turn not away thy eyes from the poor.

2 Deſpiſe not the hungry ſoul: and provoke not the poor in his want.

3 Afflict not the heart of the needy, and defer not to give to him that is in diſtreſs.

4 Reject not the petition of the afflicted: and turn not away thy face from the needy.

5 Turn not away thy eyes from the poor for fear of anger: and leave not to them that aſk of thee to curſe thee behind thy back.

6 For the prayer of him that curſeth thee in the bitterneſs of his ſoul, ſhall be heard: for he that made him will hear him.

7 Make thyſelf affable to the congregation of the poor, and humble thy ſoul to the ancient, and bow thy head to a great man.

8 Bow down thy ear cheerfully to the poor, and pay what thou oweſt, and anſwer him peaceable words with mildneſs.

9 Deliver him that ſuffereth wrong out of the hand of the proud: and be not faint-hearted in thy ſoul.

10 In judging be merciful to the fatherleſs as a father, and as a huſband to their mother:

11 And thou ſhalt be as the obedient ſon of the moſt High, and he will have mercy on thee more than a mother.

12 Wiſdom inſpireth life into her children, and protecteth them that ſeek after her, and will go before them in the way of juſtice.

13 And he that loveth her, loveth life: and they that watch for her, ſhall embrace her ſweetneſs.

14 They that hold her faſt, ſhall inherit life: and whitherſoever ſhe entereth, God will give a bleſſing.

15 They that ſerve her, ſhall be ſervants to the holy one: and God loveth them that love her.

16 He that hearkeneth to her, ſhall judge nations: and he that looketh upon her, ſhall remain ſecure.

17 If he truſt to her, he ſhall inherit her, and his generation ſhall be in aſſurance.

18 For ſhe walketh with him in temptation, and at the firſt ſhe chooſeth him.

19 She will bring upon him fear, and dread and trial: and ſhe will ſcourge him with the affliction of her diſcipline, till ſhe try him by her laws, and truſt his ſoul.

20 Then ſhe will ſtrengthen him, and make a ſtraight way to him, and give him joy,

21 And will diſcloſe her ſecrets to him, and will heap upon him treaſures of knowledge and underſtanding of juſtice.

22 But if he go aſtray, ſhe will forſake him, and deliver him into the hands of his enemy.

23 Son, obſerve the time, and fly from evil.

24 For thy ſoul be not aſhamed to ſay the truth.

25 For there is a ſhame that bringeth ſin, and there is a ſhame that bringeth glory and grace.

26 Accept no perſon againſt thy own perſon, nor againſt thy ſoul a lie.

27 Reverence not thy neighbour in his fall:

28 And refrain not to ſpeak in the time

CHAP. IV. VER. 18. In temptation, &c. The meaning is, that before wiſdom will chooſe any for her favourite, ſhe will try them by leading them through contradictions, afflictions and temptations, the uſual noviceſhip of the children of God.

of ſalvation. Hide not thy wiſdom in her beauty.

29 For by the tongue wiſdom is diſcerned: and underſtanding, and knowledge, and learning by the word of the wiſe, and ſteadfaſtneſs in the works of juſtice.

30 In no wiſe ſpeak againſt the truth, but be aſhamed of the lie of thy ignorance.

31 Be not aſhamed to confeſs thy ſins, ‖ Infra 6. 6. ‖ but ſubmit not thyſelf to every man for ſin.

32 Reſiſt not againſt the face of the mighty, and do not ſtrive againſt the ſtream of the river.

33 Strive for juſtice for thy ſoul, and even unto death fight for juſtice, and God will overthrow thy enemies for thee.

34 Be not haſty in thy tongue: and ſlack, and remiſs in thy works.

35 Be not as a lion in thy houſe, terrifying them of thy houſhold, and oppreſſing them that are under thee.

36 Let not thy hand be ſtretched out to receive, and ſhut when thou ſhouldſt give.

CHAP. V.

We muſt not preſume of our wealth or ſtrength: nor of the mercy of God, to go on in ſin: we muſt be ſteadfaſt in virtue and truth.

SET not thy heart upon unjuſt poſſeſſions, and ſay not: I have enough to live on: for it ſhall be of no ſervice in the time of vengeance and darkneſs.

2 Follow not in thy ſtrength the deſires of thy heart:

3 And ſay not: How mighty am I? and who ſhall bring me under for my deeds? for God will ſurely take revenge.

4 Say not: I have ſinned, and what harm hath befallen me? for the moſt High is a patient rewarder.

5 Be not without fear about ſin forgiven, and add not ſin upon ſin:

6 And ſay not: The mercy of the Lord is great, he will have mercy on the multitude of my ſins.

‖ Prov. 10. 6. 7 ‖ For mercy and wrath quickly come from him, and his wrath looketh upon ſinners.

8 Delay not to be converted to the Lord, and defer it not from day to day.

9 For his wrath ſhall come on a ſudden, and in the time of vengeance he will deſtroy thee.

‖ Prov. 11. 4. & 28. 10 ‖ Be not anxious for goods unjuſtly gotten: for they ſhall not profit thee in the day of calamity and revenge.

11 Winnow not with every wind, and go not into every way: for ſo is every ſinner proved by a double tongue.

12 Be ſteadfaſt in the way of the Lord, and in the truth of thy judgment, and in knowledge, and let the word of peace and juſtice keep with thee.

13 Be meek to hear the word, that thou mayeſt underſtand: and return a true anſwer with wiſdom.

14 If thou have underſtanding, anſwer thy neighbour: but if not, let thy hand be upon thy mouth, leſt thou be ſurprized in an unſkilful word, and be confounded.

15 Honour and glory is in the word of the wiſe, but the tongue of the fool is his ruin.

16 Be not called a whiſperer, and be not taken in thy tongue, and confounded.

17 For confuſion and repentance is upon a thief, and an evil mark of diſgrace upon the double-tongued, but to the whiſperer hatred, and enmity, and reproach.

18 Juſtify alike the ſmall, and the great.

CHAP. VI.

Of true and falſe friends: and of the fruits of wiſdom.

INSTEAD of a friend become not an enemy to thy neighbour: for an evil man ſhall inherit reproach and ſhame, ſo ſhall every ſinner that is envious and double-tongued.

‖ Rom. 12. 6. Phil. 2. 3. 2 ‖ Extol not thyſelf in the thoughts of thy ſoul like a bull: leſt thy ſtrength be quaſhed by folly,

3 And it eat up thy leaves, and deſtroy thy fruit, and thou be left as a dry tree in the wilderneſs.

4 For a wicked ſoul ſhall deſtroy him that hath it, and maketh him to be a joy to his enemies, and ſhall lead him into the lot of the wicked.

5 A ſweet word multiplieth friends, and appeaſeth enemies, and a gracious tongue in a good man aboundeth.

6 Be in peace with many, but let one of a thouſand be thy counſellor.

7 If thou wouldſt get a friend, try him before thou takeſt him, and do not credit him eaſily.

8 For there is a friend for his own occaſion, and he will not abide in the day of thy trouble.

9 And there is a friend that turneth to enmity: and there is a friend that will diſcloſe hatred and ſtrife and reproaches.

10 And there is a friend a companion at the table, and he will not abide in the day of diſtreſs.

11 A friend if he continue ſteadfaſt, ſhall be to thee as thyſelf, and ſhall act with confidence among them of thy houſhold.

12 If he humble himſelf before thee, and hide himſelf from thy face, thou ſhalt have unanimous friendſhip for good.

13 Separate thyſelf from thy enemies, and take heed of thy friends.

14 A faithful friend is a ſtrong defence: and he that hath found him, hath found a treaſure.

15 Nothing can be compared to a faithful friend, and no weight of gold and ſilver is able to countervail the goodneſs of his fidelity.

16 A faithful friend is the medicine of life and immortality: and they that fear the Lord, ſhall find him.

17 He that feareth God, ſhall likewiſe have good friendſhip: becauſe according to him ſhall his friend be.

18 My ſon, from thy youth up receive inſtruction, and even to thy grey hairs thou ſhalt find wiſdom.

19 Come to her as one that plougheth, and ſoweth, and wait for her good fruits.

20 For in working about her thou ſhalt labour a little, and ſhall quickly eat of her fruits.

21 How very unpleaſant is wiſdom to the unlearned, and the unwiſe will not continue with her.

22 She ſhall be to them as a mighty ſtone of trial, and they will caſt her from them before it be long.

23 For the wiſdom of doctrine is according to her name, and ſhe is not manifeſt unto many, but with them to whom ſhe is known, ſhe continueth even to the ſight of God.

24 Give ear, my ſon, and take wiſe counſel, and caſt not away my advice.

25 Put thy feet into her fetters, and thy neck into her chains:

26 Bow down thy ſhoulder, and bear her, and be not grieved with her bands.

27 Come to her with all thy mind, and keep her ways with all thy power.

28 Search for her, and ſhe ſhall be made known to thee, and when thou haſt gotten her, let her not go:

29 For in the latter end thou ſhalt find reſt in her, and ſhe ſhall be turned to thy joy.

30 Then ſhall her fetters be a ſtrong defence for thee, and a firm foundation, and her chain a robe of glory:

31 For in her is the beauty of life, and her bands are a healthful binding.

32 Thou ſhalt put her on as a robe of glory, and thou ſhalt ſet her upon thee as a crown of joy.

33 My ſon, if thou wilt attend to me, thou ſhalt learn: and if thou wilt apply thy mind, thou ſhalt be wiſe.

34 If thou wilt incline thy ear, thou ſhalt receive inſtruction: and if thou love to hear, thou ſhalt be wiſe.

35 ‖ Stand in the multitude of ancients that are wiſe, and join thyſelf from thy heart to their wiſdom, that thou mayeſt hear every diſcourſe of God, and the ſayings of praiſe may not eſcape thee. ‖ Infra 8. 9.

36 And if thou ſee a man of underſtanding, go to him early in the morning, and let thy foot wear the ſteps of his doors.

37 ‖ Let thy thoughts be upon the precepts of God, and meditate continually on his commandments: and he will give thee a heart, and the deſire of wiſdom ſhall be given to thee. ‖ Pſal. 1. 2.

CHAP. VII.

Religious and moral duties.

DO no evils, and no evils ſhall lay hold of thee.

2 Depart from the unjuſt, and evils ſhall depart from thee.

3 My ſon, ſow not evils in the furrows of injuſtice, and thou ſhalt not reap them ſevenfold.

4 Seek not of the Lord a pre-eminence, nor of the king the ſeat of honour.

5 ‖ Juſtify not thyſelf before God, for he knoweth the heart: and deſire not to appear wiſe before the king. ‖ Job 9. 2. Pſal. 142. 2. Eccle. 7. 7. Luke 18. 11.

6 Seek not to be made a judge, unleſs thou have ſtrength enough to extirpate iniquities: leſt thou fear the perſon of the powerful, and lay a ſtumbling-block for thy integrity.

7 Offend not againſt the multitude of a city, neither caſt thyſelf in upon the people,

8 ‖ Nor bind ſin to ſin: for even in one thou ſhalt not be unpuniſhed. ‖ Infra 12. 7.

9 Be not faint-hearted in thy mind:

10 Neglect not to pray, and to give alms.

11 Say not: God will have reſpect to the multitude of my gifts, and when I offer to the moſt high God, he will accept my offerings.

12 Laugh no man to ſcorn in the bitterneſs of his ſoul: ‖ for there is one that humbleth and exalteth, God who ſeeth all. ‖ 1 Kings 2. 7.

13 Deviſe not a lie againſt thy brother: neither do the like againſt thy friend.

14 Be not willing to make any manner of lie: for the cuſtom thereof is not good.

15 Be not full of words in a multitude of ancients, and repeat not the word in thy prayer.

16 Hate not laborious works, nor husbandry ordained by the most High.

17 Number not thyself among the multitude of the disorderly.

18 Remember wrath, for it will not tarry long.

19 Humble thy spirit very much: for the vengeance on the flesh of the ungodly is fire and worms.

20 Do not transgress against thy friend deferring money, nor despise thy dear brother for the sake of gold.

21 Depart not from a wife and good wife, whom thou hast gotten in the fear of the Lord: for the grace of her modesty is above gold.

‖ Lev. 19. 13. 22 ‖ Hurt not the servant that worketh faithfully, nor the hired man that giveth thee his life.

23 Let a wise servant be dear to thee as thy own soul, defraud him not of liberty, nor leave him needy.

24 Hast thou cattle? have an eye to them: and if they be for thy profit, keep them with thee.

25 Hast thou children? instruct them, and bow down their neck from their childhood.

26 Hast thou daughters? have a care of their body, and shew not thy countenance gay towards them.

27 Marry thy daughter well, and thou shalt do a great work, and give her to a wise man.

28 If thou hast a wife according to thy soul, cast her not off: and to her that is hateful, trust not thyself. With thy whole heart,

‖ Tobias 4. 3. 29 ‖ Honour thy father, and forget not the groanings of thy mother:

30 Remember that thou hadst not been born but through them: and make a return to them as they have done for thee.

31 With all thy soul fear the Lord, and reverence his priests.

32 With all thy strength love him that made thee: and forsake not his ministers.

‖ Deut. 12. 18. 33 ‖ Honour God with all thy soul, and give honour to the priests, and purify thyself with thy arms.

34 Give them their portion, ‖ as it is commanded thee, of the first fruits and of purifications: and for thy negligences purify thyself with a few. ‖ Lev. 2. 3. Num. 18. 15.

35 Offer to the Lord the gift of thy shoulders, and the sacrifice of sanctification, and the first-fruits of the holy things:

36 And stretch out thy hand to the poor, that thy expiation and thy blessing may be perfected.

37 A gift hath grace in the sight of all the living, and restrain not grace from the dead.

38 ‖ Be not wanting in comforting them that weep, and walk with them that mourn. ‖ Rom. 12. 15.

39 ‡ Be not slow to visit the sick: for by these things thou shalt be confirmed in love. ‡ Mat. 25. 36.

40 In all thy works remember thy last end, and thou shalt never sin.

CHAP. VIII.

Other lessons of wisdom and virtue.

STRIVE not with a powerful man, lest thou fall into his hands.

2 ‖ Contend not with a rich man, lest he bring an action against thee. ‖ Mat. 25. 25.

3 ‡ For gold and silver hath destroyed many, and hath reached even to the heart of kings, and perverted them. ‡ Infra 31. 6.

4 Strive not with a man that is full of tongue, and heap not wood upon his fire.

5 Communicate not with an ignorant man, lest he speak ill of thy family.

6 Despise not a man that turneth away from sin, ‖ nor reproach him therewith: remember that we are all worthy of reproof. ‖ 2 Cor. 2. 6. Gal. 6. 1.

7 ‡ Despise not a man in his old age: for we also shall become old. ‡ Lev. 19. 32.

8 Rejoice not at the death of thy enemy: knowing that we all die, and are not willing that others should rejoice at our death.

9 ‖ Despise not the discourse of them that are ancient and wise, but acquaint thyself with their proverbs. ‖ Supra 6. 35.

10 For of them thou shalt learn wisdom, and instruction of understanding, and to serve great men without blame.

11 Let not the discourse of the ancients escape thee, for they have learned of their fathers:

CHAP. VII. VER. 15. Repeat not, &c. Make not much babbling by repetition of words: but aim more at fervour of heart.

VER. 33. Thy arms. That is, with all thy power: or else by arms (brachiis) are here signified the right shoulders of the victims, which by the law fell to the share of the priests. See ver. 35.

VER. 37. And restrain not grace from the dead. That is, withhold not from them the benefit of alms, prayers, and sacrifices. Such was the doctrine and practice of the church of God even in the time of the old testament. And the same has always been continued from the days of the apostles in the church of the new testament.

12 For of them thou ſhalt learn underſtanding, and to give an anſwer in time of need.

13 Kindle not the coals of ſinners by rebuking them, leſt thou be burnt with the flame of the fire of their ſins.

14 Stand not againſt the face of an injurious perſon, leſt he ſit as a ſpy to entrap thee in thy words.

Infra 29. 4. 15 || Lend not to a man that is mightier than thyſelf: and if thou lendeſt, count it as loſt.

16 Be not ſurety above thy power: and if thou be ſurety, think as if thou wert to pay it.

17 Judge not againſt a judge: for he judgeth according to that which is juſt.

|| Gen. 4. 8. 18 || Go not on the way with a bold man, leſt he burden thee with his evils: for he goeth according to his own will, and thou ſhalt periſh together with his folly.

|| Prov. 22. 24. 19 || Quarrel not with a paſſionate man, and go not into the deſert with a bold man: for blood is as nothing in his ſight, and where there is no help he will overthrow thee.

20 Adviſe not with fools, for they cannot love but ſuch things as pleaſe them.

21 Before a ſtranger do no matter of counſel: for thou knoweſt not what he will bring forth.

22 Open not thy heart to every man: leſt he repay thee with an evil turn, and ſpeak reproachfully to thee.

CHAP. IX.

Cautions with regard to women, and dangerous converſations.

BE not jealous over the wife of thy boſom, leſt ſhe ſhew in thy regard the malice of a wicked leſſon.

2 Give not the power of thy ſoul to a woman, leſt ſhe enter upon thy ſtrength, and thou be confounded.

3 Look not upon a woman that hath a mind for many: leſt thou fall into her ſnares.

4 Uſe not much the company of her that is a dancer, and hearken not to her, leſt thou periſh by the force of her charms.

|| Gen. 6. 2. 5 || Gaze not upon a maiden, leſt her beauty be a ſtumbling-block to thee.

† Prov. 5. 2. 6 † Give not thy ſoul to harlots in any point: leſt thou deſtroy thyſelf and thy inheritance.

7 Look not round about thee in the ways of the city, nor wander up and down in the ſtreets thereof.

8 || Turn away thy face from a woman dreſſed up, and gaze not about upon another's beauty. || Gen. 34. 2. 2 Kings 11. 4. & 13. 1. Mat. 5. 28.

9 For many have periſhed by the beauty of a woman, and hereby luſt is enkindled as a fire.

10 Every woman that is a harlot, ſhall be trodden upon as dung in the way.

11 Many by admiring the beauty of another man's wife, have become reprobate, for her converſation burneth as fire.

12 Sit not at all with another man's wife, nor repoſe upon the bed with her:

13 And ſtrive not with her over wine, leſt thy heart decline towards her, and by thy blood thou fall into deſtruction.

14 Forſake not an old friend, for the new will not be like to him.

15 A new friend is as new wine: it ſhall grow old, and thou ſhalt drink it with pleaſure.

16 || Envy not the glory and riches of a ſinner: for thou knoweſt not what his ruin ſhall be. || Judges 9. 4. 2 Kings 15. 10.

17 Be not pleaſed with the wrong done by the unjuſt, knowing that even to hell the wicked ſhall not pleaſe.

18 Keep thee far from the man that hath power to kill, ſo thou ſhalt not ſuſpect the fear of death.

19 And if thou come to him, commit no fault, leſt he take away thy life.

20 Know it to be a communication with death: for thou art going in the midſt of ſnares, and walking upon the arms of them that are grieved.

21 According to thy power beware of thy neighbour: and treat with the wiſe and prudent.

22 Let juſt men be thy gueſts, and let thy glory be in the fear of God.

23 And let the thought of God be in thy mind, and all thy diſcourſe on the commandments of the Higheſt.

24 Works ſhall be praiſed for the hand of the artificers, and the prince of the people for the wiſdom of his ſpeech, but the word of the ancients for the ſenſe.

25 A man full of tongue is terrible in his city, and he that is raſh in his word ſhall be hateful.

CHAP. X.

The virtues and vices of men in power: the great evil of pride.

A WISE judge ſhall judge his people, and the government of a prudent man ſhall be ſteady.

CHAP. X. VER. 1. Judge his people. In the Greek it is, inſtruct his people.

2 ‖ As the judge of the people is himself, so also are his ministers: and what manner ‖ Prov. 29. 12. of man the ruler of a city is, such also are they that dwell therein.

‖ 3 Kings 12. 13. 3 ‖ An unwise king shall be the ruin of his people: and cities shall be inhabited through the prudence of the rulers.

4 The power of the earth is in the hand of God, and in his time he will raise up a profitable ruler over it.

5 The prosperity of man is in the hand of God, and upon the person of the scribe he shall lay his honour.

6 Remember not any injury done thee by ‖ Lev. 19. 13. thy neighbour, ‖ and do thou nothing by deeds of injury.

7 Pride is hateful before God and men: and all iniquity of nations is execrable.

‖ Dan. 4. 34. 8 ‖ A kingdom is translated from one people to another, because of injustices, and wrongs, and injuries, and divers deceits.

9 But nothing is more wicked than the covetous man. Why is earth and ashes proud?

10 There is not a more wicked thing than to love money: for such a one setteth even his own soul to sale: because while he liveth he hath cast away his bowels.

11 All power is of short life. A long sickness is troublesome to the physician.

12 The physician cutteth off a short sickness: so also a king is to-day, and to-morrow he shall die.

13 For when a man shall die, he shall inherit serpents, and beasts, and worms.

14 The beginning of the pride of man, is to fall off from God:

15 Because his heart is departed from him ‖ Prov. 18. 11. that made him: ‖ for pride is the beginning of all sin: he that holdeth it, shall be filled with maledictions, and it shall ruin him in the end.

16 Therefore hath the Lord disgraced the assemblies of the wicked, and hath utterly destroyed them.

17 God hath overturned the thrones of proud princes, and hath set up the meek in their stead.

18 God hath made the roots of proud nations to wither, and hath planted the humble of these nations.

19 The Lord hath overthrown the lands of the Gentiles, and hath destroyed them even to the foundation.

20 He hath made some of them to wither away, and hath destroyed them, and hath made the memory of them to cease from the earth.

21 God hath abolished the memory of the proud, and hath preserved the memory of them that are humble in mind.

22 Pride was not made for men: nor wrath for the race of women.

23 That seed of men shall be honoured, which feareth God: but that seed shall be dishonoured, which transgresseth the commandments of the Lord.

24 In the midst of brethren their chief is honourable: so shall they that fear the Lord, be in his eyes.

25 The fear of God is the glory of the rich, and of the honourable, and of the poor:

26 Despise not a just man that is poor, and do not magnify a sinful man that is rich.

27 The great man, and the judge, and the mighty is in honour: and there is none greater than he that feareth God.

28 ‖ They that are free shall serve a ser- ‖ Prov. 17. 2. vant that is wise: † and a man that is pru- † 2 Kings 12. dent and well instructed will not murmur 13. when he is reproved; and he that is ignorant, shall not be honoured.

29 Extol not thyself in doing thy work, and linger not in the time of distress:

30 ‖ Better is he that laboureth, and ‖ Prov. 12. aboundeth in all things, than he that boasteth 9. himself and wanteth bread.

31 My son, keep thy soul in meekness, and give it honour according to its desert.

32 Who will justify him that sinneth against his own soul? and who will honour him that dishonoureth his own soul?

33 The poor man is glorified by his discipline and fear: and there is a man that is honoured for his wealth.

34 But he that is glorified in poverty, how much more in wealth? and he that is glorified in wealth, let him fear poverty.

CHAP. XI.

Lessons of humility and moderation in all things.

THE wisdom of the humble shall exalt his head, and shall make him sit in the midst of great men. Gen 41. 4. Dan. 6. 3. John 7. 18.

‖ 1 Kings 16. 7. 2 Cor. 10. 10. James 2. 1. & 9. 2 ‖ Praise not a man for his beauty, neither despise a man for his look.

3 The bee is small among flying things, but her fruit hath the chiefest sweetness.

† Acts 12. 12. & 22. 4 † Glory not in apparel at any time, and be not exalted in the day of thy honour: for the works of the Highest only are wonderful, and his works are glorious, and secret, and hidden.

VER. 5. The scribe. That is, the man that is wise and learned in the law.

5 Many tyrants have ſat on the throne, and he whom no man would think on, hath worn the crown.

‖ 1 Kings 15. 28. Eſther 6. 7.

6 ‖ Many mighty men have been greatly brought down, and the glorious have been delivered into the hand of others.

7 Before thou enquire, blame no man: and when thou haſt enquired, reprove juſtly.

¶ Prov. 18. 13.

8 ‖ Before thou hear, anſwer not a word: and interrupt not others in the midſt of their diſcourſe.

9 Strive not in a matter which doth not concern thee, and ſit not in judgment with ſinners.

10 My ſon, meddle not with many matters: ‖ and if thou be rich, thou ſhalt not be free from ſin: for if thou purſue after, thou ſhalt not overtake: and if thou run before, thou ſhalt not eſcape.

¶ 1 Tim. 6. 9.

‖ Eccle. 4. 8.

11 ‖ There is an ungodly man that labours, and maketh haſte, and is in ſorrow, and is ſo much the more in want.

12 Again, there is an unactive man that wanteth help, is very weak in ability, and full of poverty:

¶ Job 42. 10.

13 ‖ Yet the eye of God hath looked upon him for good, and hath lifted him up from his low eſtate, and hath exalted his head: and many have wondered at him, and have glorified God.

‖ Job 2. 10.

14 ‖ Good things and evil, life and death, poverty and riches, are from God.

15 Wiſdom and diſcipline, and the knowledge of the law are with God. Love and the ways of good things are with him.

16 Error and darkneſs are created with ſinners: and they that glory in evil things, grow old in evil.

17 The gift of God abideth with the juſt, and his advancement ſhall have ſucceſs for ever.

18 There is one that is enriched by living ſparingly, and this is the portion of his reward,

¶ Luke 12. 19.

19 In that he ſaith: ‖ I have found me reſt, and now I will eat of my goods alone:

20 And he knoweth not what time ſhall paſs, and that death approacheth, and that he muſt leave all to others, and ſhall die.

21 Be ſtedfaſt in thy covenant, and be converſant therein, and grow old in the work of thy commandments.

22 Abide not in the works of ſinners. But truſt in God, and ſtay in thy place.

23 For it is eaſy in the eyes of God on a ſudden to make the poor man rich.

24 The bleſſing of God maketh haſte to reward the juſt, and in a ſwift hour his bleſſing beareth fruit.

25 Say not: What need I, and what good ſhall I have by this?

26 Say not: I am ſufficient for myſelf: and what ſhall I be made worſe by this?

‖ Infra 18. 25.

27 ‖ In the day of good things be not unmindful of evils: and in the day of evils be not unmindful of good things:

28 For it is eaſy before God in the day of death to reward every one according to his ways.

29 The affliction of an hour maketh one forget great delights, and in the end of a man is the diſcloſing of his works.

30 Praiſe not any man before death, for a man is known by his children.

31 Bring not every man into thy houſe: for many are the ſnares of the deceitful.

32 For as corrupted bowels ſend forth ſtinking breath, and as the partridge is brought into the cage, and as the roe into the ſnare: ſo alſo is the heart of the proud, and as a ſpy that looketh on the fall of his neighbour.

33 For he lieth in wait and turned good into evil, and on the elect he will lay a blot.

34 Of one ſpark cometh a great fire, and of one deceitful man much blood: and a ſinful man lieth in wait for blood.

35 Take heed to thyſelf of a miſchievous man, for he worketh evils: leſt he bring upon thee reproach for ever.

36 Receive a ſtranger in, and he ſhall overthrow thee with a whirlwind, and ſhall turn thee out of thy own.

CHAP. XII.

We are to be liberal to the juſt: and not to truſt the wicked.

IF thou do good, know to whom thou doſt it, and there ſhall be much thanks for thy good deeds.

2 Do good to the juſt, and thou ſhalt find great recompence: and if not of him, aſſuredly of the Lord.

3 For there is no good for him that is always occupied in evil, and that giveth no alms: for the Higheſt hateth ſinners, and hath mercy on the penitent.

‖ Gal. 6. 7.

4 ‖ Give to the merciful, and uphold not the ſinner: God will repay vengeance to the ungodly and to ſinners, and keep them againſt the day of vengeance.

5 Give to the good, and receive not a ſinner.

6 Do good to the humble, and give not to the ungodly: hold back thy bread, and give it not to him, leſt thereby he overmaſter thee.

7 For thou ſhalt receive twice as much evil for all the good thou ſhalt have done to him: for the Higheſt alſo hateth ſinners, and will repay vengeance to the ungodly.

8 A friend ſhall not be known in proſperity, and an enemy ſhall not be hidden in adverſity.

9 In the proſperity of a man, his enemies are grieved: and a friend is known in his adverſity.

10 Never truſt thy enemy: for as a braſs pot his wickedneſs ruſteth:

11 Though he humble himſelf and go crouching, yet take good heed and beware of him.

12 Set him not by thee, neither let him ſit on thy right hand, leſt he turn into thy place, and ſeek to take thy ſeat: and at the laſt thou acknowledge my words, and be pricked with my ſayings.

13 Who will pity an inchanter ſtruck by a ſerpent, or any that come near wild beaſts? ſo is it with him that keepeth company with a wicked man, and is involved in his ſins.

14 For an hour he will abide with thee: but if thou begin to decline, he will not endure it.

15 ‖ An enemy ſpeaketh ſweetly with his lips, but in his heart he lieth in wait, to throw thee into a pit. ‖ Jerem. 41. 6.

16 An enemy weepeth with his eyes: but if he find an opportunity he will not be ſatisfied with blood:

17 And if evils come upon thee, thou ſhalt find him there firſt.

18 An enemy hath tears in his eyes, and while he pretendeth to help thee, will undermine thy feet.

19 He will ſhake his head, and clap his hands, and whiſper much, and change his countenance.

CHAP. XIII.

Cautions in the choice of company.

‖ Deut. 7. 2. HE that toucheth pitch, ſhall be defiled with it: and he that hath fellowſhip with the proud, ſhall put on pride.

2 He ſhall take a burden upon him that hath fellowſhip with one more honourable than himſelf. And have no fellowſhip with one that is richer than thyſelf.

3 What agreement ſhall the earthen pot have with the kettle? for if they knock one againſt the other, it ſhall be broken.

4 The rich man hath done wrong, and yet he will fume: but the poor is wronged and muſt hold his peace.

5 If thou give, he will make uſe of thee: and if thou have nothing, he will forſake thee.

6 If thou have any thing, he will live with thee, and will make thee bare, and he will not be ſorry for thee.

7 If he have need of thee, he will deceive thee, and ſmiling upon thee will put thee in hope, he will ſpeak thee fair, and will ſay: What wanteſt thou?

8 And he will ſhame thee by his meats, till he have drawn thee dry twice or thrice, and at laſt he will laugh at thee: and afterward when he ſeeth thee, he will forſake thee, and ſhake his head at thee.

9 Humble thyſelf to God, and wait for his hands.

10 Beware that thou be not deceived into folly, and be humbled.

11 Be not lowly in thy wiſdom, leſt being humbled thou be deceived into folly.

12 If thou be invited by one that is mightier, withdraw thyſelf: for ſo he will invite thee the more.

13 Be not troubleſome to him, leſt thou be put back: and keep not far from him, leſt thou be forgotten.

14 Affect not to ſpeak with him as an equal: and believe not his many words: for by much talk he will ſift thee, and ſmiling will examine thee concerning thy ſecrets.

15 His cruel mind will lay up thy words: and he will not ſpare to do thee hurt, and to caſt thee into priſon.

16 Take heed to thyſelf, and attend diligently to what thou heareſt: for thou walkeſt in danger of thy ruin.

17 When thou heareſt thoſe things ſee as it were in ſleep, and thou ſhalt awake.

18 Love God all thy life, and call upon him for thy ſalvation.

19 Every beaſt loveth its like: ſo alſo every man him that is neareſt to himſelf.

20 All fleſh ſhall confort with the like to itſelf, and every man ſhall aſſociate himſelf to his like.

21 If the wolf ſhall at any time have fellowſhip with the lamb, ſo the ſinner with the juſt.

22 ‖ What fellowſhip hath a holy man with a dog, or what part hath the rich with the poor? ‖ 2 Cor. 6. 14.

23 The wild aſs is the lion's prey in the deſert: ſo alſo the poor are devoured by the rich.

24 And as humility is an abomination to the proud: ſo alſo the rich man abhorreth the poor.

25 When a rich man is ſhaken, he is kept up by his friends: but when a poor man is fallen down, he is thruſt away even by his acquaintance.

26 When a rich man hath been deceived, he hath many helpers: he hath ſpoken proud things, and they have juſtified him.

27 The poor man was deceived, and he is rebuked alſo: he hath ſpoken wiſely, and could have no place.

28 The rich man ſpoke, and all held their peace, and what he ſaid they extol even to the clouds.

29 The poor man ſpoke, and they ſay: Who is this? and if he ſtumble, they will overthrow him.

30 Riches are good to him that hath no ſin in his conſcience: and poverty is very wicked in the mouth of the ungodly.

31 The heart of a man changeth his countenance, either for good, or for evil.

32 The token of a good heart, and a good countenance thou ſhalt hardly find, and with labour.

CHAP. XIV.

The evil of avarice: works of mercy are recommended, and the love of wiſdom.

Infra 19. 17. BLESSED is the man that hath not ſlipt by a word out of his mouth, and is not pricked with the remorſe of ſin.

2 Happy is he that hath had no ſadneſs of his mind, and who is not fallen from his hope.

3 Riches are not comely for a covetous man and a niggard, and what ſhould an envious man do with gold?

4 He that gathereth together by wronging his own ſoul, gathereth for others, and another will ſquander away his goods in rioting.

5 He that is evil to himſelf, to whom will he be good? and he ſhall not take pleaſure in his goods.

6 There is none worſe than he that enviteth himſelf, and this is the reward of his wickedneſs:

7 And if he do good, he doth it ignorantly, and unwillingly: and at the laſt he diſcovereth his wickedneſs.

8 The eye of the envious is wicked: and he turneth away his face, and deſpiſeth his own ſoul.

9 The eye of the covetous man is inſatiable in his portion of iniquity: he will not be ſatisfied till he conſume his own ſoul, drying it up.

10 An evil eye is towards evil things: and he ſhall not have his fill of bread, but ſhall be needy and penſive at his own table.

11 My ſon, if thou have any thing, do good to thyſelf, and offer to God worthy offerings.

12 Remember that death is not ſlow, and that the covenant of hell hath been ſhewn to thee: for the covenant of this world ſhall ſurely die.

13 || Do good to thy friend before thou die, and according to thy ability ſtretching out thy hand give to the poor. || Supra 4. 1. Tobias 4. 7. Luke 16. 9.

14 Defraud not thyſelf of the good day, and let not the part of a good gift overpaſs thee.

15 Shalt thou not leave to others to divide by lot thy ſorrows and labours?

16 Give and take, and juſtify thy ſoul.

17 Before thy death work juſtice: for in hell there is no finding food.

18 || All fleſh ſhall fade as graſs, and as the leaf that ſpringeth out on a green tree. || Iſai. 40. 6. James 1. 10. 1 Peter 1. 24.

19 Some grow, and ſome fall off: ſo is the generation of fleſh and blood, one cometh to an end, and another is born.

20 Every work that is corruptible ſhall fail in the end: and the worker thereof ſhall go with it.

21 And every excellent work ſhall be juſtified: and the worker thereof ſhall be honoured therein.

22 || Bleſſed is the man that ſhall continue in wiſdom, and that ſhall meditate in his juſtice, and in his mind ſhall think of the all-ſeeing eye of God. || Pſal. 1. 2.

23 He that conſidereth her ways in his heart, and hath underſtanding in her ſecrets, who goeth after her as one that traceth, and ſtayeth in her ways:

24 He who looketh in at her windows, and hearkeneth at her door:

25 He that lodgeth near her houſe, and faſtening a pin in her walls ſhall ſet up his tent nigh unto her, where good things ſhall reſt in his lodging for ever:

26 He ſhall ſet his children under her ſhelter, and ſhall lodge under her branches:

27 He ſhall be protected under her covering from the heat, and ſhall reſt in her glory.

CHAP. XV.

Wiſdom embraceth them that fear God. God is not the author of ſin.

HE that feareth God, will do good: and he that poſſeſſeth juſtice, ſhall lay hold on her, mother, and will receive him as a wife married of a virgin.

3 With the bread of life and understanding, she shall feed him, ‖ and give him the water of wholesome wisdom to drink: and she shall be made strong in him, and he shall not be moved:

‖ John 4. 10.

4 And she shall hold him fast, and he shall not be confounded: and she shall exalt him among his neighbours,

5 And in the midst of the church she shall open his mouth, and shall fill him with the spirit of wisdom and understanding, and shall clothe him with a robe of glory.

6 She shall heap upon him a treasure of joy and gladness, and shall cause him to inherit an everlasting name.

7 But foolish men shall not obtain her: and wise men shall meet her, foolish men shall not see her: for she is far from pride and deceit.

8 Lying men shall not be mindful of her: but men that speak truth shall be found with her, and shall advance, even till they come to the sight of God.

9 Praise is not seemly in the mouth of a sinner:

10 For wisdom came forth from God: For praise shall be with the wisdom of God, and shall abound in a faithful mouth, and the sovereign Lord will give praise unto it.

11 Say not: It is through God, that she is not with me: for do not thou the things that he hateth.

12 Say not: He hath caused me to err: for he hath no need of wicked men.

13 The Lord hateth all abomination of error, and they that fear him shall not love it.

14 God made man from the beginning, and left him in the hand of his own counsel.

15 He added his commandments and precepts.

‖ Mat. 19. 17. John 8. 31. & 52.

16 ‖ If thou wilt keep the commandments and perform acceptable fidelity for ever, they shall preserve thee.

17 He hath set water and fire before thee: stretch forth thy hand to which thou wilt.

‡ Jerem. 21. 8.

18 ‡ Before man is life and death, good and evil, that which he shall choose shall be given him:

19 For the wisdom of God is great, and he is strong in power, seeing all men without ceasing.

‖ Psal. 33. 17. Heb. 4. 13.

20 ‖ The eyes of the Lord are towards them that fear him, and he knoweth all the work of man.

21 He hath commanded no man to do wickedly, and he hath given no man licence to sin:

22 For he desireth not a multitude of faithless and unprofitable children.

CHAP. XVI.

It is better to have none than many wicked children. Of the justice and mercy of God. His ways are unsearchable.

REJOICE not in ungodly children, if they be multiplied: neither be delighted in them, if the fear of God be not with them.

2 Trust not to their life, and respect not their labours.

3 For better is one that feareth God, than a thousand ungodly children.

4 And it is better to die without children, than to leave ungodly children.

5 By one that is wise a country shall be inhabited, the tribe of the ungodly shall become desolate.

6 Many such things hath my eye seen, and greater things than these my ear hath heard.

‖ Infra 21. 10.

7 ‖ In the congregation of sinners a fire shall be kindled, and in an unbelieving nation wrath shall flame out.

‡ Gen. 6. 4.

8 ‡ The ancient giants did not obtain pardon for their sins, who were destroyed trusting to their own strength:

9 And he spared not the place where Lot sojourned, but abhorred them for the pride of their word.

10 He had not pity on them, destroying the whole nation, that extolled themselves in their sins.

‖ Num. 14. 20. & 26. 51.

11 ‖ So did he with the six hundred thousand footmen, who were gathered together in the hardness of their heart: and if one had been stiff-necked, it is a wonder if he had escaped unpunished:

12 For mercy and wrath are with him. He is mighty to forgive, and to pour out indignation:

13 According as his mercy is, so his correction judgeth a man according to his works.

14 The sinner shall not escape in his rapines, and the patience of him that sheweth mercy shall not be put off.

‖ Rom. 2. 6.

15 ‖ All mercy shall make a place for every man according to the merit of his works, and according to the wisdom of his sojournment.

16 Say not: I shall be hidden from God, and who shall remember me from on high?

CHAP. XVI. VER. 11. Six hundred thousand footmen, &c. viz. the children of Israel, whom he sentenced to die in the wilderness. Numb. xiv.

17 In such a multitude I shall not be known: for what is my soul in such an immense creation?

18 Behold the heaven, and the heavens of heavens, the deep, and all the earth, and the things that are in them, shall be moved in his sight,

19 The mountains also, and the hills, and the foundations of the earth: when God shall look upon them, they shall be shaken with trembling.

20 And in all these things the heart is senseless: and every heart is understood by him:

21 And his ways who shall understand, and the storm, which no eye of man shall see?

22 For many of his works are hidden: but the works of his justice who shall declare? or who shall endure? for the testament is far from some, and the examination of all is in the end.

23 He that wanteth understanding, thinketh vain things: and the foolish, and erring man, thinketh foolish things.

24 Hearken to me, my son, and learn the discipline of understanding, and attend to my words in thy heart.

25 And I will shew forth good doctrine in equity, and will seek to declare wisdom: and attend to my words in thy heart, whilst with equity of spirit I tell thee the virtues that God hath put upon his works from the beginning, and I shew forth in truth his knowledge.

26 The works of God are done in judgment from the beginning, and from the making of them he distinguished their parts, and their beginnings in their generations.

27 He beautified their works for ever, they have neither hungered, nor laboured, and they have not ceased from their works.

28 Nor shall any of them straiten his neighbour at any time.

29 Be not thou incredulous to his word.

30 After this God looked upon the earth, and filled it with his goods.

31 The soul of every living thing hath shewn forth before the face thereof, and into it they return again.

CHAP. XVII.

The creation and favour of God to man. An exhortation to turn to God.

Gen. 1. 27. & 5. 1. GOD created man of the earth, and made him after his own image.

2 And he turned him into it again, and clothed him with strength according to himself.

3 He gave him the number of his days and time, and gave him power over all things that are upon the earth.

4 He put the fear of him upon all flesh, and he had dominion over beasts and fowls.

5 ‖ He created of him a helpmate like to himself: he gave them counsel, and a tongue, and eyes, and ears, and a heart to devise: and he filled them with the knowledge of understanding. ‖ Gen. 2. 18.

6 He created in them the science of the spirit, he filled their heart with wisdom, and shewed them both good and evil.

7 He set his eye upon their hearts to shew them the greatness of his works:

8 That they might praise the name which he hath sanctified: and glory in his wondrous acts, that they might declare the glorious things of his works.

9 Moreover he gave them instructions, and the law of life for an inheritance.

10 He made an everlasting covenant with them, and he shewed them his justice and judgments.

11 And their eye saw the majesty of his glory, and their ears heard his glorious voice, and he said to them: Beware of all iniquity.

12 And he gave to every one of them commandment concerning his neighbour.

13 Their ways are always before him, they are not hidden from his eyes.

14 ‖ Over every nation he set a ruler. ‖ Rom. 13. 1.

15 And Israel was made the manifest portion of God.

16 And all their works are as the sun in the sight of God: and his eyes are continually upon their ways.

17 Their covenants were not hid by their iniquity, and all their iniquities are in the sight of God.

18 ‖ The alms of a man is as a signet with him, and shall preserve the grace of a man as the apple of the eye: ‖ Infra 29. 6.

19 † And afterward he shall rise up, and shall render them their reward, to every one upon their own head, and shall turn them down into the bowels of the earth. † Mat. 25. 35.

20 But to the penitent he hath given the way of justice, and he hath strengthened them that were fainting in patience, and hath appointed to them the lot of truth.

21 Turn to the Lord, and forsake thy sins:

VER. 31. Shewn forth, viz. the glory and power of God upon the earth.

CHAP. XVII. VER. 11. Their eye saw, &c. viz. when he gave the law on mount Sinai.

22 Make thy prayer before the face of the Lord, and offend leſs.

23 Return to the Lord, and turn away from thy injuſtice, and greatly hate abomination.

24 And know the juſtices and judgments of God, and ſtand firm in the lot ſet before thee, and in prayer to the moſt high God.

25 Go to the ſide of the holy age, ‖ with them that live and give praiſe to God. ‖ Pſal. 6. 6. Iſai. 38. 19.

26 Tarry not in the error of the ungodly, give glory before death. Praiſe periſheth from the dead as nothing.

27 Give thanks whilſt thou art living, whilſt thou art alive and in health thou ſhalt give thanks, and ſhalt praiſe God, and ſhalt glory in his mercies.

28 How great is the mercy of the Lord, and his forgiveneſs to them that turn to him!

29 For all things cannot be in men, becauſe the ſon of man is not immortal, and they are delighted with the vanity of evil.

30 What is brighter than the ſun? yet it ſhall be eclipſed. Or what is more wicked than that which fleſh and blood hath invented? and this ſhall be reproved.

31 He beholdeth the power of the height of heaven: and all men are earth and aſhes.

CHAP. XVIII.

God's works are wonderful: we muſt ſerve him, and not our luſts.

Gen. 1. 1. HE that liveth for ever created all things together. God only ſhall be juſtified, and he remaineth an invincible king for ever.

2 Who is able to declare his works?

3 For who ſhall ſearch out his glorious acts?

4 And who ſhall ſhew forth the power of his majeſty? or who ſhall be able to declare his mercy?

5 Nothing may be taken away, nor added, neither is it poſſible to find out the glorious works of God:

6 When a man hath done then ſhall he begin: and when he leaveth off, he ſhall be at a loſs.

7 What is man, and what is his grace? and what is his good, or what is his evil?

‖ Pſal. 89. 10. 8 ‖ The number of the days of men at the moſt are a hundred years: as a drop of water of the ſea are they eſteemed: and as a pebble of the ſand, ſo are a few years compared to eternity.

9 Therefore God is patient in them, and poureth forth his mercy upon them.

10 He hath ſeen the preſumption of their heart that it is wicked and hath known their end that it is evil.

11 Therefore hath he filled up his mercy in their favour, and hath ſhewn them the way of juſtice.

12 The compaſſion of man is toward his neighbour: but the mercy of God is upon all fleſh.

13 He hath mercy, and teacheth, and correcteth, as a ſhepherd doth his flock.

14 He hath mercy on him that receiveth the diſcipline of mercy, and that maketh haſte in his judgments.

15 My ſon, in thy good deeds, make no complaint, and when thou giveſt any thing, add not grief by an evil word.

16 Shall not the dew aſſuage the heat? ſo alſo the good word is better than the gift.

17 Lo is not a word better than a gift? but both are with a juſtified man.

18 A fool will upbraid bitterly: and a gift of one ill taught conſumeth the eyes.

19 Before judgment prepare thee juſtice, and learn before thou ſpeak.

20 Before ſickneſs take a medicine, ‖ and before judgment examine thyſelf, and thou ſhalt find mercy in the ſight of God. ‖ 1 Cor. 11. 28.

21 Humble thyſelf before thou art ſick, and in the time of ſickneſs ſhew thy converſation.

22 Let nothing hinder thee from praying always, and be not afraid to be juſtified even to death: for the reward of God continueth for ever. ‖ Luke 18. 1. 1 Theſ. 5. 17.

23 Before prayer prepare thy ſoul: and be not as a man that tempteth God.

24 ‖ Remember the wrath that ſhall be at the laſt day, and the time of repaying when he ſhall turn away his face. ‖ Supra 5. 8.

25 ‖ Remember poverty in the time of abundance, and the neceſſities of poverty in the day of riches. ‖ Supra 11. 27.

26 From the morning until the evening the time ſhall be changed, and all theſe are ſwift in the eyes of God,

27 A wiſe man will fear in every thing, and in the days of ſins will beware of ſloth.

28 Every man of underſtanding knoweth

VER. 22. Offend leſs: minue offendicula. That is, remove ſins and the occaſions of ſins.

VER. 25. Go to the ſide, &c. Fly from the ſide of Satan and ſin, and join with the holy ones, that follow God and godlineſs.

CHAP. XVIII. VER. 6. Then ſhall he begin. God is ſo great and incomprehenſible, that when man has done all that he can to find out his greatneſs and boundleſs perfections, he is ſtill to begin: for what he has found out, is but a mere nothing in compariſon with his infinity.

wisdom, and will give praise to him that findeth her.

29 They that were of good understanding in words, have also done wisely themselves: and have understood truth and justice, and have poured forth proverbs and judgments.

|| Rom. 6. 12. 13. & 13. 14.

30 || Go not after thy lusts, but turn away from thy own will.

31 If thou give to thy soul her desires, she will make thee a joy to thy enemies.

32 Take no pleasure in riotous assemblies, be they ever so small: for their concertation is continual.

33 Make not thyself poor by borrowing to contribute to feasts when thou hast nothing in thy purse: for thou shalt be an enemy to thy own life.

CHAP. XIX.

Admonitions against sundry vices.

A WORKMAN that is a drunkard shall not be rich: and he that contemneth small things, shall fall by little and little.

|| Gen. 19. 33. 3 Kings 11. 1.

2 || Wine and women make wise men fall off, and shall rebuke the prudent:

3 And he that joineth himself to harlots, will be wicked. Rottenness and worms shall inherit him, and he shall be lifted up for a greater example, and his soul shall be taken away out of the number.

|| Josue 9. 15. & 22. 11.

4 || He that is hasty to give credit, is light of heart, and shall be lessened: and he that sinneth against his own soul, shall be despised.

5 He that rejoiceth in iniquity, shall be censured, and he that hateth chastisement, shall have less life: and he that hateth babbling, extinguisheth evil.

6 He that sinneth against his own soul, shall repent: and he that is delighted with wickedness, shall be condemned.

7 Rehearse not again a wicked and harsh word, and thou shalt not fare the worse.

8 Tell not thy mind to friend or foe: and if there be a sin with thee, disclose it not.

9 For he will hearken to thee, and will watch thee, and as it were defending thy sin he will hate thee, and so will he be with thee always.

10 Hast thou heard a word against thy neighbour? let it die within thee, trusting that it will not burst thee.

11 At the hearing of a word the fool is in travail, as a woman groaning in the bringing forth a child.

|| Lev. 19. 17. Mat. 18. 15. Luke 17. 3.

12 As an arrow that sticketh in a man's thigh: so is a word in the heart of a fool.

13 || Reprove a friend, lest he may not have understood, and say: I did it not: or if he did it, that he may do it no more.

14 Reprove thy neighbour, for it may be he hath not said it: and if he hath said it, that he may not say it again.

15 Admonish thy friend: for there is often a fault committed.

16 And believe not every word. There is one, that slippeth with the tongue, but not from his heart.

|| James 3. 8.

17 || For who is there that hath not offended with his tongue? Admonish thy neighbour before thou threaten him.

18 And give place to the fear of the most High: for the fear of God is all wisdom, and therein is to fear God, and the disposition of the law is in all wisdom.

19 But the learning of wickedness is not wisdom: and the device of sinners is not prudence.

20 There is a subtle wickedness, and the same is detestable: and there is a man that is foolish, wanting in wisdom.

21 Better is a man that hath less wisdom, and wanteth understanding, with the fear of God, than he that aboundeth in understanding, and transgresseth the law of the most High.

22 There is an exquisite subtilty, and the same is unjust.

23 And there is one that uttereth an exact word telling the truth. There is one that humbleth himself wickedly, and his interior is full of deceit:

24 And there is one that submitteth himself exceedingly with a great lowliness: and there is one that casteth down his countenance, and maketh as if he did not see that which is unknown:

25 And if he be hindered from sinning for want of power, if he shall find opportunity to do evil, he will do it.

26 A man is known by his look, and a wise man, when thou meetest him, is known by his countenance.

27 The attire of the body, and the laughter of the teeth, and the gate of the man, shew what he is.

28 There is a lying rebuke in the anger of an injurious man: and there is a judgment that is not allowed to be good: and there is one that holdeth his peace, he is wise.

CHAP. XX.

Rules with regard to correction, discretion, and avoiding lies.

HOW much better is it to reprove, than to be angry, and not to hinder him that confesseth in prayer!

‖ Infra 30. 21.

2 ‖ The luſt of an eunuch ſhall deflower a young maiden:

3 So is he that by violence executeth unjuſt judgment.

4 How good is it, when thou art reproved, to ſhew repentance! for ſo thou ſhalt eſcape wilful ſin.

5 There is one that holdeth his peace, that is found wiſe: and there is another that is hateful, that is bold in ſpeech.

6 There is one that holdeth his peace, becauſe he knoweth not what to ſay: and there is another that holdeth his peace, knowing the proper time.

7 A wiſe man will hold his peace till he ſee opportunity: but a babbler, and a fool, will regard no time.

8 He that uſeth many words ſhall hurt his own ſoul: and he that taketh authority to himſelf unjuſtly, ſhall be hated.

9 There is ſucceſs in evil things to a man without diſcipline, and there is a finding that turneth to loſs.

10 There is a gift that is not profitable: and there is a gift, the recompence of which is double.

11 There is an abaſement becauſe of glory: and there is one that ſhall lift up his head from a low eſtate.

12 There is that buyeth much for a ſmall price, and reſtoreth the ſame ſevenfold.

13 A man wiſe in words ſhall make himſelf beloved: but the graces of fools ſhall be poured out.

14 The gift of the fool ſhall do thee no good: for his eyes are ſevenfold.

15 He will give a few things, and upbraid much: and the opening of his mouth is the kindling of a fire.

16 To-day a man lendeth, and to-morrow he aſketh it again: ſuch a man as this is hateful.

17 A fool ſhall have no friend, and there ſhall be no thanks for his good deeds.

18 For they that eat his bread, are of a falſe tongue. How often, and how many will laugh him to ſcorn?

19 For he doth not diſtribute with right underſtanding that which was to be had: in like manner alſo that which was not to be had.

20 The ſlipping of a falſe tongue is as one that falleth on the pavement: ſo the fall of the wicked ſhall come ſpeedily.

21 A man without grace is as a vain fable, it ſhall be continually in the mouth of the unwiſe.

22 A parable coming out of a fool's mouth ſhall be rejected: for he doth not ſpeak it in due ſeaſon.

23 There is that is hindered from ſinning through want, and in his reſt he ſhall be pricked.

24 There is that will deſtroy his own ſoul through ſhamefacedneſs, and by occaſion of an unwiſe perſon he will deſtroy it: and by reſpect of perſon he will deſtroy himſelf.

25 There is that for baſhfulneſs promiſeth to his friend, and maketh him his enemy for nothing.

26 A lie is a foul blot in a man, and yet it will be continually in the mouth of men without diſcipline.

27 A thief is better than a man that is always lying: but both of them ſhall inherit deſtruction.

28 The manners of lying men are without honour: and their confuſion is with them without ceaſing.

29 A wiſe man ſhall advance himſelf with his words, and a prudent man ſhall pleaſe the great ones.

30 He that tilleth his land ſhall make a high heap of corn: and he that worketh juſtice ſhall be exalted: and he that pleaſeth great men ſhall eſcape iniquity.

‖ Exod. 23. 8. Deut. 16. 19.

31 ‖ Preſents and gifts blind the eyes of judges, and make them dumb in the mouth, ſo that they cannot correct.

‡ Infra 41. 17.

32 ‡ Wiſdom that is hid, and treaſure that is not ſeen: what profit is there in them both?

33 Better is he that hideth his folly, than the man that hideth his wiſdom.

CHAP. XXI.

Cautions againſt ſin in general, and ſome ſins in particular.

MY ſon, haſt thou ſinned? do ſo no more: but for thy former ſins alſo pray that they may be forgiven thee.

2 Flee from ſins as from the face of a ſerpent: for if thou comeſt near them, they will take hold of thee.

3 The teeth thereof are the teeth of a lion, killing the ſouls of men.

4 All iniquity is like a two-edged ſword, there is no remedy for the wound thereof.

5 Injuries and wrongs will waſte riches: and the houſe that is very rich ſhall be brought to nothing by pride: ſo the ſubſtance of the proud ſhall be rooted out.

6 The prayer out of the mouth of the poor ſhall reach the ears of God, and judgment ſhall come for him ſpeedily.

7 He that hateth to be reproved walketh in the trace of a ſinner: and he that feareth God will turn to his own heart.

8 He that is mighty by a bold tongue is known afar off, but a wise man knoweth to slip by him.

9 He that buildeth his house at other mens charges, is as he that gathereth himself stones to build in the winter.

|| Supra 16. 7. 10 || The congregation of sinners is like tow heaped together, and the end of them is a flame of fire.

11 The way of sinners is made plain with stones, and in their end is hell, and darkness, and pains.

12 He that keepeth justice shall get the understanding thereof.

13 The perfection of the fear of God is wisdom and understanding.

14 He that is not wise in good, will not be taught.

15 But there is a wisdom that aboundeth in evil: and there is no understanding where there is bitterness.

16 The knowledge of a wise man shall abound like a flood, and his counsel continueth like a fountain of life.

17 The heart of a fool is like a broken vessel, and no wisdom at all shall it hold.

18 A man of sense will praise every wise word he shall hear, and will apply it to himself: the luxurious man hath heard it, and it shall displease him, and he will cast it behind his back.

19 The talking of a fool is like a burden in the way: but in the lips of the wise, grace shall be found.

20 The mouth of the prudent is sought after in the church, and they will think upon his words in their hearts.

21 As a house that is destroyed, so is wisdom to a fool: and the knowledge of the unwise is as words without sense.

22 Doctrine to a fool is as fetters on the feet, and like manacles on the right hand.

23 A fool lifteth up his voice in laughter: but a wise man will scarce laugh low to himself.

24 Learning to the prudent is as an ornament of gold, and like a bracelet upon his right arm.

25 The foot of a fool is soon in his neighbour's house: but a man of experience will be abashed at the person of the mighty.

26 A fool will peep through the window into the house: but he that is well taught, will stand without.

27 It is the folly of a man to hearken at the door: and a wise man will be grieved with the disgrace.

28 The lips of the unwise will be telling foolish things: but the words of the wise shall be weighed in a balance.

29 The heart of fools is in their mouth: and the mouth of wise men is in their heart.

30 While the ungodly curseth the devil, he curseth his own soul.

31 The tale-bearer shall defile his own soul, and shall be hated by all: and he that shall abide with him shall be hateful: the silent and wise man shall be honoured.

CHAP. XXII.

Wise sayings on divers subjects.

THE sluggard is pelted with a dirty stone, and all men will speak of his disgrace.

2 The sluggard is pelted with the dung of oxen: and every one that toucheth him will shake his hands.

3 A son ill taught is the confusion of the father: and a foolish daughter shall be to his loss.

4 A wise daughter shall bring an inheritance to her husband: but she that confoundeth, becometh a disgrace to her father.

5 She that is bold shameth both her father and husband, and will not be inferior to the ungodly: and shall be disgraced by them both.

6 A tale out of time is like music in mourning: but the stripes and instruction of wisdom are never out of time.

7 He that teacheth a fool, is like one that glueth a potsherd together.

8 He that telleth a word to him that heareth not, is like one that waketh a man out of a deep sleep.

9 He speaketh with one that is asleep, who uttereth wisdom to a fool: and in the end of the discourse he saith: Who is this?

|| Infra 38. 16. 10 || Weep for the dead, for his light hath failed: and weep for the fool, for his understanding faileth.

11 Weep but a little for the dead, for he is at rest.

12 For the wicked life of a wicked fool is worse than death.

|| Gen. 50. 10. 13 || The mourning for the dead is seven days: but for a fool and an ungodly man all the days of their life.

CHAP. XXI. VER. 30. While the ungodly, &c. He condemneth and curseth himself; in as much as by sin he takes part with the devil, and is, as it were, his member and subject.

CHAP. XXII. VER. 10. For the fool. In the language of the Holy Ghost, he is stiled a fool, that turns away from God to follow vanity and sin. And what is said by the wise man against fools is meant of such fools as these.

14 Talk not much with a fool, and go not with him that hath no ſenſe.

15 Keep thyſelf from him, that thou mayſt not have trouble, and thou ſhalt not be defiled with his ſin.

16 Turn away from him, and thou ſhalt find reſt, and ſhalt not be wearied out with his folly.

17 What is heavier than lead? and what other name hath he but fool?

‖ Prov. 27. 3. 18 ‖ Sand and ſalt, and a maſs of iron is eaſier to bear, than a man without ſenſe, that is both fooliſh and wicked.

19 A frame of wood bound together in the foundation of a building, ſhall not be looſed: ſo neither ſhall the heart that is eſtabliſhed by adviſed counſel.

20 The thought of him that is wiſe at all times, ſhall not be depraved by fear.

21 As pales ſet in high places, and plaſterings made without coſt, will not ſtand againſt the face of the wind:

22 So alſo a fearful heart in the imagination of a fool ſhall not reſiſt againſt the violence of fear.

23 As a fearful heart in the thought of a fool at all times will not fear, ſo neither ſhall he that continueth always in the commandments of God.

24 He that pricketh the eye, bringeth out tears: and he that pricketh the heart bringeth forth reſentment.

25 He that flingeth a ſtone at birds, ſhall drive them away: ſo he that upbraideth his friend, breaketh friendſhip.

26 Although thou haſt drawn a ſword at a friend, deſpair not: for there may be a returning. To a friend

27 If thou haſt opened a ſad mouth, fear not, for there may be a reconciliation: except upbraiding, and reproach, and pride, and diſcloſing of ſecrets, or a treacherous wound: for in all theſe caſes a friend will flee away.

28 Keep fidelity with a friend in his poverty, that in his proſperity alſo thou mayſt rejoice.

29 In the time of his trouble continue faithful to him, that thou mayſt alſo be heir with him in his inheritance.

30 As the vapour of a chimney, and the ſmoke of the fire goeth up before the fire: ſo alſo injurious words, and reproaches, and threats, before blood.

31 I will not be aſhamed to ſalute a friend, neither will I hide myſelf from his face: and if any evil happen to me by him, I will bear it.

32 But every one that ſhall hear it, will beware of him.

33 ‖ Who will ſet a guard before my mouth, and a ſure ſeal upon my lips, that I fall not by them, and that my tongue deſtroy me not? ‖ Pſal. 140. 3.

CHAP. XXIII.

A prayer for grace to flee ſin: cautions againſt profane ſwearing and other vices.

O LORD father, and ſovereign ruler of my life, leave me not to their counſel: nor ſuffer me to fall by them.

2 Who will ſet ſcourges over my thoughts, and the diſcipline of wiſdom over my heart, that they ſpare me not in their ignorances, and that their ſins may not appear:

3 Leſt my ignorances increaſe, and my offences be multiplied, and my ſins abound, and I fall before my adverſaries, and my enemy rejoice over me?

4 O Lord father, and God of my life, leave me not to their devices.

5 Give me not haughtineſs of my eyes, and turn away from me all coveting.

6 Take from me the greedineſs of the belly, and let not the luſts of the fleſh take hold of me, and give me not over to a ſhameleſs and fooliſh mind.

7 Hear, O ye children, the diſcipline of the mouth: and he that will keep it, ſhall not periſh by his lips, nor be brought to fall into moſt wicked works.

8 A ſinner is caught in his own vanity, and the proud and the evil ſpeakers ſhall fall thereby.

9 ‖ Let not thy mouth be accuſtomed to ſwearing: for in it there are many falls. ‖ Exod. 20. 7. Mat. 5. 33.

10 And let not the naming of God be uſual in thy mouth, and meddle not with the names of ſaints, for thou ſhalt not eſcape free from them.

11 For as a ſlave daily put to the queſtion, is never without a blue mark: ſo every one that ſweareth, and nameth, ſhall not be wholly pure from ſin.

12 A man that ſweareth much, ſhall be filled with iniquity, and a ſcourge ſhall not depart from his houſe.

13 And if he make it void, his ſin ſhall be

CHAP. XXIII. VER. 1. By them, viz. The tongue and the lips, mentioned in the laſt verſe of the foregoing chapter.

VER. 2. That they ſpare me not in their ignorances, &c. That is, that the ſcourges and diſcipline of wiſdom may reſtrain the ignorances, that is, the ſlips and offences which are uſually committed by the tongue and the lips.

upon him: and if he diſſemble it, he offendeth double:

14 And if he ſwear in vain, he ſhall not be juſtified: for his houſe ſhall be filled with his puniſhment.

15 There is alſo another ſpeech oppoſite to death, let it not be found in the inheritance of Jacob.

16 For from the merciful all theſe things ſhall be taken away, and they ſhall not wallow in ſins.

17 Let not thy mouth be accuſtomed to indiſcreet ſpeech: for therein is the word of ſin.

18 Remember thy father and thy mother, for thou ſitteſt in the midſt of great men:

19 Leſt God forget thee in their ſight, and thou, by thy daily cuſtom, be infatuated and ſuffer reproach: and wiſh that thou hadſt not been born, and curſe the day of thy nativity.

20 ‖ The man that is accuſtomed to opprobrious words, will never be corrected all the days of his life. ‖ 2 Kings 16. 7.

21 Two ſorts of men multiply ſins, and the third bringeth wrath and deſtruction.

22 A hot ſoul is a burning fire, it will never be quenched, till it devour ſomething.

23 And a man that is wicked in the mouth of his fleſh, will not leave off till he hath kindled a fire.

24 To a man that is a fornicator all bread is ſweet, he will not be weary of ſinning unto the end.

25 Every man that paſſeth beyond his own bed, deſpiſing his own ſoul, and ſaying: ‖ Who ſeeth me? ‖ Iſai. 29. 15.

26 Darkneſs compaſſeth me about, and the walls cover me, and no man ſeeth me: whom do I fear? the moſt High will not remember my ſins.

27 And he underſtandeth not that his eye ſeeth all things, for ſuch a man's fear driveth from him the fear of God, and the eyes of men fearing him:

28 And he knoweth not that the eyes of the Lord are far brighter than the ſun, beholding round about all the ways of men, and the bottom of the deep, and looking into the hearts of men, into the moſt hidden parts.

29 For all things were known to the Lord God, before they were created: ſo alſo after they were perfected he beholdeth all things.

30 This man ſhall be puniſhed in the ſtreets of the city, and he ſhall be chaſed as a colt: and where he ſuſpected not, he ſhall be taken.

31 And he ſhall be in diſgrace with all men, becauſe he underſtood not the fear of the Lord.

32 ‖ So every woman alſo that leaveth her huſband, and bringeth in an heir by another: ‖ Lev. 20. 10. Deut. 22. 21.

33 For firſt ſhe hath been unfaithful to the law of the moſt High: and ſecondly, ſhe hath offended againſt her huſband: thirdly, ſhe hath fornicated in adultery, and hath gotten her children of another man.

34 This woman ſhall be brought into the aſſembly, and inquiſition ſhall be made of her children.

35 Her children ſhall not take root, and her branches ſhall bring forth no fruit.

36 She ſhall leave her memory to be curſed, and her infamy ſhall not be blotted out.

37 And they that remain ſhall know, that there is nothing better than the fear of God: and that there is nothing ſweeter than to have regard to the commandments of the Lord.

38 It is great glory to follow the Lord: for length of days ſhall be received from him.

CHAP. XXIV.

Wiſdom praiſeth herſelf: her origin, her dwelling, her dignity, and her fruits.

WISDOM ſhall praiſe her own ſelf, and ſhall be honoured in God, and ſhall glory in the midſt of her people,

2 And ſhall open her mouth in the churches of the moſt High, and ſhall glorify herſelf in the ſight of his power,

3 And in the midſt of her own people ſhe ſhall be exalted, and ſhall be admired in the holy aſſembly,

4 And in the multitude of the elect ſhe ſhall have praiſe, and among the bleſſed, ſhe ſhall be bleſſed, ſaying:

5 I came out of the mouth of the moſt High, the firſt-born before all creatures:

6 I made that in the heavens there ſhould riſe light that never faileth, and as a cloud I covered all the earth:

7 I dwelt in the higheſt places, and my throne is in a pillar of a cloud.

8 I alone have compaſſed the circuit of heaven, and have penetrated into the bottom of the deep, and have walked in the waves of the ſea,

9 And have ſtood in all the earth: and in every people,

10 And in every nation I have had the chief rule:

11 And by my power I have trodden under my feet the hearts of all the high and low: and in all theſe I ſought reſt, and I ſhall abide in the inheritance of the Lord.

12 Then the creator of all things commanded, and ſaid to me: and he that made me, reſted in my tabernacle,

13 And he ſaid to me: Let thy dwelling be in Jacob, and thy inheritance in Iſrael, and take root in my elect.

14 ‖ From the beginning, and before the world, was I created, and unto the world to come I ſhall not ceaſe to be, and in the holy dwelling-place I have miniſtered before him. ‖ Prov. 8. 22.

15 And ſo was I eſtabliſhed in Sion, and in the holy city likewiſe I reſted, and my power was in Jeruſalem.

16 And I took root in an honourable people, and in the portion of my God his inheritance, and my abode is in the full aſſembly of ſaints.

17 I was exalted like a cedar in Libanus, and as a cypreſs-tree on mount Sion.

18 I was exalted like a palm-tree in Cades, and as a roſe-plant in Jericho:

19 As a fair olive-tree in the plains, and as a plane-tree by the water in the ſtreets, was I exalted.

20 I gave a ſweet ſmell like cinnamon, and aromatical balm: I yielded a ſweet odour like the beſt myrrh:

21 And I perfumed my dwelling as ſtorax, and galbanum, and onyx, and aloes, and as the frankincenſe not cut, and my odour is as the pureſt balm.

22 I have ſtretched out my branches as the turpentine-tree, and my branches are of honour and grace.

23 As the vine I have brought forth a pleaſant odour: and my flowers are the fruit of honour and riches.

24 I am the mother of fair love, and of fear, and of knowledge, and of holy hope.

25 In me is all grace of the way and of the truth, in me is all hope of life and of virtue.

26 Come over to me, all ye that deſire me, and be filled with my fruits.

27 For my ſpirit is ſweet above honey, and my inheritance above honey and the honeycomb.

28 My memory is unto everlaſting generations.

29 ‖ They that eat me, ſhall yet hunger: and they that drink me ſhall yet thirſt. ‖ John 6. 35.

30 He that hearkeneth to me, ſhall not be confounded: and they that work by me, ſhall not ſin.

31 They that explain me, ſhall have life everlaſting.

32 All theſe things are the book of life, and the covenant of the moſt High, and the knowledge of truth.

33 Moſes commanded a law in the precepts of juſtices, and an inheritance to the houſe of Jacob, and the promiſes to Iſrael.

34 He appointed to David his ſervant to raiſe up of him a moſt mighty king, and ſitting on the throne of glory for ever.

35 ‖ Who filleth up wiſdom as the Phiſon, and as the Tigris in the days of the new fruits. ‖ Gen. 2. 11.

36 Who maketh underſtanding to abound as the Euphrates, ‖ who multiplieth it as the Jordan in the time of harveſt. ‖ Joſ. 3. 15.

37 Who ſendeth knowledge as the light, and riſeth up as Gehon in the time of the vintage.

38 Who firſt hath perfect knowledge of her, and a weaker ſhall not ſearch her out.

39 For her thoughts are more vaſt than the ſea, and her counſels more deep than the great ocean.

40 I wiſdom have poured out rivers.

41 I like a brook out of a river of a mighty water, I like a channel of a river, and like an aqueduct, came out of paradiſe.

42 I ſaid: I will water my garden of plants, and I will water abundantly the fruits of my meadow.

43 And behold my brook became a great river, and my river came near to a ſea:

44 For I make doctrine to ſhine forth to all as the morning light, and I will declare it afar off.

45 I will penetrate to all the lower parts of the earth, and will behold all that ſleep, and will enlighten all that hope in the Lord.

46 I will yet pour out doctrine as prophecy, and will leave it to them that ſeek wiſdom, and will not ceaſe to inſtruct their offspring even to the holy age.

47 ‖ See ye that I have not laboured for myſelf only, but for all that ſeek out the truth. ‖ Ifra 33. 18.

CHAP. XXV.

Documents of wiſdom on ſeveral ſubjects.

WITH three things my ſpirit is pleaſed, which are approved before God, and men:

2 The concord of brethren, and the love of neighbours, and man and wife that agree well together.

3 Three ſorts my ſoul hateth, and I am greatly grieved at their life:

CHAP. XXIV. VER. 34. A moſt mighty king, viz. Chriſt, who by his goſpel, like an overflowing river, has enriched the earth with heavenly wiſdom.

VER. 38. Who firſt hath perfect knowledge of her. Chriſt was the firſt that had perfect knowledge of heavenly wiſdom.

4 A poor man that is proud: a rich man that is a liar: an old man that is a fool, and doting.

5 The things that thou hast not gathered in thy youth, how shalt thou find them in thy old age?

6 O how comely is judgment for a grey head, and for ancients to know counsel!

7 O how comely is wisdom for the aged, and understanding and counsel to men of honour!

8 Much experience is the crown of old men, and the fear of God is their glory.

9 Nine things that are not to be imagined by the heart have I magnified, and the tenth I will utter to men with my tongue.

10 A man that hath joy of his children: and he that liveth and seeth the fall of his enemies.

‖ Infra 26. 1. ‡ Supra 14. 1. & 19. 16. James 3 2.

11 ‖ Blessed is he that dwelleth with a wise woman, ‡ and that hath not slipped with his tongue, and that hath not served such as are unworthy of him.

12 Blessed is he that findeth a true friend: and that declareth justice to an ear that heareth.

13 How great is he that findeth wisdom and knowledge! but there is none above him that feareth the Lord.

14 The fear of God hath set itself above all things:

15 Blessed is the man, to whom it is given to have the fear of God: he that holdeth it, to whom shall he be likened?

16 The fear of God is the beginning of his love: and the beginning of faith is to be fast joined unto it.

17 The sadness of the heart is every plague: and the wickedness of a woman is all evil.

18 And a man will choose any plague, but the plague of the heart:

19 And any wickedness, but the wickedness of a woman:

20 And any affliction, but the affliction from them that hate him:

21 And any revenge, but the revenge of enemies.

22 There is no head worse than the head of a serpent:

23 And there is no anger above the anger of a woman. ‖ It will be more agreeable to abide with a lion and a dragon, than to dwell with a wicked woman.

‖ Prov. 21. 19.

24 The wickedness of a woman changeth her face: and she darkeneth her countenance as a bear: and sheweth it like sack-cloth. In the midst of her neighbours,

25 Her husband groaned, and hearing he sighed a little.

26 All malice is short to the malice of a woman, let the lot of sinners fall upon her.

27 As the climbing of a sandy way is to the feet of the aged, so is a wife full of tongue to a quiet man.

28 Look not upon a woman's beauty, and desire not a woman for beauty.

29 ‖ A woman's anger, and impudence, and confusion is great. ‖ Infra 42. 6.

30 A woman, if she have superiority, is contrary to her husband.

31 A wicked woman abateth the courage, and maketh a heavy countenance, and a wounded heart.

32 Feeble hands, and disjointed knees, a woman that doth not make her husband happy.

33 ‖ From the woman came the beginning of sin, and by her we all die. ‖ Gen. 3. 6.

34 Give no issue to thy water, no not a little: nor to a wicked woman liberty to gad abroad.

35 If she walk not at thy hand, she will confound thee in the sight of thy enemies.

36 Cut her off from thy flesh, lest she always abuse thee.

CHAP. XXVI.

Of good and bad women.

HAPPY is the husband of a good wife: for the number of his years is double.

2 A virtuous woman rejoiceth her husband, and shall fulfil the years of his life in peace.

3 A good wife is a good portion, she shall be given in the portion of them that fear God, to a man for his good deeds:

4 Rich or poor, if his heart is good, his countenance shall be cheerful at all times.

5 Of three things my heart hath been afraid, and at the fourth my face hath trembled:

6 The accusation of a city, and the gathering together of the people:

7 And a false calumny, all are more grievous than death.

8 A jealous woman is the grief and mourning of the heart.

9 With a jealous woman is a scourge of the tongue which communicateth with all.

10 As a yoke of oxen that is moved to and fro, so also is a wicked woman: he that hath hold of her, is as he that taketh hold of a scorpion.

11 A drunken woman is a great wrath: and her reproach and shame shall not be hid.

12 The fornication of a woman shall be known by the haughtineſs of her eyes, and by her eye-lids.

‖ Infra 42. 11. 13 ‖ On a daughter that turneth not away herſelf, ſet a ſtrict watch: leſt finding an opportunity ſhe abuſe herſelf.

14 Take heed of the impudence of her eyes, and wonder not if ſhe ſlight thee.

15 She will open her mouth as a thirſty traveller to the fountain, and will drink of every water near her, and will ſit down by every hedge, and open her quiver againſt every arrow, until ſhe fail.

16 The grace of a diligent woman ſhall delight her huſband, and ſhall fat his bones.

17 Her diſcipline is the gift of God.

18 Such is a wiſe and ſilent woman, and there is nothing ſo much worth as a well inſtructed ſoul.

19 A holy and ſhamefaced woman is grace upon grace.

20 And no price is worthy of a continent ſoul.

21 As the ſun when it riſeth to the world in the high places of God, ſo is the beauty of a good wife for the ornament of her houſe.

22 As the lamp ſhining upon the holy candleſtick, ſo is the beauty of the face in a ripe age.

23 As golden pillars upon baſes of ſilver, ſo are the firm feet upon the ſoles of a ſteady woman.

24 As everlaſting foundations upon a ſolid rock, ſo the commandments of God in the heart of a holy woman.

25 At two things my heart is grieved, and the third bringeth anger upon me:

26 A man of war fainting through poverty: and a man of ſenſe deſpiſed:

27 And he that paſſeth over from juſtice to ſin, God hath prepared ſuch an one for the ſword.

28 Two ſorts of callings have appeared to me hard and dangerous: a merchant is hardly free from negligence: and a huckſter ſhall not be juſtified from the ſins of the lips.

CHAP. XXVII.

Dangers of ſin from ſeveral heads: the fear of God is the beſt preſervative. He that diggeth a pit, ſhall fall into it.

THROUGH poverty many have ſinned: and he that ſeeketh to be enriched, turneth away his eye.

2 As a ſtake ſticketh faſt in the midſt of the joining of ſtones, ſo alſo in the midſt of ſelling and buying, ſin ſhall ſtick faſt.

3 Sin ſhall be deſtroyed with the ſinner.

4 Unleſs thou hold thyſelf diligently in the fear of the Lord, thy houſe ſhall quickly be overthrown.

5 As when one ſifteth with a ſieve, the duſt will remain: ſo will the perplexity of a man in his thoughts.

6 The furnace trieth the potter's veſſels, and the trial of affliction juſt men.

7 As the dreſſing of a tree ſheweth the fruit thereof, ſo a word out of the thought of the heart of man.

8 Praiſe not a man before he ſpeaketh, for this is the trial of men.

9 If thou followeſt juſtice, thou ſhalt obtain her: and ſhalt put her on as a long robe of honour, and thou ſhalt dwell with her: and ſhe ſhall protect thee for ever, and in the day of acknowledgment thou ſhalt find a ſtrong foundation.

10 Birds reſort unto their like: ſo truth will return to them that practiſe her.

11 The lion always lieth in wait for prey: ſo do ſins for them that work iniquities.

12 A holy man continueth in wiſdom as the ſun: but a fool is changed as the moon.

13 In the midſt of the unwiſe keep in the word till its time: but be continually among men that think.

14 The diſcourſe of ſinners is hateful, and their laughter is at the pleaſures of ſin.

15 The ſpeech that ſweareth much ſhall make the hair of the head ſtand upright: and its irreverence ſhall make one ſtop his ears.

16 In the quarrels of the proud is the ſhedding of blood: and their curſing is a grievous hearing.

17 He that diſcloſeth the ſecret of a friend, loſeth his credit, and ſhall never find a friend to his mind.

18 Love thy neighbour, and be joined to him with fidelity.

19 But if thou diſcover his ſecrets, follow no more after him.

20 For as a man that deſtroyeth his friend, ſo alſo is he that deſtroyeth the friendſhip of his neighbour.

21 And as one that letteth a bird go out of his hand, ſo haſt thou let thy neighbour go, and thou ſhalt not get him again.

22 Follow after him no more, for he is

CHAP. XXVI. VER. 28. From negligence. That is, from the neglect of the ſervice of God: becauſe the eager purſuit of the mammon of this world, is apt to make men of that calling forget the great duties of loving God above all things, and their neighbours as themſelves.

Ibid. A huckſter; or a retailer of wine. Men of that profeſſion are both greatly expoſed to danger of ſin themſelves, and are too often acceſſary to the ſins of others.

gone afar off, he is fled, as a roe eſcaped out of the ſnare: becauſe his ſoul is wounded.

23 Thou canſt no more bind him up. And of a curſe there is reconciliation:

24 But to diſcloſe the ſecrets of a friend, leaveth no hope to an unhappy ſoul.

25 He that winketh with the eye, forgeth wicked things, and no man will caſt him off:

26 In the ſight of thy eyes he will ſweeten his mouth, and will admire thy words: but at the laſt he will writhe his mouth, and on thy words he will lay a ſtumbling-block.

27 I have hated many things, but not like him, and the Lord will hate him.

28 If one caſt a ſtone on high, it will fall upon his own head: and the deceitful ſtroke will wound the deceitful.

29 He that diggeth a pit, ſhall fall into it: and he that ſetteth a ſtone for his neighbour, ſhall ſtumble upon it: and he that layeth a ſnare for another, ſhall periſh in it.

30 A miſchievous counſel ſhall be rolled back upon the author, and he ſhall not know from whence it cometh to him.

31 Mockery and reproach are of the proud, and vengeance as a lion ſhall lie in wait for him.

32 They ſhall periſh in a ſnare that are delighted with the fall of the juſt: and ſorrow ſhall conſume them before they die.

33 Anger and fury are both of them abominable, and the ſinful man ſhall be ſubject to them.

CHAP. XXVIII.

Leſſons againſt revenge and quarrels. The evils of the tongue.

Deut. 32. 35. Matt. 6. 14. Mark 11. 25. Rom. 12. 19.

HE that ſeeketh to revenge himſelf, ſhall find vengeance from the Lord, and he will ſurely keep his ſins in remembrance.

2 Forgive thy neighbour if he hath hurt thee: and then ſhall thy ſins be forgiven to thee when thou prayeſt.

3 Man to man reſerveth anger, and doth he ſeek remedy of God?

4 He hath no mercy on a man like himſelf, and doth he intreat for his own ſins?

5 He that is but fleſh, nouriſheth anger, and doth he aſk forgiveneſs of God? who ſhall obtain pardon for his ſins?

6 Remember thy laſt things, and let enmity ceaſe:

7 For corruption and death hang over in his commandments.

8 Remember the fear of God, and be not angry with thy neighbour.

9 Remember the covenant of the moſt High, and overlook the ignorance of thy neighbour.

10 Refrain from ſtrife, and thou ſhalt diminiſh thy ſins:

11 For a paſſionate man kindleth ſtrife, and a ſinful man will trouble his friends, and bring in debate in the midſt of them that are at peace.

12 For as the wood of the foreſt is, ſo the fire burneth: and as a man's ſtrength is, ſo ſhall his anger be, and according to his riches he ſhall increaſe his anger.

13 A haſty contention kindleth a fire: and a haſty quarrel ſheddeth blood: and a tongue that beareth witneſs bringeth death.

14 If thou blow the ſpark, it ſhall burn as a fire: and if thou ſpit upon it, it ſhall be quenched: both come out of the mouth.

15 The whiſperer and the double-tongued is accurſed: for he hath troubled many that were at peace.

16 The tongue of a third perſon hath diſquieted many, and ſcattered them from nation to nation.

17 It hath deſtroyed the ſtrong cities of the rich, and hath overthrown the houſes of great men.

18 It hath cut in pieces the forces of people, and undone ſtrong nations.

19 The tongue of a third perſon hath caſt out valiant women, and deprived them of their labours.

20 He that hearkeneth to it, ſhall never have reſt, neither ſhall he have a friend in whom he may repoſe.

21 The ſtroke of a whip maketh a blue mark: but the ſtroke of the tongue will break the bones.

22 Many have fallen by the edge of the ſword, but not ſo many as have periſhed by their own tongue.

23 Bleſſed is he that is defended from a wicked tongue, that hath not paſſed into the wrath thereof, and that hath not drawn the yoke thereof, and hath not been bound in its bands:

24 For its yoke is a yoke of iron: and its bands are bands of braſs.

25 The death thereof is a moſt evil death: and hell is preferable to it.

26 Its continuance ſhall not be for a long time, but it ſhall poſſeſs the ways of the unjuſt: and the juſt ſhall not be burnt with its flame.

27 They that forſake God ſhall fall into it, and it ſhall burn in them, and ſhall not be quenched, and it ſhall be ſent upon them as a lion, and as a leopard it ſhall tear them.

28 Hedge in thy ears with thorns, hear not a wicked tongue, and make doors and bars to thy mouth.

29 Melt down thy gold and ſilver, and make a balance for thy words and a juſt bridle for thy mouth:

30 And take heed leſt thou ſlip with thy tongue, and fall in the ſight of thy enemies who lie in wait for thee, and thy fall be incurable unto death.

CHAP. XXIX.

Of charity in lending money, and juſtice in repaying. Of alms, and of being ſurety.

HE that ſheweth mercy, lendeth to his neighbour: and he that is ſtronger in hand, keepeth the commandments.

2 Lend to thy neighbour in the time of his need, and pay thou thy neighbour again in due time.

3 Keep thy word, and deal faithfully with him: and thou ſhalt always find that which is neceſſary for thee.

4 Many have looked upon a thing lent as a thing found, and have given trouble to them that helped them.

5 Till they receive, they kiſs the hands of the lender, and in promiſes they humble their voice:

6 But when they ſhould repay, they will aſk time, and will return tedious and murmuring words, and will complain of the time:

7 And if he be able to pay, he will ſtand off, he will ſcarce pay one half, and will count it as if he had found it:

8 But if not, he will defraud him of his money, and he ſhall get him for an enemy without cauſe:

9 And he will pay him with reproaches and curſes, and inſtead of honour and good turn will repay him injuries.

10 Many have refuſed to lend, not out of wickedneſs, but they were afraid to be defrauded without cauſe.

11 But yet towards the poor be thou more hearty, and delay not to ſhew him mercy.

12 Help the poor becauſe of the commandment: and ſend him not away empty-handed becauſe of his poverty.

13 Loſe thy money for thy brother and thy friend: and hide it not under a ſtone to be loſt.

14 ‖ Place thy treaſure in the commandments of the moſt High, and it ſhall bring thee more profit than gold. ‖ Tobias 4. 10. Supra 17. 18.

15 Shut up alms in the heart of the poor, and it ſhall obtain help for thee againſt all evil.

16 Better than the ſhield of the mighty, and better than the ſpear:

17 It ſhall fight for thee againſt thy enemy.

18 A good man is ſurety for his neighbour: and he that hath loſt ſhame, will leave him to himſelf.

19 Forget not the kindneſs of thy ſurety: for he hath given his life for thee.

20 The ſinner and the unclean fleeth from his ſurety.

21 A ſinner attributeth to himſelf the goods of his ſurety: and he that is of an unthankful mind will leave him that delivered him.

22 A man is ſurety for his neighbour: and when he hath loſt all ſhame, he ſhall forſake him.

23 Evil ſuretyſhip hath undone many of good eſtate, and hath toſſed them as a wave of the ſea.

24 It hath made powerful men to go from place to place round about, and they have wandered in ſtrange countries.

25 A ſinner that tranſgreſſeth the commandment of the Lord, ſhall fall into an evil ſuretyſhip: and he that undertaketh many things, ſhall fall into judgment.

26 Recover thy neighbour according to thy power, and take heed to thyſelf that thou fall not.

27 The chief thing for man's life is water and bread, and clothing, and a houſe to cover ſhame.

28 ‖ Better is the poor man's fare under a roof of boards, than ſumptuous cheer abroad in another man's houſe. ‖ Infra 39. 31.

29 Be contented with little inſtead of much, and thou ſhalt not hear the reproach of going abroad.

30 It is a miſerable life to go as a gueſt from houſe to houſe: for where a man is a ſtranger, he ſhall not deal confidently, nor open his mouth.

31 He ſhall entertain and feed, and give drink to the unthankful, and moreover he ſhall hear bitter words.

32 Go, ſtranger, and furniſh the table, and give others to eat what thou haſt in thy hand.

CHAP. XXIX. VER. 1. And he that is ſtronger in hand. That is, he that is hearty and bountiful in lending to his neighbour in his neceſſity.

33 Give place to the honourable presence of my friends: for I want my house, my brother being to be lodged with me.

34 These things are grievous to a man of understanding: the upbraiding of house-room, and the reproaching of the lender.

CHAP. XXX.

Of correction of children. Health is better than wealth. Excessive grief is hurtful.

Prov. 13. 24. & 23. 13. HE that loveth his son, frequently chastiseth him, that he may rejoice in his latter end, and not grope after the doors of his neighbours.

2 He that instructeth his son shall be praised in him, and shall glory in him in the midst of them of his household.

‖ Deut. 6. 7. 3 ‖ He that teacheth his son, maketh his enemy jealous, and in the midst of his friends he shall glory in him.

4 His father is dead, and he is as if he were not dead: for he hath left one behind him that is like himself.

5 While he lived he saw and rejoiced in him: and when he died he was not sorrowful, neither was he confounded before his enemies.

6 For he left behind him a defender of his house against his enemies, and one that will requite kindness to his friends.

7 For the souls of his sons he shall bind up his wounds, and at every cry his bowels shall be troubled.

8 A horse not broken becometh stubborn, and a child left to himself will become headstrong.

9 Give thy son his way, and he shall make thee afraid: play with him, and he shall make thee sorrowful.

10 Laugh not with him, lest thou have sorrow, and at the last thy teeth be set on edge.

11 Give him not liberty in his youth, and wink not at his devices.

‖ Supra 7. 25. 12 ‖ Bow down his neck while he is young, and beat his sides while he is a child, lest he grow stubborn, and regard thee not, and so be a sorrow of heart to thee.

13 Instruct thy son, and labour about him, lest his lewd behaviour be an offence to thee.

14 Better is a poor man who is sound, and strong of constitution, than a rich man who is weak and afflicted with evils.

15 Health of the soul in holiness of justice, is better than all gold and silver: and a sound body, than immense revenues.

16 There is no riches above the riches of the health of the body: and there is no pleasure above the joy of the heart.

17 Better is death than a bitter life: and everlasting rest, than continual sickness.

18 Good things that are hidden in a mouth that is shut, are as messes of meat set about a grave.

‖ Dan. 1. 6. 19 ‖ What good shall an offering do to an idol? for it can neither eat, nor smell:

20 So is he that is persecuted by the Lord, bearing the reward of his iniquity:

‖ Supra 2. 21 ‖ He seeth with his eyes, and groaneth, as an eunuch embracing a virgin, and sighing.

‖ Prov. 25. 15. & 13. 17. & 22. 22 ‖ Give not up thy soul to sadness, and afflict not thyself in thy own counsel.

23 The joyfulness of the heart, is the life of a man, and a never failing treasure of holiness: and the joy of a man is length of life.

24 Have pity on thy own soul, pleasing God, and contain thyself: gather up thy heart in his holiness: and drive away sadness far from thee.

‖ 2 Cor. 7. 10. 25 ‖ For sadness hath killed many, and there is no profit in it.

26 Envy and anger shorten a man's days, and pensiveness will bring old age before the time.

27 A cheerful and good heart is always feasting: for his banquets are prepared with diligence.

CHAP. XXXI.

Of the desire of riches, and of moderation in eating and drinking.

WATCHING for riches consumeth the flesh, and the thought thereof driveth away sleep.

2 The thinking beforehand turneth away the understanding, and a grievous sickness maketh the soul sober.

3 The rich man hath laboured in gathering riches together, and when he resteth he shall be filled with his goods.

4 The poor man hath laboured in his low way of life, and in the end he is still poor.

5 He that loveth gold, shall not be justified: and he that followed after corruption, shall be filled with it.

‖ Supra 8. 3. 6 ‖ Many have been brought to fall for gold, and the beauty thereof hath been their ruin.

7 Gold is a stumbling-block to them that sacrifice to it: wo to them that eagerly follow after it, and every fool shall perish by it.

8 Blessed is the rich man that is found without blemish: and that hath not gone after gold, nor put his trust in money nor in treasures.

9 Who is he, and we will praiſe him? for he hath done wonderful things in his life.

10 Who hath been tried thereby, and made perfect, he ſhall have glory everlaſting. He that could have tranſgreſſed, and hath not tranſgreſſed: and could do evil things, and hath not done them:

11 Therefore are his goods eſtabliſhed in the Lord, and all the church of the ſaints ſhall declare his alms.

12 Art thou ſet at a great table? be not the firſt to open thy mouth upon it.

13 Say not: There are many things which are upon it.

14 Remember that a wicked eye is evil.

15 What is created more wicked than an eye? therefore ſhall it weep over all the face when it ſhall ſee.

16 Stretch not out thy hand firſt, leſt being diſgraced with envy thou be put to confuſion.

17 Be not haſty in a feaſt.

18 Judge of the diſpoſition of thy neighbour by thyſelf.

19 Uſe as a frugal man the things that are ſet before thee: leſt if thou eateſt much, thou be hated.

20 Leave off firſt, for manners ſake: and exceed not, leſt thou offend.

21 And if thou ſitteſt amongſt many, reach not thy hand out firſt of all: and be not the firſt to aſk for drink.

22 How ſufficient is a little wine for a man well taught, and in ſleeping thou ſhalt not be uneaſy with it, and thou ſhalt feel no pain.

23 Watching, and choler, and gripes, are with an intemperate man:

24 Sound and wholeſome ſleep with a moderate man: he ſhall ſleep till morning, and his ſoul ſhall be delighted with him.

25 And if thou haſt been forced to eat much, ariſe, go out, and vomit: and it ſhall refreſh thee, and thou ſhalt not bring ſickneſs upon thy body.

26 Hear me, my ſon, and deſpiſe me not: and in the end thou ſhalt find my words.

27 In all thy works be quick, and no infirmity ſhall come to thee.

28 The lips of many ſhall bleſs him that is liberal of his bread, and the teſtimony of his truth is faithful.

29 Againſt him that is niggardly of his bread, the city will murmur, and the teſtimony of his niggardlineſs is true.

30 Challenge not them that love wine: || for wine hath deſtroyed very many. || Judith 13. 4

31 Fire trieth hard iron: ſo wine drunk to exceſs ſhall rebuke the hearts of the proud.

32 Wine taken with ſobriety is equal life to men: if thou drink it moderately, thou ſhalt be ſober.

33 What is his life, who is diminiſhed with wine?

34 What taketh away life? death.

35 || Wine was created from the beginning to make men joyful, and not to make them drunk. || Pſ. 103. 15. Prov. 31. 4.

36 Wine drunken with moderation is the joy of the ſoul, and the heart.

37 Sober drinking is health to ſoul and body.

38 Wine drunken with exceſs raiſeth quarrels, and wrath, and many ruins.

39 Wine drunken with exceſs is bitterneſs of the ſoul.

40 The heat of drunkenneſs is the ſtumbling-block of the fool, leſſening ſtrength and cauſing wounds.

41 Rebuke not thy neighbour in a banquet of wine: and deſpiſe him not in his mirth.

42 Speak not to him words of reproach: and preſs him not in demanding again.

CHAP. XXXII.

Leſſons for ſuperiors and inferiors. Advantages of fearing God, and doing nothing without counſel.

HAVE they made thee ruler? be not lifted up: be among them as one of them.

2 Have care of them, and ſo ſit down, and when thou haſt acquitted thyſelf of all thy charge, take thy place:

3 That thou mayſt rejoice for them, and receive a crown as an ornament of grace, and get the honour of the contribution.

4 Speak, thou that art elder: for it becometh thee,

5 To ſpeak the firſt word with careful knowledge, and hinder not muſic.

6 Where there is no hearing, pour not out words, and be not lifted up out of ſeaſon with thy wiſdom.

7 A concert of muſic in a banquet of wine is as a carbuncle ſet in gold.

8 As a ſignet of an emerald in a work of gold: ſo is the melody of muſic with pleaſant and moderate wine.

9 Hear in ſilence, and for thy reverence good grace ſhall come to thee.

10 Young man, ſcarcely ſpeak in thy own cauſe.

11 If thou be aſked twice, let thy anſwer be ſhort.

12 In many things be as if thou wert ignorant, and hear in ſilence and withal ſeeking.

13 In the company of great men take not upon thee: and when the ancients are present, ſpeak not much.

14 Before a ſtorm goeth lightning: and before ſhamefacedneſs goeth favour: and for thy reverence good grace ſhall come to thee.

15 And at the time of riſing be not ſlack: but be firſt to run home to thy houſe, and there withdraw thyſelf, and there take thy paſtime.

16 And do what thou haſt a mind, but not in ſins or proud ſpeech.

17 And for all theſe things bleſs the Lord, that made thee, and that repleniſheth thee with all his good things.

18 He that feareth the Lord, will receive his diſcipline: and they that will ſeek him early, ſhall find a bleſſing.

19 He that ſeeketh the law, ſhall be filled with it: and he that dealeth deceitfully, ſhall meet with a ſtumbling-block therein.

20 They that fear the Lord, ſhall find juſt judgment, and ſhall kindle juſtice as a light.

21 A ſinful man will flee reproof, and will find an excuſe according to his will.

22 A man of counſel will not neglect underſtanding, a ſtrange and proud man will not dread fear:

23 Even after he hath done with fear without counſel, he ſhall be controlled by the things of his own ſeeking.

24 My ſon, do thou nothing without counſel, and thou ſhalt not repent when thou haſt done.

25 Go not in the way of ruin, and thou ſhalt not ſtumble againſt the ſtones: truſt not thyſelf to a rugged way, leſt thou ſet a ſtumbling-block to thy ſoul.

26 And beware of thy own children, and take heed of them of thy houſhold.

27 In every work of thine regard thy ſoul in faith: for this is the keeping of the commandments.

28 He that believeth God, taketh heed to the commandments: and he that truſteth in him, ſhall fare never the worſe.

CHAP. XXXIII.

The fear of God is the beſt ſecurity. Times and men are in the hands of God. Take care of thyſelf as long as thou liveſt, and look to thy ſervants.

NO evils ſhall happen to him that feareth the Lord, but in temptation God will keep him, and deliver him from evils.

2 A wiſe man hateth not the commandments and juſtices, and he ſhall not be daſhed in pieces as a ſhip in a ſtorm.

3 A man of underſtanding is faithful to the law of God, and the law is faithful to him.

4 He that cleareth up a queſtion, ſhall prepare what to ſay, and ſo having prayed he ſhall be heard, and ſhall keep diſcipline, and then he ſhall anſwer.

5 ‖ The heart of a fool is as a wheel of a cart: and his thoughts are like a rolling axle-tree. ‖ Supra 22. 17.

6 A friend that is a mocker, is like a ſtallion horſe: he neigheth under every one that ſitteth upon him.

7 Why doth one day excel another, and one light another, and one year another year, when all come of the ſun?

8 By the knowledge of the Lord they were diſtinguiſhed, the ſun being made, and keeping his commandment.

9 And he ordered the ſeaſons, and holidays of them, and in them they celebrated feſtivals at an hour.

10 Some of them God made high and great days, and ſome of them he put in the number of ordinary days. And all men are from the ground, ‖ and out of the earth, from whence Adam was created. ‖ Gen. 2. 7.

11 With much knowledge the Lord hath divided them, and diverſified their ways.

12 Some of them hath he bleſſed, and exalted: and ſome of them hath he ſanctified, and ſet near himſelf: and ſome of them hath he curſed and brought low, and turned them from their ſtation.

13 ‖ As the potter's clay is in his hand, to faſhion and order it. ‖ Rom. 9. 11.

14 All his ways are according to his ordering: ſo man is in the hand of him that made him, and he will render to him according to his judgment.

15 Good is ſet againſt evil, and life againſt death: ſo alſo is the ſinner againſt a juſt man. And ſo look upon all the works of the moſt High. Two and two, and one againſt another.

16 And I awaked laſt of all, and as one that gathereth after the grape-gatherers.

17 In the bleſſing of God I alſo have hoped: and as one that gathereth grapes, have I filled the wine-preſs.

18 ‖ See that I have not laboured for myſelf only, but for all that ſeek diſcipline. ‖ Supra 24. 47.

19 Hear me, ye great men, and all ye people, and hearken with your ears, ye rulers of the church.

CHAP. XXXII. VER. 27. Infaith. That is, follow ſincerely thy ſoul in her faith and conſcience.

20 Give not to ſon or wife, brother or friend, power over thee while thou liveſt; and give not thy eſtate to another: leſt thou repent, and thou entreat for the ſame.

21 As long as thou liveſt, and haſt breath in thee, let no man change thee.

22 For it is better that thy children ſhould aſk of thee, than that thou look toward the hands of thy children.

23 In all thy works keep the pre-eminence.

24 Let no ſtain ſully thy glory. In the time when thou ſhalt end the days of thy life, and in the time of thy deceaſe, diſtribute thy inheritance.

25 Fodder, and a wand, and a burden are for an aſs: bread, and correction, and work for a ſlave.

26 He worketh under correction, and ſeeketh to reſt: let his hands be idle, and he ſeeketh liberty.

27 The yoke and the thong bend a ſtiff neck, and continual labours bow a ſlave.

28 Torture and fetters are for a malicious ſlave: ſend him to work, that he be not idle:

29 For idleneſs hath taught much evil.

30 Set him to work: for ſo it is fit for him. And if he be not obedient, bring him down with fetters, but be not exceſſive towards any one: and do no grievous thing without judgment.

‖ Supra 7. 23. 31 ‖ If thou have a faithful ſervant, let him be to thee as thy own ſoul: treat him as a brother: becauſe in the blood of thy ſoul thou haſt gotten him.

32 If thou hurt him unjuſtly, he will run away:

33 And if he riſe up and depart, thou knoweſt not whom to aſk, and in what way to ſeek him.

CHAP. XXXIV.

The vanity of dreams. The advantage of experience, and of the fear of God.

THE hopes of a man that is void of underſtanding are vain and deceitful: and dreams lift up fools.

2 The man that giveth heed to lying viſions, is like to him that catcheth at a ſhadow, and followeth after the wind.

3 The viſion of dreams is the reſemblance of one thing to another: as when a man's likeneſs is before the face of a man.

4 What can be made clean by the unclean? and what truth can come from that which is falſe?

5 Deceitful divinations and lying omens, and the dreams of evil doers, are vanity.

6 And the heart fancieth as that of a woman in travail: except it be a viſion ſent forth from the moſt High, ſet not thy heart upon them.

7 For dreams have deceived many, and they have failed that put their truſt in them.

8 The word of the law ſhall be fulfilled without a lye, and wiſdom ſhall be made plain in the mouth of the faithful.

9 What doth he know, that hath not been tried? A man that hath much experience, ſhall think of many things: and he that hath learned many things, ſhall ſhew forth underſtanding.

10 He that hath no experience, knoweth little: and he that hath been experienced in many things, multiplieth prudence.

11 He that hath not been tried, what manner of things doth he know? he that hath been ſurprized, ſhall abound with ſubtlety.

12 I have ſeen many things by travelling, and many cuſtoms of things.

13 Sometimes I have been in danger of death for theſe things, and I have been delivered by the grace of God.

14 The ſpirit of thoſe that fear God, is ſought after, and by his regard ſhall be bleſſed.

15 For their hope is on him that ſaveth them, and the eyes of God are upon them that love him.

16 He that feareth the Lord ſhall tremble at nothing, and ſhall not be afraid: for he is his hope.

17 The ſoul of him that feareth the Lord is bleſſed.

18 To whom doth he look, and who is his ſtrength?

‖ Ps. 33. 16. 19 ‖ The eyes of the Lord are upon them that fear him, he is their powerful protector, and ſtrong ſtay, a defence from the heat, and a cover from the ſun at noon,

20 A preſervation from ſtumbling, and a help from falling; he raiſeth up the ſoul, and enlighteneth the eyes, and giveth health, and life, and bleſſing.

‖ Prov. 21. 27. 21 ‖ The offering of him that ſacrificeth of a thing wrongfully gotten, is ſtained, and the mockeries of the unjuſt are not acceptable.

22 The Lord is only for them that wait upon him in the way of truth and juſtice.

‖ Prov. 15. 18. 23 ‖ The moſt High approveth not the gifts of the wicked: neither hath he reſpect

CHAP. XXXIII. VER. 21. Change thee. That is, ſo as to have this power over thee.

VER. 23. The pre-eminence. That is, be maſter in thy own houſe, and part not with thy authority.

to the oblations of the unjuſt, nor will he be pacified for ſins by the multitude of their ſacrifices.

24 He that offereth ſacrifice of the goods of the poor, is as one that ſacrificeth the ſon in the preſence of his father.

25 The bread of the needy, is the life of the poor: he that defraudeth them thereof, is a man of blood.

26 He that taketh away the bread gotten by ſweat, is like him that killeth his neighbour.

‖ Deut. 24. 14. Supra 7. 22. 27 He that ſheddeth blood, ‖ and he that defraudeth the labourer of his hire, are brothers.

28 When one buildeth up, and another pulleth down: what profit have they but the labour?

29 When one prayeth, and another curſeth: whoſe voice will God hear?

30 He that waſheth himſelf after touching the dead, if he toucheth him again, what doth his waſhing avail?

‖ 2 Pet. 2. 21. 31 ‖ So a man that faſteth for his ſins, and doth the ſame again, what doth his humbling himſelf profit him? who will hear his prayer?

CHAP. XXXV.

What ſacrifices are pleaſing to God.

HE that keepeth the law, multiplieth offerings.

‖ 1 Kings 15. 22. 2 ‖ It is a wholeſome ſacrifice to take heed to the commandments, and to depart from all iniquity.

3 And to depart from injuſtice, is to offer a propitiatory ſacrifice for injuſtices, and a begging of pardon for ſins.

4 He ſhall return thanks, that offereth fine flour: and he that doth mercy, offereth ſacrifice.

‖ Jer. 7. 3. & 26 13. 5 ‖ To depart from iniquity is that which pleaſeth the Lord, and to depart from injuſtice, is an entreaty for ſins.

‡ Exod. 23. 15. & 34. 20. Deut. 16. 16. 6 ‡ Thou ſhalt not appear empty in the ſight of the Lord.

7 For all theſe things are to be done becauſe of the commandment of God.

8 The oblation of the juſt maketh the altar fat, and is an odour of ſweetneſs in the ſight of the moſt High.

9 The ſacrifice of the juſt is acceptable, and the Lord will not forget the memorial thereof.

10 Give glory to God with a good heart: and diminiſh not the firſt-fruits of thy hands.

‖ 2 Cor. 9. 7. Tob. 4. 9. 11 ‖ In every gift ſhew a cheerful countenance, and ſanctify thy tithes with joy.

12 Give to the moſt High according to what he hath given to thee, and with a good eye do according to the ability of thy hands:

13 For the Lord maketh recompence, and will give thee ſeven times as much.

‖ Lev. 22. 21. Deut. 15. 21. 14 ‖ Do not offer wicked gifts, for ſuch he will not receive.

‡ Deut. 10. 17. 2 Par. 19. 7. Job 34. 19. Wiſ. 6. 8. Rom. 2. 11. Gal. 2. 6. Col. 3. 25. Acts 10. 34. 1 Pet. 1. 17. 15 And look not upon an unjuſt ſacrifice, for the Lord is judge, ‡ and there is not with him reſpect of perſon.

16 The Lord will not accept any perſon againſt a poor man, and he will hear the prayer of him that is wronged.

17 He will not deſpiſe the prayers of the fatherleſs: nor the widow, when ſhe poureth out her complaint.

18 Do not the widow's tears run down the cheek, and her cry againſt him that cauſeth them to fall?

19 For from the cheek they go up even to heaven, and the Lord that heareth will not be delighted with them.

20 He that adoreth God with joy, ſhall be accepted, and his prayer ſhall approach even to the clouds.

21 The prayer of him that humbleth himſelf, ſhall pierce the clouds: and till it come nigh he will not be comforted: and he will not depart till the moſt High behold.

22 And the Lord will not be ſlack, but will judge for the juſt, and will do judgment: and the Almighty will not have patience with them, that he may cruſh their back:

23 And he will repay vengeance to the Gentiles, till he have taken away the multitude of the proud, and broken the ſcepters of the unjuſt,

24 Till he have rendered to men according to their deeds: and according to the works of Adam, and according to his preſumption,

25 Till he have judged the cauſe of his people, and he ſhall delight the juſt with his mercy.

26 The Mercy of God is beautiful in the time of affliction, as a cloud of rain in the time of drought.

CHAP. XXXVI.

A prayer for the church of God. Of a good heart, and a good wife.

HAVE mercy upon us, O God of all, and behold us, and ſhew us the light of thy mercies:

2 And ſend thy fear upon the nations, that have not ſought after thee: that they may know that there is no God beſide thee, and that they may ſhew forth thy wonders.

3 Lift up thy hand over the ſtrange nations, that they may ſee thy power.

4 For as thou haſt been ſanctified in us in their ſight, ſo thou ſhalt be magnified among them in our preſence,

5 That they may know thee, as we alſo have known thee, that there is no God beſide thee, O Lord.

6 Renew thy ſigns, and work new miracles.

7 Glorify thy hand, and thy right arm.

8 Raiſe up indignation, and pour out wrath.

9 Take away the adverſary, and cruſh the enemy.

10 Haſten the time, and remember the end, that they may declare thy wonderful works.

11 Let him that eſcapeth be conſumed by the rage of the fire: and let them periſh that oppreſs thy people.

12 Cruſh the head of the princes of the enemies that ſay: There is no other beſide us.

13 Gather together all the tribes of Jacob: that they may know that there is no God beſides thee, and may declare thy great works: and thou ſhalt inherit them as from the beginning.

14 Have mercy on thy people, upon whom thy name is invoked: and upon ‖ Exod. 4. 22. Iſrael, ‖ whom thou haſt raiſed up to be thy firſt-born.

15 Have mercy on Jeruſalem, the city which thou haſt ſanctified, the city of thy reſt.

16 Fill Sion with thy unſpeakable words, and thy people with thy glory.

17 Give teſtimony to them that are thy creatures from the beginning, and raiſe up the prophecies which the former prophets ſpoke in thy name.

18 Reward them that patiently wait for thee, that thy prophets may be found faithful: and hear the prayers of thy ſervants,

‖ Num. 6. 24. 19 ‖ According to the bleſſing of Aaron over thy people, and direct us into the way of juſtice, and let all know that dwell upon the earth, that thou art God the beholder of all ages.

20 The belly will devour all meat, yet one is better than another.

21 The palate taſteth veniſon, and the wiſe heart falſe ſpeeches.

22 A perverſe heart will cauſe grief, and a man of experience will reſiſt it.

23 A woman will receive every man: yet one daughter is better than another.

24 The beauty of a woman cheereth the countenance of her huſband, and a man deſireth nothing more.

25 If ſhe have a tongue that can cure, and likewiſe mitigate and ſhew mercy: her huſband is not like other men.

26 He that poſſeſſeth a good wife, beginneth a poſſeſſion: ſhe is a help like to himſelf, and a pillar of reſt.

27 Where there is no hedge, the poſſeſſion ſhall be ſpoiled: and where there is no wife, he mourneth that is in want.

28 Who will truſt him that hath no reſt, and that lodgeth whereſoever the night taketh him, as a robber well appointed, that ſkippeth from city to city.

CHAP. XXXVII.

Of the choice of friends and counſellors.

EVERY friend will ſay: I alſo am his friend: but there is a friend, that is only a friend in name. Is not this a grief even to death?

2 But a companion and a friend ſhall be turned to an enemy.

3 O wicked preſumption, whence cameſt thou to cover the earth with thy malice, and deceitfulneſs?

4 There is a companion who rejoiceth with his friend in his joys, but in the time of trouble, he will be againſt him.

5 There is a companion who condoleth with his friend for his belly's ſake, and he will take up a ſhield againſt the enemy.

6 Forget not thy friend in thy mind, and be not unmindful of him in thy riches.

7 Conſult not with him that layeth a ſnare for thee, and hide thy counſel from them that envy thee.

8 Every counſellor giveth out counſel, but there is one that is a counſellor for himſelf.

9 Beware of a counſellor. And know before what need he hath: for he will deviſe to his own mind:

10 Leſt he thruſt a ſtake into the ground, and ſay to thee:

11 Thy way is good; and then ſtand on the other ſide to ſee what ſhall befal thee.

12 Treat not with a man without religion concerning holineſs, nor with an unjuſt man concerning juſtice, nor with a woman touching her of whom ſhe is jealous, nor with a coward concerning war, nor with a merchant about traffic, nor with a buyer of ſelling, nor with an envious man of giving thanks,

13 Nor with the ungodly of piety, nor with the diſhoneſt of honeſty, nor with the field labourer of every work,

---

CHAP. XXXVI. VER. 23. A woman will receive every man. That is, any man that her parents propoſe to her to marry, tho' ſhe does not like him, but marries in obedience to her parents who make the choice for her.

14 Nor with him that worketh by the year of the finiſhing of the year, nor with an idle ſervant of much buſineſs: give no heed to theſe in any matter of counſel.

15 But be continually with a holy man, whomſoever thou ſhalt know to obſerve the fear of God,

16 Whoſe ſoul is according to thy own ſoul: and who, when thou ſhalt ſtumble in the dark, will be ſorry for thee.

17 And eſtabliſh within thyſelf a heart of good counſel: for there is no other thing of more worth to thee than it.

18 The ſoul of a holy man diſcovereth ſometimes true things, more than ſeven watch-men that ſit in a high place to watch.

19 But above all theſe things pray to the moſt High, that he may direct thy way in truth.

20 In all thy works let the true word go before thee, and ſteady counſel before every action.

21 A wicked word ſhall change the heart: out of which four manner of things ariſe, good and evil, life and death: and the tongue is continually the ruler of them. There is a man that is ſubtle and a teacher of many, and yet is unprofitable to his own ſoul.

22 A ſkilful man hath taught many, and is ſweet to his own ſoul.

23 He that ſpeaketh ſophiſtically, is hateful: he ſhall be deſtitute of every thing.

24 Grace is not given him from the Lord: for he is deprived of all wiſdom.

25 There is a wiſe man that is wiſe to his own ſoul: and the fruit of his underſtanding is commendable.

26 A wiſe man inſtructeth his own people, and the fruits of his underſtanding are faithful.

27 A wiſe man ſhall be filled with bleſſings, and they that ſee ſhall praiſe him.

28 The life of a man is in the number of his days: but the days of Iſrael are innumerable.

29 A wiſe man ſhall inherit honour among his people, and his name ſhall live for ever.

30 My ſon, prove thy ſoul in thy life: and if it be wicked, give it no power:

31 For all things are not expedient for all, and every kind pleaſeth not every ſoul.

32 Be not greedy in any feaſting, and pour not out thyſelf upon any meat:

33 For in many meats there will be ſickneſs, and greedineſs will turn to choler.

34 By ſurfeiting many have periſhed: but he that is temperate, ſhall prolong life.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

Of phyſicians and medicines: what is to be done in ſickneſs, and how we are to mourn for the dead. Of the employments of labourers and artificers.

HONOUR the phyſician for the need thou haſt of him: for the moſt High hath created him.

2 For all healing is from God, and he ſhall receive gifts of the king.

3 The ſkill of the phyſician ſhall lift up his head, and in the ſight of great men he ſhall be praiſed.

4 The moſt High hath created medicines out of the earth, and a wiſe man will not abhor them.

5 ‖ Was not bitter water made ſweet with wood? ‖ Exod. 15. 25.

6 The virtue of theſe things is come to the knowledge of men, and the moſt High hath given knowledge to men, that he may be honoured in his wonders.

7 By theſe he ſhall cure and ſhall allay their pains, and of theſe the apothecary ſhall make ſweet confections, and ſhall make up ointments of health, and of his works there ſhall be no end.

8 For the peace of God is over all the face of the earth.

9 ‖ My ſon, in thy ſickneſs neglect not thyſelf, but pray to the Lord, and he ſhall heal thee. ‖ Iſai. 38. 3.

10 Turn away from ſin, and order thy hands aright, and cleanſe thy heart from all offence.

11 Give a ſweet ſavour, and a memorial of fine flour, and make a fat offering, and then give place to the phyſician.

12 For the Lord created him: and let him not depart from thee, for his works are neceſſary.

13 For there is a time when thou muſt fall into their hands:

14 And they ſhall beſeech the Lord, that he would proſper what they give for eaſe and remedy, for their converſation.

15 He that ſinneth in the ſight of his Maker, ſhall fall into the hands of the phyſician.

16 My ſon, ſhed tears over the dead, and begin to lament as if thou hadſt ſuffered ſome great harm, and according to judgment cover his body, and neglect not his burial.

17 And for fear of being ill ſpoken of, weep bitterly for a day, and then comfort thyſelf in thy ſadneſs.

18 And make mourning for him according to his merit for a day, or two, for fear of detraction.

‖ Prov. 15. 13. & 17. 22.

19 ‖ For of sadness cometh death, and it overwhelmeth the strength, and the sorrow of the heart boweth down the neck.

20 In withdrawing aside sorrow remaineth: and the substance of the poor is according to his heart.

21 Give not up thy heart to sadness, but drive it from thee: and remember the latter end.

22 Forget it not: for there is no returning, and thou shalt do him no good, and shalt hurt thyself.

23 Remember my judgment: for thine also shall be so: yesterday for me, and today for thee.

§ 2 Kings 12. 21.

24 ‖ When the dead is at rest, let his remembrance rest, and comfort him in the departing of his spirit.

25 The wisdom of a scribe cometh by his time of leisure: and he that is less in action, shall receive wisdom.

26 With what wisdom shall he be furnished that holdeth the plough, and that glorieth in the goad, that driveth the oxen therewith, and is occupied in their labours, and his whole talk is about the offspring of bulls?

27 He shall give his mind to turn up furrows, and his care is to give the kine fodder.

28 So every craftsman and workmaster that laboureth night and day, he who maketh graven seals, and by his continual diligence varieth the figure: he shall give his mind to the resemblance of the picture, and by his watching shall finish the work.

29 So doth the smith sitting by the anvil and considering the iron work. The vapour of the fire wasteth his flesh, and he fighteth with the heat of the furnace:

30 The noise of the hammer is always in his ears, and his eye is upon the pattern of the vessel he maketh.

31 He setteth his mind to finish his work, and his watching to polish them to perfection.

32 So doth the potter sitting at his work, turning the wheel about with his feet, who is always carefully set to his work, and maketh all his work by number:

33 He fashioneth the clay with his arm, and boweth down his strength before his feet:

34 He shall give his mind to finish the glazing, and his watching to make clean the furnace.

35 All these trust to their hands, and every one is wise in his own art.

36 Without these a city is not built.

37 And they shall not dwell, nor walk about therein, and they shall not go up into the assembly.

38 Upon the judges seat they shall not sit, and the ordinance of judgment they shall not understand, neither shall they declare discipline and judgment, and they shall not be found where parables are spoken:

39 But they shall strengthen the state of the world, and their prayer shall be in the work of their craft, applying their soul, and searching in the law of the most High.

CHAP. XXXIX.

The exercises of the wise man. The Lord is to be glorified for his works.

THE wise man will seek out the wisdom of all the ancients, and will be occupied in the prophets.

2 He will keep the sayings of renowned men, and will enter withal into the subtilties of parables.

3 He will search out the hidden meanings of proverbs, and will be conversant in the secrets of parables.

4 He shall serve among great men, and appear before the governor.

5 He shall pass into strange countries: for he shall try good and evil among men.

6 He will give his heart to resort early to the Lord, that made him, and he will pray in the sight of the most High.

7 He will open his mouth in prayer, and will make supplication for his sins.

8 For if it shall please the great Lord, he will fill him with the spirit of understanding:

9 And he will pour forth the words of his wisdom as showers, and in his prayer he will confess to the Lord.

10 And he shall direct his counsel, and his knowledge, and in his secrets shall he meditate.

11 He shall shew forth the discipline he hath learned, and shall glory in the law of the covenant of the Lord.

12 Many shall praise his wisdom, and it shall never be forgotten.

13 The memory of him shall not depart away, and his name shall be in request from generation to generation.

14 Nations shall declare his wisdom, and the church shall shew forth his praise.

15 If he continue, he shall leave a name above a thousand: and if he rest, it shall be to his advantage.

16 I will yet meditate that I may declare: for I am filled as with a holy transport.

CHAP. XXXVIII. VER. 25. A scribe. That is, a doctor of the law, or a learned man.

17 By a voice he ſaith: Hear me, ye divine offſpring, and bud forth as the roſe planted by the brooks of waters.

18 Give ye a ſweet odour as frankincenſe.

19 Send forth flowers, as the lily, and yield a ſmell, and bring forth leaves in grace, and praiſe with canticles, and bleſs the Lord in his works.

20 Magnify his name, and give glory to him with the voice of your lips, and with the canticles of your mouths, and with harps, and in praiſing him, you ſhall ſay in this manner:

‖ Gen. 1. 31. Mark 7. 37. 21 ‖ All the works of the Lord are exceeding good.

‡ Gen. 8. 3. 22 ‡ At his word the waters ſtood as a heap: and at the words of his mouth the receptacles of waters:

23 For at his commandment favour is ſhewn, and there is no diminiſhing of his ſalvation.

24 The works of all fleſh are before him, and there is nothing hid from his eyes.

25 He ſeeth from eternity to eternity, and there is nothing wonderful before him.

26 There is no ſaying: What is this, or what is that? for all things ſhall be ſought in their time.

27 His bleſſing hath overflowed like a river.

‖ Gen. 7. 21. 28 ‖ And as a flood hath watered the earth; ſo ſhall his wrath inherit the nations, that have not ſought after him:

‡ Exod. 14. 21. 29 ‡ Even as he turned the waters into a dry land, and the earth was made dry: and his ways were made plain for their journey: ſo to ſinners they are ſtumbling-blocks in his wrath.

30 Good things were created for the good from the beginning, ſo for the wicked, good and evil things.

‖ Supra 29. 28. 31 ‖ The principal things neceſſary for the life of men, are water, fire, and iron, ſalt, milk, and bread of flour, and honey, and the cluſter of the grape, and oil, and clothing.

32 All theſe things ſhall be for good to the holy, ſo to the ſinners and the ungodly they ſhall be turned into evil.

33 There are ſpirits that are created for vengeance, and in their fury they lay on grievous torments:

34 In the time of deſtruction they ſhall pour out their force: and they ſhall appeaſe the wrath of him that made them.

35 Fire, hail, famine, and death, all theſe were created for vengeance.

36 The teeth of beaſts, and ſcorpions, and ſerpents, and the ſword taking vengeance upon the ungodly unto deſtruction.

37 In his commandments they ſhall feaſt, and they ſhall be ready upon earth when need is, and when their time is come they ſhall not tranſgreſs his word.

38 Therefore from the beginning I was reſolved, and I have meditated, and thought on theſe things and left them in writing.

‖ Gen. 1. 31. Mark 7. 37. 39 ‖ All the works of the Lord are good, and he will furniſh every work in due time.

40 It is not to be ſaid: This is worſe than that: for all ſhall be well approved in their time.

41 Now therefore with the whole heart and mouth praiſe ye him, and bleſs the name of the Lord.

CHAP. XL.

The miſeries of the life of man are relieved by the grace of God and his fear.

GREAT labour is created for all men, and a heavy yoke is upon the children of Adam, from the day of their coming out of their mother's womb, until the day of their burial into the mother of all.

2 Their thoughts, and fears of the heart, their imagination of things to come, and the day of their end:

3 From him that ſitteth on a glorious throne, unto him that is humbled in earth and aſhes:

4 From him that weareth purple, and beareth the crown, even to him that is covered with rough linen: wrath, envy, trouble, unquietneſs, and the fear of death, continual anger, and ſtrife,

5 And in the time of reſt upon his bed, the ſleep of the night changeth his knowledge.

6 A little and as nothing is his reſt, and afterward in ſleep, as in the day of keeping watch.

7 He is troubled in the viſion of his heart, as if he had eſcaped in the day of battle. In the time of his ſafety he roſe up, and wondereth that there is no fear:

8 Such things happen to all fleſh, from man even to beaſt, and upon ſinners are ſevenfold more.

‖ Supra 39. 35. & 30. 9 ‖ Moreover, death, and bloodſhed, ſtrife, and ſword, oppreſſions, famine, and affliction, and ſcourges:

10 All theſe things are created for the CHAP XXXIX. VER. 17. Ye divine offſpring. He ſpeaks to the children of Iſrael, the people of God: whom he exhorts to bud forth and flouriſh with virtue.

‡ Gen. 7. 10. wicked, ‡ and for their ſakes came the flood.

‖ Infra 41. 13. 11 ‖ All things that are of the earth, ſhall turn to the earth again, ‡ and all waters ‡ Eccle. 1. 7. ſhall return to the ſea.

12 All bribery, and injuſtice ſhall be blotted out, and fidelity ſhall ſtand for ever.

13 The riches of the unjuſt ſhall be dried up like a river, and ſhall paſs away with a noiſe like a great thunder in rain.

14 While he openeth his hands he ſhall rejoice: but tranſgreſſors ſhall pine away in the end.

15 The offspring of the ungodly ſhall not bring forth many branches, and make a noiſe as unclean roots upon the top of a rock.

16 The weed growing over every water, and at the bank of the river ſhall be pulled up before all graſs.

17 Grace is like a paradiſe in bleſſings, and mercy remaineth for ever.

18 The life of a labourer that is content with what he hath, ſhall be ſweet, and in it thou ſhalt find a treaſure.

19 Children, and the building of a city ſhall eſtabliſh a name, but a blameleſs wife ſhall be counted above them both.

20 Wine and muſic rejoice the heart: but the love of wiſdom is above them both.

21 The flute and the pſaltery make a ſweet melody, but a pleaſant tongue is above them both.

22 Thy eye deſireth favour and beauty, but more than theſe green ſown fields.

23 A friend and companion meeting together in ſeaſon, but above them both is a wife with her huſband.

24 Brethren are a help in the time of trouble, but mercy ſhall deliver more than they.

25 Gold and ſilver make the feet ſtand ſure: but wiſe counſel is above them both.

26 Riches and ſtrength lift up the heart: but above theſe is the fear of the Lord.

27 There is no want in the fear of the Lord, and it needeth not to ſeek for help.

28 The fear of the Lord is like a paradiſe of bleſſing, and they have covered it above all glory.

29 My ſon in thy life-time be not indigent: for it is better to die than to want.

30 The life of him that looketh toward another man's table is not to be counted a life: for he feedeth his ſoul with another man's meat.

31 But a man well inſtructed and taught, will look to himſelf.

32 Begging will be ſweet in the mouth of the unwiſe, but in his belly there ſhall burn a fire.

CHAP. XLI.

Of the remembrance of death: of an evil and of a good name: of what things we ought to be aſhamed.

O Death, how bitter is the remembrance of thee to a man that hath peace in his poſſeſſions:

2 To a man that is at reſt, and whoſe ways are proſperous in all things, and that is yet able to take meat!

3 O death, thy ſentence is welcome to the man that is in need, and to him whoſe ſtrength faileth.

4 Who is in a decrepit age, and that is in care about all things, and to the diſtruſtful that loſeth patience!

5 Fear not the ſentence of death. Remember what things have been before thee, and what ſhall come after thee: this ſentence is from the Lord upon all fleſh.

6 And what ſhall come upon thee by the good pleaſure of the moſt High? whether ten, or a hundred, or a thouſand years.

7 For among the dead there is no accuſing of life.

8 The children of ſinners become children of abominations, and they that converſe near the houſes of the ungodly.

9 The inheritance of the children of ſinners ſhall periſh, and with their poſterity ſhall be a perpetual reproach.

10 The children will complain of an ungodly father, becauſe for his ſake they are in reproach.

11 Wo to you, ungodly men, who have forſaken the law of the moſt high Lord.

12 And if you be born, you ſhall be born in malediction: and if you die, in malediction ſhall be your portion.

13 ‖ All things that are of the earth, ſhall return into the earth: ſo the ungodly ſhall from malediction to deſtruction. ‖ Supra 40. 11.

14 The mourning of men is about their body, but the name of the ungodly ſhall be blotted out.

15 Take care of a good name: for this ſhall continue with thee, more than a thouſand treaſures precious and great.

16 A good life hath its number of days: but a good name ſhall continue for ever.

17 My children, keep diſcipline in peace: ‖ for wiſdom that is hid, and a treaſure that is not ſeen, what profit is there in them both? ‖ Supra 20. 32.

18 Better is the man that hideth his folly, than the man that hideth his wiſdom.

19 Wherefore have a ſhame of theſe things I am now going to ſpeak of.

20 For it is not good to keep all ſhamefacedneſs: and all things do not pleaſe all men in opinion.

21 Be aſhamed of fornication before father and mother: and of a lie before a governor and a man in power:

22 Of an offence before a prince, and a judge: of iniquity before a congregation and a people:

23 Of injuſtice before companion and friend: and in regard to the place where thou dwelleſt,

24 Of theft, and of the truth of God, and the covenant: of leaning with thy elbow over meat, and of deceit in giving and taking:

25 Of ſilence before them that ſalute thee: of looking upon a harlot: and of turning away thy face from thy kinſman.

26 Turn not away thy face from thy neighbour, and of taking away a portion and not reſtoring.

‖ Matt. 5. 28. 27 ‖ Gaze not upon another man's wife, and be not inquiſitive after his handmaid, and approach not her bed.

28 Be aſhamed of upbraiding ſpeeches before friends: and after thou haſt given, upbraid not.

CHAP. XLII.

Of what things we ought not to be aſhamed. Cautions with regard to women. The works and greatneſs of God.

REPEAT not the word which thou haſt heard, and diſcloſe not the thing that is ſecret, ſo ſhalt thou be truly without confuſion, and ſhalt find favour before all men: be not aſhamed of any of theſe things, ‖ Lev. 19. 15. Deut. 1. 17. & 16. 19. Prov. 24. 23. James 2. 1. ‖ and accept no perſon to ſin thereby.

2 Of the law of the moſt High, and of his covenant, and of judgment to juſtify the ungodly.

3 Of the affair of companions and travellers, and of the gift of the inheritance of friends.

4 Of exactneſs of balance and weights, of getting much or little.

5 Of the corruption of buying, and of merchants, and of much correction of children, and to make the ſide of a wicked ſlave to bleed.

6 Sure keeping is good over a wicked wife.

7 Where there are many hands, ſhut up, and deliver all things in number, and weight: and put all in writing that thou giveſt out or receiveſt in.

8 Be not aſhamed to inform the unwiſe and fooliſh, and the aged, that are judged by young men: and thou ſhalt be well inſtructed in all things, and well approved in the ſight of all men living.

9 The father waketh for the daughter when no man knoweth, and the care for her taketh away his ſleep, when ſhe is young, leſt ſhe paſs away the flower of her age, and when ſhe is married leſt ſhe ſhould be hateful:

10 In her virginity, leſt ſhe ſhould be corrupted, and be found with child in her father's houſe: and having a huſband, leſt ſhe ſhould miſbehave herſelf, or at the leaſt become barren.

11 Keep a ſure watch over a ſhameleſs daughter: leſt at any time ſhe make thee become a laughing-ſtock to thy enemies, and a bye-word in the city, and a reproach among the people, and ſhe make thee aſhamed before all the multitude.

12 Behold not every body's beauty: and tarry not among women.

13 For from garments cometh a moth, and from a woman the iniquity of a man.

14 For better is the iniquity of a man, than a woman doing a good turn, and a woman bringing ſhame and reproach.

15 I will now remember the works of the Lord, and I will declare the things I have ſeen. By the words of the Lord are his works.

16 The ſun giving light hath looked upon all things, and full of the glory of the Lord is his work.

17 Hath not the Lord made the ſaints to declare all his wonderful works, which the Lord almighty hath firmly ſettled to be eſtabliſhed for his glory?

18 He hath ſearched out the deep, and the heart of men: and conſidered their crafty devices.

19 For the Lord knoweth all knowledge, and hath beheld the ſigns of the world, he declareth the things that are paſt, and the things that are to come, and revealeth the traces of hidden things.

CHAP. XLI. VER. 19. Have a ſhame, &c. That is, to ſay, Be aſhamed of doing any of theſe things, which I am now going to mention: for though ſometimes ſhamefacedneſs is not to be indulged: yet it is often good and neceſſary: as in the following caſes.

CHAP. XLII. VER. 14. Better is the iniquity, &c. That is, there is commonly ſpeaking, leſs danger to be apprehended to the ſoul from the churliſhneſs, or injuries we receive from men, than from the flattering favours and familiarity of women.

20 No thought eſcapeth him, and no word can hide itſelf from him.

21 He hath beautified the glorious works of his wiſdom: and he is from eternity to eternity, and to him nothing may be added,

22 Nor can he be diminiſhed, and he hath no need of any counſellor.

23 O how deſirable are all his works, and what we can know is but as a ſpark!

24 All theſe things live, and remain for ever, and for every uſe all things obey him.

25 All things are double, one againſt another, and he hath made nothing defective.

26 He hath eſtabliſhed the good things of every one. And who ſhall be filled with beholding his glory?

CHAP. XLIII.

The works of God are exceedingly glorious and wonderful: no man is able ſufficiently to praiſe him.

THE firmament on high is his beauty, the beauty of heaven with its glorious ſhew.

2 The ſun when he appeareth ſhewing forth at his riſing, an admirable inſtrument, the work of the moſt High.

3 At noon he burneth the earth, and who can abide his burning heat? As one keeping a furnace in works of heat:

4 The ſun three times as much, burneth the mountains, breathing out fiery vapours, and ſhining with his beams, he blindeth the eyes.

5 Great is the Lord that made him, and at his words he hath haſtened his courſe.

6 And the moon in all in her ſeaſon, is for a declaration of times and a ſign of the world.

7 From the moon is the ſign of the feſtival day, a light that decreaſeth in her perfection.

8 The month is called after her name, increaſing wonderfully in her perfection.

9 Being an inſtrument of the armies on high, ſhining gloriouſly in the firmament of heaven.

10 The glory of the ſtars is the beauty of heaven, the Lord enlighteneth the world on high.

11 By the words of the holy one they ſhall ſtand in judgment, and ſhall never fail in their watches.

12 Look upon the rainbow, and bleſs him that made it: ‖ it is very beautiful in its brightneſs. ‖ Gen. 9. 13.

13 It encompaſſeth the heaven about with the circle of its glory, the hands of the moſt High have diſplayed it.

14 By his commandment he maketh the ſnow to fall apace, and ſendeth forth ſwiftly the lightnings of his judgment.

15 Through this are the treaſures opened, and the clouds fly out like birds.

16 By his greatneſs he hath fixed the clouds, and the hailſtones are broken.

17 At his ſight ſhall the mountains be ſhaken, and at his will the ſouth wind ſhall blow.

18 The noiſe of his thunder ſhall ſtrike the earth, ſo doth the northern ſtorm, and the whirlwind:

19 And as the birds lighting upon the earth, he ſcattereth ſnow, and the falling thereof, is as the coming down of locuſts.

20 The eye admireth at the beauty of the whiteneſs thereof, and the heart is aſtoniſhed at the ſhower thereof.

21 He ſhall pour froſt as ſalt upon the earth: and when it freezeth, it ſhall become like the tops of thiſtles.

22 The cold north wind bloweth, and the water is congealed into cryſtal, upon every gathering together of waters it ſhall reſt, and ſhall clothe the waters as a breaſtplate.

23 And it ſhall devour the mountains, and burn the wilderneſs, and conſume all that is green as with fire.

24 A preſent remedy of all is the ſpeedy coming of a cloud, and a dew that meeteth it, by the heat that cometh, ſhall overpower it.

25 At his word the wind is ſtill, and with his thought he appeaſeth the deep, and the Lord hath planted iſlands therein.

26 Let them that ſail on the ſea, tell the dangers thereof: and when we hear with our ears, we ſhall admire.

27 There are great and wonderful works: a variety of beaſts, and of all living things, and the monſtrous creatures of whales.

28 Through him is eſtabliſhed the end of their journey, and by his word all things are regulated.

29 We ſhall ſay much, and yet ſhall want words: but the ſum of our words is, He is all.

30 What ſhall we be able to do to glorify him? for the Almighty himſelf is above all his works.

31 The Lord is terrible, and exceeding great, and his power is admirable.

32 Glorify the Lord as much as ever you can, for he will yet far exceed, and his magnificence is wonderful.

33 Bleſſing the Lord, exalt him as much as you can: for he is above all praiſe.

34 When you exalt him put forth all your strength, and be not weary: for you can never go far enough.

‖ Ps. 105. 2. 35 ‖ Who shall see him, and declare him? and who shall magnify him as he is from the beginning?

36 There are many things hidden from us that are greater than these: for we have seen but a few of his works.

37 But the Lord hath made all things, and to the godly he hath given wisdom.

CHAP. XLIV.

The praises of the holy fathers, in particular of Enoch, Noe, Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob.

LET us now praise men of renown, and our fathers in their generation.

2 The Lord hath wrought great glory through his magnificence from the beginning.

3 Such as have borne rule in their dominions, men of great power, and endued with their wisdom, shewing forth in the prophets the dignity of prophets,

4 And ruling over the present people, and by the strength of wisdom instructing the people in most holy words.

5 Such as by their skill sought out musical tunes, and published canticles of the scriptures.

6 Rich men in virtue, studying beautifulness: living at peace in their houses.

7 All these have gained glory in their generations, and were praised in their days.

8 They that were born of them have left a name behind them, that their praises might be related:

9 And there are some, of whom there is no memorial: who are perished, as if they had never been: and are born, as if they had never been born, and their children with them.

10 But these were men of mercy, whose godly deeds have not failed:

11 Good things continue with their seed,

12 Their posterity are a holy inheritance, and their seed hath stood in the covenants:

13 And their children for their sakes remain for ever: their seed and their glory shall not be forsaken.

14 Their bodies are buried in peace, and their name liveth unto generation and generation.

15 Let the people shew forth their wisdom, and the church declare their praise.

‖ Gen. 5. 24. Heb. 11. 5. 16 ‖ Henoch pleased God, and was translated into paradise, that he may give repentance to the nations.

‡ Gen. 9. 6. 17 ‡ Noe was found perfect, just, and in the time of wrath he was made a reconciliation.

18 Therefore was there a remnant left to the earth, when the flood came.

‖ Gen. 6. 14. & 7. 1. Heb. 11. 7. 19 ‖ The covenants of the world were made with him, that all flesh should no more be destroyed with the flood.

‡ Gen. 12. 2. 15. 5. & 17. 4. 20 ‡ Abraham was the great father of a multitude of nations, and there was not found the like to him in glory, who kept the law of the most High, and was in covenant with him.

‖ Gen. 17. 10. Gal. 3. 6. ‡ Gen. 22. 2. 21 ‖ In his flesh he established the covenant, ‡ and in temptation he was found faithful.

22 Therefore by an oath he gave him glory in his posterity, that he should increase as the dust of the earth,

23 And that he would exalt his seed as the stars, and they should inherit from sea to sea, and from the river to the ends of the earth.

24 And he did in like manner with Isaac for the sake of Abraham his father.

25 The Lord gave him the blessing of all nations, and confirmed his covenant upon the head of Jacob.

26 He acknowledged him in his blessings, and gave him an inheritance, and divided him his portion in twelve tribes.

27 And he preserved for him men of mercy, that found grace in the eyes of all flesh.

CHAP. XLV.

The praises of Moses, of Aaron, and of Phinees.

Exod. 11. 3. MOSES was beloved of God, and men: whose memory is in benediction.

2 He made him like the saints in glory, and magnified him in the fear of his enemies, and with his words he made prodigies to cease.

‖ Exod. 6. 7. & 8. 3 ‖ He glorified him in the sight of kings, and gave him commandments in the sight of his people, and shewed him his glory.

‡ Num. 12. 3. & 7. Heb. 3. 4 & 5. 4 ‡ He sanctified him in his faith and meekness, and chose him out of all flesh.

5 For he heard him, and his voice, and brought him into a cloud.

6 And he gave him commandments before his face, and a law of life and instruction, that he might teach Jacob his covenant, and Israel his judgments.

7 He exalted Aaron his brother, and like to himself of the tribe of Levi:

8 He made an everlasting covenant with him, and gave him the priesthood of the nation, and made him blessed in glory,

9 And he girded him about with a glorious girdle, and clothed him with a robe of glory, and crowned him with majeſtic attire.

10 He put upon him a garment to the feet, and breeches, and an ephod, and he compaſſed him with many little bells of gold all round about,

|| Exod. 28. 35. 11 || That as he went there might be a ſound, and a noiſe made that might be heard in the temple, for a memorial to the children of his people.

12 He gave him a holy robe of gold, and blue, and purple, a woven work, of a wiſe man, endued with judgment and truth:

13 Of twiſted ſcarlet the work of an artiſt, with precious ſtones cut and ſet in gold, and graven by the work of a lapidary for a memorial, according to the number of the tribes of Iſrael.

14 And a crown of gold upon his mitre wherein was engraved Holineſs, an ornament of honour: a work of power, and delightful to the eyes for its beauty.

15 Before him there were none ſo beautiful, even from the beginning.

16 No ſtranger was ever clothed with them, but only his children alone, and his grand children for ever.

17 His ſacrifices were conſumed with fire every day.

|| Lev. 8. 12. 18 || Moſes filled his hands, and anointed him with holy oil.

19 This was made to him for an everlaſting teſtament, and to his ſeed as the days of heaven, to execute the office of the prieſthood, and to have praiſe, and to glorify his people in his name.

20 He choſe him out of all men living, to offer ſacrifice to God, incenſe, and a good ſavour, for a memorial to make reconciliation for his people:

21 And he gave him power in his commandments, in the covenants of his judgments, that he ſhould teach Jacob his teſtimonies, and give light to Iſrael in his law.

|| Num. 16. 1. & 3. 22 || And ſtrangers ſtood up againſt him, and through envy the men that were with Dathan and Abiron, compaſſed him about in the wilderneſs, and the congregation of Core in their wrath.

23 The Lord God ſaw, and it pleaſed him not, and they were conſumed in his wrathful indignation.

24 He wrought wonders upon them, and conſumed them with a flame of fire.

25 And he added glory to Aaron, and gave him an inheritance, and divided unto him the firſt-fruits of the increaſe of the earth.

26 He prepared them bread in the firſt place unto fulneſs: for the ſacrifices alſo of the Lord they ſhall eat, which he gave to him, and to his ſeed.

27 But he ſhall not inherit among the people in the land, and he hath no portion among the people: for he himſelf is his portion and inheritance.

|| Num. 25. 7. 1 Mac. 2. 26. 54. 28 || Phinees the ſon of Eleazar is the third in glory, by imitating him in the fear of the Lord:

29 And he ſtood up in the ſhameful fall of the people: in the goodneſs and readineſs of his ſoul he appeaſed God for Iſrael.

30 Therefore he made to him a covenant of peace, to be the prince of the ſanctuary, and of his people, that the dignity of prieſthood ſhould be to him and to his ſeed for ever.

31 And a covenant to David the king, the ſon of Jeſſe of the tribe of Juda, an inheritance to him and to his ſeed, that he might give wiſdom into our heart to judge his people in juſtice, that their good things might not be aboliſhed, and he made their glory in their nation everlaſting.

CHAP. XLVI.

The praiſe of Joſue, of Caleb, and of Samuel.

VALIANT in war was Jeſus the ſon of Nave, who was ſucceſſor of Moſes among the prophets, who was great according to his name,

2 Very great for the ſaving the elect of God, to overthrow the enemies that roſe up againſt them, that he might get the inheritance for Iſrael.

3 How great glory did he gain when he lifted up his hands, and ſtretched out ſwords againſt the cities?

4 Who before him hath ſo reſiſted? for the Lord himſelf brought the enemies.

|| Joſue 10. 14. 5 || Was not the ſun ſtopped in his anger, and one day made as two?

6 He called upon the moſt High ſovereign when the enemies aſſaulted him on every ſide, and the great and holy God heard him by hail-ſtones of exceeding great force.

7 He made a violent aſſault againſt the nation of his enemies, and in the deſcent he deſtroyed the adverſaries,

8 That the nations might know his power, that it is not eaſy to fight againſt God. And he followed the mighty one:

CHAP. XLVI. VER. 1. Jeſus the ſon of Nave. So Joſue is named in the Greek bibles. For Joſue and Jeſus ſignify the ſame thing, viz. a Saviour.

VER. 7. And in the deſcent of Bethoron (Joſue ch. x.)

‖ Num. 14. 6.

9 ‖ And in the days of Moſes he did a work of mercy, he and Caleb the ſon of Jephone, in ſtanding againſt the enemy, and withholding the people from ſins, and appeaſing the wicked murmuring.

10 And they two being appointed, were delivered out of the danger from among the number of ſix hundred thouſand men on foot, to bring them into their inheritance, into the land that floweth with milk and honey.

11 And the Lord gave ſtrength alſo to Caleb, and his ſtrength continued even to his old age, ſo that he went up to the high places of the land, and his ſeed obtained it for an inheritance:

12 That all the children of Iſrael might ſee, that it is good to obey the holy God.

13 Then all the judges, every one by name, whoſe heart was not corrupted: who turned not away from the Lord,

14 That their memory might be bleſſed, and their bones ſpring up out of their place,

15 And their name continue for ever, the glory of the holy men remaining unto their children.

16 Samuel the prophet of the Lord, the beloved of the Lord his God, eſtabliſhed a new government, and anointed princes over his people.

17 By the law of the Lord he judged the congregation, and the God of Jacob beheld, and by his fidelity he was proved a prophet.

18 And he was known to be faithful in his words, becauſe he ſaw the God of light:

‖ 1 Kings ch. 7. 19 ‖ And called upon the name of the Lord Almighty, in fighting againſt the enemies who beſet him on every ſide, when he offered a lamb without blemiſh.

20 And the Lord thundered from heaven, and with a great noiſe made his voice to be heard;

21 And he cruſhed the princes of the Tyrians, and all the lords of the Philiſtines:

‖ 1 Kings 12. 22 ‖ And before the time of the end of his life in the world, he proteſted before the Lord, and his anointed: money, ‡ Gen. 14. 23. or any thing elſe, ‡ even to a ſhoe, he had not taken of any man, and no man did accuſe him.

‖ 1 Kings 38. 18. 23 And after this he ſlept, ‖ and he made known to the king, and ſhewed him the end of his life, and he lifted up his voice from the earth in prophecy to blot out the wickedneſs of the nation.

CHAP. XLVII.

The praiſe of Nathan, of David, and of Solomon: of his fall and puniſhment.

THEN Nathan the prophet aroſe in the days of David. 2 Kings 12. 1.

2 And as the fat taken away from the fleſh, ſo was David choſen from among the children of Iſrael.

3 ‖ He played with lions as with lambs: and with bears he did in like manner as with the lambs of the flock, in his youth. ‖ 1 Kings 17. 34.

4 ‖ Did not he kill the giant, and take away reproach from his people? ‖ 1 Kings 17. 49.

5 In lifting up his hand, with the ſtone in the ſling he beat down the boaſting of Goliah:

6 For he called upon the Lord the Almighty, and he gave ſtrength in his right hand, to take away the mighty warrior, and to ſet up the horn of his nation.

7 ‖ So in ten thouſand did he glorify him, and praiſed him in the bleſſings of the Lord, in offering to him a crown of glory: ‖ 1 Kings 18. 7.

8 For he deſtroyed the enemies on every ſide, and extirpated the Philiſtines the adverſaries unto this day: he broke their horn for ever.

9 In all his works he gave thanks to the holy One, and to the moſt High, with words of glory.

10 With his whole heart he praiſed the Lord, and loved God that made him: and he gave him power againſt his enemies:

11 And he ſet ſingers before the altar, and by their voices he made ſweet melody.

12 And to the feſtivals he added beauty, and ſet in order the ſolemn times even to the end of his life, that they ſhould praiſe the holy name of the Lord, and magnify the holineſs of God in the morning.

13 ‖ The Lord took away his ſins, and exalted his horn for ever: and he gave him a covenant of the kingdom, and a throne of glory in Iſrael. ‖ 2 Kings 12. 13.

14 After him aroſe up a wiſe ſon, and for his ſake he caſt down all the power of the enemies.

15 ‖ Solomon reigned in days of peace, and God brought all his enemies under him, that he might build a houſe in his name, and prepare a ſanctuary for ever: O how wiſe waſt thou in thy youth! ‖ 3 Kings 3. 1.

16 ‖ And thou waſt filled as a river with wiſdom, and thy ſoul covered the earth. ‖ 3 Kings 4. 31.

17 And thou didſt multiply riddles in parables: thy name went abroad to the iſlands far off, and thou waſt beloved in thy peace.

18 The countries wondered at thee for thy canticles, and proverbs, and parables, and interpretations,

19 And at the name of the Lord God, whose surname is, God of Israel.

20 ‖ Thou didst gather gold as copper, and didst multiply silver as lead, ‖ 3 Kings 10. 27.

21 And thou didst bow thyself to women: and by thy body thou wast brought under subjection,

22 Thou hast stained thy glory, and defiled thy seed so as to bring wrath upon thy children, and to have thy folly kindled,

23 That thou shouldst make the kingdom to be divided, ‖ and out of Ephraim a rebellious kingdom to rule. ‖ 3 Kings 12. 10.

24 But God will not leave off his mercy, and he will not destroy, nor abolish his own works, neither will he cut up by the roots the offspring of his elect: and he will not utterly take away the seed of him that loveth the Lord.

25 Wherefore he gave a remnant to Jacob, and to David of the same stock.

26 And Solomon had an end with his fathers.

27 And he left behind him of his seed, the folly of the nation,

28 Even Roboam that had little wisdom, who turned away the people through his counsel:

29 ‖ And Jeroboam the son of Nabat, who caused Israel to sin, and shewed Ephraim the way of sin, and their sins were multiplied exceedingly. ‖ 3 Kings 12. 28.

30 They removed them far away from their land.

31 And they sought out all iniquities, till vengeance came upon them, and put an end to all their sins.

CHAP. XLVIII.

The praise of Elias, of Eliseus, of Ezechias, and of Isaias.

3 Kings 17. 1. AND Elias the prophet stood up, as a fire, and his word burnt like a torch.

2 He brought a famine upon them, and they that provoked him in their envy, were reduced to a small number, for they could not endure the commandments of the Lord.

‖ 3 Kings 17. 1. 4 Kings 1. 10. & 12. 3 ‖ By the word of the Lord he shut up the heaven, and he brought down fire from heaven thrice.

4 Thus was Elias magnified in his wondrous works. And who can glory like to thee?

‡ 3 Kings 17. 22. 5 ‡ Who raisedst up a dead man from below, from the lot of death, by the word of the Lord God.

6 Who broughtest down kings to destruction, and brokest easily their power in pieces, and the glorious from their bed.

7 Who heardst judgment in Sina, and in Horeb the judgments of vengeance.

8 Who anointest kings to penance, and makest prophets successors after thee.

9 ‖ Who wast taken up in a whirlwind of fire, in a chariot of fiery horses. ‖ 4 Kings 2. 11.

10 Who art registered in the judgments of times to appease the wrath of the Lord, ‖ to reconcile the heart of the father to the son, and to restore the tribes of Jacob. ‖ Malac. 4. 6.

11 Blessed are they that saw thee, and were honoured with thy friendship.

12 For we live only in our life, but after death our name shall not be such.

13 ‖ Elias was indeed covered with the whirlwind, and his spirit was filled up in Eliseus: in his days he feared not the prince, and no man was more powerful than he. ‖ 4 Kings 2. 12.

14 No word could overcome him, ‖ and after death his body prophesied. ‖ 4 Kings 13. 21.

15 In his life he did great wonders, and in death he wrought miracles.

16 For all this the people repented not, neither did they depart from their sins, till they were cast out of their land, and were scattered through all the earth.

17 And there was left but a small people, and a prince in the house of David.

18 Some of these did that which pleased God: but others committed many sins.

19 Ezechias fortified his city, and brought in water into the midst thereof, and he digged a rock with iron, and made a well for water.

20 ‖ In his days Sennacherib came up, and sent Rabsaces, and lifted up his hand against them, and he stretched out his hand against Sion, and became proud through his power. ‖ 4 Kings 18. 13.

21 Then their hearts and hands trembled: and they were in pain as women in travail.

22 And they called upon the Lord who is merciful, and spreading their hands, they lifted them up to heaven: and the holy Lord God quickly heard their voice.

23 He was not mindful of their sins, neither did he deliver them up to their enemies, but he purified them by the hand of Isaias the holy prophet.

24 ‖ He overthrew the army of the Assyrians, and the angel of the Lord destroyed them. ‖ 4 Kings 19. 35. Tobias 1. 21. Isai. 37. 36. 1 Mac. 7. 41. 2 Mac. 8. 19.

25 For Ezechias did that which pleased God, and walked valiantly in the way of David his father, which Isaias, the great prophet, and faithful in the sight of God, had commanded him.

‡ 4 Kings 20. 11. Isaias 38. 1.

26 ‖ In his days the sun went backward, and he lengthened the king's life.

27 With a great spirit he saw the things that are to come to pass at last, and comforted the mourners in Sion.

28 He shewed what should come to pass for ever, and secret things before they came.

CHAP. XLIX.

The praise of Josias, of Jeremias, Ezechiel, and the twelve prophets. Also of Zorobabel, Jesus the son of Josedech, Nehemias, Enoch, Joseph, Seth, Sem, and Adam.

4 Kings 22. 1.

THE memory of Josias is like the composition of a sweet smell made by the art of a perfumer:

2 His remembrance shall be sweet as honey in every mouth, and as music at a banquet of wine.

3 He was directed by God unto the repentance of the nation, and he took away the abominations of wickedness.

4 And he directed his heart towards the Lord, and in the days of sinners he strengthened godliness.

5 Except, David and Ezechias, and Josias, all committed sin.

6 For the kings of Juda forsook the law of the most High, and despised the fear of God.

7 So they gave their kingdom to others, and their glory to a strange nation.

‖ 4 Kings 25. 9. 8 ‖ They burnt the chosen city of holiness, and made the streets thereof desolate according to the prediction of Jeremias.

9 For they treated him evil, who was consecrated a prophet from his mother's womb, to overthrow, and pluck up, and destroy, and to build again, and renew.

‖ Ezec. 1. 4. 10 ‖ It was Ezechiel who saw the glorious vision, which was shewn him upon the chariot of cherubims.

11 For he made mention of the enemies under the figure of rain, and of doing good to them that shewed right ways.

12 And may the bones of the twelve prophets spring up out of their place: for they strengthened Jacob, and redeemed themselves by strong faith.

‖ 1. Esdr. 3. 2. Aggeus 1. 14. & 2. & 3. 5. & 22. 24. ‡ Zach 3. 1. 13 ‖ How shall we magnify Zorobabel? for he was as a signet on the right hand;

14 ‡ In like manner Jesus the son of Josedec? who in their days built the house, and set up a holy temple to the Lord, prepared for everlasting glory.

15 And let Nehemias be a long time remembered, who raised up for us our walls that were cast down, and set up the gates and the bars, who rebuilt our houses.

16 No man was born upon earth like Henoch: for he also was taken up from the earth.

‖ Gen. 41. 40. 42. 5. 45. 5. & 50. 20. 17 ‖ Nor as Joseph, who was a man born prince of his brethren, the support of his family, the ruler of his brethren, the stay of the people:

18 And his bones were visited, and after death they prophesied.

‡ Gen. 4. 25. 19 ‡ Seth, and Sem obtained glory among men: and above every soul Adam in the beginning.

CHAP. L.

The praises of Simon the high priest. The conclusion.

1 Mac. 12. 6. 2 Mac. 3. 4. SIMON the high priest, the son of Onias, who in his life propped up the house, and in his days fortified the temple.

2 By him also the height of the temple was founded, the double building and the high walls of the temple.

3 In his days the wells of water flowed out, and they were filled as the sea above measure.

4 He took care of his nation, and delivered it from destruction.

5 He prevailed to enlarge the city, and obtained glory in his conversation with the people: and enlarged the entrance of the house, and the court.

6 He shone in his days as the morning star in the midst of a cloud, and as the moon at the full.

7 And as the sun when it shineth, so did he shine in the temple of God.

8 And as the rainbow giving light in the bright clouds, and as the flower of roses in the days of the spring, and as the lilies that are on the brink of the water, and as the sweet smelling frankincense in the time of summer.

9 As a bright fire, and frankincense burning in the fire.

10 As a massy vessel of gold, adorned with every precious stone.

11 As an olive-tree budding forth, and a cypress-tree rearing itself on high, when he put on the robe of glory, and was clothed with the perfection of power.

12 When he went up to the holy altar, he honoured the vesture of holiness,

---

CHAP. XLIX. VER. 18. They prophesied. That is, by their being carried out of Egypt they verified the prophetic prediction of Joseph, Gen. l.

CHAP. L. VER. 11. Clothed with the perfection of power. That is, with all the vestments denoting his dignity and authortiy.

13 And when he took the portions out of the hands of the prieſts, he himſelf ſtood by the altar. And about him was the ring of his brethren: and as the cedar planted in mount Libanus,

14 And as branches of palm-trees, they ſtood round about him, and all the ſons of Aaron in their glory.

15 And the oblation of the Lord was in their hands, before all the congregation of Iſrael: and finiſhing his ſervice, on the altar, to honour the offering of the moſt High king,

16 He ſtretched forth his hand to make a libation, and offered of the blood of the grape.

17 He poured out at the foot of the altar a divine odour to the moſt high Prince.

18 Then the ſons of Aaron ſhouted, they ſounded with beaten trumpets, and made a great noiſe to be heard for a remembrance before God.

19 Then all the people together made haſte, and fell down to the earth upon their faces, to adore the Lord their God, and to pray to the Almighty God the moſt High.

20 And the ſingers lifted up their voices, and in the great houſe the ſound of ſweet melody was increaſed.

21 And the people in prayer beſought the Lord the moſt High, until the worſhip of the Lord was perfected, and they had finiſhed their office.

22 Then coming down, he lifted up his hands over all the congregation of the children of Iſrael, to give glory to God with his lips, and to glory in his name:

23 And he repeated his prayer, willing to ſhew the power of God.

24 And now pray ye to the God of all, who hath done great things in all the earth, who hath increaſed our days from our mother's womb, and hath done with us according to his mercy:

25 May he grant us joyfulneſs of heart, and that there be peace in our days in Iſrael for ever.

26 That Iſrael may believe that the mercy of God is with us, to deliver us in his days.

27 There are two nations which my ſoul abhorreth: and the third is no nation, which I hate:

28 They that ſit on mount Seir, and the Philiſtines, and the fooliſh people that dwell in Sichem.

29 Jeſus the ſon of Sirach, of Jeruſalem, hath written in this book the doctrine of wiſdom and inſtruction, who renewed wiſdom from his heart.

30 Bleſſed is he that is converſant in theſe good things: and he that layeth them up in his heart, ſhall be wiſe always.

31 For if he do them, he ſhall be ſtrong to do all things: becauſe the light of God guideth his ſteps.

CHAP. LI.

A prayer of praiſe and thankſgiving.

A Prayer of Jeſus the ſon of Sirach. I will give glory to thee, O Lord, O king, and I will praiſe thee, O God my ſaviour.

2 I will give glory to thy name: for thou haſt been a helper and protector to me.

3 And haſt preſerved my body from deſtruction, from the ſnare of an unjuſt tongue, and from the lips of them that forge lies, and in the ſight of them that ſtood by, thou haſt been my helper.

4 And thou haſt delivered me, according to the multitude of the mercy of thy name, from them that did roar, prepared to devour.

5 Out of the hands of them that ſought my life, and from the gates of afflictions, which compaſſed me about:

6 From the oppreſſion of the flame which ſurrounded me, and in the midſt of the fire I was not burnt.

7 From the depth of the belly of hell, and from an unclean tongue, and from lying words, from an unjuſt king, and from a ſlanderous tongue:

8 My ſoul ſhall praiſe the Lord even to death.

9 And my life was drawing near to hell beneath.

10 They compaſſed me on every ſide, and there was no one that would help me. I looked for the ſuccour of men, and there was none.

11 I remembered thy mercy, O Lord, and thy works, which are from the beginning of the world.

12 How thou deliverеſt them that wait for thee, O Lord, and ſaveſt them out of the hands of the nations.

13 Thou haſt exalted my dwelling-place upon the earth, and I have prayed for death to paſs away.

14 I called upon the Lord, the father of

VER. 27. Abhorreth, viz. With a holy indignation, as enemies of God and perſecutors of his people. Such were then the Edomites who abode in mount Seir, the Philiſtines, and the Samaritans who dwelt in Sichem, and had their ſchiſmatical temple in that neighbourhood.

my Lord, that he would not leave me in the day of my trouble, and in the time of the proud, without help.

15 I will praiſe thy name continually, and will praiſe it with thankſgiving, and my prayer was heard.

16 And thou haſt ſaved me from deſtruction, and haſt delivered me from the evil time.

17 Therefore I will give thanks, and praiſe thee, and bleſs the name of the Lord.

18 When I was yet young, before I wandered about, I ſought for wiſdom openly in my prayer.

19 I prayed for her before the temple, and unto the very end I will ſeek after her, and ſhe flouriſhed as a grape ſoon ripe.

20 My heart delighted in her, my foot walked in the right way, from my youth up I ſought after her.

21 I bowed down my ear a little, and received her.

22 I found much wiſdom in myſelf, and I profited much therein.

23 To him that giveth me wiſdom, will I give glory.

24 For I have determined to follow her: I have had a zeal for good, and ſhall not be confounded.

25 My ſoul hath wreſtled for her, and in doing it I have been confirmed.

26 I ſtretched forth my hands on high, and I bewailed my ignorance of her.

27 I directed my ſoul to her, and in knowledge I found her.

28 I poſſeſſed my heart with her from the beginning: therefore I ſhall not be forſaken.

29 My entrails were troubled in ſeeking her: therefore ſhall I poſſeſs a good poſſeſſion.

30 The Lord hath given me a tongue for my reward: and with it I will praiſe him.

31 Draw near to me, ye unlearned, and gather yourſelves together into the houſe of diſcipline.

32 Why are ye ſlow? and what do you ſay of theſe things? your ſouls are exceeding thirſty.

33 I have opened my mouth, and have ſpoken: buy her for yourſelves without ſilver,

34 And ſubmit your neck to the yoke, and let your ſoul receive diſcipline: for ſhe is near at hand to be found.

35 Behold with your eyes how I have laboured a little, and have found much reſt to myſelf.

36 Receive ye diſcipline as a great ſum of money, and poſſeſs abundance of gold by her.

37 Let your ſoul rejoice in his mercy, and you ſhall not be confounded in his praiſe.

38 Work your work before the time, and he will give you your reward in his time.

THE PROPHECY OF ISAIAS.

This inſpired writer, is called by the Holy Ghoſt, Eccleſiaſtic. xlviii. 25. the great prophet; from the greatneſs of his prophetic ſpirit, by which he hath foretold, ſo long before, and in ſo clear a manner, the coming of Chriſt, the myſteries of our redemption, the calling of the Gentiles, and the glorious eſtabliſhment, and perpetual flouriſhing of the church of Chriſt: inſomuch that he may ſeem to have been rather an evangeliſt than a prophet. His very name is not without myſtery: for Iſaias in Hebrew ſignifies the ſalvation of the Lord, or, Jeſus is the Lord. He was, according to the tradition of the Hebrews, of the blood royal of the kings of Juda: and after a moſt holy life, ended his days by a glorious martyrdom; being ſawed in two, at the command of his wicked ſon-in-law, king Manaſſes, for reproving his evil ways.

CHAP. I.

The prophet complains of the ſins of Juda and Jeruſalem: and exhorts them to a ſincere converſion.

THE viſion of Iſaias the ſon of Amos, which he ſaw concerning Juda and Jeruſalem in the days of Ozias, * Joathan, Achaz, and Ezechias, kings of Juda. * A. M. 3219. Ante C. 785.

2 Hear, O ye heavens, and give ear, O earth, for the Lord hath ſpoken. I have brought up children, ‖ and exalted them: but they have deſpiſed me. ‖ Oſee ii. 3.

3 The ox knoweth his owner, and the

4 Wo to the ſinful nation, a people laden with iniquity, a wicked ſeed, ungracious children: they have forſaken the Lord, they have blaſphemed the holy one of Iſrael, they are gone away backwards.

5 For what ſhall I ſtrike you any more, you that increaſe tranſgreſſion? the whole head is ſick, and the whole heart is ſad.

6 From the ſole of the foot unto the top of the head, there is no ſoundneſs therein: wounds and bruiſes and ſwelling ſores: they are not bound up, nor dreſſed, nor fomented with oil.

‖ Infra 5.6. 7 ‖ Your land is deſolate, your cities are burnt with fire: your country ſtrangers devour before your face, and it ſhall be deſolate as when waſted by enemies.

10 Hear the word of the Lord, ye rulers of Sodom, give ear to the law of our God, ye people of Gomorrha.

‖ Jerem. 6. 20. Amos 5. 21. 11 ‖ To what purpoſe do you offer me the multitude of your victims, ſaith the Lord? I am full, I deſire not holocauſts of rams, and fat of fatlings, and blood of calves, and lambs, and buck-goats.

12 When you came to appear before me, who required theſe things at your hands, that you ſhould walk in my courts?

13 Offer ſacrifice no more in vain: incenſe is an abomination to me. The new moons, and the ſabbaths, and other feſtivals I will not abide, your aſſemblies are wicked.

14 My ſoul hateth your new moons, and your ſolemnities: they are become troubleſome to me, I am weary of bearing them.

15 And when you ſtretch forth your hands, I will turn away my eyes from you: and when you multiply prayer, I will not hear: ‖ for your hands are full of blood.

‖ Infra 59. 3.

† 1 Peter 3. 11. 16 † Waſh yourſelves, be clean, take away the evil of your devices from my eyes: ceaſe to do perverſely,

17 Learn to do well: ſeek judgment, relieve the oppreſſed, judge for the fatherleſs, defend the widow.

18 And then come, and accuſe me, ſaith the Lord: if your ſins be as ſcarlet, they ſhall be made as white as ſnow: and if they be red as crimſon, they ſhall be white as wool.

19 If you be willing, and will hearken to me, you ſhall eat the good things of the land.

20 But if you will not, and will provoke me to wrath: the ſword ſhall devour you, becauſe the mouth of the Lord hath ſpoken it.

21 How is the faithful city, that was full of judgment, become a harlot? juſtice dwelt in it, but now murderers.

22 Thy ſilver is turned into droſs: thy wine is mingled with water.

23 Thy princes are faithleſs, companions of thieves: they all love bribes, they run after rewards. ‖ They judge not for the fatherleſs: and the widow's cauſe cometh not in to them.

‖ Jerem. 5. 28.

24 Therefore ſaith the Lord the God of hoſts the mighty one of Iſrael: Ah! I will comfort myſelf over my adverſaries: and I will be revenged of my enemies.

25 And I will turn my hand to thee, and I will clean purge away thy droſs, and I will take away all thy tin.

26 And I will reſtore thy judges as they were before, and thy counſellors as of old. After this thou ſhalt be called the city of the juſt, a faithful city.

27 Sion ſhall be redeemed in judgment, and they ſhall bring her back in juſtice.

28 And he ſhall deſtroy the wicked, and the ſinners together: and they that have forſaken the Lord, ſhall be conſumed.

29 For they ſhall be confounded for the idols, to which they have ſacrificed: and you ſhall be aſhamed of the gardens which you had choſen.

30 When you ſhall be as an oak with the leaves falling off, and as a garden without water.

31 And your ſtrength ſhall be as the aſhes of tow, and your work as a ſpark: and both ſhall burn together, and there ſhall be none to quench it.

CHAP. II.

All nations ſhall flow to the church of Chriſt. The Jews ſhall be rejected for their ſins. Idolatry ſhall be deſtroyed.

THE word that Iſaias the ſon of Amos ſaw, concerning Juda and Jeruſalem.

Micheas 4. 1.

2 And in the laſt days the mountain of the houſe of the Lord ſhall be prepared on the top of mountains, and it ſhall be exalted above the hills, and all nations ſhall flow unto it.

3 And many people ſhall go, and ſay: Come and let us go up to the mountain of the Lord, and to the houſe of the God of Jacob, and he will teach us his ways, and we will walk in his paths: for the law ſhall come forth from Sion, and the word of the Lord from Jeruſalem.

4 And he ſhall judge the Gentiles, and rebuke many people: and they ſhall turn their ſwords into plough-ſhares, and their ſpears into ſickles: nation ſhall not lift up ſword againſt nation, neither ſhall they be exerciſed any more to war.

5 O houſe of Jacob, come ye, and let us walk in the light of the Lord.

6 For thou haſt caſt off thy people, the houſe of Jacob: becauſe they are filled as in times paſt, and have had ſoothſayers as the Philiſtines, and have adhered to ſtrange children.

7 Their land is filled with ſilver and gold: and there is no end of their treaſures.

8 And their land is filled with horſes: and their chariots are innumerable. Their land alſo is full of idols: they have adored the work of their own hands, which their own fingers have made.

9 And man hath bowed himſelf down, and man hath been debaſed: therefore forgive them not.

10 Enter thou into the rock, and hide thee in the pit from the face of the fear of the Lord, and from the glory of his majeſty.

11 The lofty eyes of man are humbled, and the haughtineſs of men ſhall be made to ſtoop: and the Lord alone ſhall be exalted in that day.

12 Becauſe the day of the Lord of hoſts ſhall be upon every one that is proud and high-minded, and upon every one that is arrogant, and he ſhall be humbled.

13 And upon all the tall and lofty cedars of Libanus, and upon all the oaks of Baſan.

14 And upon all the high mountains, and upon all the elevated hills.

15 And upon every high tower, and every fenced wall.

16 And upon all the ſhips of Tharſis, and upon all that is fair to behold.

17 And the loftineſs of men ſhall be bowed down, and the haughtineſs of men ſhall be humbled, and the Lord alone ſhall be exalted in that day.

18 And idols ſhall be utterly deſtroyed.

19 ‖ And they ſhall go into the holes of rocks, and into the caves of the earth from the face of the fear of the Lord, and from the glory of his majeſty, when he ſhall riſe up to ſtrike the earth. ‖ Oſee 10. 8. Luke 23. 30. Apoc. 6. 16.

20 In that day a man ſhall caſt away his idols of ſilver, and his idols of gold, which he had made for himſelf to adore, moles and bats.

21 And he ſhall go into the clifts of rocks, and into the holes of ſtones from the face of the fear of the Lord, and from the glory of his majeſty, when he ſhall riſe up to ſtrike the earth.

22 Ceaſe ye therefore from the man, whoſe breath is in his noſtrils, for he is reputed high.

CHAP. III.

The confuſion and other evils that ſhall come upon the Jews for their ſins. The pride of their women ſhall be puniſhed.

FOR behold the ſovereign the Lord of hoſts ſhall take away from Jeruſalem, and from Juda the valiant and the ſtrong, the whole ſtrength of bread, and the whole ſtrength of water.

2 The ſtrong man, and the man of war, the judge, and the prophet, and the cunning man, and the ancient.

3 The captain over fifty, and the honourable in countenance, and the counſellor, and the architect, and the ſkilful in eloquent ſpeech.

4 ‖ And I will give children to be their princes, and the effeminate ſhall rule over them. ‖ Eccli. 10. 16.

5 And the people ſhall ruſh one upon another, and every man againſt his neighbour: the child ſhall make a tumult againſt the ancient, and the baſe againſt the honourable.

CHAP. II. VER. 2. The laſt days. The whole time of the new law, from the coming of Chriſt till the end of the world, is called in the ſcripture the laſt days; becauſe no other age, or time ſhall come after it, but only eternity.

Ibid. On the top of mountains, &c. This ſhews the perpetual viſibility of the church of Chriſt: for a mountain upon the top of mountains cannot be hid.

VER. 18. Idols ſhall be utterly deſtroyed; or utterly paſs away. This was verified by the eſtabliſhment of chriſtianity. And by this and other texts of the like nature, the wild ſyſtem of ſome modern ſectaries is abundantly confuted, who charge the whole chriſtian church with worſhipping idols, for many ages.

6 For a man ſhall take hold of his brother, one of the houſe of his father, ſaying: Thou haſt a garment, be thou our ruler, and let this ruin be under thy hand.

7 In that day he ſhall anſwer, ſaying: I am no healer, and in my houſe there is no bread, nor clothing: make me not ruler of the people.

8 For Jeruſalem is ruined, and Juda is fallen: becauſe their tongue, and their devices are againſt the Lord, to provoke the eyes of his majeſty.

9 The ſhew of their countenance hath anſwered them: and they have proclaimed abroad their ſin as Sodom, and they have not hid it: wo to their ſoul, for evils are rendered to them.

10 Say to the juſt man that it is well, for he ſhall eat the fruit of his doings.

11 Wo to the wicked unto evil: for the reward of his hands ſhall be given him.

12 As for my people, their oppreſſors have ſtripped them, and women have ruled over them. O my people, || they that call thee bleſſed, the ſame deceive thee, and deſtroy the way of thy ſteps. || Ezec. 13. 18.

13 The Lord ſtandeth up to judge, and he ſtandeth to judge the people.

14 The Lord will enter into judgment with the ancients of his people, and its princes: for you have devoured the vineyard, and the ſpoil of the poor is in your houſe.

15 Why do you conſume my people, and grind the faces of the poor, ſaith the Lord the God of hoſts?

16 And the Lord ſaid: Becauſe the daughters of Sion are haughty, and have walked with ſtretched-out necks, and wanton glances of their eyes, and made a noiſe as they walked with their feet, and moved in a ſet pace:

17 The Lord will make bald the crown of the head of the daughters of Sion, and the Lord will diſcover their hair.

18 In that day the Lord will take away the ornaments of ſhoes, and little moons,

19 And chains and neck-laces, and bracelets, and bonnets,

20 And bodkins, and ornaments of the legs, and tablets, and ſweet balls, and earrings,

21 And rings, and jewels hanging on the forehead,

22 And changes of apparel, and ſhort cloaks, and fine linen, and criſping pins,

23 And looking-glaſſes, and lawns, and headbands, and fine veils.

24 And inſtead of a ſweet ſmell there ſhall be ſtench, and inſtead of a girdle a cord, and inſtead of curled hair baldneſs, and inſtead of a ſtomacher hair-cloth.

25 Thy faireſt men alſo ſhall fall by the ſword, and thy valiant ones in battle.

26 And her gates ſhall lament and mourn, and ſhe ſhall ſit deſolate on the ground.

CHAP. IV.

After an extremity of evils that ſhall fall upon the Jews, a remnant ſhall be comforted by Chriſt.

AND in that day ſeven women ſhall take hold of one man, ſaying: We will eat our own bread, and wear our own apparel: only let us be called by thy name, take away our reproach.

2 In that day the bud of the Lord ſhall be in magnificence and glory, and the fruit of the earth ſhall be high, and a great joy to them that ſhall have eſcaped of Iſrael.

3 And it ſhall come to paſs, that every one that ſhall be left in Sion, and that ſhall remain in Jeruſalem, ſhall be called holy, every one that is written in life in Jeruſalem.

4 If the Lord ſhall waſh away the filth of the daughters of Sion, and ſhall waſh away the blood of Jeruſalem out of the midſt thereof, by the ſpirit of judgment, and by the ſpirit of burning.

5 And the Lord will create upon every place of mount Sion, and where he is called upon, a cloud by day, and a ſmoke and the brightneſs of a flaming fire in the night: for over all the glory ſhall be a protection.

6 And there ſhall be a tabernacle for a ſhade in the day-time from the heat, and for a ſecurity and covert from the whirlwind, and from rain.

CHAP. V.

The reprobation of the Jews is foreſhewn under the parable of a vineyard. A woe is pronounced againſt ſinners: the army God ſhall ſend againſt them.

I WILL ſing to my beloved the canticle of my couſin concerning his vineyard. My beloved had a vineyard on a hill in a fruitful place. Jerem. 2. 21. Mat. 21. 33.

CHAP. IV. VER. 2. The bud of the Lord. That is, Chriſt.

CHAP. V. VER. 1. My couſin. So the prophet calls Chriſt, as being of his family and kindred, by deſcending from the houſe of David.

Ibid. On a hill, &c. Literally, in the horn, the ſon of oil.

2 And he fenced it in, and picked the ſtones out of it, and planted it with the choiceſt wines, and built a tower in the midſt thereof, and ſet up a wine-preſs therein: and he looked that it ſhould bring forth grapes, and it brought forth wild grapes.

3 And now, O ye inhabitants of Jeruſalem, and ye men of Juda, judge between me and my vineyard.

4 What is there that I ought to do more to my vineyard, that I have not done to it? was it that I looked that it ſhould bring forth grapes, and it hath brought forth wild grapes?

5 And now I will ſhew you what I will do to my vineyard. I will take away the hedge thereof, and it ſhall be waſted: I will break down the wall thereof, and it ſhall be trodden down.

6 And I will make it deſolate: it ſhall not be pruned, and it ſhall not be digged: but briers and thorns ſhall come up: and I will command the clouds to rain no rain upon it.

7 For the vineyard of the Lord of hoſts is the houſe of Iſrael: and the man of Juda, his pleaſant plant: and I looked that he ſhould do judgment, and behold iniquity: and do juſtice, and behold a cry.

8 Wo to you that join houſe to houſe and lay field to field, even to the end of the place: ſhall you alone dwell in the midſt of the earth?

9 Theſe things are in my ears, ſaith the Lord of hoſts: Unleſs many great and fair houſes ſhall become deſolate, without an inhabitant.

10 For ten acres of vineyard ſhall yield one little meaſure, and thirty buſhels of ſeed ſhall yield three buſhels.

11 Wo to you that riſe up early in the morning to follow drunkenneſs, and to drink till the evening, to be inflamed with wine.

12 The harp, and the lyre, and the timbrel, and the pipe, and wine are in your feaſts: and the work of the Lord you regard not, nor do you conſider the works of his hands.‖

‖ Amos 6. 6.

13 Therefore is my people led away captive, becauſe they had not knowledge, and their nobles have periſhed with famine, and their multitude were dried up with thirſt.

14 Therefore hath hell enlarged her ſoul, and opened her mouth without any bounds, and their ſtrong ones, and their people, and their high and glorious ones ſhall go down into it.

15 And man * ſhall be brought down, and man * ſhall be humbled, and the eyes of the lofty ſhall be brought low.

* i. e mean.

* i. e. noble. man.

16 And the Lord of hoſts ſhall be exalted in judgment, and the holy God ſhall be ſanctified in juſtice.

17 And the lambs ſhall feed according to their order, and ſtrangers ſhall eat the deſerts turned into fruitfulneſs.

18 Wo to you that draw iniquity with cords of vanity, and ſin as the rope of a cart.

19 That ſay: Let him make haſte, and let his work come quickly, that we may ſee it: and let the counſel of the holy one of Iſrael come, that we may know it.

20 Wo to you that call evil good, and good evil: that put darkneſs for light, and light for darkneſs: that put bitter for ſweet, and ſweet for bitter.

21 ‖ Wo to you that are wiſe in your own eyes, and prudent in your own conceits.

‖ Prov. 3. 7. Rom. 12. 16.

22 Wo to you that are mighty to drink wine, and ſtout men at drunkenneſs.

23 That juſtify the wicked for gifts, and take away the juſtice of the juſt from him.

24 Therefore as the tongue of the fire devoureth the ſtubble, and the heat of the flame conſumeth it; ſo ſhall their root be as aſhes, and their bud ſhall go up as duſt: for they have caſt away the law of the Lord of hoſts, and have blaſphemed the word of the holy one of Iſrael.

25 Therefore is the wrath of the Lord kindled againſt his people, and he hath ſtretched out his hand upon them, and ſtruck them: and the mountains were troubled, and their carcaſes became as dung in the midſt of the ſtreets. For all this his anger is not turned away, but his hand is ſtretched out ſtill.

26 And he will lift up a ſign to the nations afar off, and will whiſtle to them from the ends of the earth: and behold they ſhall come with ſpeed ſwiftly.

27 There is none that ſhall faint, nor labour among them: they ſhall not ſlumber, nor ſleep, neither ſhall the girdle of their loins be looſed, nor the latchet of their ſhoes be broken.

28 Their arrows are ſharp, and all their bows are bent. The hoofs of their horſes ſhall be like the flint, and their wheels like the violence of a tempeſt.

29 Their roaring like that of a lion, they ſhall roar like young lions: yea they ſhall roar, and take hold of the prey, and they ſhall keep faſt hold of it, and there ſhall be none to deliver it.

30 And they ſhall make a noiſe againſt them that day, like the roaring of the ſea: we ſhall look towards the land, and behold darkneſs of tribulation, and the light is darkened with the miſt thereof.

CHAP. VI.

A glorious viſion, in which the prophet's lips are cleanſed: he foretelleth the obſtinacy of the Jews.

* A. M. 3246. Ante C. 758. IN the year that king Ozias died, * I ſaw the Lord ſitting upon a throne high and elevated: and his train filled the temple.

2 Upon it ſtood the Seraphims: the one had ſix wings, and the other had ſix wings: with two they covered his face, and with two they covered his feet, and with two they flew.

‖ Apoc. 4. 8. 3 And they cried one to another, and ſaid: ‖ Holy, holy, holy, the Lord God of hoſts, all the earth is full of his glory.

4 And the lintels of the doors were moved at the voice of him that cried, and the houſe was filled with ſmoke.

5 And I ſaid: Wo is me, becauſe I have held my peace; becauſe I am a man of unclean lips, and I dwell in the midſt of a people that hath unclean lips, and I have ſeen with my eyes the King the Lord of hoſts.

6 And one of the Seraphims flew to me, and in his hand was a live coal, which he had taken with the tongs off the altar.

‖ Jerem. 1. 9. 7 And he touched my mouth, ‖ and ſaid: Behold this hath touched thy lips, and thy iniquities ſhall be taken away, and thy ſin ſhall be cleanſed.

8 And I heard the voice of the Lord, ſaying: Whom ſhall I ſend? and who ſhall go for us? And I ſaid: Lo, here am I, ſend me.

‖ Mat. 13. 14. Mark 4. 12. Luke 8. 10. John 12. 40. Acts 28. 26. Rom. 11. 8. 9 And he ſaid: Go, and thou ſhalt ſay to this people: ‖ Hearing hear, and underſtand not: and ſee the viſion, and know it not.

10 Blind the heart of this people, and make their ears heavy, and ſhut their eyes: leſt they ſee with their eyes, and hear with their ears, and underſtand with their heart, and be converted and I heal them.

11 And I ſaid: How long, O Lord? And he ſaid: Until the cities be waſted without inhabitant, and the houſes without man, and the land ſhall be left deſolate.

12 And the Lord ſhall remove men far away, and ſhe ſhall be multiplied that was left in the midſt of the earth.

13 And there ſhall be ſtill a tithing therein, and ſhe ſhall turn, and ſhall be made a ſhew as a turpentine-tree, and as an oak that ſpreadeth its branches: that which ſhall ſtand therein, ſhall be a holy ſeed.

CHAP. VII.

The prophet aſſures king Achaz that the two kings his enemies ſhall not take Jeruſalem. A virgin ſhall conceive and bear a ſon.

A. M. 3262. Ante C. 742. AND it came to paſs in the days of Achaz the ſon of Joathan, the ſon of Ozias king of Juda, that Raſin king of Syria, and Phacee the ſon of Romelia king of Iſrael, came up to Jeruſalem, to fight againſt it: but they could not prevail over it. 4 Kings 16. 15.

2 And they told the houſe of David, ſaying: Syria hath reſted upon Ephraim, and his heart was moved, and the heart of his people, as the trees of the woods are moved with the wind.

‖ 4 Kings 18. 17. 3 And the Lord ſaid to Iſaias: Go forth to meet Achaz, thou and Jaſub thy ſon that is left, to the conduit of the upper pool, ‖ in the way of the Fullers field.

4 And thou ſhalt ſay to him: See thou be quiet: fear not, and let not thy hearts be afraid of the two tails of theſe firebrands, ſmoking with the wrath of the fury of Raſin king of Syria, and of the ſon of Romelia.

5 Becauſe Syria hath taken counſel againſt thee, unto the evil of Ephraim and the ſon of Romelia, ſaying:

6 Let us go up to Juda, and rouſe it up, and draw it away to us, and make the ſon of Tabeel king in the midſt thereof.

7 Thus ſaith the Lord God: It ſhall not ſtand, and this ſhall not be.

8 But the head of Syria is Damaſcus, and the head of Damaſcus is Raſin: and within threeſcore and five years, Ephraim ſhall ceaſe to be a people:

9 And the head of Ephraim is Samaria, and the head of Samaria the ſon of Romelia. If you will not believe, you ſhall not continue.

10 And the Lord ſpoke again to Achaz, ſaying:

11 Aſk thee a ſign of the Lord thy God, either unto the depth of hell, or unto the height above.

12 And Achaz ſaid: I will not aſk, and I will not tempt the Lord.

13 And he ſaid: Hear ye therefore, O houſe of David: Is it a ſmall thing for you to be grievous to men, that you are grievous to my God alſo?

‖ Mat. 1. 23. Luke 1. 31. 14 Therefore the Lord himſelf ſhall give you a ſign. ‖ Behold a virgin ſhall conceive, and bear a ſon, and his name ſhall be called Emmanuel.

15 He ſhall eat butter and honey, that he may know to refuſe the evil, and to chooſe the good.

16 For before the child know to refuſe the evil, and to chooſe the good, the land which thou abhorreſt ſhall be forſaken of the face of her two kings.

17 The Lord ſhall bring upon thee, and upon thy people, and upon the houſe of thy father, days that have not come ſince the time of the ſeparation of Ephraim from Juda, with the king of the Aſſyrians.

18 And it ſhall come to paſs in that day, that the Lord ſhall hiſs for the fly, that is in the uttermoſt parts of the rivers of Egypt, and for the bee that is in the land of Aſſyria.

19 And they ſhall come, and ſhall all of them reſt in the torrents of the valleys, and in the holes of the rocks, and upon all places ſet with ſhrubs, and in all hollow places.

20 In that day the Lord ſhall ſhave with a razor that is hired by them that are beyond the river, by the king of the Aſſyrians, the head and the hairs of the feet, and the whole beard.

21 And it ſhall come to paſs in that day, that a man ſhall nouriſh a young cow, and two ſheep,

22 And for the abundance of milk he ſhall eat butter: for butter and honey ſhall every one eat that ſhall be left in the midſt of the land.

23 And it ſhall come to paſs in that day, that every place where there were a thouſand vines, at a thouſand pieces of ſilver, ſhall become thorns and briers.

24 With arrows and with bows they ſhall go in thither: for briers and thorns ſhall be in all the land.

25 And as for all the hills that ſhall be raked with a rake, the fear of thorns and briers ſhall not come thither, but they ſhall be for the ox to feed on, and the leſſer cattle to tread upon.

CHAP. VIII.

The name of a child that is to be born: many evils ſhall come upon the Jews for their ſins.

AND the Lord ſaid to me: Take thee a great book, and write in it with a man's pen. Take away the ſpoils with ſpeed, quickly take the prey.

2 And I took unto me faithful witneſſes, Urias the prieſt, and Zacharias the ſon of Barachias.

3 And I went to the propheteſs, and ſhe conceived, and bore a ſon. And the Lord ſaid to me: Call his name, Haſten to take away the ſpoils: Make haſte to take away the prey.

4 For before the child know to call his father and his mother, the ſtrength of Damaſcus, and the ſpoils of Samaria ſhall be taken away before the king of the Aſſyrians.

5 And the Lord ſpoke to me again, ſaying:

6 Foraſmuch as this people hath caſt away the waters of Siloe, that go with ſilence, and hath rather taken Raſin, and the ſon of Romelia:

7 Therefore behold the Lord will bring upon them the waters of the river ſtrong and many, the king of the Aſſyrians, and all his glory: and he ſhall come up over all his channels, and ſhall overflow all his banks,

8 And ſhall paſs through Juda, overflowing, and going over ſhall reach even to the neck. And the ſtretching out of his wings ſhall fill the breadth of thy land, O Emmanuel.

9 Gather yourſelves together, O ye people, and be overcome, and give ear all ye lands afar off: ſtrengthen yourſelves, and be overcome, gird yourſelves, and be overcome.

10 Take counſel together, and it ſhall be defeated: ſpeak a word and it ſhall not be done: becauſe God is with us.

11 For thus ſaith the Lord to me: As he hath taught me, with a ſtrong arm, that I ſhould not walk in the way of this people, ſaying:

12 Say ye not: A conſpiracy: for all that this people ſpeaketh, is a conſpiracy: neither fear ye their fear, nor be afraid.

13 Sanctify the Lord of hoſts himſelf: and let him be your fear, and let him be your dread.

14 And he ſhall be a ſanctification to you. || But for a ſtone of ſtumbling, and for a rock of offence to the two houſes of Iſrael, for a ſnare and a ruin to the inhabitants of Jeruſalem. || Luke 2. 34. Rom. 9. 32. 1 Peter 2. 6.

15 And very many of them ſhall ſtumble and fall, and ſhall be broken in pieces, and ſhall be ſnared, and taken.

16 Bind up the teſtimony, ſeal the law among my diſciples.

17 And I will wait for the Lord, who hath hid his face from the houſe of Jacob, and I will look for him.

18 Behold I and my children, whom the Lord hath given me for a ſign, and for a wonder in Iſrael from the Lord of hoſts, who dwelleth in mount Sion.

19 And when they ſhall ſay to you: Seek of pythons, and of diviners, who mutter in their inchantments: ſhould not the people ſeek of their God, for the living of the dead?

20 To the law rather, and to the teſtimony. And if they ſpeak not according to this word, they ſhall not have the morning light.

21 And they ſhall paſs by it, they ſhall fall, and be hungry: and when they ſhall be hungry, they will be angry, and curſe their king, and their God, and look upwards.

22 And they ſhall look to the earth, and behold trouble and darkneſs, weakneſs and diſtreſs, and a miſt following them, and they cannot fly away from their diſtreſs.

CHAP. IX.

What joy ſhall come after afflictions by the birth and kingdom of Chriſt; which ſhall flouriſh for ever. Judgments upon Iſrael for their ſins.

Mat. 4. 15. AT the firſt time the land of Zabulon, and the land of Nephthali was lightly touched: and at the laſt the way of the ſea beyond the Jordan of the Galilee of the Gentiles was heavily loaded.

2 The people that walked in darkneſs, have ſeen a great light: to them that dwelt in the region of the ſhadow of death, light is riſen.

3 Thou haſt multiplied the nation, and haſt not increaſed the joy. They ſhall rejoice before thee, as they that rejoice in the harveſt, as conquerors rejoice after taking a prey, when they divide the ſpoils.

4 For the yoke of their burden, and the rod of their ſhoulder, and the ſcepter of their oppreſſor thou haſt overcome, ‖ as in the day of Madian. ‖ Judges 7. 22.

5 For every violent taking of ſpoils, with tumult, and garment mingled with blood, ſhall be burnt, and be fuel for the fire.

6 For a CHILD IS BORN to us, and a ſon a ſon is given to us, and the government is upon his ſhoulder: and his name ſhall be called, Wonderful, Counſellor, God the Mighty, the Father of the world to come, the Prince of peace.

7 His empire ſhall be multiplied, and there ſhall be no end of peace: he ſhall ſit upon the throne of David, and upon his kingdom: to eſtabliſh it and ſtrengthen it with judgment and with juſtice, from hence-forth and for ever: the zeal of the Lord of hoſts will perform this.

8 The Lord ſent a word into Jacob, and it hath lighted upon Iſrael.

9 And all the people of Ephraim ſhall know, and the inhabitants of Samaria that ſay in the pride and haughtineſs of their heart:

10 The bricks are fallen down, but we will build with ſquare ſtones: they have cut down the ſycamores, but we will change them for cedars.

11 And the Lord ſhall ſet up the enemies of Raſin over him, ‖ and ſhall bring on his enemies in a crowd: ‖ 4 Kings 16. 9.

12 The Syrians from the eaſt, and the Philiſtines from the weſt: and they ſhall devour Iſrael with open mouth. For all this his indignation is not turned away, but his hand is ſtretched out ſtill.

13 And the people are not returned to him who hath ſtruck them, and have not ſought after the Lord of hoſts.

14 And the Lord ſhall deſtroy out of Iſrael the head and the tail, him that bendeth down, and him that holdeth back, in one day.

15 The aged and honourable, he is the head: and the prophet that teacheth lies, he is the tail.

16 And they that call this people bleſſed, ſhall cauſe them to err: and they that are called bleſſed, ſhall be thrown down headlong.

17 Therefore the Lord ſhall have no joy in their young men: neither ſhall he have mercy on their fatherleſs, and widows: for every one is a hypocrite and wicked, and every mouth hath ſpoken folly. For all this his indignation is not turned away, but his hand is ſtretched out ſtill.

18 For wickedneſs is kindled as a fire, it ſhall devour the brier and the thorn: and ſhall kindle in the thicket of the foreſt, and it ſhall be wrapped up in ſmoke aſcending on high.

19 By the wrath of the Lord of hoſts the land is troubled, and the people ſhall be as fuel for the fire: no man ſhall ſpare his brother.

20 And he ſhall turn to the right hand, and ſhall be hungry: and ſhall eat on the left hand, and ſhall not be filled: every one ſhall eat the fleſh of his own arm: Manaſſes Ephraim, and Ephraim Manaſſes, and they together ſhall be againſt Juda.

CHAP. VIII. VER. 19. Seek of pythons. That is, people pretending to tell future things by a prophefying ſpirit. Should not the people ſeek of their God, for the living of the dead? Here is ſignified, that it is to God we ſhould pray to be directed, and not to ſeek of the dead, (that is, of fortune-tellers dead in ſin) for the health of the living.

21 After all these things his indignation is not turned away, but his hand is stretched out still.

CHAP. X.

Wo to the makers of wicked laws. The Assyrians shall be a rod for punishing Israel: but for their pride they shall be destroyed: and a remnant of Israel saved.

WO to them that make wicked laws: and when they write, write injustice:
2 To oppress the poor in judgment, and do violence to the cause of the humble of my people: that widows might be their prey, and that they might rob the fatherless.
3 What will you do in the day of visitation, and of the calamity which cometh from afar? to whom will ye flee for help? and where will ye leave your glory?
4 That you be not bowed down under the bond, and fall with the slain? In all these things his anger is not turned away, but his hand is stretched out still.
5 Wo to the Assyrian, he is the rod and the staff of my anger, and my indignation is in their hands.
6 I will send him to a deceitful nation, and I will give him a charge against the people of my wrath, to take away the spoils, and to lay hold on the prey, and to tread them down like the mire of the streets.
7 But he shall not take it so, and his heart shall not think so: but his heart shall be set to destroy, and to cut off nations not a few.
8 For he shall say:
9 Are not my princes as so many kings? is not Calano as Charcamis: and Emath as Arphad? is not Samaria as Damascus?
10 As my hand hath found the kingdoms of the idol, so also their idols of Jerusalem, and of Samaria.
11 Shall I not, as I have done to Samaria and her idols, so do to Jerusalem and her idols?
12 And it shall come to pass, that when the Lord shall have performed all his works in mount Sion, and in Jerusalem, I will visit the fruit of the proud heart of the king of ‖ 4 Kings 19. 35. Infra 37. 36. ‖ Assyria, and the glory of the haughtiness of his eyes.
13 For he hath said: By the strength of my own hand I have done it, and by my own wisdom I have understood: and I have removed the bounds of the people, and have taken the spoils of their princes, and as a mighty man have pulled down them that sat on high.
14 And my hand hath found the strength of the people as a nest: and as eggs are gathered, that are left, so have I gathered all the earth: and there was none that moved the wing, or opened the mouth, or made the least noise.
15 Shall the ax boast itself against him that cutteth with it? or shall the saw exalt itself against him by whom it is drawn? as if a rod should lift itself up against him that lifteth it up, and a staff exalt itself, which is but wood.
16 Therefore the sovereign Lord the Lord of hosts shall send leanness among his fat ones: and under his glory shall be kindled a burning as it were the burning of a fire.
17 And the light of Israel shall be as a fire, and the holy One thereof as a flame: and his thorns and his briers shall be set on fire, and shall be devoured in one day.
18 And the glory of his forest, and of his beautiful hill shall be consumed from the soul even to the flesh, and he shall run away through fear.
19 And they that remain of the trees of his forest shall be so few, that they shall easily be numbered, and a child shall write them down.
20 And it shall come to pass in that day, that the remnant of Israel, and they that shall escape of the house of Jacob, shall lean no more upon him that striketh them: but they shall lean upon the Lord the holy one of Israel, in truth.
21 The remnant shall be converted, the remnant, I say, of Jacob, to the mighty God.
22 ‖ For if thy people, O Israel, shall be as the sand of the sea, a remnant of them shall be converted, the consumption abridged shall overflow with justice. ‖ Infra 11. 11. Rom. 9. 27.
23 For the Lord God of hosts shall make a consumption, and an abridgment in the midst of all the land.
24 Therefore, thus saith the Lord the God of hosts: O my people that dwellest in Sion, be not afraid of the Assyrian: he shall strike thee with his rod, and he shall lift up his staff over thee in the way of Egypt.
25 For yet a little and a very little while, and my indignation shall cease, and my wrath shall be upon their wickedness.

CHAP. X. VER. 22. A remnant of them shall be converted. This was partly verified in the children of Israel who remained after the devastations of the Assyrians, in the time of king Ezechias: and partly in the conversion of a remnant of the Jews to the faith of Christ.

Ibid. The consumption abridged, &c. That is, the number of them cut short, and reduced to few, shall flourish in abundance of justice.

‖ Infra 37. 36. † Judges 7. 25.

27 And it ſhall come to paſs in that day, that his burden ſhall be taken away from off thy ſhoulder, and his yoke from off thy neck, and the yoke ſhall putrify at the preſence of the oil.

28 He ſhall come into Aiath, he ſhall paſs into Magron: at Machmas he ſhall lay up his carriages.

29 They have paſſed in haſte, Gaba is our lodging: Rama was aſtoniſhed, Gabaath of Saul fled away.

30 Lift up thy voice, O daughter of Gallim, attend, O Laiſa, poor Anathoth.

31 Medemena is removed: ye inhabitants of Gabim, take courage.

32 It is yet day enough, to remain in Nobe: he ſhall ſhake his hand againſt the mountain of the daughter of Sion, the hill of Jeruſalem.

33 Behold the ſovereign Lord of hoſts ſhall break the earthen veſſel with terror, and the tall of ſtature ſhall be cut down, and the lofty ſhall be humbled.

34 And the thickets of the foreſt ſhall be cut down with iron, and Libanus with its high ones ſhall fall.

Of the ſpiritual kingdom of Chriſt, to which all nations ſhall repair.

Acts 13. 23. Infra 53. 2.

AND there ſhall come forth a rod out of the root of Jeſſe, and a flower ſhall riſe up out of his root.

2 And the Spirit of the Lord ſhall reſt upon him: the ſpirit of wiſdom, and of underſtanding, the ſpirit of counſel, and of fortitude, the ſpirit of knowledge, and of godlineſs,

3 And he ſhall be filled with the ſpirit of the fear of the Lord. He ſhall not judge according to the ſight of the eyes, nor reprove according to the hearing of the ears.

4 But he ſhall judge the poor with juſtice, and ſhall reprove with equity for the meek of the earth: ‖ and he ſhall ſtrike the earth with the rod of his mouth, and with the breath of his lips he ſhall ſlay the wicked.

12 And he ſhall ſet up a ſtandard unto the nations, and ſhall aſſemble the fugitives of Iſrael, and ſhall gather together the diſperſed of Juda from the four quarters of the earth.

13 And the envy of Ephraim ſhall be taken away, and the enemies of Juda ſhall periſh: Ephraim ſhall not envy Juda, and Juda ſhall not fight againſt Ephraim.

14 But they ſhall fly upon the ſhoulders of the Philiſtines by the ſea, they together ſhall ſpoil the children of the eaſt: Edom, and Moab ſhall be under the rule of their hand, and the children of Ammon ſhall be obedient.

15 And the Lord ſhall lay waſte the tongue of the ſea of Egypt, and ſhall lift up his hand over the river in the ſtrength of his ſpirit: and he ſhall ſtrike it in the ſeven ſtreams, ſo that men may paſs through it in their ſhoes.

16 And there ſhall be a high-way for the remnant of my people, which ſhall be left from the Aſſyrians: as there was for Iſrael in the day that he came up out of the land of Egypt.

The desolation of Babylon.

THE burden of Babylon, which Isaias the son of Amos saw.

2 Upon the dark mountain lift ye up a banner, exalt the voice, lift up the hand, and let the rulers go into the gates.

3 I have commanded my sanctified ones, and have called my strong ones in my wrath, them that rejoice in my glory.

4 The noise of a multitude in the mountains, as it were of many people, the noise of the sound of kings, of nations gathered together: the Lord of hosts hath given charge to the troops of war,

5 To them that come from a country afar off, from the end of heaven: the Lord and the instruments of his wrath, to destroy the whole land.

6 Howl ye, for the day of the Lord is near: it shall come as a destruction from the Lord.

7 Therefore shall all hands be faint, and every heart of man shall melt,

8 And shall be broken. Gripings and pains shall take hold of them, they shall be in pain as a woman in labour. Every one shall be amazed at his neighbour, their countenances shall be as faces burnt.

The restoration of Israel after their captivity. The parable or song insulting over the king of Babylon. A prophecy against the Philistines.

HER time is near at hand, and her days shall not be prolonged. For the Lord will have mercy on Jacob, and will yet choose out of Israel, and will make them rest upon their own ground: and the stranger shall be joined with them, and shall adhere to the house of Jacob.

CHAP. XIII. VER. 1. The burden of Babylon. That is, a prophesy against Babylon.

Iſrael ſhall poſſeſs them in the land of the Lord for ſervants and handmaids: and they ſhall make them captives that had taken them, and ſhall ſubdue their oppreſſors.

3 And it ſhall come to paſs in that day, that when God ſhall give thee reſt from thy labour, and from thy vexation, and from the hard bondage wherewith thou didſt ſerve before,

4 Thou ſhalt take up this parable againſt the king of Babylon, and ſhalt ſay: How is the oppreſſor come to nothing, the tribute hath ceaſed?

5 The Lord hath broken the ſtaff of the wicked, the rod of the rulers,

6 That ſtruck the people in wrath with an incurable wound, that brought nations under in fury, that perſecuted in a cruel manner.

7 The whole earth is quiet and ſtill, it is glad and hath rejoiced.

8 The fir-trees alſo have rejoiced over thee, and the cedars of Libanus, ſaying: Since thou haſt ſlept, there hath none come up to cut us down.

9 Hell below was in an uproar to meet thee at thy coming, it ſtirred up the giants for thee. All the princes of the earth are riſen up from their thrones, all the princes of nations.

10 All ſhall anſwer, and ſay to thee: Thou alſo art wounded as well as we, thou art become like unto us.

11 Thy pride is brought down to hell, thy carcaſs is fallen down: under thee ſhall the moth be ſtrewed, and worms ſhall be thy covering.

12 How art thou fallen from heaven, O Lucifer, who didſt riſe in the morning? how art thou fallen to the earth, that didſt wound the nations?

13 And thou ſaidſt in thy heart: I will aſcend into heaven, I will exalt my throne above the ſtars of God, I will ſit in the mountain of the covenant, in the ſides of the north.

14 I will aſcend above the height of the clouds, I will be like the moſt High.

15 But yet thou ſhalt be brought down to hell, into the depth of the pit.

16 They that ſhall ſee thee, ſhall turn toward thee, and behold thee: Is this the man that troubled the earth, that ſhook kingdoms,

17 That made the world a wilderneſs, and deſtroyed the cities thereof, that opened not the priſon to his priſoners?

18 All the kings of the nations have all of them ſlept in glory, every one in his own houſe.

19 But thou art caſt out of thy grave, as an unprofitable branch defiled, and wrapped up among them that were ſlain by the ſword, and are gone down to the bottom of the pit, as a rotten carcaſs.

20 Thou ſhalt not keep company with them, even in burial: for thou haſt deſtroyed thy land, thou haſt ſlain thy people: the ſeed of the wicked ſhall not be named for ever.

21 Prepare his children for ſlaughter for the iniquity of their fathers: they ſhall not riſe up, nor inherit the land, nor fill the face of the world with cities.

22 And I will riſe up againſt them, ſaith the Lord of hoſts: and I will deſtroy the name of Babylon, and the remains and the bud, and the offspring, ſaith the Lord.

23 And I will make it a poſſeſſion for the ericius and pools of waters, and I will ſweep it and wear it out with a beſom, ſaith the Lord of hoſts.

24 The Lord of hoſts hath ſworn, ſaying: Surely as I have thought, ſo ſhall it be: and as I have purpoſed,

25 So ſhall it fall out: That I will deſtroy the Aſſyrian in my land, and upon my mountains tread him under foot: and his yoke ſhall be taken away from them, and his burden ſhall be taken off their ſhoulder.

26 This is the counſel, that I have purpoſed upon all the earth, and this is the hand that is ſtretched out upon all nations.

27 For the Lord of hoſts hath decreed, and who can diſannul it? and his hand is ſtretched out: and who ſhall turn it away?

28 In the * year that king Achaz died, was this burden: * A. M. 3277. Ante C. 727.

30 And the firſt-born of the poor ſhall be fed, and the poor ſhall reſt with confidence: and I will make thy root periſh with famine, and I will kill thy remnant.

31 Howl, O gate, cry, O city: all Philiſtia is thrown down: for a ſmoak ſhall come from the north, and there is none that ſhall eſcape his troop.

CHAP. XV.

A prophecy of the desolation of the Moabites.

THE burden of Moab. Because in the night Ar of Moab is laid waste, it is silent: because the wall of Moab is destroyed in the night, it is silent.

2 The house is gone up, and Dibon to the high places to mourn over Nabo, and over Medaba, Moab hath howled: ‖ on all their heads shall be baldness, and every beard shall be shaven.

‖ Jerem. 48. 37. Ezec. 7. 18.

3 In their streets they are girded with sackcloth: on the tops of their houses, and in their streets all shall howl and come down weeping.

4 Hesebon shall cry, and Eleale, their voice is heard even to Jasa. For this shall the well appointed men of Moab howl, his soul shall howl to itself.

5 My heart shall cry to Moab, the bars thereof shall flee unto Segor a heifer of three years old: for by the ascent of Luith they shall go up weeping: and in the way of Oronaim they shall lift up a cry of destruction.

6 For the waters of Nemrim shall be desolate, for the grass is withered away, the spring is faded, all the greenness is perished.

7 According to the greatness of their work, is their visitation also: they shall lead them to the torrent of the willows.

8 For the cry is gone round about the border of Moab: the howling thereof unto Gallim, and unto the well of Elim the cry thereof.

9 For the waters of Dibon are filled with blood: for I will bring more upon Dibon: the lion upon them that shall flee of Moab, and upon the remnant of the land.

CHAP. XVI.

The prophet prayeth for Christ's coming. The affliction of the Moabites for their pride.

SEND forth, O Lord, the lamb, the ruler of the earth, from Petra of the desert, to the mount of the daughter of Sion.

2 And it shall come to pass, that as a bird fleeing away, and as young ones flying out of the nest, so shall the daughters of Moab be in the passage of Arnon.

3 Take counsel, gather a council: make thy shadow as the night in the mid-day: hide them that flee, and betray not them that wander about.

4 My fugitives shall dwell with thee: O Moab, be thou a covert to them from the face of the destroyer: for the dust is at an end, the wretch is consumed: he hath failed, that trod the earth under foot.

5 And a throne shall be prepared in mercy, and one shall sit upon it in truth in the tabernacle of David, judging and seeking judgment, and quickly rendering that which is just.

6 ‖ We have heard of the pride of Moab, he is exceeding proud: his pride and his arrogancy, and his indignation is more than his strength.

‖ Jerem 48. 29.

7 Therefore shall Moab howl to Moab, every one shall howl: to them that rejoice upon the brick walls, tell ye their stripes.

8 For the suburbs of Hesebon are desolate, and the lords of the nations have destroyed the vineyard of Sabama: the branches thereof have reached even to Jazer: they have wandered in the wilderness, the branches thereof are left, they are gone over the sea.

9 Therefore I will lament with the weeping of Jazer the vineyard of Sabama: I will water thee with my tears, O Hesebon, and Eleale: for the voice of the treaders hath rushed in upon thy vintage, and upon thy harvest.

10 And gladness and joy shall be taken away from Carmel, and there shall be no rejoicing nor shouting in the vineyards. He shall not tread out wine in the press that was wont to tread it out: the voice of the treaders I have taken away.

11 Wherefore my bowels shall sound like a harp for Moab, and my inward parts for the brick wall.

12 And it shall come to pass, when it is seen that Moab is wearied on his high places, that he shall go in to his sanctuaries to pray, and shall not prevail.

13 This is the word, that the Lord spoke to Moab from that time:

14 And now the Lord hath spoken, saying: In three years, as the years of a hireling, the glory of Moab shall be taken away for all the multitude of the people, and it shall be left small and feeble, not many.

CHAP. XV. VER. 7. Torrent of the willows. That is, as some say, the waters of Babylon: others render it a valley of the Arabians.

CHAP. XVI. VER. 10. Carmel. This name is often taken to signify a fair and fruitful hill or field, such as mount Carmel is.

CHAP. XVII.

Judgments upon Damascus and Samaria. The overthrow of the Assyrians.

THE burden of Damascus. Behold Damascus shall cease to be a city, and shall be as a ruinous heap of stones.

2 The cities of Aroer shall be left for flocks, and they shall rest there, and there shall be none to make them afraid.

3 And aid shall cease from Ephraim, and the kingdom from Damascus: and the remnant of Syria shall be as the glory of the children of Israel: saith the Lord of hosts.

4 And it shall come to pass in that day, that the glory of Jacob shall be made thin, and the fatness of his flesh shall grow lean.

5 And it shall be as when one gathereth in the harvest that which remaineth, and his arm shall gather the ears of corn: and it shall be as he that seeketh ears in the vale of Raphaim.

6 And the fruit thereof that shall be left upon it, shall be as one cluster of grapes, and as the shaking of the olive-tree, two or three berries in the top of a bough, or four or five upon the top of the tree, saith the Lord the God of Israel.

7 In that day man shall bow down himself to his Maker, and his eyes shall look to the holy one of Israel.

8 And he shall not look to the altars which his hands made: and he shall not have respect to the things that his fingers wrought, such as groves and temples.

9 In that day his strong cities shall be forsaken, as the ploughs, and the corn that were left before the face of the children of Israel, and thou shalt be desolate.

10 Because thou hast forgotten God thy saviour, and hast not remembered thy strong helper: therefore shalt thou plant good plants, and shalt sow strange seed.

11 In the day of thy planting shall be the wild grape, and in the morning thy seed shall flourish: the harvest is taken away in the day of inheritance, and shall grieve thee much.

12 Wo to the multitude of many people, like the multitude of the roaring sea: and the tumult of crowds, like the noise of many waters.

13 Nations shall make a noise like the noise of waters overflowing, but he shall rebuke him, and he shall flee far off: and he shall be carried away as the dust of the mountains before the wind, and as a whirlwind before a tempest.

14 In the time of the evening, behold there shall be trouble: the morning shall come, and he shall not be: this is the portion of them that have wasted us, and the lot of them that spoiled us.

A wo to the Ethiopians, who fed Israel with vain hopes, their future conversion.

WO to the land the winged cymbal, which is beyond the rivers of Ethiopia,

2 That sendeth embassadors by the sea, nd in vessels of bulrushes upon the waters. Go, ye swift angels, to a nation rent and torn in pieces: to a terrible people, after which there is no other: to a nation expecting and trodden under foot, whose land the rivers have spoiled.

3 All ye inhabitants of the world, who dwell on the earth, when the sign shall be lifted up on the mountains, you shall see, and you shall hear the sound of the trumpet:

4 For thus saith the Lord to me: I will take my rest, and consider in my place, as the noon light is clear, and as a cloud of dew in the day of harvest.

5 For before the harvest it was all flourishing, and it shall bud without perfect ripeness, and the sprigs thereof shall be cut off with pruning-hooks: and what is left, shall be cut away and shaken out.

6 And they shall be left together to the birds of the mountains, and the beasts of the earth: and the fowls shall be upon them all the summer, and all the beasts of the earth shall winter upon them.

7 At that time shall a present be brought to the Lord of hosts, from a people rent and torn in pieces: from a terrible people, after which there hath been no other; from a nation expecting, expecting and trodden under foot, whose land the rivers have spoiled, to the place of the name of the Lord of hosts, to mount Sion.

and will enter into Egypt and the idols of Egypt ſhall be moved at his preſence, and the heart of Egypt ſhall melt in the midſt thereof.

2 And I will ſet the Egyptians to fight againſt the Egyptians: and they ſhall fight brother againſt brother, and friend againſt friend, city againſt city, kingdom againſt kingdom.

3 And the ſpirit of Egypt ſhall be broken in the bowels thereof, and I will caſt down their counſel: and they ſhall conſult their idols, and their diviners, and their wizards, and ſoothſayers.

4 And I will deliver Egypt into the hand of cruel maſters, and a ſtrong king ſhall rule over them, ſaith the Lord the God of hoſts.

5 And the water of the ſea ſhall be dried up, and the river ſhall be waſted and dry.

6 And the rivers ſhall fail: the ſtreams of the banks ſhall be diminiſhed, and be dried up. The reed and the bulruſh ſhall wither away.

7 The channel of the river ſhall be laid bare from its fountain, and every thing ſown by the water ſhall be dried up, it ſhall wither away, and ſhall be no more.

11 The princes of Tanis are become fools, the wiſe counſellors of Pharao have given fooliſh counſel: how will you ſay to Pharao: I am the ſon of the wiſe, the ſon of ancient kings?

12 Where are now thy wiſe men? let them tell thee, and ſhew what the Lord of hoſts hath purpoſed upon Egypt.

13 The princes of Tanis are become fools, the princes of Memphis are gone aſtray, they have deceived Egypt, the ſtay of the people thereof.

14 The Lord hath mingled in the midſt thereof the ſpirit of giddineſs: and they have cauſed Egypt to err in all its works, as a drunken man ſtaggereth and vomiteth.

15 And there ſhall be no work for Egypt, to make head or tail, him that bendeth down, or that holdeth back.

16 In that day Egypt ſhall be like unto women, and they ſhall be amazed, and afraid, becauſe of the moving of the hand of the Lord of hoſts, which he ſhall move over it.

17 And the land of Juda ſhall be a terror to Egypt: every one that ſhall remember it ſhall tremble becauſe of the counſel of the Lord of hoſts, which he hath determined concerning it.

18 || In that day there ſhall be five cities in the land of Egypt, ſpeaking the language of Chanaan, and ſwearing by the Lord of hoſts: one ſhall be called the city of the ſun. || Ezec. cap. 30.

19 In that day there ſhall be an altar of the Lord in the midſt of the land of Egypt, and a monument of the Lord at the borders thereof:

20 It ſhall be for a ſign, and for a teſtimony to the Lord of hoſts in the land of Egypt. For they ſhall cry to the Lord becauſe of the oppreſſor, and he ſhall ſend them a Saviour and a defender to deliver them.

21 And the Lord ſhall be known by Egypt, and the Egyptians ſhall know the Lord in that day, and ſhall worſhip him with ſacrifices and offerings: and they ſhall make vows to the Lord, and perform them.

22 And the Lord ſhall ſtrike Egypt with a ſcourge, and ſhall heal it, and they ſhall return to the Lord, and he ſhall be pacified towards them, and heal them.

23 In that day there ſhall be a way from Egypt to the Aſſyrians, and the Aſſyrian ſhall enter into Egypt, and the Egyptian to the Aſſyrians, and the Egyptians ſhall ſerve the Aſſyrian.

24 In that day ſhall Iſrael be the third to the Egyptian and the Aſſyrian: a bleſſing in the midſt of the land,

25 Which the Lord of hoſts hath bleſſed, ſaying: Bleſſed be my people of Egypt, and the work of my hands to the Aſſyrian: but Iſrael is my inheritance.

CHAP. XX.

The ignominious captivity of the Egyptians, and the Ethiopians.

IN the year, that Tharthan entered into Azotus, when Sargon the king of the Aſſyrians had ſent him, and he had fought againſt Azotus, and had taken it: A. M. 3291. Ante C. 713.

2 At that ſame time the Lord ſpoke by the hand of Iſaias the ſon of Amos, ſaying: || Go, and looſe the ſackcloth from off thy loins, and take off thy ſhoes from thy feet. And he did ſo, and went naked, and barefoot. || Zach. 13. 4. Mat. 3. 4.

3 And the Lord ſaid: As my ſervant Iſaias hath walked, naked and barefoot, it ſhall be a ſign and a wonder of three years upon Egypt, and upon Ethiopia,

4 So shall the king of the Assyrians lead away the prisoners of Egypt, and the captivity of Ethiopia, young and old, naked and barefoot, with their buttocks uncovered to the shame of Egypt.

5 And they shall be afraid, and ashamed of Ethiopia their hope, and of Egypt their glory.

6 And the inhabitants of this isle shall say in that day: Lo this was our hope, to whom we fled for help, to deliver us from the face of the king of the Assyrians: and how shall we be able to escape?

CHAP. XXI.

The destruction of Babylon by the Medes and Persians: a prophecy against the Edomites, and the Arabians.

THE burden of the desert of the sea. As whirlwinds come from the south, it cometh from the desert, from a terrible land.

2 A grievous vision is told me: he that is unfaithful dealeth unfaithfully: and he that is a spoiler, spoileth. Go up, O Elam, besiege, O Mede: I have made all the mourning thereof to cease.

3 Therefore are my loins filled with pain, anguish hath taken hold of me, as the anguish of a woman in labour: I fell down at the hearing of it, I was troubled at the seeing of it.

4 My heart failed, darkness amazed me: Babylon my beloved is become a wonder to me.

5 Prepare the table, behold in the watch-tower them that eat and drink: arise, ye princes, take up the shield.

6 For thus hath the Lord said to me: Go, and set a watchman: and whatsoever he shall see, let him tell.

7 And he saw a chariot with two horsemen, a rider upon an ass, and a rider upon a camel: and he beheld them diligently with much heed.

8 And a lion cried out: I am upon the watch-tower of the Lord, standing continually by day: ‖ Habac. 2. 1. and I am upon my ward, standing whole nights.

9 Behold this man cometh, the rider upon the chariot with two horsemen, and he answered, and said: ‡ Babylon is fallen, she is fallen, and all the graven gods thereof are broken unto the ground. ‡ Jerem. 51. 8. Apoc. 14. 8.

10 O my threshing, and the children of my floor, that which I have heard of the Lord of hosts the God of Israel, I have declared unto you.

11 The burden of Duma calleth to me out of Seir: Watchman, what of the night? watchman, what of the night?

12 The watchman said: The morning cometh, also the night: if you seek, seek: return, come.

13 The burthen in Arabia. In the forest at evening you shall sleep, in the paths of Dedanim.

14 Meeting the thirsty bring him water, you that inhabit the land of the south, meet with bread him that fleeth.

15 For they are fled from before the swords, from the sword that hung over them, from the bent bow, from the face of a grievous battle.

16 For thus saith the Lord to me: Within a year, according to the years of a hireling, all the glory of Cedar shall be taken away.

17 And the residue of the number of strong archers of the children of Cedar shall be diminished: for the Lord the God of Israel hath spoken it.

CHAP. XXII.

The prophet laments the devastation of Juda. He foretells the deprivation of Sobna, and the substitution of Eliacim, a figure of Christ.

THE burden of the valley of vision. What aileth thee also, that thou too art wholly gone up to the house tops?

2 Full of clamour, a populous city, a joyous city: thy slain are not slain by the sword, nor dead in battle.

3 All thy princes are fled together, and are bound hard: all that were found, are bound together, they are fled far off.

4 Therefore have I said: Depart from me, I will weep bitterly: labour not to comfort me, for the devastation of the daughter of my people.

5 For it is a day of slaughter, and of CHAP. XXI. VER. 1. The desert of the sea. So Babylon is here called, because from a city as full of people, as the sea is with water, it was become a desert.

VER. 2. O Elam. That is, O Persia.

VER. 7. A rider upon an ass, &c. These two riders are the kings of the Persians and Medes.

VER. 8. And a lion cried out. That is, I Isaias, seeing the approaching ruin of Babylon, have cried out as a lion roaring.

VER. 11. Duma. That is, Idumea, or Edom.

VER. 16. Cedar: Arabia.

CHAP. XXII. VER. 1. The valley of vision. Jerusalem. The temple of Jerusalem was built upon mount Moria, or the mountain of vision. But the city is here called the valley of vision; either because it was lower than the temple, or because of the low condition to which it was to be reduced.

treading down, and of weeping to the Lord the God of hosts in the valley of vision, searching the wall, and magnificent upon the mountain.

6 And Elam took the quiver, the chariot of the horseman, and the shield was taken down from the wall.

7 And thy choice valleys shall be full of chariots, and the horsemen shall place themselves in the gate.

8 And the covering of Juda shall be discovered, and thou shalt see in that day the armoury of the house of the forest.

9 And you shall see the breaches of the city of David, that they are many: and you have gathered together the waters of the lower pool,

10 And have numbered the houses of Jerusalem, and broken down houses to fortify the wall.

‖ 4 Kings 20. 20. 2 Par. 32. 30.

11 ‖ And you made a ditch between the two walls for the water of the old pool: and you have not looked up to the maker thereof, nor regarded him even at a distance, that wrought it long ago.

12 And the Lord the God of hosts in that day shall call to weeping, and to mourning, to baldness, and to girding with sackcloth:

13 And behold joy and gladness, killing calves, and slaying rams, eating flesh, and drinking wine: ‖ Let us eat, and drink; for to-morrow we shall die.

‖ Wisd. 2. 6. Infra 56. 12. 1 Cor. 15. 32.

14 And the voice of the Lord of hosts was revealed in my ears: Surely this iniquity shall not be forgiven you till you die, saith the Lord God of hosts.

15 Thus saith the Lord God of hosts: Go, get thee in to him that dwelleth in the tabernacle, to Sobna who is over the temple: and thou shalt say to him:

16 What dost thou here, or as if thou wert somebody here? for thou hast hewed thee out a sepulchre here, thou hast hewed out a monument carefully in a high place, a dwelling for thyself in a rock.

17 Behold the Lord will cause thee to be carried away, as a cock is carried away, and he will lift thee up as a garment.

18 He will crown thee with a crown of tribulation, he will toss thee like a ball into a large and spacious country: there shalt thou die, and there shall the chariot of thy glory be, the shame of the house of thy Lord.

19 And I will drive thee out from thy station, and depose thee from thy ministry.

20 And it shall come to pass in that day, that I will call my servant Eliacim the son of Helcias,

21 And I will clothe him with thy robe, and will strengthen him with thy girdle, and will give thy power into his hand: and he shall be as a father to the inhabitants of Jerusalem, and to the house of Juda.

22 ‖ And I will lay the key of the house of David upon his shoulder: and he shall open, and none shall shut: and he shall shut, and none shall open.

‖ Apoc. 3. 7. Job 12. 14.

23 And I will fasten him as a peg in a sure place, and he shall be for a throne of glory to the house of his father.

24 And they shall hang upon him all the glory of his father's house, divers kinds of vessels, every little vessel, from the vessels of cups even to every instrument of music.

25 In that day, saith the Lord of hosts, shall the peg be removed, that was fastened in the sure place: and it shall be broken and shall fall: and that which hung thereon, shall perish, because the Lord hath spoken it.

CHAP. XXIII.

The destruction of Tyre. It shall be repaired again after seventy years.

THE burden of Tyre. Howl, ye ships of the sea, for the house is destroyed, from whence they were wont to come: from the land of Cethim it is revealed to them.

2 Be silent, you that dwell in the island: the merchants of Sidon passing over the sea, have filled thee.

3 The seed of the Nile in many waters, the harvest of the river is her revenue: and she is become the mart of the nations.

4 Be thou ashamed, O Sidon: for the sea speaketh, even the strength of the sea, saying: I have not been in labour, nor have I brought forth, nor have I nourished up young men, nor brought up virgins.

5 When it shall be heard in Egypt, they will be sorry when they shall hear of Tyre:

6 Pass over the seas, howl, ye inhabitants of the island.

7 Is not this your city, which gloried from of old in her antiquity? her feet shall carry her afar off to sojourn.

8 Who hath taken this counsel against Tyre that was formerly crowned, whose merchants were princes, and her traders the nobles of the earth?

9 The Lord of hosts hath designed it, to pull down the pride of all glory, and bring to disgrace all the glorious ones of the earth.

10 Pass thy land as a river, O daughter of the sea, thou hast a girdle no more.

11 He stretched out his hand over the sea, sea, he troubled kingdoms: the Lord hath given a charge against Chanaan, to destroy the strong ones thereof,

12 And he said: Thou shalt glory no more, O virgin daughter of Sidon, who art oppressed: arise and sail over to Cethim, there also thou shalt have no rest.

13 Behold the land of the Chaldeans, there was not such a people, the Assyrian founded it: they have led away the strong ones thereof into captivity, they have destroyed the houses thereof, they have brought it to ruin.

14 Howl, O ye ships of the sea, for your strength is laid waste.

15 And it shall come to pass in that day, that thou, O Tyre, shalt be forgotten, seventy years, according to the days of one king: but after seventy years, there shall be unto Tyre as the song of a harlot.

16 Take a harp, go about the city, thou harlot that hast been forgotten: sing well, sing many a song, that thou mayst be remembered.

17 And it shall come to pass after seventy years, that the Lord will visit Tyre, and will bring her back again to her traffic: and she shall commit fornication again with all the kingdoms of the world upon the face of the earth.

18 And her merchandise and her hire shall be sanctified to the Lord: they shall not be kept in store, nor laid up: for her merchandise shall be for them that shall dwell before the Lord, that they may eat unto fulness, and be clothed for a continuance.

CHAP. XXIV.

The judgments of God upon all the sinners of the world. A remnant shall joyfully praise him.

BEHOLD the Lord shall lay waste the earth, and shall strip it, and shall afflict the face thereof, and scatter abroad the inhabitants thereof.

‖ Osee 4. 9. 2 ‖ And it shall be as with the people, so with the priest: and as with the servant, so with his master: as with the handmaid, so with her mistress: as with the buyer, so with the seller: as with the lender, so with the borrower: as with him that calleth for his money, so with him that oweth.

3 With desolation shall the earth be laid waste, and it shall be utterly spoiled: for the Lord hath spoken this word.

4 The earth mourned, and faded away, and is weakened: the world faded away, the height of the people of the earth is weakened.

5 And the earth is infected by the inhabitants thereof: because they have transgressed the laws, they have changed the ordinance, they have broken the everlasting covenant.

6 Therefore shall a curse devour the earth, and the inhabitants thereof shall sin: and therefore they that dwell therein shall be mad, and few men shall be left.

7 The vintage hath mourned, the vine hath languished away, all the merry hearted have sighed.

8 The mirth of timbrels hath ceased, the noise of them that rejoice is ended, the melody of the harp is silent.

9 They shall not drink wine with a song: the drink shall be bitter to them that drink it.

10 The city of vanity is broken down, every house is shut up, no man cometh in.

11 There shall be a crying for wine in the streets: all mirth is forsaken: the joy of the earth is gone away.

12 Desolation is left in the city, and calamity shall oppress the gates.

13 For it shall be thus in the midst of the earth, in the midst of the people, as if a few olives, that remain, should be shaken out of the olive-tree: or grapes, when the vintage is ended.

14 These shall lift up their voice, and shall give praise: when the Lord shall be glorified, they shall make a joyful noise from the sea.

15 Therefore glorify ye the Lord in instruction: the name of the Lord God of Israel in the islands of the sea.

16 From the ends of the earth we have heard praises, the glory of the just one. And I said: My secret to myself, my secret to myself, wo is me: the prevaricators have prevaricated, and with the prevarication of transgressors they have prevaricated.

17 Fear, and the pit, and the snare are upon thee, O thou inhabitant of the earth.

18 And it shall come to pass, ‖ that he that shall flee from the noise of the fear, shall fall into the pit: and he that shall rid himself out of the pit, shall be taken in the snare: for the flood-gates from on high are opened, and the foundations of the earth shall be shaken. ‖ Jerem. 48. 44.

19 With breaking shall the earth be broken, with crushing shall the earth be crushed, with trembling shall the earth be moved,

20 With shaking shall the earth be shaken

as a drunken man, and ſhall be removed as the tent of one night: and the iniquity thereof ſhall be heavy upon it, and it ſhall fall, and not riſe again.

21 And it ſhall come to paſs, that in that day the Lord ſhall viſit upon the hoſt of heaven on high, and upon the kings of the earth, on the earth.

22 And they ſhall be gathered together as in the gathering of one bundle into the pit, and they ſhall be ſhut up there in priſon: and after many days they ſhall be viſited.

‖ Jod 2. 31. Acts 2. 20. 23 ‖ And the moon ſhall bluſh, and the ſun ſhall be aſhamed, when the Lord of hoſts ſhall reign in mount Sion, and in Jeruſalem, and ſhall be glorified in the ſight of his ancients.

CHAP. XXV.

A canticle of thankſgiving for God's judgments and benefits.

O LORD, thou art my God, I will exalt thee, and give glory to thy name: for thou haſt done wonderful things, thy deſigns of old faithful, amen.

2 For thou haſt reduced the city to a heap, the ſtrong city to ruin, the houſe of ſtrangers: to be no city, and to be no more built up for ever.

3 Therefore ſhall a ſtrong people praiſe thee, the city of mighty nations ſhall fear thee.

4 Becauſe thou haſt been a ſtrength to the poor, a ſtrength to the needy in his diſtreſs: a refuge from the whirlwind, a ſhadow from the heat. For the blaſt of the mighty is like a whirlwind beating againſt a wall.

5 Thou ſhalt bring down the tumult of ſtrangers, as heat in thirſt: and as with heat under a burning cloud, thou ſhalt make the branch of the mighty to wither away.

6 And the Lord of hoſts ſhall make unto all people in this mountain, a feaſt of fat things, a feaſt of wine, of fat things full of marrow, of wine purified from the lees.

7 And he ſhall deſtroy in this mountain the face of the bond with which all people were tied, and the web that he began over all nations.

‖ Apoc. 7. 17. & 21. 4. 8 He ſhall caſt death down headlong for ever: ‖ and the Lord God ſhall wipe away tears from every face, and the reproach of his people he ſhall take away from off the whole earth: for the Lord hath ſpoken it.

9 And they ſhall ſay in that day: Lo, this is our God, we have waited for him, and he will ſave us: this is the Lord, we have patiently waited for him, we ſhall rejoice and be joyful in his ſalvation.

10 For the hand of the Lord ſhall reſt in this mountain: and Moab ſhall be trodden down under him, as ſtraw is broken in pieces with the wain.

11 And he ſhall ſtretch forth his hands under him, as he that ſwimmeth ſtretcheth forth his hands to ſwim: and he ſhall bring down his glory with the daſhing of his hands.

12 And the bulwarks of thy high walls ſhall fall, and be brought low, and ſhall be pulled down to the ground, even to the duſt.

CHAP. XXVI.

A canticle of thanks for the deliverance of God's people.

IN that day ſhall this canticle be ſung in the land of Juda. Sion the city of our ſtrength a ſaviour, a wall and a bulwark ſhall be ſet therein.

2 Open ye the gates, and let the juſt nation, that keepeth the truth, enter in.

3 The old error is paſſed away: thou wilt keep peace: peace, becauſe we have hoped in thee.

4 You have hoped in the Lord for evermore, in the Lord God mighty for ever.

5 For he ſhall bring down them that dwell on high, the high city he ſhall lay low. He ſhall bring it down even to the ground, he ſhall pull it down even to the duſt.

6 The foot ſhall tread it down, the feet of the poor, the ſteps of the needy.

7 The way of the juſt is right, the path of the juſt is right to walk in.

8 And in the way of thy judgments, O Lord, we have patiently waited for thee: thy name, and thy remembrance are the deſire of the ſoul.

9 My ſoul hath deſired thee in the night: yea and with my ſpirit within me in the morning early I will watch to thee. When thou ſhalt do thy judgments on the earth, the inhabitants of the world ſhall learn juſtice.

10 Let us have pity on the wicked, but he will not learn juſtice: in the land

11 Lord, let thy hand be exalted, and let them not ſee: let the envious people ſee, and be confounded: and let fire devour thy enemies.

12 Lord, thou wilt give us peace: for thou haſt wrought all our works for us.

13 O Lord our God, other lords beſides thee have had dominion over us, only in thee let us remember thy name.

14 Let not the dead live, let not the giants riſe again: therefore haſt thou viſited and deſtroyed them, and haſt deſtroyed all their memory.

15 Thou haſt been favourable to the nation, O Lord, thou haſt been favourable to the nation: art thou glorified? thou haſt removed all the ends of the earth far off.

16 Lord, they have ſought after thee in diſtreſs, in the tribulation of murmuring thy inſtruction was with them.

17 As a woman with child, when ſhe draweth near the time of her delivery, is in pain, and crieth out in her pangs: ſo are we become in thy preſence, O Lord.

18 We have conceived, and been as it were in labour, and have brought forth wind: we have not wrought ſalvation on the earth, therefore the inhabitants of the earth have not fallen.

19 Thy dead men ſhall live, my ſlain ſhall riſe again: awake, and give praiſe, ye that dwell in the duſt: for thy dew is the dew of the light: and the land of the giants thou ſhalt pull down into ruin.

20 Go, my people, enter into thy chambers, ſhut thy doors upon thee, hide thyſelf a little for a moment, until the indignation paſs away.

3 I am the Lord that keep it, I will ſuddenly give it drink: leſt any hurt come to it, I keep it night and day.

4 There is no indignation in me: who ſhall make me a thorn and a brier in battle: ſhall I march againſt it, ſhall I ſet it on fire together?

5 Or rather ſhall it take hold of my ſtrength, ſhall it make peace with me, ſhall it make peace with me?

6 When they ſhall ruſh in unto Jacob, Iſrael ſhall bloſſom and bud, and they ſhall fill the face of the world with ſeed.

9 Therefore upon this ſhall the iniquity of the houſe of Jacob be forgiven: and this is all the fruit, that the ſin thereof ſhould be taken away, when he ſhall have made all the ſtones of the altar, as burnt ſtones broken in pieces, the groves and temples ſhall not ſtand.

The puniſhment of the Iſraelites, for their pride, intemperance and contempt of religion. Chriſt the corner-ſtone.

WO to the crown of pride, to the drunkards of Ephraim, and to the fading flower the glory of his joy, who were on the head of the fat valley, ſtaggering with wine.

2 Behold the Lord is mighty and ſtrong, as a ſtorm of hail: a deſtroying whirlwind, as the violence of many waters overflowing, and ſent forth upon a ſpacious land.

3 The crown of pride of the drunkards of Ephraim ſhall be trodden under feet.

4 And the fading flower the glory of his joy, who is on the head of the fat valley, ſhall be as a haſty fruit before the ripeneſs of autumn: which when he that ſeeth it ſhall behold, as ſoon as he taketh it in his hand, he will eat it up.

5 In that day the Lord of hoſts ſhall be a crown of glory, and a garland of joy to the reſidue of his people:

6 And a ſpirit of judgment to him that ſitteth in judgment, and ſtrength to them that return out of the battle to the gate.

7 But theſe alſo have been ignorant through wine, and through drunkenneſs have erred: the prieſt and the prophet have been ignorant through drunkenneſs, they are ſwallowed up with wine, they have gone aſtray in drunkenneſs, they have not known him that ſeeth, they have been ignorant of judgment.

8 For all tables were full of vomit and filth, ſo that there was no more place.

9 Whom ſhall he teach knowledge? and whom ſhall he make to underſtand the hearing? them that are weaned from the milk, that are drawn away from the breaſts.

13 And the word of the Lord ſhall be to them: Command, command again, command, command again; expect, expect again, expect, expect again; a little there, a little there: that they may go, and fall backward, and be broken, and ſnared, and taken.

14 Wherefore hear the word of the Lord, ye ſcornful men, who rule over my people that is in Jeruſalem.

15 For you have ſaid: We have entered into a league with death, and we have made a convenant with hell. When the overflowing ſcourge ſhall paſs through, it ſhall not come upon us: for we have placed our hope in lies, and by falſhood we are protected.

22 And now do not mock, leſt your bonds be tied ſtrait. For I have heard of the Lord the God of hoſts a conſumption and a cutting ſhort upon all the earth.

23 Give ear, and hear my voice, hearken, and hear my ſpeech.

24 Shall the plough-man plough all the day to ſow, ſhall he open and harrow his ground?

25 Will he not, when he hath made plain the ſurface thereof, ſow gith, and ſcatter cummin, and put wheat in order, and barley, and millet, and vetches in their bounds?

26 For he will inſtruct him in judgment: his God will teach him.

27 For gith ſhall not be threſhed with ſaws, neither ſhall the cart-wheel turn about upon cummin: but gith ſhall be beaten out with a rod, and cummin with a ſtaff.

28 But bread-corn ſhall be broken ſmall: but the threſher ſhall not threſh it for ever, neither ſhall the cart-wheel hurt it, nor break it with its teeth.

29 This alſo is come forth from the Lord God of hoſts, to make his counſel wonderful, and magnify juſtice.

CHAP. XXIX.

God's heavy judgments upon Jeruſalem, for their blind obſtinacy: with a prophecy of the converſion of the Gentiles.

WO to Ariel, to Ariel the city which David took: year is added to year: the ſolemnities are at an end.

2 And I will make a trench about Ariel, and it ſhall be in ſorrow and mourning, and it ſhall be to me as Ariel.

3 And I will make a circle round about thee, and will caſt up a rampart againſt thee, and raiſe up bulwarks to beſiege thee.

4 Thou ſhalt be brought down, thou ſhalt ſpeak out of the earth, and thy ſpeech ſhall be heard out of the ground: and thy voice ſhall be from the earth like that of the Python, and out of the ground thy ſpeech ſhall mutter.

5 And the multitude of them that fan thee, ſhall be like ſmall duſt: and as aſhes paſſing away, the multitude of them that have prevailed againſt thee.

6 And it ſhall be at an inſtant ſuddenly. A viſitation ſhall come from the Lord of hoſts in thunder, and with earthquake, and with a great noiſe of whirlwind and tempeſt, and with the flame of devouring fire.

7 And the multitude of all nations that have fought againſt Ariel, ſhall be as the dream of a viſion by night, and all that have fought, and beſieged, and prevailed againſt it.

8 And as he that is hungry dreameth, and eateth, but when he is awake, his ſoul is empty: and as he that is thirſty dreameth, and drinketh, and after he is awake, is yet faint with thirſt, and his ſoul is empty: ſo ſhall be the multitude of all the Gentiles that have fought againſt mount Sion.

9 Be aſtoniſhed, and wonder, waver, and ſtagger: be drunk, and not with wine: ſtagger, and not with drunkenneſs.

10 For the Lord hath mingled for you the ſpirit of a deep ſleep, he will ſhut up your eyes, he will cover your prophets and princes, that ſee viſions.

11 And the viſion of all ſhall be unto you as the words of a book that is ſealed, which when they ſhall deliver to one that is learned, they ſhall ſay: Read this: and he ſhall anſwer: I cannot, for it is ſealed.

12 And the book ſhall be given to one that knoweth no letters, and it ſhall be ſaid to him: Read: and he ſhall anſwer: I know no letters.

13 ‖ And the Lord ſaid: Foraſmuch as this people draw near me with their mouth, and with their lips glorify me, but their heart is far from me, and they have feared me with the commandment and doctrines of men:

‖ Matth. 15. 8. Mark 7. 6.

14 Therefore behold I will proceed to cauſe an admiration in this people, by a great and wonderful miracle: ‖ for wiſdom ſhall periſh from their wiſe men, and the underſtanding of their prudent men ſhall be hid.

‖ 1 Cor. 1. 19. Abdias 1. 8.

15 Wo to you that are deep of heart, to hide your counſel from the Lord: and their works are in the dark, and they ſay: ‖ Who ſeeth us, and who knoweth us?

ter, and the work ſhould ſay to the maker thereof: Thou madeſt me not: or the thing framed ſhould ſay to him that faſhioned it: Thou underſtandeſt not.

17 Is it not yet a very little while, and Libanus ſhall be turned into charmel, and charmel ſhall be eſteemed as a foreſt?

18 And in that day the deaf ſhall hear the words of the book, and out of darkneſs and obſcurity the eyes of the blind ſhall ſee.

19 And the meek ſhall increaſe their joy in the Lord, and the poor men ſhall rejoice in the holy One of Iſrael.

20 For he that did prevail hath failed, the ſcorner is conſumed, and they are all cut off that watched for iniquity:

21 That made men ſin by word, and ſupplanted him that reproved them in the gate, and declined in vain from the juſt.

22 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord to the houſe of Jacob, he that redeemed Abraham: Jacob ſhall not now be confounded, neither ſhall his countenance now be aſhamed:

23 But when he ſhall ſee his children, the work of my hands in the midſt of him ſanctifying my name, and they ſhall ſanctify the holy One of Jacob, and ſhall glorify the God of Iſrael:

24 And they that erred in ſpirit, ſhall know underſtanding, and they that murmured, ſhall learn the law.

CHAP. XXX.

The people are blamed for their confidence in Egypt. God's mercies towards his church: the puniſhment of ſinners.

WO to you, apoſtate children, ſaith the Lord, that you would take counſel, and not of me: and would begin a web, and not by my ſpirit, that you might add ſin upon ſin:

2 Who walk to go down into Egypt, and have not aſked at my mouth, hoping for help in the ſtrength of Pharao, and truſting in the ſhadow of Egypt.

3 And the ſtrength of Pharao ſhall be to your confuſion, and the confidence of the ſhadow of Egypt to your ſhame.

4 For thy princes were in Tanis, and thy meſſengers came even to Hanes.

5 They were all confounded at a people that could not profit them: they were no help, nor to any profit, but to confuſion and to reproach.

6 The burden of the beaſts of the ſouth. In a land of trouble and diſtreſs, from whence come the lioneſs, and the lion, the viper and the flying baſiliſk, they carry their riches upon the ſhoulders of beaſts, and their treaſures upon the bunches of camels to a people that ſhall not be able to profit them.

7 || For Egypt ſhall help in vain, and to no purpoſe: therefore have I cried concerning this: It is pride only, ſit ſtill. || Jerem. 37. 7.

8 Now therefore go in and write for them upon box, and note it diligently in a book, and it ſhall be in the latter days for a teſtimony for ever.

9 For it is a people that provoketh to wrath, and lying children, children that will not hear the law of God.

10 Who ſay to the ſeers: See not: and to them that behold: Behold not for us thoſe things that are right: ſpeak unto us pleaſant things, ſee errors for us.

11 Take away from me the way, turn away the path from me, let the holy One of Iſrael ceaſe from before us.

12 Therefore thus ſaith the holy One of Iſrael: Becauſe you have rejected this word, and have truſted in oppreſſion and tumult, and have leaned upon it:

13 Therefore ſhall this iniquity be to you as a breach that falleth, and is found wanting in a high wall, for the deſtruction thereof ſhall come on a ſudden, when it is not looked for.

14 And it ſhall be broken ſmall, as the potter's veſſel is broken all to pieces with mighty breaking, and there ſhall not a ſhard be found of the pieces thereof, wherein a little fire may be carried from the hearth, or a little water be drawn out of the pit.

15 For thus ſaith the Lord God the holy One of Iſrael: If you return and be quiet, you ſhall be ſaved: in ſilence and in hope ſhall your ſtrength be. And you would not:

16 But have ſaid: No, but we will flee to horſes: therefore ſhall you flee. And we will mount upon ſwift ones: therefore ſhall they be ſwifter that ſhall purſue after you.

17 A thouſand men ſhall flee for fear of one: and for fear of five ſhall you flee, till you be left as the maſt of a ſhip on the top of a mountain, and as an enſign upon a hill.

18 Therefore the Lord waiteth that he may have mercy on you: and therefore ſhall he be exalted ſparing you: becauſe the Lord is the God of judgment: bleſſed are all they that wait for him.

19 For the people of Sion ſhall dwell in Jeruſalem: weeping thou ſhalt not weep, he will ſurely have pity on thee: at the voice of thy cry, as ſoon as he ſhall hear, he will anſwer thee.

VER. 17. Charmel. This word ſignifies a fruitful field.

20 And the Lord will give you ſpare bread, and ſhort water: and will not cauſe thy teacher to flee away from thee any more: and thy eyes ſhall ſee thy teacher.

21 And thy ears ſhall hear the word of one admoniſhing thee behind thy back: This is the way, walk ye in it: and go not aſide neither to the right hand, nor to the left.

22 And thou ſhalt defile the plates of thy graven things of ſilver, and the garment of thy molten things of gold, and ſhalt caſt them away as the uncleanneſs of a menſtruous woman. Thou ſhalt ſay to it: Get thee hence.

23 And rain ſhall be given to thy ſeed, whereſoever thou ſhalt ſow in the land: and the bread of the corn of the land ſhall be moſt plentiful, and fat. The lamb in that day ſhall feed at large in thy poſſeſſion:

24 And thy oxen, and the aſs-colts that till the ground, ſhall eat mingled provender as it was winnowed in the floor.

25 And there ſhall be upon every high mountain, and upon every elevated hill, rivers of running waters in the day of the ſlaughter of many, when the towers ſhall fall.

26 And the light of the moon ſhall be as the light of the ſun, and the light of the ſun ſhall be ſevenfold, as the light of ſeven days, in the day when the Lord ſhall bind up the wound of his people, and ſhall heal the ſtroke of their wound.

27 Behold the name of the Lord cometh from afar, his wrath burneth and is heavy to bear: his lips are filled with indignation, and his tongue as a devouring fire.

28 His breath as a torrent overflowing even to the midſt of the neck, to deſtroy the nations unto nothing, and the bridle of error that was in the jaws of the people.

29 You ſhall have a ſong as in the night of the ſanctified ſolemnity, and joy of heart, as when one goeth with a pipe, to come into the mountain of the Lord, to the mighty One of Iſrael.

30 And the Lord ſhall make the glory of his voice to be heard, and ſhall ſhew the terror of his arm, in the threatening of wrath, and the flame of devouring fire: he ſhall cruſh to pieces with whirlwind, and hail-ſtones.

31 For at the voice of the Lord the Aſſyrian ſhall fear being ſtruck with the rod.

32 And the paſſage of the rod ſhall be ſtrongly grounded, which the Lord ſhall make to reſt upon him with timbrels and harps, and in great battles he ſhall overthrow them.

33 For Topheth is prepared from yeſterday, prepared by the king, deep, and wide. The nouriſhments thereof is fire and much wood: the breath of the Lord as a torrent of brimſtone kindling it.

CHAP. XXXI.

The folly of truſting to Egypt, and forgetting God. He will fight for his people againſt the Aſſyrians.

WO to them that go down to Egypt for help, truſting in horſes, and putting their confidence in chariots, becauſe they are many: and in horſemen, becauſe they are very ſtrong: and have not truſted in the holy One of Iſrael, and have not ſought after the Lord.

2 But he that is the wiſe one hath brought evil, and hath not removed his words: and he will riſe up againſt the houſe of the wicked, and againſt the aid of them that work iniquity.

3 Egypt is man, and not God: and their horſes, fleſh, and not ſpirit: and the Lord ſhall put down his hand, and the helper ſhall fall, and he that is helped ſhall fall, and they ſhall all be confounded together.

4 For thus ſaith the Lord to me: Like as the lion roareth, and the lion's whelp upon his prey, and when a multitude of ſhepherds ſhall come againſt him, he will not fear at their voice, nor be afraid of their multitude: ſo ſhall the Lord of hoſts come down to fight upon mount Sion, and upon the hill thereof.

5 As birds flying, ſo will the Lord of hoſts protect Jeruſalem, protecting and delivering, paſſing over and ſaving.

6 Return as you had deeply revolted, O children of Iſrael.

7 For in that day a man ſhall caſt away his idols of ſilver, and his idols of gold, which your hands have made for you to ſin.

8 ‖ And the Aſſyrian ſhall fall by the ſword not of a man, and the ſword not of a man ſhall devour him, and he ſhall flee not at the face of the ſword: and his young men ſhall be tributaries:

‖ Infra 27. 36. 4 Kings 19. 35. 2 Par. 32. 21.

9 And his ſtrength ſhall paſs away with dread, and his princes fleeing ſhall be afraid: the Lord hath ſaid it, whoſe fire is in Sion, and his furnace in Jeruſalem.

CHAP. XXX. VER. 33. Topheth. 'Tis the ſame as Gehenna, and is taken for hell.

CHAP. XXXII.

The bleſſings of the reign of Chriſt. The deſolation of the Jews, and proſperity of the church of Chriſt.

BEHOLD a king ſhall reign in juſtice, and princes ſhall rule in judgment.

2 And a man ſhall be as when one is hid from the wind, and hideth himſelf from a ſtorm, as rivers of waters in drought, and the ſhadow of a rock that ſtandeth out in a deſert land.

3 The eyes of them that ſee ſhall not be dim, and the ears of them that hear ſhall hearken diligently.

4 And the heart of fools ſhall underſtand knowledge, and the tongue of ſtammerers ſhall ſpeak readily and plain.

5 The fool ſhall no more be called prince: neither ſhall the deceitful be called great:

6 For the fool will ſpeak fooliſh things, and his heart will work iniquity, to practiſe hypocriſy, and ſpeak to the Lord deceitfully, and to make empty the ſoul of the hungry, and take away drink from the thirſty.

7 The veſſels of the deceitful are moſt wicked: for he hath framed devices to deſtroy the meek, with lying words, when the poor man ſpeaketh judgment.

8 But the prince will deviſe ſuch things as are worthy of a prince, and he ſhall ſtand above the rulers.

9 Riſe up, ye rich women, and hear my voice: ye confident daughters, give ear to my ſpeech.

10 For after days and a year, you that are confident ſhall be troubled: for the vintage is at an end, the gathering ſhall come no more.

11 Be aſtoniſhed, ye rich women, be troubled, ye confident ones: ſtrip you, and be confounded, gird your loins.

12 Mourn for your breaſts, for the delightful country, for the fruitful vineyard.

13 Upon the land of my people ſhall thorns and briers come up: how much more upon all the houſes of joy, of the city that rejoiced?

14 For the houſe is forſaken, the multitude of the city is left, darkneſs and obſcurity are come upon its dens for ever. A joy of wild aſſes, the paſtures of flocks, 15 Until the ſpirit be poured upon us from on high: and the deſert ſhall be as a charmel, and charmel ſhall be counted for a foreſt.

16 And judgment ſhall dwell in the wilderneſs, and juſtice ſhall ſit in charmel.

17 And the work of juſtice ſhall be peace, and the ſervice of juſtice quietneſs, and ſecurity for ever.

18 And my people ſhall ſit in the beauty of peace, and in the tabernacles of confidence, and in wealthy reſt.

19 But hail ſhall be in the deſcent of the foreſt, and the city ſhall be made very low.

20 Bleſſed are ye that ſow upon all waters, ſending thither the foot of the ox and the aſs.

CHAP. XXXIII.

God's revenge againſt the enemies of his church. The happineſs of the heavenly Jeruſalem.

WO to thee that ſpoileſt, ſhalt not thou thyſelf alſo be ſpoiled? and thou that deſpiſeſt, ſhalt not thyſelf alſo be deſpiſed? when thou ſhalt have made an end of ſpoiling, thou ſhalt be ſpoiled: when being wearied thou ſhalt ceaſe to deſpiſe, thou ſhalt be deſpiſed.

2 O Lord, have mercy on us: for we have waited for thee: be thou our arm in the morning, and our ſalvation in the time of trouble.

3 At the voice of the Angel the people fled, and at the lifting up thyſelf the nations are ſcattered.

4 And your ſpoils ſhall be gathered together as the locuſt is gathered, as when the ditches are full of them.

5 The Lord is magnified, for he hath dwelt on high: he hath filled Sion with judgment and juſtice.

6 And there ſhall be faith in thy times: riches of ſalvation, wiſdom and knowledge: the fear of the Lord is his treaſure.

7 Behold they that ſee ſhall cry without, the angels of peace ſhall weep bitterly.

8 The ways are made deſolate, no one paſſeth by the road, the covenant is made void, he hath rejected the cities, he hath not regarded the men.

9 The land hath mourned, and languiſhed: Libanus is confounded, and become foul, and Saron is become as a deſert: and Baſan and Carmel are ſhaken.

10 Now will I riſe up ſaith the Lord:

CHAP. XXXIII. VER. 1. That ſpoileſt, &c. This is particularly directed to Sennacherib.

VER. 7. The angels of peace. The meſſengers or deputies ſent to negociate a peace.

now will I be exalted, now will I lift up myſelf.

11 You ſhall conceive heat, you ſhall bring forth ſtubble: your breath as fire ſhall devour you.

12 And the people ſhall be as aſhes after a fire, as a bundle of thorns they ſhall be burnt with fire.

13 Hear, you that are far off, what I have done, and you that are near, know my ſtrength.

14 The ſinners in Sion are afraid, trembling hath ſeized upon the hypocrites. Which of you can dwell with devouring fire? which of you ſhall dwell with everlaſting burnings?

15 ‖ He that walketh in juſtices, and ſpeaketh truth, that caſteth away avarice by oppreſſion, and ſhaketh his hands from all bribes, that ſtoppeth his ears leſt he hear blood, and ſhutteth his eyes that he may ſee no evil.

‖ Pſal. 14. 2.

16 He ſhall dwell on high, the fortifications of rocks ſhall be his highneſs: bread is given him, his waters are ſure.

17 His eyes ſhall ſee the king in his beauty, they ſhall ſee the land far off.

18 Thy heart ſhall meditate fear: ‖ where is the learned? where is he that pondereth the words of the law? where is the teacher of little ones?

‖ 1 Cor. 1. 20.

19 The ſhameleſs people thou ſhalt not ſee, the people of profound ſpeech: ſo that thou canſt not underſtand the eloquence of his tongue, in whom there is no wiſdom.

20 Look upon Sion the city of our ſolemnity: thy eyes ſhall ſee Jeruſalem, a rich habitation, a tabernacle that cannot be removed: neither ſhall the nails thereof be taken away for ever, neither ſhall any of the cords thereof be broken:

21 Becauſe only there our Lord is magnificent: a place of rivers, very broad and ſpacious ſtreams: no ſhip with oars ſhall paſs by it, neither ſhall the great galley paſs through it.

22 For the Lord is our judge, the Lord is our lawgiver, the Lord is our king: he will ſave us.

23 Thy tacklings are looſed, and they ſhall be of no ſtrength: thy maſt ſhall be in ſuch condition, that thou ſhalt not be able to ſpread the flag. Then ſhall the ſpoils of much prey be divided: the lame ſhall take the ſpoil.

24 Neither ſhall he that is near, ſay: I am feeble. The people that dwell therein, ſhall have their iniquity taken away from them.

CHAP. XXXIV.

The general judgment of the wicked.

COME near, ye Gentiles, and hear, and hearken, ye people: let the earth hear, and all that is therein, the world, and every thing that cometh forth of it.

2 For the indignation of the Lord is upon all nations, and his fury upon all their armies: he hath killed them, and delivered them to ſlaughter.

3 Their ſlain ſhall be caſt forth, and out of their carcaſes ſhall riſe a ſtink: the mountains ſhall be melted with their blood.

4 And all the hoſt of the heavens ſhall pine away, and the heavens ſhall be folded together as a book: and all their hoſt ſhall fall down as the leaf falleth from the vine, and from the fig-tree.

5 For my ſword is inebriated in heaven: behold it ſhall come down upon Idumea, and upon the people of my ſlaughter unto judgment.

6 The ſword of the Lord is filled with blood, it is made thick with the blood of lambs and buck-goats, with the blood of rams full of marrow: for there is a victim of the Lord in Boſra, and a great ſlaughter in the land of Edom.

7 And the unicorns ſhall go down with them, and the bulls with the mighty: their land ſhall be ſoaked with blood, and their ground with the fat of fat ones.

8 For it is the day of the vengeance of the Lord, the year of recompences of the judgment of Sion.

9 And the ſtreams thereof ſhall be turned into pitch, and the ground thereof into brimſtone: and the land thereof ſhall become burning pitch.

10 Night and day it ſhall not be quenched, the ſmoke thereof ſhall go up for ever:

VER. 21. Of rivers. He ſpeaks of the rivers of endleſs joys that flow from the throne of God to water the heavenly Jeruſalem, where no enemy's ſhip can come, &c.

VER. 23. Thy tacklings. He ſpeaks of the enemies of the church, under the allegory of a ſhip that is diſabled.

CHAP. XXXIV. VER. 4. And all the hoſt of the heavens. That is, the ſun, moon and ſtars.

VER. 5. Idumea. Under the name of Idumea or Edom, a people that were enemies of the Jews, are here underſtood the wicked in general, the enemies of God and his church.

VER. 7. The unicorns. That is, the great and mighty.

VER. 8. The year of recompences, &c. When the perſecutors of Sion, that is, of the church, ſhall receive their reward.

from generation to generation it shall lie waste, none shall pass through it for ever and ever.

11 The bittern and ericius shall possess it: and the ibis and the raven shall dwell in it: and a line shall be stretched out upon it, to bring it to nothing, and a plummet, unto desolation.

12 The nobles thereof shall not be there: they shall call rather upon the king, and all the princes thereof shall be nothing.

13 And thorns and nettles shall grow up in its houses, and the thistle in the fortresses thereof: and it shall be the habitation of dragons, and the pasture of ostriches.

14 And demons and monsters shall meet, and the hairy ones shall cry out to one another, there hath the lamia lain down, and found rest for herself.

15 There hath the ericius had its hole, and brought up its young ones, and hath dug round about, and cherished them in the shadow thereof: thither are the kites gathered together one to another.

16 Search ye diligently in the book of the Lord, and read: not one of them was wanting, one hath not sought for the other: for that which proceedeth out of my mouth, he hath commanded, and his spirit it hath gathered them.

17 And he hath cast the lot for them, and his hand hath divided it to them by line: they shall possess it for ever, from generation to generation they shall dwell therein.

CHAP. XXXV.

The joyful flourishing of Christ's kingdom: in his church shall be a holy and secure way.

THE land that was desolate and impassable shall be glad, and the wilderness shall rejoice, and shall flourish like the lily.

2 It shall bud forth and blossom, and shall rejoice with joy and praise: the glory of Libanus is given to it: the beauty of Carmel, and Saron, they shall see the glory of the Lord, and the beauty of our God.

3 Strengthen ye the feeble hands, and confirm the weak knees.

4 Say to the faint-hearted: Take courage, and fear not: behold your God will bring the revenge of recompence: God himself will come and will save you.

5 Then shall the eyes of the blind be opened, and the ears of the deaf shall be unstopped.

6 Then shall the lame man leap as a hart, and the tongue of the dumb shall be free: for waters are broken out in the desert, and streams in the wilderness.

7 And that which was dry land, shall become a pool, and the thirsty land springs of water. In the dens where dragons dwelt before, shall rise up the verdure of the reed and the bulrush.

8 And a path and a way shall be there, and it shall be called the holy way: the unclean shall not pass over it, and this shall be unto you a straight way, so that fools shall not err therein.

9 No lion shall be there, nor shall any mischievous beast go up by it, nor be found there: but they shall walk there that shall be delivered.

10 And the redeemed of the Lord shall return, and shall come into Sion with praise, and everlasting joy shall be upon their heads: they shall obtain joy and gladness, and sorrow and mourning shall flee away.

CHAP. XXXVI.

Sennacherib invades Juda: his blasphemies.

AND it came to pass in the fourteenth year * of king Ezechias, that Sennacherib king of the Assyrians came up against all the fenced cities of Juda, and took them. * A. M. 3291. Ante C. 713. 4 Kings 18. 13. 2 Par. 32. 1. Eccli. 48. 20.

2 And the king of the Assyrians sent Rabsaces from Lachis to Jerusalem, to king Ezechias with a great army, and he stood by the conduit of the upper pool in the way of the Fuller's field.

3 And there went out to him Eliacim the son of Helcias, who was over the house, and Sobna the scribe, and Joahe the son of Asaph the recorder.

4 And Rabsaces said to them: Tell Ezechias: Thus saith the great king, the king of the Assyrians: What is this confidence wherein thou trustest?

5 Or with what counsel or strength dost thou prepare for war? on whom dost thou trust, that thou art revolted from me?

6 Lo thou trustest upon this broken staff of a reed, upon Egypt: upon which if a man lean, it will go into his hand, and pierce it; so is Pharao king of Egypt to all that trust in him.

7 But if thou wilt answer me: We trust in the Lord our God: is it not he whose high places and altars Ezechias hath taken away, and hath said to Juda and Jerusalem: You shall worship before this altar?

8 And now deliver thyself up to my lord the king of the Assyrians, and I will give thee two thousand horses, and thou wilt not be able on thy part to find riders for them.

9 And how wilt thou ſtand againſt the face of the judge of one place, of the leaſt of my maſter's ſervants? But if thou truſt in Egypt, in chariots and in horſemen:

10 And am I now come up without the Lord againſt this land to deſtroy it? The Lord ſaid to me: Go up againſt this land, and deſtroy it.

11 And Eliacim, and Sobna, and Joahe ſaid to Rabſaces: Speak to thy ſervants in the Syrian tongue: for we underſtand it: ſpeak not to us in the Jews language in the hearing of the people, that are upon the wall.

12 And Rabſaces ſaid to them: Hath my maſter ſent me to thy maſter and to thee, to ſpeak all theſe words; and not rather to the men that ſit on the wall; that they may eat their own dung, and drink their urine with you?

13 Then Rabſaces ſtood, and cried out with a loud voice in the Jews language, and ſaid: Hear the words of the great king, the king of the Aſſyrians.

14 Thus ſaith the king: Let not Ezechias deceive you, for he ſhall not be able to deliver you.

15 And let not Ezechias make you truſt in the Lord, ſaying: The Lord will ſurely deliver us, and this city ſhall not be given into the hands of the king of the Aſſyrians.

16 Do not hearken to Ezechias: for thus ſaid the king of the Aſſyrians: Do with me that which is for your advantage, and come out to me, and eat ye every one of his vine, and every one of his fig-tree, and drink ye every one the water of his ciſtern,

17 Till I come and take you away to a land, like to your own, a land of corn and of wine, a land of bread and vineyards.

18 Neither let Ezechias trouble you, ſaying: The Lord will deliver us. Have any of the gods of the nations delivered their land out of the hand of the king of the Aſſyrians?

19 Where is the god of Emath, and of Arphad? where is the god of Sepharvaim? have they delivered Samaria out of my hand?

20 Who is there among all the gods of theſe lands, that hath delivered his country out of my hand, that the Lord may deliver Jeruſalem out of my hand?

‖ 4 Kings 18. 36. 21 ‖ And they held their peace, and anſwered him not a word. For the king had commanded, ſaying: Anſwer him not.

22 And Eliacim the ſon of Helcias, that was over the houſe, and Sobna the ſcribe, and Joahe the ſon of Aſaph the recorder, went into Ezechias with their garments rent, and told him the words of Rabſaces.

Ezechias, his mourning and prayer. God's promiſe of protection. The Aſſyrian army is deſtroyed. Sennacherib is ſlain.

4 Kings, 19. 1. A. M. 3294. Ante C. 710. AND it came to paſs, when king Ezechias had heard it, that he rent his garments, and covered himſelf with ſackcloth, and went in to the houſe of the Lord.

2 And he ſent Eliacim who was over the houſe, and Sobna the ſcribe, and the ancients of the prieſts covered with ſackcloth, to Iſaias the ſon of Amos the prophet.

3 And they ſaid to him: Thus ſaith Ezechias: This day is a day of tribulation, and of rebuke, and of blaſphemy: for the children are come to the birth, and there is not ſtrength to bring forth.

4 It may be the Lord thy God will hear the words of Rabſaces, whom the king of the Aſſyrians his maſter hath ſent to blaſpheme the living God, and to reproach with words which the Lord thy God hath heard: wherefore lift up thy prayer for the remnant that is left.

5 And the ſervants of Ezechias came to Iſaias.

6 And Iſaias ſaid to them: Thus ſhall you ſay to your maſter: Thus ſaith the Lord: Be not afraid of the words that thou haſt heard, with which the ſervants of the king of the Aſſyrians have blaſphemed me.

7 Behold, I will ſend a ſpirit upon him, and he ſhall hear a meſſage, and ſhall return to his own country, and I will cauſe him to fall by the ſword in his own country.

‖ 4 Kings 19. 8. 8 And Rabſaces returned, and found the king of the Aſſyrians beſieging Lobna. ‖ For he had heard that he was departed from Lachis.

9 And he heard ſay about Tharaca the king of Ethiopia: He is come forth to fight againſt thee. And when he heard it, he ſent meſſengers to Ezechias, ſaying:

10 Thus ſhall you ſpeak to Ezechias the king of Juda, ſaying: Let not thy God deceive thee, in whom thou truſteſt, ſaying: Jeruſalem ſhall not be given into the hands of the king of the Aſſyrians.

11 Behold thou haſt heard all that the kings of the Aſſyrians have done to all countries which they have deſtroyed, and canſt thou be delivered?

12 Have the gods of the nations delivered them whom my fathers have deſtroyed, Gozam, and Haram, and Reſeph, and the children of Eden, that were in Thalaſſar?

‖ 4 Kings 18. 34. & 19. 23. 13 Where is the king of Emath, and the king of Arphad, and the king of the city of Sepharvaim, of Ana, and of Ava? ‖

14 And Ezechias took the letter from the hand of the meſſengers, and read it, and went up to the houſe of the Lord, and Ezechias ſpread it before the Lord.

15 And Ezechias prayed to the Lord, ſaying:

16 O Lord of hoſts God of Iſrael, who ſitteſt upon the Cherubims, thou alone art the God of all the kingdoms of the earth, thou haſt made heaven and earth.

17 Incline, O Lord, thy ear, and hear: open, O Lord, thy eyes, and ſee, and hear all the words of Sennacherib, which he hath ſent to blaſpheme the living God.

18 For of a truth, O Lord, the kings of the Aſſyrians have laid waſte lands, and their countries.

19 And they have caſt their gods into the fire, for they were not gods, but the works of mens hands, of wood and ſtone: and they broke them in pieces.

20 And now, O Lord our God, ſave us out of his hand: and let all the kingdoms of the earth know, that thou only art the Lord.

21 And Iſaias the ſon of Amos ſent to Ezechias, ſaying: Thus ſaith the Lord the God of Iſrael: For the prayer thou haſt made to me concerning Sennacherib the king of the Aſſyrians:

22 This is the word which the Lord hath ſpoken of him: The virgin the daughter of Sion hath deſpiſed thee, and laughed thee to ſcorn: the daughter of Jeruſalem hath wagged the head after thee.

23 Whom haſt thou reproached, and whom haſt thou blaſphemed, and againſt whom haſt thou exalted thy voice, and lifted up thy eyes on high? Againſt the holy One of Iſrael.

24 By the hand of thy ſervants thou haſt reproached the Lord: and haſt ſaid: With the multitude of my chariots I have gone up to the height of the mountains, to the top of Libanus: and I will cut down its tall cedars, and its choice fir-trees, and will enter to the top of its height, to the foreſt of its Carmel.

25 I have digged, and drunk water, and have dried up with the ſole of my foot all the rivers ſhut up in banks.

26 Haſt thou not heard what I have done to him of old? from the days of old I have formed it: and now I have brought it to effect: and it hath come to paſs that hills fighting together, and fenced cities ſhould be deſtroyed.

27 The inhabitants of them were weak of hand, they trembled, and were confounded: they became like the graſs of the field, and the herb of the paſture, and like the graſs of the houſe-tops, which withered before it was ripe.

28 I know thy dwelling, and thy going out, and thy coming in, and thy rage againſt me.

29 When thou waſt mad againſt me, thy pride came up to my ears: therefore I will put a ring in thy noſe, and a bit between thy lips, and I will turn thee back by the way by which thou cameſt.

30 But to thee this ſhall be a ſign: Eat this year the things that ſpring of themſelves, and in the ſecond year eat fruits: but in the third year ſow and reap, and plant vineyards, and eat the fruit of them.

31 And that which ſhall be ſaved of the houſe of Juda, and which is left, ſhall take root downward, and ſhall bear fruit upward:

32 For out of Jeruſalem ſhall go forth a remnant, and ſalvation from mount Sion: the zeal of the Lord of hoſts ſhall do this.

33 Wherefore thus ſaith the Lord concerning the king of the Aſſyrians: He ſhall not come into this city, nor ſhoot an arrow into it, nor come before it with ſhield, nor caſt a trench about it.

34 By the way that he came, he ſhall return, and into this city he ſhall not come, ſaith the Lord.

35 And I will protect this city, and will ſave it for my own ſake, and for the ſake of David my ſervant.

36 || And the angel of the Lord went out, and ſlew in the camp of the Aſſyrians a hundred and eighty five thouſand. And they aroſe in the morning, and behold they were all dead corpſes.

38 And it came to paſs, as he was worſhipping in the temple of Neſroch his god, that Adramelech and Saraſar his ſons ſlew him with the ſword: and they fled into the land of Ararat, and Aſarhaddon his ſon reigned in his ſtead.

prophet came unto him, and said to him: Thus saith the Lord: Take order with thy house, for thou shalt die, and not live.

2 And Ezechias turned his face toward the wall, and prayed to the Lord,

3 And said: I beseech thee, O Lord, remember how I have walked before thee in truth, and with a perfect heart, and have done that which is good in thy sight. And Ezechias wept with great weeping.

4 And the word of the Lord came to Isaias, saying:

5 Go and say to Ezechias: Thus saith the Lord the God of David thy father: I have heard thy prayer, and I have seen thy tears: behold I will add to thy days fifteen years:

6 And I will deliver thee and this city out of the hand of the king of the Assyrians, and I will protect it.

7 And this shall be a sign to thee from the Lord, that the Lord will do this word which he hath spoken:

‖ Eccli. 48. 26. 8 ‖ Behold I will bring again the shadow of the lines, by which it is now gone down in the sun-dial of Achaz with the sun, ten lines backward. And the sun returned ten lines by the degrees by which it was gone down.

9 The writing of Ezechias king of Juda, when he had been sick, and was recovered of his sickness.

10 I said: In the midst of my days I shall go to the gates of hell: I sought for the residue of my years.

11 I said: I shall not see the Lord God in the land of the living. I shall behold man no more, nor the inhabitant of rest.

12 My generation is at an end, and it is rolled away from me, as a shepherd's tent. My life is cut off, as by a weaver: whilst I was yet but beginning, he cut me off: from morning even to night thou wilt make an end of me.

13 I hoped till morning, as a lion so hath he broken all my bones: from morning even to night thou wilt make an end of me.

14 I will cry like a young swallow, I will meditate like a dove: My eyes are weakened looking upward: Lord, I suffer violence, answer thou for me.

15 What shall I say, or what shall he answer for me, whereas he himself hath done it? I will recount to thee all my years in the bitterness of my soul.

16 O Lord, if man's life be such, and the life of my spirit be in such things as these, thou shalt correct me, and make me to live.

17 Behold in peace is my bitterness most bitter: but thou hast delivered my soul that it should not perish, thou hast cast all my sins behind thy back.

18 For hell shall not confess to thee, neither shall death praise thee: nor shall they that go down into the pit, look for thy truth.

19 The living, the living, he shall give praise to thee, as I do this day: the father shall make thy truth known to the children.

20 O Lord, save me, and we will sing our psalms all the days of our life in the house of the Lord.

21 Now Isaias had ordered that they should take a lump of figs, and lay it as a plaster upon the wound, and that he should be healed.

22 And Ezechias had said: What shall be the sign that I shall go up to the house of the Lord?

CHAP. XXXIX.

Ezechias shews all his treasures to the embassadors of Babylon: upon which Isaias foretells the Babylonish captivity.

AT that time Merodach Baladan, the son of Baladan king of Babylon, sent letters and presents to Ezechias: for he had heard that he had been sick and was recovered. 4 Kings 20. 12.

2 And Ezechias rejoiced at their coming, and he shewed them the storehouse of his aromatical spices, and of the silver, and of the gold, and of the sweet odours, and of the precious ointment, and all the storehouses of his furniture, and all things that were found in his treasures. There was nothing in his house, nor in all his dominion that Ezechias shewed them not.

3 Then Isaias the prophet came to king Ezechias, and said to him: What said these men, and from whence came they to thee? And Ezechias said: From a far country they came to me, from Babylon.

4 And he said: What saw they in thy house? And Ezechias said: All things that are in my house have they seen, there was not any thing which I have not shewn them in my treasures.

5 And Isaias said to Ezechias: Hear the word of the Lord of hosts.

6 Behold the days shall come, that all that is in thy house, and that thy fathers have laid up in store until this day, shall be carried away into Babylon: there shall not any thing be left, saith the Lord.

7 And of thy children, that shall issue from thee, whom thou shalt beget, they shall take away, and they shall be eunuchs in the palace of the king of Babylon.

8 And Ezechias said to Isaias: The word of the Lord, which he hath spoken, is good. And he said: Only let peace and truth be in my days.

The reign of the juſt one: the vanity of idols.

LET the iſlands keep ſilence before me, and the nations take new ſtrength: let them come near, and then ſpeak, let us come near to judgment together.

2 Who hath raiſed up the juſt one from the eaſt, hath called him to follow him? he ſhall give the nations in his ſight, and he ſhall rule over kings: he ſhall give them as the duſt to his ſword, as ſtubble driven by the wind, to his bow.

6 Every one ſhall help his neighbour, and ſhall ſay to his brother: Be of good courage.

7 The copperſmith ſtriking with the hammer encouraged him that forged at that time, ſaying: It is ready for ſoldering: and he ſtrengthened it with nails, that it ſhould not be moved.

8 But thou Iſrael art my ſervant, Jacob whom I have choſen, the ſeed of Abraham my friend:

9 In whom I have taken thee from the ends of the earth, and from the remote parts thereof have called thee, and ſaid to thee: Thou art my ſervant, I have choſen thee, and have not caſt thee away.

10 Fear not, for I am with thee: turn not aſide, for I am thy God: I have ſtrengthened thee, and have helped thee, and the right hand of my juſt One hath upheld thee.

11 Behold all that fight againſt thee ſhall be confounded and aſhamed, they ſhall be as nothing, and the men ſhall periſh that ſtrive againſt thee.

12 Thou ſhalt ſeek them, and ſhalt not find, the men that reſiſt thee: they ſhall be as nothing: and as a thing conſumed the men that war againſt thee.

13 For I am the Lord thy God, who take thee by the hand, and ſay to thee: Fear not, I have helped thee.

14 Fear not, thou worm of Jacob, you that are dead of Iſrael: I have helped thee, ſaith the Lord: and thy Redeemer the holy One of Iſrael.

15 I have made thee as a new threſhing wain, with teeth like a ſaw: thou ſhalt threſh the mountains, and break them in pieces: and ſhalt make the hills as chaff.

16 Thou ſhalt fan them, and the wind ſhall carry them away, and the whirlwind ſhall ſcatter them: and thou ſhalt rejoice in the Lord, in the holy One of Iſrael thou ſhalt be joyful.

17 The needy and the poor ſeek for waters, and there are none: their tongue hath been dry with thirſt. I the Lord will hear them, I the God of Iſrael will not forſake them.

18 I will open rivers in the high hills, and fountains in the midſt of the plains: I will turn the deſert into pools of waters, and the impaſſable land into ſtreams of waters.

19 I will plant in the wilderneſs the cedar, and the thorn, and the myrtle, and the olive-tree: I will ſet in the deſert the fir-tree, the elm, and the box-tree together:

20 That they may ſee and know, and conſider, and underſtand together that the hand of the Lord hath done this, and the holy One of Iſrael hath created it.

21 Bring your cauſe near, ſaith the Lord: bring hither, if you have any thing to allege, ſaid the King of Jacob.

11 Let the deſert and the cities thereof be exalted: Cedar ſhall dwell in houſes: ye inhabitants of Petra, give praiſe, they ſhall cry from the top of the mountains.

12 They ſhall give glory to the Lord, and ſhall declare his praiſe in the iſlands.

13 The Lord ſhall go forth as a mighty man, as a man of war ſhall he ſtir up zeal: he ſhall ſhout and cry: he ſhall prevail againſt his enemies.

14 I have always held my peace, I have kept ſilence, I have been patient, I will ſpeak now as a woman in labour: I will deſtroy, and ſwallow up at once.

15 I will lay waſte the mountains and hills, and will make all their graſs to wither: and I will turn rivers into iſlands, and will dry up the ſtanding pools.

16 And I will lead the blind into the way which they know not: and in the paths which they were ignorant of I will make them walk: I will make darkneſs light before them, and crooked things ſtraight: theſe things have I done to them, and have not forſaken them.

17 They are turned back: let them be greatly confounded, that truſt in a graven thing, that ſay to a molten thing: You are our gods.

18 Hear ye deaf, and ye blind behold that you may ſee.

19 Who is blind, but my ſervant? or deaf, but he to whom I have ſent my meſſengers? Who is blind, but he that is ſold? or who is blind, but the ſervant of the Lord?

20 Thou that ſeeſt many things, wilt thou not obſerve them? thou that haſt ears open, wilt thou not hear?

21 And the Lord was willing to ſanctify him, and to magnify the law, and exalt it.

22 But this is a people that is robbed and waſted: they are all the ſnare of young men, and they are hid in the houſes of priſons: they are made a prey, and there is none to deliver them: a ſpoil, and there is none that ſaith: Reſtore.

23 Who is there among you that will give ear to this, that will attend and hearken for times to come?

God comforts his church, promiſing to protect her for ever: he expoſtulates with the Jews for their ingratitude.

AND now thus ſaith the Lord that created thee, O Jacob, and formed thee, O Iſrael: Fear not, for I have redeemed thee, and called thee by thy name: thou art mine.

2 When thou ſhalt paſs through the waters, I will be with thee, and the rivers ſhall not cover thee: when thou ſhalt walk in the fire, thou ſhalt not be burnt, and the flames ſhall not burn in thee:

4 Since thou becameſt honourable in my eyes, thou art glorious: I have loved thee, and I will give men for thee, and people for thy life.

5 Fear not, for I am with thee: I will bring thy ſeed from the eaſt, and gather thee from the weſt.

6 I will ſay to the north: Give up: and to the ſouth, Keep not back: bring my ſons from afar, and my daughters from the ends of the earth.

7 And every one that calleth upon my name, I have created him for my glory, I have formed him, and made him.

8 Bring forth the people that are blind, and have eyes: that are deaf, and have ears.

9 All the nations are aſſembled together, and the tribes are gathered: who among you can declare this, and ſhall make us hear the former things? let them bring forth their witneſſes, let them be juſtified, and hear, and ſay: It is truth.

18 Remember not former things, and look not on things of old.

‖ 2 Cor. 5. 17. Apoc. 21. 5. 19 ‖ Behold I do new things, and now they ſhall ſpring forth, verily you ſhall know them: I will make a way in the wilderneſs, and rivers in the deſert.

20 The beaſt of the field ſhall glorify me, the dragons and the oſtriches: becauſe I have given waters in the wilderneſs: rivers in the deſert, to give drink to my people, to my choſen.

21 This people have I formed for myſelf, they ſhall ſhew forth my praiſe.

22 But thou haſt not called upon me, O Jacob, neither haſt thou laboured about me, O Iſrael.

23 Thou haſt not offered me the ram of thy holocauſt, nor haſt thou glorified me with thy victims: I have not cauſed thee to ſerve with oblations, nor wearied thee with incenſe.

24 Thou haſt bought me no ſweet cane with money, neither haſt thou filled me with the fat of thy victims. But thou haſt made me to ſerve with thy ſins, thou haſt wearied me with thy iniquities.

25 I am, I am he that blot out thy iniquities for my own ſake, and I will not remember thy ſins.

26 Put me in remembrance, and let us plead together: tell if thou haſt any thing to juſtify thyſelf.

27 Thy firſt father ſinned, and thy teachers have tranſgreſſed againſt me.

28 And I have profaned the holy princes, I have given Jacob to ſlaughter, and Iſrael to reproach.

CHAP. XLIV.

God's favour to his church. The folly of idolatry. The people ſhall be delivered from captivity.

AND now hear, O Jacob my ſervant, and Iſrael whom I have choſen. Jerem. 30. 10. & 46. 27.

2 Thus ſaith the Lord that made and formed thee, thy helper from the womb: Fear not, O my ſervant Jacob, and thou moſt righteous whom I have choſen.

3 For I will pour out waters upon the thirſty ground, and ſtreams upon the dry land: I will pour out my ſpirit upon thy ſeed, and my bleſſing upon thy ſtock.

4 And they ſhall ſpring up among the herbs, as willows beſide the running waters.

5 One ſhall ſay: I am the Lord's, and another ſhall call himſelf by the name of Jacob, and another ſhall ſubſcribe with his hand, To the Lord, and ſurname himſelf by the name of Iſrael.

6 Thus ſaith the Lord the king of Iſrael, and his redeemer the Lord of hoſts: || I am the firſt, and I am the laſt, and beſides me there is no God.

|| Supra. 41. 4. Infra 48. 12. Apoc. 1. 8. 17. & 22. 13.

7 Who is like to me? let him call and declare: and let him ſet before me the order, ſince I appointed the ancient people: and the things to come, and that ſhall be hereafter, let them ſhew unto them.

8 Fear ye not, neither be ye troubled, from that time I have made thee to hear, and have declared: you are my witneſſes. Is there a God beſides me, a maker, whom I have not known?

9 The makers of idols are all of them nothing, and their beſt beloved things ſhall not profit them. They are their witneſſes, that they do not ſee, nor underſtand, that they may be aſhamed.

10 Who hath formed a god, and made a graven thing that is profitable for nothing?

11 Behold, all the partakers thereof ſhall be confounded: for the makers are men: they ſhall all aſſemble together, they ſhall ſtand and fear, and ſhall be confounded together.

|| Wiſd. 13. 11.

12 || The ſmith hath wrought with his file, with coals, and with hammers he hath formed it, and hath wrought with the ſtrength of his arm: he ſhall hunger and faint, he ſhall drink no water, and ſhall be weary.

13 The carpenter hath ſtretched out his rule, he hath formed it with a plane: he hath made it with corners, and hath faſhioned it round with the compaſs: and he hath made the image of a man as it were a beautiful man dwelling in a houſe.

14 He hath cut down cedars, taken the holm, and the oak that ſtood among the trees of the foreſt: he hath planted the pine-tree, which the rain hath nouriſhed.

15 And it hath ſerved men for fewel: he took thereof, and warmed himſelf: and he kindled it, and baked bread: but of the reſt he made a god, and adored it: he made a graven thing, and bowed down before it.

16 Part of it he burnt with fire, and with part of it he dreſſed his meat: he boiled pottage, and was filled, and was warmed, and ſaid: Aha, I am warm, I have ſeen the fire.

17 But the reſidue thereof he made a god, and a graven thing for himſelf: he boweth down before it, and adoreth it, and prayeth unto it, ſaying: Deliver me, for thou art my God.

18 They have not known, nor underſtood: for their eyes are covered that they may not ſee, and that they may not underſtand with their heart.

19 They do not conſider in their mind, nor know, nor have the thought to ſay: I have burnt part of it in the fire, and I have baked bread upon the coals thereof: I have broiled fleſh, and have eaten, and of the reſidue thereof ſhall I make an idol? ſhall I fall down before the ſtock of a tree?

20 Part thereof is aſhes: his fooliſh heart adoreth it, and he will not ſave his ſoul, nor ſay: Perhaps there is a lie in my right hand.

21 Remember theſe things, O Jacob, and Iſrael, for thou art my ſervant. I have formed thee, thou art my ſervant, O Iſrael, forget me not.

22 I have blotted out thy iniquities as a cloud, and thy ſins as a miſt: return to me, for I have redeemed thee.

23 Give praiſe, O ye heavens, for the Lord hath ſhewn mercy: ſhout with joy, ye ends of the earth: ye mountains, reſound with praiſe, thou, O foreſt, and every tree therein: for the Lord hath redeemed Jacob, and Iſrael ſhall be glorified.

24 Thus ſaith the Lord thy redeemer, and thy maker, from the womb: I am the Lord, that make all things, that alone ſtretch out the heavens, that eſtabliſh the earth, and there is none with me.

25 That make void the tokens of diviners, and make the ſoothſayers mad. That turn the wiſe backward, and that make their knowledge fooliſh.

26 That raiſe up the word of my ſervant, and perform the counſel of my meſſengers, who ſay to Jeruſalem: Thou ſhalt be inhabited: and to the cities of Juda: You ſhall be built, and I will raiſe up the waſtes thereof.

27 Who ſay to the deep: Be thou deſolate, and I will dry up thy rivers.

28 Who ſay to Cyrus: Thou art my ſhepherd, and thou ſhalt perform all my pleaſure. Who ſay to Jeruſalem: Thou ſhalt be built: and to the temple: Thy foundations ſhall be laid.

CHAP. XLV.

A propheſy of Cyrus, as a figure of Chriſt, the great deliverer of God's people.

THUS ſaith the Lord to my anointed Cyrus, whoſe right hand I have taken hold of, to ſubdue nations before his face, and to turn the backs of kings, and to open the doors before him, and the gates ſhall not be ſhut.

2 I will go before thee, and will humble the great ones of the earth: I will break in pieces the gates of braſs, and will burſt the bars of iron.

3 And I will give thee hidden treaſures, and the concealed riches of ſecret places: that thou mayeſt know that I am the Lord who call thee by thy name, the God of Iſrael.

4 For the ſake of my ſervant Jacob, and Iſrael my elect, I have even called thee by thy name: I have made a likeneſs of thee, and thou haſt not known me.

5 I am the Lord, and there is none elſe: there is no God beſides me: I girded thee, and thou haſt not known me:

6 That they may know who are from the riſing of the ſun, and they who are from the weſt, that there is none beſides me. I am the Lord and there is none elſe:

7 I form the light, and create darkneſs, I make peace, and create evil: I the Lord that do all theſe things.

8 Drop down dew, ye heavens, from above, and let the clouds rain the juſt: let the earth be opened, and bud forth a ſaviour: and let juſtice ſpring up together: I the Lord have created him.

‖ Jerem. 18. 6. Rom. 9. 20.

9 ‖ Wo to him that gainſayeth his Maker, a ſherd of the earthen pots: ſhall the clay ſay to him that faſhioneth it: What art thou making, and thy work is without hands?

10 Wo to him that ſaith to his father: Why begetteſt thou? and to the woman: Why doſt thou bring forth?

11 Thus ſaith the Lord the holy One of Iſrael, his maker: Aſk me of things to come, concerning my children, and concerning the work of my hands give ye charge to me.

12 I made the earth: and I created man upon it: my hand ſtretched forth the heavens, and I have commanded all their hoſt.

13 I have raiſed him up to juſtice, and I will direct all his ways: he ſhall build my city, and let go my captives, not for ranſom, nor for preſents, ſaith the Lord the God of hoſts.

14 Thus ſaith the Lord: The labour of Egypt, and the merchandiſe of Ethiopia, and of Sabaim, men of ſtature ſhall come over to thee, and ſhall be thine: they ſhall walk after thee, they ſhall go bound with manacles: and they ſhall worſhip thee, and ſhall make ſupplication to thee: only in thee is God, and there is no God beſides thee.

15 Verily thou art a hidden God, the God of Iſrael the ſaviour.

16 They are all confounded, and aſhamed: the forgers of errors are gone together into confuſion.

17 Iſrael is ſaved in the Lord with an eternal ſalvation: you ſhall not be confounded, and you ſhall not be aſhamed for ever and ever.

18 For thus ſaith the Lord that created the heavens, God himſelf that formed the earth, and made it, the very maker thereof: he did not create it in vain: he formed it to be inhabited. I am the Lord, and there is no other.

19 I have not ſpoken in ſecret, in a dark place of the earth: I have not ſaid to the ſeed of Jacob: Seek me in vain. I am the Lord that ſpeak juſtice, that declare right things.

20 Aſſemble yourſelves, and come, and draw near together, ye that are ſaved of the Gentiles: they have no knowledge that ſet up the wood of their graven work, and pray to a God that cannot ſave.

21 Tell ye, and come, and conſult together: who hath declared this from the beginning, who hath foretold this from that time? Have not I the Lord, and there is no God elſe beſides me? A juſt God and a Saviour, there is none beſides me.

22 Be converted to me, and you ſhall be ſaved, all ye ends of the earth: for I am God, and there is no other.

23 I have ſworn by myſelf, the word of juſtice ſhall go out of my mouth, and ſhall not return:

24 For every knee ſhall be bowed to me, and every tongue ſhall ſwear.

‖ Rom. 14. 11. Philip. 2. 10.

25 ‖ Therefore ſhall he ſay: In the Lord are my juſtices and empire: they ſhall come to him, and all that reſiſt him, ſhall be confounded.

26 In the Lord ſhall all the ſeed of Iſrael be juſtified and praiſed.

CHAP. XLVI.

The idols of Babylon ſhall be deſtroyed. Salvation is promiſed through Chriſt.

BEL is broken, Nabo is deſtroyed: their idols are put upon beaſts and cattle,

CHAP. XLV. VER. 7. Create evil, &c. The evils of afflictions and puniſhments, but not the evil of ſin.

your burdens of heavy weight even unto weariness.

2 They are consumed, and are broken together: they could not save him that carried them, and they themselves shall go into captivity.

3 Hearken unto me, O house of Jacob, all the remnant of the house of Israel, who are carried by my bowels, are born up by my womb.

4 Even to your old age I am the same, and to your grey hairs I will carry you: I have made you, and I will bear: I will carry, and will save.

5 To whom have you likened me, and made me equal, and compared me, and made me like?

6 You that contribute gold out of the bag, and weigh out silver in the scales: and hire a goldsmith to make a god: and they fall down and worship.

‖ Baruch 6. 25. 7 ‖ They bear him on their shoulders and carry him, and set him in his place, and he shall stand, and shall not stir out of his place. Yea, when they shall cry also unto him, he shall not hear: he shall not save them from tribulation.

8 Remember this, and be ashamed: return, ye transgressors, to the heart.

9 Remember the former age, for I am God, and there is no God beside, neither is there the like to me:

10 Who shew from the beginning the things that shall be at last, and from ancient times the things that as yet are not done, saying: My counsel shall stand, and all my will shall be done:

11 Who call a bird from the east, and from a far country the man of my own will, and I have spoken, and will bring it to pass: I have created, and I will do it. Hear me, O ye hard hearted, who are far from justice.

13 I have brought my justice near, it shall not be far off: and my salvation shall not tarry. I will give salvation in Sion, and my glory in Israel.

CHAP. XLVII.

God's judgment upon Babylon.

COME down, sit in the dust, O Virgin daughter of Babylon, sit on the ground: there is no throne for the daughter of the Chaldeans, for thou shalt no more be called delicate and tender.

2 Take a mill-stone and grind meal: uncover thy shame, strip thy shoulder, make bare thy legs, pass over the rivers.

‖ Nahum 3. 5. 3 ‖ Thy nakedness shall be discovered, and thy shame shall be seen: I will take vengeance, and no man shall resist me.

4 Our redeemer, the Lord of hosts is his name, the holy One of Israel.

5 Sit thou silent, and get thee into darkness, O daughter of the Chaldeans: for thou shalt no more be called the lady of kingdoms.

6 I was angry with my people, I have polluted my inheritance, and have given them into thy hand: thou hast shewn no mercy to them: upon the ancient thou hast laid thy yoke exceeding heavy.

7 And thou hast said: I shall be a lady for ever: thou hast not laid these things to thy heart, neither hast thou remembered thy latter end.

8 And now hear these things, thou that art delicate, and dwellest confidently, that sayest in thy heart: ‖ I am, and there is none else besides me: I shall not sit as a widow, and I shall not know barrenness. ‖ Apoc. 18. 7.

9 ‖ These two things shall come upon thee suddenly in one day, barrenness and widowhood. All things are come upon thee, because of the multitude of thy sorceries, and for the great hardness of thy inchanters. ‖ Infra 51. 19.

10 And thou hast trusted in thy wickedness, and hast said: There is none that seeth me. Thy wisdom, and thy knowledge, this hath deceived thee. And thou hast said in thy heart: I am, and besides me there is no other.

11 Evil shall come upon thee, and thou shalt not know the rising thereof: and calamity shall fall violently upon thee, which thou canst not keep off: misery shall come upon thee suddenly, which thou shalt not know.

12 Stand now with thy inchanters, and with the multitude of thy sorceries, in which thou hast laboured from thy youth, if so be it may profit thee any thing, or if thou mayst become stronger.

13 Thou hast failed in the multitude of thy counsels: let now the astrologers stand and save thee, they that gazed at the stars, and counted the months, that from them they might tell the things that shall come to thee.

14 Behold they are as stubble, fire hath burnt them, they shall not deliver themselves from the power of the flames: there are no coals wherewith they may be warmed, nor fire, that they may sit thereat.

15 Such are all the things become to thee, in which thou hast laboured: thy merchants from thy youth, every one hath erred in his own way, there is none that can save thee.

CHAP. XLVIII.

He reproaches the Jews for their obſtinacy: he will deliver them out of their captivity, for his own name's ſake.

HEAR ye theſe things, O houſe of Jacob, you that are called by the name of Iſrael, and are come forth out of the waters of Juda, you who ſwear by the name of the Lord, and make mention of the God of Iſrael, but not in truth, nor in juſtice.

2 For they are called of the holy city, and are eſtabliſhed upon the God of Iſrael: the Lord of hoſts is his name.

3 The former things of old I have declared, and they went forth out of my mouth, and I have made them to be heard: I did them ſuddenly and they came to paſs.

4 For I knew that thou art ſtubborn, and thy neck is an iron ſinew, and thy forehead of braſs.

5 I foretold thee of old: before they came to paſs I told thee, leſt thou ſhouldſt ſay: My idols have done theſe things, and my graven and molten things have commanded them.

6 See now all the things which thou haſt heard: but have you declared them? I have ſhewn thee new things from that time, and things are kept which thou knoweſt not:

7 They are created now, and not of old: and before the day, when thou heardeſt them not, leſt thou ſhouldſt ſay: Behold I knew them.

8 Thou haſt neither heard, nor known, neither was thy ear opened of old. For I know that tranſgreſſing thou wilt tranſgreſs, and I have called thee a tranſgreſſor from the womb.

9 For my name's ſake I will remove my wrath far off: and for my praiſe I will bridle thee, leſt thou ſhouldſt periſh.

10 Behold I have refined thee, but not as ſilver, I have choſen thee in the furnace of poverty.

11 For my own ſake, for my own ſake will I do it, that I may not be blaſphemed: ‖ and I will not give my glory to another. ‖ Supra 42. 8.

12 Hearken to me, O Jacob, and thou Iſrael whom I call: ‖ I am he, I am the firſt, and I am the laſt. ‖ Supra 41. 4. & 44. 6. Apoc. 1. 8. 17. & 22. 13.

13 My hand alſo hath founded the earth, and my right hand hath meaſured the heavens: I ſhall call them, and they ſhall ſtand together.

14 Aſſemble yourſelves together, all you, and hear: who among them hath declared theſe things? the Lord hath loved him, he will do his pleaſure in Babylon, and his arm ſhall be on the Chaldeans.

15 I, even I have ſpoken, and called him: I have brought him, and his way is made proſperous.

16 Come ye near unto me, and hear this: I have not ſpoken in ſecret from the beginning: from the time before it was done, I was there, and now the Lord God hath ſent me, and his ſpirit.

17 Thus ſaith the Lord thy redeemer, the holy One of Iſrael: I am the Lord thy God that teach thee profitable things, that govern thee in the way that thou walkeſt.

18 O that thou hadſt hearkened to my commandments: thy peace had been as a river, and thy juſtice as the waves of the ſea.

19 And thy ſeed had been as the ſand, and the offspring of thy bowels like the gravel thereof: his name ſhould not have periſhed, nor have been deſtroyed from before my face.

20 ‖ Come forth out of Babylon, flee ye from the Chaldeans, declare it with the voice of joy: make this to be heard, and ſpeak it out even to the ends of the earth. Say: The Lord hath redeemed his ſervant Jacob. ‖ Jerem. 51. 6. Apoc. 18. 4.

21 They thirſted not in the deſert, when he led them out: ‡ he brought forth water out of the rock for them, and he clove the rock, and the waters guſhed out. ‡ Exod. 17. 6. Num. 20. 11.

22 ‖ There is no peace to the wicked, ſaith the Lord. ‖ Infra 57. 21.

CHAP. XLIX.

Chriſt ſhall bring the Gentiles to ſalvation. God's love to his church is perpetual.

GIVE ear, ye iſlands, and hearken, ye people from afar. ‖ The Lord hath called me from the womb, from the bowels of my mother he hath been mindful of my name. ‖ Jerem. 1. 5. Gal. 1. 15.

2 ‡ And he hath made my mouth like a ſharp ſword: in the ſhadow of his hand he hath protected me, and hath made me as a choſen arrow: in his quiver he hath hidden me. ‡ Infra 51. 16. Epheſ. 6. 6. Heb. 4. 12. Apoc. 1. 16.

3 And he ſaid to me: Thou art my ſervant Iſrael, for in thee will I glory.

4 And I ſaid: I have laboured in vain, I have ſpent my ſtrength without cauſe and in vain: therefore my judgment is with the Lord, and my work with my God.

5 And now ſaith the Lord, that formed me from the womb to be his ſervant, that I may bring back Jacob unto him, and Iſrael will not be gathered together: and I am glorified in the eyes of the Lord, and my God is made my ſtrength.

6 And he ſaid: It is a ſmall thing that thou ſhouldſt be my ſervant to raiſe up the tribes of Jacob, and to convert the dregs of Iſrael. ‖ Behold, I have given thee to be the light of the Gentiles, that thou mayſt be my ſalvation even to the fartheſt part of the earth.

‖ Supra 42. 6. Acts 13. 47.

7 Thus ſaith the Lord the redeemer of Iſrael, his holy one, to the ſoul that is deſpiſed, to the nation that is abhorred, to the ſervant of rulers: Kings ſhall ſee, and princes ſhall riſe up, and adore for the Lord's ſake, becauſe he is faithful, and for the holy one of Iſrael, who hath choſen thee.

‖ 2 Cor. 6. 2. 8 Thus ſaith the Lord: ‖ In an acceptable time I have heard thee, and in the day of ſalvation I have helped thee: and I have preſerved thee, and given thee to be a covenant of the people, that thou mighteſt raiſe up the earth, and poſſeſs the inheritances that were deſtroyed:

9 That thou mighteſt ſay to them that are bound: Come forth: and to them that are in darkneſs: Shew yourſelves. They ſhall feed in the ways, and their paſtures ſhall be in every plain.

‖ Apoc. 7. 16. 10 ‖ They ſhall not hunger, nor thirſt, neither ſhall the heat nor the ſun ſtrike them: for he that is merciful to them, ſhall be their ſhepherd, and at the fountains of waters he ſhall give them drink.

11 And I will make all my mountains a way, and my paths ſhall be exalted.

12 Behold theſe ſhall come from afar, and behold theſe from the north and from the ſea, and theſe from the ſouth country.

13 Give praiſe, O ye heavens, and rejoice, O earth, ye mountains give praiſe with jubilation: becauſe the Lord hath comforted his people, and will have mercy on his poor ones.

14 And Sion ſaid: The Lord hath forſaken me, and the Lord hath forgotten me.

15 Can a woman forget her infant, ſo as not to have pity on the ſon of her womb? and if ſhe ſhould forget, yet will not I forget thee.

16 Behold, I have graven thee in my hands: ‖ thy walls are always before my eyes.

‖ Exod. 13. 9.

17 Thy builders are come: they that deſtroy thee, and make thee waſte ſhall go out of thee.

‖ Infra 60. 4. 18 ‖ Lift up thy eyes round about, and ſee all theſe are gathered together, they are come to thee: I live, ſaith the Lord, thou ſhalt be clothed with all theſe as with an ornament, and as a bride thou ſhalt put them about thee.

19 For thy deſerts, and thy deſolate places, and the land of thy deſtruction ſhall now be too narrow by reaſon of the inhabitants, and they that ſwallowed thee up ſhall be chaſed far away.

20 The children of thy barrenneſs ſhall ſtill ſay in thy ears: The place is too ſtrait for me, make me room to dwell in.

21 And thou ſhalt ſay in thy heart: Who hath begotten theſe? I was barren and brought not forth, led away, and captive: and who hath brought up theſe? I was deſtitute and alone: and theſe where were they?

22 Thus ſaith the Lord God: Behold I will lift up my hand to the Gentiles, and will ſet up my ſtandard to the people. And they ſhall bring thy ſons in their arms, and carry thy daughters upon their ſhoulders.

23 And kings ſhall be thy nurſing fathers, and queens thy nurſes: they ſhall worſhip thee with their face toward the earth, and they ſhall lick up the duſt of thy feet. ‖ And thou ſhalt know that I am the Lord, for they ſhall not be confounded that wait for him.

‖ Pſ. 71. 9. Infra 40. 14.

24 Shall the prey be taken from the ſtrong? or can that which was taken by the mighty be delivered?

25 For thus ſaith the Lord: Yea verily, even the captivity ſhall be taken away from the ſtrong: and that which was taken by the mighty, ſhall be delivered. But I will judge thoſe that have judged thee, and thy children I will ſave.

26 And I will feed thy enemies with their own fleſh: and they ſhall be made drunk with their own blood, as with new wine: and all fleſh ſhall know, that I am the Lord that ſave thee, and thy Redeemer the mighty One of Jacob.

CHAP. L.

The ſynagogue ſhall be divorced for her iniquities. Chriſt for her ſake will endure ignominious afflictions.

THUS ſaith the Lord: What is this bill of the divorce of your mother, with which I have put her away? or who is my creditor, to whom I ſold you: behold you are ſold for your iniquities, and for your wicked deeds have I put your mother away.

2 Becauſe I came, and there was not a man: I called, and there was none that would hear. ‖ Is my hand ſhortened and become little, that I cannot redeem? or is there no ſtrength in me to deliver? Behold at my rebuke I will make the ſea a deſert, I will turn the rivers into dry land: the fiſhes ſhall rot for want of water, and ſhall die for thirſt.

3 I will cloth the heavens with darkneſs, and will make ſackcloth their covering.

4 The Lord hath given me a learned tongue, that I ſhould know how to uphold by word him that is weary: he wakeneth in the morning, in the morning he wakeneth my ear, that I may hear him as a maſter.

5 The Lord God hath opened my ear, and I do not reſiſt: I have not gone back.

‖ Matt. 26. 67. 6 ‖ I have given my body to the ſtrikers, and my cheeks to them that plucked them: I have not turned away my face from them that rebuked me, and ſpit upon me.

7 The Lord God is my helper, therefore am I not confounded: therefore have I ſet my face as a moſt hard rock, and I know that I ſhall not be confounded.

‖ Rom. 8. 33. 8 ‖ He is near that juſtifieth me, who will contend with me? let us ſtand together, who is my adverſary? let him come near to me.

9 Behold the Lord God is my helper: who is he that ſhall condemn me? Lo they ſhall all be deſtroyed as a garment, the moth ſhall eat them up.

10 Who is there among you that feareth the Lord, that heareth the voice of his ſervant, that hath walked in darkneſs, and hath no light? let him hope in the name of the Lord, and lean upon his God.

11 Behold all you that kindle a fire, encompaſſed with flames, walk in the light of your fire, and in the flames which you have kindled: this is done to you by my hand, you ſhall ſleep in ſorrows.

CHAP. LI.

An exhortation to truſt in Chriſt. He ſhall protect the children of his church.

GIVE ear to me, you that follow that which is juſt, and you that ſeek the Lord: look unto the rock whence you are hewn, and to the hole of the pit from which you are dug out.

2 Look unto Abraham your father, and to Sara that bore you: for I called him alone, and bleſſed him, and multiplied him.

3 The Lord therefore will comfort Sion, and will comfort all the ruins thereof: and he will make her deſert as a place of pleaſure, and her wilderneſs as the garden of the Lord. Joy and gladneſs ſhall be found therein, thankſgiving, and the voice of praiſe.

‖ Supra 2. 3. 4 Hearken unto me, O my people, and give ear to me, O my tribes: ‖ for a law ſhall go forth from me, and my judgment ſhall reſt to be a light of the nations.

5 My juſt one is near at hand, my ſaviour is gone forth, and my arms ſhall judge the people: the iſlands ſhall look for me, and ſhall patiently wait for my arm.

6 Lift up your eyes to heaven, and look down to the earth beneath: for the heavens ſhall vaniſh like ſmoke, and the earth ſhall be worn away like a garment, and the inhabitants thereof ſhall periſh in like manner: ‖ but my ſalvation ſhall be for ever, and my juſtice ſhall not fail. ‖ Pſal. 36. 31.

7 Hearken to me, you that know what is juſt, my people who have my law in your heart: fear ye not the reproach of men, and be not afraid of their blaſphemies.

8 For the worm ſhall eat them up as a garment: and the moth ſhall conſume them as wool: but my ſalvation ſhall be for ever, and my juſtice from generation to generation.

9 Ariſe, ariſe, put on ſtrength, O thou arm of the Lord: ariſe as in the days of old, in the ancient generations. Haſt not thou ſtruck the proud one, and wounded the dragon?

‖ Exod. 14. 21. 10 ‖ Haſt not thou dried up the ſea, the water of the mighty deep, who madeſt the depth of the ſea a way, that the delivered might paſs over.

11 And now they that are redeemed by the Lord, ſhall return, and ſhall come into Sion ſinging praiſes, and joy everlaſting ſhall be upon their heads, they ſhall obtain joy and gladneſs, ſorrow and mourning ſhall flee away.

12 I, I myſelf will comfort you: who art thou, that thou ſhouldſt be afraid of a mortal man, and of the ſon of man, who ſhall wither away like graſs?

13 And thou haſt forgotten the Lord thy maker, who ſtretched out the heavens, and founded the earth: and thou haſt been afraid continually all the day at the preſence of his fury who afflicted thee, and had prepared himſelf to deſtroy thee: where is now the fury of the oppreſſor?

14 He ſhall quickly come that is going to open unto you, and he ſhall not kill unto utter deſtruction, neither ſhall his bread fail.

15 But I am the Lord thy God, who trouble the ſea, and the waves thereof ſwell: the Lord of hoſts is my name.

‖ Supra 49. 2. 16 ‖ I have put my words in thy mouth, and have protected thee in the ſhadow of my hand, that thou mighteſt plant the heavens, and found the earth: and mighteſt ſay to Sion: Thou art my people.

17 Arise, arise, stand up, O Jerusalem, which hast drunk at the hand of the Lord the cup of his wrath: thou hast drunk even to the bottom of the cup of dead sleep, and thou hast drunk even to the dregs.

18 There is none that can uphold her among all the children that she hath brought forth: and there is none that taketh her by the hand among all the children that she hath brought up.

‖ Supra 47. 9. 19 ‖ There are two things that have happened to thee: who shall be sorry for thee? desolation, and destruction, and the famine, and the sword, who shall comfort thee?

20 Thy children are cast forth, they have slept at the head of all the ways, as the wild ox that is snared: full of the indignation of the Lord, of the rebuke of thy God.

21 Therefore hear this, thou poor little one, and thou that art drunk but not with wine.

22 Thus saith thy Sovereign the Lord, and thy God, who will fight for his people: Behold I have taken out of thy hand the cup of dead sleep, the dregs of the cup of my indignation, thou shalt not drink it again any more.

23 And I will put it in the hand of them that have oppressed thee, and have said to thy soul: Bow down, that we may go over: and thou hast laid thy body as the ground, and as a way to them that went over.

CHAP. LII.

Under the figure of the deliverance from the Babylonish captivity, the church is invited to rejoice for her redemption from sin. Christ's kingdom shall be exalted.

ARISE, arise, put on thy strength, O Sion, put on the garments of thy glory, O Jerusalem, the city of the holy One: for henceforth the uncircumcised, and unclean shall no more pass through thee.

2 Shake thyself from the dust, arise, sit up, O Jerusalem: loose the bonds from off thy neck, O captive daughter of Sion.

3 For thus saith the Lord: You were sold gratis, and you shall be redeemed without money.

‖ Gen. 46. 6. 4 For thus saith the Lord God: ‖ My people went down into Egypt at the beginning to sojourn there: and the Assyrian hath oppressed them without any cause at all.

5 And now what have I here, saith the Lord: for my people is taken away gratis? They that rule over them treat them unjustly, saith the Lord, ‖ and my name is continually blasphemed all the day long.

‖ Ezec. 36. 20. Rom. 2. 24.

6 Therefore my people shall know my name in that day: for I myself that spoke, behold I am here.

7 ‖ How beautiful upon the mountains are the feet of him that bringeth good tidings, and that preacheth peace: of him that sheweth forth good, that preacheth salvation, that saith to Sion: Thy God shall reign! ‖ Nahum 1. 15. Rom. 10. 15.

8 The voice of thy watchmen: they have lifted up their voice, they shall praise together: for they shall see eye to eye when the Lord shall convert Sion.

9 Rejoice, and give praise together, O ye deserts of Jerusalem: for the Lord hath comforted his people: he hath redeemed Jerusalem.

10 The Lord hath prepared his holy arm in the sight of all the Gentiles: ‖ and all the ends of the earth shall see the salvation of our God. ‖ Psal. 97. 3.

11 Depart, depart, go ye out from thence, ‖ touch no unclean thing: go out of the midst of her, be ye clean, you that carry the vessels of the Lord. ‖ 2 Cor. 6. 17.

12 For you shall not go out in a tumult, neither shall you make haste by flight: for the Lord will go before you, and the God of Israel will gather you together.

13 Behold my servant shall understand, he shall be exalted, and extolled, and shall be exceeding high.

14 As many have been astonished at thee, so shall his visage be inglorious among men, and his form among the sons of men.

15 He shall sprinkle many nations, kings shall shut their mouth at him: ‖ for they to whom it was not told of him, have seen: and they that heard not, have beheld. ‖ Rom. 15. 21.

CHAP. LIII.

A prophecy of the passion of Christ.

WHO hath believed our report? and to whom is the arm of the Lord revealed? John 12. 38. Rom. 10. 16.

2 And he shall grow up as a tender plant before him, and as a root out of a thirsty ground: there is no beauty in him, nor comeliness: and we have seen him, and there was no sightliness, that we should be desirous of him:

3 ‖ Despised, and the most abject of men, a man of sorrows, and acquainted with infirmity: and his look was as it were hidden and despised, whereupon we esteemed him not. ‖ Mark 9. 11.

4 ‖ Surely he hath borne our infirmities, and carried our sorrows: and we have thought him as it were a leper, and as one struck by God and afflicted. ‖ Matt. 8. 17.

‖ 1 Cor. 15. 3. 5 ‖ But he was wounded for our iniquities, he was bruiſed for our ſins: the chaſtiſement of our peace was upon him, and by his bruiſes we are healed.

6 All we like ſheep have gone aſtray, every one hath turned aſide into his own way: and the Lord hath laid on him the iniquity of us all.

7 He was offered becauſe it was his own will, and he opened not his mouth: he ſhall be led as a ſheep to the ſlaughter, and ſhall be dumb as a lamb before his ſhearer, ‖ and he ſhall not open his mouth.

‖ Mat. 26. 63. Acts 8. 32.

8 He was taken away from diſtreſs, and from judgment: who ſhall declare his generation? becauſe he is cut off out of the land of the living: for the wickedneſs of my people have I ſtruck him.

9 And he ſhall give the ungodly for his burial, and the rich for his death: ‖ becauſe he hath done no iniquity, neither was there deceit in his mouth.

‖ 1 Peter 2. 22. 1 John 3. 5.

10 And the Lord was pleaſed to bruiſe him in infirmity: if he ſhall lay down his life for ſin, he ſhall ſee a long-lived ſeed, and the will of the Lord ſhall be proſperous in his hand.

11 Becauſe his ſoul hath laboured, he ſhall ſee and be filled: by his knowledge ſhall this my juſt ſervant juſtify many, and he ſhall bear their iniquities.

12 Therefore will I diſtribute to him very many, and he ſhall divide the ſpoils of the ſtrong, becauſe he hath delivered his ſoul unto death, ‖ and was reputed with the wicked: and he hath borne the ſins of many, † and hath prayed for the tranſgreſſors.

‖ Mark 15. 28. Luke 22. 37. † Luke 23. 34.

CHAP. LIV.

The Gentiles, who were barren before, ſhall multiply in the church of Chriſt: from which God's mercy ſhall never depart.

Luke 23. 29. Galat. 4. 27.

GIVE praiſe, O thou barren that beareſt not: ſing forth praiſe, and make a joyful noiſe, thou that didſt not travail with child: for many are the children of the deſolate, more than of her that hath a huſband, ſaith the Lord.

2 Enlarge the place of thy tent, and ſtretch out the ſkins of thy tabernacles, ſpare not: lengthen thy cords, and ſtrengthen thy ſtakes.

3 For thou ſhalt paſs on to the right hand, and to the left: and thy ſeed ſhall inherit the Gentiles, and ſhall inhabit the deſolate cities.

4 Fear not, for thou ſhalt not be confounded, nor bluſh: for thou ſhalt not be put to ſhame, becauſe thou ſhalt forget the ſhame of thy youth, and ſhalt remember no more the reproach of thy widowhood.

5 For he that made thee ſhall rule over thee, ‖ the Lord of hoſts is his name: and thy Redeemer, the holy One of Iſrael, ſhall be called the God of all the earth.

‖ Luke 11. 32.

6 For the Lord hath called thee as a woman forſaken and mourning in ſpirit, and as a wife caſt off from her youth, ſaid thy God.

7 For a ſmall moment have I forſaken thee, but with great mercies will I gather thee.

8 In a moment of indignation have I hid my face a little while from thee, but with everlaſting kindneſs have I had mercy on thee, ſaid the Lord thy Redeemer.

9 ‖ This thing is to me as in the days of Noe, to whom I ſwore, that I would no more bring in the waters of Noe upon the earth: ſo have I ſworn not to be angry with thee, and not to rebuke thee.

‖ Gen. 9. 15.

10 For the mountains ſhall be moved, and the hills ſhall tremble: but my mercy ſhall not depart from thee, and the covenant of my peace ſhall not be moved: ſaid the Lord that hath mercy on thee.

11 O poor little one, toſſed with tempeſt, without all comfort, behold I will lay thy ſtones in order, and will lay thy foundations with ſapphires,

12 And I will make thy bulwarks of jaſper: and thy gates of graven ſtones, and all thy borders of deſirable ſtones.

13 ‖ All thy children ſhall be taught of the Lord: and great ſhall be the peace of thy children.

‖ John 6. 45.

14 And thou ſhalt be founded in juſtice: depart far from oppreſſion, for thou ſhalt not fear; and from terror, for it ſhall not come near thee.

15 Behold, an inhabitant ſhall come, who was not with me, he that was a ſtranger to thee before, ſhall be joined to thee.

16 Behold, I have created the ſmith that bloweth the coals in the fire, and bringeth forth an inſtrument for his work, and I have created the killer to deſtroy.

17 No weapon that is formed againſt thee ſhall proſper: and every tongue that reſiſteth thee in judgment, thou ſhalt condemn. This is the inheritance of the ſervants of the Lord, and their juſtice with me, ſaith the Lord.

CHAP. LV.

God promiſes abundance of ſpiritual graces to the faithful, that ſhall believe in Chriſt out of all nations, and ſincerely ſerve him.

John 7. 37. Eccli. 51. 33. Apoc. 22. 17. Jerem. 15. 16. Ezec. 3. 3. Prov. 9. 5.

ALL you that thirſt, come to the waters: and you that have no money, make haſte, buy, and eat: come ye, buy wine and milk without money, and without any price.

2 Why do you ſpend money for that which is not bread, and your labour for that which doth not ſatisfy you? Hearken diligently to me, and eat that which is good, and your ſoul ſhall be delighted in fatneſs.

3 Incline your ear, and come to me: hear and your ſoul ſhall live, and I will make an everlaſting covenant with you, * the faithful mercies of David.

* Acts 13. 34.

4 Behold I have given him for a witneſs to the people, for a leader and a maſter to the Gentiles.

5 Behold thou ſhalt call a nation, which thou knoweſt not: and the nations that knew not thee ſhall run to thee, becauſe of the Lord thy God, and for the holy One of Iſrael, for he hath glorified thee.

6 Seek ye the Lord, while he may be found: call upon him, while he is near.

7 Let the wicked forſake his way, and the unjuſt man his thoughts, and let him return to the Lord, and he will have mercy on him, and to our God: for he is bountiful to forgive.

8 For my thoughts are not your thoughts: nor your ways my ways, ſaith the Lord.

9 For as the heavens are exalted above the earth, ſo are my ways exalted above your ways, and my thoughts above your thoughts.

10 And as the rain and the ſnow come down from heaven, and return no more thither, but ſoak the earth, and water it, and make it to ſpring, and give ſeed to the ſower, and bread to the eater:

11 So ſhall my word be, which ſhall go forth from my mouth: it ſhall not return to me void, but it ſhall do whatſoever I pleaſe, and ſhall proſper in the things for which I ſent it.

12 For you ſhall go out with joy, and be led forth with peace: the mountains and the hills ſhall ſing praiſe before you, and all the trees of the country ſhall clap their hands.

13 Inſtead of the ſhrub ſhall come up the fir-tree, and inſtead of the nettle, ſhall come up the myrtle-tree: and the Lord ſhall be named for an everlaſting ſign, that ſhall not be taken away.

CHAP. LVI.

God invites all to keep his commandments: the Gentiles that keep them ſhall be the people of God: the Jewiſh paſtors are reproved.

THUS ſaith the Lord: Keep ye judgment, and do juſtice: for my ſalvation is near to come, and my juſtice to be revealed. Wiſ. 1. 1. Mat. 23. 23.

2 Bleſſed is the man that doth this, and the ſon of man that ſhall lay hold on this: that keepeth the ſabbath from profaning it, that keepeth his hands from doing any evil.

3 And let not the ſon of the ſtranger, that adhereth to the Lord, ſpeak, ſaying: The Lord will divide and ſeparate me from his people. And let not the eunuch ſay: Behold I am a dry tree.

4 For thus ſaith the Lord to the eunuchs: They that ſhall keep my ſabbaths, and ſhall chooſe the things that pleaſe me, and ſhall hold faſt my covenant:

5 I will give to them in my houſe, and within my walls, a place, and a name better than ſons and daughters: I will give them an everlaſting name, which ſhall never periſh.

6 And the children of the ſtranger that adhere to the Lord, to worſhip him, and to love his name, to be his ſervants: every one that keepeth the ſabbath from profaning it, and that holdeth faſt my covenant:

7 I will bring them into my holy mount, and will make them joyful in my houſe of prayer: their holocauſts, and their victims ſhall pleaſe me upon my altar: ‖ for my houſe ſhall be called the houſe of prayer for all nations. ‖ Jerem. 7. 11. Mat. 21. 13. Mark 11. 17. Luke 19. 46.

8 The Lord God, ‡ who gathereth the ſcattered of Iſrael, ſaith: I will ſtill gather unto him his congregation.

9 All ye beaſts of the field come to devour, all ye beaſts of the foreſt.

10 † His watchmen are all blind, they are all ignorant: dumb dogs not able to bark, ſeeing vain things, ſleeping and loving dreams. † John 11. 52. ‡ Ezec. 34. 17. & 32. 2 & 6. 7.

11 And moſt impudent dogs, they never had enough: the ſhepherds themſelves knew no underſtanding: all have turned aſide into their own way, ‖ every one after his own gain, from the firſt even to the laſt. ‖ Jerem. 6. 13. & 8. 10.

12 Come, let us take wine, and be filled with drunkenneſs: and it ſhall be as to-day, ſo alſo to-morrow, and much more.

CHAP. LVII.

The infidelity of the Jews: their idolatry. Promiſes to humble penitents.

THE juſt periſheth, and no man layeth it to heart, and men of mercy are taken away, becauſe there is none that underſtandeth; for the juſt man is taken away from before the face of evil.

2 Let peace come, let him reſt in his bed that hath walked in his uprightneſs.

3 But draw near hither, you ſons of the ſorcereſs, the ſeed of the adulterer, and of the harlot.

4 Upon whom have you jeſted? upon whom have you opened your mouth wide, and put out your tongue? are not you wicked children, a falſe ſeed.

5 Who ſeek your comfort in idols under every green tree, ſacrificing children in the torrents, under the high rocks?

6 In the parts of the torrent is thy portion, this is thy lot: and thou haſt poured out libations to them, thou haſt offered ſacrifice. Shall I not be angry at theſe things?

7 Upon a high and lofty mountain thou haſt laid thy bed, and haſt gone up thither to offer victims.

8 And behind the door, and behind the poſt thou haſt ſet up thy remembrance: for thou haſt diſcovered thyſelf near me, and haſt received an adulterer: thou haſt enlarged thy bed, and made a covenant with them: thou haſt loved their bed with open hand.

9 And thou haſt adorned thyſelf for the king with ointment, and haſt multiplied thy perfumes. Thou haſt ſent thy meſſengers far off, and waſt debaſed even to hell.

10 Thou haſt been wearied in the multitude of thy ways: yet thou ſaidſt not: I will reſt: thou haſt found life of thy hand, therefore thou haſt not aſked.

11 For whom haſt thou been ſolicitous and afraid, that thou haſt lyed, and haſt not been mindful of me, nor thought on me in thy heart? for I am ſilent, and as one that ſeeth not, and thou haſt forgotten me.

12 I will declare thy juſtice, and thy works ſhall not profit thee.

13 When thou ſhalt cry, let thy companies deliver thee, but the wind ſhall carry them all off, a breeze ſhall take them away: but he that putteth his truſt in me, ſhall inherit the land, and ſhall poſſeſs my holy mount.

14 And I will ſay: ‖ Make a way: give free paſſage, turn out of the path, take away the ſtumbling-blocks out of the way of my people. ‖ Infra 62. 10.

15 For thus ſaith the High and the Eminent that inhabiteth eternity: and his name is Holy, who dwelleth in the high and holy place, and with a contrite and humble ſpirit: to revive the ſpirit of the humble, and to revive the heart of the contrite.

16 For I will not contend for ever, neither will I be angry unto the end: becauſe the ſpirit ſhall go forth from my face, and breathings I will make.

17 For the iniquity of his covetouſneſs I was angry, and I ſtruck him: I hid my face from thee, and was angry: and he went away wandering in his own heart.

18 I ſaw his ways, and I healed him, and brought him back, and reſtored comforts to him, and to them that mourn for him.

19 I created the fruit of the lips, peace, peace to him that is far off, and to him that is near, ſaid the Lord, and I healed him.

20 But the wicked are like the raging ſea, which cannot reſt, and the waves thereof caſt up dirt and mire.

21 ‖ There is no peace to the wicked, ſaith the Lord God. ‖ Supra 48. 22.

CHAP. LVIII.

God rejects the hypocritical faſts of the Jews: recommends works of mercy, and ſincere godlineſs.

CRY, ceaſe not, lift up thy voice like a trumpet, and ſhew my people their wicked doings, and the houſe of Jacob their ſins.

2 For they ſeek me from day to day, and deſire to know my ways, as a nation that hath done juſtice, and hath not forſaken the judgment of their God: they aſk of me the judgments of juſtice: they are willing to approach to God.

3 Why have we faſted, and thou haſt not regarded: have we humbled our ſouls, and thou haſt not taken notice? Behold in the day of your faſt your own will is found, and you exact of all your debtors.

4 Behold you faſt for debates and ſtrife, and ſtrike with the fiſt wickedly. Do not faſt as you have done until this day, to make your cry to be heard on high.

‖ Zach. 7. 5. 5 ‖ Is this ſuch a faſt as I have choſen: for a man to afflict his ſoul for a day? is this it, to wind his head about like a circle, and to ſpread ſackcloth and aſhes? wilt thou call this a faſt, and a day acceptable to the Lord?

6 Is not this rather the faſt that I have choſen? looſe the bands of wickedneſs, undo the bundles that oppreſs, let them that are broken go free, and break aſunder every burden.

‖ Ezec. 18. 7. & 16. Mat. 25. 35. 7 ‖ Deal thy bread to the hungry, and bring the needy and the harbourleſs into thy houſe: when thou ſhalt ſee one naked, cover him, and deſpiſe not thy own fleſh.

8 Then ſhall thy light break forth as the morning, and thy health ſhall ſpeedily ariſe, and thy juſtice ſhall go before thy face, and the glory of the Lord ſhall gather thee up.

9 Then ſhalt thou call, and the Lord ſhall hear: thou ſhalt cry, and he ſhall ſay: Here I am. If thou wilt take away the chain out of the midſt of thee, and ceaſe to ſtretch out the finger, and to ſpeak that which profiteth not.

10 When thou ſhalt pour out thy ſoul to the hungry, and ſhalt ſatisfy the afflicted ſoul, then ſhall thy light riſe up in darkneſs, and thy darkneſs ſhall be as the noon-day.

11 And the Lord will give thee reſt continually, and will fill thy ſoul with brightneſs, and deliver thy bones, and thou ſhalt be like a watered garden, and like a fountain of water whoſe waters ſhall not fail.

‖ Infra 61. 4. 12 ‖ And the places that have been deſolate for ages ſhall be built in thee: thou ſhalt raiſe up the foundations of generation and generation: and thou ſhalt be called the repairer of the fences, turning the paths into reſt.

13 If thou turn away thy foot from the ſabbath, from doing thy own will in my holy day, and call the ſabbath delightful, and the holy of the Lord glorious, and glorify him, while thou doſt not thy own ways, and thy own will is not found, to ſpeak a word:

14 Then ſhalt thou be delighted in the Lord, and I will lift thee up above the high places of the earth, and will feed thee with the inheritance of Jacob thy father. For the mouth of the Lord hath ſpoken it.

CHAP. LIX.

The dreadful evil of ſin is diſplayed, as the great obſtacle to all good from God: yet he will ſend a redeemer, and make an everlaſting covenant with his church.

Num. 1. 23. Supra 50. 2. BEHOLD the hand of the Lord is not ſhortened that it cannot ſave, neither is his ear heavy that it cannot hear.

2 But your iniquities have divided between you and your God, and your ſins have hid his face from you that he ſhould not hear.

‖ Supra 1. 15. 3 ‖ For your hands are defiled with blood, and your fingers with iniquity: your lips have ſpoken lies, and your tongue uttereth iniquity.

4 There is none that calleth upon juſtice, neither is there any one that judgeth truly: but they truſt in a mere nothing, and ſpeak vanities: they have conceived labour, and brought forth iniquity.

‖ Job. 8. 14. 5 They have broken the eggs of aſps, ‖ and have woven the webs of ſpiders: he that ſhall eat of their eggs, ſhall die: and that which is brought out, ſhall be hatched into a baſiliſk.

6 Their webs ſhall not be for clothing, neither ſhall they cover themſelves with their works: their works are unprofitable works, and the work of iniquity is in their hands.

‖ Prov. 1. 16. Rom. 3. 15. 7 ‖ Their feet run to evil, and make haſte to ſhed innocent blood: their thoughts are unprofitable thoughts: waſting and deſtruction are in their ways.

8 They have not known the way of peace, and there is no judgment in their ſteps: their paths are become crooked to them: every one that treadeth in them, knoweth no peace.

9 Therefore is judgment far from us, and juſtice ſhall not overtake us. We looked for light, and behold darkneſs: brightneſs, and we have walked in the dark.

10 We have groped for the wall, and like the blind we have groped as if we had no eyes: we have ſtumbled at noon day as in darkneſs, we are in dark places as dead men.

11 We ſhall roar all of us like bears, and ſhall lament as mournful doves. We have looked for judgment, and there is none: for ſalvation, and it is far from us.

12 For our iniquities are multiplied before thee, and our ſins have teſtified againſt us: for our wicked doings are with us, and we have known our iniquities.

13 In ſinning and lying againſt the Lord: and we have turned away ſo that we went not after our God, but ſpoke calumny and tranſgreſſion: we have conceived, and uttered from the heart, words of falſhood.

14 And judgment is turned away backward, and juſtice hath ſtood far off: becauſe truth hath fallen down in the ſtreet, and equity could not come in.

15 And truth hath been forgotten: and he that departed from evil, lay open to be a prey: and the Lord ſaw, and it appeared evil in his eyes, becauſe there is no judgment.

16 And he ſaw that there is not a man: and he ſtood aſtoniſhed, becauſe there is none to oppoſe himſelf: and his own arm brought ſalvation to him, and his own juſtice ſupported him.

‖ Epheſ. 6. 17. 1 Theſ. 5. 8. 17 ‖ He put on juſtice as a breaſt-plate, and a helmet of ſalvation upon his head: he put on the garments of vengeance, and was clad with zeal as with a cloak.

18 As unto revenge, as it were to repay wrath to his adverſaries, and a reward to his enemies: he will repay the like to the iſlands.

19 And they from the weſt, ſhall fear the name of the Lord: and they from the riſing of the ſun, his glory: when he ſhall come as a violent ſtream, which the ſpirit of the Lord driveth on:

‖ Rom. 11. 26. 20 ‖ And there ſhall come a redeemer to Sion, and to them that return from iniquity in Jacob, ſaith the Lord.

21 This is my covenant with them, ſaith the Lord: My Spirit that is in thee, and my words that I have put in thy mouth, ſhall not depart out of thy mouth, nor out of the mouth of thy ſeed, nor out of the mouth of thy ſeed's ſeed, ſaith the Lord from henceforth and for ever.

CHAP. LX.

The light of true faith ſhall ſhine forth in the church of Chriſt, and ſhall be ſpread through all nations, and continue for all ages.

ARISE, be enlightened, O Jeruſalem: for thy light is come, and the glory of the Lord is riſen upon thee.

2 For behold darkneſs ſhall cover the earth, and a miſt the people: but the Lord ſhall ariſe upon thee, and his glory ſhall be ſeen upon thee.

3 And the Gentiles ſhall walk in thy light, and kings in the brightneſs of thy riſing.

‖ Supra 49. 18. 4 ‖ Lift up thy eyes round about, and ſee: all theſe are gathered together, they are come to thee: thy ſons ſhall come from afar, and thy daughters ſhall riſe up at thy ſide.

5 Then ſhalt thou ſee, and abound, and thy heart ſhall wonder and be enlarged, when the multitude of the ſea ſhall be converted to thee, the ſtrength of the Gentiles ſhall come to thee.

6 The multitude of camels ſhall cover thee, the dromedaries of Madian and Epha: all they from Saba ſhall come, bringing gold and frankincenſe: and ſhewing forth praiſe to the Lord.

7 All the flocks of Cedar ſhall be gathered together unto thee, the rams of Nabaioth ſhall miniſter to thee: they ſhall be offered upon my acceptable altar, and I will glorify the houſe of my majeſty.

8 Who are theſe, that fly as clouds, and as doves to their windows?

9 For, the iſlands wait for me, and the ſhips of the ſea in the beginning: that I may bring thy ſons from afar: their ſilver, and their gold with them, to the name of the Lord thy God, and to the holy One of Iſrael, becauſe he hath glorified thee.

10 And the children of ſtrangers ſhall build up thy walls, and their kings ſhall miniſter to thee: for in my wrath have I ſtruck thee, and in my reconciliation have I had mercy upon thee.

‖ Apoc. 21. 25. 11 ‖ And thy gates ſhall be open continually: they ſhall not be ſhut day nor night, that the ſtrength of the Gentiles may be brought to thee, and their kings may be brought.

12 For the nation and the kingdom that will not ſerve thee, ſhall periſh: and the Gentiles ſhall be waſted with deſolation.

13 The glory of Libanus ſhall come to thee, the fir-tree, and the box-tree, and the pine-tree together, to beautify the place of my ſanctuary: and I will glorify the place of my feet.

14 And the children of them that afflict thee, ſhall come bowing down to thee, and all that ſlandered thee ſhall worſhip the ſteps of thy feet, and ſhall call thee the city of the Lord, the Sion of the holy One of Iſrael.

15 Becauſe thou waſt forſaken, and hated, and there was none that paſſed through thee, I will make thee to be an everlaſting glory, a joy unto generation and generation:

16 And thou ſhalt ſuck the milk of the Gentiles, and thou ſhalt be nurſed with the breaſts of kings: and thou ſhalt know that I am the Lord thy Saviour, and thy Redeemer, the mighty One of Jacob.

17 For braſs I will bring gold, and for iron I will bring ſilver: and for wood braſs, and for ſtones iron: and I will make thy viſitation peace and thy overſeers juſtice.

18 Iniquity ſhall no more be heard in

CHAP. LIX. VER. 21. This is my covenant, &c. Note here a clear promiſe of perpetual orthodoxy to the church of Chriſt.

thy land, waſting nor deſtruction in thy borders, and ſalvation ſhall poſſeſs thy walls, and praiſe thy gates.

‖ Apoc. 21. 23. & 22. 5. 19 ‖ Thou ſhalt no more have the ſun for thy light by day, neither ſhall the brightneſs of the moon enlighten thee, but the Lord ſhall be unto thee for an everlaſting light, and thy God for thy glory.

20 Thy ſun ſhall go down no more, and thy moon ſhall not decreaſe: for the Lord ſhall be unto thee for an everlaſting light, and the days of thy mourning ſhall be ended.

21 And thy people ſhall be all juſt, they ſhall inherit the land for ever, the branch of my planting, the work of my hand to glorify me.

22 The leaſt ſhall become a thouſand, and a little one a moſt ſtrong nation: I the Lord will ſuddenly do this thing in its time.

CHAP. LXI.

The office of Chriſt; the miſſion of the Apoſtles: the happineſs of their converts.

Luke 4. 18. THE Spirit of the Lord is upon me, becauſe the Lord hath anointed me: he hath ſent me to preach to the meek, to heal the contrite of heart, and to preach a releaſe to the captives, and deliverance to them that are ſhut up.

2 To proclaim the acceptable year of the Lord, and the day of vengeance of our God: ‖ Mat. 5. 5. ‖ to comfort all that mourn:

3 To appoint to the mourners of Sion, and to give them a crown for aſhes, the oil of joy for mourning, a garment of praiſe for the ſpirit of grief: and they ſhall be called in it the mighty ones of juſtice, the planting of the Lord to glorify him.

‖ Supra 58. 12. 4 ‖ And they ſhall build the places that have been waſte from of old, and ſhall raiſe up ancient ruins, and ſhall repair the deſolate cities, that were deſtroyed for generation and generation.

5 And ſtrangers ſhall ſtand and ſhall feed your flocks: and the ſons of ſtrangers ſhall be your huſbandmen, and the dreſſers of your vines.

6 But you ſhall be called the prieſts of the Lord: to you it ſhall be ſaid: Ye miniſters of our God: you ſhall eat the riches of the Gentiles, and you ſhall pride yourſelves in their glory.

7 For your double confuſion and ſhame, they ſhall praiſe their part: therefore ſhall they receive double in their land, everlaſting joy ſhall be unto them.

8 For I am the Lord that love judgment, and hate robbery in a holocauſt: and I will make their work in truth, and I will make a perpetual covenant with them.

9 And they ſhall know their ſeed among the Gentiles, and their offſpring in the midſt of peoples: all that ſhall ſee them, ſhall know them, that theſe are the ſeed which the Lord hath bleſſed.

10 I will greatly rejoice in the Lord, and my ſoul ſhall be joyful in my God: for he hath clothed me with the garments of ſalvation: and with the robe of juſtice he hath covered me, as a bridegroom decked with a crown, and as a bride adorned with her jewels.

11 For as the earth bringeth forth her bud, and as the garden cauſeth her ſeed to ſhoot forth: ſo ſhall the Lord God make juſtice to ſpring forth, and praiſe before all the nations.

CHAP. LXII.

The prophet will not ceaſe from preaching Chriſt: to whom all nations ſhall be converted: and whoſe church ſhall continue for ever.

FOR Sion's ſake, I will not hold my peace, and for the ſake of Jeruſalem, I will not reſt, till her juſt one come forth as brightneſs, and her ſaviour be lighted as a lamp.

2 And the Gentiles ſhall ſee thy juſt one, and all kings thy glorious one: and thou ſhalt be called by a new name, which the mouth of the Lord ſhall name.

3 And thou ſhalt be a crown of glory in the hand of the Lord, and a royal diadem in the hand of thy God.

4 Thou ſhalt no more be called Forſaken: and thy land ſhall no more be called Deſolate: but thou ſhalt be called My pleaſure in her, and thy land inhabited. Becauſe the Lord hath been well pleaſed with thee: and thy land ſhall be inhabited.

5 For the young man ſhall dwell with the virgin, and thy children ſhall dwell in thee. And the bridegroom ſhall rejoice over the bride, and thy God ſhall rejoice over thee.

6 Upon thy walls, O Jeruſalem, I have appointed watchmen all the day, and all the night, they ſhall never hold their peace.

CHAP. LX. VER. 19. Thou ſhalt no more, &c. In this latter part of the chapter, the prophet paſſes from the illuſtrious promiſes made to the church militant on earth, to the glory of the church triumphant in heaven.

You that are mindful of the Lord, hold not your peace,

7 And give him no silence till he establish, and till he make Jerusalem a praise in the earth.

8 The Lord hath sworn by his right hand, and by the arm of his strength: Surely I will no more give thy corn to be meat for thy enemies: and the sons of the strangers shall not drink thy wine, for which thou hast laboured.

9 For they that gather it, shall eat it, and shall praise the Lord: and they that bring it together, shall drink it in my holy courts.

10 Go through, go through the gates, ‖ prepare the way for the people, make the road plain, pick out the stones, and lift up the standard to the people.

‖ Supra 57. 14.

‖ Zach. 9. 9. Mat 21. 5.

11 ‖ Behold the Lord hath made it to be heard in the ends of the earth, tell the daughter of Sion: Behold thy Saviour cometh: behold his reward is with him, and his work before him.

12 And they shall call them, The holy people, the redeemed of the Lord. But thou shalt be called: A city sought after, and not forsaken.

CHAP. LXIII.

Christ's victory over his enemies: his mercies to his people: their complaint.

WHO is this that cometh from Edom, with dyed garments from Bosra, this beautiful one in his robe, walking in the greatness of his strength. I, that speak justice, and am a defender to save.

‖ Apoc. 19. 13.

2 ‖ Why then is thy apparel red, and thy garments like theirs that tread in the wine-press?

3 I have trodden the wine-press alone, and of the Gentiles there is not a man with me: I have trampled on them in my indignation, and have trodden them down in my wrath, and their blood is sprinkled upon my garments, and I have stained all my apparel.

‖ Supra 34. 8.

4 ‖ For the day of vengeance is in my heart, the year of my redemption is come.

5 I looked about, and there was none to help: I sought, and there was none to give aid: and my own arm hath saved for me, and my indignation itself hath helped me.

6 And I have trodden down the people in my wrath, and have made them drunk in my indignation, and have brought down their strength to the earth.

7 I will remember the tender mercies of the Lord, the praise of the Lord for all the things that the Lord hath bestowed upon us, and for the multitude of his good things to the house of Israel, which he hath given them according to his kindness, and according to the multitude of his mercies.

8 And he said: Surely they are my people, children that will not deny: so he became their saviour.

9 In all their affliction he was not troubled, and the angel of his presence saved them: in his love, and in his mercy he redeemed them, and he carried them and lifted them up all the days of old.

10 But they provoked to wrath, and afflicted the spirit of his holy One: and he was turned to be their enemy, and he fought against them.

11 And he remembered the days of old of Moses, and of his people: ‖ Where is he that brought them up out of the sea, with the shepherds of his flock? where is he that put in the midst of them the spirit of his holy One?

‖ Exod. 14. 29.

12 He that brought out Moses by the right hand, by the arm of his majesty: that divided the waters before them, to make himself an everlasting name.

13 He that led them out through the deep, as a horse in the wilderness that stumbleth not.

14 As a beast that goeth down in the field, the spirit of the Lord was their leader: so didst thou lead thy people to make thyself a glorious name.

15 ‖ Look down from heaven, and behold from thy holy habitation and the place of thy glory: where is thy zeal, and thy strength, the multitude of thy bowels, and of thy mercies? they have held back themselves from me.

‖ Deut. 26. 15. Baruch 2. 16.

16 For thou art our father, and Abraham hath not known us, and Israel hath been ignorant of us: thou, O Lord, art our father, our redeemer, from everlasting is thy name.

CHAP. LXIII. VER. 1. Edom. Edom and Bosra (a strong city of Edom) are here taken in a mystical sense for the enemies of Christ and his church.

VER. 15. They have held back, &c. This is spoken by the prophet in the person of the Jews at the time when for their sins they were given up to their enemies.

VER. 16. Abraham hath not known us, &c. That is, Abraham will not now acknowledge us for his children, by reason of our degeneracy: but thou, O Lord, art our true father and our redeemer, and no other can be called our parent in comparison with thee.

17 Why haſt thou made us to err, O Lord, from thy ways: why haſt thou hardened our heart, that we ſhould not fear thee? return for the ſake of thy ſervants, the tribes of thy inheritance.

18 They have poſſeſſed thy holy people as nothing: our enemies have trodden down thy ſanctuary.

19 We are become as in the beginning, when thou didſt not rule over us, and when we were not called by thy name.

CHAP. LXIV.

The prophet prays for the releaſe of his people; and for the remiſſion of their ſins.

O THAT thou wouldſt rend the heavens, and wouldſt come down: the mountains would melt away at thy preſence.

2 They would melt as at the burning of fire, the waters would burn with fire, that thy name might be made known to thy enemies: that the nations might tremble at thy preſence.

3 When thou ſhalt do wonderful things, we ſhall not bear them: thou didſt come down, and at thy preſence the mountains melted away.

4 From the beginning of the world they have not heard, nor perceived with the ears: ‖ the eye hath not ſeen, O God, beſides thee, what things thou haſt prepared for them that wait for thee.

‖ 1 Cor. 2. 9.

5 Thou haſt met him that rejoiceth, and doth juſtice: in thy ways they ſhall remember thee: behold thou art angry, and we have ſinned: in them we have been always, and we ſhall be ſaved.

6 And we are all become as one unclean, and all our juſtices as the rag of a menſtruous woman: and we have all fallen as a leaf, and our iniquities, like the wind, have taken us away.

7 There is none that calleth upon thy name: that riſeth up, and taketh hold of thee: thou haſt hid thy face from us, and haſt cruſhed us in the hand of our iniquity.

8 And now, O Lord, thou art our father, and we are clay: and thou art our maker, and we all are the works of thy hands.

‖ Pſal. 78. 8.

9 ‖ Be not very angry, O Lord, and remember no longer our iniquity: behold, ſee we are all thy people.

10 The city of thy ſanctuary is become a deſert, Sion is made a deſert, Jeruſalem is deſolate.

11 The houſe of our holineſs, and of our glory, where our fathers praiſed thee, is burnt with fire, and all our lovely things are turned into ruins.

12 Wilt thou refrain thyſelf, O Lord, upon theſe things, wilt thou hold thy peace, and afflict us vehemently?

CHAP. LXV.

The Gentiles ſhall ſeek and find Chriſt, but the Jews will perſecute him, and be rejected, only a remnant ſhall be reſerved. The church ſhall multiply, and abound with graces.

THEY have ſought me that before aſked not for me, they have found me that ſought me not. I ſaid: Behold me, behold me, to a nation that did not call upon my name. Rom. 10. 20.

2 I have ſpread forth my hands all the day to a unbelieving people, who walk in a way that is not good after their own thoughts.

3 A people that continually provoke me to anger before my face: that immolate in gardens, and ſacrifice upon bricks.

4 That dwell in ſepulchres, and ſleep in the temple of idols: that eat ſwine's fleſh, and profane broth is in their veſſels.

5 That ſay: Depart from me, come not near me, becauſe thou art unclean: theſe ſhall be ſmoke in my anger, a fire burning all the day.

6 Behold it is written before me: I will not be ſilent, but I will render and repay into their boſom.

7 Your iniquities, and the iniquities of your fathers together, ſaith the Lord, who have ſacrificed upon the mountains, and have reproached me upon the hills; and I will meaſure back their firſt work in their boſom.

8 Thus ſaith the Lord: As if a grain be found in a cluſter, and it be ſaid: Deſtroy it not, becauſe it is a bleſſing: ſo will I do for the ſake of my ſervants, that I may not deſtroy the whole.

9 And I will bring forth a ſeed out of Jacob, and out of Juda a poſſeſſor of my

VER. 17. Made us to err, &c. Hardened our Heart, &c. The meaning is, that God in puniſhment of their great and manifold crimes, and their long abuſe of his mercy and grace, had withdrawn his graces from them, and ſo given them up to error and hardneſs of heart.

CHAP. LXIV. VER. 6. Our juſtices, &c. That is, the works by which we pretended to make ourſelves juſt. This is ſpoken particularly of the ſacrifices, ſacraments and ceremonies of the Jews after the death of Chriſt, and the promulgation of the new law.

mountains: and my elect ſhall inherit it, and my ſervants ſhall dwell there.

10 And the plains ſhall be turned to folds of flocks, and the valley of Achor into a place for the herds to lie down in, for my people that have ſought me.

11 And you, that have forſaken the Lord, that have forgotten my holy mount, that ſet a table for fortune, and offer libations upon it.

12 I will number you in the ſword, and you ſhall all fall by ſlaughter: ‖ becauſe I called, and you did not anſwer: I ſpoke, and you did not hear: and you did evil in my eyes, and you have choſen the things that diſpleaſe me.

‖ Prov. 1. 24. Infra 66. 4. Jerem 7. 13.

13 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord God: Behold my ſervants ſhall eat, and you ſhall be hungry: behold my ſervants ſhall drink, and you ſhall be thirſty.

14 Behold my ſervants ſhall rejoice, and you ſhall be confounded: behold my ſervants ſhall praiſe for joyfulneſs of heart, and you ſhall cry for ſorrow of heart, and ſhall howl for grief of ſpirit.

15 And you ſhall leave your name for an execration to my elect: and the Lord God ſhall ſlay thee, and call his ſervants by another name.

16 In which he that is bleſſed upon the earth, ſhall be bleſſed in God amen: and he that ſweareth in the earth, ſhall ſwear by God amen: becauſe the former diſtreſſes are forgotten, and becauſe they are hid from my eyes.

‖ Infra 66. 22. Apoc. 21. 1.

17 ‖ For behold I create new heavens, and a new earth: and the former things ſhall not be in remembrance, and they ſhall not come upon the heart.

18 But you ſhall be glad and rejoice for ever in theſe things, which I create: for behold I create Jeruſalem a rejoicing, and the people thereof joy.

19 And I will rejoice in Jeruſalem, and joy in my people, and the voice of weeping ſhall no more be heard in her, nor the voice of crying.

20 There ſhall no more be an infant of days there, nor an old man that ſhall not fill up his days: for the child ſhall die a hundred years old, and the ſinner being a hundred years old ſhall be accurſed.

21 And they ſhall build houſes, and inhabit them: and they ſhall plant vineyards, and eat the fruits of them.

22 They ſhall not build, and another inhabit: they ſhall not plant, and another eat: for as the days of a tree, ſo ſhall be the days of my people, and the works of their hands ſhall be of long continuance.

23 My elect ſhall not labour in vain, nor bring forth in trouble: for they are the ſeed of the bleſſed of the Lord, and their poſterity with them.

24 ‖ And it ſhall come to paſs, that before they call, I will hear: as they are yet ſpeaking, I will hear.

‖ Pſal. 31. 5.

25 ‡ The wolf and the lamb ſhall feed together, the lion and the ox ſhall eat ſtraw: and duſt ſhall be the ſerpent's food: they ſhall not hurt, nor kill in all my holy mountain, ſaith the Lord.

‡ Supra 31. 6.

CHAP. LXVI.

More of the reprobation of the Jews, and of the call of the Gentiles.

THUS ſaith the Lord: Heaven is my throne, and the earth my footſtool: what is this houſe that you will build to me? and what is this place of my reſt?

Acts 7. 49. & 17. 24.

2 My hand made all theſe things, and all theſe things were made, ſaith the Lord. But to whom ſhall I have reſpect, but to him that is poor and little, and of a contrite ſpirit, and that trembleth at my words?

3 He that ſacrificeth an ox, is as if he ſlew a man: he that killeth a ſheep in ſacrifice, as if he ſhould brain a dog: he that offereth an oblation, as if he ſhould offer ſwine's blood: he that remembereth incenſe, as if he ſhould bleſs an idol. All theſe things have they choſen in their ways, and their ſoul is delighted in their abominations.

4 Wherefore I alſo will chooſe their mockeries: and will bring upon them the things they feared: ‖ becauſe I called, and there was none that would anſwer: I have ſpoken, and they heard not: and they have done evil in my eyes, and have choſen the things that diſpleaſe me.

‖ Prov. 1. 24. Supra 65. 12. Jerem. 7. 13.

5 Hear the word of the Lord, you that tremble at his word: Your brethren that hate you, and caſt you out for my name's

CHAP. LXVI. VER. 1. What is this houſe, &c. This is a prophecy that the temple ſhould be caſt off.

VER. 3. He that ſacrificeth an ox, &c. This is, a prophecy, that the ſacrifices which were offered in the old law ſhould be aboliſhed in the new; and that the offering of them ſhould be a crime.

Ibid. Remembereth incenſe. viz. To offer it in the way of a ſacrifice.

VER. 4. I will chooſe their mockeries. I will turn their mockeries upon themſelves; and will cauſe them to be mocked by their enemies.

ſake, have ſaid: Let the Lord be glorified, and we ſhall ſee in your joy: but they ſhall be confounded.

6 A voice of the people from the city, a voice from the temple, the voice of the Lord that rendereth recompence to his enemies.

7 Before ſhe was in labour, ſhe brought forth, before her time came to be delivered ſhe brought forth a man-child.

8 Who hath ever heard ſuch a thing? and who hath ſeen the like to this? ſhall the earth bring forth in one day? or ſhall a nation be brought forth at once, becauſe Sion hath been in labour, and hath brought forth her children?

9 Shall not I that make others to bring forth children, myſelf bring forth, ſaith the Lord? ſhall I, that give generation to others, be barren, ſaith the Lord thy God?

10 Rejoice with Jeruſalem, and be glad with her, all you that love her: rejoice for joy with her, all you that mourn for her.

11 That you may ſuck, and be filled with the breaſts of her conſolations: that you may milk out, and flow with delights from the abundance of her glory.

12 For thus ſaith the Lord: Behold I will bring upon her as it were a river of peace, and as an overflowing torrent the glory of the Gentiles, which you ſhall ſuck: you ſhall be carried at the breaſts, and upon the knees they ſhall careſs you.

13 As one whom the mother careſſeth, ſo will I comfort you, and you ſhall be comforted in Jeruſalem.

14 You ſhall ſee, and your heart ſhall rejoice, ‖ and your bones ſhall flouriſh like an herb, and the hand of the Lord ſhall be known to his ſervants, and he ſhall be angry with his enemies. ‖ Ezec. cap. 37.

15 For behold the Lord will come with fire, and his chariots are like a whirlwind, to render his wrath in indignation, and his rebuke with flames of fire.

16 For the Lord ſhall judge by fire, and by his ſword unto all fleſh, and the ſlain of the Lord ſhall be many.

17 They that were ſanctified, and thought themſelves clean in the gardens behind the gate within, they that did eat ſwine's fleſh, and the abomination, and the mouſe: they ſhall be conſumed together, ſaith the Lord.

18 But I know their works, and their thoughts: I come that I may gather them together with all nations and tongues: and they ſhall come and ſhall ſee my glory.

19 And I will ſet a ſign among them, and I will ſend of them, that ſhall be ſaved, to the Gentiles into the ſea, into Africa, and Lydia them that draw the bow: into Italy, and Greece, to the iſlands afar off, to them that have not heard of me, and have not ſeen my glory. And they ſhall declare my glory to the Gentiles:

20 And they ſhall bring all your brethren out of all nations for a gift to the Lord, upon horſes, and in chariots, and in litters, and on mules, and in coaches, to my holy mountain Jeruſalem, ſaith the Lord, as if the children of Iſrael ſhould bring an offering in a clean veſſel into the houſe of the Lord.

21 And I will take of them to be prieſts, and Levites, ſaith the Lord.

22 ‖ For as the new heavens, and the new earth, which I make to ſtand before me, ſaith the Lord: ſo ſhall your ſeed ſtand, and your name. ‖ Apoc. 21. 1.

23 And there ſhall be month after month, and ſabbath after ſabbath: and all fleſh ſhall come to adore before my face, ſaith the Lord.

24 And they ſhall go out, and ſee the carcaſſes of the men that have tranſgreſſed againſt me: ‖ their worm ſhall not die, and their fire ſhall not be quenched: and they ſhall be a loathſome ſight to all fleſh. ‖ Mark 9. 45.

VER. 7. Before ſhe was in labour, &c. This relates to the converſion of the Gentiles, who were born, as it were all on a ſudden to the church of God.

THE PROPHECY OF JEREMIAS.

Jeremias, was a prieſt, a native of Anathoth a prieſtly city in the tribe of Benjamin: and was ſanctified from his mother's womb, to be a prophet of God; which office he began to execute when he was yet a child in age. He was in his whole life, according to the ſignification of his name, great before the Lord; and a ſpecial figure of Jeſus Chriſt, in the perſecutions he underwent for diſcharging his duty; in his charity for his perſecutors; and in the violent death he ſuffered at their hands: it being an ancient tradition of the Hebrews, that he was ſtoned to death by the remnant of the Jews who had retired into Egypt.

CHAP. I.

The time, and the calling, of Jeremias: his prophetical viſions. God encourages him.

THE words of Jeremias the ſon of Helcias, of the prieſts that were in Anathoth, in the land of Benjamin.

2 The word of the Lord which came to him in the days of Joſias the ſon of Amon king of Juda, in the thirteenth year * of his reign.

* A. M. 3375. Ante C. 629.

3 And which came to him in the days of Joakim the ſon of Joſias king of Juda, unto the end of the eleventh year of Sedecias the ſon of Joſias king of Juda, even unto the carrying away of Jeruſalem captive, in the fifth month.

4 And the word of the Lord came to me, ſaying:

5 Before I formed thee in the bowels of thy mother, I knew thee: and before thou cameſt forth out of the womb, I ſanctified thee, and made thee a prophet unto the nations.

6 And I ſaid: Ah, ah, ah, Lord God: behold, I cannot ſpeak, for I am a child.

7 And the Lord ſaid to me: Say not: I am a child: for thou ſhalt go to all that I ſhall ſend thee: and whatſoever I ſhall command thee, thou ſhalt ſpeak.

8 Be not afraid at their preſence: for I am with thee to deliver thee, ſaith the Lord.

9 And the Lord put forth his hand, and touched my mouth: ‖ and the Lord ſaid to me: Behold I have given my words in thy mouth: ‖ Iſai. 6. 7.

10 Lo I have ſet thee this day over the nations, and over kingdoms, ‖ to root up, and to pull down, and to waſte, and to deſtroy, and to build, and to plant. ‖ Infra 18. 7.

11 And the word of the Lord came to me, ſaying: What ſeeſt thou, Jeremias? And I ſaid: I ſee a rod watching.

12 And the Lord ſaid to me: Thou haſt ſeen well: for I will watch over my word to perform it.

13 And the word of the Lord came to me a ſecond time, ſaying: What ſeeſt thou? And I ſaid: ‖ I ſee a boiling caldron, and the face thereof from the face of the north. ‖ Ezec. 11. 7.

14 And the Lord ſaid to me: † From the north ſhall an evil break forth upon all the inhabitants of the land. † Infra 4. 6.

15 For behold I will call together all the families of the kingdoms of the north, saith the Lord: and they shall come, and shall set every one his throne in the entrance of the gates of Jerusalem, and upon all the walls thereof round about, and upon all the cities of Juda.

16 And I will pronounce my judgments against them, touching all their wickedness, who have forsaken me, and have sacrificed to strange gods, and have adored the work of their own hands.

17 Thou therefore gird up thy loins, and arise, and speak to them all that I command thee. Be not afraid at their presence: for I will make thee not to fear their countenance.

‖ Infra 6. 27. 18 ‖ For behold I have made thee this day a fortified city, and a pillar of iron, and a wall of brass, over all the land, to the kings of Juda, to the princes thereof, and to the priests, and to the people of the land.

19 And they shall fight against thee, and shall not prevail: for I am with thee, saith the Lord, to deliver thee.

CHAP. II.

God expostulates with the Jews for their ingratitude and infidelity.

AND the word of the Lord came to me, saying:

2 Go, and cry in the ears of Jerusalem, saying: Thus saith the Lord: I have remembered thee, pitying thy youth, and the love of thy espousals, when thou followedst me in the desert, in a land that is not sown.

3 Israel is holy to the Lord, the firstfruits of his increase: all they that devour him offend: evils shall come upon them, saith the Lord.

4 Hear ye the word of the Lord, O house of Jacob, and all ye families of the house of Israel:

‖ Micheas 6. 3. 5 Thus saith the Lord: ‖ What iniquity have your fathers found in me, that they are gone far from me, and have walked after vanity, and are become vain?

6 And they have not said: Where is the Lord, that made us come up out of the land of Egypt? that led us through the desert, through a land uninhabited and unpassable, through a land of drought, and the image of death, through a land, wherein no man walked, nor any man dwelt?

7 And I brought you into the land of Carmel, to eat the fruit thereof, and the best things thereof: and when ye entered in, you defiled my land, and made my inheritance an abomination.

8 The priests did not say: Where is the Lord? and they that held the law knew me not, and the pastors transgressed against me: and the prophets prophesied in Baal, and followed idols.

9 Therefore will I yet contend in judgment with you, saith the Lord, and I will plead with your children.

10 Pass over to the isles of Cethim, and see: and send into Cedar, and consider diligently: and see if there hath been done any thing like this.

11 If a nation hath changed their gods, and indeed they are not gods: but my people have changed their glory into an idol.

12 Be astonished, O ye heavens at this, and ye gates thereof be very desolate, saith the Lord.

13 For my people have done two evils. They have forsaken me, the fountain of living water, and have digged to themselves cisterns, broken cisterns, that can hold no water.

14 Is Israel a bondman, or a home-born slave? why then is he become a prey?

15 The lions have roared upon him, and have a noise, they have made his land a wilderness: his cities are burnt down, and there is none to dwell in them.

16 The children also of Memphis, and of Taphnes have deflowered thee, even to the crown of the head.

17 Hath not this been done to thee, because thou hast forsaken the Lord thy God at that time, when he led thee by the way?

18 And now what hast thou to do in the way of Egypt, to drink the troubled water? And what hast thou to do with the way of the Assyrians, to drink the water of the river?

19 Thy own wickedness shall reprove thee, and thy apostacy shall rebuke thee. Know thou, and see that it is an evil and a bitter thing for thee, to have left the Lord thy God, and that my fear is not with thee, saith the Lord the God of hosts.

20 Of old time thou hast broken my yoke, thou hast burst my bands, and thou saidst: I will not serve. ‖ For on every high hill, and under every green tree thou didst prostitute thyself. ‖ Infra 3. 6.

21 ‖ Yet I planted thee a chosen vineyard, all true seed: how then art thou turned unto me into that which is good for nothing, O strange vineyard? ‖ Isai. 5. 1. Mat. 21. 33.

CHAP. II. VER. 7. Carmel. That is, a fruitful, plentiful land.

22 Though thou waſh thyſelf with nitre, and multiply to thyſelf the herb borith, thou art ſtained in thy iniquity before me, ſaith the Lord God.

23 How canſt thou ſay: I am not polluted, I have not walked after Baalim? ſee thy ways in the valley, know what thou haſt done: as a ſwift runner purſuing his courſe.

24 A wild aſs accuſtomed to the wilderneſs in the deſire of his heart, ſnuffed up the wind of his love: none ſhall turn her away: all that ſeek her ſhall not fail: in her monthly filth they ſhall find her.

25 Keep thy foot from being bare, and thy throat from thirſt. But thou ſaidſt: I have loſt all hope, I will not do it: for I have loved ſtrangers, and I will walk after them.

26 As the thief is confounded when he is taken, ſo is the houſe of Iſrael confounded, they and their kings, their princes and their prieſts, and their prophets,

27 Saying to a ſtock: Thou art my father: and to a ſtone: Thou haſt begotten me: ‖ Infra 32. 33. ‖ they have turned their back to me, and not their face: and in the time of their affliction they will ſay: Ariſe, and deliver us.

28 Where are the gods, whom thou haſt made thee? let them ariſe and deliver thee in ‖ Infra 11. 13. the time of thy affliction: ‖ for according to the number of thy cities were thy gods, O Juda.

29 Why will you contend with me in judgment? you have all forſaken me, ſaith the Lord.

30 In vain have I ſtruck your children, they have not received correction: your ſword hath devoured your prophets, your generation is like a ravaging lion.

31 See ye the word of the Lord: Am I become a wilderneſs to Iſrael, or a lateward ſpringing land? why then have my people ſaid: We are revolted, we will come to thee no more?

32 Will a virgin forget her ornament, or a bride her ſtomacher? but my people hath forgotten me days without number.

33 Why doſt thou endeavour to ſhew thy way good to ſeek my love, thou who haſt alſo taught thy malices to be thy ways,

34 And in thy ſkirts is found the blood of the ſouls of the poor and innocent? not in ditches have I found them, but in all places, which I mentioned before.

35 And thou haſt ſaid: I am without ſin and am innocent: and therefore let thy anger be turned away from me. Behold, I will contend with thee in judgment, becauſe thou haſt ſaid: I have not ſinned.

36 How exceeding baſe art thou become, going the ſame ways over again! and thou ſhalt be aſhamed of Egypt, as thou waſt aſhamed of Aſſyria.

27 For from thence thou ſhalt go, and thy hand ſhall be upon thy head: for the Lord hath deſtroyed thy truſt, and thou ſhalt have nothing proſperous therein.

CHAP. III.

God invites the rebel Jews to return to him, with a promiſe to receive them: he foretells the converſion of the Gentiles.

IT is commonly ſaid: If a man put away his wife, and ſhe go from him, and marry another man, ſhall he return to her any more? ſhall not that woman be polluted, and defiled? but thou haſt proſtituted thyſelf to many lovers: nevertheleſs return to me, ſaith the Lord, and I will receive thee.

2 Lift up thy eyes on high: and ſee where thou haſt not proſtituted thyſelf: thou didſt ſit in the ways, waiting for them as a robber in the wilderneſs: and thou haſt polluted the land with thy fornications, and with thy wickedneſs.

3 Therefore the ſhowers were withholden, and there was no lateward rain: thou hadſt a harlot's forehead, thou wouldſt not bluſh.

4 Therefore at the leaſt from this time call to me: Thou art my father, the guide of my virginity:

5 Wilt thou be angry for ever, or wilt thou continue unto the end? Behold, thou haſt ſpoken, and haſt done evil things, and haſt been able.

6 And the Lord ſaid to me in the days of king Joſias: ‖ Haſt thou ſeen what rebellious Iſrael hath done? ſhe hath gone of herſelf upon every high mountain, and under every green tree, and hath played the harlot there. ‖ Supra 2. 20.

7 And when ſhe had done all theſe things, I ſaid: Return to me, and ſhe did not return. And her treacherous ſiſter Juda ſaw,

8 That becauſe the rebellious Iſrael had played the harlot, I had put her away, and given her a bill of divorce: yet her treacherous ſiſter Juda was not afraid, but went and played the harlot alſo herſelf.

9 And by the facility of her fornication ſhe defiled the land, and played the harlot with ſtones and with ſtocks.

VER. 22. Borith. An herb uſed to clean clothes, and take out ſpots and dirt.

10 And after all this, her treacherous ſiſter Juda hath not returned to me with her whole heart, but with falſehood, ſaith the Lord.

11 And the Lord ſaid to me: The rebellious Iſrael hath juſtified her ſoul, in compariſon of the treacherous Juda.

12 Go, and proclaim theſe words towards the north, and thou ſhalt ſay: Return, O rebellious Iſrael, ſaith the Lord, and I will not turn away my face from you: for I am holy, ſaith the Lord, and I will not be angry for ever.

13 But yet acknowledge thy iniquity, that thou haſt tranſgreſſed againſt the Lord thy God: and thou haſt ſcattered thy ways to ſtrangers under every green tree, and haſt not heard my voice, ſaith the Lord.

14 Return, O ye revolting children, ſaith the Lord: for I am your * huſband: and I will take you, one of a city, and two of a kindred, and will bring you into Sion.

* i. e. lord.

15 And I will give you paſtors according to my own heart, and they ſhall feed you with knowledge and doctrine.

16 And when you ſhall be multiplied, and increaſe in the land in thoſe days, ſaith the Lord, they ſhall ſay no more: The ark of the covenant of the Lord: neither ſhall it come upon the heart, neither ſhall they remember it, neither ſhall it be viſited, neither ſhall that be done any more.

17 At that time Jeruſalem ſhall be called the throne of the Lord: and all the nations ſhall be gathered together to it, in the name of the Lord to Jeruſalem, and they ſhall not walk after the perverſity of their moſt wicked heart.

18 In thoſe days the houſe of Juda ſhall go to the houſe of Iſrael, and they ſhall come together out of the land of the north to the land which I gave to your fathers.

19 But I ſaid: How ſhall I put thee among the children, and give thee a lovely land, the goodly inheritance of the armies of the Gentiles? And I ſaid: thou ſhalt call me father, and ſhalt not ceaſe to walk after me.

20 But as a woman that deſpiſeth her lover, ſo hath the houſe of Iſrael deſpiſed me, ſaith the Lord.

21 A voice was heard in the high ways, weeping and howling of the children of Iſrael: becauſe they have made their way wicked, they have forgotten the Lord their God.

22 Return, you rebellious children, and I will heal your rebellions. Behold we come to thee: for thou art the Lord our God.

23 In very deed the hills were liars, and the multitude of the mountains: truly in the Lord our God is the ſalvation of Iſrael.

24 Confuſion hath devoured the labour of our fathers from our youth, their flocks and their herds, their ſons and their daughters.

25 We ſhall ſleep in our confuſion, and our ſhame ſhall cover us, becauſe we have ſinned againſt the Lord our God, we and our fathers from our youth even to this day: and we have not hearkened to the voice of the Lord our God.

CHAP. IV.

An admonition to ſincere repentance, and circumciſion of the heart, with threats of grievous puniſhment to thoſe that perſiſt in ſin.

IF thou wilt return, O Iſrael, ſaith the Lord, return to me: if thou wilt take away thy ſtumbling-blocks out of my ſight, thou ſhalt not be moved.

2 And thou ſhalt ſwear: As the Lord liveth, in truth, and in judgment, and in juſtice: and the Gentiles ſhall bleſs him, and ſhall praiſe him.

3 For thus ſaith the Lord to the men of Juda, and Jeruſalem: ‖ Break up anew your fallow ground, and ſow not upon thorns: ‖ Ofee 10. 12.

4 Be circumciſed to the Lord, and take away the foreſkins of your hearts, ye men of Juda, and ye inhabitants of Jeruſalem: leſt my indignation come forth like fire, and burn, and there be none that can quench it: becauſe of the wickedneſs of your thoughts.

5 Declare ye in Juda, and make it heard in Jeruſalem: ſpeak, and ſound with the trumpet in the land: cry aloud, and ſay: Aſſemble yourſelves, and let us go into ſtrong cities.

6 Set up the ſtandard in Sion. Strengthen yourſelves, ſtay not, ‖ for I bring evil from the north, and great deſtruction. ‖ Supra 1. 14.

7 The lion is come up out of his den, and the robber of nations hath rouſed himſelf: he is come forth out of his place, to make thy land deſolate: thy cities ſhall be laid waſte, remaining without an inhabitant.

8 For this gird yourſelves with hair-cloth, lament and howl: for the fierce anger of the Lord is not turned away from us.

9 And it ſhall come to paſs in that day, ſaith the Lord: That the heart of the king ſhall periſh, and the heart of the princes: and the prieſts ſhall be aſtoniſhed, and the prophets ſhall be amazed.

10 And I ſaid: Alas, alas, alas, O Lord God, haſt thou then deceived this people and Jeruſalem, ſaying: You ſhall have peace: and behold the ſword reacheth even to the ſoul?

11 At that time it ſhall be ſaid to this people, and to Jerusalem: A burning wind is in the ways that are in the desert of the way of the daughter of my people, not to fan, nor to cleanse.

12 A full wind from these places shall come to me: and now I will speak my judgments with them.

13 Behold he shall come up as a cloud, and his chariots as a tempest: his horses are swifter than eagles: wo unto us, for we are laid waste.

14 Wash thy heart from wickedness, O Jerusalem, that thou mayst be saved: how long shall hurtful thoughts abide in thee?

15 For a voice of one declaring from Dan, and giving notice of the idol from mount Ephraim.

16 Say ye to the nations: Behold it is heard in Jerusalem, that guards are coming from a far country, and give out their voice against the cities of Juda.

17 They are set round about her, as keepers of fields: because she hath provoked me to wrath, saith the Lord.

‖ Wisd. 1. 3. & 5. 18 ‖ Thy ways, and thy devices have brought these things upon thee: this is thy wickedness, because it is bitter, because it hath touched thy heart.

19 My bowels, my bowels are in pain, the senses of my heart are troubled within me, I will not hold my peace, for my soul hath heard the sound of the trumpet, the cry of battle.

20 Destruction upon destruction is called for, and all the earth is laid waste: my tents are destroyed on a sudden, and my pavilions in a moment.

21 How long shall I see men fleeing away, how long shall I hear the sound of the trumpet?

22 For my foolish people have not known me: they are foolish and senseless children: they are wise to do evils, but to do good they have no knowledge.

23 I beheld the earth, and lo it was void, and nothing: and the heavens, and there was no light in them.

24 I looked upon the mountains, and behold they trembled: and all the hills were troubled.

25 I beheld, and lo there was no man: and all the birds of the air were gone.

26 I looked, and behold Carmel was a wilderness: and all its cities were destroyed at the presence of the Lord, and at the presence of the wrath of his indignation.

27 For thus saith the Lord: All the land shall be desolate, but yet I will not utterly destroy.

28 The earth shall mourn, and the heavens shall lament from above: because I have spoken, I have purposed, and I have not repented, neither am I turned away from it.

29 At the voice of the horsemen, and the archer, all the city is fled away: they have entered into thickets and have climbed up the rocks: all the cities are forsaken, and there dwelleth not a man in them.

30 But when thou art spoiled what wilt thou do? though thou clothest thyself with scarlet, though thou deckest thee with ornaments of gold, and paintest thy eyes with stibic-stone, thou shalt dress thyself out in vain: thy lovers have despised thee, they will seek thy life.

31 For I have heard the voice as of a woman in travail, anguishes as of a woman in labour of a child. The voice of the daughter of Sion, dying away, spreading her hands: Wo is me, for my soul hath fainted because of them that are slain.

CHAP. V.

The judgments of God shall fall upon the Jews for their manifold sins.

GO about through the streets of Jerusalem, and see, and consider, and seek in the broad places thereof, if you can find a man that executeth judgment, and seeketh faith: and I will be merciful unto it.

2 And though they say: The Lord liveth; this also they will swear falsely.

3 O Lord, thy eyes are upon truth: thou hast struck them, and they have not grieved: thou hast bruised them, and they have refused to receive correction: they have made their faces harder than the rock, and they have refused to return.

4 But I said: Perhaps these are poor and foolish, that know not the way of the Lord, the judgment of their God.

5 I will go therefore to the great men, and will speak to them: for they have known the way of the Lord, the judgment of their God: and behold these have altogether broken the yoke more, and have burst the bonds.

6 Wherefore a lion out of the wood hath slain them, a wolf in the evening hath spoiled them, a leopard watcheth for their cities: every one that shall go out thence shall be taken, because their transgressions are multiplied, their rebellions are strengthened.

7 How can I be merciful to thee? thy children have forsaken me, and swear by them that are not gods: I fed them to the full, and they committed adultery, and rioted in the harlot's house.

8 They are become as amorous horses, and ſtallions: ‖ every one neighed after his neighbour's wife.

‖ Ezec. 22. 11.

9 Shall I not viſit for theſe things, ſaith the Lord? and ſhall not my ſoul take revenge on ſuch a nation?

10 Scale the walls thereof, and throw them down, but do not utterly deſtroy: take away the branches thereof, becauſe they are not the Lord's.

11 For the houſe of Iſrael and the houſe of Juda have greatly tranſgreſſed againſt me, ſaith the Lord.

12 They have denied the Lord, and ſaid, It is not he: and the evil ſhall not come upon us: we ſhall not ſee the ſword and famine.

13 The prophets have ſpoken in the wind, and there was no word of God in them: theſe things therefore ſhall befall them.

14 Thus ſaith the Lord the God of hoſts: Becauſe you have ſpoken this word: behold I will make my words in thy mouth as fire, and this people as wood, and it ſhall devour them.

15 Behold I will bring upon you a nation from afar, O houſe of Iſrael, ſaith the Lord: a ſtrong nation, an ancient nation, a nation whoſe language thou ſhalt not know, nor underſtand what they ſay.

16 Their quiver is as an open ſepulchre, they are all valiant.

17 And they ſhall eat up thy corn, and thy bread: they ſhall devour thy ſons, and thy daughters: they ſhall eat up thy flocks, and thy herds: they ſhall eat thy vineyards, and thy figs: and with the ſword they ſhall deſtroy thy ſtrong cities, wherein thou truſteſt.

18 Nevertheleſs in thoſe days, ſaith the Lord, I will not bring you to utter deſtruction.

‖ Infra 16. 10.

19 ‖ And if you ſhall ſay: Why hath the Lord our God done all theſe things to us? thou ſhalt ſay to them: As you have forſaken me, and ſerved a ſtrange god in your own land, ſo ſhall you ſerve ſtrangers in a land that is not your own.

20 Declare ye this to the houſe of Jacob, and publiſh it in Juda, ſaying:

21 Hear, O fooliſh people, and without underſtanding: who have eyes, and ſee not: and ears, and hear not.

22 Will not you then fear me, ſaith the Lord: and will you not repent at my preſence? I have ſet the ſand a bound for the ſea, an everlaſting ordinance, which it ſhall not paſs over: and the waves thereof ſhall toſs themſelves, and ſhall not prevail: they ſhall ſwell, and ſhall not paſs over it.

23 But the heart of this people is become hard of belief and provoking, they are revolted and gone away.

24 And they have not ſaid in their heart: Let us fear the Lord our God, who giveth us the early and the latter rain in due ſeaſon: who preſerveth for us the fulneſs of the yearly harveſt.

25 Your iniquities have turned theſe things away, and your ſins have withholden good things from you.

26 For among my people are found wicked men, that lie in wait as fowlers, ſetting ſnares and traps to catch men.

27 As a net is full of birds, ſo their houſes are full of deceit: therefore are they become great and enriched.

28 They are grown groſs and fat: and have moſt wickedly tranſgreſſed my words. ‖ They have not judged the cauſe of the widow, they have not managed the cauſe of the fatherleſs, and they have not judged the judgment of the poor.

‖ Iſai. 1. 23. Zach. 7. 10.

29 Shall I not viſit for theſe things, ſaith the Lord? or ſhall not my ſoul take revenge on ſuch a nation?

30 Aſtoniſhing and wonderful things have been done in the land.

31 The prophets propheſied falſhood, and the prieſts clapped their hands: and my people loved ſuch things: what then ſhall be done in the end thereof?

CHAP. VI.

The evils that threaten Jeruſalem. She is invited to return, and walk in the good way, and not to rely on ſacrifices without obedience.

STRENGTHEN yourſelves, ye ſons of Benjamin, in the midſt of Jeruſalem, and ſound the trumpet in Thecua, and ſet up the ſtandard over Bethacarem: for evil is ſeen out of the north, and a great deſtruction.

2 I have likened the daughter of Sion to a beautiful and delicate woman.

3 The ſhepherds ſhall come to her with their flocks: they have pitched their tents againſt her round about: every one ſhall feed them that are under his hand.

4 Prepare ye war againſt her: ariſe, and let us go up at mid-day: wo unto us, for the day is declined, for the ſhadows of the evening are grown longer.

5 Ariſe, and let us go up in the night, and deſtroy her houſes.

6 For thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts: Hew down her trees, caſt up a trench about Jeruſalem: this is the city to be viſited, all oppreſſion is in the midſt of her.

7 As a ciſtern maketh its water cold, ſo hath ſhe made her wickedneſs cold: violence and ſpoil ſhall be heard in her, infirmity and ſtripes are continually before me.

8 Be thou inſtructed, O Jeruſalem, leſt my ſoul depart from thee, leſt I make thee deſolate, a land uninhabited.

9 Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts: They ſhall gather the remains of Iſrael, as in a vine, even to one cluſter: turn back thy hand, as a grape-gatherer into the baſket.

10 To whom ſhall I ſpeak? and to whom ſhall I teſtify, that he may hear? behold, their ears are uncircumciſed, and they cannot hear: behold the word of the Lord is become unto them a reproach: and they will not receive it.

11 Therefore am I full of the fury of the Lord, I am weary with holding in: pour it out upon the child abroad, and upon the council of the young men together: for man and woman ſhall be taken, the ancient and he that is full of days.

12 And their houſes ſhall be turned over to others, with their lands and their wives together: for I will ſtretch forth my hand upon the inhabitants of the land, ſaith the Lord.

13 ‖ For from the leaſt of them even to the greateſt, all are given to covetouſneſs: and from the prophet even to the prieſt, all are guilty of deceit.

‖ Iſai. 56. 11. Infra 8. 10.

14 And they healed the breach of the daughter of my people diſgracefully, ſaying: Peace, peace: and there was no peace.

15 They were confounded, becauſe they committed abomination: yea, rather they were not confounded with confuſion, and they knew not how to bluſh: wherefore they ſhall fall among them that fall: in the time of their viſitation they ſhall fall down, ſaith the Lord.

16 Thus ſaith the Lord: Stand ye on the ways, and ſee, and aſk for the old paths, which is the good way, and walk ye in it: ‖ and you ſhall find refreſhment for your ſouls. And they ſaid: We will not walk.

‖ Matt. 11. 29.

17 And I appointed watchmen over you, ſaying: Hearken ye to the ſound of the trumpet. And they ſaid: We will not hearken.

18 Therefore hear, ye nations, and know, O congregation, what great things I will do to them.

19 Hear, O earth: Behold I will bring evils upon this people, the fruits of their own thoughts: becauſe they have not heard my words, and they have caſt away my law.

20 ‖ To what purpoſe do you bring me frankincenſe from Saba, and the ſweet-ſmelling cane from a far country? your holocauſts are not acceptable, nor are your ſacrifices pleaſing to me.

‖ Mal. 1. 11.

21 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord: Behold I will bring deſtruction upon this people, by which fathers and ſons together ſhall fall, neighbour and kinſman ſhall periſh.

22 Thus ſaith the Lord: Behold a people cometh from the land of the north, and a great nation ſhall riſe up from the ends of the earth.

23 They ſhall lay hold on arrow and ſhield: they are cruel, and will have no mercy. Their voice ſhall roar like the ſea: and they ſhall mount upon horſes, prepared as men for war, againſt thee, O daughter of Sion.

24 We have heard the fame thereof, our hands grow feeble: anguiſh hath taken hold of us, as a woman in labour.

25 Go not out into the fields, nor walk in the high way: for the ſword of the enemy, and fear is on every ſide.

26 Gird thee with ſackcloth, O daughter of my people, and ſprinkle thee with aſhes: make thee mourning as for an only ſon, a bitter lamentation, becauſe the deſtroyer ſhall ſuddenly come upon us.

27 I have ſet thee for a ſtrong trier among my people: and thou ſhalt know, and prove their way.

28 All theſe princes go out of the way, they walk deceitfully, they are braſs and iron: they are all corrupted.

29 The bellows have failed, the lead is conſumed in the fire, the founder hath melted in vain: for their wicked deeds are not conſumed.

30 Call them reprobate ſilver, for the Lord hath rejected them.

CHAP. VII.

The temple of God ſhall not protect a ſinful people, without a ſincere converſion. The Lord will not receive the prayers of the prophet for them; becauſe they are obſtinate in their ſins.

THE word that came to Jeremias from the Lord, ſaying:

2 Stand in the gate of the houſe of the Lord, and proclaim there this word, and ſay: Hear ye the word of the Lord, all ye men of Juda, that enter in at theſe gates, to adore the Lord.

3 Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts the God of Iſrael: ‖ Make your ways and your doings good: and I will dwell with you in this place.

‖ Infra 26. 13.

4 Truſt not in lying words, ſaying: The temple of the Lord, the temple of the Lord, it is the temple of the Lord.

5 For if you will order well your ways, and your doings: if you will execute judgment between a man and his neighbour,

6 If you oppreſs not the ſtranger, the fatherleſs, and the widow, and ſhed not innocent blood in this place, and walk not after ſtrange gods to your own hurt:

7 I will dwell with you in this place: in the land, which I gave to your fathers from the beginning and for evermore.

8 Behold you put your truſt in lying words, which ſhall not profit you:

9 To ſteal, to murder, to commit adultery, to ſwear falſly, to offer to Baalim, and to go after ſtrange gods, which you know not.

10 And you have come, and ſtood before me in this houſe, in which my name is called upon, and have ſaid: We are delivered, becauſe we have done all theſe abominations.

|| Matt. 21. 13. Mark 1. 17. Luke 19. 46.

11 || Is this houſe then, in which my name hath been called upon, in your eyes become a den of robbers? I, I am he: I have ſeen it, ſaith the Lord.

12 Go ye to my place in Silo, where my name dwelt from the beginning: and ſee what I did to it for the wickedneſs of my people Iſrael:

13 And now, becauſe you have done all theſe works, ſaith the Lord: and I have ſpoken to you riſing up early, and ſpeaking, and you have not heard: || and I have called you, and you have not anſwered:

|| Prov. 1. 24. Iſai. 65. 12.

14 || I will do to this houſe, in which my name is called upon, and in which you truſt, and to the place which I have given you and your fathers, as I did to Silo.

|| 1 Kings 4. 2. & 10.

15 And I will caſt you away from before my face, as I have caſt away all your brethren, the whole ſeed of Ephraim.

|| Infra 11. 14. & 14. 11.

16 || Therefore do not thou pray for this people, nor take to thee praiſe and ſupplication for them, and do not withſtand me: for I will not hear thee.

17 Seeſt thou not what they do in the cities of Juda, and in the ſtreets of Jeruſalem?

18 The children gather wood, and the fathers kindle the fire, and the women knead the dough, to make cakes to the queen of heaven, and to offer libations to ſtrange gods, and to provoke me to anger.

19 Do they provoke me to anger, ſaith the Lord? is it not themſelves to the confuſion of their own countenance?

20 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord God: Behold my wrath, and my indignation is enkindled againſt this place, upon men and upon beaſts, and upon the trees of the field, and upon the fruits of the land, and it ſhall burn, and ſhall not be quenched.

21 Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts the God of Iſrael: Add your burnt-offerings to your ſacrifices, and eat ye the fleſh.

22 For I ſpoke not to your fathers, and I commanded them not, in the day that I brought them out of the land of Egypt, concerning the matter of burnt-offerings and ſacrifices.

23 But this thing I commanded them, ſaying: Hearken to my voice, and I will be your God, and you ſhall be my people: and walk ye in all the way, that I have commanded you, that it may be well with you.

24 But they hearkened not, nor inclined their ear: but walked in their own will, and in the perverſity of their wicked heart: and went backward and not forward,

25 From the day that their fathers came out of the land of Egypt, even to this day. And I have ſent to you all my ſervants the prophets from day to day, riſing up early, and ſending.

26 And they have not hearkened to me: nor inclined their ear: but have hardened their neck, || and have done worſe than their fathers.

|| Infra 16. 12.

27 And thou ſhalt ſpeak to them all theſe words, but they will not hearken to thee: and thou ſhalt call them, but they will not anſwer thee.

28 And thou ſhalt ſay to them: This is a nation which hath not hearkened to the voice of the Lord their God, nor received inſtruction: faith is loſt, and is taken away out of their mouth.

29 Cut off thy hair, and caſt it away: and take up a lamentation on high: for the Lord hath rejected, and forſaken the generation of his wrath,

30 Becauſe the children of Juda have done evil in my eyes, ſaith the Lord. They have ſet their abominations in the houſe in which my name is called upon, to pollute it:

31 And they have built the high places of Topheth, which is in the valley of the ſon of Ennom, to burn their ſons, and their daughters in the fire: which I commanded not, nor thought on in my heart.

32 Therefore behold the days ſhall come, ſaith the Lord, and it ſhall no more be called Topheth, nor the Valley of the ſon of Ennom: but the Valley of ſlaughter:

CHAP. VII. VER. 18. The queen of heaven. That is, the moon, which they worſhipped under that name.

VER. 22. I commanded them not. viz. Such ſacrifices as the Jews at this time offered, without obedience; which was the thing principally commanded: ſo that in compariſon with it, the offering of the holocauſts and ſacrifices was of ſmall account.

and they shall bury in Topheth, because there is no place.

33 And the carcasses of this people shall be meat for the fowls of the air, and for the beasts of the earth, and there shall be none to drive them away.

34 ‖ And I will cause to cease out of the cities of Juda, and out of the streets of Jerusalem, the voice of joy, and the voice of gladness, the voice of the bridegroom, and the voice of the bride: for the land shall be desolate. ‖ Zech. 26. 13.

CHAP. VIII.

Other evils that shall fall upon the Jews for their impenitence.

AT that time, saith the Lord, they shall cast out the bones of the kings of Juda, and the bones of the princes thereof, and the bones of the priests, and the bones of the prophets, and the bones of the inhabitants of Jerusalem, out of their graves.

2 And they shall spread them abroad to the sun, and the moon, and all the host of heaven, whom they have loved, and whom they have served, and after whom they have walked, and whom they have sought, and adored: they shall not be gathered, and they shall not be buried: they shall be as dung upon the face of the earth.

3 And death shall be chosen rather than life, by all that shall remain of this wicked kindred in all places, which are left, to which I have cast them out, saith the Lord of hosts.

4 And thou shalt say to them: Thus saith the Lord: Shall not he that falleth, rise again? and he that is turned away, shall he not turn again?

5 Why then is this people in Jerusalem turned away with a stubborn revolting? they have laid hold on lying, and have refused to return.

6 I attended, and hearkened: no man speaketh what is good, there is none that doth penance for his sin, saying: What have I done? They are all turned to their own course, as a horse rushing to the battle.

7 The kite in the air hath known her time: the turtle, and the swallow, and the stork have observed the time of their coming: but my people have not known the judgment of the Lord.

8 How do you say: We are wise, and the law of the Lord is with us? Indeed the lying pen of the scribes hath wrought falshood.

9 The wise men are confounded, they are dismayed, and taken: for they have cast away the word of the Lord, and there is no wisdom in them.

10 ‖ Therefore will I give their women to strangers, their fields to others for an inheritance: because from the least even to the greatest all follow covetousness: from the prophet even to the priest all deal deceitfully. ‖ Isai. 56. 11. Supra 6. 13.

11 And they healed the breach of the daughter of my people disgracefully, saying: Peace, peace: when there was no peace.

12 They are confounded, because they have committed abomination: yea rather they are not confounded with confusion, and they have not known how to blush: therefore shall they fall among them that fall, in the time of their visitation they shall fall, saith the Lord.

13 Gathering I will gather them together, saith the Lord, there is no grape on the vines, and there are no figs on the fig-tree, the leaf is fallen: and I have given them the things that are passed away.

14 Why do we sit still? assemble yourselves, and let us enter into the fenced city, and let us be silent there: for the Lord our God hath put us to silence, and hath given us ‡ water of gall to drink: for we have sinned against the Lord. ‡ Infra 9. 15.

15 ‖ We looked for peace, and no good came: for a time of healing, and behold fear. ‖ Infra 14. 19.

16 The snorting of his horses was heard from Dan, all the land was moved at the sound of the neighing of his warriors: and they came and devoured the land, and all that was in it: the city and its inhabitants.

17 For behold I will send among you serpents basilisks, against which there is no charm: and they shall bite you, saith the Lord.

18 My sorrow is above sorrow, my heart mourneth within me.

19 Behold the voice of the daughter of my people from a far country: Is not the Lord in Sion, or is not her king in her? why then have they provoked me to wrath with their idols, and strange vanities?

20 The harvest is past, the summer is ended, and we are not saved.

21 For the affliction of the daughter of my people I am afflicted, and made sorrowful, astonishment hath taken hold on me.

22 Is there no balm in Galaad? or is there no physician there? Why then is not the wound of the daughter of my people closed?

CHAP. IX.

The prophet laments the miseries of his people: and their sins, which are the cause of them. He exhorts them to repentance.

WHO will give water to my head, and a fountain of tears to my eyes? and

I will weep day and night for the slain of the daughter of my people.

2 Who will give me in the wilderness a lodging-place of wayfaring men, and I will leave my people, and depart from them? because they are all adulterers, an assembly of transgressors.

3 And they have bent their tongue, as a bow, for lies, and not for truth: they have strengthened themselves upon the earth, for they have proceeded from evil to evil, and me they have not known, saith the Lord.

4 Let every man take heed of his neighbour, and let him not trust in any brother of his: for every brother will utterly supplant, and every friend will walk deceitfully.

5 And a man shall mock his brother, and they will not speak the truth: for they have taught their tongue to speak lies: they have laboured to commit iniquity.

6 Thy habitation is in the midst of deceit: through deceit they have refused to know me, saith the Lord.

7 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hosts: Behold I will melt, and try them: for what else shall I do before the daughter of my people?

‖ Psal 27. 3. 8 ‖ Their tongue is a piercing arrow, it hath spoken deceit: with his mouth one speaketh peace with his friend, and secretly he lieth in wait for him.

9 Shall I not visit them for these things, saith the Lord? or shall not my soul be revenged on such a nation?

10 For the mountains I will take up weeping and lamentation, and for the beautiful places of the desert, mourning: because they are burnt up, for that there is not a man that passeth through them: and they have not heard the voice of the owner: from the fowl of the air to the beasts they are gone away and departed.

11 And I will make Jerusalem to be heaps of sand, and dens of dragons: and I will make the cities of Juda desolate, for want of an inhabitant.

12 Who is the wise man, that may understand this, and to whom the word of the mouth of the Lord may come that he may declare this, why the land hath perished, and is burnt up like a wilderness, which none passeth through?

13 And the Lord said: Because they have forsaken my law, which I gave them, and have not heard my voice, and have not walked in it.

14 But they have gone after the perverseness of their own heart, and after Baalim, which their fathers taught them.

15 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hosts the God of Israel: ‖ Behold I will feed this people with wormwood, and give them water of gall to drink. ‖ Infra 23. 15.

16 And I will scatter them among the nations, which they and their fathers have not known: and I will send the sword after them, till they be consumed.

17 Thus saith the Lord of hosts the God of Israel: Consider ye, and call for the mourning women, and let them come: and send to them that are wise women, and let them make haste:

18 Let them hasten and take up a lamentation for us: let our eyes shed tears, and our eyelids run down with waters.

19 For a voice of wailing is heard out of Sion: How are we wasted and greatly confounded? because we have left the land, because our dwellings are cast down.

20 Hear therefore, ye women, the word of the Lord: and let your ears receive the word of his mouth: and teach your daughters wailing: and every one her neighbour mourning.

21 For death is come up through our windows, it is entered into our houses, to destroy the children from without, the young men from the streets.

22 Speak: Thus saith the Lord: Even the carcase of man shall fall as dung upon the face of the country, and as grass behind the back of the mower, and there is none to gather it.

23 Thus saith the Lord: ‖ Let not the wise man glory in his wisdom, and let not the strong man glory in his strength, and let not the rich man glory in his riches: ‖ 1 Cor. 1. 31. 2 Cor. 10. 17.

24 But let him that glorieth glory in this, that he understandeth and knoweth me, for I am the Lord that exercise mercy, and judgment, and justice in the earth: for these things please me, saith the Lord.

25 Behold, the days come, saith the Lord, and I will visit upon every one that hath the foreskin circumcised,

26 Upon Egypt, and upon Juda, and upon Edom, and upon the children of Ammon, and upon Moab, and upon all that have their hair polled round, that dwell in the desert: for all the nations are uncircumcised in the flesh, but all the house of Israel are uncircumcised in the heart.

CHAP. X.

Neither stars nor idols are to be feared, but the great Creator of all things. The chastisement of Jerusalem for her sins.

HEAR ye the word which the Lord hath spoken concerning you, O house of Israel.

2 Thus ſaith the Lord: Learn not according to the ways of the Gentiles: and be not afraid of the ſigns of heaven, which the heathens fear:

‖ Wiſ. 13. 11. & 14. 8. 3 For the laws of people are vain: ‖ for the works of the hand of the workman hath cut a tree out of the foreſt with an ax.

4 He hath decked it with ſilver and gold: he hath put it together with nails and hammers, that it may not fall aſunder.

5 They are framed after the likeneſs of a palm-tree, and ſhall not ſpeak: they muſt be carried to be removed, becauſe they cannot go. Therefore fear them not, for they can neither do evil nor good.

‖ Micheas 7. 18. 6 ‖ There is none like to thee, O Lord: thou art great, and great is thy name in might.

‡ Apoc. 15. 4. 7 ‡ Who ſhall not fear thee, O king of nations? for thine is the glory: among all the wiſe men of the nations, and in all their kingdoms there is none like unto thee.

8 They ſhall be all proved together to be ſenſeleſs and fooliſh: the doctrine of their vanity is wood.

9 Silver ſpread into plates is brought from Tharſis, and gold from Ophaz: the work of the artificer, and of the hand of the copper-ſmith: violet and purple is their clothing: all theſe things are the work of artificers.

10 But the Lord is the true God: he is the living God, and the everlaſting king: at his wrath the earth ſhall tremble, and the nations ſhall not be able to abide his threatening.

11 Thus then ſhall you ſay to them: The gods that have not made heaven and earth, let them periſh from the earth, and from among thoſe places that are under heaven.

‖ Gen. 1. 1. Infra 51. 15. 12 ‖ He that maketh the earth by his power, that prepareth the world by his wiſdom, and ſtretcheth out the heavens by his knowledge.

‡ Pſ. 134. 7. Infra 51. 16. 13 At his voice he giveth a multitude of waters in the heaven, and lifteth up the clouds from the ends of the earth: ‡ he maketh lightnings for rain, and bringeth forth the wind out of his treaſures.

14 Every man is become a fool for knowledge, every artiſt is confounded in his graven idol: for what he hath caſt is falſe, and there is no ſpirit in them.

15 They are vain things, and a ridiculous work: in the time of their viſitation they ſhall periſh.

16 The portion of Jacob is not like theſe: for it is he who formed all things: and Iſrael is the rod of his inheritance: the Lord of hoſts is his name.

17 Gather up thy ſhame out of the land, thou that dwelleſt in a ſiege.

18 For thus ſaith the Lord: Behold I will caſt away far off the inhabitants of the land at this time: and I will afflict them, ſo that they may be found.

19 Wo is me for my deſtruction, my wound is very grievous. But I ſaid: Truly this is my own evil, and I will bear it.

20 My tabernacle is laid waſte, all my cords are broken: my children are gone out from me, and they are not: there is none to ſtretch forth my tent any more, and to ſet up my curtains.

21 Becauſe the paſtors have done fooliſhly, and have not ſought the Lord: therefore have they not underſtood, and all their flock is ſcattered.

22 Behold the ſound of a noiſe cometh, a great commotion out of the land of the north: to make the cities of Juda a deſert, and a dwelling for dragons.

23 I know, O Lord, that the way of a man is not his: neither is it in a man to walk, and to direct his ſteps.

24 Correct me, O Lord, but yet with judgment: and not in thy fury, leſt thou bring me to nothing.

25 Pour out thy indignation upon the nations that have not known thee, and upon the provinces that have not called upon thy name: becauſe they have eaten up Jacob, and devoured him, and conſumed him, and have deſtroyed his glory.

CHAP. XI.

The prophet proclaims the covenant of God: and denounces evils to the obſtinate tranſgreſſors of it. The conſpiracy of the Jews againſt him, a figure of their conſpiracy againſt Chriſt.

THE word that came from the Lord to Jeremias, ſaying:

2 Hear ye the words of this covenant, and ſpeak to the men of Juda, and to the inhabitants of Jeruſalem,

3 And thou ſhalt ſay to them: Thus ſaith the Lord the God of Iſrael: Curſed is the man that ſhall not hearken to the words of this covenant,

4 Which I commanded your fathers in the day that I brought them out of the land

---

CHAP. X. VER. 23. The way of a man is not his. The meaning is, that notwithſtanding man's free will, yet he can do no good without God's help, nor evil without his permiſſion. So that, in the preſent caſe, all the evils which Nabuchodonoſor was about to bring upon Jeruſalem, could not have come but by the will of God.

of Egypt, from the iron furnace, saying: Hear ye my voice, and do all things that I command you: and you shall be my people, and I will be your God:

5 That I may accomplish the oath which I swore to your fathers, to give them a land flowing with milk and honey, as it is this day. And I answered, and said: Amen, O Lord.

6 And the Lord said to me: Proclaim aloud all these words in the cities of Juda, and in the streets of Jerusalem, saying: Hear ye the words of this covenant, and do them:

7 For protesting I conjured your fathers in the day that I brought them out of the land of Egypt even to this day: rising early I conjured them, and said: Hearken ye to my voice:

8 And they obeyed not, nor inclined their ear: but walked every one in the perverseness of his own wicked heart: and I brought upon them all the words of this covenant, which I commanded them to do, but they did them not.

9 And the Lord said to me: A conspiracy is found among the men of Juda, and among the inhabitants of Jerusalem.

10 They are returned to the former iniquities of their fathers, who refused to hear my words: so these likewise have gone after strange gods, to serve them: the house of Israel, and the house of Juda have made void my covenant, which I made with their fathers.

11 Wherefore thus saith the Lord: Behold I will bring in evils upon them, which they shall not be able to escape: and they shall cry to me, and I will not hearken to them.

12 And the cities of Juda, and the inhabitants of Jerusalem shall go, and cry to the gods to whom they offer sacrifice, and they shall not save them in the time of their affliction.

‖ Supra 2. 28. 13 ‖ For according to the number of thy cities were thy gods, O Juda: and according to the number of the streets of Jerusalem thou hast set up altars of confusion, altars to offer sacrifice to Baalim.

‖ Supra 7. 16. ‖ Infra 14. 11. 14 ‖ Therefore do not thou pray for this people, and do not take up praise and prayer for them: for I will not hear them in the time of their cry to me, in the time of their affliction.

15 What is the meaning that my beloved hath wrought much wickedness in my house? shall the holy flesh take away from thee thy crimes, in which thou hast boasted?

16 The Lord called thy name, a plentiful olive-tree, fair, fruitful, and beautiful: at the noise of a word, a great fire was kindled in it, and the branches thereof are burnt.

17 And the Lord of hosts that planted thee, hath pronounced evil against thee: for the evils of the house of Israel, and of the house of Juda, which they have done to themselves, to provoke me, offering sacrifice to Baalim.

18 But thou, O Lord, hast shewn me, and I have known: then thou shewedst me their doings.

19 And I was as a meek lamb, that is carried to be a victim: and I knew not that they had devised counsels against me, saying: Let us put wood on his bread, and cut him off from the land of the living, and let his name be remembered no more.

‖ Infra 17. 10. & 20. 12. 20 ‖ But thou, O Lord of Sabaoth, who judgest justly, and triest the reins and the hearts, let me see thy revenge on them: for to thee have I revealed my cause.

21 Therefore thus saith the Lord to the men of Anathoth, who seek thy life, and say: Thou shalt not prophesy in the name of the Lord, and thou shalt not die in our hands.

22 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hosts: Behold I will visit upon them: their young men shall die by the sword, their sons and their daughters shall die by famine.

23 And there shall be no remains of them: for I will bring in evil upon the men of Anathoth, the year of their visitation.

CHAP. XII.

The prosperity of the wicked shall be but for a short time. The desolation of the Jews for their sins. Their return from their captivity.

‖ Ps. 51. 6. ‡ Job 21. 7. Habac. 1. 13. THOU indeed, O Lord, art just, if I plead with thee, ‖ but yet I will speak what is just to thee: ‡ Why doth the way of the wicked prosper: why is it well with all them that transgress, and do wickedly?

2 Thou hast planted them, and they have taken root: they prosper and bring forth fruit: thou art near in their mouth, and far from their reins.

3 And thou, O Lord, hast known me,

CHAP. XI. VER. 20. Sabaoth. That is, of hosts or armies, a name frequently given to God in the scriptures.

Ibid. Thy revenge. This was rather a prediction of what was to happen, with an approbation of the divine justice, than an imprecation.

thou haſt ſeen me, and proved my heart with thee: gather them together as ſheep for a ſacrifice, and prepare them for the day of ſlaughter.

4 How long ſhall the land mourn, and the herb of every field wither for the wickedneſs of them that dwell therein? The beaſts and the birds are conſumed: becauſe they have ſaid: He ſhall not ſee our laſt end.

5 If thou haſt been wearied with running with footmen, how canſt thou contend with horſes? and if thou haſt been ſecure in a land of peace, what wilt thou do in the ſwelling of the Jordan?

6 For even thy brethren, and the houſe of thy father, even they have fought againſt thee, and have cried after thee with full voice: believe them not when they ſpeak good things to thee.

7 I have forſaken my houſe, I have left my inheritance: I have given my dear ſoul into the hand of her enemies.

8 My inheritance is become to me as a lion in the wood: it hath cried out againſt me, therefore have I hated it.

9 Is my inheritance to me as a ſpeckled bird? is it as a bird dyed throughout? come ye, aſſemble yourſelves, all ye beaſts of the earth, make haſte to devour.

10 Many paſtors have deſtroyed my vineyard, they have trodden my portion under foot: they have changed my delightful portion into a deſolate wilderneſs.

11 They have laid it waſte, and it hath mourned for me. With deſolation is all the land made deſolate: becauſe there is none that conſidereth in the heart.

12 The ſpoilers are come upon all the ways of the wilderneſs, for the ſword of the Lord ſhall devour from one end of the land to the other end thereof: there is no peace for all fleſh.

13 They have ſown wheat, and reaped thorns: they have received an inheritance, and it ſhall not profit them: you ſhall be aſhamed of your fruits, becauſe of the fierce wrath of the Lord.

14 Thus ſaith the Lord againſt all my wicked neighbours, that touch the inheritance that I have ſhared out to my people Iſrael: Behold I will pluck them out of their land, and I will pluck the houſe of Juda out of the midſt of them.

15 And when I ſhall have plucked them out, I will return, and have mercy on them: and I will bring them back, every man to his inheritance, and every man into his land.

16 And it ſhall come to paſs, if they will be taught, and will learn the ways of my people, to ſwear by my name: The Lord liveth, as they have taught my people to ſwear by Baal: that they ſhall be built up in the midſt of my people.

17 But if they will not hear, I will utterly pluck out and deſtroy that nation, ſaith the Lord.

CHAP. XIII.

Under the figure of a linen girdle is foretold the deſtruction of the Jews. Their obſtinacy in ſin brings all miſeries upon them.

THUS ſaith the Lord to me: Go, and get thee a linen girdle, and thou ſhalt put it about thy loins, and ſhall not put it into water.

2 And I got a girdle according to the word of the Lord, and put it about my loins.

3 And the word of the Lord came to me the ſecond time, ſaying:

4 Take the girdle which thou haſt got, which is about thy loins, and ariſe, go to the Euphrates, and hide it there in a hole of the rock.

5 And I went, and hid it by the Euphrates, as the Lord had commanded me.

6 And it came to paſs after many days, that the Lord ſaid me: Ariſe, go to the Euphrates, and take from thence the girdle, which I commanded thee to hide there.

7 And I went to the Euphrates, and digged, and took the girdle out of the place where I had hid it: and behold the girdle was rotten, ſo that it was fit for no uſe.

8 And the word of the Lord came to me, ſaying:

9 Thus ſaith the Lord: After this manner will I make the pride of Juda, and the great pride of Jeruſalem to rot.

10 This wicked people, that will not hear my words, and that walk in the perverſeneſs of their heart, and have gone after ſtrange gods to ſerve them, and to adore them: and they ſhall be as this girdle, which is fit for no uſe.

11 For as the girdle ſticketh cloſe to the loins of a man, ſo have I brought cloſe to me all the houſe of Iſrael, and all the houſe of Juda, ſaith the Lord: that they might be my people, and for a name, and for a praiſe, and for a glory: but they would not hear.

12 Thou ſhalt ſpeak therefore to them this word: Thus ſaith the Lord the God of Iſrael: Every bottle ſhall be filled with wine. And they ſhall ſay to thee: Do we not know that every bottle ſhall be filled with wine?

13 And thou ſhalt ſay to them: Thus ſaith the Lord: Behold I will fill all the inhabitants of this land, and the kings of the race of David that sit upon his throne, and the priests, and the prophets, and all the inhabitants of Jerusalem, with drunkenness.

14 And I will scatter them every man from his brother, and fathers and sons, in like manner, saith the Lord: I will not spare, and I will not pardon: nor will I have mercy, but to destroy them.

15 Hear ye, and give ear. Be not proud, for the Lord hath spoken.

16 Give ye glory to the Lord your God, before it be dark, and before your feet stumble upon the dark mountains: you shall look for light, and he will turn it into the shadow of death, and into darkness.

17 But if you will not hear this, my soul shall weep in secret for your pride: ‖ weeping it shall weep, and my eyes shall run down with tears, because the flock of the Lord is carried away captive. ‖ Lament. 1. 2.

18 Say to the king, and to the queen: Humble yourselves, sit down: for the crown of your glory is come down from your head.

19 The cities of the south are shut up, and there is none to open them: all Juda is carried away captive with an entire captivity.

20 Lift up your eyes, and see, you that come from the north: where is the flock that is given thee, thy beautiful cattle?

21 What wilt thou say when he shall visit thee? for thou hast taught them against thee, and instructed them against thy own head: shall not sorrows lay hold on thee, as a woman in labour?

22 And if thou shalt say in thy heart: Why are these things come upon me? ‖ For the greatness of thy iniquity, thy nakedness is discovered, the soles of thy feet are defiled. ‖ Infra 30. 14.

23 If the Ethiopian can change his skin, or the leopard his spots: you also may do well, when you have learned evil.

24 And I will scatter them as stubble, which is carried away by the wind in the desert.

25 This is thy lot, and the portion of thy measure from me, saith the Lord, because thou hast forgotten me, and hast trusted in falsehood.

26 Wherefore I have also bared thy thighs against thy face, and thy shame hath appeared,

27 I have seen thy adulteries, and thy neighing, the wickedness of thy fornication: and thy abominations, upon the hills in the field. Wo to thee, Jerusalem, wilt thou not be made clean after me: how long yet?

CHAP. XIV.

A grievous famine: and the prophet's prayer on that occasion. Evils denounced to false prophets. The prophet mourns for his people.

THE word of the Lord that came to Jeremias concerning the words of the drought.

2 Judea hath mourned, and the gates thereof are fallen, and are become obscure on the ground, and the cry of Jerusalem is gone up.

3 The great ones sent their inferiors to the water: they came to draw, they found no water, they carried back their vessels empty: they were confounded and afflicted, and covered their heads.

4 For the destruction of the land, because there came no rain upon the earth, the husbandmen were confounded, they covered their heads.

5 Yea the hind also brought forth in the field, and left it: because there was no grass.

6 And they wild asses stood upon the rocks, they snuffed up the wind like dragons, their eyes failed, because there was no grass.

7 If our iniquities have testified against us, O Lord, do thou it for thy name's sake, for our rebellions are many, we have sinned against thee.

8 O expectation of Israel, the Saviour thereof in time of trouble: why wilt thou be as a stranger in the land, and as a wayfaring man turning in to lodge?

9 Why wilt thou be as a wandering man, as a mighty man that cannot save? but thou, O Lord, art among us, and thy name is called upon us, forsake us not.

10 Thus saith the Lord to this people, that have loved to move their feet, and have not rested, and have not pleased the Lord: He will now remember their iniquities, and visit their sins.

11 And the Lord said to me: ‖ Pray not for this people for their good. ‖ Supra 7. 16. & 11. 14.

12 When they fast I will not hear their prayers: and if they offer holocausts and victims, I will not receive them: for I will consume them by the sword, and by famine, and by the pestilence.

13 And I said: Ah, ah, ah, O Lord God: the prophets say to them: ‖ You shall not see the sword, and there shall be no famine among you, but he will give you true peace in this place. ‖ Supra 5. 11. Infra 23. 17.

14 And the Lord said to me: ‡ The prophets prophesy falsly in my name: I sent them not, neither have I commanded them, nor have I spoken to them: they pro- ‡ Infra 29. 9.

phesy unto you a lying vision, and divination and deceit, and the seduction of their own heart.

15 Therefore thus saith the Lord concerning the prophets that prophesy in my name, whom I did not send, that say: Sword, and famine shall not be in this land: By sword and famine shall those prophets be consumed.

16 And the people to whom they prophesy, shall be cast out in the streets of Jerusalem because of the famine and the sword, and there shall be none to bury them: they and their wives, their sons and their daughters, and I will pour out their own wickedness upon them.

17 And thou shalt speak this word to them: ‖ Let my eyes shed down tears night and day, and let them not cease, because the virgin daughter of my people is afflicted with a great affliction, with an exceeding grievous evil.

‖ Lament. 2. 16. & 2. 18.

18 If I go forth into the fields, behold the slain with the sword: and if I enter into the city, behold them that are consumed with famine. The prophet also and the priest are gone into a land which they knew not.

19 Hast thou utterly cast away Juda, or hath thy soul abhorred Sion? why then hast thou struck us, so that there is no healing for us? ‖ we have looked for peace, and there is no good: and for the time of healing, and behold trouble.

‖ Supra 8. 15.

20 We acknowledge, O Lord, our wickedness, the iniquities of our fathers, because we have sinned against thee.

21 Give us not to be a reproach, for thy name's sake, and do not disgrace in us the throne of thy glory: remember, break not thy covenant with us.

22 Are there any among the graven things of the Gentiles that can send rain? or can the heavens give showers? art not thou the Lord our God, whom we have looked for? for thou hast made all these things.

CHAP. XV.

God is determined to punish the Jews for their sins. The prophet's complaint, and God's promise to him.

AND the Lord said to me: If Moses and Samuel shall stand before me, my soul is not towards this people: cast them out from my sight, and let them go forth.

2 And if they shall say unto thee: Whither shall we go forth? thou shalt say to them: Thus saith the Lord: ‖ Such as are for death, to death: and such as are for the sword, to the sword: and such as are for famine, to famine: and such as are for captivity, to captivity.

‖ Zach. 11. 9.

3 And I will visit them with four kinds, saith the Lord: The sword to kill, and the dogs to tear, and the fowls of the air, and the beasts of the earth to devour and to destroy.

4 And I will give them up to the rage of all the kingdoms of the earth: ‖ because of Manasses the son of Ezechias the king of Juda, for all that he did in Jerusalem.

‖ 4 Kings 21. 7. & 12.

5 For who shall have pity on thee, O Jerusalem? or who shall bemoan thee? or who shall go to pray for thy peace?

6 Thou hast forsaken me, saith the Lord, thou art gone backward: and I will stretch out my hand against thee, and I will destroy thee: I am weary of intreating thee.

7 And I will scatter them with a fan in the gates of the land: I have killed and destroyed my people, and yet they are not returned from their ways.

8 Their widows are multiplied unto me above the sand of the sea: I have brought upon them against the mother of the young man a spoiler at noon-day: I have cast a terror on a sudden upon the cities.

9 ‖ She that hath borne seven is become weak, her soul hath fainted away: ‡ her sun is gone down, while it was yet day: she is confounded, and ashamed: and the residue of them I will give up to the sword in the sight of their enemies, saith the Lord.

‖ 1 Kings 2. 5.

‡ Amos 8. 9.

10 Wo is me, my mother: why hast thou borne me a man of strife, a man of contention to all the earth? I have not lent on usury, neither hath any man lent to me on usury, yet all curse me.

11 The Lord saith to me: Assuredly it shall be well with thy remnant, assuredly I shall help thee in the time of affliction, and in the time of tribulation against the enemy.

12 Shall iron be allied with the iron from the north, and the brass?

13 Thy riches and thy treasures I will give unto spoil for nothing, because of all thy sins, even in all thy borders.

14 And I will bring thy enemies out of a land which thou knowest not: for a fire is kindled in my rage, it shall burn upon you.

15 O Lord, thou knowest, remember me,

CHAP. XV. VER. 12. Shall iron be allied, &c. Shall the iron, that is, the strength of Judea, stand against the stronger iron of the north, that is, of Babylon: or enter into an alliance upon equal footing with it? no certainly: but it must be broken by it.

and visit me, and defend me from them that persecute me, do not defend me in thy patience: know that for thy sake I have suffered reproach.

16 Thy words were found, and I did eat them, and thy word was to me a joy and gladness of my heart: for thy name is called upon me, O Lord God of hosts.

‖ Ps. 1. 1. & 25. 4. 17 ‖ I sat not in the assembly of jesters, nor did I make a boast of the presence of thy hand: I sat alone, because thou hast filled me with threats.

‡ Infra 30. 15. 18 ‡ Why is my sorrow become perpetual, and my wound desperate so as to refuse to be healed? it is become to me as the falshood of deceitful waters that cannot be trusted.

19 Therefore thus saith the Lord: If thou wilt be converted, I will convert thee, and thou shalt stand before my face: and if thou wilt separate the precious from the vile, thou shalt be as my mouth: they shall be turned to thee, and thou shalt not be turned to them.

20 And I will make thee to this people as a strong wall of brass: and they shall fight against thee, and shall not prevail: for I am with thee to save thee, and to deliver thee, saith the Lord.

21 And I will deliver thee out of the hand of the wicked, and I will redeem thee out of the hand of the mighty.

CHAP. XVI.

The prophet is forbid to marry. The Jews shall be utterly ruined for their idolatry: but shall at length be released from their captivity, and the Gentiles shall be converted.

AND the word of the Lord came to me, saying:

2 Thou shalt not take thee a wife, neither shalt thou have sons, and daughters in this place.

3 For thus saith the Lord concerning the sons and daughters, that are born in this place, and concerning their mothers that bore them: and concerning their fathers, of whom they were born in this land:

4 They shall die by the death of grievous illnesses: they shall not be lamented, and they shall not be buried, they shall be as dung upon the face of the earth: and they shall be consumed with the sword, and with famine: and their carcasses shall be meat for the fowls of the air, and for the beasts of the earth.

5 For thus saith the Lord: Enter not into the house of feasting, neither go thou to mourn, nor to comfort them: because I have taken away my peace from this people, saith the Lord, my mercy and commiserations.

6 Both the great and the little shall die in this land: they shall not be buried nor lamented, and men shall not cut themselves, nor make themselves bald for them.

7 And they shall not break bread among them to him that mourneth, to comfort him for the dead: neither shall they give them to drink of the cup, to comfort them for their father and mother.

8 And do not thou go into the house of feasting, to sit with them, and to eat and drink:

9 For thus saith the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel: Behold I will take away out of this place in your sight, and in your days the voice of mirth, and the voice of gladness, the voice of the bridegroom, and the voice of the bride.

10 And when thou shalt tell this people all these words, and they shall say to thee: ‖ Wherefore hath the Lord pronounced against us all this great evil? what is our iniquity? and what is our sin, that we have sinned against the Lord our God? ‖ Supra 5. 19.

11 Thou shalt say to them: Because your fathers forsook me, saith the Lord: and went after strange gods, and served them, and adored them: and they forsook me, and kept not my law.

12 ‖ And you also have done worse than your fathers: for behold every one of you walketh after the perverseness of his evil heart, so as not to hearken to me. ‖ Supra 7. 26.

13 So I will cast you forth out of this land, into a land which you know not, nor your fathers: and there you shall serve strange gods day and night, which shall not give you any rest.

14 Therefore behold the days come, saith the Lord, when it shall be said no more: The Lord liveth, that brought forth the children of Israel out of the land of Egypt:

15 But, The Lord liveth, that brought the children of Israel out of the land of the north, and out of all the lands to which I cast them out: and I will bring them again into their land, which I gave to their fathers.

16 Behold I will send many fishers, saith the Lord, and they shall fish them: and after this I will send them many hunters, and they shall hunt them from every mountain, and from every hill, and out of the holes of the rocks.

VER. 15. Do not defend me in thy patience. That is, let not thy patience and long-suffering, which thou usest towards sinners, keep thee from making haste to my assistance.

17 For my eyes are upon all their ways: they are not hid from my face, and their iniquity hath not been hid from my eyes.

18 And I will repay first their double iniquities, and their sins: because they have defiled my land with the carcasses of their idols, and they have filled my inheritance with their abominations.

19 O Lord, my might, and my strength, and my refuge in the day of tribulation: to thee the Gentiles shall come from the ends of the earth, and shall say: Surely our fathers have possessed lies, a vanity which hath not profited them.

20 Shall a man make gods unto himself, and they are no gods?

21 Therefore behold I will this once cause them to know, I will shew them my hand and my power: and they shall know that my name is the Lord.

CHAP. XVII.

For their obstinacy in sin the Jews shall be led captive. He is cursed that trusteth in flesh: God alone searcheth the heart, giving to every one as he deserves. The prophet prayeth to be delivered from his enemies: and preacheth up the observance of the sabbath.

THE sin of Juda is written with a pen of iron, with the point of a diamond, it is graven upon the table of their heart, upon the horns of their altars.

2 When their children shall remember their altars, and their groves, and their green trees upon the high mountains,

3 Sacrificing in the field: I will give thy strength, and all thy treasures to the spoil, and thy high places for sin in all thy borders.

4 And thou shalt be left stript of thy inheritance, which I gave thee: and I will make thee serve thy enemies in a land which thou knowest not: because thou hast kindled a fire in my wrath, it shall burn for ever.

‡ Isai. 30. 2. & 31. 1. Infra 48. 7.

5 Thus saith the Lord: ‡ Cursed be the man that trusteth in man, and maketh flesh his arm, and whose heart departeth from the Lord.

‖ Infra 48. 6.

6 ‖ For he shall be like tamaric in the desert, and he shall not see when good shall come: but he shall dwell in drineſs in the desert, in a salt land, and not inhabited.

7 Blessed be the man that trusteth in the Lord, and the Lord shall be his confidence.

‡ Psal. 1. 3.

8 ‡ And he shall be as a tree that is planted by the waters, that spreadeth out its roots towards moisture: and it shall not fear when the heat cometh. And the leaf thereof shall be green, and in the time of drought it shall not be solicitous, neither shall it cease at any time to bring forth fruit.

9 The heart is perverse above all things, and unsearchable, who can know it?

‖ 1 Kings 16. 7. Psal 7. 10. Apoc. 2. 23.

10 I am the Lord ‖ who search the heart, and prove the reigns: who give to every one according to his way, and according to the fruit of his devices.

11 As the partridge hath hatched eggs which she did not lay: so is he that hath gathered riches, and not by right: in the midst of his days he shall leave them, and in his latter end he shall be a fool.

12 A high and glorious throne from the beginning is the place of our sanctification:

13 O Lord, the hope of Israel: all that forsake thee shall be confounded: they that depart from thee, shall be written in the earth: because they have forsaken the Lord the vein of living waters.

14 Heal me, O Lord, and I shall be healed: save me, and I shall be saved: for thou art my praise.

15 Behold they say to me: Where is the word of the Lord? let it come.

16 And I am not troubled, following thee for my pastor, and I have not desired the day of man, thou knowest. That which went out of my lips, hath been right in thy sight.

17 Be not thou a terror unto me, thou art my hope in the day of affliction.

18 Let them be confounded that persecute me, and let not me be confounded: let them be afraid, and let not me be afraid: bring upon them the day of affliction, and with a double destruction, destroy them.

19 Thus saith the Lord to me: Go, and stand in the gate of the children of the people, by which the kings of Juda come in, and go out, and in all the gates of Jerusalem:

20 And thou shalt say to them: Hear the word of the Lord, ye kings of Juda, and all Juda, and all the inhabitants of Jerusalem, that enter in by these gates.

21 Thus saith the Lord: Take heed to your souls, and carry no burdens on the sabbath day: and bring them not in by the gates of Jerusalem.

22 And do not bring burdens out of your houses on the sabbath-day, neither do

CHAP. XVII. VER. 6. Tamaric. A barren shrub that grows in the driest parts of the wilderness.

VER. 18. Let them be confounded, &c. Such expressions as these in the writings of the prophets, are not to be understood as imprecations proceeding from malice or desire of revenge; but as prophetic predictions of evils that were about to fall upon impenitent sinners, and approbations of the ways of divine justice.

ye any work: ſanctify the ſabbath-day, as I commanded your fathers.

23 But they did not hear, nor inclined their ear: but hardened their neck, that they might not hear me, and might not receive inſtruction.

24 And it ſhall come to paſs: if you will hearken to me, ſaith the Lord, to bring in no burdens by the gates of this city on the ſabbath-day: and if you will ſanctify the ſabbath-day, to do no work therein:

25 Then ſhall there enter in by the gates of this city kings and princes, ſitting upon the throne of David, and riding in chariots and on horſes, they and their princes, the men of Juda, and the inhabitants of Jeruſalem: and this city ſhall be inhabited for ever.

26 And they ſhall come from the cities of Juda, and from the places round about Jeruſalem, and from the land of Benjamin, and from the plains, and from the mountains, and from the ſouth, bringing holocauſts, and victims, and ſacrifices, and frankincenſe, and they ſhall bring in an offering into the houſe of the Lord.

27 But if you will not hearken to me, to ſanctify the ſabbath-day, and not to carry burdens, and not to bring them in by the gates of Jeruſalem on the ſabbath-day: I will kindle a fire in the gates thereof, and it ſhall devour the houſes of Jeruſalem, and it ſhall not be quenched.

CHAP. XVIII.

As clay in the hand of the potter, ſo is Iſrael in God's hand. He pardoneth penitents, and puniſheth the obſtinate. They conſpire againſt Jeremias, for which he denounceth to them the miſeries that hang over them.

THE word that came to Jeremias from the Lord, ſaying:

2 Ariſe, and go down into the potter's houſe, and there thou ſhalt hear my words.

3 And I went down into the potter's houſe, and behold he was doing a work on the wheel.

4 And the veſſel was broken which he was making of clay with his hands: and turning he made another veſſel, as it ſeemed good in his eyes to make it.

5 Then the word of the Lord came to me, ſaying:

6 ‖ Cannot I do with you, as this potter, O houſe of Iſrael, ſaith the Lord? behold as clay is in the hand of the potter, ſo are you in my hand, O houſe of Iſrael.

‖ Iſai. 45. 9. Rom. 9. 20.

7 I will ſuddenly ſpeak againſt a nation, and againſt a kingdom, ‡ to root out, and to pull down, and to deſtroy it.

‡ Supra 1. 10.

8 If that nation againſt which I have ſpoken, ſhall repent of their evil, I alſo will repent of the evil that I have thought to do to them.

9 And I will ſuddenly ſpeak of a nation and of a kingdom, to build up and plant it.

10 If it ſhall do evil in my ſight, that it obey not my voice: I will repent of the good that I have ſpoken to do unto it.

11 Now therefore tell the men of Juda, and the inhabitants of Jeruſalem, ſaying: Thus ſaith the Lord: Behold I frame evil againſt you, and deviſe a device againſt you: ‖ let every man of you return from his evil way, and make ye your ways and your doings good.

‖ 4 Kings 17. 13. Infra 25. 5. & 35. 15. Jonas 3. 9.

12 And they ſaid: We have no hopes: for we will go after our own thoughts, and we will do every one according to the perverſeneſs of his evil heart.

13 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord: Aſk among the nations: Who hath heard ſuch horrible things, as the virgin of Iſrael hath done to exceſs?

14 Shall the ſnow of Libanus fail from the rock of the field? or can the cold waters that guſh out and run down, be taken away?

15 Becauſe my people have forgotten me, ſacrificing in vain, and ſtumbling in their ways, in ancient paths, to walk by them in a way not trodden:

16 ‖ That their land might be given up to deſolation, and to a perpetual hiſſing: every one that ſhall paſs by it, ſhall be aſtoniſhed, and wag his head.

‖ Infra 19. 8. & 49. 13 & 50. 13.

17 As a burning wind will I ſcatter them before the enemy: I will ſhew them the back, and not the face in the day of their deſtruction.

18 And they ſaid: Come, and let us invent devices againſt Jeremias: for the law ſhall not periſh from the prieſt, nor counſel from the wiſe, nor the word from the prophet: come, and let us ſtrike him with the tongue, and let us give no heed to all his words.

19 Give heed to me, O Lord, and hear the voice of my adverſaries.

20 Shall evil be rendered for good, becauſe they have digged a pit for my ſoul? Remember that I have ſtood in thy ſight, to ſpeak good for them, and to turn away thy indignation from them.

famine, and bring them into the hands of the ſword: let their wives be bereaved of children, and widows: and let their huſbands be ſlain by death: let their young men be ſtabbed with the ſword in battle.

22 Let a cry be heard out of their houſes: for thou ſhalt bring the robber upon them ſuddenly: becauſe they have digged a pit to take me, and have hid ſnares for my feet.

23 But thou, O Lord, knoweſt all their counſel againſt me unto death: forgive not their iniquity, and let not their ſin be blotted out from thy ſight: let them be overthrown before thy eyes, in the time of thy wrath do thou deſtroy them.

CHAP. XIX.

Under the type of breaking a potter's veſſel, the prophet foreſheweth the deſolation of the Jews for their ſins.

THUS ſaith the Lord: Go, and take a potter's earthen bottle, and take of the ancients of the people, and of the ancients of the prieſts:

2 And go forth into the valley of the ſon of Ennom, which is by the entry of the earthen gate: and there thou ſhalt proclaim the words, that I ſhall tell thee.

3 And thou ſhalt ſay: Hear the word of the Lord, O ye kings of Juda, and ye inhabitants of Jeruſalem: Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, the God of Iſrael: Behold I will bring an affliction upon this place: ſo that whoſoever ſhall hear it, his ears ſhall tingle:

4 Becauſe they have forſaken me, and have profaned this place: and have ſacrificed therein to ſtrange gods, whom neither they, nor their fathers knew, nor the kings of Juda: and they have filled this place with the blood of innocents.

5 And they have built the high places of Baalim, to burn their children with fire for a holocauſt to Baalim: which I did not command, nor ſpeak of, neither did it once come into my mind.

6 Therefore behold the days come, ſaith the Lord, that this place ſhall no more be called Topheth, nor the valley of the ſon of Ennom, but the valley of ſlaughter.

7 And I will defeat the counſel of Juda and of Jeruſalem in this place: and I will deſtroy them with the ſword in the ſight of their enemies, and by the hands of them that ſeek their lives: and I will give their carcaſſes to be meat for the fowls of the air, and for the beaſts of the earth.

8 || And I will make this city an aſtoniſhment, and a hiſſing: every one that ſhall paſs by it, ſhall be aſtoniſhed, and ſhall hiſs becauſe of all the plagues thereof. || Supra 18. 16. Infra 49. 13. & 50. 13.

9 And I will feed them with the fleſh of their ſons, and with the fleſh of their daughters: and they ſhall eat every one the fleſh of his friend in the ſiege, and in the diſtreſs wherewith their enemies, and they that ſeek their lives, ſhall ſtraiten them.

10 And thou ſhalt break the bottle in the ſight of the men that ſhall go with thee.

11 And thou ſhalt ſay to them: Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts: Even ſo will I break this people, and this city, as the potter's veſſel is broken, which cannot be made whole again: and they ſhall be buried in Topheth, becauſe there is no other place to bury in.

12 Thus will I do to this place, ſaith the Lord, and to the inhabitants thereof: and I will make this city as Topheth.

13 And the houſes of Jeruſalem, and the houſes of the kings of Juda ſhall be unclean as the place of Topheth: all the houſes upon whoſe roofs they have ſacrificed to all the hoſt of heaven, and have poured out drink-offerings to ſtrange gods.

14 Then Jeremias came from Topheth, whither the Lord hath ſent him to propheſy, and he ſtood in the court of the houſe of the Lord, and ſaid to all the people:

15 Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, the God of Iſrael: Behold I will bring in upon this city, and upon all the cities thereof all the evils that I have ſpoken againſt it: becauſe they have hardened their necks, that they might not hear my words.

CHAP. XX.

The prophet is perſecuted: he denounces captivity to his perſecutors, and bemoans himſelf.

NOW Phaſſur the ſon of Emmer the prieſt, who was appointed chief in the houſe of the Lord, heard Jeremias propheſying theſe words.

2 And Phaſſur ſtruck Jeremias the prophet, and put him in the ſtocks, that were in the upper gate of Benjamin, in the houſe of the Lord.

3 And when it was light the next day, Phaſſur brought Jeremias out of the ſtocks. And Jeremias ſaid to him: The Lord hath not called thy name Phaſſur, but fear on every ſide.

CHAP. XX. VER. 3. Phaſſur. This name ſignifies increaſe and principality: and therefore is here changed to Magor-Miſſabib, or Fear on every ſide: to denote the evils that ſhould come upon him in puniſhment of his oppoſing the word of God.

4 For thus ſaith the Lord: Behold I will deliver thee up to fear, thee and all thy friends: and they ſhall fall by the ſword of their enemies, and thy eyes ſhall ſee it, and I will give all Juda into the hand of the king of Babylon: and he ſhall carry them away to Babylon, and ſhall ſtrike them with the ſword.

5 And I will give all the ſubſtance of this city, and all its labour, and every precious thing thereof, and all the treaſures of the kings of Juda will I give into the hands of their enemies: and they ſhall pillage them, and take them away, and carry them to Babylon.

6 But thou Phaſſur, and all that dwell in thy houſe, ſhall go into captivity, and thou ſhalt go to Babylon, and there thou ſhalt die, and there thou ſhalt be buried, thou and all thy friends, to whom thou haſt propheſied a lie.

7 Thou haſt deceived me, O Lord, and I am deceived: thou haſt been ſtronger than I, and thou haſt prevailed: I am become a laughing-ſtock all the day, all ſcoff at me.

8 For I am ſpeaking now this long time, crying out againſt iniquity, and I often proclaim devaſtation: and the word of the Lord is made a reproach to me, and a deriſion all the day.

9 Then I ſaid: I will not make mention of him, nor ſpeak any more in his name: and there came in my heart as a burning fire, ſhut up in my bones, and I was wearied, not being able to bear it.

10 For I heard the reproaches of many, and terror on every ſide: Perſecute him, and let us Perſecute him: from all the men, that were my familiars, and continued at my ſide: if by any means he may be deceived, and we may prevail againſt him, and be revenged on him.

11 But the Lord is with me as a ſtrong warrior: therefore they that perſecute me ſhall fall, and ſhall be weak: they ſhall be greatly confounded, ‖ becauſe they have not underſtood the everlaſting reproach, which never ſhall be effaced.

‖ Infra 23. 40.

12 And thou, O Lord of hoſts, ‡ prover of the juſt, who ſeeſt the reins and the heart: let me ſee, I beſeech thee, thy vengeance on them: for to thee I have laid open my cauſe.

‡ Supra 11. 20. & 17. 10.

13 Sing ye to the Lord, praiſe the Lord: becauſe he hath delivered the ſoul of the poor out of the hand of the wicked.

14 ‖ Curſed be the day, wherein I was born: let not the day in which my mother bore me, be bleſſed.

‖ Job 3.

15 Curſed be the man that brought the tidings to my father, ſaying: A man-child is born to thee: and made him greatly rejoice.

16 Let that man be as the cities which the Lord hath overthrown, and hath not repented: let him hear a cry in the morning, and howling at noon-tide:

17 Who ſlew me not from the womb, that my mother might have been my grave, and her womb an everlaſting conception.

18 Why came I out of the womb, to ſee labour and ſorrow, and that my days ſhould be ſpent in confuſion?

CHAP. XXI.

The prophet's anſwer to the meſſengers of Sedecias, when Jeruſalem was beſieged.

THE word that came to Jeremias from the Lord, when king Sedecias ſent unto him Phaſſur the ſon of Melchias, and Sophonias the ſon of Maaſias the prieſt, ſaying:

2 Enquire of the Lord for us, for Nabuchodonoſor king of Babylon maketh war againſt us: if ſo be the Lord will deal with us according to all his wonderful works, that he may depart from us.

3 And Jeremias ſaid to them: Thus ſhall you ſay to Sedecias:

4 Thus ſaith the Lord, the God of Iſrael: Behold I will turn back the weapons of war that are in your hands, and with which you fight againſt the king of Babylon, and the Chaldeans, that beſiege you round about the walls: and I will gather them together in the midſt of this city.

5 And I myſelf will fight againſt you with an outſtretched hand, and with a ſtrong arm, and in fury, and in indignation, and in great wrath.

6 And I will ſtrike the inhabitants of this city, men and beaſts ſhall die of a great peſtilence.

7 And after this, ſaith the Lord, I will give Sedecias the king of Juda, and his ſervants, and his people, and ſuch as are left

VER. 7. Thou haſt deceived, &c. The meaning of the prophet, is not to charge God with any untruth: but what he calls deceiving, was only the concealing from him, when he accepted of the prophetical commiſſion, the greatneſs of the evils which the execution of that commiſſion was to bring upon him.

VER. 12. Let me ſee, &c. This prayer proceeded not from hatred or ill-will, but zeal of juſtice.

VER. 14. Curſed be the day, &c. In theſe, and the following words of the prophet, there is a certain figure of ſpeech to expreſs with more energy the greatneſs of the evils to which his birth had expoſed him.

in this city from the peſtilence, and the ſword, and the famine, into the hand of Nabuchodonoſor the king of Babylon, and into the hand of their enemies, and into the hand of them that ſeek their life, and he ſhall ſtrike them with the edge of the ſword, and he ſhall not be moved to pity, nor ſpare them, nor ſhew mercy to them.

8 And to this people thou ſhalt ſay: Thus ſaith the Lord: Behold I ſet before you the way of life, and the way of death.

‖ Infra 38. 2. 9 ‖ He that ſhall abide in this city, ſhall die by the ſword, and by the famine, and by the peſtilence: but he that ſhall go out, and flee over to the Chaldeans, that beſiege you, ſhall live, and his life ſhall be to him as a ſpoil.

10 For I have ſet my face againſt this city for evil, and not for good, ſaith the Lord: it ſhall be given into the hand of the king of Babylon, and he ſhall burn it with fire.

11 And to the houſe of the king of Juda: Hear ye the word of the Lord,

‖ Infra 22. 3. 12 O houſe of David, thus ſaith the Lord: ‖ Judge ye judgment in the morning, and deliver him that is oppreſſed by violence out of the hand of the oppreſſor: leſt my indignation go forth like a fire, and be kindled, and there be none to quench it, becauſe of the evil of your ways.

13 Behold I come to thee that dwelleſt in a valley upon a rock above a plain, ſaith the Lord: and you ſay: Who ſhall ſtrike us? and who ſhall enter into our houſes?

14 But I will viſit upon you according to the fruit of your doings, ſaith the Lord: and I will kindle a fire in the foreſt thereof: and it ſhall devour all things round about it.

CHAP. XXII.

An exhortation both to king and people to return to God. The ſentence of God upon Joachaz, Joakim and Jechonias.

THUS ſaith the Lord: Go down to the houſe of the king of Juda, and there thou ſhalt ſpeak this word,

2 And thou ſhalt ſay: Hear the word of the Lord, O king of Juda, that ſitteſt upon the throne of David: thou and thy ſervants; and thy people, who enter in by theſe gates.

‖ Supra 21. 12. 3 Thus ſaith the Lord: ‖ Execute judgment and juſtice, and deliver him that is oppreſſed out of the hand of the oppreſſor: and afflict not the ſtranger, the fatherleſs and the widow, nor oppreſs them unjuſtly: and ſhed not innocent blood in this place.

4 For if you will do this thing indeed, then ſhall there enter in by the gates of this houſe, kings of the race of David ſitting upon his throne, and riding in chariots and on horſes, they and their ſervants, and their people.

5 But if you will not hearken to theſe words: I ſwear by myſelf, ſaith the Lord, that this houſe ſhall become a deſolation.

6 For thus ſaith the Lord to the houſe of the king of Juda: Thou art to me Galaad the head of Libanus: yet ſurely I will make thee a wilderneſs, and cities, not habitable.

7 And I will prepare againſt thee the deſtroyer and his weapons: and they ſhall cut down thy choſen cedars, and ſhall caſt them headlong into the fire.

‖ Deut. 29. 24. 3 Kings 9. 8. 8 And many nations ſhall paſs by this city: and they ſhall ſay every man to his neighbour: ‖ Why hath the Lord done ſo to this great city?

9 And they ſhall anſwer: Becauſe they have forſaken the covenant of the Lord their God, and have adored ſtrange gods, and ſerved them.

10 Weep not for him that is dead, nor bemoan him with your tears: lament him that goeth away, for he ſhall return no more, nor ſee his native country.

11 For thus ſaith the Lord to Sellum the ſon of Joſias the king of Juda, who reigned inſtead of his father, who went forth out of this place: He ſhall return hither no more:

12 But in the place, to which I have removed him, there ſhall he die, and he ſhall not ſee this land any more.

13 Wo to him that buildeth up his houſe by injuſtice, and his chambers not in judgment: that will oppreſs his friend without cauſe, and will not pay him his wages.

14 Who ſaith: I will build me a wide

CHAP. XXI. VER. 13. To thee that dwelleſt, &c. He ſpeaks to Jeruſalem, confiding in the ſtrength of her ſituation upon rocks, ſurrounded with a deep valley.

CHAP. XXII. VER. 1. Go down, &c. The contents of this chapter are of a more ancient date than thoſe of the foregoing chapter: for the order of time is not always obſerved in the writings of the prophets.

VER. 6. Galaad the head of Libanus. By Galaad, a rich and fruitful country, is here ſignified the royal palace of the kings of the houſe of David: by Libanus, a high mountain abounding in cedar-trees, the populous city of Jeruſalem.

VER. 7. Prepare. Literally, ſanctify.

VER. 10. Weep not for him that is dead, &c. He means the good king Joſias, who by death was taken away, ſo as not to ſee the miſeries of his country.

house, and large chambers: who openeth to himself windows, and maketh roofs of cedar, and painteth them with vermilion.

15 Shalt thou reign, because thou compares't thyself to the cedar? did not thy father eat and drink, and do judgment and justice, and it was then well with him?

16 He judged the cause of the poor and needy for his own good: was it not therefore because he knew me, saith the Lord?

17 But thy eyes and thy heart are set upon covetousness, and upon shedding innocent blood, and upon oppression, and running after evil works.

18 Therefore thus saith the Lord concerning Joakim the son of Josias king of Juda: They shall not mourn for him, Alas my brother, and alas sister: they shall not lament for him, Alas my lord, or alas the noble one.

19 He shall be buried with the burial of an ass, rotten and cast forth ‖ without the gates of Jerusalem.

‖ Infra 36. 30.

20 Go up to Libanus, and cry: and lift up thy voice in Basan, and cry to them that pass by, for all thy lovers are destroyed.

21 I spoke to thee in thy prosperity: and thou saidst: I will not hear: this hath been thy way from thy youth, because thou hast not heard my voice.

22 The wind shall feed all thy pastors, and thy lovers shall go into captivity: and then shalt thou be confounded, and ashamed of all thy wickedness.

23 Thou that sittest in Libanus, and makest thy nest in the cedars, how hast thou mourned when sorrows came upon thee, as the pains of a woman in labour?

24 As I live, saith the Lord, if Jechonias the son of Joakim the king of Juda were a ring on my right head, I would pluck him thence.

25 And I will give thee into the hand of them that seek thy life, and into the hand of them whose face thou feares't, and into the hand of Nabuchodonosor king of Babylon, and into the hand of the Chaldeans.

26 And I will send thee, and thy mother that bore thee, into a strange country, in which you were not born, and there you shall die:

27 And they shall not return into the land, whereunto they lift up their mind to return thither.

28 Is this man Jechonias an earthen and a broken vessel? is he a vessel wherein is no pleasure? why are they cast out, he and his seed, and are cast into a land which they know not?

29 O earth, earth, earth, hear the word of the Lord.

30 Thus saith the Lord: Write this man barren, a man that shall not prosper in his days: for there shall not be a man of his seed that shall sit upon the throne of David, and have power any more in Juda.

CHAP. XXIII.

God reproves evil governors; and promises to send good pastors; and Christ himself the prince of the pastors. He inveighs against false prophets preaching without being sent.

‖ WO to the pastors, that destroy and tear the sheep of my pasture, saith the Lord. ‖ Ezec. 13. 3. & 34. 2.

2 Therefore thus saith the Lord the God of Israel to the pastors that feed my people: You have scattered my flock, and driven them away, and have not visited them: behold I will visit upon you for the evil of your doings, saith the Lord.

3 And I will gather together the remnant of my flock, out of all the lands into which I have cast them out: and I will make them return to their own fields, and they shall increase and be multiplied.

4 ‖ And I will set up pastors over them, and they shall feed them: they shall fear no more, and they shall not be dismayed: and none shall be wanting of their number, saith the Lord. ‖ Supra 3. 15.

5 ‖ Behold the days come, saith the Lord, and I will raise up to David a just branch: and a king shall reign, and shall be wise: and shall execute judgment and justice in the earth. ‖ Isai. 4. 2 & 40. 11. & 45. 8. Infra 33. 14. Ezec. 34. 10. 11.

6 In those ‡ days shall Juda be saved, and Israel shall dwell confidently: and this is the name that they shall call him: The Lord our just one. Dan. 9. 24. John 1. 45. ‡ Deut. 33. 28.

7 Therefore behold the days come, saith the Lord, and they shall say no more: The Lord liveth, who brought up the children of Israel out of the land of Egypt:

8 But, ‖ The Lord liveth, who hath brought out, and brought hither the seed of the house of Israel from the land of the north, and out of all the lands, to which I had cast them forth: and they shall dwell in their own land. ‖ Supra 16. 14.

VER. 30. Write this man barren. That is, childness: not that he had no children, but that his children should never sit on the throne of Juda.

9 To the prophets: My heart is broken within me, all my bones tremble: I am become as a drunken man, and as a man full of wine, at the preſence of the Lord, and at the preſence of his holy words.

10 Becauſe the land is full of adulterers, becauſe the land hath mourned by reaſon of curſing, the fields of the deſert are dried up: and their courſe is become evil, and their ſtrength unlike.

11 For the prophet and the prieſt are defiled: and in my houſe I have found their wickedneſs, ſaith the Lord.

12 Therefore their way ſhall be as a ſlippery way in the dark: for they ſhall be driven on, and fall therein: for I will bring evils upon them, the year of their viſitation, ſaith the Lord.

13 And I have ſeen folly in the prophets of Samaria: they propheſied in Baal, and deceived my people Iſrael.

14 And I have ſeen the likeneſs of adulterers, and the way of lying in the prophets of Jeruſalem: and they ſtrengthened the hands of the wicked, that no man ſhould return from his evil doings: they are all become unto me as Sodom, and the inhabitants thereof as Gomorrha.

15 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts to the prophets: ‖ Behold I will feed them with wormwood, and will give them gall to drink: for from the prophets of Jeruſalem corruption is gone forth into all the land.

‖ Supra 9. 15.

16 Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts: ‖ Hearken not to the words of the prophets that propheſy to you, and deceive you: they ſpeak a viſion of their own heart, and not out of the mouth of the Lord.

‖ Infra 27. 9. & 29. 8.

17 They ſay to them that blaſpheme me: The Lord hath ſaid: ‖ You ſhall have peace: and to every one that walketh in the perverſeneſs of his own heart, they have ſaid: No evil ſhall come upon you.

‖ Supra 5. 12. & 14. 13.

18 For who hath ſtood in the counſel of the Lord, and hath ſeen and heard his word? Who hath conſidered his word and heard it.

19 † Behold the whirlwind of the Lord's indignation ſhall come forth, and a tempeſt ſhall break out and come upon the head of the wicked.

† Infra 30. 14.

20 The wrath of the Lord ſhall not return till he execute it, and till he accompliſh the thought of his heart: in the latter days you ſhall underſtand his counſel.

21 ‖ I did not ſend prophets, yet they ran: I have not ſpoken to them, yet they propheſied.

‖ Infra 27. 15. & 29. 9.

22 If they had ſtood in my counſel, and had made my words known to my people, I ſhould have turned them from their evil way, and from their wicked doings.

23 Am I, think ye, a God at hand, ſaith the Lord, and not a God afar off?

24 Shall a man be hid in ſecret places, and I not ſee him, ſaith the Lord? do not I fill heaven and earth, ſaith the Lord?

25 I have heard what the prophets ſaid, that propheſy lies in my name, and ſay: I have dreamed, I have dreamed.

26 How long ſhall this be in the heart of the prophets that propheſy lies, and that propheſy the deluſions of their own heart?

27 Who ſeek to make my people forget my name through their dreams, which they tell every man to his neighbour: as their fathers forgot my name for Baal.

28 The prophet that hath a dream, let him tell a dream: and he that hath my word, let him ſpeak my word with truth: what hath the chaff to do with the wheat, ſaith the Lord?

29 Are not my words as a fire, ſaith the Lord: and as a hammer that breaketh the rock in pieces?

30 Therefore behold I am againſt the prophets, ſaith the Lord: who ſteal my words every one from his neighbour.

31 Behold I am againſt the prophets, ſaith the Lord: who uſe their tongues, and ſay: The Lord ſaith it.

32 Behold I am againſt the prophets that have lying dreams, ſaith the Lord: and tell them, and cauſe my people to err by their lying, and by their wonders: when I ſent them not, nor commanded them, who have not profited this people at all, ſaith the Lord.

33 If therefore this people, or the prophet, or the prieſt ſhall aſk thee, ſaying: What is the burden of the Lord? thou ſhalt ſay to them: You are the burden: for I will caſt you away, ſaith the Lord.

34 And as for the prophet, and the prieſt, and the people that ſhall ſay: The burden of the Lord: I will viſit upon that man, and upon his houſe.

35 Thus ſhall you ſay every one to his neighbour and to his brother: What hath the Lord anſwered? and what hath the Lord ſpoken?

36 And the burden of the Lord ſhall be mentioned no more, for every man's word ſhall be his burden: for you have perverted

CHAP. XXIII. VER. 34. Burden of the Lord. This expreſſion is here rejected and diſallowed, at leaſt for thoſe times: becauſe it was then uſed in mockery and contempt by the falſe prophets, and unbelieving people, who ridiculed the repeated threats of Jeremias under the name of his burdens.

the words of the living God, of the Lord of hosts our God.

37 Thus shalt thou say to the prophet: What hath the Lord answered thee? and what hath the Lord spoken?

38 But if you shall say: The burden of the Lord: therefore thus saith the Lord: Because you have said this word: The burden of the Lord: and I have sent to you, saying: Say not, The burden of the Lord:

39 Therefore behold I will take you away carrying you, and will forsake you, and the city which I gave to you, and to your fathers, out of my presence.

|| Supra 20. 11. 40 || And I will bring an everlasting reproach upon you, and a perpetual shame, which shall never be forgotten.

CHAP. XXIV.

Under the type of good and bad figs, he foretells the restoration of the Jews that had been carried away captive with Jechonias, and the desolation of those that were left behind.

THE Lord shewed me: and behold two baskets full of figs, set before the temple of the Lord: after that * Nabuchodonosor king of Babylon had carried away Jechonias the son of Joakim the king of Juda, and his chief men, and the craftsmen, and engravers of Jerusalem, and had brought them to Babylon.

* A. M. 3405. Ante C. 599.

2 One basket had very good figs, like the figs of the first season: and the other basket had very bad figs, which could not be eaten, because they were bad.

3 And the Lord said to me: What seest thou, Jeremias? And I said: Figs, the good figs, very good: and the bad figs, very bad, which cannot be eaten because they are bad.

4 And the word of the Lord came to me, saying:

5 Thus saith the Lord the God of Israel: Like these good figs, so will I regard the captives of Juda, whom I have sent forth out of this place into the land of the Chaldeans, for their good.

6 And I will set my eyes upon them to be pacified, and I will bring them again into this land: and I will build them up, and not pull them down: and I will plant them, and not pluck them up.

7 And I will give them a heart to know me, that I am the Lord: || and they shall be my people, and I will be their God: because they shall return to me with their whole heart.

|| Supra 7. 2,3. Infra 18. 6.

8 || And as the very bad figs, that cannot be eaten, because they are bad: thus saith the Lord: So will I give Sedecias the king of Juda, and his princes, and the residue of Jerusalem, that have remained in this city, and that dwell in the land of Egypt.

|| Infra 29. 17.

9 And I will deliver them up to vexation, and affliction, to all the kingdoms of the earth: to be a reproach, and a by-word, and a proverb, and to be a curse in all places to which I have cast them out.

10 And I will send among them the sword, and the famine, and the pestilence: till they be consumed out of the land which I gave to them, and their fathers.

CHAP. XXV.

The prophet foretells the seventy years captivity; and after that the destruction of Babylon, and other nations.

THE word that came to Jeremias concerning all the people of Juda, in the * fourth year of Joakim the son of Josias king of Juda (the same is the first year of Nabuchodonosor king of Babylon.)

* A. M. 3397. Ante C. 607.

2 Which Jeremias the prophet spoke to all the people of Juda, and to all the inhabitants of Jerusalem, saying:

3 From the thirteenth year of Josias the son of Ammon king of Juda until this day; this is the three and twentieth year, the word of the Lord hath come to me, and I have spoken to you rising before day, and speaking, and you have not hearkened.

4 And the Lord hath sent to you all his servants the prophets, rising early, and sending, and you have not hearkened, nor inclined your ears to hear.

|| 4 Kings 17. 13. Supra 18. 11. Infra 35. 15.

5 When he said: || Return ye, every one from his evil way, and from your wicked devices, and you shall dwell in the land which the Lord hath given to you, and your fathers for ever and ever.

6 And go not after strange gods to serve them, and adore them: nor provoke me to wrath by the works of your hands, and I will not afflict you.

7 And you have not heard me, saith the Lord, that you might provoke me to anger with the works of your hands, to your own hurt.

8 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hosts: Because you have not heard my words:

VER. 39. Out of my presence. That is, the Lord declares that out of his presence he will cast them, and bring them to captivity for their transgressions.

9 Behold I will ſend, and take all the kindreds of the north, ſaith the Lord, and Nabuchodonoſor the king of Babylon my ſervant: and I will bring them againſt this land, and againſt the inhabitants thereof, and againſt all the nations that are around about it: and I will deſtroy them, and make them an aſtoniſhment and a hiſſing, and perpetual deſolations.

10 And I will take away from them the voice of mirth, and the voice of gladneſs, the voice of the bridegroom, and the voice of the bride, the ſound of the mill, and the light of the lamp.

|| Par. 36. 22. 1 Eſdr. 1. 1. Infra 26. 6. & 29. 10. Dan. 9. 2.

11 || And all this land ſhall be a deſolation, and an aſtoniſhment: and all theſe nations ſhall ſerve the king of Babylon ſeventy years.

12 And when the ſeventy years ſhall be expired, I will puniſh the king of Babylon, and that nation, ſaith the Lord, for their iniquity, and the land of the Chaldeans: and I will make it perpetual deſolations.

13 And I will bring upon that land all my words, that I have ſpoken againſt it, all that is written in this book, all that Jeremias hath propheſied againſt all nations:

14 For they have ſerved them, whereas they were many nations, and great kings: and I will repay them according to their deeds, and according to the works of their hands.

15 For thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts the God of Iſrael: Take the cup of wine of this fury at my hand: and thou ſhalt make all the nations to drink thereof, unto which I ſhall ſend thee.

16 And they ſhall drink, and be troubled, and be mad becauſe of the ſword, which I ſhall ſend among them.

17 And I took the cup at the hand of the Lord, and I preſented it to all the nations to drink of it, to which the Lord ſent me:

18 To wit, Jeruſalem, and the cities of Juda, and the kings thereof, and the princes thereof: to make them a deſolation, and an aſtoniſhment, and a hiſſing, and a curſe, as it is at this day.

19 Pharao the king of Egypt, and his ſervants, and his princes, and all his people,

20 And all in general: all the kings of the land of Auſitis, and all the kings of the land of the Philiſtines, and Aſcalon and Gaza, and Accaron, and the remnant of Azotus.

21 And Edom, and Moab, and the children of Ammon.

22 And all the kings of Tyre, and all the kings of Sidon: and the kings of the land of the iſlands that are beyond the ſea.

23 And Dedan, and Thema, and Buz, and all that have their hair cut round.

24 And all the kings of Arabia, and all the kings of the weſt, that dwell in the deſert.

25 And all the kings of Zambri, and all the kings of Elam, and all the kings of the Medes:

26 And all the kings of the north far and near, every one againſt his brother: and all the kingdoms of the earth, which are upon the face thereof: and the king of Seſac ſhall drink after them.

27 And thou ſhalt ſay to them: Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts the God of Iſrael: Drink ye, and be drunken, and vomit: and fall, and riſe no more, becauſe of the ſword, which I ſhall ſend among you.

28 And if they refuſe to take the cup at thy hand to drink, thou ſhalt ſay to them: Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts: Drinking you ſhall drink:

|| 1 Peter 4. 17.

29 || For behold I begin to bring evil on the city wherein my name is called upon, and ſhall you be as innocent and eſcape free? you ſhall not eſcape free: for I will call for the ſword upon all the inhabitants of the earth, ſaith the Lord of hoſts.

|| Joel 3. 16. Amos 1. 2.

30 And thou ſhalt propheſy unto them all theſe words, and thou ſhalt ſay to them: || The Lord ſhall roar from on high, and ſhall utter his voice from his holy habitation: roaring he ſhall roar upon the place of his beauty: the ſhout as it were of them that tread grapes ſhall be given out againſt all the inhabitants of the earth.

31 The noiſe is come even to the ends of the earth: for the Lord entereth into judgment with the nations: he entereth into judgment with all fleſh, the wicked I have delivered up to the ſword, ſaith the Lord.

32 Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts: Behold evil ſhall go forth from nation to nation: and a great whirlwind ſhall go forth from the ends of the earth.

33 And the ſlain of the Lord ſhall be at that day from one end of the earth even to the other end thereof: they ſhall not be lamented, and they ſhall not be gathered up, nor buried: they ſhall lie as dung upon the face of the earth.

CHAP. XXVI.

The prophet is apprehended and accuſed by the prieſts: but diſcharged by the princes.

A. M. 3395. Ante C. 609. IN the beginning of the reign of Joakim the ſon of Joſias king of Juda, came this word from the Lord, ſaying:

2 Thus ſaith the Lord: Stand in the court of the houſe of the Lord, and ſpeak to all the cities of Juda, out of which they come, to adore in the houſe of the Lord, all the words which I have commanded thee to ſpeak unto them: leave not out one word,

3 If ſo be they will hearken and be converted every one from his evil way; that I may repent me of the evil that I think to do unto them for the wickedneſs of their doings.

4 And thou ſhalt ſay to them: Thus ſaith the Lord: If you will not hearken to me to walk in my law, which I have given you,

5 To give ear to the words of my ſervants the prophets, whom I ſent to you riſing up early, and ſending, and you have not hearkened:

‖ 1 Kings 4. 2. & 10. † Supra 7. 22. 6 ‖ I will make this houſe like Silo, † and I will make this city a curſe to all the nations of the earth.

7 And the prieſts, and the prophets, and all the people heard Jeremias ſpeaking theſe words in the houſe of the Lord.

8 And when Jeremias had made an end of ſpeaking all that the Lord had commanded him to ſpeak to all the people: the prieſts, and the prophets, and all the people laid hold on him, ſaying: Let him be put to death.

9 Why hath he propheſied in the name of the Lord, ſaying: This houſe ſhall be like Silo: and this city ſhall be made deſolate, without an inhabitant? And all the people were gathered together againſt Jeremias in the houſe of the Lord.

10 And the princes of Juda heard theſe words: and they went up from the king's houſe into the houſe of the Lord, and ſat in the entry of the new gate of the houſe of the Lord.

11 And the prieſts and the prophets ſpoke to the princes, and to all the people, ſaying: The Judgment of death is for this man: becauſe he hath propheſied againſt this city, as you have heard with your ears.

12 Then Jeremias ſpoke to all the princes, and to all the people, ſaying: ‖ The Lord ſent me, to propheſy concerning this houſe, and concerning this city all the words that you have heard. ‖ Supra 25. 11.

13 ‖ Now therefore amend your ways, and your doings, and hearken to the voice of the Lord your God: and the Lord will repent him of the evil that he hath ſpoken againſt you. ‖ Supra 7. 3.

14 But as for me, behold I am in your hands: do with me what is good and right in your eyes:

15 But know ye, and underſtand, that if you put me to death, you will ſhed innocent blood againſt your ownſelves, and againſt this city, and the inhabitants thereof. For in truth the Lord ſent me to you, to ſpeak all theſe words in your hearing.

16 Then the princes, and all the people ſaid to the prieſts, and to the prophets: There is no judgment of death for this man: for he hath ſpoken to us in the name of the Lord our God.

17 And ſome of the ancients of the land roſe up: and they ſpoke to all the aſſembly of the people, ſaying:

18 Micheas of Moraſthi was a prophet in the days of Ezechias king of Juda, and he ſpoke to all the people of Juda, ſaying: Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts: ‖ Sion ſhall be ploughed like a field, and Jeruſalem ſhall be a heap of ſtones: and the mountain of the houſe the high places of woods. ‖ Micheas 3. 12.

evil that he had ſpoken againſt them? therefore we are doing a great evil againſt our ſouls.

20 There was alſo a man that propheſied in the name of the Lord, Urias the ſon of Semei of Cariathiarim: and he propheſied againſt this city, and againſt this land, according to all the words of Jeremias.

21 And Joakim, and all his men in power, and his princes heard theſe words: and the king ſought to put him to death. And Urias heard it, and was afraid, and fled and went into Egypt.

22 And king Joakim ſent men into Egypt, Elnathan the ſon of Achobor, and men with him into Egypt.

23 And they brought Urias out of Egypt: and brought him to king Joakim, and he ſlew him with the ſword: and he caſt his dead body into the graves of the common people.

24 So the hand of Ahicam the ſon of Saphan was with Jeremias, that he ſhould not be delivered into the hands of the people, to put him to death.

CHAP. XXVII.

The prophet ſends chains to divers kings, ſignifying that they muſt bend their necks under the yoke of the king of Babylon. The veſſels of the temple ſhall not be brought back till all the reſt are carried away.

A. M. 3395. Ante C. 609. IN the beginning of the reign of Joakim the ſon of Joſias king of Juda, this word came to Jeremias from the Lord, ſaying:

2 Thus ſaith the Lord to me: Make thee bands, and chains: and thou ſhalt put them on thy neck.

3 And thou ſhalt ſend them to the king of Edom, and to the king of Moab, and to the king of the children of Ammon, and to the king of Tyre, and to the king of Sidon: by the hand of the meſſengers that are come to Jeruſalem to Sedecias the king of Juda.

4 And thou ſhalt command them to ſpeak to their maſters: Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts the God of Iſrael: Thus ſhall you ſay to your maſters:

5 I made the earth, and the men, and the beaſts that are upon the face of the earth, by my great power, and by my ſtretched out arm: and I have given it to whom it ſeemed good in my eyes.

6 And now I have given all theſe lands into the hand of Nabuchodonoſor king of Babylon my ſervant: moreover alſo the beaſts of the field I have given him to ſerve him.

7 And all nations ſhall ſerve him, and his ſon, and his ſon's ſon: till the time come for his land and himſelf: and many nations and great kings ſhall ſerve him.

8 But the nation and kingdom that will not ſerve Nabuchodonoſor king of Babylon, and whoſoever will not bend his neck under the yoke of the king of Babylon: I will viſit upon that nation with the ſword, and with famine, and with peſtilence, ſaith the Lord: till I conſume them by his hand.

9 ‖ Therefore hearken not to your prophets, and diviners, and dreamers, and ſoothſayers, and ſorcerers, that ſay to you: You ſhall not ſerve the king of Babylon. ‖ Supra 23. 16. Infra 29. 8.

10 For they propheſy lies to you: to remove you far from your country, and caſt you out, and to make you periſh.

11 But the nation that ſhall bend down their neck under the yoke of the king of Babylon, and ſhall ſerve him; I will let them remain in their own land, ſaith the Lord: and they ſhall till it, and dwell in it.

12 And I ſpoke to Sedecias the king of Juda according to all theſe words, ſaying: Bend down your necks under the yoke of the king of Babylon, and ſerve him, and his people, and you ſhall live.

13 Why will you die, thou and thy people by the ſword, and by famine, and by the peſtilence, as the Lord hath ſpoke againſt the nation that will not ſerve the king of Babylon?

14 Hearken not to the words of the prophets that ſay to you: You ſhall not ſerve the king of Babylon: for they tell you a lie.

15 ‖ For I have not ſent them, ſaith the Lord: and they propheſy in my name falſly: to drive you out, and that you may periſh, both you, and the prophets that propheſy to you. ‖ Supra 14. 14. & 23. 21. Infra 29. 9.

17 Therefore hearken not to them, but serve the king of Babylon, that you may live. Why should this city be given up to desolation?

18 But if they be prophets, and the word of the Lord be in them: let them interpose themselves before the Lord of hosts, that the vessels which were left in the house of the Lord, and in the house of the king of Juda, and in Jerusalem, may not go to Babylon.

‖ 4 Kings 25. 13. 19 For thus saith the Lord of hosts ‖ to the pillars, and to the sea, and to the bases, and to the rest of the vessels that remain in this city:

22 They shall be carried to Babylon, and there they shall be until the day of their visitation, saith the Lord: and I will cause them to be brought, and to be restored in this place.

CHAP. XXVIII.

The false prophecy of Hananias: he dies that same year, as Jeremias foretold.

AND it came to pass in that year, in the beginning of the reign of Sedecias king of Juda, in the fourth * A. M. 3408. Ante C. 596. year, * in the fifth month, that Hananias the son of Azur a prophet of Gabaon spoke to me, in the house of the Lord before the priests, and all the people, saying:

2 Thus saith the Lord of hosts the God of Israel: I have broken the yoke of the king of Babylon.

3 As yet two years of days, and I will cause all the vessels of the house of the Lord to be brought back into this place, which Nabuchodonosor king of Babylon took away from this place, and carried them to Babylon.

4 And I will bring back to this place Jechonias the son of Joakim king of Juda, and all the captives of Juda, that are gone to Babylon, saith the Lord: for I will break the yoke of the king of Babylon.

5 And Jeremias the prophet said to Hananias the prophet in the presence of the priests, and in the presence of all the people that stood in the house of the Lord:

6 And Jeremias the prophet said: Amen, the Lord do so: the Lord perform thy words, which thou hast prophesied: that the vessels may be brought again into the house of the Lord, and all the captives may return out of Babylon to this place.

7 Nevertheless hear this word, that I speak in thy ears, and in the ears of all the people:

8 The prophets that have been before me, and before thee from the beginning, and have prophesied concerning many countries, and concerning great kingdoms, of war, and of affliction, and of famine.

9 The prophet that prophesied peace: when his word shall come to pass, the prophet shall be known, whom the Lord hath sent in truth.

10 And Hananias the prophet took the chain from the neck of Jeremias the prophet, and broke it.

11 And Hananias spoke in the presence of all the people, saying: Thus saith the Lord: Even so will I break the yoke of Nabuchodonosor the king of Babylon after two full years from off the neck of all the nations.

12 And Jeremias the prophet went his way. And the word of the Lord came to Jeremias, after that Hananias the prophet had broken the chain from off the neck of Jeremias the prophet, saying:

13 Go, and tell Hananias: Thus saith the Lord: Thou hast broken chains of wood, and thou shalt make for them chains of iron.

14 For thus saith the Lord of hosts the God of Israel: I have put a yoke of iron upon the neck of all these nations, to serve Nabuchodonosor king of Babylon, and they shall serve him: moreover also I have given him the beasts of the earth.

15 And Jeremias the prophet said to Hananias the prophet: Hear now, Hananias: the Lord hath not sent thee, and thou hast made this people to trust in a lie.

16 Therefore thus saith the Lord: Behold I will send thee away from off the face of the earth: this year shalt thou die: for thou hast spoken against the Lord.

17 And Hananias the prophet died in that year, in the seventh month.

CHAP. XXIX.

Jeremias writeth to the captives in Babylon, exhorting them to be easy there, and not to hearken to false prophets. That they shall be delivered after seventy years. But those that remain in Jerusalem shall perish by the sword, famine, and pestilence. And that Achab, Sedecias, and Semeias, false prophets, shall die miserably.

A. M. 3405. Ante C. 599. NOW these are the words of the letter which Jeremias the prophet sent from Jerusalem to the residue of the ancients that were carried into captivity, and to the priests, and to the prophets, and to all the people, whom Nabuchodonosor had carried away from Jerusalem to Babylon:

2 After that Jechonias the king, and the queen, and the eunuchs, and the princes of Juda, and of Jerusalem, and the craftsmen, and the engravers were departed out of Jerusalem:

3 By the hand of Elasa the son of Saphan, and Gamarias the son of Helcias, whom Sedecias king of Juda sent to Babylon to Nabuchodonosor king of Babylon, saying:

4 Thus saith the Lord of hosts the God of Israel, to all that are carried away captives, whom I have caused to be carried away from Jerusalem to Babylon:

5 Build ye houses, and dwell in them: and plant orchards, and eat the fruit of them.

6 Take ye wives, and beget sons and daughters: and take wives for your sons, and give your daughters to husbands, and let them bear sons and daughters: and be ye multiplied there, and be not few in number.

7 And seek the peace of the city, to which I have caused you to be carried away captives; and pray to the Lord for it: for in the peace thereof shall be your peace.

‖ Supra 14. 14. & 23. 16. & 27. 15. 8 For thus saith the Lord of hosts the God of Israel: ‖ Let not your prophets that are in the midst of you, and your diviners deceive you: and give no heed to your dreams which you dream:

9 For they prophesy falsly to you in my name: and I have not sent them, saith the Lord.

‖ Supra 25. 12. 2 Par. 36. 21. 1 Esdr. 1. 1. Dan. 9. 2. 10 ‖ For thus saith the Lord: When the seventy years shall begin to be accomplished in Babylon, I will visit you: and I will perform my good word in your favour, to bring you again to this place.

11 For I know the thoughts that I think towards you, saith the Lord, thoughts of peace, and not of affliction, to give you an end and patience.

12 And you shall call upon me, and you shall go: and you shall pray to me, and I will hear you.

13 You shall seek me, and shall find me: when you shall seek me with all your heart.

14 And I will be found by you, saith the Lord: and I will bring back your captivity, and I will gather you out of all nations, and from all the places to which I have driven you out, saith the Lord: and I will bring you back from the place to which I caused you to be carried away captive.

15 Because you have said: The Lord hath raised us up prophets in Babylon:

16 For thus saith the Lord to the king that sitteth upon the throne of David, and to all the people that dwell in this city, to your brethren that are not gone forth with you into captivity.

‖ Supra 24. 9. & 10. 17 Thus saith the Lord of hosts: ‖ Behold I will send upon them the sword, and the famine, and the pestilence: and I will make them like bad figs that cannot be eaten, because they are very bad.

18 And I will persecute them with the sword, and with famine, and with the pestilence: and I will give them up unto affliction to all the kingdoms of the earth: to be a curse, and an astonishment, and a hissing, and a reproach to all the nations to which I have driven them out:

19 Because they have not hearkened to my words, saith the Lord: which I sent to them by my servants the prophets rising by night, and sending: and you have not heard, saith the Lord.

20 Hear ye therefore the word of the Lord, all ye of the captivity, whom I have sent out from Jerusalem to Babylon.

21 Thus saith the Lord of hosts the God of Israel, to Achab the son of Colias, and to Sedecias the son of Maasias, who prophesy unto you in my name falsly: Behold I will deliver them up into the hands of Nabuchodonosor the king of Babylon: and he shall kill them before your eyes.

22 And of them shall be taken up a curse by all the captivity of Juda, that are in Babylon, saying: The Lord make thee like Sedecias, and like Achab, whom the king of Babylon fried in the fire:

23 Because they have acted folly in Israel, and have committed adultery with the wives of their friends, and have spoken lying words in my name, which I commanded them not:

I am the judge and the witneſs, ſaith the Lord.

24 And to Semeias the Nehelamite thou ſhalt ſay:

25 Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts the God of Iſrael: Becauſe thou haſt ſent letters in thy name to all the people that are in Jeruſalem, and to Sophonias the ſon of Maaſias the prieſt, and to all the prieſts, ſaying:

26 The Lord hath made thee prieſt inſtead of Joiada the prieſt, that thou ſhouldſt be ruler in the houſe of the Lord, over every man that raveth and propheſieth, to put him in the ſtocks, and into priſon.

27 And now why haſt thou not rebuked Jeremias the Anathothite, who propheſieth to you?

28 For he hath alſo ſent to us in Babylon, ſaying: It is a long time: build ye houſes, and dwell in them: and plant gardens, and eat the fruits of them.

29 So Sophonias the prieſt read this letter in the hearing of Jeremias the prophet.

30 And the word of the Lord came to Jeremias, ſaying:

31 Send to all them of the captivity, ſaying: Thus ſaith the Lord to Semeias the Nehelamite: Becauſe Semeias hath propheſied to you, and I ſent him not: and hath cauſed you to truſt in a lie:

32 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord: Behold I will viſit upon Semeias the Nehelamite, and upon his ſeed: he ſhall not have a man to ſit in the midſt of this people, and he ſhall not ſee the good that I will do to my people, ſaith the Lord: becauſe he hath ſpoken treaſon againſt the Lord.

CHAP. XXX.

God will deliver his people from their captivity: Chriſt ſhall be their king: and his church ſhall be glorious for ever.

A. M. 3406. Ante C. 598.

THIS is the word that came to Jeremias from the Lord, ſaying:

2 Thus ſaith the Lord, the God of Iſrael, ſaying: Write thee all the words that I have ſpoken to thee, in a book.

3 For behold the days come, ſaith the Lord, and I will bring again the captivity of my people Iſrael and Juda, ſaith the Lord: and I will cauſe them to return to the land which I gave to their fathers, and they ſhall poſſeſs it.

4 And theſe are the words that the Lord hath ſpoken to Iſrael and to Juda:

5 For thus ſaith the Lord: We have heard a voice of terror: there is fear, and no peace.

6 Aſk ye, and ſee if a man bear children? why then have I ſeen every man with his hands on his loins, like a woman in labour, and all faces are turned yellow?

7 ‖ Alas, for that day is great, neither is there the like to it: and it is the time of tribulation to Jacob, but he ſhall be ſaved out of it. ‖ Joel 2. 11. Amos 5. 18. Sophon. 1. 15.

8 And it ſhall come to paſs in that day, ſaith the Lord of hoſts, that I will break his yoke from off thy neck, and will burſt his bands: and ſtrangers ſhall no more rule over him:

9 But they ſhall ſerve the Lord their God, and David their king, whom I will raiſe up to them.

10 ‖ Therefore fear thou not, my ſervant Jacob, ſaith the Lord, neither be diſmayed, O Iſrael: for behold, I will ſave thee from a country afar off, and thy ſeed from the land of their captivity: and Jacob ſhall return, and be at reſt, and abound with all good things, and there ſhall be none whom he may fear: ‖ Iſai. 43. 5. & 44. 2. Luke 1. 71.

11 For I am with thee, ſaith the Lord, to ſave thee: for I will utterly conſume all the nations, among which I have ſcattered thee: but I will not utterly conſume thee: but I will chaſtiſe thee in judgment, that thou mayſt not ſeem to thyſelf innocent.

12 For thus ſaith the Lord: Thy bruiſe is incurable, thy wound is very grievous.

13 There is none to judge thy judgment to bind it up: thou haſt no healing medicines.

14 All thy lovers have forgotten thee, and will not ſeek after thee: ‖ for I have wounded thee with the wound of an enemy, with a cruel chaſtiſement: by reaſon of the multitude of thy iniquities, thy ſins are hardened. ‖ Supra 10. 19.

15 Why crieſt thou for thy affliction? thy ſorrow is incurable: for the multitude of thy iniquity, and for thy hardened ſins I have done theſe things to thee.

16 Therefore all they that devour thee, ſhall be devoured: and all thy enemies ſhall be carried into captivity: and they that waſte thee ſhall be waſted, and all that prey upon thee will I give for a prey.

CHAP. XXX. VER. 9. David. That is, Chriſt of the houſe of David.

17 For I will close up thy scar, and will heal thee of thy wounds, saith the Lord. Because they have called thee, O Sion, an out-cast: This is she that hath none to seek after her.

18 Thus saith the Lord: Behold I will bring back the captivity of the pavilions of Jacob, and will have pity on his houses, and the city shall be built in her high place, and the temple shall be founded according to the order thereof.

19 And out of them shall come forth praise, and the voice of them that play: and I will multiply them, and they shall not be made few: and I will glorify them, and they shall not be lessened.

20 And their children shall be as from the beginning, and their assembly shall be permanent before me: and I will visit against all that afflict them.

21 And their leader shall be of themselves: and their prince shall come forth from the midst of them: and I will bring him near, and he shall come to me: for who is this that setteth his heart to approach to me, saith the Lord?

22 And you shall be my people: and I will be your God.

23 Behold the whirlwind of the Lord, his fury going forth, a violent storm, it shall rest upon the head of the wicked.

24 The Lord will not turn away the wrath of his indignation, till he have executed and performed the thought of his heart: in the latter days you shall understand these things.

CHAP. XXXI.

The restoration of Israel. Rachel shall cease from mourning. The new covenant. The church shall never fail.

A. M. 3406. AT that time, saith the Lord, I will be the God of all the families of Israel, and they shall be my people.

2 Thus saith the Lord: The people that were left and escaped from the sword, found grace in the desert: Israel shall go to his rest.

3 The Lord hath appeared from afar to me. Yea I have loved thee with an everlasting love, therefore have I drawn thee, taking pity on thee.

4 And I will build thee again, and thou shalt be built, O virgin of Israel: thou shalt again be adorned with thy timbrels, and shalt go forth in the dances of them that make merry.

5 Thou shalt yet plant vineyards in the mountains of Samaria: the planters shall plant, and they shall not gather the vintage before the time:

6 For there shall be a day, in which the watchmen on mount Ephraim: shall cry: ‖ Arise, and let us go up to Sion to the Lord our God. ‖ Isai. 2. 3. Mich. 4. 2.

7 For thus saith the Lord: Rejoice ye in the joy of Jacob, and neigh before the head of the Gentiles: shout ye, and sing, and say: Save, O Lord, thy people, the remnant of Israel.

8 Behold I will bring them from the north country, and will gather them from the ends of the earth: and among them shall be the blind and the lame, the woman with child, and she that is bringing forth together, a great company of them returning hither.

9 They shall come with weeping: and I will bring them back in mercy: and I will bring them through the torrents of waters in a right way, and they shall not stumble in it: for I am a father to Israel, and Ephraim is my first-born.

10 Hear the word of the Lord, O ye nations, and declare it in the islands that are afar off, and say: He that scattered Israel will gather him: and he will keep him as the shepherd doth his flock.

11 For the Lord hath redeemed Jacob, and delivered him out of the hand of one that was mightier than he.

12 And they shall come, and shall give praise in mount Sion: and they shall flow together to the good things of the Lord, for the corn, and wine, and oil, and the increase of cattle and herds, and their soul shall be as a watered garden, and they shall be hungry no more.

13 Then shall the virgin rejoice in the dance, the young men and old men together: and I will turn their mourning into joy, and will comfort them, and make them joyful after their sorrow.

14 And I will fill the soul of the priests with fatness: and my people shall be filled with my good things, saith the Lord.

15 Thus saith the Lord: ‖ A voice was heard on high of lamentation, of mourning, and weeping of Rachel weeping for her children, and refusing to be comforted for them, because they are not. ‖ Mat. 2. 18.

16 Thus saith the Lord: Let thy voice cease from weeping, and thy eyes from tears: for there is a reward for thy work, saith the Lord: and they shall return out of the land of the enemy.

17 And there is hope for thy last end, saith the Lord: and the children shall return to their own borders.

18 Hearing I heard Ephraim when he went into captivity: thou hast chastised me, and I was instructed, as a young bullock unaccuſtomed to the yoke. Convert me, and I ſhall be converted: for thou art the Lord my God.

19 For after thou didſt convert me, I did penance: and after thou didſt ſhew unto me, I ſtruck my thigh: I am confounded and aſhamed, becauſe I have borne the reproach of my youth.

20 Surely Ephraim is an honourable ſon to me, ſurely he is a tender child: for ſince I ſpoke of him, I will ſtill remember him. Therefore are my bowels troubled for him: pitying I will pity him, ſaith the Lord.

21 Set thee up a watch-tower, make to thee bitterneſs: direct thy heart into the right way, wherein thou haſt walked: return, O virgin of Iſrael, return to theſe thy cities.

22 How long wilt thou be diſſolute in delicioufneſs, O wandering daughter? for the Lord hath created a new thing upon the earth: A WOMAN SHALL COMPASS A MAN.

23 Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts, the God of Iſrael: As yet ſhall they ſay this word in the land of Juda, and in the cities thereof, when I ſhall bring back their captivity: The Lord bleſs thee, the beauty of juſtice, the holy mountain.

24 And Juda and all his cities ſhall dwell therein together: the huſbandmen and they that drive the flocks.

25 For I have inebriated the weary ſoul: and I have filled every hungry ſoul.

26 Upon this I was as it were awaked out of a ſleep, and I ſaw, and my ſleep was ſweet to me.

27 Behold the days come ſaith the Lord: and I will ſow the houſe of Iſrael and the houſe of Juda with the ſeed of men, and with the ſeed of beaſts.

28 And as I have watched over them, to pluck up, and to throw down, and to ſcatter, and deſtroy, and afflict: ſo will I watch over them, to build up, and to plant them, ſaith the Lord.

29 In thoſe days they ſhall ſay no more: || The fathers have eaten a ſour grape, and the teeth of the children are ſet on edge. || Ezec. 18. 2.

30 But every one ſhall die for his own iniquity: every man that ſhall eat the ſour grape, his teeth ſhall be ſet on edge.

31 || Behold the days ſhall come, ſaith the Lord, and I will make a new covenant with the houſe of Iſrael, and with the houſe of Juda: || Heb. 8. 8.

32 Not according to the covenant which I made with their fathers, in the day that I took them by the hand to bring them out of the land of Egypt: the covenant which they made void, and I had dominion over them, ſaith the Lord.

33 But this ſhall be the covenant, that I will make with the houſe of Iſrael after thoſe days, ſaith the Lord: || I will give my law in their bowels, and I will write it in their heart: and I will be their God, and they ſhall be my people. || Heb. 10. 16.

34 And they ſhall teach no more every man his neighbour, and every man his brother, ſaying: Know the Lord: for all ſhall know me from the leaſt of them even to the greateſt, ſaith the Lord: || for I will forgive their iniquity, and I will remember their ſin no more. || Acts 10. 43.

35 Thus ſaith the Lord, who giveth the ſun for the light of the day, the order of the moon and of the ſtars, for the light of the night: who ſtirreth up the ſea, and the waves thereof roar, the Lord of hoſts is his name.

36 If theſe ordinances ſhall fail before me, ſaith the Lord: then alſo the ſeed of Iſrael ſhall fail, ſo as not to be a nation before me for ever.

37 Thus ſaith the Lord: If the heavens above can be meaſured, and the foundations of the earth ſearched out beneath: I alſo will caſt away all the ſeed of Iſrael, for all that they have done, ſaith the Lord.

38 Behold the days come, ſaith the Lord: that the city ſhall be built to the Lord from the tower of Hanameel even to the gate of the corner.

39 And the meaſuring line ſhall go out farther in his ſight upon the hill Gareb: and it ſhall compaſs Goatha,

40 And the whole valley of dead bodies, and of aſhes, and all the country of death, even to the torrent Cedron, and to the corner of the horſe-gate towards the eaſt, the Holy of the Lord: it ſhall not be plucked up, and it ſhall not be deſtroyed any more for ever.

CHAP. XXXII.

Jeremias by God's commandment, purchaſes a field of his kinſman: and propheſies the return of the people out of captivity: and the everlaſting covenant God will make with his church.

THE word that came to Jeremias from the Lord in the tenth year of Sedecias king of Juda: the ſame is the eighteenth year of Nabuchodonoſor. A. M. 3417. Ante V. 587.

2 At that time the army of the king of Babylon beſieged Jeruſalem: and Jeremias the prophet was ſhut up in the court of the priſon, which was in the houſe of the king of Juda.

3 For Sedecias king of Juda had ſhut him up, ſaying: Why hoſt thou propheſy, ſaying:

Thus ſaith the Lord: Behold I will give this city into the hand of the king of Babylon, and he ſhall take it?

4 And Sedecias king of Juda ſhall not eſcape out of the hand of the Chaldeans: but he ſhall be delivered into the hands of the king of Babylon: and he ſhall ſpeak to him mouth to mouth, and his eyes ſhall ſee his eyes.

5 And he ſhall lead Sedecias to Babylon: and he ſhall be there till I viſit him, ſaith the Lord. But if you will fight againſt the Chaldeans, you ſhall have no ſucceſs.

6 And Jeremias ſaid: The word of the Lord came to me, ſaying:

7 Behold, Hanameel the ſon of Sellum thy couſin ſhall come to thee, ſaying: Buy thee my field, which is in Anathoth, for it is thy right to buy it being next akin.

8 And Hanameel my uncle's ſon came to me, according to the word of the Lord, to the entry of the priſon, and ſaid to me: Buy my field, which is in Anathoth in the land of Benjamin: for the right of inheritance is thine, and thou art next of kin to poſſeſs it. And I underſtood that this was the word of the Lord.

9 And I bought the field of Hanameel my uncle's ſon, that is in Anathoth: and I weighed him the money, ſeven ſtaters, and ten pieces of ſilver.

10 And I wrote it in a book and ſealed it, and took witneſſes: and I weighed him the money in the balances.

11 And I took the deed of the purchaſe that was ſealed, and the ſtipulations, and the ratifications with the ſeals that were on the outſide.

12 And I gave the deed of the purchaſe to Baruch the ſon of Neri the ſon of Maaſias in the ſight of Hanameel my uncle's ſon, in the preſence of the witneſſes that ſubſcribed the book of the purchaſe, and before all the Jews that ſat in the court of the priſon.

13 And I charged Baruch before them, ſaying:

14 Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts the God of Iſrael: Take theſe writings, this deed of the purchaſe that is ſealed up, and this deed that is open: and put them in an earthen veſſel, that they may continue many days.

15 For thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts the God of Iſrael: Houſes, and fields, and vineyards ſhall be poſſeſſed again in this land.

16 And after I had delivered the deed of purchaſe to Baruch the ſon of Neri, I prayed to the Lord, ſaying:

17 Alas, alas, alas, O Lord God, behold thou haſt made heaven and earth by thy great power, and thy ſtretched out arm: no word ſhall be hard to thee:

18 || Thou ſheweſt mercy unto thouſands, and returneſt the iniquity of the fathers into the boſom of their children after them: O moſt mighty great, and powerful, the Lord of hoſts is thy name. || Exod. 34. 7.

19 Great in counſel, and incomprehenſible in thought: whoſe eyes are open upon all the ways of the children of Adam, to render unto every one according to his ways, and according to the fruit of his devices.

20 Who haſt ſet ſigns and wonders in the land of Egypt even until this day, and in Iſrael, and amongſt men, and haſt made thee a name as at this day.

21 And haſt brought forth thy people Iſrael out of the land of Egypt with ſigns, and with wonders, and with a ſtrong hand, and a ſtretched out arm, and with great terror.

22 And haſt given them this land which thou didſt ſwear to their fathers, to give them a land flowing with milk and honey.

23 And they came in, and poſſeſſed it: but they obeyed not thy voice, and they walked not in thy law: and they did not any of thoſe things that thou didſt command them to do, and all theſe evils are come upon them.

24 Behold works are built up againſt the city to take it: and the city is given into the hands of the Chaldeans, who fight againſt it, by the ſword, and the famine, and the peſtilence: and what thou haſt ſpoken, is all come to paſs, as thou thyſelf ſeeſt.

25 And ſayeſt thou to me, O Lord God: Buy a field for money, and take witneſſes, whereas the city is given into the hands of the Chaldeans?

26 And the word of the Lord came to Jeremias, ſaying:

27 Behold I am the Lord the God of all fleſh: ſhall any thing be hard for me?

28 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord: Behold I will deliver this city into the hands of the Chaldeans, and into the hands of the king of Babylon, and they ſhall take it.

29 And the Chaldeans that fight againſt this city, ſhall come and ſet it on fire, and burn it, with the houſes upon whoſe roofs they offered ſacrifice to Baal, and poured out drink-offerings to ſtrange gods, to provoke me to wrath.

30 For the children of Iſrael, and the children of Juda, have continually done evil in my eyes from their youth: the children of Iſrael who even till now provoke me with the work of their hands, ſaith the Lord.

31 For this city hath been to me a provocation and indignation from the day that they built it, until this day, in which it ſhall be taken out of my ſight.

32 Becauſe of all the evil of the children of Iſrael, and of the children of Juda, which they have done, provoking me to wrath, they and their kings, their princes, and their prieſts, and their prophets, the men of Juda, and the inhabitants of Jeruſalem.

33 And they have turned their backs to me, and not their faces: when I taught them early in the morning, and inſtructed them, and they would not hearken to receive inſtruction.

34 ‖ And they have ſet their idols in the houſe, in which my name is called upon, to defile it. ‖ 4 Kings 21. 4.

35 And they have built the high places of Baal, which are in the valley of the ſon of Ennom, to conſecrate their ſons and their daughters to Moloch: which I commanded them not, neither entered it into my heart, that they ſhould do this abomination, and cauſe Juda to ſin.

36 And now therefore thus ſaith the Lord the God of Iſrael to this city, whereof you ſay that it ſhall be delivered into the hands of the king of Babylon by the ſword, and by famine, and by peſtilence:

37 Behold I will gather them together out of all the lands to which I have caſt them out in my anger, and in my wrath, and in my great indignation: and I will bring them again into this place, and will cauſe them to dwell ſecurely.

38 And they ſhall be my people, and I will be their God.

39 And I will give them one heart, and one way, that they may fear me all days: and that it may be well with them, and with their children after them.

40 And I will make an everlaſting covenant with them, and will not ceaſe to do them good: and I will give my fear in their heart, that they may not revolt from me.

41 And I will rejoice over them, when I ſhall do them good: and I will plant them in this land in truth, with my whole heart, and with all my ſoul.

42 For thus ſaith the Lord: As I have brought upon this people all this great evil: ſo will I bring upon them all the good that I now ſpeak to them.

43 And fields ſhall be purchaſed in this land: whereof you ſay that it is deſolate, becauſe there remaineth neither man nor beaſt, and it is given into the hands of the Chaldeans.

44 Fields ſhall be bought for money, and deeds ſhall be written, and ſealed, and witneſſes ſhall be taken, in the land of Benjamin, and round about Jeruſalem, in the cities of Juda, and in the cities on the mountains, and in the cities of the plains, and in the cities that are towards the ſouth: for I will bring back their captivity, ſaith the Lord.

CHAP. XXXIII.

God promiſes reduction from captivity, and other bleſſings: eſpecially the coming of Chriſt, whoſe reign in his church ſhall be glorious and perpetual.

AND the word of the Lord came to Jeremias the ſecond time, while he was yet ſhut up in the court of the priſon, ſaying: A. M. 3414. Ante C. 590.

2 Thus ſaith the Lord, who will do, and will form it, and prepare it, the Lord is his name.

3 Cry to me and I will hear thee: and I will ſhew thee great things, and ſure things which thou knoweſt not.

4 For thus ſaith the Lord the God of Iſrael to the houſes of this city, and to the houſes of the king of Juda, which are deſtroyed, and to the bulwarks, and to the ſword

5 Of them that come to fight with the Chaldeans, and to fill them with the dead bodies of the men whom I have ſlain in my wrath, and in my indignation, hiding my face from this city becauſe of all their wickedneſs.

6 Behold I will cloſe their wounds and give them health, and I will cure them: and I will reveal to them the prayer of peace and truth.

7 And I will bring back the captivity of Juda, and the captivity of Jeruſalem: and I will build them as from the beginning.

8 And I will cleanſe them from all their iniquity, whereby they have ſinned againſt me: and I will forgive all their iniquities, whereby they have ſinned againſt me, and deſpiſed me.

9 And it ſhall be to me a name, and a joy, and a praiſe, and a gladneſs before all the nations of the earth, that ſhall hear of all the good things which I will do to them: and they ſhall fear and be troubled for all the good things, and for all the peace, that I will make for them.

10 Thus ſaith the Lord: There ſhall be heard again in this place (which you ſay is deſolate, becauſe there is neither man nor beaſt: in the cities of Juda, and without

CHAP. XXXIII. VER. 6. The prayer of peace. That is, the peace and welfare which they pray for.

Jeruſalem, which are deſolate without man, and without inhabitant, and without beaſt)

11 The voice of joy and the voice of gladneſs, the voice of the bridegroom and the voice of the bride, the voice of them that ſhall ſay: Give ye glory to the Lord of hoſts, for the Lord is good, for his mercy endureth for ever: and of them that ſhall bring their vows into the houſe of the Lord: for I will bring back the captivity of the land as at the firſt, ſaith the Lord.

12 Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts: There ſhall be again in this place that is deſolate without man, and without beaſt, and in all the cities thereof, an habitation of ſhepherds cauſing their flocks to lie down.

13 And in the cities on the mountains, and in the cities of the plains, and in the cities that are towards the ſouth: and in the land of Benjamin, and round about Jeruſalem, and in the cities of Juda ſhall the flocks paſs again under the hand of him that numbereth them, ſaith the Lord.

14 Behold the days come, ſaith the Lord, that I will perform the good word that I have ſpoken to the houſe of Iſrael, and to the houſe of Juda.

15 In thoſe days, and at that time, I will make the bud of juſtice to ſpring forth unto David, and he ſhall do judgment and juſtice in the earth.

16 In thoſe days ſhall Juda be ſaved, and Jeruſalem ſhall dwell ſecurely: and this is the name that they ſhall call him, The Lord our juſt one.

17 For thus ſaith the Lord: There ſhall not be cut off from David a man to ſit upon the throne of the houſe of Iſrael.

18 Neither ſhall there be cut off from the prieſts and Levites a man before my face, to offer holocauſts, and to burn ſacrifice, and to kill victims continually.

19 And the word of the Lord came to Jeremias, ſaying:

20 Thus ſaith the Lord: If my covenant with the day can be made void, and my covenant with the night, that there ſhould not be day and night in their ſeaſon:

21 Alſo my covenant with David my ſervant may be made void, that he ſhould not have a ſon to reign upon his throne, and with the Levites and prieſts my miniſters.

22 As the ſtars of heaven cannot be numbered, nor the ſand of the ſea be meaſured: ſo will I multiply the ſeed of David my ſervant, and the Levites my miniſters.

23 And the word of the Lord came to Jeremias, ſaying:

24 Haſt thou not ſeen what this people hath ſpoken, ſaying: The two families which the Lord had choſen, are caſt off: and they have deſpiſed my people, ſo that it is no more a nation before them?

25 Thus ſaith the Lord: If I have not ſet my covenant between day and night, and laws to heaven and earth:

26 Surely I will alſo caſt off the ſeed of Jacob, and of David my ſervant, ſo as not to take any of his ſeed to be rulers of the ſeed of Abraham, Iſaac, and Jacob: for I will bring back their captivity, and will have mercy on them.

The prophet foretells that Sedecias ſhall fall into the hands of Nabuchodonoſor: God's ſentence upon the princes and people that had broken his covenant.

THE word that came to Jeremias from the Lord (when Nabuchodonoſor king of Babylon, and all his army, and all the kingdoms of the earth that were under the power of his hand, and all the people fought againſt Jeruſalem and againſt all the cities thereof), ſaying:

2 Thus ſaith the Lord, the God of Iſrael: Go, and ſpeak to Sedecias king of Juda, and ſay to him: Thus ſaith the Lord: Behold I will deliver this city into the hands of the king of Babylon, and he ſhall burn it with fire.

3 And thou ſhalt not eſcape out of his hand: but thou ſhalt ſurely be taken, and thou ſhalt be delivered into his hand: and thy eyes ſhall ſee the eyes of the king of Babylon, and his mouth ſhall ſpeak with thy mouth, and thou ſhalt go to Babylon.

4 Yet hear the word of the Lord, O Sedecias king of Juda: Thus ſaith the Lord to thee: Thou ſhalt not die by the ſword,

5 But thou ſhalt die in peace, and according to the burnings of thy fathers, the former kings that were before thee, ſo ſhall they burn thee: and they ſhall mourn for thee, ſaying: Alas, Lord: for I have ſpoken the word, ſaith the Lord.

6 And Jeremias the prophet ſpoke all theſe words to Sedecias the king of Juda in Jeruſalem.

7 And the army of the king of Babylon fought againſt Jeruſalem, and againſt all the cities of Juda that were left, againſt Lachis, and againſt Azecha: for theſe remained of the cities of Juda, fenced cities.

8 The word that came to Jeremias from the Lord, after that king Sedecias had made a covenant with all the people in Jeruſalem making a proclamation:

9 That every man ſhould let his man-ſervant, and every man his maid-ſervant, being a Hebrew man or a Hebrew woman, go free: and that they ſhould not lord it over them, to wit, over the jews their brethren.

10 And all the princes, and all the people who entered into the covenant, heard that every man ſhould let his man-ſervant, and every man his maid-ſervant go free, and ſhould no more have dominion over them: and they obeyed, and let them go free.

11 But afterwards they turned: and brought back again their ſervants and their handmaids, whom they had let go free, and brought them into ſubjection as men-ſervants, and maid-ſervants.

12 And the word of the Lord came to Jeremias from the Lord, ſaying:

13 Thus ſaith the Lord the God of Iſrael: I made a covenant with your fathers in the day that I brought them out of the land of Egypt, out of the houſe of bondage, ſaying:

‖ Exod. 21. 2. Deut. 15. 12.

14 ‖ At the end of ſeven years, let ye go every man his brother being a Hebrew, who hath been ſold to thee, ſo he ſhall ſerve thee ſix years: and thou ſhalt let him go free from thee: and your fathers did not hearken to me, nor did they incline their ear.

15 And you turned to-day, and did that which was right in my eyes, in proclaiming liberty every one to his brother: and you made a covenant in my ſight, in the houſe upon which my name is invocated.

16 And you are fallen back, and have defiled my name: and you have brought back again every man his man-ſervant, and every man his maid-ſervant, whom you had let go free, and ſet at liberty: and you have brought them into ſubjection to be your ſervants and handmaids.

17 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord: You have not hearkened to me, in proclaiming liberty every man to his brother, and every man to his friend: behold I proclaim a liberty for you, ſaith the Lord, to the ſword, to the peſtilence, and to the famine: and I will cauſe you to be removed to all the kingdoms of the earth.

18 And I will give the men that have tranſgreſſed my covenant, and have not performed the words of the covenant which they agreed to in my preſence, when they cut the calf in two, ‖ and paſſed between the parts thereof: ‖ Gen. 15. 20.

19 The princes of Juda, and the princes of Jeruſalem, the eunuchs, and the prieſts, and all the people of the land that paſſed between the parts of the calf:

20 And I will give them into the hands of their enemies, and into the hands of them that ſeek their life: and their dead bodies ſhall be for meat to the fowls of the air, and to the beaſts of the earth.

21 And Sedecias the king of Juda, and his princes, I will give into the hands of their enemies, and into the hands of them that ſeek their lives, and into the hands of the armies of the king of Babylon, which are gone from you.

22 Behold I will command, ſaith the Lord, and I will bring them again to this city, and they ſhall fight againſt it, and take it, and burn it with fire: and I will make the cities of Juda a deſolation, without an inhabitant.

The obedience of the Rechabites condemns the diſobedience of the Jews. The reward of the Rechabites.

THE word that came to Jeremias from the Lord in the days of Joakim the ſon of Joſias king of Juda, ſaying:

2 Go to the houſe of the Rechabites: and ſpeak to them, and bring them into the houſe of the Lord, into one of the chambers of the treaſures, and thou ſhalt give them wine to drink.

3 And I took Jezonias the ſon of Jeremias the ſon of Habſanias, and his brethren, and all his ſons, and the whole houſe of the Rechabites.

4 And I brought them into the houſe of the Lord, to the treasure-house of the sons of Hanan, the son of Jegedelias the man of God, which was by the treasure-house of the princes, above the treasure of Maasias the son of Sellum, who was keeper of the entry.

5 And I set before the sons of the house of the Rechabites pots full of wine, and cups: and I said to them: Drink ye wine.

6 And they answered: We will not drink wine: because Jonadab the son of Rechab, ‖ our father commanded us, saying: You shall drink no wine, neither you, nor your children, for ever:

‖ 4 Kings 10. 15.

7 Neither shall ye build houses, nor sow seed, nor plant vineyards, nor have any: but you shall dwell in tents all your days, that you may live many days upon the face of the earth, in which you are strangers.

8 Therefore we have obeyed the voice of Jonadab the son of Rechab, our father, in all things that he commanded us: so as to drink no wine all our days: neither we, nor our wives, nor our sons, nor our daughters:

9 Nor to build houses to dwell in, nor to have vineyard, or field, or seed:

10 But we have dwelt in tents, and have been obedient according to all that Jonadab our father commanded us.

11 But when Nabuchodonosor king of Babylon came up to our land, we said: Come, let us go into Jerusalem from the face of the army of the Chaldeans, and from the face of the army of Syria: and we have remained in Jerusalem.

12 And the word of the Lord came to Jeremias, saying:

13 Thus saith the Lord of hosts the God of Israel: Go, and say to the men of Juda, and to the inhabitants of Jerusalem: Will you not receive instruction, to obey my words, saith the Lord?

14 The words of Jonadab the son of Rechab, by which he commanded his sons not to drink wine, have prevailed: and they have drunk none to this day, because they have obeyed the commandment of their father: but I have spoken to you, rising early and speaking, and you have not obeyed me.

15 And I have sent to you all my servants the prophets, rising early, and sending and saying: ‖ Return ye every man from his wicked way, and make your ways good: and follow not strange gods, nor worship them, and you shall dwell in the land, which I gave you and your fathers: and you have not inclined your ear, nor hearkened to me.

‖ Supra 18. 11. & 25. 5.

16 So the sons of Jonadab the son of Rechab have constantly kept the commandment of their father, which he commanded them: but this people hath not obeyed me.

17 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hosts the God of Israel: Behold I will bring upon Juda, and upon all the inhabitants of Jerusalem all the evil that I have pronounced against them, because I have spoken to them, and they have not heard: I have called to them, and they have not answered me.

18 And Jeremias said to the house of the Rechabites: Thus saith the Lord of hosts the God of Israel: Because you have obeyed the commandment of Jonadab your father, and have kept all his precepts, and have done all that he commanded you:

19 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hosts the God of Israel: There shall not be wanting a man of the race of Jonadab the son of Rechab, standing before me for ever.

CHAP. XXXVI.

Jeremias sends Baruch to read his prophecies in the temple; the book is brought to king Joakim, who burns it. The prophet denounces his judgment, and causes Baruch to write a new copy.

A. M. 3398. Ante C. 606.

AND it came to pass in the fourth year of Joakim the son of Josias king of Juda, that this word came to Jeremias by the Lord, saying:

2 Take thee a roll of a book, and thou shalt write in it all the words that I have spoken to thee against Israel and Juda, and against all the nations from the day that I spoke to thee, from the days of Josias even to this day.

3 If so be, when the house of Juda shall hear all the evils that I purpose to do unto them, that they may return every man from his wicked way: and I will forgive their iniquity, and their sin.

4 So Jeremias called Baruch the son of Nerias: and Baruch wrote from the mouth of Jeremias all the words of the Lord, which he spoke to him, upon the roll of a book.

5 And Jeremias commanded Baruch, saying: I am shut up, and cannot go into the house of the Lord.

6 Go thou in therefore, and read out of the volume, which thou hast written from my mouth, the words of the Lord, in the hearing of all the people in the house of the Lord on the faſting day: and alſo thou ſhalt read them in the hearing of all Juda that come out of their cities:

7 If ſo be they may preſent their ſupplication before the Lord, and may return every one from his wicked way: for great is the wrath and indignation which the Lord hath pronounced againſt this people.

8 And Baruch the ſon of Nerias did according to all that Jeremias the prophet had commanded him, reading out of the volume the words of the Lord in the houſe of the Lord.

9 And it came to paſs in the fifth year of Joakim the ſon of Joſias king of Juda, in the ninth month, that they proclaimed a faſt before the Lord to all the people in Jeruſalem, and to all the people that were come together out of the cities of Juda to Jeruſalem.

10 And Baruch read out of the volume the words of Jeremias in the houſe of the Lord, in the treaſury of Gamarias the ſon of Saphan the ſcribe, in the upper court, in the entry of the new gate of the houſe of the Lord, in the hearing of all the people.

11 And when Micheas the ſon of Gamarias the ſon of Saphan had heard out of the book all the words of the Lord,

12 He went down into the king's houſe to the ſecretary's chamber: and behold all the princes ſat there, Eliſama the ſcribe, and Daiaias the ſon of Semeias, and Elnathan the ſon of Achobor, and Gamarias the ſon of Saphan, and Sedecias the ſon of Hananias, and all the princes.

13 And Micheas told them all the words that he had heard when Baruch read out of the volume in the hearing of the people.

14 Therefore all the princes ſent Judi the ſon of Nathanias, the ſon of Selemias, the ſon of Chuſi, to Baruch, ſaying: Take in thy hand the volume in which thou haſt read in the hearing of the people, and come. So Baruch the ſon of Nerias took the volume in his hand, and came to them.

15 And they ſaid to him: Sit down and read theſe things in our hearing. And Baruch read in their hearing.

16 And when they had heard all the words, they looked upon one another with aſtoniſhment, and they ſaid to Baruch: We muſt tell the king all theſe words.

17 And they aſked him, ſaying: Tell us how didſt thou write all theſe words from his mouth.

18 And Baruch ſaid to them: With his mouth he pronounced all theſe words as if he were reading to me: and I wrote in a volume with ink.

19 And the princes ſaid to Baruch: Go, and hide thee, both thou and Jeremias, and let no man know where you are.

20 And they went in to the king into the court: but they laid up the volume in the chamber of Eliſama the ſcribe: and they told all the words in the hearing of the king.

21 And the king ſent Judi that he ſhould take the volume: who bringing it out of the chamber of Eliſama the ſcribe, read it in the hearing of the king, and of all the princes that ſtood about the king.

22 Now the king ſat in the winter-houſe, in the ninth month: and there was a hearth before him full of burning coals.

23 And when Judi had read three or four pages, he cut it with the penknife, and he caſt it into the fire, that was upon the hearth, till all the volume was conſumed with the fire that was on the hearth.

24 And the king and all his ſervants that heard all theſe words were not afraid, nor did they rend their garments.

25 But yet Elnathan, and Dalaias, and Gamarias ſpoke to the king, not to burn the book: and he heard them not.

26 And the king commanded Jeremiel the ſon of Amelech, and Saraias the ſon of Ezriel, and Selemias the ſon of Abdeel, to take up Baruch the ſcribe, and Jeremias the prophet: but the Lord hid them.

27 And the word of the Lord came to Jeremias the prophet, after that the king had burnt the volume, and the words that Baruch had written from the mouth of Jeremias, ſaying:

28 Take thee again another volume: and write in it all the former words that were in the firſt volume which Joakim the king of Juda hath burnt.

29 And thou ſhalt ſay to Joakim the king of Juda: Thus ſaith the Lord: Thou haſt burnt that volume, ſaying: Why haſt thou written therein, and ſaid: The king of Babylon ſhall come ſpeedily, and ſhall lay waſte this land: and ſhall cauſe to ceaſe from thence man and beaſt?

30 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord againſt Joakim the king of Juda: He ſhall have none to ſit upon the throne of David: and his dead body ſhall be caſt out to the heat by day, and to the froſt by night.

31 And I will puniſh him and his ſeed: and his ſervants for their iniquities, and I will bring upon them, and upon the inhabitants of Jerusalem, and upon the men of Juda all the evil that I have pronounced against them, but they have not heard.

32 And Jeremias took another volume and gave it to Baruch the son of Nerias the scribe: who wrote in it from the mouth of Jeremias all the words of the book which Joakim the king of Juda had burnt with fire: and there were added besides many more words than had been before.

Jeremias propheſies that the Chaldeans, who had departed from Jeruſalem, would return and burn the city. He is caſt into priſon. His conference with Sedecias.

‖ 4 Kings 24. 17. Infra 52. 1.

NOW king Sedecias the ‖ son of Josias reigned instead of Jechonias the son of Joakim: whom Nabuchodonosor king of Babylon made king in the land of Juda.

‡ 2 Par. 36. 15.

2 ‡ But neither he, nor his servants, nor the people of the land did obey the words of the Lord, that he spoke in the hand of Jeremias the prophet.

* A. M. 3414. Ante C. 590.

3 And * king Sedecias sent Juchal the son of Selemias, and Sophonias the son of Maasias the priest to Jeremias the prophet, saying: Pray to the Lord our God for us.

4 Now Jeremias walked freely in the midst of the people: for they had not as yet cast him into prison. And the army of Pharao was come out of Egypt: and the Chaldeans that besieged Jerusalem, hearing these tidings, departed from Jerusalem.

5 And the word of the Lord came to Jeremias the prophet, saying:

6 Thus saith the Lord the God of Israel: Thus shall you say to the king of Juda, who sent you to enquire of me: Behold the army of Pharao, which is come forth to help you, shall return into their own land into Egypt.

7 And the Chaldeans shall come again, and fight against this city, and take it, and burn it with fire.

8 Thus saith the Lord: Deceive not your souls, saying: The Chaldeans shall surely depart and go away from us: for they shall not go away.

9 But if you should even beat all the army of the Chaldeans that fight against you, and there should be left of them some wounded men: they shall rise up, every man from his tent, and burn this city with fire.

10 Now when the army of the Chaldeans was gone away from Jerusalem, because of Pharao's army, 11 Jeremias went forth out of Jerusalem to go into the land of Benjamin: and to divide a possession there in the presence of the citizens.

12 And when he was come to the gate of Benjamin, the captain of the gate, who was there in his turn, was one named Jerias, the son of Selemias, the son of Hananias: and he took hold of Jeremias the prophet, saying: Thou art fleeing to the Chaldeans.

13 And Jeremias answered: It is not so, I am not fleeing to the Chaldeans. But he hearkened not to him: so Jerias took Jeremias, and brought him to the princes.

14 Wherefore the princes were angry with Jeremias, and they beat him, and cast him into the prison that was in the house of Jonathan the scribe: for he was chief over the prison.

15 So Jeremias went into the house of the prison, and into the dungeon: and Jeremias remained there many days.

16 Then Sedecias the king sending, took him: and asked him secretly in his house, and said: Is there, thinkest thou, any word from the Lord? And Jeremias said: There is. And he said: Thou shalt be delivered into the hands of the king of Babylon.

17 And Jeremias said to king Sedecias: In what have I offended against thee, or thy servants, or thy people, that thou hast cast me into prison?

18 Where are your prophets that propheſied to you, and said: The king of Babylon shall not come against you, and against this land?

19 Now therefore hear, I beseech thee, my lord the king: let my petition be accepted in thy sight: and send me not back into the house of Jonathan the scribe, lest I die there.

20 Then king Sedecias commanded that Jeremias should be committed into the entry of the prison: and that they should give him daily a piece of bread, beside broth, till all the bread in the city were spent: and Jeremias remained in the entry of the prison.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

The prophet at the inſtance of the great men is caſt into a filthy dungeon: he is drawn out by Abdemelech, and has another conference with the king.

NOW Saphatias the son of Mathan, and Gedelias the son of Phassur, and Juchal the son of Selemias, and Phassur the son of Melchias heard the words that Jeremias spoke to all the people, saying: A. M. 3415. Ante C. 589.

2 Thus saith the Lord: ‖ Whosoever shall remain in this city, shall die by the sword, and by famine, and by pestilence: ‖ Supra 21. 9.

but he that ſhall go forth to the Chaldeans, ſhall live, and his life ſhall be ſafe, and he ſhall live.

3 Thus ſaith the Lord: This city ſhall ſurely be delivered into the hand of the army of the king of Babylon, and he ſhall take it.

4 And the princes ſaid to the king: We beſeech thee that this man may be put to death: for on purpoſe he weakeneth the hands of the men of war, that remain in this city, and the hands of the people, ſpeaking to them according to theſe words: for this man ſeeketh not peace to this people, but evil.

5 And king Sedecias ſaid: Behold he is in your hands: for it is not lawful for the king to deny you any thing.

6 Then they took Jeremias, and caſt him into the dungeon of Melchias the ſon of Amelech, which was in the entry of the priſon: and they let down Jeremias by ropes into the dungeon, wherein there was no water, but mire. And Jeremias ſunk into the mire.

7 Now Abdemelech the Ethiopian, an eunuch that was in the king's houſe, heard that they had put Jeremias in the dungeon: but the king was ſitting in the gate of Benjamin.

8 And Abdemelech went out of the king's houſe, and ſpoke to the king, ſaying:

9 My lord the king, theſe men have done evil in all that they have done againſt Jeremias the prophet, caſting him into the dungeon to die there with hunger, for there is no more bread in the city.

10 Then the king commanded Abdemelech the Ethiopian, ſaying: Take from hence thirty men with thee, and draw up Jeremias the prophet out of the dungeon, before he die.

11 So Abdelemech taking the men with him, went into the king's houſe that was under the ſtorehouſe: and he took from thence old rags, and old rotten things, and he let them down by cords to Jeremias into the dungeon.

12 And Abdemelech the Ethiopian ſaid to Jeremias: Put theſe old rags, and theſe rent and rotten things under thy arms, and upon the cords: and Jeremias did ſo.

13 And they drew up Jeremias with the cords, and brought him forth out of the dungeon. And Jeremias remained in the entry of the priſon.

14 And king Sedecias ſent, and took Jeremias the prophet to him to the third gate, that was in the houſe of the Lord: and the king ſaid to Jeremias: I will aſk thee a thing, hide nothing from me.

15 Then Jeremias ſaid to Sedecias: If I ſhall declare it to thee, wilt thou not put me to death? and if I give thee counſel, thou wilt not hearken to me.

16 Then king Sedecias ſwore to Jeremias, in private, ſaying: As the Lord liveth, that made us this ſoul, I will not put thee to death, nor will I deliver thee into the hands of theſe men that ſeek thy life.

17 And Jeremias ſaid to Sedecias: Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts the God of Iſrael: If thou wilt take a reſolution and go out to the princes of the king of Babylon, thy ſoul ſhall live, and this city ſhall not be burnt with fire: and thou ſhalt be ſafe, and thy houſe.

18 But if thou wilt not go out to the princes of the king of Babylon, this city ſhall be delivered into the hands of the Chaldeans, and they ſhall burn it with fire: and thou ſhalt not eſcape out of their hands.

19 And king Sedecias ſaid to Jeremias: I am afraid becauſe of the Jews that are fled over to the Chaldeans: leſt I ſhould be delivered into their hands, and they ſhould abuſe me.

20 But Jeremias anſwered: They ſhall not deliver thee: hearken, I beſeech thee, to the word of the Lord, which I ſpeak to thee, and it ſhall be well with thee, and thy ſoul ſhall live.

21 But if thou wilt not go forth: this is the word which the Lord hath ſhewn me:

22 Behold all the women that are left in the houſe of the king of Juda, ſhall be brought out to the princes of the king of Babylon: and they ſhall ſay: Thy men of peace have deceived thee, and have prevailed againſt thee, they have plunged thy feet in the mire, and in a ſlippery place, and they have departed from thee.

23 And all thy wives, and thy children ſhall be brought out to the Chaldeans, and thou ſhalt not eſcape their hands, but thou ſhalt be taken by the hand of the king of Babylon: and he ſhall burn this city with fire.

24 Then Sedecias ſaid to Jeremias: Let no man know theſe words, and thou ſhalt not die.

25 But if the princes ſhall hear that I have ſpoken with thee, and ſhall come to thee, and ſay to thee: Tell us what thou haſt ſaid to the king, hide it not from us, and we will not kill thee: and alſo what the king ſaid to thee:

26 Thou ſhalt ſay to them: I preſented my supplication before the king, that he would not command me to be carried back into the house of Jonathan, to die there.

27 So all the princes came to Jeremias, and asked him: and he spoke to them according to all the words that the king had commanded him; and they left him: for nothing had been heard.

28 But Jeremias remained in the entry of the prison, until the day that Jerusalem was taken: and it came to pass that Jerusalem was taken.

CHAP. XXXIX.

After two years siege Jerusalem is taken. Sedecias is carried before Nabuchodonosor, who kills his sons in his sight, and then puts out his eyes. Jeremias is set at liberty.

* A. M. 3414. 4 Kings 25. 1. Infra 52. 1. IN the ninth year * of Sedecias king of Juda, in the tenth month, came Nabuchodonosor king of Babylon, and all his army to Jerusalem, and they besieged it.

* A. M. 3416. Ante C. 588. 2 And in the * eleventh year of Sedecias, in the fourth month, the fifth day of the month, the city was opened.

3 And all the princes of the king of Babylon came in, and sat in the middle gate: Neregel, Sereser, Semegarnabu, Sarsachim, Rabsares, Neregel, Sereser, Rebmag, and all the rest of the princes of the king of Babylon.

4 And when Sedecias the king of Juda, and all the men of war saw them, they fled: and they went forth in the night out of the city by the way of the king's garden, and by the gate that was between the two walls, and they went out to the way of the desert.

5 But the army of the Chaldeans pursued after them: and they took Sedecias in the plain of the desert of Jericho, and when they had taken him, they brought him to Nabuchodonosor king of Babylon to Reblatha, which is in the land of Emath: and he gave judgment upon him.

6 And the king of Babylon slew the sons of Sedecias in Reblatha, before his eyes: and the king of Babylon slew all the nobles of Juda.

7 He also put out the eyes of Sedecias: and bound him with fetters, to be carried to Babylon.

8 And the Chaldeans burnt the king's house, and the houses of the people with fire, and they threw down the wall of Jerusalem.

9 And Nabuzardan the general of the army carried away captive to Babylon the remnant of the people that remained in the city, and the fugitives that had gone over to him, and the rest of the people that remained.

10 But Nabuzardan the general left some of the poor people that had nothing at all, in the land of Juda, and he gave them vineyards, and cisterns at that time.

11 Now Nabuchodonosor king of Babylon had given charge to Nabuzardan the general concerning Jeremias, saying:

12 Take him, and set thy eyes upon him, and do him no harm: but as he hath a mind, so do with him.

13 Therefore Nabuzardan the general sent, and Nabusezban, and Rabsares, and Neregel, and Sereser, and Rebmag, and all the nobles of the king of Babylon,

14 Sent, and took Jeremias out of the court of the prison, and committed him to Godolias the son of Ahicam the son of Saphan, that he might go home, and dwell among the people.

15 But the word of the Lord came to Jeremias, when he was yet shut up in the court of the prison, saying: Go, and tell Abdemelech the Ethiopian, saying:

16 Thus saith the Lord of hosts the God of Israel: Behold I will bring my words upon this city unto evil, and not unto good: and they shall be accomplished in thy sight in that day.

17 And I will deliver thee in that day, saith the Lord: and thou shalt not be given into the hands of the men whom thou fearest:

18 But delivering, I will deliver thee, and thou shalt not fall by the sword: but thy life shall be saved for thee, because thou hast put thy trust in me, saith the Lord.

CHAP. XL.

Jeremias remains with Godolias the governor; who receives all the Jews that resort to him.

A. M. 3416. THE word that came to Jeremias from the Lord, after that Nabuzardan the general had let him go from Rama, when he had taken him, being bound with chains, among all them that were carried away from Jerusalem and Juda, and were carried to Babylon.

2 And the general of the army taking Jeremias, said to him: The Lord thy God hath pronounced this evil upon this place,

3 And he hath brought it: and the Lord hath done as he hath said: because you have sinned against the Lord, and have not hearkened to his voice, and this word is come upon you.

4 Now then behold I have loosed thee this day from the chains which were upon thy hands: if it please thee to come with me to Babylon, come: and I will set my eyes upon thee: but if it do not pleaſe thee to come with me to Babylon, ſtay here: behold all the land is before thee, as thou ſhalt chooſe, and whither it ſhall pleaſe thee to go, thither go.

5 And come not with me: but dwell with Godolias the ſon of Ahicam the ſon of Saphan, whom the king of Babylon hath made governor over the cities of Juda: dwell therefore with him in the midſt of the people: or whitherſoever it ſhall pleaſe thee to go, go. And the general of the army gave him victuals and preſents, and let him go.

6 And Jeremias went to Godolias the ſon of Ahicam to Maſphath: and dwelt with him in the midſt of the people that were left in the land.

7 And when all the captains of the army that were ſcattered through the countries, they and their companions, had heard that the king of Babylon had made Godolias the ſon of Ahicam governor of the country, and that he had committed unto him men and women, and children, and of the poor of the land, them that had not been carried away captive to Babylon:

8 They came to Godolias to Maſphath: and Iſmahel the ſon of Nathanias, and Johanan, and Jonathan, the ſons of Caree, and Sareas the ſon of Thanehumeth, and the children of Ophi, that were of Netophathi, and Jezonias the ſon of Maachati, they and their men.

‖ 4 Kings 25. 24. 9 ‖ And Godolias the ſon of Ahicam the ſon of Saphan ſwore to them, and to their companions, ſaying: Fear not to ſerve the Chaldeans: dwell in the land, and ſerve the king of Babylon, and it ſhall be well with you.

10 Behold I dwell in Maſphath, that I may anſwer the commandment of the Chaldeans that are ſent to us: but as for you, gather ye the vintage, and the harveſt, and the oil, and lay it up in your veſſels, and abide in your cities which you hold.

11 Moreover all the Jews that were in Moab, and among the children of Ammon, and in Edom, and in all the countries, when they heard that the king of Babylon had left a remnant in Judea, and that he had made Godolias the ſon of Ahicam the ſon of Saphan ruler over them:

12 All the Jews, I ſay, returned out of all the places to which they had fled, and they came into the land of Juda to Godolias to Maſphath: and they gathered wine, and a very great harveſt.

13 Then Johanan the ſon of Caree, and all the captains of the army, that had been ſcattered about in the countries, came to Godolias to Maſphath.

14 And they ſaid to him: Know that Baalis the king of the children of Ammon hath ſent Iſmahel the ſon of Nathanias to kill thee. And Godolias the ſon of Ahicam believed them not.

15 But Johanan, the ſon of Caree, ſpoke to Godolias privately in Maſphath, ſaying: I will go, and I will kill Iſmahel the ſon of Nathanias, and no man ſhall know it leſt he kill thee, and all the Jews be ſcattered, that are gathered unto thee, and the remnant of Juda periſh.

16 And Godolias the ſon of Ahicam ſaid to Johanan the ſon of Caree: Do not this thing: for what thou ſayſt of Iſmahel is falſe.

CHAP. XLI.

Godolias is ſlain: the Jews that were with him are apprehenſive of the Chaldeans.

AND it came to paſs in the ſeventh month, that Iſmahel the ſon of Nathanias, the ſon of Eliſama of the royal blood, and the nobles of the king, and ten men with him, came to Godolias the ſon of Ahicam into Maſphath: and they eat bread there together in Maſphath. A. M. 3417. Ante C. 587.

2 And Iſmahel the ſon of Nathanias aroſe, and the ten men that were with him, and they ſtruck Godolias the ſon of Ahicam the ſon of Saphan with the ſword, and ſlew him whom the king of Babylon had made governor over the land.

3 Iſmahel ſlew alſo all the Jews that were with Godolias in Maſphath, and the Chaldeans that were found there, and the ſoldiers.

4 And on the ſecond day after he had killed Godolias, no man yet knowing it,

5 There came ſome from Sichem, and from Silo, and from Samaria, fourſcore men, with their beards ſhaven, and their clothes rent, and mourning: and they had offerings and incenſe in their hand, to offer in the houſe of the Lord.

6 And Iſmahel the ſon of Nathanias went forth from Maſphath to meet them, weeping all along as he went: and when he had met them, he ſaid to them: Come to Godolias the ſon of Ahicam.

7 And when they were come to the midſt of the city, Iſmahel the ſon of Nathanias ſlew them, and caſt them into the midſt of the pit, he and the men that were with him.

8 But ten men were found among them, that ſaid to Iſmahel: Kill us not: for we have ſtores in the field, of wheat, and barley, and oil, and honey. And he forbore, and ſlew them not with their brethren.

9 And the pit into which Iſmahel caſt all the dead bodies of the men whom he ſlew becauſe of Godolias, is the ſame that king Aſa made, for fear of Baaſa the king of Iſrael: the ſame did Iſmahel the ſon of Nathanias fill with them that were ſlain.

10 Then Iſmahel carried away captive all the remnant of the people that were in Maſphath: the king's daughters, and all the people that remained in Maſphath: whom Nabuzardan the general of the army had committed to Godolias the ſon of Ahicam. And Iſmahel the ſon of Nathanias took them, and he departed, to go over to the children of Ammon.

11 But Johanan the ſon of Caree, and all the captains of the fighting men that were with him, heard of the evil that Iſmahel the ſon of Nathanias had done.

12 And taking all the men, they went out to fight againſt Iſmahel the ſon of Nathanias, and they found him by the great waters that are in Gabaon.

13 And when all the people that were with Iſmahel, had ſeen Johanan the ſon of Caree, and all the captains of the fighting men that were with him, they rejoiced.

14 And all the people whom Iſmahel had taken, went back to Maſphath: and they returned and went to Johanan the ſon of Caree.

15 But Iſmahel the ſon of Nathanias fled with eight men, from the face of Johanan, and went to the children of Ammon.

16 Then Johanan the ſon of Caree, and all the captains of the ſoldiers that were with him, took all the remnant of the people whom they had recovered from Iſmahel the ſon of Nathanias, from Maſphath, after that he had ſlain Godolias the ſon of Ahicam: valiant men for war, and the women, and the children, and the eunuchs, whom he had brought back from Gabaon:

17 And they departed, and ſat as ſojourners in Chamaam, which is near Bethlehem: in order to go forward, and enter into Egypt.

18 From the face of the Chaldeans: for they were afraid of them, becauſe Iſmahel the ſon of Nathanias had ſlain Godolias the ſon of Ahicam, whom the king of Babylon had made governor in the land of Juda.

CHAP. XLII.

Jeremias aſſures the remnant of the people, that if they will ſtay in Juda, they ſhall be ſafe: but if they go down into Egypt, they ſhall periſh.

THEN all the captains of the warriors, and Johanan the ſon of Caree, and Jezonias the ſon of Oſaias, and the reſt of the people from the leaſt to the greateſt came near: A. M. 3417.

2 And they ſaid to Jeremias the prophet: Let our ſupplication fall before thee: and pray thou for us to the Lord thy God for all this remnant, for we are left but a few of many, as thy eyes do behold us.

3 And let the Lord thy God ſhew us the way by which we may walk, and the thing that we muſt do.

4 And Jeremias the prophet ſaid to them: I have heard you: behold I will pray to the Lord your God according to your words: and whatſoever thing he ſhall anſwer me, I will declare it to you: and I will hide nothing from you.

5 And they ſaid to Jeremias: the Lord be witneſs between us of truth and faithfulneſs, if we do not according to every thing for which the Lord thy God ſhall ſend thee to us.

6 Whether it be good or evil, we will obey the voice of the Lord our God, to whom we ſend thee: that it may be well with us when we ſhall hearken to the voice of the Lord our God.

7 Now after ten days, the word of the Lord came to Jeremias.

8 And he called Johanan the ſon of Caree, and all the captains of the fighting men that were with him, and all the people from the leaſt to the greateſt.

9 And he ſaid to them: Thus ſaith the Lord the God of Iſrael, to whom you ſent me, to preſent your ſupplications before him:

10 If you will be quiet and remain in this land, I will build you up, and not pull you down: I will plant you, and not pluck you up: for now I am appeaſed for the evil that I have done to you.

11 Fear not becauſe of the king of Babylon, of whom you are greatly afraid: fear him not, ſaith the Lord: for I am with you, to ſave you, and to deliver you from his hand.

12 And I will ſhew mercies to you, and will take pity on you, and will cauſe you to dwell in your own land.

CHAP. XLII. VER. 6. Good or evil. That is, agreeable or diſagreeable.

VER. 10. I am appeaſed for the evil that I have done to you. That is, I am appeaſed, as I have ſufficiently puniſhed you, and now I am reconciled with you.

13 But if you say: We will not dwell in this land, neither will we hearken to the voice of the Lord our God,

14 Saying: No, but we will go into the land of Egypt: where we shall see no war, nor hear the sound of the trumpet, nor suffer hunger: and there we will dwell.

15 For this now hear the word of the Lord, ye remnant of Juda: Thus saith the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel: If you set your faces to go into Egypt, and enter in to dwell there:

16 The sword which you fear, shall overtake you there in the land of Egypt: and the famine, whereof you are afraid, shall cleave to you in Egypt, and there you shall die.

17 And all the men that set their faces to go into Egypt, to dwell there, shall die by the sword, and by famine, and by pestilence: none of them shall remain, nor escape from the face of the evil that I will bring upon them.

18 For thus saith the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel: As my anger and my indignation hath been kindled against the inhabitants of Jerusalem: so shall my indignation be kindled against you, when you shall enter into Egypt, and you shall be an execration, and an astonishment, and a curse, and a reproach: and you shall see this place no more.

19 This is the word of the Lord concerning you, O ye remnant of Juda: Go ye not into Egypt: know certainly that I have adjured you this day,

20 For you have deceived your own souls: for you sent me to the Lord our God, saying: Pray for us to the Lord our God, and according to all that the Lord our God shall say to thee, so declare unto us, and we will do it.

21 And now I have declared it to you this day, and you have not obeyed the voice of the Lord your God, with regard to all the things for which he hath sent me to you.

22 Now therefore know certainly that you shall die by the sword, and by famine, and by pestilence in the place to which you desire to go to dwell there.

CHAP. XLIII.

The Jews, contrary to the orders of God by the prophet, go into Egypt, carrying Jeremias with them. He foretells the devastation of that land by the king of Babylon.

A. M. 3417. AND it came to pass, that when Jeremias had made an end of speaking to the people all the words of the Lord their God, for which the Lord their God had sent him to them, all these words:

2 Azarias the son of Osaias, and Johanan the son of Caree, and all the proud men, made answer, saying to Jeremias: Thou tellest a lie: the Lord our God hath not sent thee, saying: Go not into Egypt, to dwell there.

3 But Baruch the son of Nerias setteth thee on against us, to deliver us into the hands of the Chaldeans, to kill us, and to cause us to be carried away captives to Babylon.

4 So Johanan the son of Caree, and all the captains of the soldiers, and all the people, obeyed not the voice of the Lord, to remain in the land of Juda.

5 But Johanan the son of Caree, and all the captains of the soldiers took all the remnant of Juda, that were returned out of all nations, to which they had before been scattered, to dwell in the land of Juda:

6 Men, and women, and children, and the king's daughters, and every soul, which Nabuzardan the general had left with Godolias the son of Ahicam the son of Saphan, and Jeremias the prophet, and Baruch the son of Nerias.

7 And they went into the land of Egypt, for they obeyed not the voice of the Lord: and they came as far as Taphnis.

8 And the word of the Lord came to Jeremias in Taphnis, saying:

9 Take great stones in thy hand, and thou shalt hide them in the vault that is under the brick wall at the gate of Pharao's house in Taphnis: in the sight of the men of Juda.

10 And thou shalt say to them: Thus saith the Lord of hosts the God of Israel: Behold I will send, and take Nabuchodonosor the king of Babylon my servant: and I will set his throne over these stones which I have hid, and he shall set his throne over them.

11 And he shall come and strike the land of Egypt: such as are for death, to death: and such as are for captivity, to captivity: and such as are for the sword, to the sword.

12 And he shall kindle a fire in the temples of the gods of Egypt, and he shall burn them, and he shall carry them away captives: and he shall array himself with the land of Egypt, as a shepherd putteth on his garment: and he shall go forth from thence in peace.

13 And he shall break the statues of the house of the sun: that are in the land of Egypt, and the temples of the gods of Egypt he shall burn with fire.

CHAP. XLIV.

The prophet's admonition to the Jews in Egypt againſt idolatry is not regarded: he denounces to them their deſtruction.

THE word that came to Jeremias, concerning all the Jews that dwelt in the land of Egypt, dwelling in Magdal, and in Taphnis, and in Memphis, and in the land of Phatures, ſaying:

2 Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts the God of Iſrael: You have ſeen all this evil that I have brought upon Jeruſalem, and upon all the cities of Juda: and behold they are deſolate this day, and there is not an inhabitant in them:

3 Becauſe of the wickedneſs which they have committed, to provoke me to wrath, and to go and offer ſacrifice, and worſhip other gods, which neither they, nor you, nor your fathers knew.

4 And I ſent to you all my ſervants the prophets, riſing early, and ſending, and ſaying: Do not commit this abominable thing, which I hate.

5 But they heard not, nor inclined their ear to turn from their evil ways, and not to ſacrifice to ſtrange gods.

6 Wherefore my indignation and my fury was poured forth, and was kindled in the cities of Juda, and in the ſtreets of Jeruſalem: and they are turned to deſolation and waſte, as at this day.

7 And now thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts the God of Iſrael: Why do you commit this great evil againſt your own ſouls, that there ſhould die of you man and woman, child and ſuckling out of the midſt of Juda, and no remnant ſhould be left you:

8 In that you provoke me to wrath with the works of your hands, by ſacrificing to other gods in the land of Egypt, into which you are come to dwell there: and that you ſhould periſh, and be a curſe, and a reproach to all the nations of the earth?

9 Have you forgotten the evils of your fathers, and the evils of the kings of Juda, and the evils of their wives, and your evils, and the evils of your wives, that they have done in the land of Juda, and in the ſtreets of Jeruſalem?

10 They are not cleanſed even to this day: neither have they feared, nor walked in the law of the Lord, nor in my commandments, which I ſet before you and your fathers.

11 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts the God of Iſrael: || Behold I will ſet my face upon you for evil: and I will deſtroy all Juda. || Amos 9. 4.

12 And I will take the remnant of Juda that have ſet their faces to go into the land of Egypt, and to dwell there: and they ſhall be all conſumed in the land of Egypt: they ſhall fall by the ſword, and by the famine: and they ſhall be conſumed from the leaſt even to the greateſt, by the ſword, and by the famine ſhall they die: and they ſhall be for an execration, and for a wonder, and for a curſe, and for a reproach.

13 And I will viſit them that dwell in the land of Egypt, as I have viſited Jeruſalem by the ſword, and by famine, and by peſtilence.

14 And there ſhall be none that ſhall eſcape, and remain of the remnant of the Jews that are gone to ſojourn in the land of Egypt: and that ſhall return into the land of Juda, to which they have a deſire to return to dwell there: there ſhall none return but they that ſhall flee.

15 Then all the men that knew that their wives ſacrificed to other gods: and all the women of whom there ſtood by a great multitude, and all the people of them that dwelt in the land of Egypt in Phatures, anſwered Jeremias, ſaying:

16 As for the word which thou haſt ſpoken to us in the name of the Lord, we will not hearken to thee:

17 But we will certainly do every word that ſhall proceed out of our own mouth, to ſacrifice to the queen of heaven, and to pour out drink-offerings to her, as we and our fathers have done, our kings, and our princes in the cities of Juda, and in the ſtreets of Jeruſalem: and we were filled with bread, and it was well with us, and we ſaw no evil.

18 But ſince we left off to offer ſacrifice to the queen of heaven, and to pour out drink-offerings to her, we have wanted all things, and have been conſumed by the ſword, and by famine.

19 And if we offer ſacrifice to the queen of heaven, and pour out drink-offerings to her: did we make cakes to worſhip her, to pour out drink-offerings to her, without our huſbands?

20 And Jeremias ſpoke to all the people, to the men, and to the women, and to all the people which had given him that anſwer, ſaying:

21 Was it not the ſacrifice that you offered in the cities of Juda, and in the ſtreets of Jeruſalem, you and your fathers, your kings, and your princes, and the people of the land, which the Lord hath remembered, and hath it not entered into his heart?

22 So that the Lord could no longer bear, becauſe of the evil of your doings, and becauſe of the abominations which you have committed: therefore your land is become a deſolation, and an aſtoniſhment, and a curſe, without an inhabitant, as at this day.

23 Becauſe you have ſacrificed to idols, and have ſinned againſt the Lord: and have not obeyed the voice of the Lord, and have not walked in his law, and in his commandments, and in his teſtimones: therefore are theſe evils come upon you, as at this day.

24 And Jeremias ſaid to all the people, and to all the women: Hear ye the word of the Lord, all Juda, you that dwell in the land of Egypt:

25 Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts the God of Iſrael, ſaying: You and your wives have ſpoken with your mouth, and fulfilled with your hands, ſaying: Let us perform our vows which we have made, to offer ſacrifice to the queen of heaven, and to pour out drink-offerings to her: you have fulfilled your vows, and have performed them indeed.

26 Therefore hear ye the word of the Lord, all Juda, you that dwell in the land of Egypt: Behold I have ſworn by my great name, ſaith the Lord: that my name ſhall no more be named in the mouth of any man of Juda, in the land of Egypt, ſaying: The Lord God liveth.

27 Behold I will watch over them for evil, and not for good: and all the men of Juda that are in the land of Egypt, ſhall be conſumed, by the ſword, and by famine, till there be an end of them.

28 And a few men that ſhall flee from the ſword, ſhall return out of the land of Egypt into the land of Juda: and all the remnant of Juda that are gone into the land of Egypt to dwell there, ſhall know, whoſe word ſhall ſtand, mine, or theirs.

29 And this ſhall be a ſign to you, ſaith the Lord, that I will puniſh you in this place: that you may know that my words ſhall be accompliſhed indeed againſt you for evil.

30 Thus ſaith the Lord: Behold I will deliver Pharao Ephree king of Egypt into the hand of his enemies, and into the hand of them that ſeek his life: as I delivered Sedecias king of Juda into the hand of Nabuchodonoſor the king of Babylon his enemy, and that ſought his life.

CHAP. XLV.

The prophet comforts Baruch in his affliction.

THE word that Jeremias the prophet ſpoke to Baruch the ſon of Nerias, when he had written theſe words in a book, out of the mouth of Jeremias, in the fourth year of Joakim the ſon of Joſias king of Juda, ſaying:

2 Thus ſaith the Lord the God of Iſrael to thee, Baruch:

3 Thou haſt ſaid: Wo is me, wretch that I am, for the Lord hath added ſorrow to my ſorrow: I am wearied with my groans, and I find no reſt.

4 Thus ſaith the Lord: Thus ſhalt thou ſay to him: Behold, them whom I have built, I do deſtroy: and them whom I have planted, I do pluck up, and all this land.

5 And doſt thou ſeek great things for thyſelf? Seek not: for behold I will bring evil upon all fleſh, ſaith the Lord: but I will give thee thy life, and ſave thee in all places whitherſoever thou ſhalt go.

CHAP. XLVI.

A prophecy againſt Egypt. The Jews ſhall return from captivity.

THE word of the Lord that came to Jeremias the prophet againſt the Gentiles,

2 Againſt Egypt, againſt the army of Pharao Nechao king of Egypt, which was by the river Euphrates in Charcamis, whom Nabuchodonoſor the king of Babylon defeated, in the fourth year * of Joakim the ſon of Joſias king of Juda. * A. M. 3397. Ante C. 607.

3 Prepare ye the ſhield and buckler, and go forth to battle.

4 Harneſs the horſes, and get up, ye horſemen: ſtand forth with helmets, furbiſh the ſpears, put on coats of mail.

5 What then? I have ſeen them diſmayed, and turning their backs, their valiant ones ſlain: they fled apace, and they looked not back: terror was round about, ſaith the Lord.

6 Let not the ſwift flee away, nor the ſtrong think to eſcape: they are overthrown, and fallen down, towards the north by the river Euphrates.

7 Who is this that cometh up as a flood: and his ſtreams ſwell like thoſe of rivers?

8 Egypt riſeth up like a flood, and the waves thereof ſhall be moved as rivers, and he ſhall ſay: I will go up and will cover the earth: I will deſtroy the city, and its inhabitants.

9 Get ye up on horſes, and glory in chariots, and let the valiant men come forth, the Ethiopians, and the Lybians that hold the ſhield, and the Lydians that take, and ſhoot arrows.

10 For this is the day of the Lord the God of hoſts, a day of vengeance, that he may revenge himſelf of his enemies: the ſword ſhall devour, and ſhall be filled, and ſhall be drunk with their blood: for there is a ſacrifice of the Lord God of hoſts in the north country, by the river Euphrates.

11 Go up into Galaad, and take balm, O virgin daughter of Egypt: in vain doſt thou multiply medicines, there ſhall be no cure for thee.

12 The nations have heard of thy diſgrace, and thy howling hath filled the land: for the ſtrong hath ſtumbled againſt the ſtrong, and both are fallen together.

13 The word that the Lord ſpoke to Jeremias the prophet, how Nabuchodonoſor king of Babylon ſhould come and ſtrike the land of Egypt:

14 Declare ye to Egypt, and publiſh it in ‖ Supra 44. 1. Magdal, ‖ and let it be known in Memphis, and in Taphnis: ſay ye: Stand up, and prepare thyſelf: for the ſword ſhall devour all round about thee.

15 Why are thy valiant men come to nothing? they ſtood not: becauſe the Lord hath overthrown them,

16 He hath multiplied them that fall, and one hath fallen upon another, and they ſhall ſay: Ariſe, and let us return to our own people, and to the land of our nativity, from the ſword of the dove.

17 Call ye the name of Pharao king of Egypt, a tumult time hath brought.

18 As I live (ſaith the king, whoſe name is the Lord of hoſts) as Thabor is among the mountains, and as Carmel by the ſea, ſo ſhall he come.

19 Furniſh thyſelf to go into captivity, thou daughter inhabitant of Egypt: for Memphis ſhall be made deſolate, and ſhall be forſaken and uninhabited.

20 Egypt is like a fair and beautiful heifer: there ſhall come from the north one that ſhall goad her.

21 Her hirelings alſo that lived in the midſt of her, like fatted calves are turned back, and are fled away together, and they could not ſtand: for the day of their ſlaughter is come upon them, the time of their viſitation.

22 Her voice ſhall ſound like braſs, for they ſhall haſten with an army, and with axes they ſhall come againſt her, as hewers of wood.

23 They have cut down her foreſt, ſaith the Lord, which cannot be counted: they are multiplied above locuſts, and are without number.

24 The daughter of Egypt is confounded, and delivered into the hand of the people of the north.

25 The Lord of hoſts the God of Iſrael hath ſaid: Behold I will viſit upon the tumult of Alexandria, and upon Pharao, and upon Egypt, and upon her gods, and upon her kings, and upon Pharao, and upon them that truſt in him.

26 And I will deliver them into the hand of them that ſeek their lives, and into the hand of Nabuchodonoſor king of Babylon, and into the hand of his ſervants: and afterwards it ſhall be inhabited ‖ as in the days of old, ſaith the Lord. ‖ Ezec. 29. 13.

27 ‡ And thou my ſervant Jacob, fear not, and be not thou diſmayed, O Iſrael: for behold I will ſave thee from afar off, and thy ſeed out of the land of thy captivity: and Jacob ſhall return and be at reſt, and proſper: and there ſhall be none to terrify him. ‡ Iſai. 43. 1 & 44. 2.

28 And thou my ſervant Jacob, fear not, ſaith the Lord: becauſe I am with thee, for I will conſume all the nations to which I have caſt thee out: but thee I will not conſume, but I will correct thee in judgment, neither will I ſpare thee as if thou wert innocent.

CHAP. XLVII.

A prophecy of the deſolation of the Philiſtines, of Tyre, Sidon, Gaza, and Aſcalon.

THE word of the Lord that came to Jeremias the prophet againſt the people of Paleſtine, before Pharao took Gaza:

2 Thus ſaith the Lord: Behold there come up waters out of the north, and they ſhall be as an overflowing torrent, and they ſhall cover the land, and all that is therein, the city and the inhabitants thereof: then the men ſhall cry, and all the inhabitants of the land ſhall howl,

A prophecy of the deſolation of Moab for their pride: but their captivity ſhall at laſt be releaſed.

Supra 27. Ezech. 25. AGAINST Moab thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts the God of Iſrael: Wo to Nabo, for it is laid waſte, and confounded: Cariathaim is taken: the ſtrong city is confounded, and hath trembled.

2 There is no more rejoicing in Moab over Heſebon: they have deviſed evil. Come, and let us cut it off from being a nation. Therefore ſhalt thou in ſilence hold thy peace, and the ſword ſhall follow thee.

3 A voice of crying from Oronaim: waſte, and great deſtruction.

4 Moab is deſtroyed: proclaim a cry for her little ones.

5 For by the aſcent of Luith ſhall the mourner go up with weeping: for in the deſcent of Oronaim the enemies have heard a howling of deſtruction:

‖ Supra 17. 6 6 Flee, ſave your lives: and be ‖ as heath in the wilderneſs.

7 For becauſe thou haſt truſted in thy bulwarks, and in thy treaſures, thou alſo ſhalt be taken: and Chamos ſhall go into captivity, his prieſts, and his princes together.

8 And the ſpoiler ſhall come upon every city, and no city ſhall eſcape: and the valleys ſhall periſh, and the plains ſhall be deſtroyed, for the Lord hath ſpoken:

9 Give a flower to Moab, for in its flower it ſhall go out: and the cities thereof ſhall be deſolate, and uninhabited.

10 Curſed be he that doth the work of the Lord deceitfully: and curſed be he that withholdeth his ſword from blood.

11 Moab hath been fruitful from his youth, and hath reſted upon his lees: and hath not been poured out from veſſel to veſſel, nor hath gone into captivity: therefore his taſte hath remained in him, and his ſcent is not changed.

12 Therefore behold the days come, ſaith the Lord, and I will ſend him men that ſhall order and overturn his bottles, and they ſhall caſt him down, and ſhall empty his veſſels, and break their bottles one againſt another.

15 Moab is laid waſte, and they have caſt down her cities: and her choice young men are gone down to the ſlaughter: ſaith the king, whoſe name is the Lord of hoſts.

16 The deſtruction of Moab is near to come: the calamity thereof ſhall come on exceeding ſwiftly.

17 Comfort him, all you that are round about him, and all you that know his name, ſay: How is the ſtrong ſtaff broken, the beautiful rod?

18 Come down from thy glory, and ſit in thirſt, O dwelling of the daughter of Dibon: becauſe the ſpoiler of Moab is come up to thee, he hath deſtroyed thy bulwarks.

19 Stand in the way, and look out, O habitation of Aroer: enquire of him that fleeth: and ſay to him that hath eſcaped: What is done?

20 Moab is confounded, becauſe he is overthrown: howl ye, and cry, tell ye it in Arnon, that Moab is waſted.

21 And judgment is come upon the plain country: upon Helon, and upon Jaſa, and upon Mephaath.

CHAP. XLVIII. VER. 7. Chamos. The idol of the Moabites.

VER. 10. Deceitfully. In the Greek, negligently. The work of God here ſpoken of is the puniſhment of the Moabites.

VER. 11. Moab hath been fruitful. That is, rich and flouriſhing. And hath reſted upon his lees: That is, remained in its bad morals: as wine not decanted has its lees mixt and remains muddy.

VER. 13. Of Bethel. That is, of their golden calf, which they worſhipped in Bethel.

24 And upon Carioth, and upon Bosra: and upon all the cities of the land of Moab, far, or near.

25 The horn of Moab is cut off, and his arm is broken, saith the Lord.

26 Make him drunk, because he lifted up himself against the Lord: and Moab shall dash his hand in his own vomit, and he also shall be in derision.

27 For Israel hath been a derision unto thee: as though thou hadst found him amongst thieves: for thy words therefore, which thou hast spoken against him, thou shalt be led away captive.

28 Leave the cities, and dwell in the rock, you that dwell in Moab: and be ye like the dove that maketh her nest in the mouth of the hole in the highest place.

‖ Isai. 16. 6. 29 ‖ We have heard the pride of Moab, he is exceeding proud: his haughtiness, and his arrogancy, and his pride, and the loftiness of his heart.

30 I know, saith the Lord, his boasting: and that the strength thereof is not according to it, neither hath it endeavoured to do according as it was able.

31 Therefore will I lament for Moab, and I will cry out to all Moab, for the men of the brick-wall that mourn.

32 O vineyard of Sabama, I will weep for thee, with the mourning of Jazer: thy branches are gone over the sea, they are come even to the sea of Jazer: the robber hath rushed in upon thy harvest, and thy vintage.

‖ Isai. 16. 33 ‖ Joy and gladness is taken away from Carmel, and from the land of Moab, and I have taken away the wine out of the presses: the treader of the grapes shall not sing the accustomed cheerful tune.

34 From the cry of Hesebon even to Eleale, and to Jasa, they have uttered their voice: from Segor to Oronaim, as a heifer of three years old: the waters also of Nemrim shall be very bad.

35 And I will take away from Moab, saith the Lord, him that offereth in the high places, and that sacrificeth to his gods.

36 Therefore my heart shall sound for Moab like pipes: and my heart shall sound like pipes for the men of the brick-wall: because he hath done more than he could, therefore they have perished.

‖ Isai. 15. 2. Ezech. 7. 18. 37 ‖ For every head shall be bald, and every beard shall be shaven: all hands shall be tied together, and upon every back there shall be haircloth.

38 Upon all the house-tops of Moab, and in the streets thereof general mourning: because I have broken Moab as an useless vessel, saith the Lord.

39 How is it overthrown, and they have howled? How hath Moab bowed down the neck, and is confounded? And Moab shall be a derision, and an example to all round about him.

40 Thus saith the Lord: Behold he shall fly as an eagle, and shall stretch forth his wings to Moab.

41 Carioth is taken, and the strong-holds are won: and the heart of the valiant men of Moab in that day shall be as the heart of a woman in labour.

42 And Moab shall cease to be a people: because he hath gloried against the Lord.

43 Fear, and the pit, and the snare come upon thee, O inhabitant of Moab, saith the Lord.

‖ Isai. 24. 18. 44 ‖ He that shall flee from the fear, shall fall into the pit: and he that shall get up out of the pit, shall be taken in the snare: for I will bring upon Moab the year of their visitation, saith the Lord.

45 They that fled from the snare stood in the shadow of Hesebon: but there came a fire out of Hesebon, and a flame out of the midst of Seon, and it shall devour part of Moab, and the crown of the head of the children of tumult.

46 Wo to thee, Moab, thou hast perished, O people of Chamos: for thy sons, and thy daughters are taken captives.

47 And I will bring back the captivity of Moab in the last days, saith the Lord. Hitherto the judgments of Moab.

VER. 25. The horn of Moab is cut off. That is, the strength of Moab is cut off. A metaphor drawn from animals whose strength is in their horns.

VER. 43. Fear. That is, the sword of the enemy. The pit. That is, unforeseen calamities. The snare. That is, the ambushes laid by the enemy.

CHAP. XLIX. VER. 1. Melchom. The idol of the Ammonites.

Ammon, and it shall be destroyed into a heap, and her daughters shall be burnt with fire, and Israel shall possess them that have possessed him, saith the Lord.

3 Howl, O Hesebon, for Hai is wasted. Cry, ye daughters of Rabbath, gird yourselves with haircloth: mourn and go about by the hedges: for Melchom shall be carried into captivity, his priests, and his princes together.

4 Why gloriest thou in the valleys? thy valley hath flowed away, O delicate daughter, that hast trusted in thy treasures, and hast said: Who shall come to me?

5 Behold I will bring a fear upon thee, saith the Lord God of hosts, from all that are round about thee: and you shall be scattered every one out of one another's sight, neither shall there be any to gather together them that flee.

6 And afterwards I will cause the captives of the children of Ammon to return, saith the Lord.

A. M. 3417. 7 Against Edom. Thus saith the Lord of hosts: Is wisdom no more in Theman? counsel is perished from her children: their wisdom is become unprofitable.

8 Flee and turn your backs, go down into the deep hole, ye inhabitants of Dedan: for I have brought the destruction of Esau upon him, the time of his visitation.

9 If grape-gatherers had come to thee, would they not have left a bunch? if thieves in the night, they would have taken what was enough for them.

10 But I have made Esau bare, I have revealed his secrets, and he cannot be hid: his seed is laid waste, and his brethren, and his neighbours, and he shall not be.

11 Leave thy fatherless children: I will make them live: and thy widows shall hope in me.

12 For thus saith the Lord: Behold they whose judgment was not to drink of the cup, shall certainly drink: and shalt thou come off as innocent? thou shalt not come off as innocent, but drinking thou shalt drink.

13 For I have sworn by myself, saith the Lord, that Bosra shall become a desolation, and a reproach, and a desert, and a curse: and all her cities shall be everlasting wastes.

‖ Abdias 1. 2. 14 ‖ I have heard a rumour from the Lord, and an embassador is sent to the nations: Gather yourselves together, and come against her, and let us rise up to battle.

15 For behold I have made thee a little one among the nations, despicable among men.

16 Thy arrogancy hath deceived thee, and the pride of thy heart? O thou that dwellest in the clifts of the rock, and endeavourest to lay hold on the height of the hill: ‖ but though thou shouldst make thy nest as high as an eagle, I will bring thee down from thence, saith the Lord. ‖ Abdias 1. 4.

17 And Edom shall be desolate: ever one that shall pass by it, shall be astonished, and shall hiss at all its plagues.

18 ‖ As Sodom was overthrown and Gomorrha, and the neighbours thereof, saith the Lord: there shall not a man dwell there, and there shall no son of man inhabit it. ‖ Gen. 19. 20.

19 Behold one shall come up as a lion from the swelling of the Jordan, against the strong and beautiful: for I will make him run suddenly upon her: and who shall be the chosen one whom I may appoint over her? for who is like to me? and who shall abide me? ‖ and who is that shepherd that can withstand my countenance? ‖ Job 41. 1.

20 Therefore hear ye the counsel of the Lord, which he hath taken concerning Edom: and his thoughts, which he hath thought concerning the inhabitants of Theman: surely the little ones of the flock shall cast them down, of a truth they shall destroy them with their habitation.

21 The earth is moved at the noise of their fall: the cry of their voice is heard in the Red sea.

22 Behold he shall come up as an eagle, and fly: and he shall spread his wings over Bosra: and in that day the heart of the valiant ones of Edom shall be as the heart of a woman in labour.

23 Against Damascus. Emath is confounded and Arphad: for they have heard very bad tidings, they are troubled as in the sea: through care they could not rest.

24 Damascus is undone, she is put to flight, trembling hath seized on her? anguish and sorrows have taken her as a woman in labour.

25 How have they forsaken the city of renown, the city of joy?

26 Therefore her young men shall fall in her streets: and all the men of war shall be silent in that day, saith the Lord of hosts.

27 And I will kindle a fire in the wall of Damascus, and it shall devour the strongholds of Benadad.

28 Against Cedar, and against the kingdoms of Asor, which Nabuchodonosor king of Babylon destroyed. Thus saith the Lord: Arise, and go ye up to Cedar, and waste the children of the east.

VER. 28. Cedar, and Asor were parts of Arabia: which with Moab, Ammon, Edom, &c. were all brought under the yoke of Nabuchodonosor.

29 They ſhall take their tents, and their flocks: and ſhall carry off for themſelves their curtains, and all their veſſels, and their camels: and they ſhall call fear upon them round about.

30 Flee ye, get away ſpeedily, ſit in deep holes, you that inhabit Aſor, ſaith the Lord: for Nabuchodonoſor king of Babylon hath taken counſel againſt you, and hath conceived deſigns againſt you.

31 Ariſe, and go up to a nation that is at eaſe, and that dwelleth ſecurely, ſaith the Lord: they have neither gates, nor bars: they dwell alone.

32 And their camels ſhall be for a ſpoil, and the multitude of their cattle for a booty: and I will ſcatter into every wind them that have their hair cut round, and I will bring deſtruction upon them from all their confines, ſaith the Lord.

33 And Aſor ſhall be a habitation for dragons, deſolate for ever: no man ſhall abide there, nor ſon of man inhabit it.

34 The word of the Lord that came to Jeremias the prophet againſt Elam, in the beginning of the reign of Sedecias king of Juda, ſaying:

35 Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts: Behold I will break the bow of Elam, and their chief ſtrength.

36 And I will bring upon Elam the four winds from the four quarters of heaven: and I will ſcatter them into all theſe winds: and there ſhall be no nation, to which the fugitives of Elam ſhall not come.

37 And I will cauſe Elam to be afraid before their enemies, and in the ſight of them that ſeek their life: and I will bring evil upon them, my fierce wrath, ſaith the Lord: and I will ſend the ſword after them, till I conſume them.

38 And I will ſet my throne in Elam, and deſtroy kings and princes from thence, ſaith the Lord.

39 But in the latter days I will cauſe the captives of Elam to return, ſaith the Lord.

Babylon, which hath afflicted the Iſraelites, after their reſtoration, ſhall be utterly deſtroyed.

A. M. 3459. Ante C. 595. THE word that the Lord hath ſpoken againſt Babylon, and againſt the land of the Chaldeans, in the hand of Jeremias the prophet.

2 Declare ye among the nations, and publiſh it, lift up a ſtandard: proclaim, and conceal it not: ſay: Babylon is taken, Bel is confounded, Merodach is overthrown, their graven things are confounded, their idols are overthrown.

3 For a nation is come up againſt her out of the north, which ſhall make her land deſolate: and there ſhall be none to dwell therein, from man even to beaſt: yea they are removed, and gone away.

4 In thoſe days, and at that time, ſaith the Lord, the children of Iſrael ſhall come, they and the children of Juda together: going and weeping they ſhall make haſte, and ſhall ſeek the Lord their God.

5 They ſhall aſk the way to Sion, their faces are hitherward. They ſhall come, and ſhall be joined to the Lord by an everlaſting covenant, which ſhall never be forgotten.

6 My people hath been a loſt flock, their ſhepherds have cauſed them to go aſtray, and have made them wander in the mountains: they have gone from mountain to hill, they have forgotten their reſting place.

7 All that found them, have devoured them: and their enemies ſaid: We have not ſinned in ſo doing: becauſe they have ſinned againſt the Lord the beauty of juſtice, and againſt the Lord the hope of their fathers.

8 Remove out of the midſt of Babylon, and go forth out of the land of the Chaldeans: and be ye as kids at the head of the flock.

9 For behold I raiſe up, and will bring againſt Babylon an aſſembly of great nations from the land of the north: and they ſhall be prepared againſt her, and from thence ſhe ſhall be taken: their arrows, like thoſe of a mighty man, a deſtroyer, ſhall not return in vain.

10 And Chaldea ſhall be made a prey: all that waſte her ſhall be filled, ſaith the Lord.

11 Becauſe you rejoice, and ſpeak great things, pillaging my inheritance: becauſe you are ſpread abroad as calves upon the graſs, and have bellowed as bulls.

12 Your mother is confounded exceedingly, and ſhe that bore you is made even with the duſt: behold ſhe ſhall be the laſt among the nations, a wilderneſs unpaſſable, and dry.

13 Becauſe of the wrath of the Lord it ſhall not be inhabited, but ſhall be wholly deſolate: every one that ſhall paſs by Babylon, ſhall be aſtoniſhed, and ſhall hiſs at all her plagues.

14 Prepare yourſelves againſt Babylon round about, all you that bend the bow:

VER. 34. Elam. A part of Perſia.

fight againſt her, ſpare not arrows: becauſe ſhe hath ſinned againſt the Lord.

15 Shout againſt her, ſhe hath every where given her hand, her foundations are fallen, her walls are thrown down, for it is the vengeance of the Lord. Take vengeance upon her: as ſhe hath done, ſo do to her.

16 Deſtroy the ſower out of Babylon, and him that holdeth the ſickle in the time of harveſt: for fear of the ſword of the dove every man ſhall return to his people, and every one ſhall flee to his own land.

17 Iſrael is a ſcattered flock, the lions have driven him away: firſt the king of Aſſyria devoured him: and laſt this Nabuchodonoſor king of Babylon hath broken his bones.

18 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts the God of Iſrael: Behold I will viſit the king of Babylon and his land, as I have viſited the king of Aſſyria.

19 And I will bring Iſrael again to his habitation: and he ſhall feed on Carmel, and Baſon, and his ſoul ſhall be ſatisfied in mount Ephraim, and Galaad.

20 In thoſe days, and at that time, ſaith the Lord, the iniquity of Iſrael ſhall be ſought for, and there ſhall be none: and the ſin of Juda, and there ſhall none be found: for I will be merciful to them, whom I ſhall leave.

21 Go up againſt the land of the rulers, and puniſh the inhabitants thereof, waſte, and deſtroy all behind them, ſaith the Lord: and do according to all that I have commanded thee.

22 A noiſe of war in the land, and a great deſtruction.

23 How is the hammer of the whole earth broken, and deſtroyed? how is Babylon turned into a deſert among the nations?

24 I have cauſed thee to fall into a ſnare, and thou art taken, O Babylon, and thou waſt not aware of it: thou art found and caught, becauſe thou haſt provoked the Lord.

25 The Lord hath opened his armoury, and hath brought forth the weapons of his wrath: for the Lord the God of hoſts hath a work to be done in the land of the Chaldeans.

26 Come ye againſt her from the uttermoſt borders: open that they may go forth that ſhall tread her down: take the ſtones out of the way, and make heaps, and deſtroy her: and let nothing of her be left.

27 Deſtroy all her valiant men, let them go down to the ſlaughter: wo to them, for their day is come, the time of their viſitation.

28 The voice of them that flee, and of them that have eſcaped out of the land of Babylon: to declare in Sion the revenge of the Lord our God, the revenge of his temple.

29 Declare to many againſt Babylon, to all that bend the bow: ſtand together againſt her round about, and let none eſcape: pay her according to her work: ‖ according to all that ſhe hath done, do ye to her: for ſhe hath lifed up herſelf againſt the Lord, againſt the holy One of Iſrael. ‖ Infra 51. 49.

30 Therefore ſhall her young men fall in her ſtreets: and all her men of war ſhall hold their peace in that day, ſaith the Lord.

31 Behold I come againſt thee, O proud one, ſaith the Lord the God of hoſts: for thy day is come, the time of thy viſitation.

32 And the proud one ſhall fall, he ſhall fall down, and there ſhall be none to lift him up: and I will kindle a fire in his cities, and it ſhall devour all round about him.

33 Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts: The children of Iſrael, and the children of Juda are oppreſſed together: all that have taken them captives, hold them faſt, they will not let them go.

34 Their Redeemer is ſtrong, the Lord of hoſts is his name, he will defend their cauſe in judgment, to terrify the land, and to diſquiet the inhabitants of Babylon.

35 A ſword is upon the Chaldeans, ſaith the Lord, and upon the inhabitants of Babylon, and upon her princes, and upon her wiſe men.

36 A ſword upon her diviners, and they ſhall be fooliſh: a ſword upon her valiant ones, and they ſhall be diſmayed.

37 A ſword upon their horſes, and upon their chariots, and upon all the people that are in the midſt of her: and they ſhall become as women: a ſword upon her treaſures, and they ſhall be made a ſpoil.

38 A drought upon her waters, and they ſhall be dried up: becauſe it is a land of idols, and they glory in monſtrous things.

39 Therefore ſhall dragons dwell there with the fig-fauns: and oſtriches ſhall dwell therein: and it ſhall be no more inhabited for ever, neither ſhall it be built up from generation to generation.

40 ‖ As the Lord overthrew Sodom and Gomorrha, and their neighbour cities, ſaith the Lord: no man ſhall dwell there, neither ſhall the ſon of man inhabit it. ‖ Gen. 19. 24.

VER. 16. The dove. Or the deſtroyer; for the Hebrew word ſignifies either the one or the other.

VER. 39. Fig-fauns, Monſters of the deſert, or demons in monſtrous ſhapes; ſuch as the ancients called Fauns and Satyrs: and as they imagined them to live upon wild figs, they called them Fauni ficarii, or Fig-fauns.

41 Behold a people cometh from the north, and a great nation, and many kings ſhall riſe up from the ends of the earth.

42 They ſhall take the bow, and the ſhield: they are cruel and unmerciful: their voice ſhall roar like the ſea, and they ſhall ride upon horſes: like a man prepared for battle againſt thee, O daughter of Babylon.

43 The king of Babylon hath heard the report of them, and his hands are grown feeble: anguiſh hath taken hold of him, pangs as a woman in labour.

|| Supra 49. 19. 44 || Behold he ſhall come up like a lion from the ſwelling of the Jordan to the ſtrong and beautiful: for I will make him run ſuddenly upon her: and who ſhall be the choſen one whom I may appoint over her? for who is like to me? and who ſhall bear up againſt me? || and who is that ſhepherd that can withſtand my countenance?

|| Job 41. 1.

45 Therefore hear ye the counſel of the Lord, which he hath taken againſt Babylon: and his thoughts which he hath thought againſt the land of the Chaldeans: ſurely the little ones of the flocks ſhall pull them down, of a truth their habitation ſhall be deſtroyed with them.

46 At the noiſe of the taking of Babylon the earth is moved, and the cry is heard amongſt the nations.

CHAP. LI.

The miſeries that ſhall fall upon Babylon from the Medes: the deſtruction of her idols.

A. M. 3409. THUS ſaith the Lord: Behold I will raiſe up as it were a peſtilential wind againſt Babylon and againſt the inhabitants thereof, who have lifted up their heart againſt me.

2 And I will ſend to Babylon fanners, and they ſhall fan her, and ſhall deſtroy her land: for they are come upon her on every ſide in the day of her affliction.

3 Let not him that bendeth, bend his bow, and let not him go up that is armed with a coat of mail: ſpare not her young men, deſtroy all her army.

4 And the ſlain ſhall fall in the land of the Chaldeans, and the wounded in the regions thereof.

5 For Iſrael and Juda have not been forſaken by their God the Lord of hoſts: but their land hath been filled with ſin againſt the holy One of Iſrael.

6 Flee ye from the midſt of Babylon, and let every one ſave his own life: be not ſilent upon her iniquity: for it is the time of revenge from the Lord, he will render unto her what ſhe hath deſerved.

7 Babylon hath been a golden cup in the hand of the Lord, that made all the earth drunk: the nations have drunk of her wine, and therefore they have ſtaggered.

|| Iſai. 21. 9. Apoc. 14. 8. 8 || Babylon is ſuddenly fallen, and deſtroyed: howl for her, take balm for her pain, if ſo ſhe may be healed.

9 We would have cured Babylon, but ſhe is not healed: let us forſake her, and let us go every man to his own land: becauſe her judgment hath reached even to the heavens, and is lifted up to the clouds.

10 The Lord hath brought forth our juſtices: come, and let us declare in Sion the work of the Lord our God.

11 Sharpen the arrows, fill the quivers: the Lord hath raiſed up the ſpirit of the kings of the Medes: and his mind is againſt Babylon to deſtroy it, becauſe it is the vengeance of the Lord, the vengeance of his temple.

12 Upon the walls of Babylon ſet up the ſtandard, ſtrengthen the watch: ſet up the watchmen, prepare the ambuſhes: for the Lord hath both purpoſed, and done all that he ſpoke againſt the inhabitants of Babylon.

13 O thou that dwelleſt upon many waters, rich in treaſures, thy end is come for thy entire deſtruction.

|| Amos 6. 8. 14 || The Lord of hoſts hath ſworn by himſelf, ſaying: I will fill thee with men as with locuſts, and they ſhall lift up a joyful ſhout againſt thee.

|| Gen. 1. 1. 15 || He that made the earth by his power, that hath prepared the world by his wiſdom, and ſtretched out the heavens by his underſtanding.

16 When he uttereth his voice the waters are multiplied in heaven: he lifteth up the clouds from the ends of the earth, he hath turned lightning into rain: and hath brought forth the wind out of his treaſures.

17 Every man is become fooliſh by his knowledge: every founder is confounded by his idol, for what he hath caſt is a lie, and there is no breath in them.

18 They are vain works, and worthy to be laughed at, in the time of their viſitation they ſhall periſh.

19 The portion of Jacob is not like them: for he that made all things he it is, and Iſrael is the ſceptre of his inheritance: the Lord of hoſts is his name.

20 Thou daſheſt together for me the weapons of war, and with thee I will daſh nations together, and with thee I will deſtroy kingdoms:

21 And with thee I will break in pieces the horſe, and his rider: and with thee I will break in pieces the chariot, and him that getteth up into it.

22 And with thee I will break in pieces man and woman, and with thee I will break in pieces the old man and the child, and with thee I will break in pieces the young man and the virgin:

23 And with thee I will break in pieces the ſhepherd and his flock, and with thee I will break in pieces the huſbandman and his yoke of oxen, and with thee I will break in pieces captains and rulers.

24 And I will render to Babylon, and to all the inhabitants of Chaldea all their evil, that they have done in Sion, before your eyes, ſaith the Lord.

25 Behold I come againſt thee thou deſtroying mountain, ſaith the Lord, which corrupteſt the whole earth: and I will ſtretch out my hand upon thee, and will roll thee down from the rocks, and will make thee a burnt mountain.

26 And they ſhall not take of thee a ſtone for the corner, nor a ſtone for foundations, but thou ſhalt be deſtroyed for ever, ſaith the Lord.

27 Set ye up a ſtandard in the land: ſound with the trumpet among the nations: prepare the nations againſt her: call together againſt her the kings of Ararat, Menni, and Aſcenez: number Taphſar againſt her, bring the horſe as the ſtinging locuſt.

28 Prepare the nations againſt her, the kings of Media, their captains, and all their rulers, and all the land of their dominion.

29 And the land ſhall be in a commotion, and ſhall be troubled: for the deſign of the Lord againſt Babylon ſhall awake, to make the land of Babylon deſert and unhabitable.

30 The valiant men of Babylon have forebore to fight, they have dwelt in holds: their ſtrength hath failed, and they are become as women: her dwelling-places are burnt, her bars are broken.

31 One running poſt ſhall meet another, and meſſenger ſhall meet meſſenger: to tell the king of Babylon that his city is taken from one end to the other:

32 And that the fords are taken, and the marſhes are burnt with fire, and the men of war are affrighted.

33 For thus ſaith the Lord of hoſts the God of Iſrael: The daughter of Babylon is like a threſhing-floor, this is the time of her threſhing: yet a little while, and the time of her harveſt ſhall come.

34 Nabuchodonoſor king of Babylon hath eaten me up, he hath devoured me: he hath made me as an empty veſſel: he hath ſwallowed me up like a dragon, he hath filled his belly with my delicate meats, and he hath caſt me out.

35 The wrong done to me, and my fleſh be upon Babylon, ſaith the habitation of Sion: and my blood upon the inhabitants of Chaldea, ſaith Jeruſalem.

36 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord: Behold I will judge thy cauſe, and will take vengeance for thee, and I will make her ſea deſolate, ‖ and will dry up her ſpring. ‖ Supra 50. 38.

37 And Babylon ſhall be reduced to heaps, a dwelling place for dragons, an aſtoniſhment and a hiſſing, becauſe there is no inhabitant.

38 They ſhall roar together like lions, they ſhall ſhake their mains like young lions.

39 In their heat I will ſet them drink: and I will make them drunk, ‖ that they may ſlumber, and ſleep an everlaſting ſleep, and awake no more, ſaith the Lord. ‖ Infra ver. 57.

40 I will bring them down like lambs to the ſlaughter, and like rams with kids.

41 How is Seſach taken, and the renowned one of all the earth ſurpriſed? How is Babylon become an aſtoniſhment among the nations?

42 The ſea is come up over Babylon: ſhe is covered with the multitude of the waves thereof.

43 Her cities are become an aſtoniſhment, a land uninhabited and deſolate, a land wherein none can dwell, nor ſon of man paſs through it.

44 And I will viſit againſt Bel in Babylon, and I will bring forth out of his mouth that which he had ſwallowed down: and the nations ſhall no more flow together to him, for the wall alſo of Babylon ſhall fall.

45 Go out of the midſt of her, my people: that every man may ſave his life from the fierce wrath of the Lord.

46 And leſt your hearts faint, and ye fear for the rumour that ſhall be heard in the land: and a rumour ſhall come in one year, and after this year another rumour: and iniquity in the land, and ruler upon ruler.

47 Therefore behold the days come, and I will viſit the idols of Babylon: and her whole land ſhall be confounded, and all her ſlain ſhall fall in the midſt of her.

48 And the heavens and the earth, and all things that are in them ſhall give praiſe for Babylon: for ſpoilers ſhall come to her from the north, ſaith the Lord.

49 And as Babylon cauſed that there shall fall slain in Israel: so of Babylon there shall fall slain in all the earth.

50 You that have escaped the sword, come away, stand not still: remember the Lord afar off, and let Jerusalem come into your mind.

51 We are confounded, because we have heard reproach: shame hath covered our faces: because strangers are come upon the sanctuaries of the house of the Lord.

52 Therefore behold the days come, saith the Lord, and I will visit her graven things, and in all her land the wounded shall groan.

53 If Babylon should mount up to heaven, and establish her strength on high: from me there should come spoilers upon her, saith the Lord.

54 The noise of a cry from Babylon, and great destruction from the land of the Chaldeans:

55 Because the Lord hath laid Babylon waste, and destroyed out of her the great voice: and their waves shall roar like many waters: their voice hath made a noise:

56 Because the spoiler is come upon her, that is, upon Babylon, and her valiant men are taken, and their bow is weakened, because the Lord who is a strong revenger will surely repay.

57 And I will make her princes drunk, and her wise men, and her captains, and her rulers, and her valiant men: and they shall sleep an everlasting sleep, and shall awake no more, saith the King whose name is Lord of hosts.

58 Thus saith the Lord of hosts: That broad wall of Babylon shall be utterly broken down, and her high gates shall be burnt with fire, and the labours of the people shall come to nothing, and of the nations shall go to the fire and shall perish.

59 The word that Jeremias the Prophet commanded Saraias the son of Nerias, the son of Maasias, when he went with king Sedecias to Babylon, in the fourth year of his reign: now Saraias was chief over the prophecy.

60 And Jeremias wrote in one book all the evil that was to come upon Babylon: all these words that are written against Babylon.

61 And Jeremias said to Saraias: When thou shalt come into Babylon, and shalt see, and shalt read all these words,

62 Thou shalt say: O Lord, thou hast spoken against this place to destroy it: so that there should be neither man nor beast to dwell therein, and that it should be desolate for ever.

63 And when thou shalt have made an end of reading this book, thou shalt tie a stone to it, and shalt throw it into the midst of the Euphrates:

64 And thou shalt say: Thus shall Babylon sink, and she shall not rise up from the affliction that I will bring upon her, and she shall be utterly destroyed. Thus far are the words of Jeremias.

CHAP. LII.

A recapitulation of the reign of Sedecias; and the destruction of Jerusalem. The number of the captives.

A. M. 3414. Ante C. 590. 4 Kings 24. 18. 2 Par. 36. 11.

SEDECIAS was one and twenty years old when he began to reign: and he reigned eleven years in Jerusalem: and the name of his mother was Amital, the daughter of Jeremias of Lobna.

2 And he did that which was evil in the eyes of the Lord, according to all that Joakim had done.

3 For the wrath of the Lord was against Jerusalem, and against Juda, till he cast them out from his presence: and Sedecias revolted from the king of Babylon.

‖ 4 Kings 25. 1. Supra 39. 1.

4 ‖ And it came to pass in the ninth year of his reign, in the tenth month, the tenth day of the month, that Nabuchodonosor the king of Babylon came, he and all his army against Jerusalem, and they besieged it, and built forts against it round about.

5 And the city was besieged until the eleventh year of king Sedecias.

6 And in the fourth month, the ninth day of the month, a famine overpowered the city: and there was no food for the people of the land.

7 And the city was broken up, and the men of war fled, and went out of the city in the night by the way of the gate that is between the two walls, and leadeth to the king's garden (the Chaldeans besieging the city round about), and they went by the way that leadeth to the wilderness.

8 But the army of the Chaldeans pursued after the king: and they overtook Sedecias in the desert which is near Jericho: and all his companions were scattered from him.

9 And when they had taken the king, they carried him to the king of Babylon to Reblatha, which is in the land of Emath: and he gave judgment upon him.

10 And the king of Babylon slew the sons of Sedecias before his eyes: and he slew all the princes of Juda in Reblatha.

11 And he put out the eyes of Sedecias, and bound him with fetters, and the king of Babylon brought him to Babylon, and he put him in prison till the day of his death.

12 And in the fifth month, the tenth day of the month, the ſame is the nineteenth year of Nabuchodonoſor, king of Babylon, came Nabuzardan the general of the army, who ſtood before the king of Babylon in Jeruſalem.

13 And he burnt the houſe of the Lord, and the king's houſe, and all the houſes of Jeruſalem, and every great houſe he burnt with fire.

14 And all the army of the Chaldeans that were with the general broke down all the wall of Jeruſalem round about.

15 But Nabuzardan the general carried away captives ſome of the poor people, and of the reſt of the common ſort who remained in the city, and of the fugitives that were fled over to the king of Babylon, and the reſt of the multitude.

16 But of the poor of the land, Nabuzardan the general left ſome for vine-dreſſers, and for huſbandmen.

17 The Chaldeans alſo broke in pieces the brazen pillars that were in the houſe of the Lord, and the baſes, and the ſea of braſs that was in the houſe of the Lord: and they carried all the braſs of them to Babylon.

18 And they took the cauldrons, and the fleſh-hooks, and the pſalteries, and the bowls, and the little mortars, and all the brazen veſſels that had been uſed in the miniſtry: and

19 The general took away the pitchers, and the cenſers, and the pots, and the baſons, and the candleſticks, and the mortars, and the cups: as many as were of gold, in gold: and as many as were of ſilver, in ſilver:

20 And the two pillars, and one ſea, and twelve oxen of braſs that were under the baſes, which king Solomon had made in the houſe of the Lord: there was no weight of the braſs of all theſe veſſels.

21 And concerning the pillars, one pillar was eighteen cubits high: and a cord of twelve cubits compaſſed it about: but the thickneſs thereof was four fingers, and it was hollow within.

22 And chapiters of braſs were upon both: the height of one chapiter was five cubits: and net-work, and pomegranates were upon the chapiters round about, all of braſs. The ſame of the ſecond pillar, and the pomegranates.

23 And there were ninety ſix pomegranates hanging down: and the pomegranates being a hundred in all, were compaſſed with net-work.

24 And the general took Saraias the chief prieſt, and Sophonias the ſecond prieſt, and the three-keepers of the entry.

25 He alſo took out of the city one eunuch that was chief over the men of war: and ſeven men of them that were near the king's perſon, that were found in the city: and a ſcribe an officer of the army, who exerciſed the young ſoldiers: and three-ſcore men of the people of the land, that were found in the midſt of the city.

26 And Nabuzardan the general took them, and brought them to the king of Babylon to Reblatha.

27 And the king of Babylon ſtruck them, and put them to death in Reblatha in the land of Emath: and Juda was carried away captive out of his land.

28 This is the people whom Nabuchodonoſor carried away captive: In the ſeventh year, three thouſand and twenty three Jews.

29 In the eighteenth year of Nabuchodonoſor, eight hundred and thirty two ſouls from Jeruſalem.

30 In the three and twentieth year of Nabuchodonoſor, Nabuzardan the general carried away of the Jews ſeven hundred and forty five ſouls. So all the ſouls were four thouſand ſix hundred.

31 And it came to paſs in the ſeven and thirtieth * year of the captivity of Joachin king of Juda, in the twelfth month, the five and twentieth day of the month, that Evilmerodach king of Babylon, in the firſt year of his reign, lifted up the head of Joachin king of Juda, and brought him forth out of priſon. * 4 Kings 25. 17. A. M. 3442. Ante C. 562.

32 And he ſpoke kindly to him, and he ſet his throne above the thrones of the kings that were with him in Babylon.

33 And he changed his priſon-garments, and he eat bread before him always all the days of his life.

34 And for his diet a continual proviſion was allowed him by the king of Babylon, every day a portion, until the day of his death, all the days of his life.

THE

LAMENTATIONS OF JEREMIAS.

In these JEREMIAS laments in a most pathetical manner the miseries of his people, and the destruction of JERUSALEM and the temple, in Hebrew verses, beginning with different letters according to the order of the Hebrew alphabet.

And it came to pass, after Israel was carried into captivity, and Jerusalem was desolate, that Jeremias the prophet sat weeping, and mourned with this lamentation over Jerusalem, and with a sorrowful mind, sighing and moaning, he said:

CHAP. I.

Aleph. HOW doth the city sit solitary that was full of people? how is the mistress of the Gentiles become as a widow: the princes of provinces made tributary?

‖ Jer. 13. 17. 2 Beth. ‖ Weeping she hath wept in the night, and her tears are on her cheeks: there is none to comfort her among all them that were dear to her: all her friends have despised her, and are become her enemies.

3 Ghimel. Juda hath removed her dwelling-place because of her affliction, and the greatness of her bondage: she hath dwelt among the nations, and she hath found no rest: all her persecutors have taken her in the midst of straits.

4 Daleth. The ways of Sion mourn, because there are none that come to the solemn feast: all her gates are broken down: her priests sigh: her virgins are in affliction, and she is oppressed with bitterness.

5 He. Her adversaries are become her lords, her enemies are enriched: because the Lord hath spoken against her for the multitude of her iniquities: her children are led into captivity, before the face of the oppressor.

6 Vau. And from the daughter of Sion all her beauty is departed: her princes are become like rams that find no pastures: and they are gone away without strength before the face of the pursuer.

7 Zain. Jerusalem hath remembered the days of her affliction, and prevarication of all her desirable things which she had from the days of old, when her people fell in the enemy's hand, and there was no helper: the enemies have seen her, and have mocked at her sabbaths.

8 Heth. Jerusalem hath grievously sinned, therefore is she become unstable: all that honoured her, have despised her, because they have seen her shame: but she sighed and turned backward.

9 Teth. Her filthiness is on her feet, and she hath not remembered her end: she is wonderfully cast down, not having a comforter: behold, O Lord, my affliction, because the enemy is lifted up.

10 Jod. The enemy hath put out his hand to all her desirable things: for she hath seen the Gentiles enter into her sanctuary, of whom thou gavest commandment that they should not enter into thy church.

11 Caph. All her people sigh, they seek bread: they have given all their precious things for food to relieve the soul: see, O Lord, and consider, for I am become vile.

12 Lamed. O all ye that pass by the way, attend, and see if there be any sorrow like to my sorrow: for he hath made a vintage of

And it came to pass, &c. This preface was not written by Jeremias, but added by the seventy interpreters, to give the reader to understand upon what occasion the Lamentations were published.

me, as the Lord ſpoke in the day of his fierce anger.

13 Mem. From above he hath ſent fire into my bones, and hath chaſtiſed me: he hath ſpread a net for my feet, he hath turned me back: he hath made me deſolate, waſted with ſorrow all the day long.

14 Nun. The yoke of my iniquities hath watched: they are folded together in his hand, and put upon my neck: my ſtrength is weakened: the Lord hath delivered me into a hand, out of which I am not able to riſe.

15 Samech. The Lord hath taken away all my mighty men out of the midſt of me: he hath called againſt me the time, to deſtroy my choſen men: the Lord hath trodden the wine-preſs for the virgin-daughter of Juda.

‖ Jerem. 14. 17. 16 Ain. ‖ Therefore do I weep, and my eyes run down with water: becauſe the comforter, the relief of my ſoul, is far from me: my children are deſolate becauſe the enemy hath prevailed.

17 Phe. Sion hath ſpread forth her hands, there is none to comfort her: the Lord hath commanded againſt Jacob, his enemies are round about him: Jeruſalem is as a menſtruous woman among them.

18 Sade. The Lord is juſt, for I have provoked his mouth to wrath: hear, I pray you, all ye people, and ſee my ſorrow: my virgins, and my young men are gone into captivity.

19 Coph. I called for my friends, but they deceived me: my prieſts and my ancients pined away in the city: while they ſought their food, to relieve their ſouls.

20 Res. Behold, O Lord, for I am in diſtreſs, my bowels are troubled: my heart is turned within me, for I am full of bitterneſs: abroad the ſword deſtroyeth, and at home there is death alike.

21 Sin. They have heard that I ſigh, and there is none to comfort me: all my enemies have heard of my evil, they have rejoiced that thou haſt done it: thou haſt brought a day of conſolation, and they ſhall be like unto me.

22 Thau. Let all their evil be preſent before thee: and make vintage of them, as thou haſt made vintage of me for all my iniquities: for my ſighs are many, and my heart is ſorrowful.

CHAP. II.

Aleph. HOW hath the Lord covered with obſcurity the daughter of Sion in his wrath! how hath he caſt down from heaven to the earth the glorious one of Iſrael, and hath not remembered his foot-ſtool in the day of his anger.

2 Beth. The Lord hath caſt down headlong, and hath not ſpared, all that was beautiful in Jacob: he hath deſtroyed in his wrath the ſtrong-holds of the virgin of Juda, and brought them down to the ground: he hath made the kingdom unclean, and the princes thereof.

3 Ghimel. He hath broken in his fierce anger all the horn of Iſrael: he hath drawn back his right hand from before the enemy: and he hath kindled in Jacob as it were a flaming fire devouring round about.

4 Daleth. He hath bent his bow as an enemy, he hath fixed his right hand as an adverſary: and he hath killed all that was fair to behold in the tabernacle of the daughter of Sion, he hath poured out his indignation like fire.

5 He. The Lord is become as an enemy: he hath caſt down Iſrael headlong, he hath overthrown all the walls thereof: he hath deſtroyed his ſtrong-holds, and hath multiplied in the daughter of Juda the afflicted both men and women.

6 Vau. And he hath deſtroyed his tent as a garden, he hath thrown down his tabernacle: the Lord hath cauſed feaſts and ſabbaths to be forgotten in Sion: and hath delivered up king and prieſt to reproach, and to the indignation of his wrath.

7 Zain. The Lord hath caſt off his altar, he hath curſed his ſanctuary: he hath delivered the walls of the towers thereof into the hand of the enemy: they have made a noiſe in the houſe of the Lord, as in the day of a ſolemn feaſt.

8 Heth. The Lord hath purpoſed to deſtroy the wall of the daughter of Sion: he hath ſtretched out his line, and hath not withdrawn his hand from deſtroying: and the bulwark hath mourned, and the wall hath been deſtroyed together.

9 Teth. Her gates are ſunk into the ground: he hath deſtroyed, and broken her bars: her king and her princes are among the Gentiles: the law is no more, and her prophets have found no viſion from the Lord.

10 Jod. The ancients of the daughter of Sion ſit upon the ground, they have held their peace: they have ſprinkled their heads with duſt, they are girded with hair-cloth,

CHAP. II. VER. 7. He hath curſed his ſanctuary. That is, he permitted his ſanctuary to be deſtroyed, as if it had not being conſecrated, but execrable.

the virgins of Jerusalem hang down their heads to the ground.

11 Caph. My eyes have failed with weeping, my bowels are troubled: my liver is poured out upon the earth, for the destruction of the daughter of my people, when the children, and the sucklings, fainted away in the streets of the city.

12 Lamed. They said to their mothers: Where is corn and wine? when they fainted away as the wounded in the streets of the city: when they breathed out their souls in the bosoms of their mothers.

13 Mem. To what shall I compare thee? or to what shall I liken thee, O daughter of Jerusalem? to what shall I equal thee, that I may comfort thee, O virgin daughter of Sion? for great as the sea is thy destruction: who shall heal thee?

14 Nun. Thy prophets have seen false and foolish things for thee: and they have not laid open thy iniquity, to excite thee to penance: but they have seen for thee false revelations and banishments.

15 Samech. All they that passed by the way have clapped their hands at thee: they have hissed, and wagged their heads at the daughter of Jerusalem, saying: Is this the city of perfect beauty, the joy of all the earth?

16 Phe. All thy enemies have opened their mouth against thee: they have hissed, and gnashed with the teeth, and have said: We will swallow her up: lo, this is the day which we looked for: we have found it, we have seen it.

17 ‖ Ain. The Lord hath done that which he purposed, he hath fulfilled his word, which he commanded in the days of old: he hath destroyed, and hath not spared, and he hath caused the enemy to rejoice over thee, and hath set up the horn of thy adversaries.

‖ Lev. 26. 14. Deut. 28. 15.

18 Sade. Their heart cried to the Lord upon the walls of the daughter of Sion: ‖ Let tears run down like a torrent day and night: give thyself no rest, and let not the apple of thy eye cease.

‖ Jerem. 14. 17. Supra 1. 16.

19 Coph. Arise, give praise in the night, in the beginning of the watches: pour out thy heart like water before the face of the Lord: lift up thy hands to him for the life of thy little children, that have fainted for hunger at the top of all the streets.

20 Res. Behold, O Lord, and consider whom thou hast thus dealt with: shall women then eat their own fruit, their children of a span long? shall the priest, and the prophet be slain in the sanctuary of the Lord?

21 Sin. The child and the old man lie without on the ground: my virgins and my young men are fallen by the sword: thou hast slain them in the day of thy wrath: thou hast killed, and shewn them no pity.

22 Thau. Thou hast called, as to a festival, those that should terrify me round about, and there was none in the day of the wrath of the Lord that escaped and was left: those that I brought up, and nourished, my enemy hath consumed them.

CHAP. III.

Aleph. I Am the man that see my poverty by the rod of his indignation.

2 Aleph. He hath led me, and brought me into darkness, and not into light.

3 Aleph. Only against me he hath turned, and turned again his hand all the day.

4 Beth. My skin and my flesh he hath made old, he hath broken my bones.

5 Beth. He hath built round about me, and he hath compassed me with gall, and labour.

6 Beth. He hath set me in dark places as those that are dead for ever.

7 Ghimel. He hath built against me round about, that I may not get out: he hath made my fetters heavy.

8 Ghimel. Yea, and when I cry, and entreat, he hath shut out my prayer.

9 Ghimel. He hath shut up my ways with square stones, he hath turned my paths upside down.

10 Daleth. He is become to me as a bear lying in wait: as a lion in secret places.

11 Daleth. He hath turned aside my paths, and hath broken me in pieces, he hath made me desolate.

12 Daleth. He hath bent his bow, and set me as a mark for his arrows.

13 He. He hath shot into my reins the daughters of his quiver.

14 He. I am made a derision to all my people, their song all the day long.

15 He. He hath filled me with bitterness, he hath inebriated me with wormwood.

16 Vau. And he hath broken my teeth one by one, he hath fed me with ashes.

17 Vau. And my soul is removed far off from peace, I have forgotten good things.

18 Vau. And I said: My end, and my hope is perished from the Lord.

19 Zain. Remember my poverty, and transgression, the wormwood, and the gall.

20 Zain. I will be mindful and remember, and my soul shall languish within me.

21 Zain. These things I shall think over in my heart, therefore will I hope.

22 Heth. The mercies of the Lord that we are not consumed: because his commiserations have not failed.

23 Heth. They are new every morning, great is thy faithfulness.

24 Heth. The Lord is my portion, ſaid my ſoul: therefore will I wait for him.

25 Teth. The Lord is good to them that hope in him, to the ſoul that ſeeketh him.

26 Teth. It is good to wait with ſilence for the ſalvation of God.

27 Teth. It is good for a man, when he hath borne the yoke from his youth.

28 Jod. He ſhall ſit ſolitary, and hold his peace: becauſe he hath taken it up upon himſelf.

29 Jod. He ſhall put his mouth in the duſt, if ſo be there may be hope.

30 Jod. He ſhall give his cheek to him that ſtriketh him, he ſhall be filled with reproaches.

31 Caph. For the Lord will not caſt off for ever.

32 Caph. For if he hath caſt off, he will alſo have mercy, according to the multitude of his mercies.

33 Caph. For he hath not willingly afflicted, nor caſt off the children of men,

34 Lamed. To cruſh under his feet all the priſoners of the land.

35 Lamed. To turn aſide the judgment of a man before the face of the moſt High.

36 Lamed. To deſtroy a man wrongfully in his judgment, the Lord hath not approved.

‖ Amos 3. 6. 37 ‖ Mem. Who is he that hath commanded a thing to be done, when the Lord commandeth it not?

38 Mem. Shall not both evil and good proceed out of the mouth of the Higheſt?

39 Mem. Why hath a living man murmured, man ſuffering for his ſins?

40 Nun. Let us ſearch our ways, and ſeek, and return to the Lord.

41 Nun. Let us lift up our hearts with our hands to the Lord in the heavens.

42 Nun. We have done wickedly, and provoked thee to wrath: therefore thou art inexorable.

43 Samech. Thou haſt covered in thy wrath, and haſt ſtruck us: thou haſt killed, and haſt not ſpared.

44 Samech. Thou haſt ſet a cloud before thee, that our prayer may not paſs through.

45 Samech. Thou haſt made me as an outcaſt, and refuſe in the midſt of the people.

46 Phe. All our enemies have opened their mouths againſt us.

47 Phe. Prophecy is become to us a fear, and a ſnare, and deſtruction.

48 Phe. My eye hath run down with ſtreams of water, for the deſtruction of the daughter of my people.

49 Ain. My eye is afflicted, and hath not been quiet, becauſe there was no reſt:

50 Ain. Till the Lord regarded and looked down from the heavens.

51 Ain. My eye hath waſted my ſoul becauſe of all the daughters of my city.

52 Sade. My enemies have chaſed me and caught me like a bird, without cauſe.

23 Sade. My life is fallen into the pit, and they have laid a ſtone over me.

54 Sade. Waters have flowed over my head: I ſaid: I am cut off.

55 Coph. I have called upon thy name, O Lord, from the loweſt pit.

56 Coph. Thou haſt heard my voice: turn not away thy ear from my ſighs, and cries.

57 Coph. Thou dreweſt near in the day, when I called upon thee: thou ſaidſt: Fear not.

58 Res. Thou haſt judged, O Lord, the cauſe of my ſoul, thou the Redeemer of my life.

59 Res. Thou haſt ſeen, O Lord, their iniquity againſt me: judge thou my judgment.

60 Res. Thou haſt ſeen all their fury, and all their thoughts againſt me.

61 Sin. Thou haſt heard their reproach, O Lord, all their imaginations againſt me.

62 Sin. The lips of them that riſe up againſt me: and their devices againſt me all the day.

63 Sin. Behold their ſitting down, and their riſing up, I am their ſong.

64 Thau. Thou ſhalt render them a recompenſe, O Lord, according to the works of their hands.

65 Thau. Thou ſhalt give them a * buckler of heart thy † labour.

66 Thau. Thou ſhalt perſecute them in anger, and ſhalt deſtroy them from under the heavens, O Lord.

* i. e affliction.
† i. e. puniſhment.

CHAP. IV.

Aleph. HOW is the gold become dim, the fineſt colour is changed, the ſtones of the ſanctuary are ſcattered in the top of every ſtreet?

2 Beth. The noble ſons of Sion, and they that were clothed with the beſt gold: how are they eſteemed as earthen veſſels, the work of the potter's hands?

3 Ghimel. Even the ſea-monſters have drawn out the breaſt, they have given ſuck to their young, the daughter of my people is cruel, like the oſtrich in the deſert.

4 Daleth. The tongue of the ſuckling child hath ſtuck to the roof of his mouth for thirſt: the little ones have aſked for bread, and there was none to break it unto them.

5 He. They that were fed delicately have died in the ſtreets: they that were brought up in ſcarlet, have embraced the dung.

6 Vau. And the iniquity of the daughter of my people is made greater than the ſin of Sodom, ‖ which was overthrown in a moment, and hands took nothing in her.

‖ Gen. 19. 24.

7 Zain. Her Nazarites were whiter than ſnow, purer than milk, more ruddy than the old ivory, fairer than the ſapphire.

8 Heth. Their face is now made blacker than coals, and they are not known in the ſtreets: their ſkin hath ſtuck to their bones, it is withered, and is become like wood.

9 Teth. It was better with them that were ſlain by the ſword, than with them that died with hunger: for theſe pined away being conſumed for want of the fruits of the earth.

10 Jod. The hands of the pitiful women have ſodden their own children: they were their meat in the deſtruction of the daughter of my people.

11 Caph. The Lord hath accompliſhed his wrath, he hath poured out his fierce anger: and he hath kindled a fire in Sion, and it hath devoured the foundations thereof.

12 Lamed. The kings of the earth, and all the inhabitants of the world would not have believed, that the adverſary and the enemy ſhould enter in by the gates of Jeruſalem.

13 Mem. For the ſins of her prophets, and the iniquities of her prieſts, that have ſhed the blood of the juſt in the midſt of her.

14 Nun. They have wandered as blind men in the ſtreets, they were defiled with blood: and when they could not help walking in it, they held up their ſkirts.

15 Samech. Depart, you that are defiled, they cried out to them: Depart, get ye hence, touch not: for they quarrelled, and being removed, they ſaid among the Gentiles: He will no more dwell among them.

16 Phe. The face of the Lord hath divided them, he will no more regard them: they reſpected not the perſons of the prieſts, neither had they pity on the ancient.

17 Ain. While we were yet ſtanding, our eyes failed, expecting help for us in vain: when we looked attentively towards a nation that was not able to ſave.

18 Sade. Our ſteps have ſlipped in the way of our ſtreets, our end draweth near: our days are fulfilled, for our end is come.

19 Coph. Our perſecutors were ſwifter than the eagles of the air: they purſued us upon the mountains, they lay in wait for us in the wilderneſs.

20 Res. The breath of our mouth Chriſt the Lord is taken in our ſins: to whom we ſaid: Under thy ſhadow we ſhall live among the Gentiles.

21 Sin. Rejoice, and be glad, O daughter of Edom, that dwelleſt in the land of Hus: to thee alſo ſhall the cup come, thou ſhalt be made drunk, and naked.

22 Thau. Thy iniquity is accompliſhed, O daughter of Sion, he will no more carry thee away into captivity: he hath viſited thy iniquity, O daughter of Edom, he hath diſcovered thy ſins.

THE PRAYER OF JEREMIAS THE PROPHET.

CHAP. V.

REMEMBER, O Lord, what is come upon us: conſider and behold our reproach.

2 Our inheritance is turned to aliens: our houſes to ſtrangers.

3 We are become orphans without a father: our mothers are as widows.

4 We have drunk our water for money: we have bought our wood.

5 We were dragged by the necks, we were weary and no reſt was given us.

6 We have given our hand to Egypt, and to the Aſſyrians, that we might be ſatisfied with bread.

7 Our fathers have ſinned, and are not: and we have borne their iniquities.

8 Servants have ruled over us: there was none to redeem us out of their hand.

9 We fetched our bread at the peril of our lives, becauſe of the ſword in the deſert.

10 Our ſkin was burnt as an oven, by reaſon of the violence of the famine.

11 They oppreſſed the women in Sion, and the virgins in the cities of Juda.

12 The princes were hanged up by their hand: they did not reſpect the perſons of the ancient.

13 They abuſed the young men * indecently: and the children fell under the wood.

* i. e. made them grind naked in the mill.

14 The ancients have ceaſed from the gates: the young men from the quire of the ſingers.

15 The joy of our heart is ceaſed, our dancing is turned into mourning.

CHAP. IV. VER. 20. Chriſt, &c. This, according to the letter, is ſpoken of their king, who is called the Chriſt, that is, the Anointed of the Lord. But it alſo relates, in the ſpiritual ſenſe, to Chriſt our Lord, ſuffering for our ſins.

16 The crown is fallen from our head: wo to us, becauſe we have ſinned.
17 Therefore is our heart ſorrowful, therefore are our eyes become dim,
18 For mount Sion, becauſe it is deſtroyed, foxes have walked upon it.
19 But thou, O Lord, ſhalt remain for ever, thy throne from generation to generation.
20 Why wilt thou forget us for ever? why wilt thou forſake us for a long time?
21 Convert us, O Lord, to thee, and we ſhall be converted: renew our days, as from the beginning.
22 But thou haſt utterly rejected us, thou art exceedingly angry againſt us.

THE PROPHECY OF BARUCH.

BARUCH was a man of noble extraction, and learned in the law, ſecretary and diſciple to the prophet JEREMIAS, and a ſharer in his labours and perſecutions: which is the reaſon why the ancient fathers have conſidered this book as a part of the prophecy of JEREMIAS, and have uſually quoted it under his name.

CHAP. I.

The Jews of Babylon ſend the book of Baruch, with money to Jeruſalem, requeſting their brethren there to offer ſacrifice, and to pray for the king and for them, acknowledging their manifold ſins.

A. M. circiter 3404. Ante C. 600. AND theſe are the words of the book, which Baruch the ſon of Nerias, the ſon of Maaſias, the ſon of Sedecias, the ſon of Sedei, the ſon of Helcias, wrote in Babylonia.
2 In the fifth year, in the ſeventh day of the month, at the time that the Chaldeans took Jeruſalem, and burnt it with fire.
3 And Baruch read the words of this book in the hearing of Jechonias the ſon of Joakim king of Juda, and in the hearing of all the people that came to hear the book,
4 And in the hearing of the nobles, the ſons of the kings, and in the hearing of the ancients, and in the hearing of the people, from the leaſt even to the greateſt of them, that dwelt in Babylonia, by the river Sodi.
5 And when they heard it they wept, and faſted, and prayed before the Lord.
6 And they made a collection of money, according to every man's power.
7 And they ſent it to Jeruſalem to Joakim the prieſt, the ſon of Helcias, the ſon of Salom, and to the prieſts, and to all the people, that were found with him in Jeruſalem:
8 At the time when he received the veſſels of the temple of the Lord, which had been taken away out of the temple, to return them into the land of Juda the tenth day of the month Sivan, the ſilver veſſels, which Sedecias the ſon of Joſias king of Juda had made,
9 After that Nabuchodonoſor the king of Babylon had carried away Jechonias, and the princes, and all the powerful men, and the people of the land from Jeruſalem, and brought them bound to Babylon.
10 And they ſaid: Behold we have ſent you money, buy with it holocauſts, and frankincenſe, and make meat-offerings, and offerings for ſin at the altar of the Lord our God:
11 And pray ye for the life of Nabuchodonoſor the king of Babylon, and for the life of Balthaſſar his ſon, that their days may be upon earth as the days of heaven:
12 And that the Lord may give us ſtrength, and enlighten our eyes, that we may live under the ſhadow of Nabuchodonoſor the king of Babylon, and under the ſhadow of Balthaſſar his ſon, and may ſerve them many days, and may find favour in their ſight.
13 And pray ye for us to the Lord our God: for we have ſinned againſt the Lord our God, and his wrath is not turned away from us even to this day.
14 And read ye this book, which we have sent to you to be read in the temple of the Lord, on feasts, and proper days.

‖ Infra 2. 6. 15 ‖ And you shall say: To the Lord our God belongeth justice, but to us confusion of our face: as it is come to pass at this day to all Juda, and to the inhabitants of Jerusalem,

16 To our kings, and to our princes, and to our priests, and to our fathers.

‖ Dan. 9. 5. 17 ‖ We have sinned before the Lord our God, and have not believed him, nor put our trust in him:

18 And we were not obedient to him, and we have not hearkened to the voice of the Lord our God, to walk in his commandments, which he hath given us.

19 From the day that he brought our fathers out of the land of Egypt, even to this day, we were disobedient to the Lord our God: and going astray we turned away from hearing his voice.

‖ Deut. 28. 15. 20 ‖ And many evils have cleaved to us, and the curses which the Lord foretold by Moses his servant: who brought our fathers out of the land of Egypt, to give us a land flowing with milk and honey, as at this day.

21 And we have not hearkened to the voice of the Lord our God according to all the words of the prophets whom he sent to us:

22 And we have gone away every man after the inclinations of his own wicked heart, to serve strange gods, and to do evil in the sight of the Lord our God.

CHAP. II.

A further confession of the sins of the people, and of the justice of God.

WHEREFORE the Lord our God hath made good his word, that he spoke to us, and to our judges that have judged Israel, and to our kings, and to our princes, and to all Israel and Juda:

2 That the Lord would bring upon us great evils, such as never happened under heaven, as they have come to pass in Jerusa-

‖ Deut. 28. 53. lem, ‖ according to the things that are written in the law of Moses:

3 That a man should eat the flesh of his own son, and the flesh of his own daughter.

4 And he hath delivered them up to be under the hand of all the kings that are round about us, to be a reproach, and desolation among all the people, among whom the Lord hath scattered us.

5 And we are brought under, and are not uppermost: because we have sinned against the Lord our God, by not obeying his voice.

6 ‖ To the Lord our God belongeth justice: ‖ Supra 1. 15. but to us, and to our fathers confusion of face, as at this day.

7 For the Lord hath pronounced against us all these evils that are come upon us:

8 And we have not entreated the face of the Lord our God, that we might return every one of us from our most wicked ways.

9 And the Lord hath watched over us for evil, and hath brought it upon us: for the Lord is just in all his works which he hath commanded us:

10 And we have not hearkened to his voice to walk in the commandments of the Lord, which he hath set before us.

‖ Dan. 9. 15. 11 ‖ And now, O Lord God of Israel, who hast brought thy people out of the land of Egypt with a strong hand, and with signs, and with wonders, and with thy great power, and with a mighty arm, and hast made thee a name as at this day.

12 We have sinned, we have done wickedly, we have acted unjustly, O Lord our God, against all thy justices.

13 Let thy wrath be turned away from us: for we are left a few among the nations, where thou hast scattered us.

14 Hear, O Lord, our prayers, and our petitions, and deliver us for thy own sake: and grant that we may find favour in the sight of them that have led us away.

15 That all the earth may know that thou art the Lord our God, and that thy name is called upon Israel, and upon his posterity.

‖ Deut. 26. 15. Isai. 63. 15. 16 ‖ Look down upon us, O Lord, from thy holy house, and incline thy ear, and hear us.

† Isai 37. 17. & 64. 9. ‖ Psal. 113. 17. 17 † Open thy eyes, and behold: ‖ for the dead that are in hell, whose spirit is taken away from their bowels, shall not give glory and justice to the Lord:

18 But the soul that is sorrowful for the greatness of evil she hath done, and goeth bowed down, and feeble, and the eyes that fail, and the hungry soul giveth glory and justice to thee the Lord.

19 For it is not for the justices of our fathers that we pour out our prayers, and beg mercy in thy sight, O Lord our God:

20 But because thou hast sent out thy wrath, and thy indignation upon us, as thou hast spoken by the hand of thy servants the prophets, saying:

21 Thus saith the Lord: Bow down your shoulder, and your neck, and serve the king

CHAP. II. VER. 17. Justice, &c. They that are in hell shall not give justice to God: that is, they shall not acknowledge and glorify his justice, as penitent sinners do upon earth.

of Babylon: and you ſhall remain in the land which I have given to your fathers.

22 But if you will not hearken to the voice of the Lord your God, to ſerve the king of Babylon: I will cauſe you to depart out of the cities of Juda, and from without Jeruſalem.

23 And I will take away from you the voice of mirth, and the voice of joy, and the voice of the bridegroom, and the voice of the bride, and all the land ſhall be without any footſtep of inhabitants.

24 And they hearkened not to thy voice, to ſerve the king of Babylon: and thou haſt made good thy words, which thou ſpokeſt by the hands of thy ſervants the prophets, that the bones of our kings, and the bones of our fathers ſhould be removed out of their place:

25 And behold they are caſt out to the heat of the ſun, and to the froſt of the night: and they have died in grievous pains, by famine, and by the ſword, and in baniſhment.

26 And thou haſt made the temple, in which thy name was called upon, as it is at this day, for the iniquity of the houſe of Iſrael, and of the houſe of Juda.

27 And thou haſt dealt with us, O Lord our God, according to all thy goodneſs, and according to all that great mercy of thine:

28 As thou ſpokeſt by the hand of thy ſervant Moſes, in the day when thou didſt command him to write thy law before the children of Iſrael,

‖ Lev. 26. 14. Deut. 28. 15.

29 Saying: ‖ If you will not hear my voice, this great multitude ſhall be turned into a very ſmall number among the nations, where I will ſcatter them:

30 For I know that the people will not hear me, for they are a people of a ſtiff neck: but they ſhall turn to their heart in the land of their captivity:

31 And they ſhall know that I am the Lord their God: and I will give them a heart, and they ſhall underſtand: and ears, and they ſhall hear.

32 And they ſhall praiſe me in the land of their captivity, and ſhall be mindful of my name.

33 And they ſhall turn away themſelves from their ſtiff neck, and from their wicked deeds: for they ſhall remember the way of their fathers, that ſinned againſt me.

34 And I will bring them back again into the land which I promiſed with an oath to their fathers, Abraham, Iſaac, and Jacob, and they ſhall be maſters thereof: and I will multiply them, and they ſhall not be diminiſhed.

35 And I will make with them another covenant that ſhall be everlaſting, to be their God, and they ſhall by my people: and I will no more remove my people, the children of Iſrael, out of the land that I have given them.

CHAP. III.

They pray for mercy, acknowledging that they are juſtly puniſhed for forſaking true wiſdom. A prophecy of Chriſt.

AND now, O Lord almighty, the God of Iſrael, the ſoul in anguiſh, and the troubled ſpirit crieth to thee:

2 Hear, O Lord, and have mercy, for thou art a merciful God, and have pity on us: for we have ſinned before thee.

3 For thou remaineſt for ever, and ſhall we periſh everlaſtingly?

4 O Lord almighty, the God of Iſrael, hear now the prayer of the dead of Iſrael, and of their children, that have ſinned before thee, and have not hearkened to the voice of the Lord their God, wherefore evils have cleaved faſt to us.

5 Remember not the iniquities of our fathers, but think upon thy hand, and upon thy name at this time:

6 For thou art the Lord our God, and we will praiſe thee, O Lord:

7 Becauſe for this end thou haſt put thy fear in our hearts, to the intent that we ſhould call upon thy name, and praiſe thee in our captivity, for we are converted from the iniquity of our fathers, who ſinned before thee.

8 And behold we are at this day in our captivity, whereby thou haſt ſcattered us to be a reproach, and a curſe, and an offence, according to all the iniquities of our fathers, who departed from thee, O Lord our God.

9 Hear, O Iſrael, the commandments of life: give ear, that thou mayſt learn wiſdom.

10 How happeneth it, O Iſrael, that thou art in thy enemies land?

11 Thou art grown old in a ſtrange country, thou art defiled with the dead: thou art counted with them that go down into hell.

12 Thou haſt forſaken the fountain of wiſdom:

13 For if thou hadſt walked in the way of God, thou hadſt ſurely dwelt in peace for ever.

14 Learn where is wiſdom, where is ſtrength, where is underſtanding: that thou mayſt know alſo where is length of days and life, where is the light of the eyes, and peace.

15 Who hath found out her place? and who hath gone in to her treaſures?

16 Where are the princes of the nations, and they that rule over the beaſts that are upon the earth?

17 That take their diverſion with the birds of the air,

18 That hoard up ſilver and gold, wherein men truſt, and there is no end of their getting? who work in ſilver and are ſolicitous, and their works are unſearchable.

19 They are cut off, and are gone down to hell, and others are riſen up in their place.

20 Young men have ſeen the light, and dwelt upon the earth: but the way of knowledge they have not known,

21 Nor have they underſtood the paths thereof, neither have their children received it, it is far from their face.

22 It hath not been heard of in the land of Chanaan, neither hath it been ſeen in Theman.

23 The children of Agar alſo, that ſearch after the wiſdom that is of the earth, the merchants of Merrha, and of Theman, and the tellers of fables, and ſearchers of prudence and underſtanding: but the way of wiſdom they have not known, neither have they remembered her paths.

24 O Iſrael, how great is the houſe of God, and how vaſt is the place of his poſſeſſion!

25 It is great, and hath no end: it is high and immenſe.

26 There were the giants, thoſe renowned men that were from the beginning, of great ſtature, expert in war.

27 The Lord choſe not them, neither did they find the way of knowledge: therefore did they periſh.

28 And becauſe they had not wiſdom, they periſhed through their folly.

29 Who hath gone up into heaven, and taken her, and brought her down from the clouds?

30 Who hath paſſed over the ſea, and found her, and brought her preferably to choſen gold?

31 There is none that is able to know her ways, nor that can ſearch out her paths:

32 But he that knoweth all things, knoweth her, and hath found her out with his underſtanding: he that prepared the earth for evermore, and filled it with cattle and four-footed beaſts:

33 He that ſendeth forth light, and it goeth: and hath called it, and it obeyeth him with trembling.

34 And the ſtars have given light in their watches, and rejoiced:

35 They were called, and they ſaid: Here we are: and with cheerfulneſs they have ſhined forth to him that made them.

36 This is our God, and there ſhall no other be accounted of in compariſon of him.

37 He found out all the way of knowledge, and gave it to Jacob his ſervant, and to Iſrael his beloved.

38 Afterwards he was ſeen upon earth, and converſed with men.

CHAP. IV.

The prophet exhorts to the keeping of the law of wiſdom: and encourages the people to be patient, and to hope for their deliverance.

THIS is the book of the commandments of God, and the law, that is for ever: all they that keep it, ſhall come to life: but they that have forſaken it, to death.

2 Return, O Jacob, and take hold of it, walk in the way by its brightneſs, in the preſence of the light thereof.

3 Give not thy honour to another, nor thy dignity to a ſtrange nation.

4 We are happy, O Iſrael: becauſe the things that are pleaſing to God, are made known to us.

5 Be of good comfort, O people of God, the memorial of Iſrael:

6 You have been ſold to the Gentiles, not for your deſtruction: but becauſe you provoked God to wrath, you are delivered to your adverſaries.

7 For you have provoked him who made you, the eternal God, offering ſacrifice to devils, and not to God.

8 For you have forgotten God, who brought you up, and you have grieved Jeruſalem that nurſed you.

9 For ſhe ſaw the wrath of God coming upon you, and ſhe ſaid: Give ear, all you that dwell near Sion, for God hath brought upon me great mourning:

10 For I have ſeen the captivity of my people, of my ſons, and my daughters, which the Eternal hath brought upon them.

11 For I nouriſhed them with joy: but I ſent them away with weeping and mourning.

12 Let no man rejoice over me a widow, and desolate: I am forsaken of many for the sins of my children, because they departed from the law of God.

13 And they have not known his justices, nor walked by the ways of God's commandments, neither have they entered by the paths of his truth and justice.

14 Let them that dwell about Sion come, and remember the captivity of my sons and daughters, which the Eternal hath brought upon them.

15 For he hath brought a nation upon them from afar, a wicked nation, and of a strange tongue:

16 Who have neither reverenced the ancient, nor pitied children, and have carried away the beloved of the widow, and have left me all alone without children.

17 But as for me, what help can I give you?

18 But he that hath brought the evils upon you, he will deliver you out of the hands of your enemies.

19 Go your way, my children, go your way: for I am left alone.

20 I have put off the robe of peace, and have put upon me the sackcloth of supplication, and I will cry to the most High in my days.

21 Be of good comfort, my children, cry to the Lord, and he will deliver you out of the hand of the princes your enemies.

22 For my hope is in the Eternal that he will save you: and joy is come upon me from the holy One, because of the mercy which shall come to you from our everlasting Saviour.

23 For I sent you forth with mourning and weeping: but the Lord will bring you back to me with joy and gladness for ever.

24 For as the neighbours of Sion have now seen your captivity from God: so shall they also shortly see your salvation from God, which shall come upon you with great honour, and everlasting glory.

25 My children suffer patiently the wrath that is come upon you: for thy enemy hath persecuted thee, but thou shalt quickly see his destruction: and thou shalt get up upon his neck.

26 My delicate ones have walked rough ways, for they were taken away as a flock made a prey by the enemies.

27 Be of good comfort, my children, and cry to the Lord: for you shall be remembered by him that hath led you away.

28 For as it was your mind to go astray from God; so when you return again you shall seek him ten times as much.

29 For he that hath brought evils upon you, shall bring you everlasting joy again with your salvation.

30 Be of good heart, O Jerusalem: for he exhorteth thee, that named thee.

31 The wicked that have afflicted thee, shall perish: and they that have rejoiced at thy ruin, shall be punished.

32 The cities which thy children have served, shall be punished: and she that received thy sons.

33 For as she rejoiced at thy ruin, and was glad of thy fall: so shall she be grieved for her own desolation.

34 And the joy of her multitude shall be cut off, and her gladness shall be turned to mourning.

35 For fire shall come upon her from the Eternal, long to endure, and she shall be inhabited by devils for a great time.

36 ‖ Look about thee, O Jerusalem, towards the east, and behold the joy that cometh to thee from God. ‖ Infra 5. 5.

37 For behold thy children come, whom thou sentest away scattered, they come gathered together from the east even to the west, at the word of the holy One rejoicing for the honour of God.

CHAP. V.

Jerusalem is invited to rejoice and behold the return of her children out of their captivity.

PUT off, O Jerusalem, the garment of thy mourning, and affliction: and put on the beauty, and honour of that everlasting glory which thou hast from God.

2 God will clothe thee with the double garment of justice, and will set a crown on thy head of everlasting honour.

3 For God will shew his brightness in thee, to every one under heaven.

4 For thy name shall be named to thee by God for ever: the peace of justice, and honour of piety.

5 Arise, O Jerusalem, and stand on high: ‖ and look about towards the east, and behold thy children gathered together from the rising to the setting sun, by the word of the holy One rejoicing in the remembrance of God. ‖ Supra 4. 36.

6 For they went out from thee on foot, led by the enemies: but the Lord will bring them to thee exalted with honour as children of the kingdom.

7 For God hath appointed to bring down every high mountain, and the everlasting rocks, and to fill up the valleys to make them even with the ground: that Iſrael may walk diligently to the honour of God.

8 Moreover the woods, and every ſweet-ſmelling tree have overſhadowed Iſrael by the commandment of God.

9 For God will bring Iſrael with joy in the light of his majeſty, with mercy, and juſtice, that cometh from him.

CHAP. VI.

The epiſtle of Jeremias to the captives, as a preſervative againſt idolatry.

A. M. 3405. Ante C. 599. A Copy of the epiſtle that Jeremias ſent to them that were to be led away captives into Babylon, by the king of Babylon, to declare to them according to what was commanded him by God.

‖ Jer. 25. 9. 1 ‖ FOR the ſins that you have committed before God, you ſhall be carried away captives into Babylon by Nabuchodonoſor the king of Babylon.

2 And when you are come into Babylon, you ſhall be there many years, and for a long time, even to ſeven generations: and after that I will bring you away from thence with peace.

‖ Iſai. 44. 10. 3 ‖ But now, you ſhall ſee in Babylon gods of gold, and of ſilver, and of ſtone, and of wood borne upon ſhoulders, cauſing fear to the Gentiles.

4 Beware therefore that you imitate not the doings of others, and be afraid, and the fear of them ſhould ſeize upon you.

5 But when you ſee the multitude behind, and before adoring them, ſay you in your hearts: Thou oughteſt to be adored, O Lord.

6 For my Angel is with you: And I myſelf will demand an account of your ſouls.

7 For their tongue that is poliſhed by the craftſman, and themſelves laid over with gold and ſilver, are falſe things, and they cannot ſpeak.

8 And as if it were for a maiden that loveth to go gay: ſo do they take gold and make them up.

9 Their gods have golden crowns upon their heads: whereof the prieſts ſecretly convey away from them gold, and ſilver, and beſtow it on themſelves.

10 Yea and they give thereof to proſtitutes, and they dreſs out harlots: and again when they receive it of the harlots, they adorn their gods.

11 And theſe gods cannot defend themſelves from the ruſt, and the moth.

12 But when they have covered them with a purple garment, they wipe their face becauſe of the duſt of the houſe, which is very much among them.

13 This holdeth a ſceptre as a man, as a judge of the country, but cannot put to death one that offendeth him.

14 And this hath in his hand a ſword, or an ax, but cannot ſave himſelf from war, or from robbers, whereby be it known to you, that they are not gods.

15 Therefore fear them not. For as a veſſel that a man uſes when it is broken becometh uſeleſs, even ſo are their gods:

16 When they are placed in the houſe, their eyes are full of duſt by the feet of them that go in.

17 And as the gates are made ſure on every ſide upon one that hath offended the king, or like a dead man carried to the grave, ſo do the prieſts ſecure the doors with bars and locks, leſt they be ſtripped by thieves.

18 They light candles to them, and in great number, of which they cannot ſee one: but they are like beams in the houſe.

19 And they ſay that the creeping things which are of the earth, gnaw their hearts, while they eat them and their garments, and they feel it not.

20 Their faces are black with the ſmoke that is made in the houſe.

21 Owls, and ſwallows, and other birds fly upon their bodies, and upon their heads, and cats in like manner.

22 Whereby you may know that they are no gods. Therefore fear them not.

23 The gold alſo which they have, is for ſhew, but except a man wipe off the ruſt, they will not ſhine: for neither when they were molten, did they feel it.

24 Men buy them at a high price, whereas there is no breath in them.

‖ Iſai. 46. 7. 25 ‖ And having not the uſe of feet they are carried upon ſhoulders, declaring to men how vile they are. Be they confounded alſo that worſhip them.

26 Therefore if they fall to the ground, they riſe not up again of themſelves, nor if a man ſet them upright, will they ſtand by themſelves, but their gifts ſhall be ſet before them, as to the dead.

27 The things that are ſacrificed to them, their prieſts ſell and abuſe: in like manner alſo their wives take part of them, but give nothing of it either to the ſick, or to the poor.

28 The child-bearing and menſtruous women touch their ſacrifices: knowing therefore

CHAP. VI. VER. 2. Seven generations. That is, ſeventy years.

by these things that they are not gods, fear them not.

29 For how can they be called gods? because women set offerings before the gods of silver, and of gold, and of wood:

30 And priests sit in their temples, having their garments rent, and their heads and beards shaven, and nothing upon their heads.

31 And they roar and cry before their gods, as men do at the feast when one is dead.

32 The priests take away their garments, and clothe their wives and their children.

33 And whether it be evil that one doth unto them, or good, they are not able to recompense it: neither can they set up a king, nor put him down:

34 In like manner they can neither give riches, nor requite evil. If a man make a vow to them, and perform it not: they cannot require it.

35 They cannot deliver a man from death, nor save the weak from the mighty.

36 They cannot restore the blind man to his sight: nor deliver a man from distress.

37 They shall not pity the widow, nor do good to the fatherless.

38 Their gods, of wood, and of stone, and of gold, and of silver, are like the stones that are hewn out of the mountains: and they that worship them shall be confounded.

39 How then is it to be supposed, or to be said, that they are gods?

40 Even the Chaldeans themselves dishonour them: who when they hear of one dumb that cannot speak, they present him to Bel, entreating him, that he may speak.

41 As though they could be sensible that have no motion themselves: and they, when they shall perceive this, will leave them: for their gods themselves have no sense.

42 The women also with cords about them, sit in the ways, burning olive-stones.

43 And when any one of them, drawn away by some passenger, lieth with him, she upbraideth her neighbour, that she was not thought as worthy as herself, nor her cord broken.

44 But all things that are done about them, are false: how is it then to be thought, or to be said, that they are gods?

45 And they are made by workmen, and by goldsmiths. They shall be nothing else but what the priests will have them to be.

46 For the artificers themselves that make them, are of no long continuance. Can those things then that are made by them, be gods?

47 But they have left false things and reproach to them that come after.

48 For when war cometh upon them, or evils: the priests consult with themselves, where they may hide themselves with them.

49 How then can they be thought to be gods, that can neither deliver themselves from war, nor save themselves from evils?

50 For seeing they are but of wood, and laid over with gold, and with silver, it shall be known hereafter that they are false things, by all nations, and kings: and it shall be manifest that they are no gods, but the work of mens hands, and that there is no work of God in them.

51 Whence therefore is it known that they are not gods, but the work of mens hands, and no work of God is in them?

52 They cannot set up a king over the land, nor give rain to men.

53 They determine no causes, nor deliver countries from oppression: because they can do nothing, and are as daws between heaven and earth.

54 For when fire shall fall upon the house of these gods of wood, and of silver, and of gold, their priests indeed will flee away, and be saved: but they themselves shall be burnt in the midst like beams.

55 And they cannot withstand a king and war. How then can it be supposed, or admitted that they are gods?

56 Neither are these gods of wood, and of stone, and laid over with gold, and with silver, able to deliver themselves from thieves or robbers: they that are stronger than them,

57 Shall take from them the gold, and silver, and the raiment wherewith they are clothed, and shall go their way, neither shall they help themselves.

58 Therefore it is better to be a king that sheweth his power: or else a profitable vessel in the house, with which the owner thereof will be well satisfied: or a door in the house, to keep things safe that are therein, than such false gods.

59 The sun, and the moon, and the stars being bright, and sent forth for profitable uses, are obedient.

60 In like manner the lightning, when it breaketh forth, is easy to be seen: and after the same manner the wind bloweth in every country.

CHAP. VI. VER. 56. They that are stronger than them. That is, robbers and thieves are stronger than these idols, being things without life or motion.

61 And the clouds, when God commandeth them to go over the whole world, do that which is commanded them.

62 The fire alſo being ſent from above to conſume mountains, and woods, doth as it is commanded. But theſe neither in ſhew, nor in power are like to any one of them.

63 Wherefore it is neither to be thought, nor to be ſaid, that they are gods: ſince they are neither able to judge cauſes, nor to do any good to men.

64 Knowing therefore that they are not gods, fear them not.

65 For neither can they curſe kings, nor bleſs them.

66 Neither do they ſhew ſigns in the heaven to the nations, nor ſhine as the ſun, nor give light as the moon.

67 Beaſts are better than they, which can fly under a covert, and help themſelves.

68 Therefore there is no manner of appearance that they are gods: ſo fear them not.

69 For as a ſcarecrow in a garden of cucumbers keepeth nothing, ſo are their gods of wood, and of ſilver, and laid over with gold.

70 They are no better than a white thorn in a garden, upon which every bird ſitteth. In like manner alſo their gods of wood, and laid over with gold, and with ſilver, are like to a dead body caſt forth in the dark.

71 By the purple alſo and the ſcarlet which are moth-eaten upon them, you ſhall know that they are not gods. And they themſelves at laſt are conſumed, and ſhall be a reproach in the country.

72 Better therefore is the juſt man that hath no idols: for he ſhall be far from reproach.

THE

PROPHECY OF EZECHIEL.

EZECHIEL, whoſe name ſignifies the STRENGTH OF GOD, was of the prieſtly race: and of the number of the captives that were carried away to Babylon with king JOACHIN. He was co-temporary with JEREMIAS, and propheſied to the ſame effect in Babylon, as JEREMIAS did in Jeruſalem: and is ſaid to have ended his days in like manner, by martyrdom.

CHAP. I.

The time of Ezechiel's prophecy: he ſees a glorious viſion.

NOW it came to paſs in the thirtieth year, * in the fourth month, on the fifth day of the month, when I was in the midſt of the captives || by the river Chobar, the heavens were opened, and I ſaw the viſions of God.

* A. M. 3409. Ante C. 595.

|| Infra 3. 23. & 10. 20. & 43. 3.

2 On the fifth day of the month, the ſame was the fifth year of the captivity of king Joachin,

3 The word of the Lord came to Ezechiel the prieſt the ſon of Buzi in the land of the Chaldeans, by the river Chobar: and the hand of the Lord was there upon him.

4 And I ſaw, and behold a whirlwind came out of the north: and a great cloud, and a fire infolding it, and brightneſs was about it: and out of the midſt thereof, that is, out of the midſt of the fire, as it were the reſemblance of amber:

5 And in the midſt thereof the likeneſs of four living creatures: and this was

CHAP. I. VER. 1. The thirtieth year. Either of the age of Ezechiel: or, as others will have it, from the ſolemn covenant made in the eighteenth year of the reign of Joſias. 4 Kings xxiii.

VER. 5. Living creatures. Cherubims (as appears from Eccleſiaſticus xlix. 10) repreſented to the prophet under theſe myſterious ſhapes, as ſupporting the throne of God, and as it were drawing his chariot. All this chapter appeared ſo obſcure, and full of myſteries, to the ancient Hebrews, that, as we learn from St. Jerom, (Ep. ad Paulin.) they ſuffered none to read it, before they were thirty years old.

their appearance: there was the likeneſs of a man in them.

6 Every one had four faces, and every one four wings.

7 Their feet were ſtraight feet, and the ſole of their foot was like the ſole of a calf's foot, and they ſparkled like the appearance of glowing braſs.

8 And they had the hands of a man under their wings on their four ſides: and they had faces, and wings on the four ſides.

9 And the wings of one were joined to the wings of another. They turned not when they went: but every one went ſtraight forward.

10 And as for the likeneſs of their faces: there was the face of a man, and the face of a lion on the right ſide of all the four: and the face of an ox, on the left ſide of all the four: and the face of an eagle over all the four.

11 And their faces, and their wings were ſtretched upward: two wings of every one were joined, and two covered their bodies:

12 And every one of them went ſtraight forward: whither the impulſe of the ſpirit was to go, thither they went: and they turned not when they went.

13 And as for the likeneſs of the living creatures, their appearance was like that of burning coals of fire, and like the appearance of lamps. This was the viſion running to and fro in the midſt of the living creatures, a bright fire, and lightning going forth from the fire.

14 And the living creatures ran and returned like flaſhes of lightning.

15 Now as I beheld the living creatures, there appeared upon the earth by the living creatures one wheel with four faces.

16 And the appearance of the wheels, and the work of them, was like the appearance of the ſea: and the four had all one likeneſs: and their appearance and their work was as it were a wheel in the midſt of a wheel.

17 When they went, they went by their four parts: and they turned not when they went.

18 The wheels had alſo a ſize, and a height, and a dreadful appearance: ‖ and the whole body was full of eyes round about all the four.

‖ Infra 10. 12.

19 And when the living creatures went, the wheels alſo went together by them: and when the living creatures were lifted up from the earth, the wheels alſo were lifted up with them.

20 Whitherſoever the ſpirit went, thither as the ſpirit went the wheels alſo were lifted up withal, and followed it: for the ſpirit of life was in the wheels.

21 When thoſe went theſe went, and when thoſe ſtood theſe ſtood, and when thoſe were lifted up from the earth, the wheels alſo were lifted up together, and followed them: for the ſpirit of life was in the wheels.

22 And over the heads of the living creatures was the likeneſs of the firmament, as the appearance of cryſtal terrible to behold, and ſtretched out over their heads above.

23 And under the firmament were their wings ſtraight the one toward the other, every one with two wings covered his body, and the other was covered in like manner.

24 And I heard the noiſe of their wings, like the noiſe of many waters, as it were the voice of the moſt high God: when they walked, it was like the voice of a multitude, like the noiſe of an army, and when they ſtood, their wings were let down.

25 For when a voice came from above the firmament, that was over their heads, they ſtood, and let down their wings.

26 And above the firmament, that was over their heads, was the likeneſs of a throne, as the appearance of the ſapphire-ſtone, and upon the likeneſs of the throne, was a likeneſs as of the appearance of a man above upon it.

27 And I ſaw as it were the reſemblance of amber, as the appearance of fire within it round about: from his loins and upward, and from his loins downward, I ſaw as it were the reſemblance of fire ſhining round about.

28 As the appearance of the rainbow when it is in a cloud on a rainy day: this was the appearance of the brightneſs round about.

CHAP. II.

The prophet receives his commiſſion.

THIS was the viſion of the likeneſs of the glory of the Lord. And I ſaw, and I fell upon my face, and I heard the voice of one that ſpoke. And he ſaid to me: Son of man, ſtand upon thy feet, and I will ſpeak to thee: A. M. 3409.

2 And the ſpirit entered into me after that he ſpoke to me, and he ſet me upon my feet: and I heard him ſpeaking to me,

VER. 17. When they went, they went by their four parts. That is, indifferently to any of their ſides either forward or backward: to the right or to the left.

3 And saying: Son of man, I send thee to the children of Israel, to a rebellious people that hath revolted from me: they, and their fathers, have transgressed my covenant even unto this day.

4 And they to whom I send thee are children of a hard face, and of an obstinate heart: and thou shalt say to them: Thus saith the Lord God:

5 If so be they at least will hear, and if so be they will forbear, for they are a provoking house: and they shall know that there hath been a prophet in the midst of them.

6 And thou, O son of man, fear not, neither be thou afraid of their words: for thou art among unbelievers and destroyers, and thou dwellest with scorpions. Fear not their words, neither be thou dismayed at their looks: for they are a provoking house.

7 And thou shalt speak my words to them, if perhaps they will hear, and forbear: for they provoke me to anger.

8 But thou, O son of man, hear all that I say to thee: and do not thou provoke me, as that house provoketh me: open thy mouth, and eat what I give thee.

9 And I looked, and behold, a hand was sent to me, wherein was a book rolled up:
‖ Apoc. 5. 1. and he spread it before me, ‖ and it was written within and without: and there were written in it lamentations, and canticles, and wo.

CHAP. III.

The prophet eats the book, and receives further instructions: the office of a watchman.

A. M. 3409. AND he said to me: Son of man, eat all that thou shalt find: eat this book, and go speak to the children of Israel.

2 And I opened my mouth, and he caused me to eat that book:

3 And he said to me: Son of man, thy belly shall eat, and thy bowels shall be filled
‖ Apoc. 10. 9. & 10. with this book, which I give thee. ‖ And I did eat it: and it was sweet as honey in my mouth.

4 And he said to me: Son of man, go to the house of Israel, and thou shalt speak my words to them.

5 For thou art not sent to a people of a profound speech, and of an unknown tongue, but to the house of Israel:

6 Nor to many nations of a strange speech, and of an unknown tongue, whose words thou canst not understand: and if thou wert sent to them, they would hearken to thee.

7 But the house of Israel will not hearken to thee: because they will not hearken to me: for all the house of Israel are of a hard forehead and an obstinate heart.

8 Behold I have made thy face stronger than their faces, and thy forehead harder than their foreheads.

9 I have made thy face like an adamant and like flint: fear them not, neither be thou dismayed at their presence: for they are a provoking house.

10 And he said to me: Son of man, receive in thy heart, and hear with thy ears, all the words that I speak to thee:

11 And go get thee in to them of the captivity, to the children of thy people, and thou shalt speak to them, and shalt say to them: Thus saith the Lord: If so be they will hear, and will forbear.

12 And the spirit took me up, and I heard behind me the voice of a great commotion, saying: Blessed be the glory of the Lord, from his place.

13 And the noise of the wings of the living creatures striking one against another, and the noise of the wheels following the living creatures, and the noise of a great commotion.

14 The spirit also lifted me, and took me up: and I went away in bitterness in the indignation of my spirit: for the hand of the Lord was with me, strengthening me.

15 And I came to them of the captivity, to the heap of new corn, to them that dwelt by the river Chobar, and I sat where they sat: and I remained there seven days mourning in the midst of them.

16 And at the end of seven days the word of the Lord came to me, saying:

17 ‖ Son of man, I have made thee a watchman to the house of Israel: and thou shalt hear the word out of my mouth, and shalt tell it them from me. ‖ Infra 33. 7.

18 If, when I say to the wicked, Thou shalt surely die: thou declare it not to him, nor speak to him, that he may be converted from his wicked way, and live: the same

CHAP. III. VER. 1. Eat this book, and go speak to the children of Israel. By this eating of the book was signified the diligent attention and affection, with which we are to receive, and embrace the word of God; and to let it, as it were, sink into our interior by devout meditation.

VER. 15. The heap of new corn. It was the name of a place, in Hebrew, Telabib.

wicked man ſhall die in his iniquity, but I will require his blood at thy hand.

19 But if thou give warning to the wicked, and he be not converted from his wickedneſs, and from his evil way: he indeed ſhall die in his iniquity, but thou haſt delivered thy ſoul.

20 Moreover if the juſt man ſhall turn away from his juſtice, and ſhall commit iniquity: I will lay a ſtumbling-block before him, he ſhall die, becauſe thou haſt not given him warning: he ſhall die in his ſin, and his juſtices which he hath done, ſhall not be remembered: but I will require his blood at thy hand.

21 But if thou warn the juſt man, that the juſt may not ſin, and he doth not ſin: living he ſhall live, becauſe thou haſt warned him, and thou haſt delivered thy ſoul.

22 And the hand of the Lord was upon me, and he ſaid to me: Riſe and go forth into the plain, and there I will ſpeak to thee.

23 And I roſe up, and went forth into the plain: and behold the glory of the Lord ſtood there, like the glory which ‖ I ſaw by the river Chobar: and I fell upon my face.

‖ Supra 1. 3.

24 And the ſpirit entered into me, and ſet me upon my feet: and he ſpoke to me, and ſaid to me: Go in, and ſhut thyſelf up in the midſt of thy houſe.

25 And thou, O Son of man, behold they ſhall put bands upon thee, and they ſhall bind thee with them: and thou ſhalt not go forth from the midſt of them.

26 And I will make thy tongue ſtick faſt to the roof of thy mouth, and thou ſhalt be dumb, and not as a man that reproveth: becauſe they are a provoking houſe.

27 But when I ſhall ſpeak to thee, I will open thy mouth, and thou ſhalt ſay to them: Thus ſaith the Lord God: He that heareth, let him hear: and he that forbeareth, let him forbear: for they are a provoking houſe.

CHAP. IV.

A prophetic deſcription of the ſiege of Jeruſalem, and the famine that ſhall reign there.

A M. 3409. AND thou, O ſon of man, take thee a tile, and lay it before thee: and draw upon it the plan of the city of Jeruſalem.

2 And lay ſiege againſt it, and build forts, and caſt up a mount, and ſet a camp againſt it, and place battering rams round about it.

3 And take unto thee an iron pan, and ſet it for a wall of iron between thee and the city: and ſet thy face reſolutely againſt it, and it ſhall be beſieged, and thou ſhalt lay ſiege againſt it: it is a ſign to the houſe of Iſrael.

4 And thou ſhalt ſleep upon thy left ſide, and ſhalt lay the iniquities of the houſe of Iſrael upon it, according to the number of the days that thou ſhalt ſleep upon it, and thou ſhalt take upon thee their iniquity.

5 And I have laid upon thee the years of their iniquity, according to the number of the days three hundred and ninety days; and thou ſhalt bear the iniquity of the houſe of Iſrael.

6 And when thou haſt accompliſhed this, thou ſhalt ſleep again upon thy right ſide: and ‖ and thou ſhalt take upon thee the iniquity of the houſe of Juda forty days: a day for a year, yea, a day for a year I have appointed to thee †.

‖ Num. 15. 34.

† Jer. 52. 30.

7 And thou ſhalt turn thy face to the ſiege of Jeruſalem, and thy arm ſhall be ſtretched out: and thou ſhalt prophefy againſt it.

8 Behold I have encompaſſed thee with bands: and thou ſhalt not turn thyſelf from one ſide to the other, till thou haſt ended the days of thy ſiege.

9 And take to thee wheat and barley, and beans, and lentils, and millet, and fitches: and put them in one veſſel, and make thee bread thereof according to the number of the days that thou ſhalt lie upon thy ſide: three hundred and ninety days ſhalt thou eat thereof.

10 And thy meat that thou ſhalt eat, ſhall be in weight twenty ſtaters a day: from time to time thou ſhalt eat it.

11 And thou ſhalt drink water by meaſure, the ſixth part of a hin: from time to time thou ſhalt drink it.

12 And thou ſhalt eat it as barley-bread baked under the aſhes: and thou ſhalt cover it, in their ſight, with the dung that cometh out of a man.

13 And the Lord ſaid: So ſhall the children of Iſrael ‖ eat their bread all filthy among the nations whither I will caſt them out.

‖ Oſee 9. 4.

14 And I ſaid: Ah, ah, ah, O Lord God, behold my ſoul hath not been defiled, and from my infancy even till now, I have not eaten any thing that died of itſelf, or was torn CHAP. IV. VER. 11. Hin. That is, a meaſure of liquids containing about ten pints.

by beasts, and no unclean flesh hath entered into my mouth.

15 And he said to me: Behold I have given thee neat's dung for man's dung, and thou shalt make thy bread therewith.

16 And he said to me: Son of man: ‖ Behold I will break in pieces the staff of bread in Jerusalem: and they shall eat bread by weight, and with care: and they shall drink water by measure, and in distress. ‖ Infra 5. 16. & 14. 13.

17 So that when bread and water fail, every man may fall against his brother, and they may pine away in their iniquities.

CHAP. V.

The judgments of God upon the Jews are foreshewn under the type of the prophet's hair.

A. M. 3409. AND thou, son of man, take thee a sharp knife that shaveth the hair: and cause it to pass over thy head, and over thy beard: and take thee a balance to weigh in, and divide the hair.

2 A third part thou shalt burn with fire in the midst of the city, according to the fulfilling of the days of the siege: and thou shalt take a third part, and cut it in pieces with the knife all round about: and the other third part thou shalt scatter in the wind, and I will draw out the sword after them.

3 And thou shalt take thereof a small number: and shalt bind them in the skirt of thy cloak.

4 And thou shalt take of them again, and shalt cast them in the midst of the fire, and shalt burn them with fire: and out of it shall come forth a fire into all the house of Israel.

5 Thus saith the Lord God: This is Jerusalem, I have set her in the midst of the nations, and the countries round about her.

6 And she hath despised my judgments, so as to be more wicked than the Gentiles; and my commandments, more than the countries that are round about her: for they have cast off my judgments, and have not walked in my commandments.

7 Therefore thus saith the Lord God: Because you have surpassed the Gentiles that are round about you, and have not walked in my commandments, and have not kept my judgments, and have not done according to the judgments of the nations that are round about you:

8 Therefore thus saith the Lord God: Behold I come against thee, and I myself will execute judgments in the midst of thee in the sight of the Gentiles.

9 And I will do in thee that which I have not done: and the like to which I will do no more, because of all thy abominations.

10 Therefore the fathers shall eat the sons in the midst of thee, and the sons shall eat their fathers: and I will execute judgments in thee, and I will scatter thy whole remnant into every wind.

11 Therefore as I live, saith the Lord God: Because thou hast violated my sanctuary with all thy offences, and with all thy abominations: I will also break thee in pieces, and my eye shall not spare, and I will not have any pity.

12 A third part of thee shall die with the pestilence, and shall be consumed with famine in the midst of thee: and a third part of thee shall fall by the sword round about thee: and a third part of thee will I scatter into every wind, and I will draw out a sword after them.

13 ‖ And I will accomplish my fury, and will cause my indignation to rest upon them, and I will be comforted: and they shall know that I the Lord have spoken it in my zeal, when I shall have accomplished my indignation in them. ‖ Zach. 1. 8.

14 And I will make thee desolate, and a reproach among the nations that are round about thee, in the sight of every one that passeth by.

15 And thou shalt be a reproach, and a scoff, an example, and an astonishment amongst the nations that are round about thee, when I shall have executed judgments in thee in anger, and in indignation, and in wrathful rebukes.

16 I the Lord have spoken it: When I shall send upon them the grievous arrows of famine, which shall bring death, and which I will send to destroy you: and I will gather together famine against you, ‖ and I will break among you the staff of bread. ‖ Supra 4. 16. Infra 14. 13.

17 And I will send in upon you famine, and evil beasts unto utter destruction: and pestilence, and blood shall pass through thee, and I will bring in the sword upon thee. I the Lord have spoken it.

CHAP. VI.

The punishment of Israel for their idolatry: a remnant shall be blessed.

AND the word of the Lord came to me, saying: A. M. 3410.

2 Son of man, set thy face towards the mountains of Israel, and prophesy against them,

3 And say: ‖ Ye mountains of Israel, hear the word of the Lord God: Thus saith the Lord God to the mountains, and to the hills, ‖ Infra 36. 2.

and to the rocks, and the valleys: Behold, I will bring upon you the ſword, and I will deſtroy your high places,

4 And I will throw down your altars, and your idols ſhall be broken in pieces: and I will caſt down your ſlain before your idols.

5 And I will lay the dead carcaſſes of the children of Iſrael before your idols: and I will ſcatter your bones round about your altars,

6 In all your dwelling-places. The cities ſhall be laid waſte, and the high places ſhall be thrown down, and deſtroyed, and your altars ſhall be aboliſhed, and ſhall be broken in pieces: and your idols ſhall be no more, and your temples ſhall be deſtroyed, and your works ſhall be defaced.

7 And the ſlain ſhall fall in the midſt of you: and you ſhall know that I am the Lord.

8 And I will leave in you ſome that ſhall eſcape the ſword among the nations, when I ſhall have ſcattered you through the countries.

9 And they that are ſaved of you ſhall remember me amongſt the nations to which they are carried captives: becauſe I have broken their heart that was faithleſs, and revolted from me: and their eyes that went a fornicating after their idols: and they ſhall be diſpleaſed with themſelves becauſe of the evils which they have committed in all their abominations.

10 And they ſhall know that I the Lord have not ſpoken in vain that I would do this evil to them.

11 Thus ſaith the Lord God: Strike with thy hand, and ſtamp with thy foot, and ſay: Alas, for all the abominations of the evils of the houſe of Iſrael: for they ſhall fall by the ſword, by the famine, and by the peſtilence.

12 He that is far off ſhall die of the peſtilence: and he that is near, ſhall fall by the ſword: and he that remaineth, and is beſieged, ſhall die by the famine: and I will accompliſh my indignation upon them.

13 And you ſhall know that I am the Lord, when your ſlain ſhall be amongſt your idols, round about your altars, in every high hill, and on all the tops of mountains, and under every woody tree, and under every thick oak, the place where they burnt ſweet-ſmelling frankincenſe to all their idols.

14 And I will ſtretch forth my hand upon them: and I will make the land deſolate, and abandoned from the deſert of Deblatha in all their dwelling places: and they ſhall know that I am the Lord.

CHAP. VII.

The final deſolation of Iſrael: from which few ſhall eſcape.

AND the word of the Lord came to me, ſaying: A. M. 3410.

2 And thou ſon of man, thus ſaith the Lord God to the land of Iſrael: The end is come, the end is come upon the four quarters of the land.

3 Now is an end come upon thee, and I will ſend my wrath upon thee: and I will judge thee according to thy ways: and I will ſet all thy abominations againſt thee.

4 And my eye ſhall not ſpare thee, and I will ſhew thee no pity: but I will lay thy ways upon thee, and thy abominations ſhall be in the midſt of thee: and you ſhall know that I am the Lord.

5 Thus ſaith the Lord God: One affliction, behold an affliction is come.

6 An end is come, the end is come, it hath awaked againſt thee: behold it is come.

7 Deſtruction is come upon thee that dwelleſt in the land: the time is come, the day of ſlaughter is near, and not of the joy of mountains.

8 Now very ſhortly I will pour out my wrath upon thee, and I will accompliſh my anger in thee: and I will judge thee according to thy ways, and I will lay upon thee all thy crimes.

9 And my eye ſhall not ſpare, neither will I ſhew mercy: but I will lay thy ways upon thee, and thy abominations ſhall be in the midſt of thee: and you ſhall know that I am the Lord that ſtrike.

10 Behold the day, behold it is come: deſtruction is gone forth, the rod hath bloſſomed, pride hath budded.

11 Iniquity is riſen up into a rod of impiety: nothing of them ſhall remain, nor of their people, nor of the noiſe of them: and there ſhall be no reſt among them.

12 The time is come, the day is at hand: let not the buyer rejoice: nor the ſeller mourn: for wrath is upon all the people thereof.

13 For the ſeller ſhall not return to that which he hath ſold, although their life be yet among the living. For the viſion which regardeth all the multitude thereof, ſhall not go back: neither ſhall man be ſtrengthened in the iniquity of his life.

14 Blow the trumpet, let all be made ready, yet there is none to go to the battle:

for my wrath ſhall be upon all the people thereof.

15 The ſword without: and the peſtilence, and the famine within: he that is in the field ſhall die by the ſword: and they that are in the city, ſhall be devoured by the peſtilence, and the famine.

16 And ſuch of them as ſhall flee ſhall eſcape: and they ſhall be in the mountains like doves of the valleys, all of them trembling, every one for his iniquity.

17 All hands ſhall be made feeble, and all knees ſhall run with water.

‖ Iſai. 15. 2. Jer. 48. 37. 18 ‖ And they ſhall gird themſelves with hair-cloth, and fear ſhall cover them, and ſhame ſhall be upon every face, and baldneſs upon all their heads.

† Prov. 11. 4. Sophon 1. 18. Eccli. 5. 10. & 13. 19 Their ſilver ſhall be caſt forth, and their gold ſhall become a dunghil. † Their ſilver and their gold ſhall not be able to deliver them in the day of the wrath of the Lord. They ſhall not ſatisfy their ſoul, and their bellies ſhall not be filled: becauſe it hath been the ſtumbling-block of their iniquity.

20 And they have turned the ornament of their jewels into pride, and have made of it the images of their abominations, and idols: therefore I have made it an uncleanneſs to them.

21 And I will give it into the hands of ſtrangers for ſpoil and to the wicked of the earth for a prey, and they ſhall defile it.

22 And I will turn away my face from them, and they ſhall violate my ſecret place: and robbers ſhall enter into it, and defile it.

23 Make a ſhutting up: for the land is full of the judgment of blood, and the city is full of iniquity.

24 And I will bring the worſt of the nations, and they ſhall poſſeſs their houſes: and I will make the pride of the mighty to ceaſe, and they ſhall poſſeſs their ſanctuary.

25 When diſtreſs cometh upon them, they will ſeek for peace and there ſhall be none.

26 Trouble ſhall come upon trouble, and rumour upon rumour, and they ſhall ſeek a viſion of the prophet, and the law ſhall periſh from the prieſt, and counſel from the ancients.

27 The king ſhall mourn, and the prince ſhall be clothed with ſorrow, and the hands of the people of the land ſhall be troubled. I will do to them according to their way, and will judge them according to their judgments: and they ſhall know that I am the Lord.

CHAP. VIII.

The prophet ſees in a viſion the abominations committed in Jeruſalem; which determine the Lord to ſpare them no longer.

AND it came to paſs in the ſixth year, in the ſixth month, in the fifth day of the month, as I ſat in my houſe, and the ancients of Juda ſat before me, that the hand of the Lord God fell there upon me. A. M. 3410.

2 And I ſaw, and behold a likeneſs as the appearance of fire: from the appearance of his loins, and downward, fire: and from his loins, and upward, as the appearance of brightneſs, as the appearance of amber.

‖ Dan. 14. 35. 3 ‖ And the likeneſs of a hand was put forth and took me by a lock of my head: and the ſpirit lifted me up between the earth and the heaven, and brought me in the viſion of God into Jeruſalem, near the inner gate, that looked toward the north, where was ſet the idol of jealouſy to provoke to jealouſy.

4 And behold the glory of the God of Iſrael was there, according to the viſion which I had ſeen in the plain.

5 And he ſaid to me: Son of man, lift up thy eyes towards the way of the north. And I lifted up my eyes towards the way of the north: and behold on the north ſide of the gate of the altar the idol of jealouſy in the very entry.

6 And he ſaid to me: Son of man, doſt thou ſee, thinkeſt thou, what theſe are doing, the great abominations that the houſe of Iſrael committeth here, that I ſhould depart far off from my ſanctuary? and turn thee yet again and thou ſhalt ſee greater abominations.

7 And he brought me into the door of the court: and I ſaw, and behold a hole in the wall.

8 And he ſaid to me: Son of man, dig in the wall. And when I had digged in the wall, behold a door.

9 And he ſaid to me: Go in, and ſee the wicked abominations which they commit here.

10 And I went in and ſaw, and behold every form of creeping things, and of living creatures, the abomination, and all the idols of the houſe of Iſrael were painted on the wall all round about.

11 And ſeventy men of the ancients of the houſe of Iſrael, and Jezonias the ſon of Saaphan ſtood in the midſt of them, that ſtood before the pictures: and every one had a cenſer in his hand: and a cloud of ſmoke went up from the incenſe.

CHAP. VII. VER. 22. Secret place, &c. viz. The inward ſanctuary, the holy of holies.

VER. 23. Make a ſhutting up. In Hebrew, a chain, viz. for impriſonment and captivity.

12 And he said to me: Surely thou seest, O son of man, what the ancients of the house of Israel do in the dark, every one in private in his chamber: for they say: The Lord seeth us not, the Lord hath forsaken the earth.

13 And he said to me: If thou turn thee again, thou shalt see greater abominations which these commit.

14 And he brought me in by the door of the gate of the Lord's house, which looked to the north: and behold women sat there mourning for Adonis.

15 And he said to me: Surely thou hast seen, O son of man: but turn thee again, and thou shalt see greater abominations than these.

16 And he brought me into the inner court of the house of the Lord: and behold at the door of the temple of the Lord, between the porch and the altar, were about five and twenty men having their backs towards the temple of the Lord, and their faces to the east: and they adored towards the rising of the sun.

17 And he said to me: Surely thou hast seen, O son of man: is this a light thing to the house of Juda, that they should commit these abominations which they have committed here: because they have filled the land with iniquity, and have turned to provoke me to anger? and behold they put a branch to their nose.

18 Therefore I also will deal with them in my wrath: my eyes shall not spare them, neither will I shew mercy: and when they shall cry to my ears with a loud voice, I will not hear them.

CHAP. IX.

All are ordered to be destroyed that are not marked in their foreheads. God will not be entreated for them.

A. M. 3410. AND he cried in my ears with a loud voice, saying: The visitations of the city are at hand, and every one hath a destroying weapon in his hand.

2 And behold six men came from the way of the upper gate, which looketh to the north: and each one had his weapon of destruction in his hand: and there was one man in the midst of them clothed with linen, with a writer's inkhorn at his reins: and they went in, and stood by the brazen altar.

3 And the glory of the Lord of Israel went up from the cherub, upon which he was, to the threshold of the house: and he called to the man that was clothed with linen, and had a writer's inkhorn at his loins.

4 And the Lord said to him: Go through the midst of the city, through the midst of Jerusalem: ‖ and mark Thau upon the foreheads of the men that sigh, and mourn for all the abominations that are committed in the midst thereof. ‖ Exod. 12. 7. Apoc. 7. 3.

5 And to the others he said in my hearing: Go ye after him through the city, and strike: let not your eye spare, nor be ye moved with pity.

6 Utterly destroy old and young, maidens, children and women: but upon whomsoever you shall see Thau, kill him not, and begin ye at my sanctuary. So they began at the ancient men, who were before the house.

7 And he said to them: Defile the house, and fill the courts with the slain: go ye forth. And they went forth, and slew them that were in the city.

8 And the slaughter being ended I was left: and I fell upon my face, and crying, I said: Alas, alas, alas, O Lord God, will thou then destroy all the remnant of Israel, by pouring out thy fury upon Jerusalem?

9 And he said to me: The iniquity of the house of Israel, and of Juda is exceeding great, and the land is filled with blood, and the city is filled with perverseness: for they have said: The Lord hath forsaken the earth, and the Lord seeth not.

10 Therefore neither shall my eye spare, nor will I have pity: I will requite their way upon their head.

11 And behold the man that was clothed with linen, that had the inkhorn at his back, returned the word, saying: I have done as thou hast commanded me.

CHAP. X.

Fire is taken from the midst of the wheels under the cherubims, and scattered over the city. A description of the cherubims.

A. M. 3410. AND I saw, and behold in the firmament that was over the heads of the cherubims, there appeared over them as it were the sapphire-stone, as the appearance of the likeness of a throne.

CHAP. VIII. VER. 14. Adonis. The favourite of Venus, slain by a wild boar, as feigned by the Heathen poets, and which being here represented by an idol, is lamented by the female worshippers of that goddess. In the Hebrew the name is Tammuz.

CHAP. IX. VER. 4. Mark Thau. Thau or Tau, is the last letter in the Hebrew alphabet, and signifies a sign, or a mark: which is the reason why some translators render this place set a mark, or mark a mark, without specifying what this mark was. But St. Jerom, and other interpreters, conclude it was the form of the letter Thau, which, in the ancient Hebrew character, was the form of a cross.

2 And he ſpoke to the man, that was clothed with linen, and ſaid: Go in between the wheels that are under the cherubims, and fill thy hand with the coals of fire that are between the cherubims, and pour them out upon the city. And he went in, in my ſight:

3 And the cherubims ſtood on the right ſide of the houſe, when the man went in, and a cloud filled the inner court.

4 And the glory of the Lord was lifted up from above the cherub to the threſhold of the houſe: and the houſe was filled with the cloud, and the court was filled with the brightneſs of the glory of the Lord.

5 And the ſound of the wings of the cherubims was heard even to the outward court as the voice of God Almighty ſpeaking.

6 And when he had commanded the man that was clothed with linen, ſaying: Take fire from the midſt of the wheels that are between the cherubims: he went in and ſtood beſide the wheel.

7 And one cherub ſtretched out his arm from the midſt of the cherubims to the fire that was between the cherubims: and he took, and put it into the hands of him that was clothed with linen: who took it and went forth.

8 And there appeared in the cherubims the likeneſs of a man's hand under their wings.

9 And I ſaw, and behold there were four wheels by the cherubims: one wheel by one cherub, and another wheel by another cherub: and the appearance of the wheels was to the ſight like the chryſolite-ſtone:

10 And as to their appearance, all four were alike: as if a wheel were in the midſt of a wheel.

11 And when they went, they went by four ways: and they turned not when they went: but to the place, whither they firſt turned, the reſt alſo followed, and did not turn back.

12 And their whole body, and their necks, and their hands, and their wings, and the circles were full of eyes, round about the four wheels.

13 And theſe wheels he called voluble, in my hearing.

14 And every one had four faces: one face was the face of a cherub, and the ſecond face, the face of a man: and in the third was the face of a lion: and in the fourth the face of an eagle.

15 And the cherubims were lifted up: this is the living creature that I had ſeen by the river Chobar.

16 And when the cherubims went, the wheels alſo went by them: and when the cherubims lifted up their wings, to mount up from the earth, the wheels ſtaid not behind, but were by them.

17 When they ſtood, theſe ſtood: and when they were lifted up, theſe were lifted up: for the ſpirit of life was in them.

18 And the glory of the Lord went forth from the treſhold of the temple: and ſtood over the cherubims.

19 And the cherubims lifting up their wings, were raiſed from the earth before me: and as they went out, the wheels alſo followed: and it ſtood in the entry of the eaſt gate of the houſe of the Lord: and the glory of the God of Iſrael was over them.

20 || This is the living creature, which I ſaw under the God of Iſrael by the river Chobar: and I underſtood that they were cherubims. || Supra 1. 5. & 3.

21 Each one had four faces, and each one had four wings: and the likeneſs of a man's hand was under their wings.

22 And as to the likeneſs of their faces, they were the ſame faces which I had ſeen by the river Chobar, and their looks, and the impulſe of every one to go ſtraight forward.

CHAP. XI.

A prophecy againſt the preſumptuous aſſurance of the great ones. A remnant ſhall be ſaved, and receive a new ſpirit, and a new heart.

AND the ſpirit lifted me up, and brought me into the eaſt gate of the houſe of the Lord, which looketh towards the riſing of the ſun: and behold in the entry of the gate five and twenty men: and I ſaw in the midſt of them Jezonias the ſon of Azur, and Pheltias the ſon of Banaias, princes of the people. A. M. 3410.

2 And he ſaid to me: Son of man, theſe are the men that ſtudy iniquity, and frame a wicked counſel in this city,

3 Saying: Were not houſes lately built? This city is the cauldron, and we the fleſh,

---

CHAP. X. VER. 11. By four ways. That is, by any of the four ways, forward, backward, to the right, or to the left.

VER. 13. Voluble, That is, rolling wheels, galgal.

CHAP. XI. VER. 3. Were not houſes lately built, &c. Theſe men deſpiſed the predictions and threats of the prophets: who declared to them from God, that the city ſhould be deſtroyed, and the inhabitants carried into captivity; and they made uſe of this kind of argument againſt the prophets, that the city, ſo far from being like to be deſtroyed, had lately been augmented by the building of new houſes: from whence they further inferred, by way of a proverb, uſing the ſimilitude of a cauldron, out of which the fleſh is not taken, till it is thoroughly boiled and fit to be eaten, that they ſhould not be carried away out of their city, but there end their days in peace.

4 Therefore prophesy against them, prophesy, thou son of man.

5 And the Spirit of the Lord fell upon me, and said to me: Speak: Thus saith the Lord: Thus have you spoken, O house of Israel, for I know the thoughts of your heart.

6 You have killed a great many in this city, and you have filled the streets thereof with the slain.

7 Therefore thus saith the Lord God: Your slain, whom you have laid in the midst thereof, they are the flesh, and this is the cauldron: and I will bring you forth out of the midst thereof.

8 You have feared the sword, and I will bring the sword upon you, saith the Lord God.

9 And I will cast you out of the midst thereof, and I will deliver you into the hand of the enemies, and I will execute judgments upon you.

10 You shall fall by the sword: I will judge you in the borders of Israel, and you shall know that I am the Lord.

11 This shall not be as a cauldron to you, and you shall not be as flesh in the midst thereof: I will judge you in the borders of Israel.

12 And you shall know that I am the Lord: because you have not walked in my commandments, and have not done my judgments, but you have done according to the judgments of the nations that are round about you.

13 And it came to pass, when I prophesied, that Pheltias the son of Banaias died: and I fell down upon my face, and cried with a loud voice: and said: Alas, alas, alas, O Lord God: wilt thou make an end of all the remnant of Israel?

14 And the word of the Lord came to me, saying:

15 Son of man thy brethren, thy brethren, thy kinsmen, and all the house of Israel, all they to whom the inhabitants of Jerusalem have said: Get ye far from the Lord, the land is given in possession to us.

16 Therefore thus saith the Lord God: Because I have removed them far off among the Gentiles, and because I have scattered them among the countries: I will be to them a little sanctuary in the countries whither they are come.

17 Therefore speak to them: Thus saith the Lord God: I will gather you from among the peoples, and assemble you out of the countries wherein you are scattered, and I will give you the land of Israel.

18 And they shall go in thither, and shall take away all the scandals, and all the abominations thereof from thence.

19 ‖ And I will give them one heart, and will put a new spirit in their bowels: and I will take away the stony heart out of their flesh, and will give them a heart of flesh: ‖ Jer 31. 33. Infra 36. 26.

20 That they may walk in my commandments, and keep my judgments, and do them: and that they may be my people, and I may be their God.

21 But as for them whose heart walketh after their scandals and abominations, I will lay their way upon their head, saith the Lord God.

22 And the cherubims lifted up their wings, and the wheels with them: and the glory of the God of Israel was over them.

23 And the glory of the Lord went up from the midst of the city, and stood over the mount that is on the east side of the city.

24 And the spirited lifted me up, and brought me into Chaldea to them of the captivity, in vision, by the spirit of God: and the vision which I had seen was taken up from me.

25 And I spoke to them of the captivity all the words of the Lord, which he had shewn me.

CHAP. XII.

The prophet foreshewеth, by signs, the captivity of Sedecias, and the desolation of the people: all which shall quickly come to pass.

AND the word of the Lord came to me, saying: A. M. 3411. Ante C. 593.

2 Son of man, thou dwellest in the midst of a provoking house: who have eyes to see, and see not: and ears to hear, and hear not: for they are a provoking house.

3 Thou therefore, O son of man, prepare thee all necessaries for removing, and remove by day in their sight: and thou shalt remove out of thy place to another place in their sight, if so be they will regard it: for they are a provoking house.

4 And thou shalt bring forth thy furniture as the furniture of one that is removing by day in their sight: and thou shalt go forth in the evening in their presence, as one goeth forth that removeth his dwelling.

VER. 10. In the borders of Israel. They pretended that they should die in peace in Jerusalem: God tells them it should not be so: but that they should be judged and condemned, and fall by the sword in the borders of Israel: viz. in Reblatha in the land of Emath, where all their chief men were put to death by order of Nabuchodonosor, 4 Kings xxv. and Jeremias lii. 10, 27.

VER. 15. Thy brethren, &c. He speaks of them that had been carried away captives before; who were despised by them that remained in Jerusalem: but, as the prophet here declares to them from God, should be in a more happy condition than they, and after some time return from their captivity.

5 Dig thee a way through the wall before their eyes: and thou ſhalt go forth through it.

6 In their ſight thou ſhalt be carried out upon men's ſhoulders, thou ſhalt be carried out in the dark: thou ſhalt cover thy face, and ſhalt not ſee the ground: for I have ſet thee for a ſign of things to come to houſe of Iſrael.

7 I did therefore as he had commanded me: I brought forth my goods by day, as the goods of one that removeth: and in the evening I digged through the wall with my hand: and I went forth in the dark, and was carried on men's ſhoulders in their ſight.

8 And the word of the Lord came to me in the morning, ſaying:

9 Son of man, hath not the houſe of Iſrael, the provoking houſe, ſaid to thee: What art thou doing?

10 Say to them: Thus ſaith the Lord God: This burden concerneth the prince that is in Jeruſalem, and all the houſe of Iſrael that are among them.

11 Say: I am a ſign of things to come to you: as I have done, ſo ſhall it be done to them: they ſhall be removed from their dwellings, and go into captivity.

12 And the prince that is in the midſt of them, ſhall be carried on ſhoulders, he ſhall go forth in the dark: they ſhall dig through the wall to bring him out: his face ſhall be covered, that he may not ſee the ground with his eyes.

‖ Infra 17. 20. 13 ‖ And I will ſpread my net over him, and he ſhall be taken in my net: and I will bring him into Babylon, into the land of the Chaldeans, and he ſhall not ſee it, and there he ſhall die.

14 And all that are about him, his guards, and his troops I will ſcatter into every wind: and I will draw out the ſword after them.

15 And they ſhall know that I am the Lord, when I ſhall have diſperſed them among the nations, and ſcattered them in the countries.

16 And I will leave a few men of them from the ſword, and from the famine, and from the peſtilence: that they may declare all their wicked deeds among the nations whither they ſhall go: and they ſhall know that I am the Lord.

17 And the word of the Lord came to me, ſaying:

18 Son of man, eat thy bread in trouble: and drink thy water in hurry and ſorrow.

19 And ſay to the people of the land: Thus ſaith the Lord God to them that dwell in Jeruſalem in the land of Iſrael: They ſhall eat their bread in care, and drink their water in deſolation: that the land may become deſolate from the multitude that is therein, for the iniquity of all that dwell therein.

20 And the cities that are now inhabited, ſhall be laid waſte, and the land ſhall be deſolate: and you ſhall know that I am the Lord.

21 And the word of the Lord came to me, ſaying:

22 Son of man, what is this proverb that you have in the land of Iſrael? ſaying: The days ſhall be prolonged, and every viſion ſhall fail.

23 Say to them therefore: Thus ſaith the Lord God: I will make this proverb to ceaſe, neither ſhall it be any more a common ſaying in Iſrael: and tell them that the days are at hand, and the effect of every viſion.

24 For there ſhall be no more any vain viſions, nor doubtful divination in the midſt of the children of Iſrael.

25 For I the Lord will ſpeak: and what word ſoever I ſhall ſpeak, it ſhall come to paſs, and ſhall not be prolonged any more: but in your days, ye provoking houſe, I will ſpeak the word, and will do it, ſaith the Lord God.

26 And the word of the Lord came to me, ſaying:

27 Son of man, behold the houſe of Iſrael, they that ſay: The viſion that this man ſeeth, is for many days to come: and this man propheſieth of times afar off.

28 Therefore ſay to them: Thus ſaith the Lord God: Not one word of mine ſhall be prolonged any more: the word that I ſhall ſpeak ſhall be accompliſhed, ſaith the Lord God.

CHAP. XIII.

God declares againſt falſe prophets and propheteſſes, that deceive the people with lies.

AND the word of the Lord came to me, A. M. 3411. ſaying:

2 Son of man, propheſy thou againſt the prophets of Iſrael that propheſy: and thou ſhalt ſay to them that propheſy out of their own heart: Hear ye the word of the Lord:

3 Thus ſaith the Lord God: ‖ Wo to the fooliſh prophets that follow their own ſpirit, and ſee nothing. ‖ Jer. 23. 1. Infra 14. 9. & 34. 2.

CHAP. XII. VER. 13. He ſhall not ſee it. Becauſe his eyes ſhall be put out by Nabuchodonoſor.

4 Thy prophets, O Iſrael, were like foxes in the deſerts.

5 You have not gone up to face the enemy, nor have you ſet up a wall for the houſe of Iſrael, to ſtand in battle in the day of the Lord.

6 They ſee vain things, and they foretell lies, ſaying: The Lord ſaith: whereas the Lord hath not ſent them: and they have perſiſted to confirm what they have ſaid.

7 Have you not ſeen a vain viſion, and ſpoken a lying divination: and you ſay: The Lord ſaith: whereas I have not ſpoken.

8 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord God: Becauſe you have ſpoken vain things, and have ſeen lies: therefore behold I come againſt you, ſaith the Lord God.

9 And my hand ſhall be upon the prophets that ſee vain things, and that divine lies: they ſhall not be in the counſel of my people, nor ſhall they be written in the writing of the houſe of Iſrael, neither ſhall they enter into the land of Iſrael: and you ſhall know that I am the Lord God.

10 Becauſe they have deceived my people, ſaying: Peace, and there is no peace: and the people built up a wall, and they daubed it with dirt without ſtraw.

11 Say to them that daub without tempering, that it ſhall fall: for there ſhall be an overflowing ſhower, and I will cauſe great hail-ſtones to fall violently from above, and a ſtormy wind to throw it down.

12 Behold, when the wall is fallen: ſhall it not be ſaid to you: Where is the daubing wherewith you have daubed it?

13 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord God: Lo, I will cauſe a ſtormy wind to break forth in my indignation, and there ſhall be an overflowing ſhower in my anger: and great hail-ſtones in my wrath to conſume.

14 And I will break down the wall that you have daubed with untempered mortar: and I will make it even with the ground, and the foundation thereof ſhall be laid bare: and it ſhall fall, and ſhall be conſumed in the midſt thereof: and you ſhall know that I am the Lord.

15 And I will accompliſh my wrath upon the wall, and upon them that daub it without tempering the mortar, and I will ſay to you: The wall is no more, and they that daub it are no more.

16 Even the prophets of Iſrael that propheſy to Jeruſalem, and that ſee viſions of peace for her: and there is no peace, ſaith the Lord God.

17 And thou, ſon of man, ſet thy face againſt the daughters of thy people that propheſy out of their own heart: and do thou propheſy againſt them,

18 And ſay: Thus ſaith the Lord God: Wo to them that ſew cuſhions under every elbow: and make pillows for the heads of perſons of every age to catch ſouls: and when they caught the ſouls of my people, they gave life to their ſouls.

19 And they violated me among my people, for a handful of barley, and a piece of bread, to kill ſouls which ſhould not die, and to ſave ſouls alive which ſhould not live, telling lies to my people that believe lies.

20 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord God: Behold I declare againſt your cuſhions, wherewith you catch flying ſouls: and I will tear them off from your arms: and I will let go the ſouls that you catch, the ſouls that ſhould fly.

21 And I will tear your pillows, and will deliver my people out of your hand, neither ſhall they be any more in your hands to be a prey: and you ſhall know that I am the Lord.

22 Becauſe with lies you have made the heart of the juſt to mourn, whom I have not made ſorrowful: and have ſtrengthened the hands of the wicked, that he ſhould not return from his evil way, and live.

23 Therefore you ſhall not ſee vain things, nor divine divinations any more, and I will deliver my people out of your hand: and you ſhall know that I am the Lord.

CHAP. XIV.

God ſuffers the wicked to be deceived in puniſhment of their wickedneſs. The evils that ſhall come upon them for their ſins: from which they ſhall not be delivered by the prayers of Noe, Daniel and Job. But a remnant ſhall be preſerved.

AND ſome of the ancients of Iſrael came to me, and ſat before me. A. M. 3411.

2 And the word of the Lord came to me, ſaying:

CHAP. XIII. VER. 18. Sew cuſhions, &c. viz. by making people eaſy in their ſins, and promiſing them impunity.

Ibid. They gave life to their ſouls. That is; they flattered them with promiſes of life, peace, and ſecurity.

VER. 19. Violated me. That is, diſhonoured and diſcredited me.

Ibid. To kill ſouls, &c. That is, to ſentence ſouls to death, which are not to die: and to promiſe life to them who are not to live.

3 Son of man, theſe men have placed their uncleanneſſes in their hearts, and have ſet up before their face the ſtumbling-block of their iniquity: and ſhall I anſwer when they enquire of me?

4 Therefore ſpeak to them, and ſay to them: Thus ſaith the Lord God: Man, man of the houſe of Iſrael, that ſhall place his uncleanneſſes in his heart, and ſet up the ſtumbling-block of his iniquity before his face, and ſhall come to the prophet inquiring of me by him: I the Lord will anſwer him according to the multitude of his uncleanneſſes:

5 That the houſe of Iſrael may be caught in their own heart, with which they have departed from me through all their idols.

6 Therefore ſay to the houſe of Iſrael: Thus ſaith the Lord God: Be converted, and depart from your idols, and turn away your faces from all your abominations.

7 For every man of the houſe of Iſrael, and every ſtranger among the proſelytes in Iſrael, if he ſeparate himſelf from me, and place his idols in his heart, and ſet the ſtumbling-block of his iniquity before his face, and come to the prophet to enquire of me by him: I the Lord will anſwer him by myſelf.

8 And I will ſet my face againſt that man, and will make him an example, and a proverb, and will cut him off from the midſt of my people: and you ſhall know that I am the Lord.

‖ Supra 13. 3. 9 ‖ And when the prophet ſhall err, and ſpeak a word: I the Lord have deceived that prophet: and I will ſtretch forth my hand upon him, and will cut him off from the midſt of my people Iſrael.

10 And they ſhall bear their iniquity: according to the iniquity of him that inquireth, ſo ſhall the iniquity of the prophet be.

11 That the houſe of Iſrael may go no more aſtray from me, nor be polluted with all their tranſgreſſions: but may be my people, and I may be their God, ſaith the Lord of hoſts.

12 And the word of the Lord came to me, ſaying:

13 Son of man, when a land ſhall ſin againſt me, ſo as to tranſgreſs grievouſly, I will ſtretch forth my hand upon it, ‖ and will break the ſtaff of the bread thereof: and I will ſend famine upon it, and will deſtroy man and beaſt out of it. ‖ Supra 4. 16. & 5. 16.

14 And if theſe three men, Noe, Daniel, and Job, ſhall be in it: they ſhall deliver their own ſouls by their juſtice, ſaith the Lord of hoſts.

15 And if I ſhall bring miſchievous beaſts alſo upon the land to waſte it; and it be deſolate, ſo that there is none that can paſs becauſe of the beaſts:

16 If theſe three men ſhall be in it, as I live ſaith the Lord, they ſhall deliver neither ſons nor daughters: but they only ſhall be delivered, and the land ſhall be made deſolate.

17 Or if I bring the ſword upon that land, and ſay to the ſword: Paſs through the land: and I deſtroy man and beaſt out of it:

18 And theſe three men be in the midſt thereof: as I live ſaith the Lord God, they ſhall deliver neither ſons nor daughters, but they themſelves alone ſhall be delivered.

19 Or if I alſo ſend the peſtilence upon that land, and pour out my indignation upon it in blood, to cut off from it man and beaſt:

20 And Noe, and Daniel, and Job be in the midſt thereof: as I live, ſaith the Lord God, they ſhall deliver neither ſon nor daughter: but they ſhall only deliver their own ſouls by their juſtice.

21 For thus ſaith the Lord: Although I ſhall ſend in upon Jeruſalem my four grievous judgments, the ſword, and the famine, and the miſchievous beaſts, and the peſtilence, to deſtroy out of it man and beaſt:

22 Yet there ſhall be left in it ſome that ſhall be ſaved, who ſhall bring away their ſons and daughters: behold they ſhall come among you, and you ſhall ſee their way, and their doings: and you ſhall be comforted concerning the evil that I have brought upon Jeruſalem, in all things that I have brought upon it.

23 And they ſhall comfort you, when you

VER. 9. The prophet ſhall err, &c. He ſpeaks of falſe prophets, anſwering out of their own heads, and according to their own corrupt inclinations.

Ibid. I have deceived that prophet. God almighty deceives falſe prophets, partly by withdrawing his light from them; and abandoning them to their own corrupt inclinations, which puſh them on to propheſy ſuch things as are agreeable to thoſe that conſult them: and partly by diſappointing them, and cauſing all things to happen contrary to what they have ſaid.

CHAP. XV.

As a vine cut down is fit for nothing but the fire: so it shall be with Jerusalem, for her sins.

A. M. 3411. AND the word of the Lord came to me, saying:

2 Son of man, what shall be made of the wood of the vine, out of all the trees of the woods that are among the trees of the forests?

3 Shall wood be taken of it, to do any work, or shall a pin be made of it, for any vessel to hang thereon?

4 Behold it is cast into the fire for fewel: the fire hath consumed both ends thereof, and the midst thereof is reduced to ashes: shall it be useful for any work?

5 Even when it was whole it was not fit for work, how much less, when the fire hath devoured, and consumed it, shall any work be made of it?

6 Therefore thus saith the Lord God: As the vine-tree among the trees of the forests which I have given to the fire to be consumed, so will I deliver up the inhabitants of Jerusalem.

7 And I will set my face against them: they shall go out from fire, and fire shall consume them: and you shall know that I am the Lord, when I shall have set my face against them.

8 And I shall have made their land a wilderness, and desolate, because they have been transgressors, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XVI.

Under the figure of an unfaithful wife, God upbraids Jerusalem with her ingratitude and manifold disloyalties: but promiseth mercy by a new covenant.

A. M. 3411. AND the word of the Lord came to me, saying:

2 Son of man, make known to Jerusalem her abominations:

3 And thou shalt say: Thus saith the Lord God to Jerusalem: Thy root, and thy nativity is of the land of Chanaan, thy father, was an Amorrhite, and thy mother a Cethite.

4 And when thou wast born, in the day of thy nativity thy navel was not cut, neither wast thou washed with water for thy health, nor salted with salt, nor swaddled with clouts.

5 No eye had pity on thee to do any of these things for thee, out of compassion to thee: but thou wast cast out upon the face of the earth in the abjection of thy soul, in the day that thou wast born.

6 And passing by thee, I saw that thou wast trodden under foot in thy own blood: and I said to thee when thou wast in thy blood: Live: I have said to thee: Live in thy blood.

7 I caused thee to multiply as the bud of the field: and thou didst increase and grow great, and advancedst, and camest to woman's ornament: thy breasts were fashioned, and thy hair grew: and thou wast naked, and full of confusion.

8 And I passed by thee, and saw thee: and behold thy time was the time of lovers: and I spread my garment over thee, and covered thy ignominy. And I swore to thee, and I entered into a covenant with thee, saith the Lord God: and thou becamest mine.

9 And I washed thee with water, and cleansed away thy blood from thee: and I anointed thee with oil.

10 And I clothed thee with embroidery, and shod thee with violet-coloured shoes: and I girded thee about with fine linen, and clothed thee with fine garments.

11 I decked thee also with ornaments, and put bracelets on thy hands, and a chain about thy neck.

12 And I put a jewel upon thy forehead, and earings in thy ears, and a beautiful crown upon thy head.

13 And thou wast adorned with gold, and silver, and wast clothed with fine linen, and embroidered work, and many colours: thou didst eat fine flour, and honey, and oil, and wast made exceeding beautiful: and wast advanced to be a queen.

14 And thy renown went forth among the nations for thy beauty: for thou wast perfect through my beauty, which I had put upon thee, saith the Lord God.

15 But trusting in thy beauty, thou played the harlot becauſe of thy renown, and thou haſt proſtituted thyſelf to every paſſenger, to be his.

16 And taking of thy garments thou haſt made thee high places ſowed together on each ſide: and haſt played the harlot upon them, as hath not been done before, nor ſhall be hereafter.

17 And thou tookeſt thy beautiful veſſels, of my gold, and my ſilver, which I gave thee, and thou madeſt thee images of men, and haſt committed fornication with them.

18 And thou tookeſt thy garments of divers colours, and coveredſt them: and ſetteſt my oil, and my ſweet incenſe before them.

19 And my bread which I gave thee, the fine flour, and oil, and honey, wherewith I fed thee, thou haſt ſet before them for a ſweet odour; and it was done, ſaith the Lord God.

20 And thou haſt taken thy ſons, and thy daughters, whom thou haſt borne to me: and haſt ſacrificed the ſame to them to be devoured. Is thy fornication ſmall?

21 Thou haſt ſacrificed and given my children to them, conſecrating them by fire.

22 And after all thy abominations, and fornications, thou haſt not remembered the days of thy youth, when thou waſt naked, and full of confuſion, trodden under foot in thy own blood.

23 And it came to paſs after all thy wickedneſs (wo, wo to thee, ſaith the Lord God)

24 That thou didſt alſo build thee a common ſtew, and madeſt thee a brothel houſe in every ſtreet.

25 At every head of the way thou haſt ſet up a ſign of thy proſtitution: and haſt made thy beauty to be abominable: and haſt proſtituted thyſelf to every one that paſſed by, and haſt multiplied thy fornications.

26 And thou haſt committed fornication with the Egyptians thy neighbours, men of large bodies, and haſt multiplied thy fornications to provoke me.

27 Behold, I will ſtretch out my hand upon thee, and will take away thy juſtification: and I will deliver thee up to the will of the daughters of the Philiſtines that hate thee, that are aſhamed of thy wicked way.

28 Thou haſt alſo committed fornication with the Aſſyrians, becauſe thou waſt not yet ſatisfied: and after thou hadſt played the harlot with them, even ſo thou waſt not contented.

29 Thou haſt alſo multiplied thy fornications in the land of Chanaan with the Chaldeans: and neither ſo waſt thou ſatisfied.

30 Wherein ſhall I cleanſe thy heart, ſaith the Lord God: ſeeing thou doſt all theſe the works of a ſhameleſs proſtitute?

31 Becauſe thou haſt built thy brothel houſe at the head of every way, and thou haſt made thy high place in every ſtreet: and waſt not as a harlot that by diſdain enhanceth her price,

32 But as an adultereſs, that bringeth in ſtrangers over her huſband.

33 Gifts are given to all harlots: but thou haſt given hire to all thy lovers, and thou haſt given them gifts to come to thee from every ſide, to commit fornication with thee.

34 And it hath happened in thee contrary to the cuſtom of women in thy fornications, and after thee there ſhall be no ſuch fornication: for in that thou gaveſt rewards, and didſt not take rewards, the contrary hath been done in thee.

35 Therefore, O harlot, hear the word of the Lord.

36 Thus ſaith the Lord God: Becauſe thy money hath been poured out, and thy ſhame diſcovered through thy fornications with thy lovers, and with the idols of thy abominations by the blood of thy children whom thou gaveſt them:

37 Behold, I will gather together all thy lovers with whom thou haſt taken pleaſure, and all whom thou haſt loved, with all whom thou haſt hated: and I will gather them together againſt thee on every ſide, and will diſcover thy ſhame in their ſight, and they ſhall ſee all thy nakedneſs.

38 ‖ And I will judge thee as adultereſſes, and they that ſhed blood are judged: and I will give thee blood in fury and jealouſy. ‖ Infra 23. 10.

39 And I will deliver thee into their hands, and they ſhall deſtroy thy brothel houſe, and throw down thy ſtews: and they ſhall ſtrip thee of thy garments, and ſhall take away the veſſels of thy beauty: and leave thee naked, and full of diſgrace.

40 And they ſhall bring upon thee a multitude, and they ſhall ſtone thee with ſtones, and ſhall ſlay thee with their ſwords.

41 ‖ And they ſhall burn thy houſes with fire, and ſhall execute judgments upon thee in the ſight of many women: and thou ſhalt ‖ 4 Kings 25. 9.

VER. 21. Thou haſt ſacrificed, &c. As there is nothing more baſe and abominable than the crimes mentioned throughout this chapter; ſo the infidelities of the Iſraelites in forſaking God, and ſacrificing even their children to idols, are ſtrongly figured by theſe allegories.

ceaſe from fornication, and ſhalt give no hire any more.

42 And my indignation ſhall reſt in thee: and my jealouſy ſhall depart from thee, and I will ceaſe and be angry no more.

43 Becauſe thou haſt not remembered the days of thy youth, but haſt provoked me in all theſe things: wherefore I alſo have turned thy ways upon thy head, ſaith the Lord God, and I have not done according to thy wicked deeds in all thy abominations.

44 Behold, every one that uſeth a common proverb, ſhall uſe this againſt thee, ſaying: As the mother was, ſo alſo is her daughter.

45 Thou art thy mother's daughter, that caſt off her huſband, and her children: and thou art the ſiſter of thy ſiſters, who caſt off their huſbands, and their children: your mother was a Cethite, and your father an Amorrhite.

46 And thy elder ſiſter is Samaria, ſhe and her daughters that dwell at thy left hand: and thy younger ſiſter that dwelleth at thy right hand is Sodom, and her daughters.

47 But neither haſt thou walked in their ways, nor haſt thou done a little leſs than they according to their wickedneſſes: thou haſt done almoſt more wicked things than they in all thy ways.

48 As I live, ſaith the Lord God, thy ſiſter Sodom herſelf, and her daughters, have not done as thou haſt done, and thy daughters.

‖ Gen. 19. 24. 49 ‖ Behold this was the iniquity of Sodom thy ſiſter, pride, fulneſs of bread, and abundance, and the idleneſs of her, and of her daughters: and they did not put forth their hand to the needy, and to the poor.

50 And they were lifted up, and committed abominations before me: and I took them away as thou haſt ſeen.

51 And Samaria committed not half thy ſins: but thou haſt ſurpaſſed them with thy crimes, and haſt juſtified thy ſiſters by all thy abominations which thou haſt done.

52 Therefore do thou alſo bear thy confuſion, thou that haſt ſurpaſſed thy ſiſters with thy ſins, doing more wickedly than they: for they are juſtified above thee: therefore be thou alſo confounded, and bear thy ſhame, thou that haſt juſtified thy ſiſters.

53 And I will bring back and reſtore them by bringing back Sodom with her daughters, and by bringing back Samaria, and her daughters: and I will bring thoſe that return of thee in the midſt of them.

54 That thou mayſt bear thy ſhame, and mayſt be confounded in all that thou haſt done, comforting them.

55 And thy ſiſter Sodom, and her daughters ſhall return to their ancient ſtate: and Samaria and her daughters ſhall return to their ancient ſtate: and thou, and thy daughters ſhall return to your ancient ſtate.

56 And Sodom thy ſiſter was not heard of in thy mouth, in the day of thy pride,

57 Before thy malice was laid open: as it is at this time, making thee a reproach of the daughters of Syria, and of all the daughters of Paleſtine round about thee, that encompaſs thee on all ſides.

58 Thou haſt borne thy wickedneſs, and thy diſgrace, ſaith the Lord God.

59 For thus ſaith the Lord God: I will deal with thee, as thou haſt deſpiſed the oath, in breaking the covenant:

60 And I will remember my covenant with thee in the days of thy youth: and I will eſtabliſh with thee an everlaſting covenant.

61 And thou ſhalt remember thy ways, and be aſhamed: when thou ſhalt receive thy ſiſters thy elder and thy younger: and I will give them to thee for daughters, but not by thy covenant.

62 And I will eſtabliſh my covenant with thee: and thou ſhalt know that I am the Lord,

63 That thou mayſt remember, and be confounded, and mayſt no more open thy mouth becauſe of thy confuſion, when I ſhall be pacified toward thee for all that thou haſt done, ſaith the Lord God.

CHAP. XVII.

The parable of the two eagles and the vine. A promiſe of the cedar of Chriſt and his church.

AND the word of the Lord came to me, ſaying: A. M. 3411.

CHAP. XVI. VER. 49. This was the iniquity of Sodom, &c. That is, theſe were the ſteps by which the Sodomites came to fall into thoſe abominations for which they were deſtroyed. For pride, gluttony, and idleneſs are the high road to all kinds of luſt; eſpecially when they are accompanied with a neglect of the works of mercy.

VER. 53. I will bring back, &c. This relates to the converſion of the Gentiles out of all nations, and of many of the Jews, to the church of Chriſt.

VER. 55. Ancient ſtate. That is, to their former ſtate of liberty, and their ancient poſſeſſions. In the ſpiritual ſenſe, to the true liberty, and the happy inheritance of the children of God, through faith in Chriſt.

2 Son of man, put forth a riddle, and ſpeak a parable to the houſe of Iſrael,

3 And ſay: Thus ſaith the Lord God: A large eagle with great wings, long-limbed, full of feathers, and of variety, came to Libanus, and took away the marrow of the cedar.

4 He cropt off the top of the twigs thereof: and carried it away into the land of Chanaan, and he ſet it in a city of merchants.

5 And he took of the ſeed of the land, and put it in the ground for ſeed, that it might take a firm root over many waters: he planted it on the ſurface of the earth.

6 And it ſprung up and grew into a ſpreading vine of low ſtature, and the branches thereof looked towards him: and the roots thereof were under him. So it became a vine, and grew into branches, and ſhot forth ſprigs.

7 And there was another large eagle, with great wings, and many feathers: and behold this vine, bending as it were her roots towards him, ſtretched forth her branches to him, that he might water it by the furrows of her plantation.

8 It was planted in a good ground upon many waters, that it might bring forth branches, and bear fruit, that it might become a large vine.

9 Say thou: Thus ſaith the Lord God: Shall it proſper then? ſhall he not pull up the roots thereof, and ſtrip off its fruit, and dry up all the branches it hath ſhot forth, and make it wither: and this without a ſtrong arm, or many people, to pluck it up by the root?

10 Behold, it is planted: ſhall it proſper then? ſhall it not be dried up when the burning wind ſhall touch it, and ſhall it not wither in the furrows where it grew?

11 And the word of the Lord came to me, ſaying:

12 Say to the provoking houſe: Know you not what theſe things mean? Tell them: Behold, the king of Babylon cometh to Jeruſalem: and he ſhall take away the king and the princes thereof, and carry them with him to Babylon.

13 And he ſhall take one of the king's ſeed, and make a covenant with him, and take an oath of him. Yea and he ſhall take away the mighty men of the land,

14 That it may be a low kingdom and not lift itſelf up, but keep his covenant, and obſerve it.

15 But he hath revolted from him and ſent ambaſſadors to Egypt, that it might give him horſes, and much people. And ſhall he that hath done thus proſper, or be ſaved? and ſhall he eſcape that hath broken the covenant?

16 As I live, ſaith the Lord God: In the place where the king dwelleth that made him king, whoſe oath he hath made void, and whoſe covenant he broke, even in the midſt of Babylon ſhall he die.

17 And not with a great army, nor with much people ſhall Pharao fight againſt him: when he ſhall caſt up mounts, and build forts, to cut off many ſouls.

18 For he had deſpiſed the oath, breaking his covenant, and behold he hath given his hand: and having done all theſe things, he ſhall not eſcape.

19 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord God: As I live, I will lay upon his head the oath he hath deſpiſed, and the covenant he hath broken.

20 ‖ And I will ſpread my net over him, and he ſhall be taken in my net: and I will bring him into Babylon, and will judge him there for the tranſgreſſion by which he hath deſpiſed me. ‖ Supra 12. 13. Infra 32. 3.

21 And all his fugitives with all his bands ſhall fall by the ſword: and the reſidue ſhall be ſcattered into every wind: and you ſhall know that I the Lord have ſpoken.

22 Thus ſaith the Lord God: I myſelf will take of the marrow of the high cedar, and will ſet it: I will crop off a tender twig from the top of the branches thereof, and I will plant it on a mountain high and eminent.

23 On the high mountains of Iſrael will I plant it, and it ſhall ſhoot forth into branches, and ſhall bear fruit, and it ſhall become a great cedar: and all birds ſhall dwell under it, and every fowl ſhall make its neſt under the ſhadow of the branches thereof.

CHAP. XVIII.

One man shall not bear the sins of another, but every one his own: if a wicked man truly repent, he shall be saved: and if a just man leave his justice, he shall perish.

A. M. 3411. AND the word of the Lord came to me, saying: What is the meaning

2 That you use among you this parable as a proverb in the land of Israel, saying: ‖ The fathers have eaten sour grapes, and the teeth of the children are set on edge?

‖ Jer. 31. 29.

3 As I live, saith the Lord God, this parable shall be no more to you a proverb in Israel.

4 Behold all souls are mine: as the soul of the father, so also the soul of the son is mine: the soul that sinneth, the same shall die.

5 And if a man be just, and do judgment and justice,

6 And hath not eaten upon the mountains, nor lifted up his eyes to the idols of the house of Israel: and hath not defiled his neighbour's wife, nor come near to a menstruous woman:

7 And hath not wronged any man: but hath restored the pledge to the debtor, hath taken nothing away by violence: ‖ hath given his bread to the hungry, and hath covered the naked with a garment:

‖ Isai. 58. 7. Mat. 25. 35.

8 Hath not lent upon usury, nor taken any increase: hath withdrawn his hand from iniquity, and hath executed true judgment between man and man:

9 Hath walked in my commandments, and kept my judgments, to do truth: he is just, he shall surely live, saith the Lord God.

10 And if he beget a son that is a robber, a shedder of blood, and that hath done some one of these things:

11 Though he doth not all these things, but that eateth upon the mountains, and that defileth his neighbour's wife:

12 That grieveth the needy and the poor, that taketh away by violence, that restoreth not the pledge, and that lifteth up his eyes to idols, that committeth abomination:

13 That giveth upon usury, and that taketh an increase: shall such a one live? he shall not live. Seeing he hath done all these detestable things, he shall surely die, his blood shall be upon him.

14 But if he beget a son, who seeing all his father's sins, which he hath done, is afraid, and shall not do the like to them:

15 That hath not eaten upon the mountains, nor lifted up his eyes to the idols of the house of Israel, and hath not defiled his neighbour's wife:

16 And hath not grieved any man, nor withholden the pledge, nor taken away with violence, but hath given his bread to the hungry, and covered the naked with a garment:

17 That hath turned away his hand from injuring the poor, hath not taken usury and increase, but hath executed my judgments, and hath walked in my commandments: this man shall not die for the iniquity of his father, but living he shall live.

18 As for his father, because he oppressed, and offered violence to his brother, and wrought evil in the midst of his people, behold he is dead in his own iniquity.

19 And you say: Why hath not the son borne the iniquity of his father? Verily, because the son hath wrought judgment and justice, hath kept all my commandments, and done them living he shall live.

20 ‖ The soul that sinneth, the same shall die: the son shall not bear the iniquity of the father, and the father shall not bear the iniquity of the son: the justice of the just shall be upon him, and the wickedness of the wicked shall be upon him.

‖ Deut. 24. 16. 4 Kings 14. 6. 2 Par. 25. 4.

21 But if the wicked do penance for all his sins which he hath committed, and keep all my commandments, and do judgment, and justice, living he shall live, and shall not die.

22 I will not remember all his iniquities that he hath done: in his justice which he hath wrought, he shall live.

23 ‖ Is it my will that a sinner should die, saith the Lord God, and not that he should be converted from his ways, and live?

‖ Infra 21. 32 & 33. 11. 2 Peter 3. 9.

24 But if the just man turn himself away from his justice, and do iniquity according to all the abominations which the wicked man useth to work, shall he live? all his justices which he had done, shall not be remembered: in the prevarication, by which he hath

26 For when the juſt turneth himſelf away from his juſtice, and committeth iniquity, he ſhall die therein: in the injuſtice that he hath wrought he ſhall die.

27 And when the wicked turneth himſelf away from his wickedneſs, which he hath wrought, and doeth judgment, and juſtice: he ſhall ſave his ſoul alive.

28 Becauſe he conſidereth and turneth away himſelf from all his iniquities, which he hath wrought, he ſhall ſurely live, and not die.

29 And the children of Iſrael ſay: The way of the Lord is not right. Are not my ways right, O houſe of Iſrael, and are not rather your ways perverſe?

The parable of the young lions: and of the vine that is waſted.

A. M. 3411. MOREOVER take thou up a lamentation for the princes of Iſrael,

2 And ſay: Why did thy mother the lioneſs lie down among the lions, and bring up her whelps in the midſt of young lions?

3 And ſhe brought out one of her whelps, and he became a lion: and he learned to catch the prey, and to devour men.

4 And the nations heard of him, and took him, but not without receiving wounds: and they brought him in chains into the land of Egypt.

5 But ſhe ſeeing herſelf weakened, and that her hope was loſt, took one of her young lions, and ſet him up for a lion.

6 And he went up and down among the lions, and became a lion: and he learned to catch the prey, and to devour men.

7 He learned to make widows, and to lay waſte their cities: and the land became deſolate, and the fulneſs thereof by the noiſe of his roaring.

8 And the nations came together againſt him on every ſide out of the provinces, and they ſpread their net over him, in their wounds he was taken.

9 And they put him into a cage, they brought him in chains to the king of Babylon: and they caſt him into priſon, that his voice ſhould no more be heard upon the mountains of Iſrael.

10 Thy mother is like a vine in thy blood planted by the water? her fruit and her branches have grown out of many waters.

11 And ſhe had ſtrong rods to make ſceptres for them that bear rule, and her ſtature was exalted among the branches: and ſhe ſaw her height in the multitude of her branches.

12 But ſhe was plucked up in wrath, and caſt on the ground: ‖ and the burning wind dried up her fruit: her ſtrong rods are withered, and dried up: the fire hath devoured her.

‖ Oſee 13. 15.

13 And now ſhe is tranſplanted into the deſert, in a land not paſſable, and dry.

14 And a fire is gone out from a rod of her branches, which hath devoured her fruit: ſo that ſhe now hath no ſtrong rod, to be a ſceptre of rulers. This is a lamentation, and it ſhall be for a lamentation.

God refuſes to anſwer the ancients of Iſrael inquiring by the prophet: but by him ſetteth his benefits before their eyes, and their heinous ſins: threatening yet greater puniſhments; but ſtill mixt with mercy.

A. M. 3411. AND it came to paſs in the ſeventh year, in the fifth month, the tenth day of the month: there came men of the ancients of Iſrael to inquire of the Lord, and they ſat before me.

2 And the word of the Lord came to me, ſaying:

3 Son of man, ſpeak to the ancients of Iſrael, and ſay to them: Thus ſaith the Lord God: Are you come to inquire of me? As I live, I will not anſwer you, ſaith the Lord God.

4 If thou judgeſt them, if thou judgeſt, O ſon of man, declare to them the abominations of their fathers.

CHAP. XIX. VER. 2. Thy mother the lioneſs. Jeruſalem. VER. 3. One of her whelps, viz. Joachaz, alias Sellum. VER. 5. One of her young lions. Joakim.

CHAP. XX. VER. 4. If thou judgeſt them. Or, if thou wilt enter into the cauſe, and plead againſt them.

5 And ſay to them: Thus ſaith the Lord God: In the day when I choſe Iſrael, and lifted up my hand for the race of the houſe of Jacob: and appeared to them in the land of Egypt, and lifted up my hand for them, ſaying: I am the Lord your God:

6 In that day I lifted up my hand for them, to bring them out of the land of Egypt, into a land which I had provided for them, flowing with milk and honey, which excelleth amongſt all lands.

7 And I ſaid to them: Let every man caſt away the ſcandals of his eyes, and defile not yourſelves with the idols of Egypt: I am the Lord your God.

8 But they provoked me, and would not hearken to me: they did not every man caſt away the abominations of his eyes, neither did they forſake the idols of Egypt: and I ſaid I would pour out my indignation upon them, and accompliſh my wrath againſt them, in the midſt of the land of Egypt.

9 But I did otherwiſe for my name's ſake, that it might not be violated before the nations, in the midſt of whom they were, and among whom I made myſelf known to them, to bring them out of the land of Egypt.

10 Therefore I brought them out from the land of Egypt, and brought them into the deſert.

‖ Lev. 18. 5. Rom. 10. 5. 11 ‖ And I gave them my ſtatutes, and I ſhewed them my judgments, which if a man do, he ſhall live in them.

‡ Exod. 20. 8. & 31. 13. Deut. 5. 12. 12 ‡ Moreover I gave them alſo my ſabbaths, to be a ſign between me and them: and that they might know that I am the Lord that ſanctify them.

13 But the houſe of Iſrael provoked me in the deſert: they walked not in my ſtatutes, and they caſt away my judgments, which if a man do he ſhall live in them: and they grievouſly violated my ſabbaths. I ſaid therefore that I would pour out my indignation upon them in the deſert, and would conſume them.

14 But I ſpared them for the ſake of my name, leſt it ſhould be profaned before the nations, from which I brought them out, in their ſight.

15 So I lifted up my hand over them in the deſert, not to bring them into the land which I had given them flowing with milk and honey, the beſt of all lands.

16 Becauſe they caſt off my judgments, and walked not in my ſtatutes, and violated my ſabbaths: for their heart went after idols.

17 Yet my eye ſpared them, ſo that I deſtroyed them not: neither did I conſume them in the deſert.

18 And I ſaid to their children in the wilderneſs: Walk not in the ſtatutes of your fathers, and obſerve not their judgments, nor be ye defiled with their idols:

19 I am the Lord your God: walk ye in my ſtatutes, and obſerve my judgments, and do them.

20 And ſanctify my ſabbaths, that they may be a ſign between me and you: and that you may know that I am the Lord your God.

21 But their children provoked me, they walked not in my commandments, nor obſerved my judgments, to do them: which if a man do, he ſhall live in them: and they violated my ſabbaths: and I threatened to pour out my indignation upon them, and to accompliſh my wrath in them in the deſert.

22 But I turned away my hand, and wrought for my name's ſake, that it might not be violated before the nations, out of which I brought them forth in their ſight.

23 Again I lifted up my hand upon them in the wilderneſs, to diſperſe them among the nations, and ſcatter them through the countries:

24 Becauſe they had not done my judgments, and had caſt off my ſtatutes, and had violated my ſabbaths, and their eyes had been after the idols of their fathers.

25 Therefore I alſo gave them ſtatutes that were not good, and judgments, in which they ſhall not live.

26 And I polluted them in their own gifts, when they offered all that opened the womb, for their offences: and they ſhall know that I am the Lord.

27 Wherefore ſpeak to the houſe of Iſrael, O ſon of man: and ſay to them: Thus ſaith the Lord God: Moreover in this alſo your fathers blaſphemed me, when they had deſpiſed and contemned me:

28 And I had brought them into the land, for which I lifted up my hand to give it them: they ſaw every high hill, and every ſhady tree, and there they ſacrificed their victims: and there they preſented the provocation of their offerings, and there they

VER. 7. Scandals, &c. Offenſiones. That is the abominations or idols, to the worſhip of which they were allured by their eyes.

VER. 25. Statutes that were not good, &c. viz. The laws and ordinances of their enemies; or thoſe impoſed upon them by that cruel tyrant the devil, to whoſe power they were delivered up for their ſins.

VER. 26. I polluted them, &c. That is, I gave them up to ſuch blindneſs, in puniſhment of their offences, as to pollute themſelves with the blood of all their firſt born, whom they offered up to their idols in compliance with their wicked devices.

set their sweet odours, and poured forth their libations.

29 And I said to them: What meaneth the high place to which you go? and the name thereof was called High-place even to this day.

30 Wherefore say to the house of Israel: Thus saith the Lord God: Verily you are defiled in the way of your fathers, and you commit fornication with their abominations.

31 And you defile yourselves with all your idols unto this day, in the offering of your gifts, when you make your children pass through the fire: and shall I answer you, O house of Israel? As I live, saith the Lord God, I will not answer you.

32 Neither shall the thought of your mind come to pass, by which you say: We will be as the Gentiles, and as the families of the earth, to worship stocks and stones.

33 As I live, saith the Lord God, I will reign over you with a strong hand, and with a stretched out arm, and with fury poured out.

34 And I will bring you out from the people, and I will gather you out of the countries, in which you are scattered, I will reign over you with a strong hand, and with a stretched out arm, and with fury poured out.

35 And I will bring you into the wilderness of people, and there will I plead with you face to face.

36 As I pleaded against your fathers in the desert of the land of Egypt: even so will I judge you, saith the Lord God.

37 And I will make you subject to my sceptre, and will bring you into the bands of the covenant.

38 And I will pick out from among you the transgressors, and the wicked, and will bring them out of the land where they sojourn, and they shall not enter into the land of Israel; and you shall know that I am the Lord.

39 And as for you, O house of Israel: thus saith the Lord God: Walk ye every one after your idols, and serve them. But if in this also you hear me not, but defile my holy name any more with your gifts, and with your idols:

40 In my holy mountain, in the high mountain of Israel, saith the Lord God, there shall all the house of Israel serve me: all of them I say, in the land in which they shall please me, and there will I require your first fruits, and the chief of your tithes with all your sanctifications.

41 I will accept of you for an odour of sweetness, when I shall have brought you out from the people, and shall have gathered you out of the lands into which you are scattered, and I will be sanctified in you in the sight of the nations.

42 And you shall know that I am the Lord, when I shall have brought you into the land of Israel, into the land for which I lifted up my hand to give it to your fathers.

43 And there you shall remember your ways, and all your wicked doings with which you have been defiled: and you shall be displeased with yourselves in your own sight, for all your wicked deeds which you committed.

44 And you shall know that I am the Lord, when I shall have done well by you for my own name's sake, and not according to your evil ways, nor according to your wicked deeds, O house of Israel, saith the Lord God.

45 And the word of the Lord came to me, saying:

46 Son of man, set thy face against the way of the south, and drop towards the south, and prophesy against the forest of the south field.

47 And say to the south forest: Hear the word of the Lord: Thus saith the Lord God: Behold I will kindle a fire in thee, and will burn in thee every green tree, and every dry tree: the flame of the fire shall not be quenched: and every face shall be burned in it, from the south even to the north.

48 And all flesh shall see, that I the Lord have kindled it, and it shall not be quenched.

49 And I said: Ah, ah, ah, O Lord God: they say of me: Doth not this man speak by parables?

VER. 35. The wilderness of people. That is, a desert in which there are no people.

VER. 39. Walk ye every one, &c. It is not an allowance, much less a commandment to serve idols; but a figure of speech, by which God would have them to understand, that if they would walk after their idols, they must not pretend to serve him at the same time: for that he would by no means suffer such a mixture of worship.

VER. 40. In my holy mountain, &c. The foregoing verse, to make the sense complete, must be understood so as to condemn and reject that mixture of worship which the Jews then followed. In this verse God promises to the true Israelites, especially to those of the christian church, that they shall serve him in another manner, in his holy mountain, the spiritual Sion: and shall be accepted of by him.

VER. 46. Of the south. Jerusalem lay towards the south of Babylon (where the prophet then was) and is here called the forest of the south field, and is threatened with utter desolation.

CHAP. XXI.

The deſtruction of Jeruſalem by the ſword is further deſcribed: the ruin alſo of the Ammonites is foreſhewn. And finally Babylon, the deſtroyer of others, ſhall be deſtroyed.

A. M. 3411. AND the word of the Lord came to me, ſaying:

2 Son of man ſet thy face toward Jeruſalem, and let thy ſpeech flow towards the holy places, and propheſy againſt the land of Iſrael:

3 And ſay to the land of Iſrael: Thus ſaith the Lord God: Behold I come againſt thee, and I will draw forth my ſword out of its ſheath, and will cut off in thee the juſt, and the wicked.

4 And foraſmuch as I have cut off in thee the juſt, and the wicked, therefore ſhall my ſword go forth out of its ſheath againſt all fleſh, from the ſouth even to the north.

5 That all fleſh may know that I the Lord have drawn my ſword out of its ſheath not to be turned back.

6 And thou, ſon of man, mourn with the breaking of thy loins, and with bitterneſs ſigh before them.

7 And when they ſhall ſay to thee: Why mourneſt thou? thou ſhalt ſay: For that which I hear: becauſe it cometh, and every heart ſhall melt, and all hands ſhall be made feeble, and every ſpirit ſhall faint, and water ſhall run down every knee: behold it cometh, and it ſhall be done, ſaith the Lord God.

8 And the word of the Lord came to me, ſaying:

9 Son of man propheſy, and ſay: Thus ſaith the Lord God: Say: The ſword, the ſword is ſharpened, and furbiſhed.

10 It is ſharpened to kill victims: it is furbiſhed that it may glitter: thou removeſt the ſceptre of my ſon, thou haſt cut down every tree.

11 And I have given it to be furbiſhed, that it may be handled: this ſword is ſharpened, and it is furbiſhed, that it may be in the hand of the ſlayer.

12 Cry, and howl, O ſon of man, for this ſword is upon my people, it is upon all the princes of Iſrael, that are fled: they are delivered up to the ſword with my people, ſtrike therefore upon thy thigh,

13 Becauſe it is tried: and that, when it ſhall overthrow the ſceptre, and it ſhall not be, ſaith the Lord God.

14 Thou therefore, O ſon of man, propheſy, and ſtrike thy hands together, and let the ſword be doubled, and let the ſword of the ſlain be tripled: this is the ſword of a great ſlaughter, that maketh them ſtand amazed.

15 And languiſh in heart, and that multiplieth ruins. In all their gates I have ſet the dread of the ſharp ſword, the ſword that is furbiſhed to glitter, that is made ready for ſlaughter.

16 Be thou ſharpened, go to the right hand, or to the left, which way ſoever thou haſt a mind to ſet thy face.

17 And I will clap my hands together, and will ſatisfy my indignation: I the Lord have ſpoken.

18 And the word of the Lord came to me, ſaying:

19 And thou ſon of man, ſet thee two ways, for the ſword of the king of Babylon to come: both ſhall come forth out of one land: and with his hand he ſhall draw lots, he ſhall conſult at the head of the way of the city.

20 Thou ſhalt make a way that the ſword may come to Rabbath of the children of Ammon, and to Juda unto Jeruſalem the ſtrong city.

21 For the king of Babylon ſtood in the high way, at the head of two ways, ſeeking divination, ſhuffling arrows: he enquired of the idols, and conſulted entrails.

22 On his right hand was the divination for Jeruſalem, to ſet battering rams, to open the mouth in ſlaughter, to lift up the voice in howling, to ſet engines againſt the gates, to caſt up a mount, to build forts.

23 And he ſhall be in their eyes as one conſulting the oracle in vain, and imitating the leiſure of ſabbaths: but he will call to remembrance the iniquity that they may be taken.

24 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord God: Becauſe you have remembered your iniquity, and have diſcovered your prevarications, and your ſins have appeared in all your devices: becauſe, I ſay, you have remembered, you ſhall be taken with the hand.

25 But thou profane wicked prince of Iſrael, whoſe day is come that hath been appointed in the time of iniquity:

CHAP. XXI. VER. 10. Thou removeſt the ſceptre of my ſon. He ſpeaks, (according to St. Jerom) to the ſword of Nabuchodonoſor: which was about to remove the ſceptre of Iſrael, whom God here calls his ſon.

VER. 25. Thou profane, &c. He ſpeaks to king Sedecias, who had broken his oath, and was otherwiſe a wicked prince.

26 Thus ſaith the Lord God: Remove the diadem, take off the crown: is it not this that hath exalted the low one, and brought down him that was high?

27 I will ſhew it to be iniquity, iniquity, iniquity: but this was not done, till he came to whom judgment belongeth, and I will give it him.

28 ‖ And thou ſon of man propheſy, and ſay: Thus ſaith the Lord God concerning the children of Ammon, and concerning their reproach, and thou ſhalt ſay: O ſword, O ſword, come out of the ſcabbard to kill, be furbiſhed to deſtroy, and to glitter, ‖ Gen. 49. 10.

29 Whilſt they ſee vain things in thy regard, and they divine lies: to bring thee upon the necks of the wicked that are wounded, whoſe appointed day is come in the time of iniquity.

30 Return into thy ſheath. I will judge thee in the place wherein thou waſt created, in the land of thy nativity.

31 And I will pour out upon thee my indignation: in the fire of my rage will I blow upon thee, and will give thee into the hands of men that are brutiſh and contrive thy deſtruction.

32 Thou ſhalt be fewel for the fire, thy blood ſhall be in the midſt of the land, thou ſhalt be forgotten: for I the Lord have ſpoken it.

CHAP. XXII.

The general corruption of the inhabitants of Jeruſalem: for which God will conſume them as droſs in his furnace.

A. M. 3411. AND the word of the Lord came to me, ſaying:

2 And thou ſon of man, doſt thou not judge, doſt thou not judge the city of blood? and thou ſhalt ſhew her all her abominations,

3 And thou ſhalt ſay: Thus ſaith the Lord God: This is the city that ſheddeth blood in the midſt of her, that her time may come: and that hath made idols againſt herſelf, to defile herſelf.

4 Thou art become guilty in thy blood which thou haſt ſhed: and thou art defiled in thy idols which thou haſt made: and thou haſt made thy days to draw near, and haſt brought on the time of thy years: therefore have I made thee a reproach to the Gentiles, and a mockery to all countries.

5 Thoſe that are near, and thoſe that are far from thee, ſhall triumph over thee: thou filthy one, infamous, great in deſtruction.

6 Behold the princes of Iſrael, every one hath employed his arm in thee, to ſhed blood.

7 They have abuſed father and mother in thee, they have oppreſſed the ſtranger in the midſt of thee, they have grieved the fatherleſs and widow in thee.

8 Thou haſt deſpiſed my ſanctuaries, and profaned my ſabbaths.

9 Slanderers have been in thee to ſhed blood, and they have eaten upon the mountains in thee, they have committed wickedneſs in the midſt of thee.

10 They have diſcovered the nakedneſs of their father in thee, they have humbled the uncleanneſs of the menſtruous woman in thee.

11 ‖ And every one hath committed abomination with his neighbour's wife, and the father-in-law hath wickedly defiled his daughter-in-law, the brother hath oppreſſed his ſiſter the daughter of his father in thee. ‖ Jer. 5. 8.

12 They have taken gifts in thee to ſhed blood: thou haſt taken uſury and increaſe, and haſt covetouſly oppreſſed thy neighbours: and thou haſt forgotten me, ſaith the Lord God.

13 Behold, I have clapped my hands at thy covetouſneſs, which thou haſt exerciſed: and at the blood that hath been ſhed in the midſt of thee.

14 Shall thy heart endure, or ſhall thy hands prevail in the days which I will bring upon thee? I the Lord have ſpoken, and will do it.

15 And I will diſperſe thee in the nations, and will ſcatter thee among the countries, and I will put an end to thy uncleanneſs in thee.

16 And I will poſſeſs thee in the ſight of the Gentiles: and thou ſhalt know that I am the Lord.

17 And the word of the Lord came to me, ſaying:

VER. 26. Is it not this that hath exalted the low one. The royal crown of Juda had exalted Sedecias from a private ſtate and condition to the ſovereign power, as the loſs of it had brought down Jechonias, &c.

VER. 27. I will ſhew it to be iniquity, &c. Or, I will overturn it, viz. The crown of Juda for the manifold iniquities of the kings: but it ſhall not be utterly removed, till Chriſt come whoſe right it is; and who ſhall reign in the ſpiritual houſe of Jacob, that is, in his church, for evermore.

VER. 28. Concerning their reproach. By which they had reproached and inſulted over the Jews, at the time of the deſtruction of Jeruſalem.

VER. 30. Return into thy ſheath, &c. The ſword of Babylon, after raging againſt many nations, was ſhortly to be judged and deſtroyed at home by the Medes and Perſians.

18 Son of man, the houſe of Iſrael is become droſs to me: all theſe are braſs, and tin, and iron, and lead, in the midſt of the furnace: they are become the droſs of ſilver.

19 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord God: Becauſe you are all turned into droſs, therefore behold I will gather you together in the midſt of Jeruſalem.

20 As they gather ſilver, and braſs, and tin, and iron, and lead in the midſt of the furnace: that I may kindle a fire in it to melt it: ſo will I gather you together in my fury and in my wrath, and will take my reſt: and I will melt you down.

21 And I will gather you together, and will burn you in the fire of my wrath, and you ſhall be melted in the midſt thereof.

22 As ſilver is melted in the midſt of the furnace, ſo ſhall you be in the midſt thereof: and you ſhall know that I am the Lord, when I have poured out my indignation upon you.

23 And the word of the Lord came to me, ſaying:

24 Son of man, ſay to her: Thou art a land that is unclean, and not rained upon in the day of wrath.

25 There is a conſpiracy of prophets in the midſt thereof: like a lion that roareth and catcheth the prey, they have devoured ſouls, they have taken riches and hire, they have made many widows in the midſt thereof.

26 Her prieſts have deſpiſed my law, and have defiled my ſanctuaries: they have put no difference between holy and profane: nor have diſtinguiſhed between the polluted and the clean: and they have turned away their eyes from my ſabbaths, and I was profaned in the midſt of them.

‖ Mich. 3. 11. Soph. 3. 3. 27 ‖ Her princes in the midſt of her, are like wolves ravening the prey to ſhed blood, and to deſtroy ſouls, and to run after gains, through covetouſneſs.

28 And her prophets have dawbed them without tempering the mortar, ſeeing vain things, and divining lies unto them, ſaying: Thus ſaith the Lord God: when the Lord hath not ſpoken.

29 The people of the land have uſed oppreſſion, and committed robbery: they afflicted the needy and poor, and they oppreſſed the ſtranger by calumny without judgment.

30 And I ſought among them for a man that might ſet up a hedge, and ſtand in the gap before me in favour of the land, that I might not deſtroy it: and I found none.

31 And I poured out my indignation upon them, in the fire of my wrath I conſumed them: I have rendered their way upon their own head, ſaith the Lord God.

CHAP. XXIII.

Under the names of the two harlots, Oolla and Ooliba, are deſcribed the manifold diſloyalties of Samaria and Jeruſalem, with the puniſhment of them both.

AND the word of the Lord came to me, ſaying: A. M. 3411.

2 Son of man, there were two women daughters of one mother.

3 And they committed fornication in Egypt, in their youth they committed fornication: there were their breaſts preſſed down, and the teats of their virginity were bruiſed.

4 And their names were Oolla the elder, and Ooliba her younger ſiſter: and I took them, and they bore ſons, and daughters. Now for their names, Samaria is Oolla, and Jeruſalem is Ooliba.

5 And Oolla committed fornication againſt me, and doated on her lovers, on the Aſſyrians that came to her,

6 Who were clothed with blue, princes, and rulers, beautiful youths, all horſemen, mounted upon horſes.

7 And ſhe committed her fornications with thoſe choſen men, all ſons of the Aſſyrians: and ſhe defiled herſelf with the uncleanneſs of all them on whom ſhe doated.

8 Moreover alſo ſhe did not forſake her fornications which ſhe had committed in Egypt: for they alſo lay with her in her youth, and they bruiſed the breaſts of her virginity, and poured out their fornication upon her.

9 Therefore have I delivered her into the hands of her lovers, into the hands of the ſons of the Aſſyrians, upon whoſe luſt ſhe doated.

CHAP. XXIII. VER. 3. Committed fornication. That is, idolatry.

VER. 4. Oolla and Ooliba. God calls the kingdom of Iſrael Oolla, which ſignifies their own habitation, becauſe they ſeparated themſelves from his temple: and the kingdom of Juda, Ooliba, which ſignifies his habitation in her, becauſe of his temple among them in Jeruſalem.

VER. 5. On the Aſſyrians, &c. That is, the idols of the Aſſyrians: for all that is ſaid in this chapter of the fornications of Iſrael and Juda, is to be underſtood in a ſpiritual ſenſe, of their diſloyalty to the Lord, by worſhipping ſtrange gods.

|| Supra 16. 38.

10 || They diſcovered her diſgrace, took away her ſons and daughters, and ſlew her with the ſword: and they became infamous women, and they executed judgments in her.

11 And when her ſiſter Ooliba ſaw this, ſhe was mad with luſt more than ſhe: and ſhe carried her fornication beyond the fornication of her ſiſter.

12 Impudently proſtituting herſelf to the children of the Aſſyrians, the princes, and rulers that came to her, clothed with divers colours, to the horſemen that rode upon horſes, and to young men all of great beauty.

13 And I ſaw that ſhe was defiled, and that they both took one way.

14 And ſhe increaſed her fornications: and when ſhe had ſeen men painted on the wall, the images of the Chaldeans ſet forth in colours,

15 And girded with girdles about their reins, and with dyed turbants on their heads, the reſemblance of all the captains, the likeneſs of the ſons of Babylon, and of the land of the Chaldeans, wherein they were born,

16 She doated upon them with the luſt of her eyes, and ſhe ſent meſſengers to them into Chaldea.

17 And when the ſons of Babylon were come to her to the bed of love, they defiled her with their fornications, and ſhe was polluted by them, and her ſoul was glutted with them.

18 And ſhe diſcovered her fornications, and diſcovered her diſgrace: and my ſoul was alienated from her, as my ſoul was alienated from her ſiſter.

19 For ſhe multiplied her fornications, remembering the days of her youth, in which ſhe played the harlot in the land of Egypt.

20 And ſhe was mad with luſt after lying with them, whoſe fleſh is as the fleſh of aſſes: and whoſe iſſue as the iſſue of horſes.

21 And thou haſt renewed the wickedneſs of thy youth, when thy breaſts were preſſed in Egypt, and the paps of thy virginity broken.

22 Therefore, Ooliba, thus ſaith the Lord God: Behold I will raiſe up againſt thee all thy lovers with whom thy ſoul hath been glutted: and I will gather them together againſt thee round about.

23 The children of Babylon, and all the Chaldeans, the nobles, and the kings, and princes, all the ſons of the Aſſyrians, beautiful young men, all the captains, and rulers, the princes of princes, and the renowned horſemen.

24 And they ſhall come upon thee well appointed with chariot and wheel, a multitude of people: they ſhall be armed againſt thee on every ſide with breaſt-plate, and buckler, and helmet: and I will ſet judgment before them, and they ſhall judge thee by their judgments.

25 And I will ſet my jealouſy againſt thee, which they ſhall execute upon thee with fury: they ſhall cut off thy noſe and thy ears: and what remains, ſhall fall by the ſword: they ſhall take thy ſons, and thy daughters, and thy reſidue ſhall be devoured by fire.

26 And they ſhall ſtrip thee of thy garments, and take away the inſtruments of thy glory.

27 And I will put an end to thy wickedneſs in thee, and thy fornication brought out of the land of Egypt: neither ſhalt thou lift up thy eyes to them, nor remember Egypt any more.

28 For thus ſaith the Lord God: Behold, I will deliver thee into the hands of them whom thou hateſt, into their hands with whom thy ſoul hath been glutted.

29 And they ſhall deal with thee in hatred, and they ſhall take away all thy labours, and ſhall let thee go naked, and full of diſgrace, and the diſgrace of thy fornications ſhall be diſcovered, thy wickedneſs, and thy fornications.

30 They have done theſe things to thee, becauſe thou haſt played the harlot with the nations among which thou waſt defiled with their idols.

31 Thou haſt walked in the way of thy ſiſter, and I will give her cup into thy hand.

32 Thus ſaith the Lord God: Thou ſhalt drink thy ſiſter's cup, deep, and wide: thou ſhalt be had in deriſion and ſcorn, which containeth very much.

33 Thou ſhalt be filled with drunkenneſs, and ſorrow: with the cup of grief, and ſadneſs, with the cup of thy ſiſter Samaria.

34 And thou ſhalt drink it, and ſhalt drink it up even to the dregs, and thou ſhalt devour the fragments thereof, thou ſhalt rend thy breaſts: becauſe I have ſpoken it, ſaith the Lord God.

35 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord God: Becauſe thou haſt forgotten me, and haſt caſt me off behind thy back, bear thou alſo thy wickedneſs, and thy fornications.

36 And the Lord ſpoke to me, ſaying: Son of man, doſt thou judge Oolla, and Ooliba, and doſt thou declare to them their wicked deeds?

37 Becauſe they have committed adultery, and blood is in their hands, and they have committed fornication with their idols: moreover also their children, whom they bore to me, they have offered to them to be devoured.

38 Yea and they have done this to me. They polluted my sanctuary on the same day, and profaned my sabbaths.

39 And when they sacrificed their children to their idols, and went into my sanctuary the same day to profane it: they did these things even in the midst of my house.

40 They sent for men coming from afar, to whom they had sent a messenger: and behold they came: for whom thou didst wash thyself, and didst paint thy eyes, and wast adorned with womens ornaments.

41 Thou satteſt on a very fine bed, and a table was decked before thee: whereupon thou didst set my incense, and my ointment.

42 And there was in her the voice of a multitude rejoicing: and to some that were brought of the multitude of men, and that came from the desert, they put bracelets on their hands, and beautiful crowns on their heads.

43 And I said to her that was worn out in her adulteries: Now will this woman still continue in her fornication.

44 And they went in to her, as to a harlot: so went they in unto Oolla, and Ooliba, wicked women.

* i. e. Ministers of the divine justice.

45 They therefore are * just men: these shall judge them as adulteresses are judged, and as shedders of blood are judged: because they are adulteresses, and blood is in their hands.

46 For thus saith the Lord God: Bring a multitude upon them, and deliver them over to tumult and rapine:

47 And let the people stone them with stones, and let them be stabbed with their swords: they shall kill their sons and daughters, and their houses they shall burn with fire.

48 And I will take away wickedness out of the land: and all women shall learn, not to do according to the wickedness of them.

49 And they shall render your wickedness upon you, and you shall bear the sins of your idols: and you shall know that I am the Lord God.

CHAP. XXIV.

Under the parable of a boiling pot is shewn the utter destruction of Jerusalem: for which the Jews at Babylon shall not dare to mourn.

A. M. 3414. Ante C. 590. AND the word of the Lord came to me in the ninth year, in the tenth month, the tenth day of the month, saying:

2 Son of man, write thee the name of this day, on which the king of Babylon hath set himself against Jerusalem to-day.

3 And thou shalt speak by a figure a parable to the provoking house, and say to them: Thus saith the Lord God: Set on a pot, set it on, I say, and put water into it.

4 Heap together into it the pieces thereof, every good piece, the thigh and the shoulder, choice pieces and full of bones.

5 Take the fattest of the flock, and lay together piles of bones under it: the seething thereof is boiling hot, and the bones thereof are thoroughly sodden in the midst of it.

6 Therefore thus saith the Lord God: Wo to the bloody city, to the pot whose rust is in it, and its rust is not gone out of it: cast it out piece by piece, there hath no lot fallen upon it.

7 For her blood is in the midst of her, she hath shed it upon the smooth rock: she hath not shed it upon the ground, that it might be covered with dust.

8 And that I might bring my indignation upon her, and take my vengeance: I have shed her blood upon the smooth rock, that it should not be covered.

9 Therefore thus saith the Lord God: || Wo to the bloody city, of which I will make a great bonefire. || Nahum 3. 1. Habac. 2. 12.

10 Heap together the bones, which I will burn with fire: the flesh shall be consumed, and the whole composition shall be sodden, and the bones shall be consumed.

11 Then set it empty upon burning coals, that it may be hot, and the brass thereof may be melted: and let the filth of it be melted, in the midst thereof, and let the rust of it be consumed.

12 Great pains have been taken, and the great rust thereof is not gone out, not even by fire.

13 Thy uncleanness is execrable: because I desired to cleanse thee, and thou art not cleansed from thy filthiness: neither shalt thou be cleansed, before I cause my indignation to rest in thee.

14 I the Lord have spoken: it shall come to pass, and I will do it: I will not pass by, nor spare, nor be pacified: I will judge thee according to thy ways, and according to thy doings, saith the Lord.

15 And the word of the Lord came to me, saying:

16 Son of man, behold I take from thee the desire of thy eyes with a stroke: and thou shalt not lament, nor weep: neither shall thy tears run down.

17 Sigh in silence, make no mourning for the dead: let the tire of thy head be upon thee, and thy ſhoes on thy feet, and cover not thy face, nor eat the meat of mourners.

18 So I ſpoke to the people in the morning, and my wife died in the evening: and I did in the morning as he had commanded me.

19 And the people ſaid to me: Why doſt thou not tell us what theſe things mean that thou doſt?

20 And I ſaid to them: The word of the Lord came to me, ſaying:

21 Speak to the houſe of Iſrael: Thus ſaith the Lord God: Behold I will profane my ſanctuary, the glory of your realm, and the thing that your eyes deſire, and for which your ſoul feareth: your ſons, and your daughters, whom you have left, ſhall fall by the ſword.

22 And you ſhall do as I have done: you ſhall not cover your faces, nor ſhall you eat the meat of mourners.

23 You ſhall have crowns on your heads, and ſhoes on your feet: you ſhall not lament nor weep, but you ſhall pine away for your iniquities, and every one ſhall ſigh with his brother.

24 And Ezechiel ſhall be unto you for a ſign of things to come: according to all that he hath done, ſo ſhall you do, when this ſhall come to paſs: and you ſhall know that I am the Lord God.

25 And thou, O ſon of man, behold in the day wherein I will take away from them their ſtrength, and the joy of their glory, and the deſire of their eyes, upon which their ſouls reſt, their ſons and their daughters.

26 In that day when he that eſcapeth ſhall come to thee, to tell thee:

27 In that day, I ſay, ſhall thy mouth be opened to him that hath eſcaped, and thou ſhalt ſpeak, and ſhalt be ſilent no more: and thou ſhalt be unto them for a ſign of things to come, and you ſhall know that I am the Lord.

CHAP. XXV.

A prophecy againſt the Ammonites, Moabites, Edomites, and Philiſtines, for their malice againſt the Iſraelites.

AND the word of the Lord came to me, ſaying:

2 Son of man, ſet thy face againſt the children of Ammon, and thou ſhalt propheſy of them.

‖ Jer. 27. 3. & 48. 49. 3 ‖ And thou ſhalt ſay to the children of Ammon: Hear ye the word of the Lord God: Thus ſaith the Lord God: Becauſe thou haſt ſaid: Ha, ha, upon my ſanctuary, becauſe it was profaned: and upon the land of Iſrael, becauſe it was laid waſte: and upon the houſe of Juda, becauſe they are led into captivity:

4 Therefore will I deliver thee to the men of the eaſt for an inheritance, and they ſhall place their ſheepcots in thee, and ſhall ſet up their tents in thee: they ſhall eat thy fruits: and they ſhall drink thy milk.

5 And I will make Rabbath a ſtable for camels, and the children of Ammon a couching-place for flocks: and you ſhall know that I am the Lord.

6 For thus ſaith the Lord God: Becauſe thou haſt clapped thy hands and ſtamped with thy foot, and haſt rejoiced with all thy heart againſt the land of Iſrael:

7 Therefore behold I will ſtretch forth my hand upon thee, and will deliver thee to be the ſpoil of nations, and will cut thee off from among the people, and deſtroy thee out of the lands, and break thee in pieces: and thou ſhalt know that I am the Lord.

8 Thus ſaith the Lord God: Becauſe Moab and Seir have ſaid: Behold the houſe of Juda is like all other nations:

9 Therefore behold I will open the ſhoulder of Moab from the cities, from his cities, I ſay, and his borders, the noble cities of the land of Bethieſimoth, and Beelmeon, and Cariathaim,

10 To the people of the eaſt with the children of Ammon, and I will give it them for an inheritance: that there may be no more any remembrance of the children of Ammon among the nations.

11 And I will execute judgments in Moab: and they ſhall know that I am the Lord.

† A. M. 3417. Ante C. 587. Jer. 49. 7. 12 † Thus ſaith the Lord God: Becauſe Edom hath taken vengeance to revenge herſelf of the children of Juda, and hath greatly offended, and hath ſought revenge of them:

13 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord God: I will ſtretch forth my hand upon Edom, and will take away out of it man and beaſt, and will make it deſolate from the ſouth: and they that are in Dedan, ſhall fall by the ſword.

14 And I will lay my vengeance upon Edom by the hand of my people Iſrael: and they ſhall do in Edom according to my wrath, and my fury: and they ſhall know my vengeance, ſaith the Lord God.

15 Thus ſaith the Lord God: Becauſe the Philiſtines have taken vengeance, and have revenged themſelves with all their mind, deſtroying and ſatisfying old enmities:

16 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord God:

CHAP. XXV. VER. 5. Rabbath. The capital city of the Ammonites: it was afterwards called Philadelphia.

Behold I will ſtretch forth my hand upon the Philiſtines, and will kill the killers, and will deſtroy the remnant of the ſea coaſt.

17 And I will execute great vengeance upon them, rebuking them in fury: and they ſhall know that I am the Lord, when I ſhall lay my vengeance upon them.

CHAP. XXVI.

A prophecy of the deſtruction of the famous city of Tyre by Nabuchodonoſor.

A. M. 3416. AND it came to paſs in the eleventh year, the firſt day of the month, that the word of the Lord came to me, ſaying:

2 Son of man, becauſe Tyre hath ſaid of Jeruſalem: Aha, the gates of the people are broken, ſhe is turned to me: I ſhall be filled, now ſhe is laid waſte.

3 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord God: Behold I come againſt thee, O Tyre, and I will cauſe many nations to come up to thee, as the waves of the ſea riſe up.

4 And they ſhall break down the walls of Tyre, and deſtroy the towers thereof: and I will ſcrape her duſt from her, and make her like a ſmooth rock.

5 She ſhall be a drying place for nets in the midſt of the ſea, becauſe I have ſpoken it, ſaith the Lord God: and ſhe ſhall be a ſpoil to the nations.

6 Her daughters alſo that are in the field, ſhall be ſlain by the ſword: and they ſhall know that I am the Lord.

7 For thus ſaith the Lord God: Behold I will bring againſt Tyre Nabuchodonoſor king of Babylon, the king of kings, from the north, with horſes, and chariots, and horſemen, and companies, and much people.

8 Thy daughters that are in the field, he ſhall kill with the ſword: and he ſhall compaſs thee with forts, and ſhall caſt up a mount round about: and he ſhall lift up the buckler againſt thee.

9 And he ſhall ſet engines of war and battering rams againſt thy walls, and ſhall deſtroy thy towers with his arms.

10 By reaſon of the multitude of his horſes, their duſt ſhall cover thee: thy walls ſhall ſhake at the noiſe of the horſemen, and wheels, and chariots, when they ſhall go in at thy gates, as by the entrance of a city that is deſtroyed.

11 With the hooſs of his horſes he ſhall tread down all thy ſtreets: thy people he ſhall kill with the ſword, and thy famous ſtatues ſhall fall to the ground.

12 They ſhall waſte thy riches, they ſhall make a ſpoil of thy merchandiſe: and they ſhall deſtroy thy walls, and pull down thy fine houſes: and they ſhall lay thy ſtones, and thy timber, and thy duſt in the midſt of the waters.

13 ‖ And I will make the multitude of thy ſongs to ceaſe, and the ſound of thy harps ſhall be heard no more. ‖ Jer. 7. 34.

14 And I will make thee like a naked rock, thou ſhalt be a drying place for nets, neither ſhalt thou be built any more: for I have ſpoken it, ſaith the Lord God.

15 Thus ſaith the Lord God to Tyre: Shall not the iſlands ſhake at the ſound of thy fall, and the groans of thy ſlain when they ſhall be killed in the midſt of thee?

16 Then all the princes of the ſea ſhall come down from their thrones: and take off their robes, and caſt away their broidered garments, and be clothed with aſtoniſhment: they ſhall ſit on the ground, and with amazement ſhall wonder at thy ſudden fall.

17 And taking up a lamentation over thee, they ſhall ſay to thee: How art thou fallen, that dwelleſt in the ſea, renowned city that waſt ſtrong in the ſea, with thy inhabitants whom all did dread?

18 Now ſhall the ſhips be aſtoniſhed in the day of thy terror: and the iſlands in the ſea ſhall be troubled becauſe no one cometh out of thee.

19 For thus ſaith the Lord God: When I ſhall make thee a deſolate city like the cities that are not inhabited: and ſhall bring the deep upon thee, and many waters ſhall cover thee:

20 And when I ſhall bring thee down with thoſe that deſcend into the pit to the everlaſting people, and ſhall ſet thee in the loweſt parts of the earth as places deſolate of old, with them that are brought down into the pit, that thou be not inhabited: and when I ſhall give glory in the land of the living,

21 I will bring thee to nothing, and thou ſhalt not be, and if thou be ſought for, thou ſhalt not be found any more for ever, ſaith the Lord God.

CHAP. XXVII.

A deſcription of the glory and riches of Tyre: and of her irrecoverable fall.

A. M. 3414. Ante C. 588. AND the word of the Lord came to me, ſaying:

2 Thou therefore, O ſon of man, take up a lamentation for Tyre:

3 And ſay to Tyre that dwelleth at the entry of the ſea, being the mart of the people for many iſlands: Thus ſaith the Lord God: O Tyre, thou haſt ſaid: I am of perfect beauty,

4 And situate in the heart of the sea. Thy neighbours, that built thee, have perfected thy beauty:

5 With fir-trees of Sanir they have built thee, with all sea planks: they have taken cedars from Libanus to make thee masts.

6 They have cut thy oars out of the oaks of Basan: and they have made thee benches of Indian ivory, and cabins with things brought from the islands of Italy.

7 Fine broidered linen from Egypt was woven for thy sail, to be spread on thy mast: blue and purple from the islands of Elisa, were made thy covering.

8 The inhabitants of Sidon, and the Aradians were thy rowers: thy wise men, O Tyre, were thy pilots.

9 The ancients of Gebal, and the wise men thereof furnished mariners for the service of thy various furniture: all the ships of the sea, and their mariners were thy factors.

10 The Persians, and Lydians, and the Lybians were thy soldiers in thy army: they hanged up the buckler and the helmet in thee for thy ornament.

11 The men of Arad were with thy army upon thy walls round about: the Pygmeans also that were in thy towers, hung up their quivers on thy walls round about: they perfected thy beauty.

12 The Carthaginians thy merchants supplied thy fairs with a multitude of all kinds of riches, with silver, iron, tin, and lead.

13 Greece, Thubal, and Mosoch, they were thy merchants: they brought to thy people slaves and vessels of brass.

14 From the house of Thogorma they brought horses, and horsemen, and mules to thy market.

15 The men of Dedan were thy merchants: many islands were the traffic of thy hand, they exchanged for thy price teeth of ivory, and ebony.

16 The Syrian was thy merchant by reason of the multitude of thy works, they set forth precious stones, and purple, and broidered works, and fine linen, and silk, and chodchod in thy market.

17 Juda and the land of Israel, they were thy merchants with the best corn: they set forth balm, and honey, and oil, and rosin in thy fairs.

18 The men of Damascus were thy merchants in the multitude of thy works, in the multitude of divers riches, in rich wine, in wool of the best colour.

19 Dan, and Greece, and Mosel have set forth in thy marts wrought iron: stacte, and calamus were in thy market.

20 The men of Dedan were thy merchants in tapestry for seats.

21 Arabia, and all the princes of Cedar, they were the merchants of thy hand: thy merchants came to thee with lambs, and rams, and kids.

22 The sellers of Saba, and Reema, they were thy merchants: with all the best spices, and precious stones, and gold, which they set forth in thy market.

23 Haran, and Chene, and Eden, were thy merchants: Saba, Assur, and Chelmad sold to thee.

24 They were thy merchants in divers manners, with bales of blue cloth, and of embroidered work, and of precious riches, which were wrapped up, and bound with cords: they had cedars also in thy merchandise.

25 The ships of the sea, were thy chief in thy merchandise: and thou wast repleniished, and glorified exceedingly in the heart of the sea.

26 Thy rowers have brought thee into great waters: the south wind hath broken thee in the heart of the sea.

27 Thy riches, and thy treasures, and thy manifold furniture, thy mariners, and thy pilots, who kept thy goods, and were chief over thy people: thy men of war also, that were in thee with all thy multitude that is in the midst of thee: shall fall in the heart of the sea in the day of thy ruin.

28 Thy fleets shall be troubled at the sound of the cry of thy pilots.

29 And all that handled the oar shall come down from their ships: the mariners, and all the pilots of the sea shall stand upon the land:

30 And they shall mourn over thee with a loud voice, and shall cry bitterly: and they shall cast up dust upon their heads, and shall be sprinkled with ashes.

31 And they shall shave themselves bald for thee, and shall be girded with hair-cloth: and they shall weep for thee with bitterness of soul with most bitter weeping.

32 And they shall take up a mournful song for thee, and shall lament thee: What city is like Tyre, which is become silent in the midst of the sea?

33 Which by thy merchandise that went from thee by sea didst fill many people: which by the multitude of thy riches, and of thy people didst enrich the kings of the earth.

34 Now thou art destroyed by the sea, thy riches are in the bottom of the waters, and all the multitude that was in the midst of thee is fallen.

35 All the inhabitants of the islands are astonished at thee: and all their kings being struck with the storm have changed their countenance.

36 The merchants of people have hissed at thee: thou art brought to nothing, and thou shalt never be any more.

CHAP. XXVIII.

The king of Tyre, who affected to be like to God, shall fall under the like sentence with Lucifer. The judgment of Sidon. The restoration of Israel.

A. M. 3415. AND the word of the Lord came to me, saying:

2 Son of man, say to the prince of Tyre: Thus saith the Lord God: Because thy heart is lifted up, and thou hast said: I am God, and I sit in the chair of God in the heart of the sea: whereas thou art a man, and not God: and hast set thy heart as if it were the heart of God.

3 Behold thou art wiser than Daniel: no secret is hid from thee.

4 In thy wisdom and thy understanding thou hast made thyself strong: and hast gotten gold, and silver into thy treasures.

5 By the greatness of thy wisdom, and by thy traffic thou hast increased thy strength: and thy heart is lifted up with thy strength.

6 Therefore, thus saith the Lord God: Because thy heart is lifted up as the heart of God:

7 Therefore behold, I will bring upon thee strangers the strongest of the nations: and they shall draw their swords against the beauty of thy wisdom, and they shall defile thy beauty.

8 They shall kill thee, and bring thee down: and thou shalt die the death of them that are slain in the heart of the sea.

9 Wilt thou yet say before them that slay thee: I am God; whereas thou art a man, and not God, in the hand of them that slay thee?

10 Thou shalt die the death of the uncircumcised by the hand of strangers: for I have spoken it, saith the Lord God.

11 And the word of the Lord came to me, saying: Son of man, take up a lamentation upon the king of Tyre:

12 And say to him: Thus saith the Lord God: Thou wast the seal of resemblance, full of wisdom, and perfect in beauty,

13 Thou wast in the pleasures of the paradise of God: every precious stone was thy covering: the sardius, the topaz, and the jasper, the chrysolite, and the onyx, and the beryl, the sapphire, and the carbuncle, and the emerald: gold the work of thy beauty: and thy pipes were prepared in the day that thou wast created.

14 Thou a cherub stretched out, and protecting, and I set thee in the holy mountain of God, thou hast walked in the midst of the stones of fire.

15 Thou wast perfect in thy ways from the day of thy creation, until iniquity was found in thee.

16 By the multitude of thy merchandise, thy inner parts were filled with iniquity, and thou hast sinned: and I cast thee out from the mountain of God, and destroyed thee, O covering cherub, out of the midst of the stones of fire.

17 And thy heart was lifted up with thy beauty: thou hast lost thy wisdom in thy beauty, I have cast thee to the ground: I have set thee before the face of kings, that they might behold thee.

18 Thou hast defiled thy sanctuaries by the multitude of thy iniquities, and by the iniquity of thy traffic: therefore I will bring forth a fire from the midst of thee, to devour thee, and I will make thee as ashes upon the earth in the sight of all that see thee.

19 All that shall see thee among the nations, shall be astonished at thee: thou art

CHAP. XXVIII. VER. 3. Thou art wiser than Daniel, viz. In thy own conceit. The wisdom of Daniel was so much celebrated in his days, that it became a proverb amongst the Chaldeans, when any one would express an extraordinary wisdom, to say he was as wise as Daniel.

VER. 12. Thou wast the seal of resemblance. The king of Tyre by his dignity and his natural perfections, bore in himself a certain resemblance of God, by reason of which he might be called the seal of resemblance, &c. But what is here said to him is commonly understood of Lucifer, the king over all the children of pride.

brought to nothing, and thou ſhalt never be any more.

20 And the word of the Lord came to me, ſaying:

21 Son of man, ſet thy face againſt Sidon: and thou ſhalt propheſy of it,

22 And ſhalt ſay: Thus ſaith the Lord God: Behold I come againſt thee, Sidon, and I will be glorified in the midſt of thee: and they ſhall know that I am the Lord, when I ſhall execute judgments in her, and ſhall be ſanctified in her.

23 And I will ſend into her peſtilence, and blood in her ſtreets: and they ſhall fall being ſlain by the ſword on all ſides in the midſt thereof: and they ſhall know that I am the Lord.

24 And the houſe of Iſrael ſhall have no more a ſtumbling-block of bitterneſs, nor a thorn cauſing pain on every ſide round about them, of them that are againſt them: and they ſhall know that I am the Lord God.

25 Thus ſaith the Lord God: When I ſhall have gathered together the houſe of Iſrael out of the people among whom they are ſcattered: I will be ſanctified in them before the Gentiles: and they ſhall dwell in their own land, which I gave to my ſervant Jacob.

26 And they ſhall dwell therein ſecure, and they ſhall build houſes, and ſhall plant vineyards, and ſhall dwell with confidence, when I ſhall have executed judgments upon all that are their enemies round about: and they ſhall know that I am the Lord their God.

CHAP. XXIX.

The king of Egypt ſhall be overthrown, and his kingdom waſted: It ſhall be given to Nabuchodonoſor for his ſervice againſt Tyre.

A. M. 3415. Ante C. 589. IN the tenth year, the tenth month, the eleventh day of the month, the word of the Lord came to me, ſaying:

2 Son of man, ſet thy face againſt Pharao king of Egypt: and thou ſhalt propheſy of him, and of all Egypt:

3 Speak, and ſay: Thus ſaith the Lord God: Behold, I come againſt thee, Pharao king of Egypt, thou great dragon that lieſt in the midſt of thy rivers, and ſayeſt: The river is mine, and I made myſelf.

4 But I will put a bridle in thy jaws: and I will cauſe the fiſh of thy rivers to ſtick to thy ſcales: and I will draw thee out of the midſt of thy rivers, and all thy fiſh ſhall ſtick to thy ſcales.

5 And I will caſt thee forth into the deſert, and all the fiſh of thy river: thou ſhalt fall upon the face of the earth, thou ſhalt not be taken up, nor gathered together: I have given thee for meat to the beaſts of the earth, and to the fowls of the air.

6 And all the inhabitants of Egypt ſhall know that I am the Lord: || becauſe thou haſt been a ſtaff of a reed to the houſe of Iſrael. || Iſai. 36. 6.

7 When they took hold of thee with the hand thou didſt break, and rent all their ſhoulder: and when they leaned upon thee, thou brokeſt, and weakeneſt all their loins.

8 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord God: Behold, I will bring the ſword upon thee: and cut off man and beaſt out of thee.

9 And the land of Egypt ſhall become a deſert, and a wilderneſs: and they ſhall know that I am the Lord: becauſe thou haſt ſaid: The river is mine, and I made it.

10 Therefore, behold I come againſt thee, and thy rivers: and I will make the land of Egypt utterly deſolate, and waſted by the ſword, from the tower of Syene, even to the borders of Ethiopia.

11 The foot of man ſhall not paſs through it, neither ſhall the foot of beaſt go through it: nor ſhall it be inhabited during forty years.

12 And I will make the land of Egypt deſolate in the midſt of the lands that are deſolate, and the cities thereof in the midſt of the cities that are deſtroyed, and they ſhall be deſolate for forty years: and I will ſcatter the Egyptians among the nations, and will diſperſe them through the countries.

13 For thus ſaith the Lord God: At the end of forty years I will gather the Egyptians from the people among whom they had been ſcattered.

14 And I will bring back the captivity of Egypt, and will place them in the land of Phatures, in the land of their nativity, and they ſhall be there a low kingdom:

15 It ſhall be the loweſt among other kingdoms, and it ſhall no more be exalted over the nations, and I will diminiſh them that they ſhall rule no more over the nations.

16 And they ſhall be no more a confidence to the houſe of Iſrael, teaching iniquity, that they may flee, and follow them: and they ſhall know that I am the Lord God.

17 And it came to pass in the seven
* A. M. 3432. Ante C. 572. and twentieth year, * in the first month, in the first of the month: that the word of the Lord came to me, saying:

18 Son of man, Nabuchodonosor king of Babylon hath made his army to undergo hard service against Tyre: every head was made bald, and every shoulder was peeled: and there hath been no reward given him, nor his army for Tyre, for the service that he rendered me against it.

19 Therefore thus saith the Lord God: Behold, I will set Nabuchodonosor the king of Babylon in the land of Egypt:
‖ Jer. 46. 2. ‖ and he shall take her multitude, and take the booty thereof for a prey, and rifle the spoils thereof: and it shall be wages for his army,

20 And for the service that he hath done me against it: I have given him the land of Egypt, because he hath laboured for me, saith the Lord God.

21 In that day a horn shall bud forth to the house of Israel, and I will give thee an open mouth in the midst of them: and they shall know that I am the Lord.

CHAP. XXX.

The desolation of Egypt and her helpers: all her cities shall be wasted.

Jer. 43 & 44. & 46. AND the word of the Lord came to me, saying:

2 Son of man, prophesy, and say: Thus saith the Lord God: Howl ye, wo, wo to the day:

3 For the day is near, yea the day of the Lord is near: a cloudy day, it shall be the time of the nations.

4 And the sword shall come upon Egypt: and there shall be dread in Ethiopia, when the wounded shall fall in Egypt, and the multitude thereof shall be taken away, and the foundations thereof shall be destroyed.

5 Ethiopia, and Lybia, and Lydia, and all the rest of the crowd, and Chub, and the children of the land of the covenant, shall fall with them by the sword.

6 Thus saith the Lord God: They also that uphold Egypt shall fall, and the pride of her empire shall be brought down: from the tower of Syene shall they fall in it by the sword, saith the Lord the God of Hosts.

7 And they shall be desolate in the midst of the lands that are desolate, and the cities thereof shall be in the midst of the cities that are wasted.

8 And they shall know that I am the Lord: when I shall have set a fire in Egypt, and all the helpers thereof shall be destroyed.

9 In that day shall messengers go forth from my face in ships to destroy the confidence of Ethiopia, and there shall be dread among them in the day of Egypt: because it shall certainly come.

10 Thus saith the Lord God: I will make the multitude of Egypt to cease by the hand of Nabuchodonosor the king of Babylon.

11 He and his people with him, the strongest of nations, shall be brought to destroy the land: and they shall draw their swords upon Egypt: and shall fill the land with the slain.

12 And I will make the channels of the rivers dry, and will deliver the land into the hand of the wicked: and will lay waste the land and all that is therein by the hands of strangers, I the Lord have spoken it.

13 ‖ Thus saith the Lord God: I will also destroy the idols, and I will make an end of the idols of Memphis: and there shall be no more a prince of the land of Egypt: and I will cause a terror in the land of Egypt. ‖ Zach. 13. 2.

14 And I will destroy the land of Phatures, and will make a fire in Taphnis, and will execute judgments in Alexandria.

15 And I will pour out my indignation upon Pelusium the strength of Egypt, and will cut off the multitude of Alexandria.

16 And I will make a fire in Egypt: Pelusium shall be in pain like a woman in labour, and Alexandria shall be laid waste, and in Memphis there shall be daily distresses.

17 The young men of Heliopolis, and of Bubastus shall fall by the sword, and they themselves shall go into captivity.

18 And in Taphnis the day shall be darkened, when I shall break there the sceptres of Egypt, and the pride of her power shall cease in her: a cloud shall cover her, and her daughters shall be led into captivity.

19 And I will execute judgments in Egypt: and they shall know that I am the Lord.

20 And it came to pass in the eleventh year, * in the first month, in the seventh day of the month, that the word of the Lord came to me, saying: A. M. 3416.

21 Son of man, I have broken the arm of Pharao king of Egypt: and behold it is not bound up, to be healed, to be tied up with clothes, and ſwathed with linen, that it might recover ſtrength and hold the ſword.

22 Therefore, thus ſaith the Lord God: Behold, I come againſt Pharao king of Egypt, and I will break into pieces his ſtrong arm, which is already broken: and I will cauſe the ſword to fall out of his hand:

23 And I will diſperſe Egypt among the nations, and ſcatter them through the countries.

24 And I will ſtrengthen the arms of the king of Babylon, and will put my ſword in his hand: and I will break the arms of Pharao, and they ſhall groan bitterly being ſlain before his face.

25 And I will ſtrengthen the arms of the king of Babylon, and the arms of Pharao ſhall fall: and they ſhall know that I am the Lord, when I ſhall have given my ſword into the hand of the king of Babylon, and he ſhall have ſtretched it forth upon the land of Egypt.

26 And I will diſperſe Egypt among the nations, and will ſcatter them through the countries, and they ſhall know that I am the Lord.

CHAP. XXXI.

The Aſſyrian empire fell for their pride: the Egyptian ſhall fall in like manner.

A. M. 3416. AND it came to paſs in the eleventh year, the third month, the firſt day of the month, that the word of the Lord came to me, ſaying:

2 Son of man, ſpeak to Pharao king of Egypt, and to his people: To whom art thou like in thy greatneſs?

3 Behold, the Aſſyrian was like a cedar in Libanus, with fair branches, and full of leaves, of a high ſtature, and his top was elevated among the thick boughs.

4 The waters nouriſhed him, the deep ſet him up on high, the ſtreams thereof ran round about his roots, and it ſent forth its rivulets to all the trees of the country.

5 Therefore was his height exalted above all the trees of the country: and his branches were multiplied, and his boughs were elevated becauſe of many waters.

6 And when he had ſpread forth his ſhadow, all the fowls of the air made their neſts in his boughs, and all the beaſts of the foreſt brought forth their young under his branches, and the aſſembly of many nations dwelt under his ſhadow.

7 And he was moſt beautiful for his greatneſs, and for the ſpreading of his branches: for his root was near great waters.

8 The cedars in the paradiſe of God were not higher than he, the fir-trees did not equal his top, neither were the plane-trees to be compared with him for branches: no tree in the paradiſe of God, was like him in his beauty.

9 For I made him beautiful, and thick ſet with many branches: and all the trees of pleaſure, that were in the paradiſe of God, envied him.

10 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord God: Becauſe he was exalted in height, and ſhot up his top green and thick, and his heart was lifted up in his height:

11 I have delivered him into the hands of the mighty one of the nations, he ſhall deal with him: I have caſt him out according to his wickedneſs.

12 And ſtrangers, and the moſt cruel of the nations ſhall cut him down, and caſt him away upon the mountains, and his boughs ſhall fall in every valley, and his branches ſhall be broken on every rock of the country: and all the people of the earth ſhall depart from his ſhadow, and leave him.

13 All the fowls of the air dwelt upon his ruins, and all the beaſts of the field were among his branches.

14 For which cauſe none of the trees by the waters ſhall exalt themſelves for their height: nor ſhoot up their tops among the thick branches and leaves, neither ſhall any of them that are watered ſtand up in their height: for they are all delivered unto death to the loweſt parts of the earth, in the midſt of the children of men, with them that go down into the pit.

15 Thus ſaith the Lord God: In the day when he went down to hell, I brought in mourning, I covered him with the deep: and I withheld its rivers, and reſtrained the many waters: Libanus grieved for him, and all the trees of the field trembled.

16 I ſhook the nations with the ſound of his fall, when I brought him down to hell with them that deſcend into the pit: and all the trees of pleaſure, the choice and beſt in Libanus, all that were moiſtened with waters, were comforted in the loweſt parts of the earth.

17 For they alſo ſhall go down with him to hell to them that are ſlain by the ſword: and the arm of every one ſhall ſit down under his ſhadow in the midſt of the nations.

18 To whom art thou like, O thou that art famous and lofty among the trees of pleaſure? Behold, thou art brought down with the trees of pleaſure to the loweſt parts of the earth: thou ſhalt ſleep in the midſt of the uncircumciſed, with them that are ſlain by the ſword: this is Pharao, and all his multitude, ſaith the Lord God.

CHAP. XXXII.

The prophet's lamentation for the king of Egypt.

A. M. 3417. Ante C. 587. AND it came to paſs in the twelfth year, in the twelfth month, in the firſt day of the month, that the word of the Lord came to me, ſaying:

2 Son of man take up a lamentation for Pharao the king of Egypt, and ſay to him: Thou art like the lion of the nations, and the dragon that is in the ſea: and thou didſt puſh with the horn in thy rivers, and didſt trouble the waters with thy feet, and didſt trample upon their ſtreams.

‖ Supra 12. 13. & 17. 20. 3 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord God: ‖ I will ſpread out my net over thee with the multitude of many people, and I will draw thee up in my net.

4 And I will throw thee out on the land, I will caſt thee away into the open field: and I will cauſe all the fowls of the air to dwell upon thee, and I will fill the beaſts of all the earth with thee.

5 And I will lay thy fleſh upon the mountains, and will fill thy hills with thy corruption.

6 And I will water the earth with thy ſtinking blood upon the mountains, and the valleys ſhall be filled with thee.

‖ Iſai. 13. 10. Joel 2. 10. & 3. 15. Matt. 24. 29. 7 ‖ And I will cover the heavens, when thou ſhalt be put out, and I will make the ſtars thereof dark: I will cover the ſun with a cloud, and the moon ſhall not give her light.

8 I will make all the lights of heaven to mourn over thee: and I will cauſe darkneſs upon thy land, ſaith the Lord God, when thy wounded ſhall fall in the midſt of the land, ſaith the Lord God.

9 And I ſhall provoke to anger the heart of many people, when I ſhall have brought in thy deſtruction among the nations upon the lands, which thou knoweſt not.

10 And I will make many people to be amazed at thee, and their kings ſhall be horribly afraid for thee, when my ſword ſhall begin to fly upon their faces: and they ſhall be aſtoniſhed on a ſudden, every one for his own life, in the day of their ruin.

11 For thus ſaith the Lord God: The ſword of the king of Babylon ſhall come upon thee,

12 By the ſwords of the mighty I will overthrow thy multitude: all theſe nations are invincible: and they ſhall waſte the pride of Egypt, and the multitude thereof ſhall be deſtroyed.

13 I will deſtroy alſo all the beaſts thereof, that were beſide the great waters: and the foot of man ſhall trouble them no more, neither ſhall the hoof of beaſts trouble them.

14 Then will I make their waters clear, and cauſe their rivers to run like oil, ſaith the Lord God:

15 When I ſhall have made the land of Egypt deſolate: and the land ſhall be deſtitute of her fulneſs, when I ſhall have ſtruck all the inhabitants thereof: and they ſhall know that I am the Lord.

16 This is the lamentation, and they ſhall lament therewith: the daughters of the nations ſhall lament therewith: for Egypt, and for the multitude thereof they ſhall lament therewith, ſaith the Lord God.

17 And it came to paſs in the twelfth year, ‡ in the fifteenth day of the month, that the word of the Lord came to me, ſaying: ‡ A. M. 347.

18 Son of man, ſing a mournful ſong for the multitude of Egypt: and caſt her down, both her, and the daughters of the mighty nations to the loweſt part of the earth, with them that go down into the pit.

19 Whom doſt thou excel in beauty? go down and ſleep with the uncircumciſed.

20 They ſhall fall in the midſt of them that are ſlain with the ſword: the ſword is given, they have drawn her down, and all her people.

21 The moſt mighty among the ſtrong ones ſhall ſpeak to him from the midſt of hell, they that went down with his helpers, and ſlept uncircumciſed, ſlain by the ſword.

22 Aſſur is there, and all his multitude: their graves are round about him, all of them ſlain, and that fell by the ſword.

23 Whoſe graves are ſet in the loweſt parts of the pit: and his multitude lay round about his grave: all of them ſlain, and fallen by the ſword, they that heretofore ſpread terror in the land of the living.

24 There is Elam and all his multitude round about his grave, all of them ſlain, and falling by the ſword: that went down uncircumciſed to the loweſt parts of the earth: that cauſed their terror in the land of the living, and they have borne their ſhame with them that go down into the pit.

25 In the midſt of the ſlain they have ſet him a bed among all his people: their graves are round about him: all theſe are uncircumciſed, and ſlain by the ſword: for they ſpread their terror in the land of the living, and have borne their ſhame with them that deſcend into the pit: they are laid in the midſt of the ſlain.

26 There is Moſoch, and Thubal, and all their multitude: their graves are round about him: all of them uncircumciſed and ſlain, and falling by the ſword: though they ſpread their terror in the land of the living.

27 And they ſhall not ſleep with the brave, and with them that fell uncircumciſed, that went down to hell with their weapons, and laid their ſwords under their heads, and their iniquities were in their bones: becauſe they were the terror of the mighty in the land of the living.

28 So thou alſo ſhalt be broken in the midſt of the uncircumciſed, and ſhalt ſleep with them that are ſlain by the ſword.

29 There is Edom, and her kings, and all her princes, who with their army are joined with them that are ſlain by the ſword: and have ſlept with the uncircumciſed, and with them that go down into the pit.

30 There are all the princes of the north, and all the hunters: who were brought down with the ſlain, fearing, and confounded in their ſtrength: who ſlept uncircumciſed with them that are ſlain by the ſword, and have borne their ſhame with them that go down into the pit.

31 Pharao ſaw them, and he was comforted concerning all his multitude, which was ſlain by the ſword: Pharao, and all his army, ſaith the Lord God:

32 Becauſe I have ſpread my terror in the land of the living, and he hath ſlept in the midſt of the uncircumciſed with them that are ſlain by the ſword: Pharao and all his multitude, ſaith the Lord God.

CHAP. XXXIII.

The duty of the watchman appointed by God: the juſtice of God's ways: his judgments upon the Jews.

AND the word of the Lord came to me, ſaying:

2 Son of man, ſpeak to the children of thy people, and ſay to them: When I bring the ſword upon a land, if the people of the land take a man, one of their meaneſt, and make him a watchman over them:

3 And he ſee the ſword coming upon the land, and ſound the trumpet, and tell the people:

4 Then he that heareth the ſound of the trumpet, whoſoever he be, and doth not look to himſelf, if the ſword come, and cut him off: his blood ſhall be upon his own head.

5 He heard the ſound of the trumpet, and did not look to himſelf, his blood ſhall be upon him: but if he look to himſelf, he ſhall ſave his life.

6 And if the watchman ſee the ſword coming, and ſound not the trumpet: and the people look not to themſelves, and the ſword come, and cut off a ſoul from among them: he indeed is taken away in his iniquity, but I will require his blood at the hand of the watchman.

7 ‖ So thou, O ſon of man, I have made thee a watchman to the houſe of Iſrael: therefore thou ſhalt hear the word from my mouth, and ſhalt tell it them from me. ‖ Supra 3. 17.

8 When I ſay to the wicked: O wicked man, thou ſhalt ſurely die: if thou doſt not ſpeak to warn the wicked man from his way: that wicked man ſhall die in his iniquity, but I will require his blood at thy hand.

9 But if thou tell the wicked man, that he may be converted from his ways, and he be not converted from his way: he ſhall die in his iniquity: but thou haſt delivered thy ſoul.

10 Thou therefore, O ſon of man, ſay to the houſe of Iſrael: Thus you have ſpoken, ſaying: Our iniquities, and our ſins are upon us, and we pine away in them: how then can we live?

11 ‖ Say to them: As I live, ſaith the Lord God, I deſire not the death of the wicked, but that the wicked turn from his way, and live. Turn ye, turn ye from your evil ways: and why will you die, O houſe of Iſrael? ‖ Supra 18. 32.

12 Thou therefore, O ſon of man, ſay to the children of thy people: The juſtice of the juſt ſhall not deliver him, in what day ſoever he ſhall ſin: and the wickedneſs of the wicked ſhall not hurt him, in what day ſoever he ſhall turn from his wickedneſs: and the juſt ſhall not be able to live in his juſtice, in what day ſoever he ſhall ſin.

13 Yea, if I ſhall ſay to the juſt that he ſhall ſurely live, and he, truſting in his juſtice, commit iniquity: all his juſtices ſhall be forgotten, and in his iniquity, which he hath committed, in the ſame ſhall he die.

14 And if I ſhall ſay to the wicked: Thou ſhalt ſurely die: and he do penance for his ſin, and do judgment and juſtice,

15 And if that wicked man reſtore the pledge, and render what he had robbed, and walk in the commandments of life, and do no unjuſt thing: he ſhall ſurely live, and ſhall not die.

16 None of his ſins, which he hath committed, ſhall be imputed to him: he hath done judgment and juſtice, he ſhall ſurely live.

17 And the children of thy people have ſaid: The way of the Lord is not equitable: whereas their own way is unjuſt.

18 For when the juſt ſhall depart from his juſtice, and commit iniquities, he ſhall die in them.

19 And when the wicked ſhall depart from his wickedneſs, and ſhall do judgments, and juſtice: he ſhall live in them.

‖ Supra 18. 25. 20 ‖ And you ſay: The way of the Lord is not right, I will judge every one of you according to his ways, O houſe of Iſrael.

* A. M. 3417. Ante C. 587. 21 And it came to paſs in the twelfth year * of our captivity, in the tenth month, in the fifth day of the month, that there came to me one that was fled from Jeruſalem, ſaying: The city is laid waſte.

22 And the hand of the Lord had been upon me in the evening, before he that was fled came: and he opened my mouth till he came to me in the morning, and my mouth being opened I was ſilent no more.

23 And the word of the Lord came to me, ſaying:

24 Son of man, they that dwell in theſe ruinous places, in the land of Iſrael, ſpeak, ſaying: Abraham was one and he inherited the land: but we are many, the land is given us in poſſeſſion.

25 Therefore ſay to them: Thus ſaith the Lord God: You that eat with the blood and lift up your eyes to your uncleanneſſes, and that ſhed blood: ſhall you poſſeſs the land by inheritance?

26 You ſtood on your ſwords, you have committed abominations, and every one hath defiled his neighbour's wife: and ſhall you poſſeſs the land by inheritance?

27 Say thou thus to them: Thus ſaith the Lord God: As I live, they that dwell in the ruinous places, ſhall fall by the ſword: and he that is in the field, ſhall be given to the beaſts to be devoured: and they that are in holds, and caves, ſhall die of the peſtilence.

28 And I will make the land a wilderneſs, and a deſert, and the proud ſtrength thereof ſhall fail, and the mountains of Iſrael ſhall be deſolate, becauſe there is none to paſs by them.

29 And they ſhall know that I am the Lord, when I ſhall have made their land waſte and deſolate, for all their abominations which they have committed.

30 And thou, ſon of man: the children of thy people, that talk of thee by the walls, and in the doors of the houſes, and ſpeak one to another each man to his neighbour, ſaying: Come, and let us hear what is the word that cometh forth from the Lord.

31 And they come to thee, as if a people were coming in, and my people ſit before thee: and hear thy words, and do them not: for they turn them into a ſong of their mouth, and their heart goeth after their covetouſneſs.

32 And thou art to them as a muſical ſong which is ſung with a ſweet and agreeable voice: and they hear thy words, and do them not.

33 And when that which was foretold ſhall come to paſs, (for behold it is coming), then ſhall they know that a prophet hath been among them.

CHAP. XXXIV.

Evil paſtors are reproved: Chriſt the true paſtor ſhall come, and gather together his flock from all parts of the earth, and preſerve it for ever.

AND the word of the Lord came to me, ſaying:

2 Son of man, propheſy concerning the ſhepherds of Iſrael: propheſy, and ſay to the ſhepherds: Thus ſaith the Lord God: ‖ Wo to the ſhepherds of Iſrael, that fed themſelves: ſhould not the flocks be fed by the ſhepherds? ‖ Jer. 23. 1. Supra 13. 3.

3 You eat the milk, and you clothed yourſelves with the wool, and you killed that which was fat: but my flock you did not feed.

4 The weak you have not ſtrengthened, and that which was ſick you have not healed: that which was broken you have not bound up, and that which was driven away you have not brought again, neither have you ſought that which was loſt: but you ruled over them with rigour, and with a high hand.

5 And my ſheep were ſcattered, becauſe there was no ſhepherd: and they became the prey of all the beaſts of the field, and were ſcattered.

6 My ſheep have wandered in every mountain, and in every high hill: and my flocks were ſcattered upon the face of the earth, and there was none that ſought them, there was none, I ſay, that ſought them.

7 Therefore, ye ſhepherds, hear the word of the Lord:

8 As I live, ſaith the Lord God, foraſmuch as my flocks have been made a ſpoil, and my ſheep are become a prey to all the beaſts of the field, becauſe there was no ſhepherd:

CHAP. XXXIV. VER. 2. Shepherds. That is, princes, magiſtrates, chief prieſts and ſcribes.

for my ſhepherds did not ſeek after my flock, but the ſhepherds fed themſelves, and fed not my flocks:

9 Therefore, ye ſhepherds, hear the word of the Lord:

10 Thus ſaith the Lord God: Behold I myſelf come upon the ſhepherds, I will require my flock at their hand, and I will cauſe them to ceaſe from feeding the flock any more, neither ſhall the ſhepherds feed themſelves any more: and I will deliver my flock from their mouth, and it ſhall no more be meat for them.

11 For thus ſaith the Lord God: Behold I myſelf will ſeek my ſheep, and will viſit them.

12 As the ſhepherd viſiteth his flock, in the day when he ſhall be in the midſt of his ſheep that were ſcattered: ſo will I viſit my ſheep, and will deliver them out of all the places where they have been ſcattered in the cloudy and dark day.

13 And I will bring them out from the peoples, and will gather them out of the countries, and will bring them to their own land: and I will feed them in the mountains of Iſrael, by the rivers, and in all the habitations of the land:

14 I will feed them in the moſt fruitful paſtures, and their paſtures ſhall be in the high mountains of Iſrael: there ſhall they reſt on the green graſs, and be fed in fat paſtures upon the mountains of Iſrael.

15 I will feed my ſheep: and I will cauſe them to lie down, ſaith the Lord God.

16 I will ſeek that which was loſt: and that which was driven away, I will bring again: and I will bind up that which was broken, and I will ſtrengthen that which was weak, and that which was fat and ſtrong I will preſerve: and I will feed them in judgment.

17 And as for you, O my flocks, thus ſaith the Lord God: Behold I judge between cattle and cattle, of rams and of he-goats.

18 Was it not enough for you to feed upon good paſtures? but you muſt alſo tread down with your feet the reſidue of your paſtures: and when you drank the cleareſt water, you troubled the reſt with your feet.

19 And my ſheep were fed with that which you had trodden with your feet: and they drank what your feet had troubled.

20 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord God to you: Behold, I myſelf will judge between the fat cattle and the lean.

21 Becauſe you thruſted with ſides and ſhoulders, and ſtruck all the weak cattle with your horns, till they were ſcattered abroad:

22 I will ſave my flock, and it ſhall be no more a ſpoil, and I will judge between cattle and cattle.

23 ‖ AND I WILL SET UP ONE SHEPHERD OVER THEM, and he ſhall feed them, even my ſervant David: he ſhall feed them, and he ſhall be their ſhepherd. ‖ Iſai. 40. 11. Oſee 3. 5. John 1. 45. & 10. 11. & 14.

24 And I the Lord will be their God: and my ſervant David the prince in the midſt of them: I the Lord have ſpoken it.

25 And I will make a covenant of peace with them, and will cauſe the evil beaſts to ceaſe out of the land: and they that dwell in the wilderneſs ſhall ſleep ſecure in the foreſts.

26 And I will make them a bleſſing round about my hill: and I will ſend down the rain in its ſeaſon, there ſhall be ſhowers of bleſſing.

27 And the tree of the field ſhall yield its fruit, and the earth ſhall yield her increaſe, and they ſhall be in their land without fear: and they ſhall know that I am the Lord, when I ſhall have broken the bonds of their yoke, and ſhall have delivered them out of the hand of thoſe that rule over them.

28 And they ſhall be no more for a ſpoil to the nations, neither ſhall the beaſts of the earth devour them: but they ſhall dwell ſecurely without any terror.

29 And I will raiſe up for them a bud of renown: and they ſhall be no more conſumed with famine in the land, neither ſhall they bear any more the reproach of the Gentiles.

30 And they ſhall know that I the Lord their God am with them, and that they are my people the houſe of Iſrael: ſaith the Lord God.

31 ‖ And you my flocks, the flocks of my paſture are men: and I am the Lord your God, ſaith the Lord God. ‖ John 10. 11.

CHAP. XXXV.

The judgment of mount Seir, for their hatred of Iſrael.

AND the word of the Lord came to me, ſaying:

2 Son of man, ſet thy face againſt mount Seir, and propheſy concerning it, and ſay to it:

3 Thus ſaith the Lord God: Behold I come againſt thee mount Seir, and I will ſtretch forth my hand upon thee, and I will make thee deſolate and waſte.

4 I will deſtroy thy cities, and thou ſhalt be deſolate: and thou ſhalt know that I am the Lord.

5 Becauſe thou haſt been an everlaſting enemy, and haſt ſhut up the children of Iſrael in the hands of the ſword in the time of their affliction, in the time of their laſt iniquity.

6 Therefore as I live, ſaith the Lord God, I will deliver thee up to blood, and blood ſhall purſue thee: and whereas thou haſt hated blood, blood ſhall purſue thee.

7 And I will make mount Seir waſte and deſolate: and I will take away from it him that goeth and him that returneth.

8 And I will fill his mountains with his men that are ſlain: in thy hills, and in thy valleys, and in thy torrents they ſhall fall that are ſlain with the ſword.

9 I will make thee everlaſting deſolations, and thy cities ſhall not be inhabited: and thou ſhalt know that I am the Lord God.

10 Becauſe thou haſt ſaid: The two nations, and the two lands ſhall be mine, and I will poſſeſs them by inheritance: whereas the Lord was there.

11 Therefore as I live, ſaith the Lord God, I will do according to thy wrath, and according to thy envy, which thou haſt exerciſed in hatred to them: and I will be made known by them, when I ſhall have judged thee.

12 And thou ſhalt know that I the Lord have heard all thy reproaches, that thou haſt ſpoken againſt the mountains of Iſrael, ſaying: They are deſolate, they are given to us to conſume.

13 And you roſe up againſt me with your mouth, and have derogated from me by your words: I have heard them.

14 Thus ſaith the Lord God: When the whole earth ſhall rejoice, I will make thee a wilderneſs.

15 As thou haſt rejoiced over the inheritance of the houſe of Iſrael, becauſe it was laid waſte, ſo will I do to thee: thou ſhalt be laid waſte, O mount Seir, and all Idumea: and they ſhall know that I am the Lord.

CHAP. XXXVI.

The reſtoration of Iſrael, not for their merits, but by God's ſpecial grace. Chriſt's baptiſm.

AND thou ſon of man, propheſy to the mountains of Iſrael, and ſay: ‖ Ye mountains of Iſrael, hear the word of the Lord:

‖ Supra 6. 3.

2 Thus ſaith the Lord God: Becauſe the enemy hath ſaid of you: Aha, the everlaſting heights are given to us for an inheritance.

3 Therefore propheſy, and ſay: Thus ſaith the Lord God: Becauſe you have been deſolate, and trodden under foot on every ſide, and made an inheritance to the reſt of the nations, and are become the ſubject of the talk, and the reproach of the people:

4 Therefore, ye mountains of Iſrael, hear the word of the Lord God: Thus ſaith the Lord God to the mountains, and to the hills, to the brooks, and to the valleys, and to deſolate places, and ruinous walls, and to the cities that are forſaken, that are ſpoiled, and derided by the reſt of the nations round about.

5 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord God: In the fire of my zeal I have ſpoken of the reſt of the nations, and of all Edom, who have taken my land to themſelves, for an inheritance with joy, and with all the heart, and with the mind: and have caſt it out to lay it waſte.

6 Propheſy therefore concerning the land of Iſrael, and ſay to the mountains, and to the hills, to the ridges, and to the valleys: Thus ſaith the Lord God: Behold I have ſpoken in my zeal, and in my indignation, becauſe you have borne the ſhame of the Gentiles.

7 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord God: I have lifted up my hand, that the Gentiles who are round about you, ſhall themſelves bear their ſhame.

8 But as for you, O mountains of Iſrael, ſhoot ye forth your branches, and yield your fruit to my people of Iſrael: for they are at hand to come.

9 For lo I am for you, and I will turn to you, and you ſhall be ploughed and ſown.

10 And I will multiply men upon you, and all the houſe of Iſrael: and the cities ſhall be inhabited, and the ruinous places ſhall be repaired.

11 And I will make you abound with men and with beaſts: and they ſhall be multiplied, and increaſe: and I will ſettle you as from the beginning, and will give you greater gifts, than you had from the beginning: and you ſhall know that I am the Lord.

12 And I will bring men upon you, my people Iſrael, and they ſhall poſſeſs thee for their inheritance: and thou ſhalt be their inheritance, and ſhalt no more henceforth be without them.

13 Thus ſaith the Lord God: Becauſe they ſay of you: Thou art a devourer of men, and one that ſuffocate thy nation:

14 Therefore thou ſhalt devour men no more, nor deſtroy thy nation any more, ſaith the Lord God:

15 Neither will I cauſe men to hear in thee the ſhame of the nations any more, nor ſhalt thou bear the reproach of the people, nor loſe thy nation any more, ſaith the Lord God.

16 And the word of the Lord came to me, ſaying:

17 Son of man, when the houſe of Iſrael dwelt in their own land, they defiled it with their ways, and with their doings: their way was before me like the uncleanneſs of a menſtruous woman.

18 And I poured out my indignation upon them for the blood which they had ſhed upon the land, and with their idols they defiled it.

19 And I ſcattered them among the nations, and they are diſperſed through the countries: I have judged them according to their ways, and their devices.

20 And when they entered among the nations whither they went, ‖ they profaned my holy name, when it was ſaid of them: This is the people of the Lord, and they are come forth out of his land.

‖ Iſai. 52. 5. Rom. 2. 24.

21 And I have regarded my own holy name, which the houſe of Iſrael had profaned among the nations to which they went in.

22 Therefore thou ſhalt ſay to the houſe of Iſrael: Thus ſaith the Lord God: It is not for your ſake that I will do this, O houſe of Iſrael, but for my holy name's ſake, which you have profaned among the nations whither you went.

23 And I will ſanctify my great name, which was profaned among the Gentiles, which you have profaned in the midſt of them: that the Gentiles may know that I am the Lord, ſaith the Lord of hoſts, when I ſhall be ſanctified in you before their eyes.

24 For I will take you from among the Gentiles, and will gather you together out of all the countries, and will bring you into your own land.

25 And I will pour upon you clean water, and you ſhall be cleanſed from all your filthineſs, and I will cleanſe you from all your idols.

‖ Supra 11. 19.

26 ‖ And I will give you a new heart, and put a new ſpirit within you: and I will take away the ſtony heart out of your fleſh, and will give you a heart of fleſh.

27 And I will put my ſpirit in the midſt of you: and I will cauſe you to walk in my commandments, and to keep my judgments, and do them.

28 And you ſhall dwell in the land which I gave to your fathers, and you ſhall be my people, and I will be your God.

29 And I will ſave you from all your uncleanneſſes: and I will call for corn, and will multiply it, and will lay no famine upon you.

30 And I will multiply the fruit of the tree, and the increaſe of the field, that you bear no more the reproach of famine among the nations.

31 And you ſhall remember your wicked ways, and your doings that were not good: and your iniquities, and your wicked deeds ſhall diſpleaſe you.

32 It is not for your ſakes that I will do this, ſaith the Lord God, be it known to you: be confounded, and aſhamed at your own ways, O houſe of Iſrael.

33 Thus ſaith the Lord God: In the day that I ſhall cleanſe you from all your iniquities, and ſhall cauſe the cities to be inhabited, and ſhall repair the ruinous places,

34 And the deſolate land ſhall be tilled, which before was waſte in the ſight of all that paſſed by,

35 They ſhall ſay: This land that was untilled is become as a garden of pleaſure: and the cities that were abandoned, and deſolate, and deſtroyed, are peopled and fenced.

36 And the nations, that ſhall be left round about you, ſhall know that I the Lord have built up what was deſtroyed, and planted what was deſolate, that I the Lord have ſpoken and done it.

37 Thus ſaith the Lord God: Moreover in this ſhall the houſe of Iſrael find me, that I will do it for them: I will multiply them as a flock of men, 38 As a holy flock, as the flock of Jeruſalem in her ſolemn feaſts: ſo ſhall the waſte cities be full of flocks of men: and they ſhall know that I am the Lord.

CHAP. XXXVII.

A viſion of the reſurrection of dry bones, foreſhewing the deliverance of the people from their captivity. Juda and Iſrael ſhall be all one kingdom under Chriſt. God's everlaſting covenant with the church.

THE hand of the Lord was upon me, and brought me forth in the ſpirit of the Lord: and ſet me down in the midſt of a plain that was full of bones.

CHAP. XXXVI. VER. 15. Nor loſe thy nation any more. This whole promiſe principally relates to the church of Chriſt, and God's perpetual protection of her: for as to the carnal Jews, they have been removed out of their land theſe ſixteen hundred years.

2 And he led me about through them on every ſide: now they were very many upon the face of the plain, and they were exceeding dry.

3 And he ſaid to me: Son of man, doſt thou think theſe bones ſhall live? And I anſwered: O Lord God, thou knoweſt.

4 And he ſaid to me: Propheſy concerning theſe bones: and ſay to them: Ye dry bones, hear the word of the Lord.

5 Thus ſaith the Lord God to theſe bones: Behold, I will ſend ſpirit into you, and you ſhall live.

6 And I will lay ſinews upon you, and will cauſe fleſh to grow over you, and will cover you with ſkin: and I will give you ſpirit, and you ſhall live, and you ſhall know that I am the Lord.

7 And I propheſied as he had commanded me: and as I propheſied there was a noiſe, and behold a commotion: and the bones came together, each one to its joint.

8 And I ſaw, and behold the ſinews, and the fleſh came up upon them: and the ſkin was ſtretched out over them, but there was no ſpirit in them.

9 And he ſaid to me: Propheſy to the ſpirit, propheſy, O ſon of man, and ſay to the ſpirit: Thus ſaith the Lord God: Come ſpirit from the four winds, and blow upon theſe ſlain, and let them live again.

10 And I propheſied as he had commanded me: and the ſpirit came into them, and they lived: and they ſtood up upon their feet, an exceeding great army.

11 And he ſaid to me: Son of man: All theſe bones are the houſe of Iſrael: they ſay: Our bones are dried up, and our hope is loſt, and we are cut off.

12 Therefore propheſy, and ſay to them: Thus ſaith the Lord God: Behold, I will open your graves, and will bring you out of your ſepulchres, O my people: and will bring you into the land of Iſrael.

13 And you ſhall know that I am the Lord, when I ſhall have opened your ſepulchres, and ſhall have brought you out of your graves, O my people:

14 And ſhall have put my ſpirit in you, and you ſhall live, and I ſhall make you reſt upon your own land: and you ſhall know that I the Lord have ſpoken, and done it, ſaith the Lord God:

15 And the word of the Lord came to me, ſaying:

16 And thou ſon of man, take thee a ſtick: and write upon it: Of Juda, and of the children of Iſrael his aſſociates: and take another ſtick, and write upon it: For Joſeph the ſtick of Ephraim, and for all the houſe of Iſrael, and of his aſſociates.

17 And join them one to the other into one ſtick, and they ſhall become one in thy hand.

18 And when the children of thy people ſhall ſpeak to thee, ſaying: Wilt thou not tell us what thou meaneſt by this?

19 Say to them: Thus ſaith the Lord God: Behold, I will take the ſtick of Joſeph, which is in the hand of Ephraim, and the tribes of Iſrael that are aſſociated with him: and I will put them together with the ſtick of Juda, and will make them one ſtick: and they ſhall be one in his hand.

20 And the ſticks whereon thou haſt written, ſhall be in thy hand, before their eyes.

21 And thou ſhalt ſay to them: Thus ſaith the Lord God: Behold, I will take the children of Iſrael from the midſt of the nations whither they are gone: and I will gather them on every ſide, and will bring them to their own land.

22 ‖ And I will make them one nation in the land on the mountains of Iſrael, and one king ſhall be king over them all: and they ſhall no more be two nations, neither ſhall they be divided any more into two kingdoms. ‖ John 10. 16.

23 Nor ſhall they be defiled any more with their idols, nor with their abominations, nor with all their iniquities: and I will ſave them out of all the places in which they have ſinned, and I will cleanſe them: and they ſhall be my people, and I will be their God.

24 ‖ And my ſervant David ſhall be king over them, and they ſhall have one ſhepherd: they ſhall walk in my judgments, and ſhall keep my commandments, and ſhall do them. ‖ Iſai. 40. 11. Jerem. 23. 5. Supra 34. 23. Dan. 9. 24. John 1. 45.

25 And they ſhall dwell in the land which I gave to my ſervant Jacob, wherein your fathers dwelt, and they ſhall dwell in it, they and their children, and their childrens children, for ever: and David my ſervant ſhall be their prince for ever.

26 ‡ And I will make a covenant of peace with them, it ſhall be an everlaſting covenant with them: and I will eſtabliſh them, and will multiply them, and will ſet my ſanctuary in the midſt of them for ever. ‡ Pſal. 109. 4. & 116. 2. John 12. 34.

27 And my tabernacle ſhall be with them:

and I will be their God, and they shall be my people.

28 And the nations shall know that I am the Lord the sanctifier of Israel, when my sanctuary shall be in the midst of them for ever.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

Gog shall persecute the church in the latter days. He shall be overthrown.

AND the word of the Lord came to me, saying:

2 ‖ Son of man, set thy face against Gog, the land of Magog, the chief prince of Mosoch and Thubal: and prophecy of him,

‖ Infra 39. 1. Apoc. 20. 7.

3 And say to him: Thus saith the Lord God: Behold, I come against thee, O Gog, the chief prince of Mosoch and Thubal.

4 And I will turn thee about, and I will put a bit in thy jaws: and I will bring thee forth, and all thy army, horses and horsemen all cloathed with coats of mail, a great multitude, armed with spears and shields and swords.

5 The Persians, Ethiopians, and Lybians with them, all with shields and helmets.

6 Gomer, and all his bands, the house of Thogorma, the northern parts and all his strength, and many peoples with thee.

7 Prepare and make thyself ready, and all thy multitude that is assembled about thee: and be thou commander over them.

8 After many days thou shalt be visited: at the end of years thou shalt come to the land that is returned from the sword, and is gathered out of many nations, to the mountains of Israel which have been continually waste: but it hath been brought forth out of the nations, and they shall all of them dwell securely in it.

9 And thou shalt go up and come like a storm, and like a cloud to cover the land, thou and all thy bands and many people with thee.

10 Thus saith the Lord God: In that day projects shall enter into thy heart, and thou shalt conceive a mischievous design.

11 And thou shalt say: I will go up to the land which is without a wall, I will come to them that are at rest, and dwell securely: all these dwell without a wall, they have no bars nor gates:

12 To take spoils, and lay hold on the prey, to lay thy hand upon them that had been wasted, and afterwards restored, and upon the people that is gathered together out of the nations, which hath begun to possess and to dwell in the midst of the earth.

13 Saba, and Dedan, and the merchants of Tharsis, and all the lions thereof shall say to thee: Art thou come to take spoils? behold, thou hast gathered thy multitude to take a prey, to take silver, and gold, and to carry away goods and substance, and to take rich spoils.

14 Therefore, thou son of man, prophesy and say to Gog: Thus saith the Lord God: Shalt thou not know, in that day, when my people of Israel shall dwell securely?

15 And thou shalt come out of thy place from the northern parts, thou and many people with thee, all of them riding upon horses, a great company and a mighty army.

16 And thou shalt come upon my people of Israel like a cloud, to cover the earth. Thou shalt be in the latter days, and I will bring thee upon my land: that the nations may know me, when I shall be sanctified in thee, O Gog, before their eyes.

17 Thus saith the Lord God: Thou then art he, of whom I have spoken in the days of old, by my servants the prophets of Israel, who prophesied in the days of those times that I would bring thee upon them.

18 And it shall come to pass in that day, in the day of the coming of Gog upon the land of Israel, saith the Lord God, that my indignation shall come up in my wrath.

19 And I have spoken in my zeal, and in the fire of my anger, that in that day there shall be a great commotion upon the land of Israel:

20 ‖ So that the fishes of the sea, and the birds of the air, and the beasts of the field, and every creeping thing that creepeth upon the ground, and all men that are upon the face of the earth, shall be moved at my presence: and the mountains shall be thrown down, and the hedges shall fall, and every wall shall fall to the ground.

21 And I will call in the sword against

CHAP. XXXVIII. VER. 2. Gog. This name, which signifies hidden or covered, is taken in this place, either for the persecutors of the church of God in general, or some arch-persecutor in particular: such as Antichrist shall be in the latter days. See Apocalypse xx. 8. And what is said of the punishment of Gog, is verified by the unhappy ends of persecutors.

him in all my mountains, ſaith the Lord God: every man's ſword ſhall be pointed againſt his brother.

22 And I will judge him with peſtilence, and with blood, and with violent rain, and vaſt hail ſtones: I will rain fire and brimſtone upon him, and upon his army, and upon the many nations that are with him.

23 And I will be magnified, and I will be ſanctified: and I will be known in the eyes of many nations: and they ſhall know that I am the Lord.

CHAP. XXXIX.

God's judgments upon Gog. God's people were puniſhed for their ſins: but ſhall be favoured with everlaſting kindneſs.

AND thou ſon of man, propheſy againſt Gog, and ſay: Thus ſaith the Lord God: Behold, I come againſt thee, O Gog, the chief prince of Moſoch and Thubal.

2 And I will turn thee round, and I will lead thee out, and will make thee go up from the northern parts: and will bring thee upon the mountains of Iſrael.

3 And I will break thy bow in thy left hand, and I will cauſe thy arrows to fall out of thy right hand.

4 Thou ſhalt fall upon the mountains of Iſrael, thou and all thy bands, and thy nations that are with thee: I have given thee to the wild beaſts, to the birds, and to every fowl, and to the beaſts of the earth to be devoured.

5 Thou ſhalt fall upon the face of the field: for I have ſpoken it, ſaith the Lord God.

6 And I will ſend a fire on Magog, and on them that dwell confidently in the iſlands: and they ſhall know that I am the Lord.

7 And I will make my holy name known in the midſt of my people Iſrael, and my holy name ſhall be profaned no more: and the Gentiles ſhall know that I am the Lord, the holy One of Iſrael.

8 Behold it cometh, and it is done, ſaith the Lord God: this is the day whereof I have ſpoken.

9 And the inhabitants ſhall go forth of the cities of Iſrael, and ſhall ſet on fire and burn the weapons, the ſhields, and the ſpears, the bows and the arrows, and the handſtaves and the pikes: and they ſhall burn them with fire ſeven years.

10 And they ſhall not bring wood out of the countries, nor cut down out of the foreſts: for they ſhall burn the weapons with fire, and ſhall make a prey of them to whom they had been a prey, and they ſhall rob thoſe that robbed them, ſaith the Lord God.

11 And it ſhall come to paſs in that day, that I will give Gog a noted place for a ſepulchre in Iſrael: the valley of the paſſengers on the eaſt of the ſea, which ſhall cauſe aſtoniſhment in them that paſs by: and there ſhall they bury Gog, and all his multitude, and it ſhall be called the valley of the multitude of Gog.

12 And the houſe of Iſrael ſhall bury them for ſeven months to cleanſe the land.

13 And all the people of the land ſhall bury him, and it ſhall be unto them a noted day, wherein I was glorified, ſaith the Lord God.

14 And they ſhall appoint men to go continually about the land, to bury and to ſeek out them that were remaining upon the face of the earth, that they may cleanſe it: and after ſeven months they ſhall begin to ſeek.

15 And they ſhall go about paſſing through the land: and when they ſhall ſee the bone of a man, they ſhall ſet up a ſign by it, till the buriers bury it in the valley of the multitude of Gog.

16 And the name of the city ſhall be Amona, and they ſhall cleanſe the land.

17 And thou, O ſon of man, ſaith the Lord God, ſay to every fowl, and to all the birds, and to all the beaſts of the field: Aſſemble yourſelves, make haſte, come together from every ſide to my victim, which I ſlay for you, a great victim upon the mountains of Iſrael: to eat fleſh, and drink blood.

18 You ſhall eat the fleſh of the mighty, and you ſhall drink the blood of the princes of the earth: of rams, and of lambs, and of he-goats, and bullocks, and of all that are well fed and fat.

19 And you ſhall eat the fat till you be full, and ſhall drink blood till you be drunk of the victim which I ſhall ſlay for you.

20 And you ſhall be filled at my table with horſes, and mighty horſemen, and all the men of war, ſaith the Lord God.

21 And I will ſet my glory among the nations: and all nations ſhall ſee my judgment that I have executed, and my hand that I have laid upon them.

22 And the houſe of Iſrael ſhall know that I am the Lord their God from that day and forward.

23 And the nations ſhall know that the houſe of Iſrael were made captives for their iniquity, becauſe they forſook me, and I hid my face from them: and I delivered them into the hands of their enemies, and they fell all by the ſword.

24 I have dealt with them according to their uncleanneſs and wickedneſs, and hid my face from them.

25 Therefore, thus ſaith the Lord God: Now will I bring back the captivity of Jacob, and will have mercy on all the houſe of Iſrael: and I will be jealous for my holy name.

26 And they ſhall bear their confuſion, and all the tranſgreſſions wherewith they have tranſgreſſed againſt me, when they ſhall dwell in their land ſecurely fearing no man:

27 And I ſhall have brought them back from among the nations, and ſhall have gathered them together out of the lands of their enemies, and ſhall be ſanctified in them, in the ſight of many nations.

‖ Supra 36. 23. 28 ‖ And they ſhall know that I am the Lord their God, becauſe I cauſed them to be carried away among the nations; and I have gathered them together unto their own land, and have not left any of them there.

29 And I will hide my face no more from them, for I have poured out my ſpirit upon all the houſe of Iſrael, ſaith the Lord God.

CHAP. XL.

The prophet ſees in a viſion the rebuilding of the temple: the dimenſions of ſeveral parts thereof.

† A. M. 3430. Ante C. 574. IN the five and twentieth year of our captivity, in the beginning of the year, the tenth day of the month, the fourteenth year † after the city was deſtroyed: in the ſelf-ſame day the hand of the Lord was upon me, and he brought me thither.

2 In the viſions of God he brought me into the land of Iſrael, and ſet me upon a very high mountain: upon which there was as the building of a city, bending towards the ſouth.

3 And he brought me in thither: and behold a man, whoſe appearance was like the appearance of braſs, with a line of flax in his hand, and a meaſuring reed in his hand: and he ſtood in the gate.

4 And this man ſaid to me: Son of man, ſee with thy eyes, and hear with thy ears, and ſet thy heart upon all that I ſhall ſhew thee: for thou art brought hither that they may be ſhewn to thee: declare all that thou ſeeſt, to the houſe of Iſrael.

5 And behold there was a wall on the outſide of the houſe round about, and in the man's hand a meaſuring reed of ſix cubits and a hand-breadth: and he meaſured the breadth of the building one reed, and the height one reed.

6 And he came to the gate that looked toward the eaſt, and he went up the ſteps thereof: and he meaſured the breadth of the threſhold of the gate one reed, that is, one threſhold was one reed broad:

7 And every little chamber was one reed long, and one reed broad: and between the little chambers were five cubits:

8 And the threſhold of the gate by the porch of the gate within, was one reed.

9 And he meaſured the porch of the gate eight cubits, and the front thereof two cubits: and the porch of the gate was inward.

10 And the little chambers of the gate that looked eaſtward were three on this ſide, and three on that ſide: all three were of one meaſure, and the fronts of one meaſure, on both parts.

11 And he meaſured the breadth of the threſhold of the gate ten cubits: and the length of the gate thirteen cubits:

12 And the border before the little chambers one cubit: and one cubit was the border on both ſides: and the little chambers were ſix cubits on this ſide and that ſide.

13 And he meaſured the gate from the roof of one little chamber to the roof of another, in breadth five and twenty cubits: door againſt door.

14 He made alſo fronts of ſixty cubits: and to the front the court of the gate on every ſide round about.

15 And before the face of the gate, which reached even to the face of the porch of the inner gate, fifty cubits.

16 And ſlanting windows in the little chambers, and in their fronts, which were within the gate on every ſide round about: and in like manner there were alſo in the porches windows round about within, and before the fronts the repreſentation of palm-trees.

17 And he brought me into the outward court, and behold there were chambers, and a pavement of ſtone in the court round about: thirty chambers encompaſſed the pavement.

18 And the pavement in the front of the gates according to the length of the gates was lower.

CHAP. XL. VER. 17. There were chambers. Gazophylacia, ſo called, becauſe the prieſts and Levites kept in them the ſtores and veſſels that belonged to the temple.

19 And he measured the breadth from the face of the lower gate to the front of the inner court without, a hundred cubits to the east, and to the north.

20 He measured also both the length and the breadth of the gate of the outward court, which looked northward.

21 And the little chambers thereof three on this side, and three on that side: and the front thereof, and the porch thereof according to the measure of the former gate, fifty cubits long, and five and twenty cubits broad.

22 And the windows thereof, and the porch, and the gravings according to the measure of the gate that looked to the east, and they went up to it by seven steps, and a porch was before it.

23 And the gate of the inner court was over-against the gate of the north, and that of the east: and he measured from gate to gate a hundred cubits.

24 And he brought me out to the way of the south, and behold the gate that looked to the south: and he measured the front thereof, and the porch thereof according to the former measures.

25 And the windows thereof, and the porches round about, as the other windows: the length was fifty cubits, and the breadth five and twenty cubits.

26 And there were seven steps to go up to it: and a porch before the doors thereof: and there were graven palm-trees, one on this side, and another on that side in the front thereof.

27 And there was a gate of the inner court towards the south: and he measured from gate to gate towards the south, a hundred cubits.

28 And he brought me into the inner court at the south gate: and he measured the gate according to the former measures.

29 The little chamber thereof, and the front thereof, and the porch thereof with the same measures: and the windows thereof, and the porch thereof round about it was fifty cubits in length, and five and twenty cubits in breadth.

30 And the porch round about was five and twenty cubits long, and five cubits broad.

31 And the porch thereof to the outward court, and the palm-trees thereof in the front: and there were eight steps to go up to it.

32 And he brought me in into the inner court by the way of the east: and he measured the gate according to the former measures.

33 The little chamber thereof, and the front thereof, and the porch thereof as before: and the windows thereof, and the porches thereof round about it was fifty cubits long, and five and twenty cubits broad.

34 And the porch thereof, that is, of the outward court: and the graven palm-trees in the front thereof on this side and on that side: and the going up thereof was by eight steps.

35 And he brought me into the gate that looked to the north: and he measured according to the former measures.

36 The little chamber thereof, and the front thereof, and the porch thereof, and the windows thereof round about it was fifty cubits long, and five and twenty cubits broad.

37 And the porch thereof looked to the outward court: and the graving of palm-trees in the front thereof was on this side and on that side: and the going up to it was by eight steps.

38 And at every chamber was a door in the fore-fronts of the gates: there they washed the holocaust.

39 And in the porch of the gate were two tables on this side, and two tables on that side: that the holocaust, and the sin-offering, and the trespass-offering might be slain thereon.

40 And on the outward side, which goeth up to the entry of the gate that looketh toward the north, were two tables: and at the other side before the porch of the gate were two tables.

41 Four tables were on this side, and four tables on that side: at the sides of the gate were eight tables, upon which they slew the victims.

42 And the four tables for the holocausts were made of square stones: one cubit and a half long, and one cubit and a half broad, and one cubit high: to lay the vessels upon: in which the holocaust, and the victim is slain.

43 And the borders of them were of one hand-breadth, turned inwards round about: and upon the tables was the flesh of the offering.

44 And without the inner gate were the chambers of the singing men in the inner court, which was on the side of the gate that looketh to the north: and their prospect was towards the south, one at the side of the east gate, which looked toward the north.

45 And he said to me: This chamber, which looketh toward the south, shall be for the priests that watch in the wards of the temple.

46 But the chamber that looketh towards the north shall be for the priests that watch over the miniſtry of the altar. Theſe are the ſons of Sadoc, who among the ſons of Levi, come near to the Lord, to miniſter to him.

47 And he meaſured the court a hundred cubits long, and a hundred cubits broad four ſquare: and the altar that was before the face of the temple.

48 And he brought me into the porch of the temple: and he meaſured the porch five cubits on this ſide, and five cubits on that ſide: and the breadth of the gate three cubits on this ſide, and three cubits on that ſide.

49 And the length of the porch was twenty cubits, and the breadth eleven cubits, and there were eight ſteps to go up to it. And there were pillars in the fronts: one on this ſide, and another on that ſide.

CHAP. XLI.

A deſcription of the temple, and of all the parts of it.

AND he brought me into the temple, and he meaſured the fronts ſix cubits broad on this ſide, and ſix cubits on that ſide, the breadth of the tabernacle.

2 And the breadth of the gate was ten cubits: and the ſides of the gate five cubits on this ſide, and five cubits on that ſide: and he meaſured the length thereof forty cubits, and the breadth twenty cubits.

3 Then going inward he meaſured the front of the gate two cubits: and the gate ſix cubits: and the breadth of the gate ſeven cubits.

4 And he meaſured the length thereof twenty cubits, and the breadth twenty cubits, before the face of the temple: and he ſaid to me: This is the holy of holies.

5 And he meaſured the wall of the houſe ſix cubits: and the breadth of every ſide-chamber four cubits round about the houſe on every ſide.

6 And the ſide-chambers one by another, were twice thirty-three: and they bore outwards, that they might enter in through the wall of the houſe in the ſides round about, to hold in, and not to touch the wall of the temple.

7 And there was a broad paſſage round about, going up by winding ſtairs, and it led into the upper loft of the temple all round: therefore was the temple broader in the higher parts: and ſo from the lower parts they went to the higher by the midſt.

8 And I ſaw in the houſe the height round about, the foundations of the ſide-chambers which were the meaſure of a reed the ſpace of ſix cubits:

9 And the thickneſs of the wall for the ſide-chamber without, which was five cubits: and the inner houſe was within the ſide-chambers of the houſe.

10 And between the chambers was the breadth of twenty cubits round about the houſe on every ſide.

11 And the door of the ſide-chambers was turned towards the place of prayer: one door was toward the north, and another door was toward the ſouth: and the breadth of the place for prayer, was five cubits round about.

12 And the building that was ſeparate, and turned to the way that looked toward the ſea, was ſeventy cubits broad: and the wall of the building, five cubits thick round about: and ninety cubits long.

13 And he meaſured the length of the houſe, a hundred cubits: and the ſeparate building, and the walls thereof, a hundred cubits in length.

14 And the breadth before the face of the houſe, and of the ſeparate place toward the eaſt, a hundred cubits.

15 And he meaſured the length of the building over-againſt it, which was ſeparated at the back of it: and the galleries on both ſides a hundred cubits: and the inner temple, and the porches of the court.

16 The threſholds, and the oblique windows, and the galleries round about on three ſides, over-againſt the threſhold of every one, and floored with wood all round about: and the ground was up to the windows, and the windows were ſhut over the doors.

17 And even to the inner houſe, and without all the wall round about within and without, by meaſure.

18 And there were cherubims and palm-trees wrought, ſo that a palm-tree was between a cherub and a cherub, and every cherub had two faces.

19 The face of a man was toward the palm-tree on one ſide, and the face of a lion

CHAP. XLI. VER. 1. The temple. This plan of a temple, which was here ſhewn to the prophet in a viſion, partly had relation to the material temple, which was to be rebuilt; and partly, in a myſtical ſenſe, to the ſpiritual temple of God, the church of Chriſt.

VER. 6. One by another, or one over another: literally, ſide to ſide, or ſide upon ſide.

VER. 9. And the inner houſe was within the ſide-chambers of the houſe. Becauſe theſe ſide-chambers were in the very walls of the temple all round. Or, it may alſo be rendered (more agreeably to the Hebrew) ſo as to ſignify that the thickneſs of the wall for the ſide-chambers within, was the ſame as that of the wall without; that is, equally five cubits.

was toward the palm-tree on the other ſide: ſet forth through all the houſe round about.

20 From the ground even to the upper parts of the gate, were cherubims and palm-trees wrought in the wall of the temple.

21 The threſhold was four-ſquare, and the face of the ſanctuary, ſight to ſight.

22 The altar of wood was three cubits high: and the length thereof was two cubits: and the corners thereof, and the length thereof, and the walls thereof were of wood. And he ſaid to me: This is the table before the Lord.

23 And there were two doors in the temple, and in the ſanctuary.

24 And in the two doors on both ſides were two little doors, which were folded within each other: for there were two wickets on both ſides of the doors.

25 And there were cherubims alſo wrought in the doors of the temple, and the figures of palm-trees, like as were made on the walls: for which cauſe alſo the planks were thicker in the front of the porch without.

26 Upon which were the oblique windows, and the repreſentation of palm-trees on this ſide and on that ſide in the ſides of the porch: according to the ſides of the houſe, and the breadth of the walls.

CHAP. XLII.

A deſcription of the courts, chambers, and other places belonging to the temple.

AND he brought me forth into the outward court by the way that leadeth to the north, and he brought me into the chamber that was over-againſt the ſeparate building, and over-againſt the houſe toward the north.

2 In the face of the north door was the length of a hundred cubits: and the breadth of fifty cubits.

3 Over-againſt the twenty cubits of the inner court, and over-againſt the pavement of the outward court that was paved with ſtone, where there was a gallery joined to a triple gallery.

4 And before the chambers was a walk ten cubits broad, looking to the inner parts of a way of one cubit. And their doors were toward the north:

5 Where were the ſtore-chambers lower above: becauſe they bore up the galleries, which appeared above out of them from the lower parts, and from the midſt of the building.

6 For they were of three ſtories, and had not pillars, as the pillars of the courts: therefore did they appear above out of the lower places, and out of the middle places, fifty cubits from the ground.

7 And the outward wall that went about by the chambers, which were towards the outward court on the forepart of the chambers, was fifty cubits long.

8 For the length of the chambers of the outward court was fifty cubits: and the length before the face of the temple, a hundred cubits.

9 And there was under theſe chambers, an entrance from the eaſt, for them that went into them out of the outward court.

10 In the breadth of the outward wall of the court that was toward the eaſt, over-againſt the ſeparate building, and there were chambers before the building.

11 And the way before them was like the chambers which were toward the north: they were as long as they, and as broad as they: and all the going into them, and their faſhions, and their doors were alike.

12 According to the doors of the chambers that were toward the ſouth: there was a door in the head of the way, which way was before the porch, ſeparated towards the eaſt as one entereth in.

13 And he ſaid to me: The chambers of the north, and the chambers of the ſouth, which are before the ſeparate building: they are holy chambers, in which the prieſts ſhall eat, that approach to the Lord into the holy of holies: there ſhall they lay the moſt holy things, and the offering for ſin, and for treſpaſs: for it is a holy place.

14 And when the prieſts ſhall have entered in, they ſhall not go out of the holy places into the outward court: but there they ſhall lay their veſtments, wherein they miniſter, for they are holy: and they ſhall put on other garments, and ſo they ſhall go forth to the people.

15 Now when he had made an end of meaſuring the inner houſe, he brought me out by the way of the gate that looked toward the eaſt: and he meaſured it on every ſide round about.

16 And he meaſured toward the eaſt with the meaſuring reed, five hundred reeds with the meaſuring reed round about.

17 And he meaſured toward the north five hundred reeds with the meaſuring reed round about.

18 And towards the ſouth he meaſured five hundred reeds, with the measuring reed round about.

19 And toward the west he measured five hundred reeds, with the measuring reed.

20 By the four winds he measured the wall thereof on every side round about, five hundred cubits long and five hundred cubits broad, making a separation between the sanctuary and the place of the people.

CHAP. XLIII.

The glory of God returns to the new temple. The Israelites shall no more profane God's name by idolatry: the prophet is commanded to shew them the dimensions, and form of the temple, and of the altar, with the sacrifices to be offered thereon.

AND he brought me to the gate that looked towards the east.

2 And behold the glory of the God of Israel came in by the way of the east: and his voice was like the noise of many waters, and the earth shone with his majesty.

§ Supra 9. 1. 3 § And I saw the vision according to the appearance which I had seen when he came to destroy the city: and the appearance was according to the vision ‡ which I had seen by the river Chobar: and I fell upon my face.

‡ Supra 1. 1. 4 And the majesty of the Lord went into the temple by the way of the gate that looked to the east.

5 And the spirit lifted me up, and brought me into the inner court: and behold the house was filled with the glory of the Lord.

6 And I heard one speaking to me out of the house, and the man that stood by me,

7 Said to me: Son of man, the place of my throne, and the place of the soles of my feet, where I dwell in the midst of the children of Israel for ever: and the house of Israel shall no more profane my holy name, they and their kings by their fornications, and by the carcases of their kings, and by the high places.

8 They who have set their threshold by my threshold, and their posts by my posts: and there was but a wall between me and them: and they profaned my holy name by the abominations which they committed: for which reason I consumed them in my wrath.

9 Now therefore let them put away their fornications, and the carcases of their kings far from me: and I will dwell in the midst of them for ever.

10 But thou, son of man, shew to the house of Israel the temple, and let them be ashamed of their iniquities, and let them measure the building:

11 And be ashamed of all that they have done. Shew them the form of the house, and of the fashion thereof, the goings out, and the comings in, and the whole plan thereof, and all its ordinances, and all its order, and all its laws, and thou shalt write it in their sight: that they may keep the whole form thereof, and its ordinances, and do them.

12 This is the law of the house upon the top of the mountain: All its border round about is most holy: this then is the law of the house.

13 And these are the measures of the altar by the truest cubit, which is a cubit and a hand-breadth: the bottom thereof was a cubit, and the breadth a cubit: and the border thereof unto its edge, and round about, one hand-breadth: and this was the trench of the altar.

14 And from the bottom of the ground to the lowest brim two cubits, and the breadth of one cubit: and from the lesser brim to the greater brim four cubits, and the breadth of one cubit.

15 And the Ariel itself was four cubits: and from the Ariel upward were four horns.

16 And the Ariel was twelve cubits long, and twelve cubits broad, four-square with equal sides.

17 And the brim was fourteen cubits long, and fourteen cubits broad in the four corners thereof: and the crown round about it was half a cubit, and the bottom of it one cubit round about: and its steps turned toward the east.

18 And he said to me: Son of man, thus saith the Lord God: These are the ceremonies of the altar, in what day soever it shall be made: that holocausts may be offered upon it, and blood poured out.

19 And thou shalt give to the priests, and the Levites, that are of the race of Sadoc, who approach to me, saith the Lord God, to offer to me a calf of the herd for sin.

20 And thou shalt take of his blood, and shalt put it upon the four horns thereof,

CHAP. XLIII. VER. 15. The Ariel. That is, the altar itself, or rather the highest part of it, upon which the burnt offerings were laid. In the Hebrew it is Harel, that is, the mountain of God: but in the following verse Haariel, that is, the lion of God: a figure, from its consuming, and as it were devouring the sacrifices, as a lion devours its prey.

and upon the four corners of the brim, and upon the crown round about: and thou ſhalt cleanſe, and expiate it.

21 And thou ſhalt take the calf, that is offered for ſin: and thou ſhalt burn him in a ſeparate place of the houſe without the ſanctuary.

22 And in the ſecond day thou ſhalt offer a he-goat without blemiſh for ſin: and they ſhall expiate the altar, as they expiated it with the calf.

23 And when thou ſhalt have made an end of the expiation thereof, thou ſhalt offer a calf of the herd without blemiſh, and a ram of the flock without blemiſh.

24 And thou ſhalt offer them in the ſight of the Lord: and the prieſts ſhall put ſalt upon them, and ſhall offer them a holocauſt to the Lord.

25 Seven days ſhalt thou offer a he-goat for ſin daily: they ſhall offer alſo a calf of the herd, and a ram of the flock without blemiſh.

26 Seven days ſhall they expiate the altar, and ſhall cleanſe it: and they ſhall conſecrate it.

27 And the days being expired, on the eighth day and thence forward, the prieſts ſhall offer your holocauſts upon the altar, and the peace-offerings: and I will be pacified towards you, ſaith the Lord God.

CHAP. XLIV.

The eaſt gate of the ſanctuary ſhall be always ſhut. The uncircumciſed ſhall not enter into the ſanctuary: nor the Levites that have ſerved idols: but the ſons of Sadoc ſhall do the prieſtly functions, who ſtood firm in the worſt of times.

AND he brought me back to the way of the gate of the outward ſanctuary, which looked towards the eaſt: and it was ſhut.

2 And the Lord ſaid to me: This gate ſhall be ſhut: it ſhall not be opened, and no man ſhall paſs through it: becauſe the Lord the God of Iſrael hath entered in by it, and it ſhall be ſhut

3 For the prince. The prince himſelf ſhall ſit in it, to eat bread before the Lord: he ſhall enter in by the way of the porch of the gate, and ſhall go out by the ſame way.

4 And he brought me by the way of the north gate in the ſight of the houſe: and I ſaw, and behold the glory of the Lord filled the houſe of the Lord: and I fell on my face.

5 And the Lord ſaid to me: Son of man, attend with thy heart, and behold with thy eyes, and hear with thy ears all that I ſay to thee concerning all the ceremonies of the houſe of the Lord, and concerning all the laws thereof: and mark well the ways of the temple, with all the goings out of the ſanctuary.

6 And thou ſhalt ſay to the houſe of Iſrael that provoketh me: Thus ſaith the Lord God: Let all your wicked doings ſuffice you, O houſe of Iſrael:

7 In that you have brought in ſtrangers uncircumciſed in heart, and uncircumciſed in fleſh, to be in my ſanctuary, and to defile my houſe: and you offer my bread, the fat, and the blood: and you have broken my covenant by all your wicked doings.

8 And you have not kept the ordinances of my ſanctuary: but you have ſet keepers of my charge in my ſanctuary for yourſelves.

9 Thus ſaith the Lord God: No ſtranger uncircumciſed in heart, and uncircumciſed in fleſh, ſhall enter into my ſanctuary, no ſtranger that is in the midſt of the children of Iſrael.

10 Moreover the Levites that went away far from me, when the children of Iſrael went aſtray, and have wandered from me after their idols, and have borne their iniquity:

11 They ſhall be officers in my ſanctuary, and doorkeepers of the gates of the houſe, and miniſters to the houſe: they ſhall ſlay the holocauſts, and the victims of the people: and they ſhall ſtand in their ſight, to miniſter to them.

12 Becauſe they miniſtered to them before their idols, and were a ſtumbling-block of iniquity to the houſe of Iſrael: therefore have I lifted up my hand againſt them, ſaith the Lord God, and they ſhall bear their iniquity:

13 And they ſhall not come near to me, to do the office of prieſt to me, neither ſhall they come near to any of my holy things that are by the holy of holies: but they ſhall bear their ſhame, and their wickedneſſes which they have committed.

14 And I will make them door-keepers of the houſe, for all the ſervice thereof, and for all that ſhall be done therein.

15 But the prieſts, and Levites, the ſons of Sadoc, who kept the ceremonies of my ſanctuary, when the children of Iſrael went aſtray from me, they ſhall come near to me, to miniſter to me: and they ſhall ſtand before me, to offer me the fat, and the blood, ſaith the Lord God.

16 They ſhall enter into my ſanctuary, and they ſhall come near to my table, to miniſter unto me, and to keep my ceremonies.

17 And when they ſhall enter in at the gates of the inner court, they ſhall be clothed with linen garments: neither ſhall any woollen come upon them, when they miniſter in the gates of the inner court and within.

18 They ſhall have linen mitres on their heads, and linen breeches on their loins, and they ſhall not be girded with any thing that cauſeth ſweet.

19 And when they ſhall go forth to the outward court to the people, they ſhall put off their garments wherein they miniſtered, and lay them up in the ſtone-chamber of the ſanctuary, and they ſhall clothe themſelves with other garments: and they ſhall not ſanctify the people with their veſtments.

20 Neither ſhall they ſhave their heads, nor wear long hair: but they ſhall only poll their heads.

21 And no prieſt ſhall drink wine when he is to go into the inner court.

‖ Lev. 21. 14. 22 ‖ Neither ſhall they take to wife a widow, nor one that is divorced, but they ſhall take virgins of the ſeed of the houſe of Iſrael: but they may take a widow alſo, that is the widow of a prieſt.

23 And they ſhall teach my people the difference between holy and profane, and ſhew them how to diſcern between clean and unclean.

24 And when there ſhall be a controverſy, they ſhall ſtand in my judgments, and ſhall judge: they ſhall keep my laws, and my ordinances in all my ſolemnities, and ſanctify my ſabbaths.

25 And they ſhall come near no dead perſon, leſt they be defiled, only their father and mother, and ſon and daughter, and brother and ſiſter, that hath not had another huſband: for whom they may become unclean.

26 And after one is cleanſed, they ſhall reckon unto him ſeven days.

27 And in the day that he goeth into the ſanctuary to the inner court, to miniſter unto me in the ſanctuary, he ſhall offer for his ſin, ſaith the Lord God.

‖ Num. 18. 20. Deut. 18. 1. 28 ‖ And they ſhall have no inheritance, I am their inheritance: neither ſhall you give them any poſſeſſion in Iſrael, for I am their poſſeſſion.

‖ Exod. 22. 29. 30 ‖ And the firſt-fruits of all the firſt-born, and all the libations of all things that are offered, ſhall be the prieſts: and you ſhall give the firſt-fruits of your meats to the prieſt, that he may return a bleſſing upon thy houſe.

‡ Lev. 22. 8. 31 ‡ The prieſts ſhall not eat of any thing that is dead of itſelf or caught by a beaſt, whether it be fowl or cattle.

CHAP. XLV.

Portions of land for the ſanctuary, for the city, and for the prince. Ordinances for the prince.

AND when you ſhall begin to divide the land by lot, ſeparate ye firſt-fruits to the Lord, a portion of the land to be holy, in length twenty five thouſand, and in breadth ten thouſand: it ſhall be holy in all the borders thereof round about.

2 And there ſhall be for the ſanctuary on every ſide five hundred by five hundred, four-ſquare round about: and fifty cubits for the ſuburbs thereof round about.

3 And with this meaſure thou ſhalt meaſure the length, of five and twenty thouſand, and the breadth of ten thouſand, and in it ſhall be the temple, and the holy of holies.

4 The holy portion of the land ſhall be for the prieſts the miniſters of the ſanctuary, who come near to the miniſtry of the Lord: and it ſhall be a place for their houſes, and for the holy place of the ſanctuary.

5 And five and twenty thouſand of length, and ten thouſand of breadth ſhall be for the Levites, that miniſter in the houſe: they ſhall poſſeſs twenty ſtore-chambers.

6 And you ſhall appoint the poſſeſſion of the city five thouſand broad, and five and twenty thouſand long, according to the ſeparation of the ſanctuary, for the whole houſe of Iſrael.

7 For the prince alſo on the one ſide and on the other ſide, according to the ſeparation of the ſanctuary, and according to the poſſeſſion of the city, over-againſt the ſeparation of the ſanctuary, and over-againſt the poſſeſſion of the city: from the ſide of the ſea even to the ſea, and from the ſide of the eaſt even to the eaſt. And the length according to ever part from the weſt border to the eaſt border.

CHAP. XLIV. VER. 19. Shall not ſanctify the people with their veſtments. By expoſing them to the danger of touching the ſacred veſtments, which none were to touch but they that were ſanctified.

CHAP. XLV. VER. 1. Twenty five thouſand, viz. Reeds or cubits.

8 He shall have a portion of the land in Israel: and the princes shall no more rob my people: but they shall give the land to the house of Israel according to their tribes.

9 Thus saith the Lord God: Let it suffice you, O princes of Israel: cease from iniquity and robberies, and execute judgment and justice, separate your confines from my people, saith the Lord God.

10 You shall have just balances, and a just ephi, and a just bate.

11 The ephi and the bate shall be equal, and of one measure: that the bate may contain the tenth part of a core, and the ephi the tenth part of a core: their weight shall be equal according to the measure of a core.

12 ‖ And the sickle hath twenty obols. Now twenty sickles, and five and twenty sickles, and fifteen sickles make a mna.

‖ Exod. 30. 13. Lev 27. 25. Num. 3. 37.

13 And these are the first-fruits, which you shall take: the sixth part of an ephi of a core of wheat, and the sixth part of an ephi of a core of barley.

14 The measure of oil also, a bate of oil is the tenth part of a core: and ten bates make a core: for ten bates fill a core.

15 And one ram out of a flock of two hundred, of those that Israel feedeth for sacrifice, and for holocausts, and for peace-offerings, to make atonement for them, saith the Lord God.

16 All the people of the land shall be bound to these first-fruits for the prince in Israel.

17 And the prince shall give the holocaust, and the sacrifice, and the libations on the feasts, and on the new moons, and on the sabbaths, and on all the solemnities of the house of Israel: he shall offer the sacrifice for sin, and the holocaust, and the peace-offerings to make expiation for the house of Israel.

18 Thus saith the Lord God: In the first month, the first of the month, thou shalt take a calf of the herd without blemish, and thou shalt expiate the sanctuary.

19 And the priest shall take of the blood of the sin-offering: and he shall put it on the posts of the house, and on the four corners of the brim of the altar, and on the posts of the gate of the inner court.

20 And so shalt thou do in the seventh day of the month, for every one that hath been ignorant, and hath been deceived by error, and thou shalt make expiation for the house.

21 In the first month, the fourteenth day of the month you shall observe the solemnity of the pasch: seven days unleavened bread shall be eaten.

22 And the prince on that day shall offer for himself, and for all the people of the land, a calf for sin.

23 And in the solemnity of the seven days he shall offer for a holocaust to the Lord, seven calves, and seven rams without blemish daily for seven days: and for sin a he-goat daily.

24 And he shall offer the sacrifice of an ephi for every calf, and an ephi for every ram: and a hin of oil for every ephi.

25 In the seventh month, in the fifteenth day of the month, in the solemn feast, he shall do the like for the seven days: as well in regard to the sin-offering, as to the holocaust, and the sacrifice, and the oil.

CHAP. XLVI.

Other ordinances for the prince and for the sacrifices.

THUS saith the Lord God: The gate of the inner court, that looketh toward the east, shall be shut the six days, on which work is done; but on the sabbath day it shall be opened, yea and on the day of the new moon it shall be opened.

2 And the prince shall enter by the way of the porch of the gate from without, and he shall stand at the threshold of the gate: and the priests shall offer his holocaust, and his peace-offerings: and he shall adore upon the threshold of the gate, and shall go out: but the gate shall not be shut till the evening.

3 And the people of the land shall adore at the door of that gate before the Lord on the sabbaths, and on the new moons.

4 And the holocaust that the prince shall offer to the Lord on the sabbath day, shall be six lambs without blemish, and a ram without blemish.

5 And the sacrifice of an ephi for a ram: but for the lambs what sacrifice his hand shall allow: and a hin of oil for every ephi.

6 And on the day of the new moon a calf of the herd without blemish: and the six lambs, and the rams shall be without blemish.

7 And he shall offer in sacrifice an ephi for a calf, an ephi also for a ram: but for the lambs, as his hand shall find: and a hin of oil for every ephi.

8 And when the prince is to go in, let him go in by the way of the porch of the gate, and let him go out the same way.

VER. 11. The Ephi and the bate. These measures were of equal capacity, but the bate served for liquids, and the ephi for dry things.

9 But when the people of the land ſhall go in before the Lord in the ſolemn feaſts, he that goeth in by the north gate to adore, ſhall go out by the way of the ſouth gate: and he that goeth in by the way of the ſouth gate, ſhall go out by the way of the north gate: he ſhall not return by the way of the gate whereby he came in, but ſhall go out at that over againſt it.

10 And the prince in the midſt of them, ſhall go in when they go in, and go out when they go out.

11 And in the fairs, and in the ſolemnities there ſhall be the ſacrifice of an ephi to a calf, and an ephi to a ram: and to the lambs, the ſacrifice ſhall be as his hand ſhall find: and a hin of oil to every ephi.

12 But when the prince ſhall offer a voluntary holocauſt, or voluntary peace-offerings to the Lord: the gate that looketh towards the eaſt ſhall be opened to him, and he ſhall offer his holocauſt, and his peace-offerings, as it is wont to be done on the ſabbath day: and he ſhall go out, and the gate ſhall be ſhut after he is gone forth.

13 And he ſhall offer every day for a holocauſt to the Lord, a lamb of the ſame year without blemiſh: he ſhall offer it always in the morning.

14 And he ſhall offer the ſacrifice for it morning by morning, the ſixth part of an ephi: and the third part of a hin of oil to be mingled with the fine flour: a ſacrifice to the Lord by ordinance, continual and everlaſting.

15 He ſhall offer the lamb, and the ſacrifice, and the oil morning by morning: an everlaſting holocauſt.

16 Thus ſaith the Lord God: If the prince give a gift to any of his ſons: the inheritance of it ſhall go to his children, they ſhall poſſeſs it by inheritance.

17 But if he give a legacy out of his inheritance to one of his ſervants, it ſhall be his until the year of releaſe, and it ſhall return to the prince: but his inheritance ſhall go to his ſons.

18 And the prince ſhall not take of the people's inheritance by violence, nor of their poſſeſſion: but out of his own poſſeſſion he ſhall give an inheritance to his ſons: that my people be not diſperſed every man from his poſſeſſion.

19 And he brought me in by the entry, that was at the ſide of the gate, into the chambers of the ſanctuary that were for the prieſts, which looked toward the north. And there was a place bending the weſt.

20 And he ſaid to me: This is the place where the prieſts ſhall boil the ſin-offering, and the treſpaſs-offering: where they ſhall dreſs the ſacrifice, that they may not bring it out into the outward court, and the people be ſanctified.

21 And he brought me into the outward court, and he led me about by the four corners of the court: and behold there was a little court in the corner of the court, to every corner of the court there was a little court.

22 In the four corners of the court were little courts diſpoſed, forty cubits long, and thirty broad: all the four were of one meaſure.

23 And there was a wall round about compaſſing the four little courts, and there were kitchens built under the rows round about.

24 And he ſaid to me: This is the houſe of the kitchens wherein the miniſters of the houſe of the Lord ſhall boil the victims of the people.

CHAP. XLVII.

The viſion of the holy waters iſſuing out from under the temple: the borders of the land to be divided among the twelve tribes.

AND he brought me again to the gate of the houſe, and behold waters iſſued out from under the threſhold of the houſe toward the eaſt: for the fore-front of the houſe looked toward the eaſt: but the waters came down to the right ſide of the temple to the ſouth part of the altar.

2 And he led me out by the way of the north gate, and he cauſed me to turn to the way without the outward gate, to the way that looked toward the eaſt: and behold there ran out waters on the right ſide.

3 And when the man that had the line in his hand went out towards the eaſt, he meaſured a thouſand cubits: and he brought me through the water up to the ancles.

4 And again he meaſured a thouſand, and he brought me through the water up to the knees.

5 And he meaſured a thouſand, and he

CHAP. XLVII. VER. 1. Waters. Theſe waters are not to be underſtood literally (for there were none ſuch that flowed from the temple); but myſtically, of the baptiſm of Chriſt, and of his doctrine and his grace: the trees that grow on the banks are chriſtian virtues: the fiſhes are chriſtians, that ſpiritually live in and by theſe holy waters: the fiſhermen are the apoſtles, and apoſtolic preachers: the fenny places, where there is no health, are ſuch as by being out of the church are ſeparated from theſe waters of life.

brought me through the water up to the loins. And he measured a thousand, and it was a torrent, which I could not pass over: for the waters were risen so as to make a deep torrent, which could not be passed over.

6 And he said to me: Surely thou hast seen, O son of man. And he brought me out, and he caused me to turn to the bank of the torrent.

7 And when I had turned myself, behold on the bank of the torrent were very many trees on both sides.

8 And he said to me: These waters that issue forth toward the hillocks of sand to the east, and go down to the plains of the desert, shall go into the sea, and shall go out, and the waters shall be healed.

9 And every living creature that creepeth whithersoever the torrent shall come, shall live: and there shall be fishes in abundance after these waters shall come thither, and they shall be healed, and all things shall live to which the torrent shall come.

10 And the fishers shall stand over these waters, from Engaddi even to Engallim there shall be drying of nets: there shall be many sorts of the fishes thereof, as the fishes of the great sea, a very great multitude:

11 But on the shore thereof, and in the fenny places they shall not be healed, because they shall be turned into salt pits.

12 And by the torrent on the banks thereof on both sides shall grow all trees that bear fruit: their leaf shall not fall off, and their fruit shall not fail: every month shall they bring forth first-fruits, because the waters thereof shall issue out of the sanctuary: and the fruits thereof shall be for food, and the leaves thereof for medicine.

13 Thus saith the Lord God: This is the border, by which you shall possess the land according to the twelve tribes of Israel: for Joseph hath a double portion.

14 And you shall possess it, every man in like manner as his brother: concerning which I lifted up my hand to give it to your fathers: and this land shall fall unto you for a possession.

15 And this is the border of the land: toward the north side, from the great sea by the way of Hethalon, as men go to Sedada,

16 Emath, Berotha, Sabarim, which is between the border of Damascus and the border of Emath, the house of Tichon, which is by the border of Auran.

17 And the border from the sea even to the court of Enon, shall be the border of Damascus, and from the north to the north: the border of Emath, this is the north side.

18 And the east side is from the midst of Auran, and from the midst of Damascus, and from the midst of Galaad, and from the midst of the land of Israel, Jordan making the bound to the east sea, and thus you shall measure the east side.

19 And the south side southward is from Thamar even to the waters of contradiction of Cades: and the torrent even to the great sea: and this is the south side southward.

20 And the side toward the sea, is the great sea from the borders straight on, till thou come to Emath: this is the side of the sea.

21 And you shall divide this land unto you by the tribes of Israel:

22 And you shall divide it by lot for an inheritance to you, and to the strangers that shall come over to you, that shall beget children among you: and they shall be unto you as men of the same country born among the children of Israel: they shall divide the possession with you in the midst of the tribes of Israel.

23 And in what tribe soever the stranger shall be, there shall you give him possession, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XLVIII.

The portions of the twelve tribes, of the sanctuary, of the city, and of the prince. The dimensions and gates of the city.

AND these are the names of the tribes from the borders of the north, by the way of Hethalon, as they go to Emath, the court of Enan the border of Damascus northward, by the way of Emath. And from the east side thereof, to the sea shall be one portion for Dan.

2 And by the border of Dan, from the east side even to the side of the sea, one portion for Aser:

3 And by the border of Aser, from the east side even to the side of the sea, one portion for Nephthali.

4 And by the border of Nephthali, from the east side even to the side of the sea, one portion for Manasses.

5 And by the border of Manasses, from the east side even to the side of the sea, one portion for Ephraim.

6 And by the border of Ephraim, from the east side even to the side of the sea, one portion for Ruben.

7 And by the border of Ruben, from the east side even to the side of the sea, one portion for Juda.

8 And by the border of Juda, from the east side even to the side of the sea, shall be the first-fruits which you shall set apart, five and twenty thousand in breadth, and in length, as every one of the portions from the east side to the side of the sea: and the sanctuary shall be in the midst thereof.

9 The first-fruits which you shall set apart for the Lord: shall be the length of five and twenty thousand, and the breadth of ten thousand.

10 And these shall be the first fruits of the sanctuary for the priests: toward the north five and twenty thousand in length, and toward the sea ten thousand in breadth, and toward the east also ten thousand in breadth, and toward the south five and twenty thousand in length: and the sanctuary of the Lord shall be in the midst thereof.

11 The sanctuary shall be for the priests of the sons of Sadoc, who kept my ceremonies, and went not astray when the children of Israel went astray, as the Levites also went astray.

12 And for them shall be the first-fruits of the first-fruits of the land holy of holies, by the border of the Levites.

13 And the Levites in like manner shall have by the borders of the priests five and twenty thousand in length, and ten thousand in breadth. All the length shall be five and twenty thousand, and the breadth ten thousand.

14 And they shall not sell thereof, nor exchange, neither shall the first fruits of the land be alienated, because they are sanctified to the Lord.

15 But the five thousand that remain in the breadth over-against the five and twenty thousand, shall be a profane place for the city for dwelling, and for suburbs: and the city shall be in the midst thereof.

16 And these are the measures thereof: on the north side four thousand and five hundred: and on the south side four thousand and five hundred: and on the east side four thousand and five hundred: and on the west side four thousand and five hundred.

17 And the suburbs of the city shall be to the north two hundred and fifty, and to the south two hundred and fifty, and to the east two hundred and fifty, and to the sea two hundred and fifty.

18 And the residue in length by the first-fruits of the sanctuary, ten thousand toward the east, and ten thousand toward the west, shall be as the first-fruits of the sanctuary: and the fruits thereof shall be for bread to them that serve the city.

19 And they that serve the city, shall serve it out of all the tribes of Israel.

20 All the first-fruits, of five and twenty thousand, by five and twenty thousand four-square, shall be set apart for the first-fruits of the sanctuary, and for the possession of the city.

21 And the residue shall be for the prince on every side of the first-fruits of the sanctuary, and of the possession of the city over-against the five and twenty thousand of the first-fruits unto the east border: toward the sea also over-against the five and twenty thousand, unto the border of the sea, shall likewise be the portion of the prince: and the first-fruits of the sanctuary, and the sanctuary of the temple shall be in the midst thereof.

22 And from the possession of the Levites, and from the possession of the city which are in the midst of the prince's portions: what shall be to the border of Juda, and to the border of Benjamin, shall also belong to the prince.

23 And for the rest of the tribes: from the east side to the west side, one portion for Benjamin.

24 And over-against the border of Benjamin, from the east side to the west side, one portion for Simeon.

25 And by the border of Simeon, from the east side to the west side, one portion for Issachar.

26 And by the border of Issachar, from the east side to the west side, one portion for Zabulon.

27 And by the border of Zabulon, from the east side to the side of the sea, one portion for Gad.

28 And by the border of Gad, the south side southward: and the border shall be from Thamar, even to the waters of contradiction of Cades, the inheritance over-against the great sea.

29 This is the land which you shall divide by lot to the tribes of Israel: and these are the portions of them, saith the Lord God.

30 And these are the goings out of the city: on the north side thou shalt measure four thousand and five hundred.

31 And the gates of the city according to the names of the tribes of Israel, three gates on the north side, the gate of Ruben one, the gate of Juda one, the gate of Levi one.

32 And at the east side, four thousand and five hundred: and three gates, the gate of Joseph one, the gate of Benjamin one, the gate of Dan one.

33 And at the south side, thou shalt measure four thousand and five hundred: and three gates, the gate of Simeon one, the gate of Issachar one, the gate of Zabulon one.

34 And at the west side, four thousand and five hundred, and their three gates, the gate of Gad one, the gate of Aser one, the gate of Nephthali one.

35 Its circumference was eighteen thousand: and the name of the city from that day, The Lord is there.

THE PROPHECY OF DANIEL.

DANIEL, whose name signifies THE JUDGMENT OF GOD, was of the royal blood of the kings of Juda: and one of those that were first of all carried away into captivity. He was so renowned for wisdom and knowledge, that it became a proverb among the Babylonians, AS WISE AS DANIEL, (Ezech. xxviii. 3.) And his holiness was so great from his very childhood, that at the time when he was as yet but a young man, he is joined by the SPIRIT of GOD with NOE and JOB, as three persons most eminent for virtue and sanctity, Ezech. xiv. He is not commonly numbered by the Hebrews among THE PROPHETS: because he lived at court, and in high station in the world: but if we consider his many clear predictions of things to come, we shall find that no one better deserves the name and title of A PROPHET: which also has been given him by the SON of GOD himself, Matt. xxiv. Mark xiii. Luke xxi.

CHAP. I.

Daniel and his companions are taken into the palace of the king of Babylon: they abstain from his meat and wine, and succeed better with pulse and water. Their excellence in wisdom.

A. M. 3398. Ante C. 606. IN the third year of the reign of Joakim king of Juda, Nabuchodonosor king of Babylon came to Jerusalem, and besieged it:

2 And the Lord delivered into his hands Joakim the king of Juda, and part of the ‖ Jer. 25. 1. vessels of the house ‖ of God: and he carried them away into the land of Sennaar, to the house of his god, and the vessels he brought into the treasure-house of his god.

3 And the king spoke to Asphenez the master of the eunuchs, that he should bring in some of the children of Israel, and of the king's seed and of the princes,

4 Children in whom there was no blemish, well favoured, and skilful in all wisdom, acute in knowledge, and instructed in science, and such as might stand in the king's palace, that he might teach them the learning, and the tongue of the Chaldeans.

5 And the king appointed them a daily provision, of his own meat, and of the wine of which he drank himself, that being nourished three years, afterwards they might stand before the king.

6 Now there were among them of the children of Juda, Daniel, Ananias, Misael, and Azarias.

7 And the master of the eunuchs gave them names: to Daniel, Baltassar: to Ananias, Sidrach: to Misael, Misach: and to Azarias, Abdenago.

8 But Daniel purposed in his heart that he would not be defiled with the king's table, nor with the wine which he drank: and he requested the master of the eunuchs that he might not be defiled.

9 And God gave to Daniel grace and mercy in the sight of the prince of the eunuchs.

10 And the prince of the eunuchs said to

CHAP. I. VER. 2. His god. Bel or Belus, the principal idol of the Chaldeans.

VER. 8. Be defiled, &c. viz. either by eating meat forbidden by the law, or which had before been offered to idols.

Daniel: I fear my lord the king, who hath appointed you meat and drink: who if he should see your faces leaner than those of the other youths your equals, you shall endanger my head to the king.

11 And Daniel said to Malasar, whom the prince of the eunuchs had appointed over Daniel, Ananias, Misael, and Azarias:

12 Try, I beseech thee, thy servants for ten days, and let pulse be given us to eat, and water to drink:

13 And look upon our faces, and the faces of the children that eat of the king's meat: and as thou shalt see, deal with thy servants.

14 And when he had heard these words, he tried them for ten days.

15 And after ten days their faces appeared fairer and fatter than all the children that eat of the king's meat.

16 So Malasar took their portions, and the wine that they should drink: and he gave them pulse.

17 And to these children God gave knowledge, and understanding in every book, and wisdom; but to Daniel the understanding also of all visions and dreams.

18 And when the days were ended, after which the king had ordered they should be
* A. M. 3401. brought in: * the prince of the eunuchs brought them in before Nabuchodonosor.

19 And when the king had spoken to them, there were not found among them all such as Daniel, Ananias, Misael, and Azarias: and they stood in the king's presence.

20 And in all matters of wisdom and understanding, that the king enquired of them, he found them ten times better than all the diviners, and wise men, that were in all his kingdom.

‖ Infra 6. 28. 21 ‖ And Daniel continued even to the first year of king Cyrus.

CHAP. II.

Daniel, by divine revelation, declares the dream of Nabuchodonosor, and the interpretation of it. He is highly honoured by the king.

A. M. 3401. Ante C. 603. IN the second year of the reign of Nabuchodonosor, Nabuchodonosor had a dream, and his spirit was terrified, and his dream went out of his mind.

2 Then the king commanded to call together the diviners and the wise men, and the magicians, and the Chaldeans: to declare to the king his dreams: so they came and stood before the king.

3 And the king said to them: I saw a dream: and being troubled in mind I know not what I saw.

4 And the Chaldeans answered the king in Syriac: O king, live for ever: tell to thy servants thy dream, and we will declare the interpretation thereof.

5 And the king answering said to the Chaldeans: The thing is gone out of my mind: unless you tell me the dream, and the meaning thereof, you shall be put to death, and your houses shall be confiscated.

6 But if you tell the dream, and the meaning of it, you shall receive of me rewards, and gifts, and great honour: therefore tell me the dream, and the interpretation thereof.

7 They answered again and said: Let the king tell his servants the dream, and we will declare the interpretation of it.

8 The king answered, and said: I know for certain that you seek to gain time, since you know that the thing is gone from me.

9 If therefore you tell me not the dream, there is one sentence concerning you, that you have also framed a lying interpretation, and full of deceit, to speak before me till the time pass away. Tell me therefore the dream, that I may know that you also give a true interpretation thereof.

10 Then the Chaldeans answered before the king, and said: There is no man upon earth that can accomplish thy word, O king, neither doth any king, though great and mighty, ask such a thing of any diviner, or wise man, or Chaldean.

11 For the thing that thou askest, O king, is difficult: nor can any one be found that can shew it before the king, except the gods, whose conversation is not with men.

12 Upon hearing this, the king in fury, and in great wrath, commanded that all the wise men of Babylon should be put to death.

13 And the decree being gone forth, the wise men were slain: and Daniel and his companions were sought for, to be put to death.

14 Then Daniel enquired concerning the law and the sentence, of Arioch the general of the king's army, who was gone forth to kill the wise men of Babylon.

15 And he asked him that had received

VER. 12. Pulse. That is, pease, beans, and such like.

CHAP. II. VER. 1. The second year, viz. from the death of his father Nabopolassar: for he had reigned before as partner with his father in the empire.

the orders of the king, why so cruel a sentence was gone forth from the face of the king. And when Arioch had told the matter to Daniel, 16 Daniel went in and desired of the king, that he would give him time to resolve the question and declare it to the king.

17 And he went into his house, and told the matter to Ananias, and Misael, and Azarias his companions:

18 To the end that they should ask mercy at the face of the God of heaven concerning this secret, and that Daniel and his companions might not perish with the rest of the wise men of Babylon.

19 Then was the mystery revealed to Daniel by a vision in the night: and Daniel blessed the God of heaven,

20 And speaking he said: Blessed be the name of the Lord from eternity and for evermore: for wisdom and fortitude are his.

21 And he changeth times and ages: taketh away kingdoms and establisheth them: giveth wisdom to the wise, and knowledge to them that have understanding:

22 He revealeth deep and hidden things, and knoweth what is in darkness: and light is with him ‖.

‖ 1 Cor. 4. 5. 1 John 1. 6. John 1. 9. & 8. 12.

23 To thee, O God of our fathers, I give thanks, and I praise thee: because thou hast given me wisdom and strength: and now thou hast shewn me what we desired of thee, for thou hast made known to us the king's discourse.

24 After this Daniel went in to Arioch, to whom the king had given orders to destroy the wise men of Babylon, and he spoke thus to him: Destroy not the wise men of Babylon: bring me in before the king, and I will tell the solution to the king.

25 Then Arioch in haste brought in Daniel to the king, and said to him: I have found a man of the children of the captivity of Juda, that will resolve the question to the king.

26 The king answered, and said to Daniel, whose name was Baltassar: Thinkest thou indeed that thou canst tell me the dream that I saw, and the interpretation thereof?

27 And Daniel made answer before the king, and said: The secret that the king desireth to know, none of the wise men, or the philosophers, or the diviners, or the soothsayers can declare to the king.

28 But there is a God in heaven that revealeth mysteries, who hath shewn to thee, O king Nabuchodonosor, what is to come to pass in the latter times. Thy dream, and the visions of thy head upon thy bed, are these:

29 Thou, O king, didst begin to think in thy bed, what should come to pass hereafter: and he that revealeth mysteries shewed thee what shall come to pass.

30 To me also this secret is revealed, not by any wisdom that I have more than all men alive: but that the interpretation might be made manifest to the king, and thou mightest know the thoughts of thy mind.

31 Thou, O king, sawest, and behold there was as it were a great statue: this statue, which was great and high, tall of stature, stood before thee, and the look thereof was terrible.

32 The head of this statue was of fine gold, but the breast and the arms of silver, and the belly and the thighs of brass:

33 And the legs of iron, the feet part of iron and part of clay.

34 Thus thou sawest, till a stone was cut out of a mountain without hands: and it struck the statue upon the feet thereof that were of iron and of clay, and broke them in pieces.

35 Then was the iron, the clay, the brass, the silver, and the gold broken to pieces together, and became like the chaff of a summer's threshing-floor, and they were carried away by the wind: and there was no place found for them: but the stone that struck the statue became a great mountain, and filled the whole earth.

36 This is the dream: we will also tell the interpretation thereof before thee, O king.

37 Thou art a king of kings: and the God of heaven hath given thee a kingdom, and strength, and power, and glory:

38 And all places wherein the children of men, and the beasts of the field do dwell: he hath also given the birds of the air into thy hand, and hath put all things under thy power: thou therefore art the head of gold.

39 And after thee shall rise up another kingdom, inferior to thee of silver: and another third kingdom of brass, which shall rule over all the world.

40 And the fourth kingdom shall be as

VER. 39. Another kingdom. viz. That of the Medes and Persians.

Ibidem. Third kingdom. viz. That of Alexander the Great.

VER. 40. The fourth kingdom, &c. Some understand this of the successors of Alexander, the kings of Syria and Egypt: others of the Roman Empire, and its civil wars.

iron. As iron breaketh into pieces, and ſubdueth all things, ſo ſhall that break and deſtroy all theſe.

41 And whereas thou ſaweſt the feet, and the toes part of potter's clay, and part of iron: the kingdom ſhall be divided, but yet it ſhall take its origin from the iron, according as thou ſaweſt the iron mixed with the miry clay.

42 And as the toes of the feet were part of iron, and part of clay: the kingdom ſhall be partly ſtrong, and partly broken.

43 And whereas thou ſaweſt the iron mixt with miry clay, they ſhall be mingled indeed together with the ſeed of man, but they ſhall not ſtick faſt one to another, as iron cannot be mixed with clay.

44 But in the days of thoſe kingdoms the God of heaven will ſet up a kingdom that ſhall never be deſtroyed, and his kingdom ſhall not be delivered up to another people: and it ſhall break in pieces, and ſhall conſume all theſe kingdoms: and itſelf ſhall ſtand for ever.

45 According as thou ſaweſt, that the ſtone was cut out of the mountain without hands, and broke in pieces the clay and the iron, and the braſs, and the ſilver, and the gold, the great God hath ſhewn the king what ſhall come to paſs hereafter, and the dream is true, and the interpretation thereof is faithful.

46 Then king Nabuchodonoſor fell on his face, and worſhipped Daniel, and commanded that they ſhould offer in ſacrifice to him victims and incenſe.

47 And the king ſpoke to Daniel, and ſaid: Verily your God is the God of gods, and Lord of kings, and a revealer of hidden things: ſeeing thou couldſt diſcover this ſecret.

48 Then the king advanced Daniel to a high ſtation, and gave him many and great gifts: and he made him governor over all the provinces of Babylon: and chief of the magiſtrates over all the wiſe men of Babylon.

49 And Daniel requeſted of the king, and he appointed Sidrach, Miſach, and Abdenago over the works of the province of Babylon: but Daniel himſelf was in the king's palace.

CHAP. III.

Nabuchodonoſor ſets up a golden ſtatue; which he commands all to adore: the three children for refuſing to do it are caſt into the fiery furnace; but are not hurt by the flames. Their prayer, and canticle of praiſe.

A. M. 3417. Ante C. 587. KING Nabuchodonoſor made a ſtatue of gold, of ſixty cubits high, and ſix cubits broad, and he ſet it up in the plain of Dura of the province of Babylon.

2 Then Nabuchodonoſor the king ſent to call together the nobles, the magiſtrates, and the judges, the captains, the rulers, and governors, and all the chief men of the provinces, to come to the dedication of the ſtatue which king Nabuchodonoſor had ſet up.

3 Then the nobles, the magiſtrates, and the judges, the captains, and rulers, and the great men that were placed in authority, and all the princes of the provinces, were gathered together to come to the dedication of the ſtatue, which king Nabuchodonoſor had ſet up. And they ſtood before the ſtatue which king Nabuchodonoſor had ſet up.

4 Then a herald cried with a ſtrong voice: To you it is commanded, O nations, tribes and languages:

5 That in the hour that you ſhall hear the ſound of the trumpet, and of the flute, and of the harp, of the ſackbut, and of the pſaltery, and of the ſymphony, and of all kind of muſic; ye fall down and adore the golden ſtatue which king Nabuchodonoſor hath ſet up.

6 But if any man ſhall not fall down and adore, he ſhall the ſame hour be caſt into a furnace of burning fire.

7 Upon this therefore, at the time when all the people heard the ſound of the trumpet, the flute, and the harp, of the ſackbut, and the pſaltery, of the ſymphony, and of all kind of muſic: all the nations, tribes, and languages fell down and adored the golden ſtatue which king Nabuchodonoſor had ſet up.

8 And preſently at that very time ſome Chaldeans came and accuſed the Jews,

9 And ſaid to king Nabuchodonoſor: O king, live for ever:

10 Thou, O king, haſt made a decree that every man that ſhall hear the ſound of the trumpet, the flute, and the harp, of the ſackbut, and the pſaltery, of the ſymphony, and of all kind of muſic, ſhall proſtrate himſelf, and adore the golden ſtatue:

11 And that if any man ſhall not fall down and adore, he ſhould be caſt into a furnace of burning fire.

12 Now there are certain Jews whom thou haſt ſet over the works of the province of Babylon, Sidrach, Miſach, and Abdenago: theſe men, O king, have ſlighted thy decree: they worſhip not thy gods,

VER. 44. A kingdom, viz. The kingdom of Chriſt in the catholic church, which cannot be deſtroyed.

nor do they adore the golden ſtatue which thou haſt ſet up.

13 Then Nabuchodonoſor in fury, and in wrath, commanded that Sidrach, Miſach, and Abdenago ſhould be brought: who immediately were brought before the king.

14 And Nabuchodonoſor the king ſpoke to them, and ſaid: Is it true, O Sidrach, Miſach, and Abdenago, that you do not worſhip my gods, nor adore the golden ſtatue that I have ſet up.

15 Now therefore if you be ready, at what hour ſoever you ſhall hear the ſound of the trumpet, flute, harp, ſackbut, and pſaltery, and ſymphony, and of all kind of muſic, proſtrate yourſelves, and adore the ſtatue which I have made: but if you do not adore, you ſhall be caſt the ſame hour into the furnace of burning fire: and who is the God that ſhall deliver you out of my hand?

16 Sidrach, Miſach, and Abdenago anſwered and ſaid to king Nabuchodonoſor: We have no occaſion to anſwer thee concerning this matter.

17 For behold our God, whom we worſhip, is able to ſave us from the furnace of burning fire, and to deliver us out of thy hands, O king.

18 But if he will not, be it known to thee, O king, that we will not worſhip thy gods, nor adore the golden ſtatue which thou haſt ſet up.

19 Then was Nabuchodonoſor filled with fury: and the countenance of his face was changed againſt Sidrach, Miſach, and Abdenago, and he commanded that the furnace ſhould be heated ſeven times more than it had been accuſtomed to be heated.

20 And he commanded the ſtrongeſt men that were in his army, to bind the feet of Sidrach, Miſach, and Abdenago, and to caſt them into the furnace of burning fire.

21 And immediately theſe men were bound and were caſt into the furnace of burning fire, with their coats, and their caps, and their ſhoes, and their garments.

22 For the king's commandment was urgent, and the furnace was heated exceedingly. And the flame of the fire ſlew thoſe men that had caſt in Sidrach, Miſach, and Abdenago.

23 But theſe three men, that is, Sidrach, Miſach, and Abdenago, fell down bound in the midſt of the furnace of burning fire.

24 And they walked in the midſt of the flame praiſing God, and bleſſing the Lord.

25 Then Azarias ſtanding up prayed in this manner, and opening his mouth in the midſt of the fire, he ſaid:

26 Bleſſed art thou, O Lord the God of our fathers, and thy name is worthy of praiſe, and glorious for ever:

27 For thou art juſt in all that thou haſt done to us, and all thy works are true, and thy ways right, and all thy judgments true.

28 For thou haſt executed true judgments in all the things that thou haſt brought upon us, and upon Jeruſalem the holy city of our fathers: for according to truth and judgment, thou haſt brought all theſe things upon us for our ſins.

29 For we have ſinned, and committed iniquity, departing from thee: and we have treſpaſſed in all things:

30 And we have not hearkened to thy commandments, nor have we obſerved nor done as thou hadſt commanded us, that it might go well with us.

31 Wherefore all that thou haſt brought upon us, and every thing that thou haſt done to us, thou haſt done in true judgment:

32 And thou haſt delivered us into the hands of our enemies that are unjuſt, and moſt wicked, and prevaricators, and to a king unjuſt, and moſt wicked beyond all that are upon the earth.

33 And now we cannot open our mouths: we are become a ſhame, and reproach to thy ſervants, and to them that worſhip thee.

34 Deliver us not up for ever, we beſeech thee, for thy name's ſake, and aboliſh not thy covenant.

35 And take not away thy mercy from us for the ſake of Abraham thy beloved, and Iſaac thy ſervant, and Iſrael thy holy one:

36 To whom thou haſt ſpoken, promiſing that thou wouldſt multiply their ſeed as the ſtars of heaven, and as the ſand that is on the ſea-ſhore.

37 For we, O Lord, are diminiſhed more than any nation, and are brought low in all the earth this day for our ſins.

38 Neither is there at this time prince, or leader, or prophet, or holocauſt, or ſacrifice,

CHAP. III. VER. 24. And they walked, &c. Here St. Jerom takes notice, that from this verſe to ver. 91. was not in the Hebrew in his time. But as it was in all the Greek bibles, (which were originally tranſlated from the Hebrew) it is more than probable that it had been formerly in the Hebrew: or rather in the Chaldaic, in which the book of Daniel was written. But this is certain: that it is, and has been of old, received by the church, and read as canonical ſcripture in her liturgy and divine offices.

or oblation, or incenſe, or place of firſt fruits before thee,

39 That we may find thy mercy: nevertheleſs in a contrite heart and humble ſpirit let us be accepted.

40 As in holocauſts of rams, and bullocks, and as in thouſands of fat lambs: ſo let our ſacrifice be made in thy ſight this day, that it may pleaſe thee: for there is no confuſion to them that truſt in thee.

41 And now we follow thee with all our heart, and we fear thee, and ſeek thy face.

42 Put us not to confuſion, but deal with us according to thy meekneſs, and according to the multitude of thy mercies.

43 And deliver us according to thy wonderful works, and give glory to thy name, O Lord:

44 And let all them be confounded that ſhew evils to thy ſervants, let them be confounded in all thy might, and let their ſtrength be broken:

45 And let them know that thou art the Lord, the only God, and glorious over all the world.

46 Now the king's ſervants that had caſt them in, ceaſed not to heat the furnace with brimſtone and tow, and pitch, and dry ſticks,

47 And the flame mounted up above the furnace nine and forty cubits:

48 And it broke forth, and burnt ſuch of the Chaldeans as it found near the furnace.

49 But the Angel of the Lord went down with Azarias and his companions into the furnace: and he drove the flame of the fire out of the furnace,

50 And made the midſt of the furnace like the blowing of a wind bringing dew, and the fire touched them not at all, nor troubled them, nor did them any harm.

51 Then theſe three as with one mouth praiſed, and glorified, and bleſſed God in the furnace, ſaying:

52 Bleſſed art thou, O Lord the God of our fathers: and worthy to be praiſed, and glorified, and exalted above all for ever: and bleſſed is the holy name of thy glory: and worthy to be praiſed, and exalted above all in all ages.

87 O ye holy and humble of heart, bleſs the Lord: praiſe and exalt him above all for ever.

88 O Ananias, Azarias, and Miſael, bleſs ye the Lord: praiſe and exalt him above all for ever. For he hath delivered us from hell, and ſaved us out of the hand of death, and delivered us out of the midſt of the burning flame, and ſaved us out of the midſt of the fire.

89 O give thanks to the Lord, becauſe he is good: becauſe his mercy endureth for ever and ever.

90 O all ye religious, bleſs the Lord the God of gods: praiſe him and give him thanks, becauſe his mercy endureth for ever and ever.

91 Then Nabuchodonoſor the king was aſtoniſhed, and roſe up in haſte, and ſaid to his nobles: Did we not caſt three men bound into the midſt of the fire? They anſwered the king, and ſaid: True, O king.

92 He anſwered, and ſaid: Behold I ſee four men looſe, and walking in the midſt of the fire, and there is no hurt in them, and the form of the fourth is like the ſon of God.

93 Then Nabuchodonoſor came to the door of the burning fiery furnace, and ſaid: Sidrach, Miſach, and Abdenago, ye ſervants of the moſt high God, go ye forth, and come. And immediately Sidrach, Miſach, and Abdenago went out from the midſt of the fire.

94 And the nobles, and the magiſtrates, and the judges, and the great men of the king being gathered together, conſidered theſe men, that the fire had no power on their bodies, and that not a hair of their head had been ſinged, nor their garments altered, nor the ſmell of the fire had paſſed on them.

95 Then Nabuchodonoſor breaking forth, ſaid: Bleſſed be the God of them, to wit, of Sidrach, Miſach, and Abdenago, who hath ſent his Angel, and delivered his ſervants that believed in him: and they changed the king's word, and delivered up their bodies that they might not ſerve, nor adore any god, except their own God.

96 By me therefore this decree is made, that every people, tribe, and tongue, which ſhall ſpeak blaſphemy againſt the God of Sidrach, Miſach, and Abdenago, ſhall be deſtroyed, and their houſes laid waſte: for there is no other God that can ſave in this manner.

97 Then the king promoted Sidrach, Miſach, and Abdenago, in the province of Babylon.

98 Nabuchodonoſor the king, to all peoples, nations, and tongues, that dwell in all the earth, peace be multiplied unto you.

99 The moſt high God hath wrought ſigns and wonders toward me. It hath ſeemed good to me therefore to publiſh

CHAP. IV.

Nabuchodonoſor's dream, by which the judgments of God are denounced againſt him for his pride, is interpreted by Daniel, and verified by the event.

1 Nabuchodonoſor was at reſt in my houſe, * and flouriſhing in my palace: * A. M. 3434. Ante C. 570.

2 I ſaw a dream that affrighted me: and my thoughts in my bed, and the viſions of my head troubled me.

3 Then I ſet forth a decree, that all the wiſe men of Babylon ſhould be brought in before me, and that they ſhould ſhew me the interpretation of the dream.

4 Then came in the diviners, the wiſe men, the Chaldeans, and the ſoothſayers, and I told the dream before them: but they did not ſhew me the interpretation thereof:

5 Till their colleague Daniel came in before me, whoſe name is Baltaſſar, according to the name of my God, who hath in him the ſpirit of the holy gods: and I told the dream before him.

6 Baltaſſar prince of the diviners, becauſe I know that thou haſt in thee the ſpirit of the holy gods, and that no ſecret is impoſſible to thee: tell me the viſions of my dreams that I have ſeen, and the interpretation of them.

7 This was the viſion of my head in my bed: I ſaw, and behold a tree in the midſt of the earth, and the height thereof was exceeding great.

8 The tree was great, and ſtrong: and the height thereof reached unto heaven: the ſight thereof was even to the ends of all the earth.

9 Its leaves were moſt beautiful, and its fruit exceeding much: and in it was food for all: under it dwelt cattle and beaſts, and in the branches thereof the fowls of the air had their abode: and all fleſh did eat of it.

10 I ſaw in the viſion of my head upon my bed, and behold a watcher, and a holy one came down from heaven.

11 He cried aloud, and ſaid thus: Cut down the tree, and chop off the branches thereof: ſhake off its leaves, and ſcatter its fruits: let the beaſts fly away that are under it, and the birds from its branches.

12 Nevertheleſs leave the ſtump of its roots in the earth, and let it be tied with a band of iron, and of braſs, among the graſs that is without, and let it be wet with the dew of heaven, and let its portion be with the wild beaſts in the graſs of the earth.

13 Let his heart be changed from man's, and let a beaſt's heart be given him: and let ſeven times paſs over him.

14 This is the decree by the ſentence of the watchers, and the word and demand of the holy ones: till the living know, that the moſt High ruleth in the kingdom of men: and he will give it to whomſoever it ſhall pleaſe him, and he will appoint the baſeſt
‖ 1 Kings 2. 8. & 16. 11. & ſeq. ‖ man over it.

15 I king Nabuchodonoſor ſaw this dream: thou therefore, O Baltaſſar, tell me quickly the interpretation: for all the wiſe men of my kingdom are not able to declare the meaning of it to me: but thou art able, becauſe the ſpirit of the holy gods is in thee.

16 Then Daniel, whoſe name was Baltaſſar, began ſilently to think within himſelf for about one hour: and his thoughts troubled him. But the king anſwering ſaid: Baltaſſar, let not the dream and the interpretation thereof trouble thee. Baltaſſar anſwered, and ſaid: My Lord, the dream be to them that hate thee, and the interpretation thereof to thy enemies.

17 The tree which thou ſaweſt which was high and ſtrong, whoſe height reached to the ſkies, and the ſight thereof into all the earth:

18 And the branches thereof were moſt beautiful, and its fruit exceeding much, and in it was food for all, under which the beaſts of the field dwelt, and the birds of the air had their abode in its branches.

19 It is thou, O king, who art grown great, and become mighty: for thy greatneſs hath grown, and hath reached to heaven, and thy power unto the ends of the earth.

20 And whereas the king ſaw a watcher, and a holy one come down from heaven, and ſay: Cut down the tree, and deſtroy it, but leave the ſtump of the roots thereof in the earth, and let it be bound with iron and braſs among the graſs without, and let it be ſprinkled with the dew of heaven, and let his feeding be with the wild beaſts, till ſeven times paſs over him.

21 This is the interpretation of the ſentence of the moſt High, which is come upon my lord the king.

22 They ſhall caſt thee out from among men, and thy dwelling ſhall be with cattle and with wild beaſts, ‖ and thou ſhalt eat graſs as an ox, and ſhalt be wet with the dew of heaven: and ſeven times ſhall paſs over thee, till thou know that the moſt High ruleth over the kingdom of men, and giveth it to whomſoever he will. ‖ Infra 5. 21.

23 But whereas he commanded, that the ſtump of the roots thereof, that is, of the tree, ſhould be left: thy kingdom ſhall remain to thee after thou ſhalt have known that power is from heaven.

24 Wherefore, O king, let my counſel be acceptable to thee, ‖ and redeem thou thy ſins with alms, and thy iniquities with works of mercy to the poor: perhaps he will forgive thy offences. ‖ Eccli. 3. 23.

25 All theſe things came upon king Nabuchodonoſor.

26 At the end of twelve months he was walking in the palace of Babylon.

27 And the king anſwered, and ſaid: Is not this the great Babylon, which I have

VER. 13. Let his heart be changed, &c. It does not appear by ſcripture that Nabuchodonoſor was changed from human ſhape; much leſs that he was changed into an ox: but only that he loſt his reaſon, and became mad; and in this condition, remained abroad in the company of beaſts, eating graſs like an ox, till his hair grew in ſuch manner as to reſemble the feathers of eagles, and his nails to be like birds claws.

built to be the ſeat of the kingdom, by the ſtrength of my power, and in the glory of my excellence?

28 And while the word was yet in the king's mouth, a voice came down from heaven: To thee, O king Nabuchodonoſor, it is ſaid: Thy kingdom ſhall paſs from thee,

29 And they ſhall caſt thee out from among men, and thy dwelling ſhall be with cattle and wild beaſts: thou ſhalt eat graſs like an ox, and ſeven times ſhall paſs over thee till thou know that the moſt High ruleth in the kingdom of men, and giveth it to whomſoever he will.

30 The ſame hour the word was fulfilled upon Nabuchodonoſor, and he was driven away from among men, and did eat graſs like an ox, and his body was wet with the dew of heaven: till his hairs grew like the feathers of eagles, and his nails like birds claws.

* A. M. 3442. Ante C. 562.

31 Now at the end of the days, * I Nabuchodonoſor lifted up my eyes to heaven, and my ſenſe was reſtored to me: and I bleſſed the moſt High, and I praiſed and glorified him that liveth for ever: || for his power is an everlaſting power, and his kingdom is to all generations.

|| Supra 3, 100.

‡ Jer. 23. 13. Pſal. 115. 3.

33 At the ſame time my ſenſe returned to me, and I came to the honour and glory of my kingdom: and my ſhape returned to me: and my nobles, and my magiſtrates ſought for me, and I was reſtored to my kingdom: and greater majeſty was added to me.

34 Therefore I Nabuchodonoſor do now praiſe, and magnify, and glorify the king of heaven: becauſe all his works are true, and his ways judgments, and them that walk in pride he is able to abaſe.

CHAP. V.

Baltaſſar's prophane banquet: his ſentence is denounced by a hand-writing on the wall, which Daniel reads and interprets.

A. M. 3466. Ante C. 538.

BALTASSAR the king made a great feaſt for a thouſand of his nobles: and every one drank according to his age.

2 And being now drunk he commanded that they ſhould bring the veſſels of gold and ſilver which Nabuchodonoſor his father had brought away out of the temple, that was in Jeruſalem, that the king and his nobles, and his wives, and his concubines, might drink in them.

3 Then were the golden and ſilver veſſels brought, which he had brought away out of the temple that was in Jeruſalem: and the king and his nobles, his wives and his concubines drank in them.

4 They drank wine, and praiſed their gods of gold, and of ſilver, of braſs, of iron, and of wood, and of ſtone.

5 In the ſame hour there appeared fingers, as it were of the hand of a man, writing over-againſt the candleſtick upon the ſurface of the wall of the king's palace: and the king beheld the joints of the hand that wr te.

6 Then was the king's countenance changed, and his thoughts troubled him: and the joints of his loins were looſed, and his knees ſtruck one againſt the other.

7 And the king cried out aloud to bring in the wiſe men, the Chaldeans and the ſoothſayers. And the king ſpoke, and ſaid to the wiſe men of Babylon: Whoſoever ſhall read this writing, and ſhall make known to me the interpretation thereof, ſhall be clothed with purple, and ſhall have a golden chain on his neck, and ſhall be the third man in my kingdom.

8 Then came in all the king's wiſe men, but they could neither read the writing, nor declare the interpretation to the king.

9 Wherewith king Baltaſſar was much troubled, and his countenance was changed: and his nobles alſo were troubled.

10 Then the queen, on occaſion of what had happened to the king, and his nobles, came into the banquet-houſe: and ſhe ſpoke and ſaid: O king, live for ever: let not thy thoughts trouble thee, neither let thy countenance be changed.

11 There is a man in thy kingdom that hath the ſpirit of the holy gods in him: and in the days of thy father knowledge and wiſdom were found in him: for king Nabuchodonoſor thy father appointed him prince of the wiſe men, inchanters, Chaldeans, and ſoothſayers, thy father, I ſay, O king:

VER. 34. I Nabuchodonoſor do now, &c. From this place ſome commentators infer that this king became a true convert, and dying not long after was probably ſaved.

CHAP. V. VER. 1. Baltaſſar. He is believed to be the ſame as Nabonydus, the laſt of the Chaldean kings, grandſon to Nabuchodonoſor. He is called his ſon, ver. 2, 11, &c. according to the ſtile of the ſcriptures, becauſe he was a deſcendant from him.

VER. 10. The queen. Not the wife but the mother of the king.

12 Because a greater spirit, and knowledge, and understanding, and interpretation of dreams, and shewing of secrets, and resolving of difficult things were found in him, that is in Daniel: whom the king named Baltassar. Now therefore let Daniel be called for, and he will tell the interpretation.

13 Then Daniel was brought in before the king. And the king spoke, and said to him: Art thou Daniel of the children of the captivity of Juda, whom my father the king brought out of Judea?

14 I have heard of thee, that thou hast the spirit of the gods, and excellent knowledge, and understanding, and wisdom are found in thee.

15 And now the wise men the magicians have come in before me, to read this writing, and shew me the interpretation thereof: and they could not declare to me the meaning of this writing.

16 But I have heard of thee, that thou canst interpret obscure things, and resolve difficult things: now if thou art able to read the writing, and to shew me the interpretation thereof, thou shalt be clothed with purple, and shalt have a chain of gold about thy neck, and shalt be the third prince in my kingdom.

17 To which Daniel made answer, and said before the king: Thy rewards be to thyself, and the gifts of thy house give to another: but the writing I will read to thee, O king, and shew thee the interpretation thereof.

18 O king, the most high God gave to Nabuchodonosor thy father a kingdom, and greatness, and glory, and honour.

19 And for the greatness that he gave to him, all people, tribes, and languages trembled, and were afraid of him: whom he would, he slew: and whom he would, he destroyed: and whom he would, he set up: and whom he would, he brought down.

20 But when his heart was lifted up, and his spirit hardened unto pride, he was put down from the throne of his kingdom, and his glory was taken away.

‖ Supra 4. 22. 21 ‖ And he was driven out from the sons of men, and his heart was made like the beasts, and his dwelling was with the wild asses, and he did eat grass like an ox, and his body was wet with the dew of heaven: till he knew that the most High ruled in the kingdom of men, and that he will set over it whomsoever it shall please him.

22 Thou also his son, O Baltassar, hast not humbled thy heart, whereas thou knewest all these things:

23 But hast lifted thyself up against the Lord of heaven: and the vessels of his house have been brought before thee: and thou, and thy nobles, and thy wives, and thy concubines have drunk wine in them: and thou hast praised the gods of silver, and of gold, and of brass, of iron, and of wood, and of stone, that neither see, nor hear, nor feel: but the God who hath thy breath in his hand, and all thy ways, thou hast not glorified.

24 Wherefore he hath sent the part of the hand which hath written this that is set down.

25 And this is the writing that is written: MANE, THECEL, PHARES.

26 And this is the interpretation of the word. MANE: God hath numbered thy kingdom, and hath finished it.

27 THECEL: thou art weighed in the balance, and art found wanting.

28 PHARES: thy kingdom is divided, and is given to the Medes and Persians.

29 Then by the king's command Daniel was clothed with purple, and a chain of gold was put about his neck: and it was proclaimed of him that he had power as the third man in the kingdom.

30 The same night Baltassar the Chaldean king was slain *. * A. M. 3466. Ante C. 538.

31 And Darius the Mede succeeded to the kingdom, being threescore and two years old.

CHAP. VI.

Daniel is promoted by Darius: his enemies procure a law forbidding prayer: for the transgression of this law Daniel is cast into the lion's den: but miraculously delivered.

IT seemed good to Darius, and he appointed over the kingdom a hundred and twenty governors to be over his whole kingdom.

2 And there princes over them, of whom Daniel was one: that the governors might give an account to them, and the king might have no trouble.

3 And Daniel excelled all the princes, and governors: because a greater spirit of God was in him.

4 And the king thought to set him over all the kingdom: whereupon the princes, and the governors sought to find occasion against Daniel with regard to the king: and they could find no cause, nor suspicion, because he was faithful, and no fault, nor suspicion was found in him.

5 Then these men said: We shall not find any occaſion againſt this Daniel, unleſs perhaps concerning the law of his God.

6 Then the princes, and the governors craftily ſuggeſted to the king, and ſpoke thus unto him: King Darius, live for ever:

7 All the princes of the kingdom, the magiſtrates, and governors, the ſenators and judges have conſulted together, that an imperial decree, and an edict be publiſhed: That whoſoever ſhall aſk any petition of any God, or man, for thirty days, but of thee, O king, ſhall be caſt into the den of the lions.

8 Now, therefore, O king, confirm the ſentence, ‖ and ſign the decree: that what is decreed by the Medes and Perſians may not be altered, nor any man be allowed to tranſgreſs it.

‖ Eſther 1. 19.

9 So king Darius ſet forth the decree, and eſtabliſhed it.

10 Now when Daniel knew this, that is to ſay, that the law was made, he went into his houſe: and opening the windows in his upper chamber towards Jeruſalem, he knelt down three times a day, and adored, and gave thanks before his God, as he had been accuſtomed to do before.

11 Wherefore thoſe men carefully watching him, found Daniel praying and making ſupplication to his God.

12 And they came and ſpoke to the king concerning the edict: O king, haſt thou not decreed, that every man that ſhould make a requeſt to any of the gods, or men, for thirty days, but to thyſelf, O king, ſhould be caſt into the den of the lions? And the king anſwered them, ſaying: The word is true according to the decree of the Medes and Perſians, which it is not lawful to violate.

13 Then they anſwered, and ſaid before the king: Daniel, who is of the children of the captivity of Juda, hath not regarded thy law, nor the decree that thou haſt made: but three times a day he maketh his prayer.

14 Now when the king had heard theſe words, he was very much grieved, and in behalf of Daniel he ſet his heart to deliver him, and even till ſun-ſet he laboured to ſave him.

15 But thoſe men perceiving the king's deſign, ſaid to him: Know thou, O king, that the law of the Medes and Perſians is, that no decree which the king hath made, may be altered.

16 Then the king commanded, and they brought Daniel, and caſt him into the den of the lions. And the king ſaid to Daniel: Thy God, whom thou always ſerveſt, he will deliver thee.

17 And a ſtone was brought, and laid upon the mouth of the den: which the king ſealed with his own ring, and with the ring of his nobles, that nothing ſhould be done againſt Daniel.

18 And the king went away to his houſe, and laid himſelf down without taking ſupper, and meat was not ſet before him, and even ſleep departed from him.

19 Then the king riſing very early in the morning, went in haſte to the lions den:

20 And coming near to the den, cried with a lamentable voice to Daniel, and ſaid to him: Daniel ſervant of the living God, hath thy God, whom thou ſerveſt always, been able, thinkeſt thou, to deliver thee from the lions?

21 And Daniel anſwering the king, ſaid: O king, live for ever:

22 ‖ My God hath ſent his Angel, and hath ſhut up the mouths of the lions, and they have not hurt me: foraſmuch as before him juſtice hath been found in me: yea and before thee, O king, I have done no offence.

‖ 1 Mac. 2. 60.

23 Then was the king exceeding glad for him, and he commanded that Daniel ſhould be taken out of the den: and Daniel was taken out of the den, and no hurt was found in him, becauſe he believed in his God.

24 And by the king's commandment, thoſe men were brought that had accuſed Daniel: and they were caſt into the lions den, they and their children, and their wives: and they did not reach the bottom of the den, before the lions caught them, and broke all their bones in pieces.

25 Then king Darius wrote to all people, tribes, and languages dwelling in the whole earth: PEACE be multiplied unto you.

26 It is decreed by me, that in all my empire and my kingdom all men dread and fear the God of Daniel. For he is the living and eternal God for ever: and his kingdom ſhall not be deſtroyed, and his power ſhall be for ever.

27 He is the deliverer, and ſaviour, doing ſigns, and wonders in heaven, and in earth: who hath delivered Daniel out of the lions den.

28 ‖ Now Daniel continued unto the reign of Darius, and the reign of Cyrus the Perſian.

CHAP. VII.

Daniel's viſion of the four beaſts, ſignifying four kingdoms: of God ſitting on his throne: and of the oppoſite kingdoms of Chriſt and Antichriſt.

IN the firſt year of Baltaſſar king of Babylon, Daniel ſaw a dream: and the viſion of his head was upon his bed: and writing the dream, he comprehended it in few words: and relating the ſum of it in ſhort, he ſaid:

2 I ſaw in my viſion by night, and behold the four winds of the heaven ſtrove upon the great ſea.

3 And four great beaſts different one from another, came up out of the ſea.

4 The firſt was like a lioneſs, and had the wings of an eagle: I beheld till her wings were plucked off, and ſhe was lifted up from the earth, and ſtood upon her feet as a man, and the heart of a man was given to her.

5 And behold another beaſt like a bear ſtood up on one ſide: and there were three rows in the mouth thereof, and in the teeth thereof, and thus they ſaid to it: Ariſe, devour much fleſh.

6 After this I beheld, and lo another like a leopard, and it had upon it four wings as of a fowl, and the beaſt had four heads, and power was given to it.

7 After this I beheld in the viſion of the night, and lo a fourth beaſt, terrible and wonderful, and exceeding ſtrong, it had great iron teeth, eating and breaking in pieces, and treading down the reſt with its feet: and it was unlike to the other beaſts which I had ſeen before it, and had ten horns.

8 I conſidered the horns, and behold another little horn ſprung out of the midſt of them: and three of the firſt horns were plucked up at the preſence thereof: and behold eyes like the eyes of a man were in this horn, and a mouth ſpeaking great things.

9 I beheld till thrones were placed, and the ancient of days ſat: his garment was white as ſnow, and the hair of his head like clean wool: his throne like flames of fire: the wheels of it like a burning fire.

10 A ſwift ſtream of fire iſſued forth from before him: ‖ thouſands of thouſands miniſtered to him, and ten thouſand times a hundred thouſand ſtood before him: the judgment ſat, and the books were opened. ‖ Apoc. 5. 11.

11 I beheld becauſe of the voice of the great words which that horn ſpoke: and I ſaw that the beaſt was ſlain, and the body thereof was deſtroyed, and given to the fire to be burnt:

12 And that the power of the other beaſts was taken away: and that times of life were appointed them for a time, and a time.

13 I beheld therefore in the viſion of the night, and lo one like the Son of man came with the clouds of heaven, and he came even to the ancient of days: and they preſented him before him.

14 And he gave him power, and glory, and a kingdom: and all peoples, tribes, and tongues ſhall ſerve him: ‖ his power is an everlaſting power that ſhall not be taken away: and his kingdom, that ſhall not be deſtroyed. ‖ Supra 3. 100. & 4. 31. Micheas 4. 7. Luke 1. 32.

15 My ſpirit trembled, I Daniel was affrighted at theſe things, and the viſions of my head troubled me.

16 I went near to one of them that ſtood by, and aſked the truth of him concerning all theſe things, and he told me the interpretation of the words, and inſtructed me:

17 Theſe four great beaſts, are four kingdoms, which ſhall ariſe out of the earth.

18 But the ſaints of the moſt high God ſhall take the kingdom: and they ſhall poſſeſs the kingdom for ever and ever.

19 After this I would diligently learn concerning the fourth beaſt, which was very different from all, and exceeding terrible: his teeth and claws were of iron: he devoured and broke in pieces, and the reſt he ſtamped upon with his feet:

20 And concerning the ten horns that he had on his head: and concerning the other that came up, before which three horns fell: and of that horn that had eyes, and a mouth ſpeaking great things, and was greater than the reſt.

21 I beheld, and lo that horn made war againſt the ſaints, and prevailed over them,

22 Till the ancient of days came and gave judgment to the ſaints of the moſt High, and the time came, and the ſaints obtained the kingdom.

23 And thus he ſaid: The fourth beaſt ſhall be the fourth kingdom upon earth, which ſhall be greater than all the kingdoms, and ſhall devour the whole earth, and ſhall tread it down, and break it in pieces.

24 And the ten horns of the ſame kingdom, ſhall be ten kings: and another ſhall riſe up after them, and he ſhall be mightier than the former, and he ſhall bring down three kings.

CHAP. VII. VER. 3. Four great beaſts. viz. The Chaldean, Perſian, Grecian, and Roman empires. But ſome rather chooſe to underſtand the fourth beaſt of the ſucceſſors of Alexander the great, more eſpecially of them that reigned in Aſia and Syria.

VER. 7. Ten horns. That is, ten kingdoms (as Apoc. xvii. 12.) among which the empire of the fourth beaſt ſhall be parcelled. Or ten kings of the number of the ſucceſſors of Alexander; as figures of ſuch as ſhall be about the time of Antichriſt.

VER. 8. Another little horn. This is commonly underſtood of Antichriſt. It may alſo be applied to that great perſecutor Antiochus Epiphanes, as a figure of Antichriſt.

25 And he ſhall ſpeak words againſt the High One, and ſhall cruſh the ſaints of the moſt High: and he ſhall think himſelf able to change times and laws, and they ſhall be delivered into his hand until a time, and times, and half a time.

26 And judgment ſhall ſit, that his power may be taken away, and be broken in pieces, and periſh even to the end.

27 And that the kingdom, and power, and the greatneſs of the kingdom, under the whole heaven, may be given to the people of the ſaints of the moſt High: whoſe kingdom is an everlaſting kingdom, and all kings ſhall ſerve him, and ſhall obey him.

28 Hitherto is the end of the word. I Daniel was much troubled with my thoughts, and my countenance was changed in me: but I kept the word in my heart.

CHAP. VIII.

Daniel's viſion of the ram and he-goat, interpreted by the Angel Gabriel.

A. M. 3451. Ante C. 553. IN the third year of the reign of king Baltaſſar, a viſion appeared to me. I Daniel, after what I had ſeen in the beginning,

2 Saw in my viſion when I was in the caſtle of Suſa, which is in the province of Elam: and I ſaw in the viſion that I was over the gate of Ulai.

3 And I lifted up my eyes, and ſaw: and behold a ram ſtood before the water, having two high horns, and one higher than the other, and growing up. Afterward

4 I ſaw the ram puſhing with his horns againſt the weſt, and againſt the north, and againſt the ſouth: and no beaſts could withſtand him, nor be delivered out of his hand: and he did according to his own will, and became great.

5 And I underſtood: and behold a he-goat came from the weſt on the face of the whole earth, and he touched not the ground. and the he-goat had a notable horn between his eyes.

6 And he went up to the ram that had the horns, which I had ſeen ſtanding before the gate, and he ran towards him in the force of his ſtrength.

7 And when he was come near the ram, he was enraged againſt him, and ſtruck the ram: and broke his two horns, and the ram could not withſtand him: and when he had caſt him down on the ground, he ſtamped upon him, and none could deliver the ram out of his hand.

8 And the he-goat became exceeding great: and when he was grown, the great horn was broken, and there came up four horns under it towards the four winds of heaven.

9 And out of one of them came forth a little horn: and it became great againſt the ſouth, and againſt the eaſt, and againſt the ſtrength.

10 And it was magnified even unto the ſtrength of heaven: and it threw down of the ſtrength, and of the ſtars, and trod upon them.

11 And it was magnified even to the prince of the ſtrength: and it took away from him the continual ſacrifice, and caſt down the place of his ſanctuary.

12 And ſtrength was given him againſt the continual ſacrifice becauſe of ſins: and truth ſhall be caſt down on the ground, and he ſhall do and ſhall proſper.

13 And I heard one of the ſaints ſpeaking, and one ſaint ſaid to another, I know not to whom that was ſpeaking: How long ſhall be the viſion, concerning the continual ſacrifice, and the ſin of the deſolation that is made: and the ſanctuary, and the ſtrength be trodden under foot?

14 And he ſaid to him: Unto evening and morning two thouſand three hundred days: and the ſanctuary ſhall be cleanſed.

15 And it came to paſs when I Daniel ſaw the viſion, and ſought the meaning, that behold there ſtood before me as it were the appearance of a man.

16 And I heard the voice of a man between

Ulai: and he called, and said: Gabriel, make this man to understand the vision.

17 And he came and stood near where I stood: and when he was come, I fell on my face trembling, and he said to me: Understand, O son of man, for in the time of the end the vision shall be fulfilled.

18 And when he spoke to me I fell flat on the ground: and he touched me, and set me upright,

19 And he said to me: I will shew thee what things are to come to pass in the end of the malediction: for the time hath its end.

20 The ram, which thou sawest with horns, is the king of the Medes and Persians.

21 And the he-goat, is the king of the Greeks, and the great horn that was between his eyes, the same is the first king.

22 But whereas when that was broken, there rose up four for it: four kings shall rise up of his nation, but not with his strength.

23 And after their reign, when iniquities shall be grown up, there shall arise a king of a shameless face, and understanding dark sentences.

24 And his power shall be strengthened, but not by his own force: and he shall lay all things waste, and shall prosper, and do more than can be believed. And he shall destroy the mighty, and the people of the saints,

25 According to his will, and craft shall be successful in his hand: and his heart shall be puffed up, and in the abundance of all things he shall kill many: and he shall rise up against the prince of princes, and shall be broken without hand.

26 And the vision of the evening and the morning, which was told, is true: thou therefore seal up the vision, because it shall come to pass after many days.

27 And I Daniel languished, and was sick for some days: and when I was risen up, I did the king's business, and I was astonished at the vision, and there was none that could interpret it.

CHAP. IX.

Daniel's confession and prayer: Gabriel informs him concerning the seventy weeks to the coming of Christ.

A. M. 3467. Ante C. 537. IN the first year of Darius the son of Assuerus of the seed of the Medes, who reigned over the kingdom of the Chaldeans:

2 The first year of his reign, I Daniel ‖ Jer. 25. 11. & 29. 10. understood by books the ‖ number of the years, concerning which the word of the Lord came to Jeremias the prophet, that seventy years should be accomplished of the desolation of Jerusalem.

3 And I set my face to the Lord my God to pray and make supplication with fasting, and sackcloth, and ashes.

4 And I prayed to the Lord my God, and I made my confession, and said: ‖ I beseech thee, O Lord God, great and terrible, who keepest the covenant, and mercy to them that love thee, and keep thy commandments. ‖ 2 Esdr. x. 5.

5 ‖ We have sinned, we have committed iniquity, we have done wickedly, and have revolted: and we have gone aside from thy commandments, and thy judgments. ‖ Bruc. i. 17.

6 We have not hearkened to thy servants the prophets, that have spoken in thy name to our kings, to our princes, to our fathers, and to all the people of the land.

7 To thee, O Lord, justice: but to us confusion of face, as at this day to the men of Juda, and to the inhabitants of Jerusalem, and to all Israel, to them that are near, and to them that are far off in all the countries whither thou hast driven them, for their iniquities by which they have sinned against thee.

8 O Lord, to us belongeth confusion of face, to our princes, and to our fathers that have sinned.

9 But to thee, the Lord our God, mercy and forgiveness, for we have departed from thee:

10 And we have not hearkened to the voice of the Lord our God, to walk in his law, which he set before us by his servants the prophets.

11 And all Israel have transgressed thy law, and have turned away from hearing thy voice, and the malediction, and the curse, ‖ which is written in the book of Moses the servant of God, is fallen upon us, because we have sinned against him. ‖ Deut. 27. 14.

12 And he hath confirmed his words which he spoke against us, and against our princes that judged us, that he would bring in upon us a great evil, such as never was under all the heaven, according to that which hath been done in Jerusalem.

13 As it is written in the law of Moses, all this evil is come upon us: and we entreated not thy face, O Lord our God, that we might turn from our iniquities, and think on thy truth.

14 And the Lord hath watched upon the evil, and hath brought it upon us: the Lord our God is just in all his works which he hath done: for we have not hearkened to his voice. ‖ Baruc. x. 11. Exod. 14. 22.

15 ‖ And now, O Lord our God, who hast brought forth thy people out of the land of Egypt with a ſtrong hand, and haſt made thee a name as at this day: we have ſinned, we have committed iniquity, 16 O Lord, againſt all thy juſtice: let thy wrath and thy indignation be turned away, I beſeech thee, from thy city Jeruſalem, and from thy holy mountain. For by reaſon of our ſins, and the iniquities of our fathers, Jeruſalem, and thy people are a reproach to all that are round about us.

17 Now therefore, O our God, hear the ſupplication of thy ſervant, and his prayers: and ſhew thy face upon thy ſanctuary which is deſolate, for thy own ſake.

18 Incline, O my God, thy ear, and hear: open thy eyes, and ſee our deſolation, and the city upon which thy name is called: ‖ for it is not for our juſtifications that we preſent our prayers before thy face, but for the multitude of thy tender mercies.

‖ Jer. 25. 29. Pſal. 48. 2. 9. & 101. 8.

19 O Lord, hear: O Lord, be appeaſed: hearken and do: delay not for thy own ſake, O my God: becauſe thy name is invocated upon thy city, and upon thy people.

20 Now while I was yet ſpeaking, and praying, and confeſſing my ſins, and the ſins of my people of Iſrael, and preſenting my ſupplications in the ſight of my God, for the holy mountain of my God:

21 As I was yet ſpeaking in prayer, behold the man Gabriel, whom I had ſeen in the viſion at the beginning, ‖ flying ſwiftly touched me at the time of the evening ſacrifice.

‖ Supra 8. 16.

22 And he inſtructed me, and ſpoke to me, and ſaid: O Daniel, I am now come forth to teach thee, and that thou mighteſt underſtand.

23 From the beginning of thy prayers the word came forth: and I am come to ſhew it to thee, becauſe thou art a man of deſires: therefore do thou mark the word, and underſtand the viſion.

24 ‖ Seventy weeks are ſhortened upon thy people, and upon thy holy city, that tranſgreſſion may be finiſhed, and ſin may have an end, and iniquity may be aboliſhed; and everlaſting juſtice may be brought; and viſion and prophecy may be fulfilled; and the Saint of ſaints may be anointed.

‖ Matt. 24. 15. John 1. 45.

25 Know thou therefore, and take notice: that from the going forth of the word, to build up Jeruſalem again, unto Chriſt the prince, there ſhall be ſeven weeks, and ſixty two weeks: and the ſtreet ſhall be built again, and the walls in ſtraitneſs of times.

26 And after ſixty two weeks Chriſt ſhall be ſlain: and the people that ſhall deny him ſhall not be his. And a people with their leader that ſhall come, ſhall deſtroy the city and the ſanctuary: and the end thereof ſhall be waſte, and after the end of the war the appointed deſolation.

27 And he ſhall confirm the covenant with many, in one week: and in the half of the week the victim and the ſacrifice ſhall fail: and there ſhall be in the temple the abomination of deſolation: and the deſolation ſhall continue even to the conſummation, and to the end.

Daniel having humbled himſelf by faſting and penance ſeeth a viſion, with which he is much terrified: but he is comforted by an Angel.

IN the third year of Cyrus king of the Perſians, a word was revealed to Daniel ſurnamed Baltaſſar, and a true word, and great ſtrength: and he underſtood the word: for there is need of underſtanding in a viſion. A. M. 3478. Ante C. 536.

2 In thoſe days I Daniel mourned the days of three weeks.

3 I eat no deſirable bread, and neither fleſh, nor wine entered into my mouth, neither was I anointed with ointment: till the days of three weeks were accompliſhed.

4 And in the four and twentieth day

To all which, as they ſuppoſe, this prophecy may have a relation.

of the firſt month I was by the great river, which is the Tigris.

5 And I lifted up my eyes, and I ſaw: and behold a man clothed in linen, and his loins were girded with the fineſt gold:

6 And his body was like the chryſolite, and his face as the appearance of lightning, and his eyes as a burning lamp: and his arms, and all downward even to the feet, like in appearance to glittering braſs: and the voice of his word like the voice of a multitude.

7 And I Daniel alone ſaw the viſion: for the men that were with me ſaw it not: but an exceeding great terror fell upon them, and they fled away, and hid themſelves.

8 And I being left alone ſaw this great viſion: and there remained no ſtrength in me, and the appearance of my countenance was changed in me, and I fainted away, and retained no ſtrength.

9 And I heard the voice of his words: and when I heard I lay in a conſternation upon my face, and my face was cloſe to the ground.

10 And behold a hand touched me, and lifted me up upon my knees, and upon the joints of my hands.

11 And he ſaid to me: Daniel thou man of deſires, underſtand the words that I ſpeak to thee, and ſtand upright: for I am ſent now to thee. And when he had ſaid this word to me, I ſtood trembling.

12 And he ſaid to me: Fear not, Daniel: for from the firſt day that thou didſt ſet thy heart to underſtand, to afflict thyſelf in the ſight of thy God, thy words have been heard: and I am come for thy words.

13 But the prince of the kingdom of the Perſians reſiſted me one and twenty days: and behold Michael, one of the chief princes, came to help me, and I remained there by the king of the Perſians.

14 But I am come to teach thee what things ſhall befal thy people in the latter days, for as yet the viſion is for days.

15 And when he was ſpeaking ſuch words to me, I caſt down my countenance to the ground, and held my peace.

16 And behold as it were the likeneſs of a ſon of man touched my lips: then I opened my mouth and ſpoke, and ſaid to him that ſtood before me: O my lord, at the ſight of thee my joints are looſed, and no ſtrength hath remained in me.

17 And how can the ſervant of my lord ſpeak with my lord? for no ſtrength remaineth in me, moreover my breath is ſtopped.

18 Therefore he that looked like a man touched me again, and ſtrengthened me.

19 And he ſaid: Fear not, O man of deſires, peace be to thee: take courage and be ſtrong. And when he ſpoke to me, I grew ſtrong, and I ſaid: Speak, O my lord, for thou haſt ſtrengthened me.

20 And he ſaid: Doſt thou know wherefore I am come to thee? And now I will return, to fight againſt the prince of the Perſians. When I went forth, there appeared the prince of the Greeks coming.

21 But I will tell thee what is ſet down in the ſcripture of truth: and none is my helper in all theſe things, but ‖ Michael your prince. ‖ Apoc. 12. 7.

AND from the firſt year of Darius the Mede I ſtood up that he might be ſtrengthened, and confirmed.

2 And now I will ſhew thee the truth. Behold there ſhall ſtand yet three kings in Perſia, and the fourth ſhall be enriched exceedingly above them all: and when he ſhall be grown mighty by his riches, he ſhall ſtir up all againſt the kingdom of Greece.

3 But there ſhall riſe up a ſtrong king, and ſhall rule with great power: and he ſhall do what he pleaſeth.

4 And when he ſhall come to his height, his kingdom ſhall be broken, and it ſhall be divided towards the four winds of the heaven: but not to his poſterity, nor according to his power with which he ruled. For his kingdom ſhall be rent in pieces, even for ſtrangers, beſides theſe.

5 And the king of the ſouth ſhall be ſtrengthened, and one of his princes ſhall prevail over him, and he ſhall rule with great power: for his dominion ſhall be great.

18 And he ſhall turn his face to the iſlands, and ſhall take many: and he ſhall cauſe the prince of his reproach to ceaſe, and his reproach ſhall be turned upon him.

19 And he ſhall turn his face to the empire of his own land, and he ſhall ſtumble, and fall, and ſhall not be found.

20 And there ſhall ſtand up in his place one moſt vile, and unworthy of kingly honour: and in a few days he ſhall be deſtroyed, not in rage nor in battle.

21 And there ſhall ſtand up in his place one deſpiſed, and the kingly honour ſhall not be given him: and he ſhall come privately, and ſhall obtain the kingdom by fraud.

25 And his strength and his heart shall be stirred up against the king of the south with a great army: and the king of the south shall be stirred up to battle with many and very strong succours: and they shall not stand, for they shall form designs against him.

26 And they that eat bread with him, shall destroy him, and his army shall be overthrown: and many shall fall down slain.

27 And the heart of the two kings shall be to do evil, and they shall speak lies at one table, and they shall not prosper: because as yet the end is unto another time.

28 And he shall return into his land with much riches: and his heart shall be against the holy covenant, and he shall succeed and shall return into his own land.

29 At the time appointed he shall return, and he shall come to the south, but the latter time shall not be like the former.

30 And the galleys and the Romans shall come upon him, and he shall be struck, and shall return, and shall have indignation against the covenant of the sanctuary, and he shall succeed: and he shall return and shall devise against them that have forsaken the covenant of the sanctuary.

31 And arms shall stand on his part, and they shall defile the sanctuary of strength, and shall take away the continual sacrifice: and they shall place there the abomination unto desolation.

32 And such as deal wickedly against the covenant shall deceitfully dissemble: but the people that know their God shall prevail and succeed.

33 And they that are learned among the people shall teach many: and they shall fall by the sword, and by fire, and by captivity, and by spoil for many days.

34 And when they shall have fallen, they shall be relieved with a small help: and many shall be joined to them deceitfully.

35 And some of the learned shall fall, that they may be tried, and may be chosen, and made white even to the appointed time: because yet there shall be another time.

36 And the king shall do according to his will, and he shall be lifted up, and shall magnify himself against every god: and he shall speak great things against the God of gods, and shall prosper, till the wrath be accomplished. For the determination is made.

37 And he shall make no account of the God of his fathers: and he shall follow the lust of women, and he shall not regard any gods: for he shall rise up against all things.

38 But he shall worship the god Maozim in his place: and a God whom his fathers knew not, he shall worship with gold, and silver, and precious stones, and things of great price.

39 And he shall do this to fortify Maozim with a strange god, whom he hath acknowledged, and he shall increase glory, and shall give them power over many, and shall divide the land gratis.

40 And at the time prefixed the king of the south shall fight against him, and the king of the north shall come against him like a tempest, with chariots, and with horsemen, and with a great navy, and he shall enter into the countries, and shall destroy, and pass through.

41 And he shall enter into the glorious land, and many shall fall: and these only shall be saved out of his hand, Edom, and Moab, and the principality of the children of Ammon.

42 And he shall lay his hand upon the lands: and the land of Egypt shall not escape.

43 And he shall have power over the treasures of gold, and of silver, and all the precious things of Egypt: and he shall pass through Lybia, and Ethiopia.

44 And tidings out of the east, and out of the north shall trouble him: and he shall come with a great multitude to destroy and slay many.

8 And I heard, and understood not. And I said: O my lord, what shall be after these things?

9 And he said: Go, Daniel, because the words are shut up, and sealed until the appointed time.

10 Many shall be chosen, and made white, and shall be tried as fire: and the wicked shall deal wickedly, and none of the wicked shall understand, but the learned shall understand.

The history of Susanna, and the two elders.

NOW there was a man that dwelt in Babylon, and his name was Joakim: A. M. 3398. Ante C. 606.

2 And he took a wife whose name was Susanna, the daughter of Helcias, a very beautiful woman, and one that feared God.

3 For her parents being just, had instructed their daughter according to the law of Moses.

4 Now Joakim was very rich, and had an orchard near his house: and the Jews resorted to him, because he was the most honourable of them all.

5 And there were two of the ancients of the people appointed judges that year, of whom the Lord said: Iniquity came out from Babylon from the ancient judges, that seemed to govern the people.

6 These men frequented the house of Joakim, and all that had any matters of judgment came to them.

7 And when the people departed away at noon, Susanna went in, and walked in her husband's orchard.

8 And the old men saw her going in every day, and walking: and they were inflamed with lust towards her:

9 And they perverted their own mind and turned away their eyes that they might not look unto heaven, nor remember just judgments.

10 So they were both wounded with the love of her, yet they did not make known their grief one to the other:

11 For they were ashamed to declare to one another their lust, being desirous to have to do with her:

12 And they watched carefully every day to see her. And one said to the other:

CHAP. XII. VER. 3. Learned, viz. in the law of God and true wisdom, which consists in knowing and loving God.

CHAP. XIII. This history of Susanna, in all the ancient Greek and Latin bibles, was placed in the beginning of the book of Daniel: till St. Jerom, in his translation, detached it from thence; because he did not find it in the Hebrew: which is also the case of the history of Bel and the dragon. But both the one and the other are received by the catholic church: and were from the very beginning a part of the christian bible.

13 Let us now go home, for it is dinner time. So going out they departed one from another.

14 And turning back again, they came both to the ſame place: and aſking one another the cauſe, they acknowledged their luſt: and then they agreed upon a time, when they might find her alone.

15 And it fell out, as they watched a fit day, ſhe went in on a time, as yeſterday and the day before, with two maids only, and was deſirous to waſh herſelf in the orchard: for it was hot whether.

16 And there was no body there, but the two old men that had hid themſelves and were beholding her.

17 So ſhe ſaid to the maids: Bring me oil, and waſhing balls, and ſhut the doors of the orchard, that I may waſh me.

18 And they did as ſhe bade them: and they ſhut the doors of the orchard, and went out by a back door to fetch what ſhe had commanded them, and they knew not that the elders were hid within.

19 Now when the maids were gone forth, the two elders aroſe, and ran to her, and ſaid:

20 Behold the doors of the orchard are ſhut, and no body ſeeth us, and we are in love with thee: wherefore conſent to us, and lie with us.

21 But if thou wilt not, we will bear witneſs againſt thee, that a young man was with thee, and therefore thou didſt ſend away thy maids from thee.

22 Suſanna ſighed, and ſaid: I am ſtraitened on every ſide: for if I do this thing, it is death to me: and if I do it not, I ſhall not eſcape your hands.

23 But it is better for me to fall into your hands without doing it, than to ſin in the ſight of the Lord.

24 With that Suſanna cried out with a loud voice: and the elders alſo cried out againſt her.

25 And one of them ran to the door of the orchard, and opened it.

26 So when the ſervants of the houſe heard the cry in the orchard, they ruſhed in by the back door, to ſee what was the matter.

27 But after the old men had ſpoken, the ſervants were greatly aſhamed: for never had there been any ſuch word ſaid of Suſanna. And on the next day, 28 When the people were come to Joakim her huſband, the two elders alſo came full of wicked device againſt Suſanna, to put her to death.

29 And they ſaid before the people: Send to Suſanna daughter of Helcias the wife of Joakim. And preſently they ſent.

30 And ſhe came with her parents, and children, and all her kindred.

31 Now Suſanna was exceeding delicate, and beautiful to behold.

32 But thoſe wicked men commanded that her face ſhould be uncovered (for ſhe was covered) that ſo at leaſt they might be ſatisfied with her beauty.

33 Therefore her friends, and all her acquaintance wept.

34 But the two elders riſing up in the midſt of the people, laid their hands upon her head.

35 And ſhe weeping looked up to heaven, for her heart had confidence in the Lord.

36 And the elders ſaid: As we walked in the orchard alone, this woman came in with two maids, and ſhut the doors of the orchard, and ſent away the maids from her.

37 Then a young man that was there hid came to her, and lay with her.

38 But we that were in a corner of the orchard, ſeeing this wickedneſs, ran up to them, and we ſaw them lie together.

39 And him indeed we could not take him, becauſe he was ſtronger than us, and opening the doors he leaped out:

40 But having taken this woman, we aſked who the young man was, but ſhe would not tell us: of this thing we are witneſſes.

41 The multitude believed them as being the elders and the judges of the people, and they condemned her to death.

42 Then Suſanna cried out with a loud voice, and ſaid: O eternal God, who knoweſt hidden things, who knoweſt all things before they come to paſs,

43 Thou knoweſt that they have borne falſe witneſs againſt me: and behold I muſt die, whereas I have done none of theſe things, which theſe men have maliciouſly forged againſt me.

44 And the Lord heard her voice.

45 And when ſhe was led to be put to death, the Lord raiſed up the holy ſpirit of a young boy, whoſe name was Daniel:

46 And he cried out with a loud voice: I am clear from the blood of this woman.

47 Then all the people turning themſelves towards him, ſaid: What meaneth this word that thou haſt ſpoken?

48 But he ſtanding in the midſt of them, ſaid: Are ye ſo fooliſh, ye children of Iſrael, that without examination or knowledge of the truth, you have condemned a daughter of Iſrael?

49 Return to judgment, for they have borne falſe witneſs againſt her.

50 So all the people turned again in haſte, and the old men ſaid to him: Come, and ſit thou down among us, and ſhew it us: ſeeing God hath given thee the honour of old age.

51 And Daniel ſaid to the people: Separate theſe two far from one another, and I will examine them.

52 So when they were put aſunder one from the other, he called one of them, and ſaid to him: O thou that art grown old in evil days, now are thy ſins come out, which thou haſt committed before:

53 In judging unjuſt judgments, oppreſſing the innocent, and letting the guilty to go free, whereas the Lord ſaith: ‖ The innocent and the juſt thou ſhalt not kill.

‖ Exod. 23. 7.

54 Now then if thou ſaweſt her, tell me under what tree thou ſaweſt them converſing together. He ſaid: Under a maſtic tree.

55 And Daniel ſaid: Well haſt thou lied againſt thy own head: for behold the Angel of God having received the ſentence of him, ſhall cut thee in two.

56 And having put him aſide, he commanded that the other ſhould come, and he ſaid to him: O thou ſeed of Chanaan, and not of Juda, beauty hath deceived thee, and luſt hath perverted thy heart:

57 Thus did you do to the daughters of Iſrael, and they for fear converſed with you: but a daughter of Juda would not abide your wickedneſs.

58 Now therefore tell me, under what tree didſt thou take them converſing together. And he anſwered: Under a holm tree.

59 And Daniel ſaid to him: Well haſt thou alſo lied againſt thy own head: for the Angel of the Lord waiteth with a ſword to cut thee in two, and to deſtroy you.

60 With that all the aſſembly cried out with a loud voice, and they bleſſed God, who ſaveth them that truſt in him.

61 And they roſe up againſt the two elders (for Daniel had convicted them of falſe witneſs by their own mouth) and they did to them as they had maliciouſly dealt againſt their neighbour,

‖ Deut. 19. 18. & 19.

62 ‖ To fulfil the law of Moſes: and they put them to death, and innocent blood was ſaved in that day.

63 But Helcias, and his wife praiſed God, for their daughter Suſanna, with Joakim her huſband, and all her kindred, becauſe there was no diſhoneſty found in her.

64 And Daniel became great in the ſight of the people from that day, and thence forward.

65 And king Aſtyages was gathered to his fathers, and Cyrus the Perſian received his kingdom.

CHAP. XIV.

The hiſtory of Bel; and of the great ſerpent worſhipped by the Babylonians.

AND Daniel was the king's gueſt, and was honoured above all his friends.

2 Now the Babylonians had an idol called Bel: and there were ſpent upon him every day twelve great meaſures of fine flour, and forty ſheep, and ſixty veſſels of wine.

3 The king alſo worſhipped him, and went every day to adore him: but Daniel adored his God. And the king ſaid to him: Why doſt thou not adore Bel?

4 And he anſwered, and ſaid to him: Becauſe I do not worſhip idols made with hands, but the living God, that created heaven and earth, and hath power over all fleſh.

5 And the king ſaid to him: Doth not Bel ſeem to thee to be a living God? Seeſt thou not how much he eateth and drinketh every day?

6 Then Daniel ſmiled and ſaid: O king, be not deceived: for this is but clay within, and braſs without, neither hath he eaten at any time.

7 And the king being angry called for his prieſts, and ſaid to them: If you tell me not, who it is that eateth up theſe expences, you ſhall die.

8 But if you can ſhew that Bel eateth theſe things, Daniel ſhall die, becauſe he hath blaſphemed againſt Bel. And Daniel ſaid to the king: Be it done according to thy word.

9 Now the prieſts of Bel were ſeventy beſides their wives, and little ones, and children. And the king went with Daniel into the temple of Bel.

10 And the prieſts of Bel ſaid: Behold we go out: and do thou, O king, ſet on the meats, and make ready the wine, and ſhut the door faſt, and ſeal it with thy own ring:

11 And when thou comeſt in the morning, if thou findeſt not that Bel hath eaten up all, we will ſuffer death, or elſe Daniel that hath lied againſt us.

12 And they little regarded it, becauſe they had made under the table a ſecret entrance, and they always came in by it, and conſumed thoſe things.

13 So it came to paſs after they were gone out, the king ſet the meats before Bel: and Daniel commanded his ſervants, and they brought ashes, and he sifted them all over the temple before the king: and going forth they shut the door, and having sealed it with the king's ring, they departed.

CHAP. XIV. VER. 1. The king's gueſt. It ſeems moſt probable, that the king here ſpoken of was Evil-merodach, the ſon and ſucceſſor of Nabuchodonoſor, and a great favourer of the Jews.

14 But the priests went in by night, according to their custom, with their wives and their children: and they eat and drank up all.

15 And the king arose early in the morning, and Daniel with him.

16 And the king said: Are the seals whole, Daniel? And he answered: They are whole, O king.

17 And as soon as he had opened the door, the king looked upon the table, and cried out with a loud voice: Great art thou, O Bel, and there is not any deceit with thee.

18 And Daniel laughed: and he held the king that he should not go in: and he said: Behold the pavement, mark whose foot-steps these are.

19 And the king said: I see the foot-steps of men, and women, and children. And the king was angry.

20 Then he took the priests, and their wives, and their children: and they shewed him the private doors by which they came in, and consumed the things that were on the table.

21 The king therefore put them to death, and delivered Bel into the power of Daniel: who destroyed him, and his temple.

22 And there was a great dragon in that place, and the Babylonians worshipped him.

23 And the king said to Daniel: Behold thou canst not say now, that this is not a living God: adore him therefore.

24 And Daniel said: I adore the Lord my God: for he is the living God: but that is no living God.

25 But give me leave, O king, and I will kill this dragon without sword or club. And the king said: I give thee leave.

26 Then Daniel took pitch, and fat, and hair, and boiled them together: and he made lumps, and put them into the dragon's mouth, and the dragon burst asunder. And he said: Behold him whom you worshipped.

27 And when the Babylonians had heard this, they took great indignation: and being gathered together against the king, they said: The king is become a Jew. He hath destroyed Bel, he hath killed the dragon, and he hath put the priests to death.

28 And they came to the king, and said: Deliver us Daniel, or else we will destroy thee and thy house.

29 And the king saw that they pressed upon him violently: and being constrained by necessity he delivered Daniel to them.

30 And they cast him into the den of lions, and he was there six days.

31 And in the den there were seven lions, and they had given to them two carcasses every day, and two sheep: but then they were not given unto them that they might devour Daniel.

32 Now there was in Judea a prophet called Habacuc, and he had boiled pottage, and had broken bread in a bowl: and was going into the field, to carry it to the reapers.

33 And the Angel of the Lord said to Habacuc: Carry the dinner which thou hast into Babylon to Daniel, who is in the lions den.

34 And Habacuc said: Lord, I never saw Babylon, nor do I know the den.

35 ‖ And the Angel of the Lord took him by the top of his head, and carried him by the hair of his head, and set him in Babylon over the den in the force of his spirit. ‖ Ezec. 8. 3.

36 And Habacuc cried, saying: O Daniel, thou servant of God, take the dinner that God hath sent thee.

37 And Daniel said: Thou hast remembered me, O God, and thou hast not forsaken them that love thee.

38 And Daniel arose and eat. And the Angel of the Lord presently set Habacuc again in his own place.

39 And upon the seventh day the king came to bewail Daniel: and he came to the den, and looked in, and behold Daniel was sitting in the midst of the lions.

40 And the king cried out with a loud voice, saying: Great art thou, O Lord the God of Daniel. And he drew him out of the lions den.

41 But those that had been the cause of his destruction, he cast into the den, and they were devoured in a moment before him.

42 Then the king said: Let all the inhabitants of the whole earth fear the God of Daniel: for he is the Saviour, working signs, and wonders in the earth: who hath delivered Daniel out of the lions den.

VER. 30. The den of lions. Daniel was twice cast into the den of lions: once under Darius the Mede, because he had transgressed the king's edict, by praying three times a day; and another time under Evilmerodach by a sedition of the people. This time he remained six days in the lion's den; the other time only one night.

VER. 32. Habacuc. The same, as some think, whose prophecy is found among the lesser prophets: but others believe him to be different.

THE PROPHECY OF OSEE.

OSEE, or Hoſea, whoſe name ſignifies a ſaviour, was the firſt in the order of time among thoſe who are commonly called leſſer prophets, becauſe their prophecies are ſhort. He propheſied in the kingdom of Iſrael, that is, of the ten tribes, about the ſame time that Iſaias propheſied in the kingdom of Juda.

CHAP. I.

By marrying a harlot, and by the names of his children, the prophet ſets forth the crimes of Iſrael and their puniſhment. He foretells their redemption by Chriſt.

A. M. 3179. Ante C. 825. THE word of the Lord, that came to Oſee the ſon of Beeri, in the days of Ozias, Joathan, Achaz, and Ezechias kings of Juda, and in the days of Jeroboam the ſon of Joas king of Iſrael.

2 The beginning of the Lord's ſpeaking by Oſee: and the Lord ſaid to Oſee: Go, take thee a wife of fornications, and have of her children of fornications: for the land by fornication ſhall depart from the Lord.

3 So he went, and took Gomer the daughter of Debelaim: and ſhe conceived, and bore him a ſon.

4 And the Lord ſaid to him: Call his name Jezrahel: for yet a little while, and I will viſit the blood of Jezrahel upon the houſe of Jehu, and I will cauſe to ceaſe the kingdom of the houſe of Iſrael.

5 And in that day I will break in pieces the bow of Iſrael in the valley of Jezrahel.

6 And ſhe conceived again, and bore a daughter, and he ſaid to him: Call her name, Without mercy: for I will not add any more to have mercy on the houſe of Iſrael, but I will utterly forget them.

7 And I will have mercy on the houſe of Juda, and I will ſave them by the Lord their God: and I will not ſave them by bow, nor by ſword, nor by battle, nor by horſes, nor by horſemen.

8 And ſhe weaned her that was called Without mercy. And ſhe conceived, and bore a ſon.

9 And he ſaid: Call his name, Not my people: for you are not my people, and I will not be yours.

10 And the number of the children of Iſrael ſhall be as the ſand of the ſea, that is without meaſure, and ſhall not be numbered. ‖ And it ſhall be in the place where it ſhall be ſaid to them: You are not my people: it ſhall be ſaid to them: Ye are the ſons of the living God. ‖ Rom. 9. 26.

CHAP. I. VER. 2. A wife of fornications. That is, a wife that hath been given to fornication. This was to repreſent the Lord's proceedings with his people Iſrael, who, by ſpiritual-fornication, were continually offending him.

Ibid. Children of fornications. So called from the character of their mother, if not alſo from their own wicked diſpoſitions.

VER. 9. Not my people. Lo-ammi.

VER. 10. The number, &c. viz. of the true Iſraelites, the children of the church of Chriſt.

11 And the children of Juda, and the children of Iſrael ſhall be gathered together: and they ſhall appoint themſelves one head, and ſhall come up out of the land: for great is the day of Jezrahel.

CHAP. II.

Iſrael is juſtly puniſhed for leaving God. The abundance of grace in the church of Chriſt.

SAY ye to your brethren: You are my people: and to your ſiſter: Thou haſt obtained mercy.

2 Judge your mother, judge her: becauſe ſhe is not my wife, and I am not her huſband. Let her put away her fornications from her face, and her adulteries from between her breaſts.

3 Leſt I ſtrip her naked, and ſet her as in the day that ſhe was born: and I will make her as a wilderneſs, and will ſet her as a land that none can paſs through, and will kill her with drought.

4 And I will not have mercy on her children: for they are the children of fornications.

5 For their mother hath committed fornication, ſhe that conceived them is covered with ſhame: for ſhe ſaid: I will go after my lovers, that give me my bread, and my water, my wool, and my flax, my oil, and my drink.

6 Wherefore behold I will hedge up thy way with thorns, and I will ſtop it up with a wall, and ſhe ſhall not find her paths.

7 And ſhe ſhall follow after her lovers, and ſhall not overtake them: and ſhe ſhall ſeek them, and ſhall not find, and ſhe ſhall ſay: I will go, and return to my firſt huſband: becauſe it was better with me then, than now.

8 And ſhe did not know that I gave her corn, and wine, and oil, and multiplied her ſilver, and gold, which they have uſed in the ſervice of Baal.

9 Therefore will I return, and take away my corn in its ſeaſon, and my wine in its ſeaſon, and I will ſet at liberty my wool, and my flax, which covered her diſgrace.

10 And now I will lay open her folly in the eyes of her lovers: and no man ſhall deliver her out of my hand:

11 And I will cauſe all her mirth to ceaſe, her ſolemnities, her new-moons, her ſabbaths, and all her feſtival times.

12 And I will deſtroy her vines, and her fig-trees, of which ſhe ſaid: Theſe are my rewards, which my lovers have given me: and I will make her as a foreſt, and the beaſts of the field ſhall devour her.

13 And I will viſit upon her the days of Baalim, to whom ſhe burnt incenſe, and decked herſelf out with her ear-rings, and with her jewels, and went after her lovers, and forgot me, ſaith the Lord.

14 Therefore, behold I will allure her, and will lead her into the wilderneſs: and I will ſpeak to her heart.

15 And I will give her vine-dreſſers out of the ſame place, and the valley of Achor for an opening of hope: and ſhe ſhall ſing there according to the days of her youth, and according to the days of her coming up out of the land of Egypt.

16 And it ſhall be in that day, ſaith the Lord: That ſhe ſhall call me: My huſband, and ſhe ſhall call me no more Baali.

17 And I will take away the names of Baalim out of her mouth, and ſhe ſhall no more remember their name.

18 And in that day I will make a covenant with them, with the beaſts of the field, and with the fowls of the air, and with the creeping things of the earth: and I will deſtroy the bow, and the ſword, and war out of the land: and I will make them ſleep ſecure.

19 And I will eſpouſe thee to me for ever: and I will eſpouſe thee to me in juſtice, and judgment, and in mercy, and in commiſerations.

VER. 14. I will allure her, &c. After all her diſloyalties, I will ſtill allure her by my grace, &c. and ſend her vine-dreſſers, viz. the apoſtles; originally her own children, who ſhall open to her the gates of hope: as heretofore at her coming into the land of promiſe, ſhe had all good ſucceſs after ſhe had ſatisfied the divine juſtice by the execution of Achan in the valley of Achor. Joſue vii.

VER. 16. My huſband. In Hebrew, Iſhi. Baali my lord. The meaning of this verſe is: that whereas Iſhi and Baali were uſed indifferently in thoſe days by wives ſpeaking to their huſbands; the ſynagogue, whom God was pleaſed to conſider as his ſpouſe, ſhould call him only Iſhi, and abſtain from the name of Baali, becauſe of its affinity with the name of the idol Baal.

VER. 17. Baalim. It is the plural number of Baal: for there were divers idols of Baal.

VER. 19. I will eſpouſe thee, &c. This relates to the happy eſpouſals of Chriſt with his church: which ſhall never be diſſolved.

20 And I will eſpouſe thee to me in faith: and thou ſhalt know that I am the Lord.

21 And it ſhall come to paſs in that day: I will hear, ſaith the Lord, I will hear the heavens, and they ſhall hear the earth.

22 And the earth ſhall hear the corn, and the wine, and the oil, and theſe ſhall hear Jezrahel.

23 And I will ſow her unto me in the earth, and I will have mercy on her that was without mercy.

The prophet is commanded again to love an adultereſs; to ſignify God's love to the ſynagogue. The wretched ſtate of the Jews for a long time, till at laſt they ſhall be converted.

AND the Lord ſaid to me: Go yet again, and love a woman beloved of her friend, and an adultereſs: as the Lord loveth the children of Iſrael, and they look to ſtrange gods, and love the huſks of the grapes.

2 And I bought her to me for fifteen pieces of ſilver, and for a core of barley, and for half a core of barley.

3 And I ſaid to her: Thou ſhalt wait for me many days: thou ſhalt not play the harlot, and thou ſhalt be no man's, and I alſo will wait for thee.

4 For the children of Iſrael ſhall ſit many days without king, and without prince, and without ſacrifice, and without altar, and without ephod, and without theraphim.

‖ Ezec. 34. 23. 5 ‖ And after this the children of Iſrael ſhall return, and ſhall ſeek the Lord their God, and David their king: and they ſhall fear the Lord, and his goodneſs in the laſt days.

CHAP. IV.

God's judgment againſt the ſins of Iſrael: Juda is warned not to follow their example.

HEAR the word of the Lord, ye children of Iſrael, for the Lord ſhall enter into judgment with the inhabitants of the land: for there is no truth, and there is no mercy, and there is no knowledge of God in the land.

2 Curſing, and lying, and killing, and theft, and adultery have overflowed, and blood hath touched blood.

3 Therefore ſhall the land mourn, and every one that dwelleth in it ſhall languiſh with the beaſts of the field, and with the fowls of the air: yea the fiſhes of the ſea alſo ſhall be gathered together.

4 But yet let not any man judge: and let not a man be rebuked: for thy people are as they that contradict the prieſt.

5 And thou ſhalt fall to-day, and the prophet alſo ſhall fall with thee: in the night I have made thy mother to be ſilent.

6 My people have been ſilent, becauſe they had no knowledge: becauſe thou haſt rejected knowledge, I will reject thee, that thou ſhalt not do the office of prieſthood to me: and thou haſt forgotten the law of thy God, I alſo will forget thy children.

7 According to the multitude of them ſo have they ſinned againſt me: I will change their glory into ſhame.

8 They ſhall eat the ſins of my people, and ſhall lift up their ſouls to their iniquity.

‖ Iſai. 24. 2. 9 ‖ And there ſhall be like people like prieſt: and I will viſit their ways upon them, and I will repay them their devices.

10 And they ſhall eat and ſhall not be filled: they have committed fornication, and have not ceaſed: becauſe they have forſaken the Lord in not obſerving his law.

11 Fornication, and wine, and drunkenneſs take away the underſtanding.

12 My people have conſulted their ſtocks, and their ſtaff hath declared unto them: for the ſpirit of fornication hath deceived them, and they have committed fornication againſt their God.

13 They offered ſacrifice upon the tops of the mountains, and burnt incenſe upon the hills: under the oak, and the poplar, and the turpentine-tree, becauſe the ſhadow thereof was good: therefore ſhall your daughters commit fornication, and your ſpouſes ſhall be adultereſſes.

14 I will not viſit upon your daughters

when they ſhall commit fornication, and upon your ſpouſes when they ſhall commit adultery: becauſe themſelves converſed with harlots, and offered ſacrifice with the effeminate, and the people that doth not underſtand ſhall be beaten.

15 If thou play the harlot, O Iſrael, at leaſt let not Juda offend: and go ye not into Galgal, and come not up into Bethaven, and do not ſwear: The Lord liveth.

16 For Iſrael hath gone aſtray like a wanton heifer: now will the Lord feed them, as a lamb in a ſpacious place.

17 Ephraim is a partaker with idols, let him alone.

18 Their banquet is ſeparated, they have gone aſtray by fornication: they that ſhould have protected them have loved to bring ſhame upon them.

19 The wind hath bound them up in its wings, and they ſhall be confounded becauſe of their ſacrifices.

CHAP. V.

God's threats againſt the prieſts, the people, and princes of Iſrael, for their idolatry.

HEAR ye this, O prieſts, and hearken, O ye houſe of Iſrael, and give ear, O houſe of the king: for there is a judgment againſt you, becauſe you have been a ſnare to them whom you ſhould have watched over, and a net ſpread upon Thabor.

2 And you have turned aſide victims into the depth: and I am the teacher of them all.

3 I know Ephraim, and Iſrael is not hid from me: for now Ephraim hath committed fornication, Iſrael is defiled.

4 They will not ſet their thoughts to return to their God: for the ſpirit of fornication is in the midſt of them, and they have not known the Lord.

5 And the pride of Iſrael ſhall anſwer in his face: and Iſrael, and Ephraim ſhall fall in their iniquity, Juda alſo ſhall fall with them.

6 With their flocks, and with their herds, they ſhall go to ſeek the Lord, and ſhall not find him: he is withdrawn from them.

7 They have tranſgreſſed againſt the Lord, for they have begotten children that are ſtrangers: now ſhall a month devour them with their portions.

8 Blow ye the cornet in Gabaa, the trumpet in Rama: howl ye in Bethaven, behind thy back, O Benjamin.

9 Ephraim ſhall be in deſolation in the day of rebuke: among the tribes of Iſrael I have ſhewn that which ſhall ſurely be.

10 The princes of Juda are become as they that take up the bound: I will pour out my wrath upon them like water.

11 Ephraim is under oppreſſion, and broken in judgment: becauſe he began to go after filthineſs.

12 And I will be like a moth to Ephraim: and like rottenneſs to the houſe of Juda.

13 And Ephraim ſaw his ſickneſs, and Juda his band: and Ephraim went to the Aſſyrian, and ſent to the avenging king: and he ſhall not be able to heal you, neither ſhall he be able to take off the band from you.

14 For I will be like a lioneſs to Ephraim, and like a lion's whelp to the houſe of Juda: I, I will catch, and go: I will take away, and there is none that can reſcue.

15 I will go and return to my place: until you are conſumed, and ſeek my face.

CHAP. VI.

Affliction ſhall be a means to bring many to Chriſt: a complaint of the untowardneſs of the Jews. God loves mercy more than ſacrifice.

IN their affliction they will riſe early to me: Come, and let us return to the Lord:

2 For he hath taken us, and he will heal us: he will ſtrike, and he will cure us.

3 ‖ He will revive us after two days: on the third day he will raiſe us up, and we ſhall live in his ſight. We ſhall know, and we ſhall follow on, that we may know the Lord. His going forth is prepared as the morning light, and he will come to us as the early and the latter rain to the earth. ‖ 1 Cor. 15. 4.

4 What ſhall I do to thee, O Ephraim? what ſhall I do to thee, O Juda? your mercy is as a morning cloud, and as the dew that goeth away in the morning.

VER. 15. Galgal and Bethaven. Places where idols were worſhipped. Bethel, which ſignifies the houſe of God, is called, by the prophet, Bethaven, that is, the houſe of vanity, from Jeroboam's golden calf that was worſhipped there.

CHAP. V. VER. 1. O prieſts. What is ſaid of prieſts in this prophecy is chiefly underſtood of the prieſts of the kingdom of Iſrael: who were not true prieſts of the race of Aaron; but ſerved the calves at Bethel and Dan.

VER. 7. Children that are ſtrangers. That is, aliens from God: and therefore they are threatened with ſpeedy deſtruction.

VER. 10. As they that take up the bound: That is, they that remove the boundary, incroaching on the property of their neighbours; figuratively their going beyond the boundary of the laws of God.

5 For this reaſon have I hewed them by the prophets, I have ſlain them by the words of my mouth: and thy judgments ſhall go forth as the light.

‖ 1 Kings 15. 22. Eccli. 4. 17. Mat. 9. 13. & 12. 17.

6 ‖ For I deſired mercy, and not ſacrifice: and the knowledge of God more than holocauſts.

7 But they, like Adam, have tranſgreſſed the covenant, there have they dealt treacherouſly againſt me.

8 Galaad is a city of workers of idols, ſupplanted with blood.

9 And like the jaws of highway robbers, they conſpire with the prieſts who murder in the way thoſe that paſs out of Sichem: for they have wrought wickedneſs.

10 I have ſeen a horrible thing in the houſe of Iſrael: the fornications of Ephraim there: Iſrael is defiled.

11 And thou alſo, O Juda, ſet thee a harveſt, when I ſhall bring back the captivity of my people.

CHAP. VII.

The manifold ſins of Iſrael, and of their kings, hinder the Lord from healing them.

WHEN I would have healed Iſrael, the iniquity of Ephraim was diſcovered, and the wickedneſs of Samaria, for they have committed falſhood, and the thief is come in to ſteal, the robber is without.

2 And leſt they may ſay in their hearts, that I remember all their wickedneſs: their own devices now have beſet them about, they have been done before my face.

3 They have made the king glad with their wickedneſs: and the princes with their lies.

4 They are all adulterers like an oven heated by the baker: the city reſted a little from the mingling of the leaven, till the whole was leavened.

5 The day of our king, the princes began to be mad with wine: he ſtretched out his hand with ſcorners.

6 Becauſe they have applied their heart like an oven, when he laid ſnares for them: he ſlept all the night baking them, in the morning he himſelf was heated as a flaming fire.

7 They were all heated like an oven and have devoured their judges: all their kings have fallen: there is none amongſt them that calleth unto me.

8 Ephraim himſelf is mixed among the nations: Ephraim is become as bread baked under the aſhes, that is not turned.

9 Strangers have devoured his ſtrength, and he knew it not: yea grey hairs alſo are ſpread about upon him, and he is ignorant of it.

10 And the pride of Iſrael ſhall be humbled before his face: and they have not returned to the Lord their God, nor have they ſought him in all theſe.

11 And Ephraim is become as a dove that is decoyed, not having a heart: they called upon Egypt, they went to the Aſſyrians.

12 And when they ſhall go, I will ſpread my net upon them: I will bring them down as the fowl of the air, I will ſtrike them as their congregation hath heard.

13 Wo to them, for they have departed from me: they ſhall be waſted becauſe they have tranſgreſſed againſt me: and I redeemed them: and they have ſpoken lies againſt me.

14 And they have not cried to me with their heart, but they howled in their beds: they have thought upon wheat and wine, they are departed from me.

15 And I have chaſtiſed them, and ſtrengthened their arms: and they have imagined evil againſt me.

16 They returned, that they might be without yoke: they became like a deceitful bow: their princes ſhall fall by the ſword, for the rage of their tongue. This is their deriſion in the land of Egypt.

CHAP. VIII.

The Iſraelites are threatened with deſtruction for their impiety and idolatry.

LET there be a trumpet in thy throat like an eagle upon the houſe of the Lord: becauſe they have tranſgreſſed my covenant, and have violated my law.

2 They ſhall call upon me: O my God, we Iſrael know thee.

3 Iſrael hath caſt off the thing that is good, the enemy ſhall purſue him.

4 They have reigned but not by me: they

CHAP. VI. VER. 8. Supplanted with blood. That is, undermined and brought to ruin, for ſhedding of blood: and, as it is ſignified in the following verſe, for conſpiring with the prieſts (of Bethel) like robbers, to murder in the way ſuch as paſſed out of Sichem to go towards the temple of Jeruſalem. Or elſe ſupplanted with blood, ſignifies flowing in ſuch manner with blood, as to ſuffer none to walk there without embruing the ſoles of their feet in blood.

CHAP. VII. VER. 3. Made the king glad, &c. To pleaſe Jeroboam, and their other kings, they have given themſelves up to the wicked worſhip of idols, which are mere falſhood and lies.

have been princes, and I knew not: of their silver, and their gold they have made idols to themselves, that they might perish.

5 Thy calf, O Samaria, is cast off, my wrath is kindled against them. How long will they be incapable of being cleansed?

6 For itself also is the invention of Israel: a workman made it, and it is no god: for the calf of Samaria shall be turned to spiders webs.

7 For they shall sow wind, and reap a whirlwind: there is no standing stalk in it, the bud shall yield no meal: and if it should yield, strangers shall eat it.

8 Israel is swallowed up: now is he become among the nations like an unclean vessel.

9 For they are gone up to Assyria, a wild ass alone by himself: Ephraim hath given gifts to his lovers.

10 But even though they shall have hired the nations, now will I gather them together: and they shall rest a while from the burden of the king, and the princes.

11 Because Ephraim hath made many altars to sin: altars are become to him unto sin.

12 I shall write to him my manifold laws, which have been accounted as foreign.

13 They shall offer victims, they shall sacrifice flesh, and shall eat it, and the Lord will not receive them: now will he remember their iniquity, and will visit their sins: they shall return to Egypt.

14 And Israel hath forgotten his maker, and hath built temples: and Juda hath built many fenced cities: and I will send a fire upon his cities, and it shall devour the houses thereof.

CHAP. IX.

The distress and captivity of Israel for their sins and idolatry.

REJOICE not, O Israel: rejoice not as the nations do: for thou hast committed fornication against thy God, thou hast loved a reward upon every corn-floor.

2 The floor and the wine-press shall not feed them, and the wine shall deceive them.

3 They shall not dwell in the Lord's land: Ephraim is returned to Egypt, and hath eaten unclean things among the Assyrians.

4 They shall not offer wine to the Lord. neither shall they please him: their sacrifices shall be like the bread of mourners: all that shall eat it shall be defiled: for their bread is life for their soul, it shall not enter into the house of the Lord.

5 What will you do in the solemn day, in the day of the feast of the Lord.

6 For behold they are gone because of destruction: Egypt shall gather them together, Memphis shall bury them: nettles shall inherit their beloved silver, the bur shall be in their tabernacles.

7 The days of visitation are come, the days of repaying are come: know ye, O Israel, that the prophet was foolish, the spiritual man was mad, for the multitude of thy iniquity, and the multitude of thy madness.

8 The watchman of Ephraim was with my God: the prophet is become a snare of ruin upon all his ways, madness is in the house of his God.

9 ‖ They have sinned deeply, as in the days of Gabaa: he will remember their iniquity, and will visit their sin. ‖ Judges 19. 25.

10 I found Israel like grapes in the desert: I saw their fathers like the first fruits of the fig-tree in the top thereof: but they went in to Beelphegor, and alienated themselves to that confusion, and became abominable, as those things were, which they loved.

11 As for Ephraim, their glory hath flown away like a bird from the birth, and from the womb, and from the conception.

12 And though they should bring up their children, I will make them without children among men: yea and wo to them, when I shall depart from them.

13 Ephraim, as I saw, was a Tyre, founded in beauty: and Ephraim shall bring out his children to the murderer.

14 Give them, O Lord. What wilt thou give them? Give them a womb without children, and dry breasts.

15 ‖ All their wickedness is in Galgal, for there I hated them: for the wickedness of their devices I will cast them forth out of my house: I will love them no more, all their princes are revolters. ‖ 1 Kings 8. 5.

16 Ephraim is struck, their root is dried up, they shall yield no fruit. And if they should have issue, I will slay the best beloved fruit of their womb.

17 My God will cast them away, because they hearkened not to him: and they shall be wanderers among the nations.

CHAP. X.

After many benefits, great affliction shall fall upon the ten tribes, for their ingratitude to God.

ISRAEL a vine full of branches, the fruit is agreeable to it: according to the multitude of his fruit he hath multiplied altars, according to the plenty of his land he hath abounded with idols.

2 Their heart is divided, now they shall periſh: he ſhall break down their idols, he ſhall deſtroy their altars.

3 For now they ſhall ſay: We have no king: becauſe we fear not the Lord: and what ſhall a king do to us?

4 You ſpeak words of an unprofitable viſion, and you ſhall make a covenant: and judgment ſhall ſpring up as bitterneſs in the furrows of the field.

5 The inhabitants of Samaria have worſhipped the kine of Bethaven: for the people thereof have mourned over it, and the wardens of its temple that rejoiced over it in its glory, becauſe it is departed from it.

6 For itſelf alſo is carried into Aſſyria, a preſent to the avenging king: ſhame ſhall fall upon Ephraim, and Iſrael ſhall be confounded in his own will.

7 Samaria hath made her king to paſs as froth upon the face of the water.

8 And the high places of the idol, the ſin of Iſrael ſhall be deſtroyed: the bur and the thiſtle ſhall grow up over their altars: and they ſhall ſay to the mountains: † Cover us; and to the hills: Fall upon us.

† Iſai. 2. 19. Luke 23. 30. Apoc. 6. 16.

9 ‖ From the days of Gabaa, Iſrael hath ſinned, there they ſtood: the battle in Gabaa againſt the children of iniquity ſhall not overtake them.

‖ Judges 20. 13.

10 According to my deſire I will chaſtiſe them: and the nations ſhall be gathered together againſt them, when they ſhall be chaſtiſed for their two iniquities.

11 Ephraim is a heifer taught to love to tread out corn, but I paſſed over upon the beauty of her neck: I will ride upon Ephraim, Juda ſhall plough, Jacob ſhall break the furrows for himſelf.

‖ Jer. 4. 3. 12 ‖ Sow for yourſelves in juſtice, and reap in the mouth of mercy, break up your fallow ground: but the time to ſeek the Lord is, when he ſhall come that ſhall teach you juſtice.

13 You have ploughed wickedneſs, you have reaped iniquity, you have eaten the fruit of lying: becauſe thou haſt truſted in thy ways, in the multitude of thy ſtrong ones.

14 A tumult ſhall ariſe among thy people: and all thy fortreſſes ſhall be deſtroyed as ‖ Salmana was deſtroyed, by the houſe of him that judged Baal in the day of battle, the mother being daſhed in pieces upon her children. ‖ Judges 8. 17.

15 So hath Bethel done to you, becauſe of the evil of your iniquities.

CHAP. XI.

God proceeds in threatening Iſrael for their ingratitude: yet he will not utterly deſtroy them.

AS the morning paſſeth, ſo hath the king of Iſrael paſſed away. Becauſe Iſrael was a child, and ‖ I loved him: and I called my ſon out of Egypt. ‖ Mat. 2. 15.

2 As they called them, they went away from before their face: they offered victims to Baalim, and ſacrificed to idols.

3 And I was like a foſter-father to Ephraim, I carried them in my arms: and they knew not that I healed them.

4 I will draw them with the cords of Adam, with the bands of love: and I will be to them as one that taketh off the yoke on their jaws: and I put his meat to him that he might eat.

5 He ſhall not return into the land of Egypt, but the Aſſyrian ſhall be his king: becauſe they would not be converted.

6 The ſword hath begun in his cities, and it ſhall conſume his choſen men, and ſhall devour their heads.

7 And my people ſhall long for my return: but a yoke ſhall be put upon them together, which ſhall not be taken off.

8 How ſhall I deal with thee, O Ephraim, ſhall I protect thee, O Iſrael? ‖ how ſhall I make thee as Adama, ſhall I ſet thee as Seboim? my heart is turned within me, my repentance is ſtirred up. ‖ Gen. 19. 24.

9 I will not execute the fierceneſs of my wrath: I will not return to deſtroy Ephraim: becauſe I am God, and not man: the holy one in the midſt of thee, and I will not enter into the city.

10 They ſhall walk after the Lord, he ſhall roar as a lion: becauſe he ſhall roar, and the children of the ſea ſhall fear.

11 And they ſhall fly away like a bird out

CHAP. X. VER. 5. The kine of Bethaven. The golden calves of Jeroboam.

VER. 6. Itſelf alſo is carried, &c. One of the golden calves, was given by king Manahem, to Phul king of the Aſſyrians, to engage him to ſtand by him.

VER. 10. Their two iniquities. Their two calves.

VER. 14. As Salmana, king of the Midianites, was deſtroyed by the houſe, that is, by the followers, of him that judged Baal; that is, of Gideon, who threw down the altar of Baal; and was therefore called Jerubaal. See Judges vi. and viii.

CHAP. XI. VER. 1. I called my ſon. viz. Iſrael. But as the calling of Iſrael out of Egypt, was a figure of the calling of Chriſt from thence: therefore this text is alſo applicable to Chriſt, as we learn from St. Mat. ii. 15.

VER. 2. They called. viz. Moſes and Aaron called: but they went away after other gods, and would not hear.

VER. 8. Adama, &c. Adama and Seboim were two cities in the neighbourhood of Sodom: and underwent the like deſtruction.

of Egypt, and like a dove out of the land of the Assyrians: and I will place them in their own houses, saith the Lord.

12 Ephraim hath compassed me about with denials, and the house of Israel with deceit: but Juda went down as a witness with God, and is faithful with the saints.

CHAP. XII.

Israel is reproved for sin. God's favours to them.

EPHRAIM feedeth on the wind, and followeth the burning heat: all the day long he multiplied lies and desolation: and he hath made a covenant with the Assyrians, and carried oil into Egypt.

2 Therefore there is a judgment of the Lord with Juda, and a visitation for Jacob: he will render to him according to his ways, and according to his devices.

3 ‖ In the womb he supplanted his brother: and by his strength he had success with an Angel. ‖ Gen. 25. 25. & 32. 24.

4 And he prevailed over the Angel, and was strengthened: he wept, and made supplication to him: he found him in Bethel, and there he spoke with us.

5 Even the Lord the God of hosts, the Lord is his memorial.

6 Therefore turn thou to thy God: keep mercy and judgment, and hope in thy God always.

7 He is like Chanaan, there is a deceitful balance in his hand, he hath loved oppression.

8 And Ephraim said: But yet I am become rich, I have found me an idol: all my labours shall not find me the iniquity that I have committed.

9 And I that am the Lord thy God from the land of Egypt, will yet cause thee to dwell in tabernacles, as in the days of the feast.

10 And I have spoken by the prophets, and I have multiplied visions, and I have used similitudes by the ministry of the prophets.

11 If Galaad be an idol, then in vain were they in Galgal offering sacrifices with bullocks: for their altars also are as heaps in the furrows of the field.

‖ Gen. 28. 5. 12 ‖ Jacob fled into the country of Syria, and Israel served for a wife, and was a keeper for a wife.

‡ Exod. 14. 21. & 22. 13 ‡ But the Lord by a prophet brought Israel out of Egypt: and he was preserved by a prophet.

14 Ephraim hath provoked me to wrath with his bitterness, and his blood shall come upon him, and his Lord will render his reproach unto him.

CHAP. XIII.

The judgments of God upon Israel for their sins. Christ shall one day redeem them.

WHEN Ephraim spoke, a horror seized Israel: and he sinned in Baal and died.

2 And now they have sinned more and more: and they have made to themselves a molten thing of their silver as the likeness of idols, the whole is the work of craftsmen: to these they say: Sacrifice men, ye that adore calves.

3 Therefore they shall be as a morning cloud, and as the early dew that passeth away, as the dust that is driven with a whirlwind out of the floor, and as the smoke out of the chimney.

4 ‖ But I am the Lord thy God from the land of Egypt: and thou shalt know no God but me, and there is no saviour beside me. ‖ Isai 43. 11.

5 I knew thee in the desert, in the land of the wilderness.

6 According to their pastures they were filled, and were made full: and they lifted up their heart, and have forgotten me.

7 And I will be to them as a lioness, as a leopard in the way of the Assyrians.

8 I will meet them as a bear that is robbed of her whelps, and I will rend the inner parts of their liver: and I will devour them there as a lion, the beast of the field shall tear them.

9 Destruction is thy own, O Israel: thy help is only in me.

10 Where is thy king? now especially let him save thee in all thy cities: and thy judges, of whom thou saidst: ‖ Give me kings and princes. ‖ 1 Kings 8. 5.

11 I will give thee a king in my wrath, and will take him away in my indignation.

12 The iniquity of Ephraim is bound up, his sin is hidden.

13 The sorrows of a woman in labour shall come upon him, he is an unwise son: for now he shall not stand in the breach of the children.

14 I will deliver them out of the hand of death. I will redeem them from death: ‖ O death, I will be thy death, O hell, I will be thy bite: comfort is hidden from my eyes. ‖ 1 Cor. 15. 54. Hebr. 2. 14.

CHAP. XII. VER. 11. If Galaad be an idol, &c. That is, if Galaad with all its idols and sacrifices be like a mere idol itself, being brought to nothing by Theglathphalasar: how vain is it to expect, that the idols worshipped in Galgal shall be of any service to the tribes that remain.

15 Because he shall make a separation between brothers: ‡ the Lord will bring a burning wind that shall rise from the desert: and it shall dry up his springs, and shall make his fountain desolate, and he shall carry off the treasure of every desirable vessel.

Ezec. 19. 12.

CHAP. XIV.

Samaria shall be destroyed. An exhortation to repentance: God's favour through Christ to the penitent.

LET Samaria perish because she hath stirred up her God to bitterness: let them perish by the sword, let their little ones be dashed, and let the women with child be ript up.

2 Return, O Israel, to the Lord thy God: for thou hast fallen down by thy iniquity.

3 Take with you words, and return to the Lord, and say to him: Take away all iniquity, and receive the good: and we will render the calves of our lips.

4 Assyria shall not save us, we will not ride upon horses, neither will we say any more: The works of our hands are our gods: for thou wilt have mercy on the fatherless that is in thee.

5 I will heal their breaches, I will love them freely: for my wrath is turned away from them.

6 I will be as the dew, Israel shall spring as the lily, and his root shall shoot forth as that of Libanus.

7 His branches shall spread, and his glory shall be as the olive-tree: and his smell as that of Libanus.

8 They shall be converted that sit under his shadow: they shall live upon wheat, and they shall blossom as a vine: his memorial shall be as the wine of Libanus.

9 Ephraim shall say, What have I to do any more with idols? I will hear him, and I will make him flourish like a green fir-tree: from me is thy fruit found.

10 Who is wise, and he shall understand these things? prudent, and he shall know these things? for the ways of the Lord are right, and the just shall walk in them: but the transgressors shall fall in them.

CHAP. XIV. VER. 1. Perish because she hath stirred up her God to bitterness. 'Tis not a curse or imprecation, but a prophecy of what should come to pass.

THE PROPHECY OF JOEL.

JOEL, whose name, according to ST. JEROM, signifies THE LORD GOD: or, as others say, THE COMING DOWN OF GOD: prophesied about the same time in the kingdom of Judea, as OSEE did in the kingdom of Israel. He foretells under figures the great evils that were coming upon the people for their sins: earnestly exhorts them to repentance: and comforts them with the promise of a TEACHER OF JUSTICE, viz. CHRIST JESUS OUR LORD, and of the coming down of his holy SPIRIT.

CHAP. I.

The prophet describes the judgments that shall fall upon the people, and invites them to fasting and prayer.

A. M. circiter 3204. Ante C. 800.

THE word of the Lord that came to Joel the son of Phatuel.

2 Hear this, ye old men, and give ear, all ye inhabitants of the land: did this ever happen in your days, or in the days of your fathers?

3 Tell ye of this to your children, and let your children tell their children, and their children to another generation.

4 That which the palmer-worm hath left, the locust hath eaten: and that which the locust hath left, the bruchus hath eaten: and that which the bruchus hath left, the mildew hath destroyed.

5 Awake, ye that are drunk, and weep, and mourn all ye that take delight in drinking sweet wine: for it is cut off from your mouth.

6 For a nation is come up upon my land, strong and without number: his teeth are like

CHAP. I. VER. 4. That which the palmer-worm hath left, &c. Some understand this literally of the desolation of the land by these insects: others understand it of the different invasions of the Chaldeans, or other enemies.

the teeth of a lion: and his cheek-teeth as of a lion's whelp.

7 He hath laid my vineyard waſte, and hath pilled off the bark of my fig-tree: he hath ſtripped it bare, and caſt it away: the branches thereof are made white.

8 Lament like a virgin girded with ſack-cloth for the huſband of her youth.

9 Sacrifice and libation is cut off from the houſe of the Lord: the prieſts, the Lord's miniſters, have mourned:

10 The country is deſtroyed, the ground hath mourned: for the corn is waſted, the wine is confounded, the oil hath languiſhed.

11 The huſbandmen are aſhamed, the vine-dreſſers have howled for the wheat, and for the barley, becauſe the harveſt of the field is periſhed.

12 The vineyard is confounded, and the fig-tree hath languiſhed: the pomegranate-tree, and the palm-tree, and the apple-tree, and all the trees of the field are withered: becauſe joy is withdrawn from the children of men.

13 Gird yourſelves, and lament, O ye prieſts, howl, ye miniſters of the altars: go in, lie in ſackcloth, ye miniſters of my God: becauſe ſacrifice and libation is cut off from the houſe of your God.

‖ Infra 2. 15. 14 ‖ Sanctify ye a faſt, call an aſſembly, gather together the ancients, all the inhabitants of the land into the houſe of your God: and cry ye to the Lord:

15 Ah, ah, ah, for the day: becauſe the day of the Lord is at hand, and it ſhall come like deſtruction from the mighty.

16 Is not your food cut off before your eyes, joy and gladneſs from the houſe of our God?

17 The beaſts have rotted in their dung, the barns are deſtroyed, the ſtore-houſes are broken down: becauſe the corn is confounded.

18 Why did the beaſt groan, why did the herds of cattle low? becauſe there is no paſture for them: yea and the flocks of ſheep are periſhed.

19 To thee, O Lord, will I cry: becauſe fire hath devoured the beautiful places of the wilderneſs, and the flame hath burnt all the trees of the country.

20 Yea and the beaſts of the field have looked up to thee, as a garden bed that thirſteth after rain, for the ſprings of waters are dried up, and fire hath devoured the beautiful places of the wilderneſs.

CHAP. II.

The prophet foretells the terrible day of the Lord: exhorts ſinners to a ſincere converſion: and comforts God's people with promiſes of future bleſſings under Chriſt.

BLOW ye the trumpet in Sion, ſound an alarm in my holy mountain, let all the inhabitants of the land tremble: becauſe the day of the Lord cometh, becauſe it is nigh at hand.

2 A day of darkneſs, and of gloomineſs, a day of clouds and whirlwinds: a numerous and ſtrong people as the morning ſpread upon the mountains: the like to it hath not been from the beginning, nor ſhall be after it even to the years of generation and generation.

3 Before the face thereof a devouring fire, and behind it a burning flame: the land is like a garden of pleaſure before it, and behind it a deſolate wilderneſs, neither is there any one that can eſcape it.

4 The appearance of them is as the appearance of horſes, and they ſhall run like horſemen.

5 They ſhall leap like the noiſe of chariots upon the tops of mountains, like the noiſe of a flame of fire devouring the ſtubble, as a ſtrong people prepared to battle.

6 At their preſence the people ſhall be in grievous pains: all faces ſhall be made like a kettle.

7 They ſhall run like valiant men: like men of war they ſhall ſcale the wall: the men ſhall march every one on his way, and they ſhall not turn aſide from their ranks.

8 No one ſhall preſs upon his brother: they ſhall walk every one in his path: yea and they ſhall fall through the windows, and ſhall take no harm.

9 They ſhall enter into the city: they ſhall run upon the wall, they ſhall climb up the houſes, they ſhall come in at the windows as a thief.

‡ John 3. 9.

15 Blow the trumpet in Sion, ‖ ſanctify a faſt, call a ſolemn aſſembly,

‖ Supra 1. 14.

16 Gather together the people, ſanctify the church, aſſemble the ancients, gather together the little ones, and them that ſuck at the breaſts: let the bridegroom go forth from his bed, and the bride out of her bride-chamber.

17 Between the porch and the altar the prieſts the Lord's miniſters ſhall weep, and ſhall ſay: Spare, O Lord, ſpare thy people: and give not thy inheritance to reproach, that the heathens ſhould rule over them. Why ſhould they ſay among the nations: Where is their God?

18 The Lord hath been zealous for his land, and hath ſpared his people.

19 And the Lord anſwered and ſaid to his people: Behold I will ſend you corn, and wine, and oil, and you ſhall be filled with them: and I will no more make you a reproach among the nations.

20 And I will remove far off from you the northern enemy: and I will drive him into a land unpaſſable, and deſert, with his face towards the eaſt ſea, and his hinder part towards the utmoſt ſea: and his ſtench ſhall aſcend, and his rottenneſs ſhall go up, becauſe he hath done proudly.

21 Fear not, O land, be glad and rejoice: for the Lord hath done great things.

22 Fear not, ye beaſts of the fields: for the beautiful places of the wilderneſs are ſprung, for the tree hath brought forth its fruit, the fig-tree, and the vine have yielded their ſtrength.

23 And you, O children of Sion, rejoice, and be joyful in the Lord your God: becauſe he hath given you a teacher of juſtice, and he will make the early and the latter rain to come down to you as in the beginning.

24 And the floors ſhall be filled with wheat, and the preſſes ſhall overflow with wine, and oil.

25 And I will reſtore to you the years which the locuſt, and the bruchus, and the mildew, and the palmer-worm hath eaten; my great hoſt which I ſent upon you.

26 And you ſhall eat in plenty, and ſhall be filled: and you ſhall praiſe the name of the Lord your God, who hath done wonders with you, and my people ſhall not be confounded for ever.

27 And you ſhall know that I am in the midſt of Iſrael: and I am the Lord your God, and there is none beſides: and my people ſhall not be confounded for ever.

28 And it ſhall come to paſs after this, ‖ that I will pour out my ſpirit upon all fleſh: and your ſons and your daughters ſhall propheſy: your old men ſhall dream dreams, and your young men ſhall ſee viſions.

‖ Iſai. 44. 3. Acts 2. 17.

29 Moreover upon my ſervants, and handmaids in thoſe days I will pour forth my ſpirit.

30 And I will ſhew wonders in heaven; and in earth, blood, and fire, and vapour of ſmoke.

31 ‖ The ſun ſhall be turned into darkneſs, and the moon into blood: before the great and dreadful day of the Lord doth come.

‖ Supra 2. 10. Matt. 24. 29. Luke 21. 25. Acts 2. 20.

32 And it ſhall come to paſs, ‡ that every one that ſhall call upon the name of the Lord, ſhall be ſaved: for in mount Sion, and in Jeruſalem ſhall be ſalvation, as the Lord hath ſaid, and in the reſidue whom the Lord ſhall call.

‡ Rom. 10. 13.

CHAP. III.

The Lord ſhall judge all nations in the valley of Joſaphat. The evils that ſhall fall upon the enemies of God's people: his bleſſing upon the church of the ſaints.

FOR behold in thoſe days, and in that time when I ſhall bring back the captivity of Juda, and Jeruſalem:

2 I will gather together all nations, and will bring them down into the valley of Joſaphat: and I will plead with them there for my people, and for my inheritance Iſrael, whom they have ſcattered among the nations, and have parted my land.

3 And they have caſt lots upon my people: and the boy they have put in the ſtews, and the girl they have ſold for wine that they might drink.

4 But what have you to do with me, O Tyre, and Sidon, and all the coaſt of the Philiſtines? will you revenge yourſelves on me? and if you revenge yourſelves on me, I will very ſoon return you a recompence upon your own head.

5 For you have taken away my ſilver, and my gold: and my deſirable, and moſt beautiful things you have carried into your temples.

VER. 20. The northern enemy. Some underſtand this of Holofernes and his army: others of the locuſts.

6 And the children of Juda, and the children of Jerusalem you have sold to the children of the Greeks, that you might remove them far off from their own country.

7 Behold, I will raise them up out of the place wherein you have sold them: and I will return your recompence upon your own heads.

8 And I will sell your sons, and your daughters by the hands of the children of Juda, and they shall sell them to the Sabeans, a nation far off, for the Lord hath spoken it.

9 Proclaim ye this among the nations: prepare war, rouse up the strong: let them come, let all the men of war come up.

10 Cut your plough-shares into swords, and your spades into spears. Let the weak say: I am strong.

11 Break forth, and come, all ye nations from round about, and gather yourselves together: there will the Lord cause all thy strong ones to fall down.

12 Let them arise, and let the nations come up into the valley of Josaphat: for there I will sit to judge all nations round about.

|| Apoc. 14. 15. 13 || Put ye in the sickles, for the harvest is ripe: come and go down, for the press is full, the fats run over: for their wickedness is multiplied.

14 Nations, nations in the valley of destruction: for the day of the Lord is near in the valley of destruction.

|| Supra 2. 10. & 31. 15 || The sun and the moon are darkened, and the stars have withdrawn their shining.

‡ Jer. 25. 30. Amos 1. 2. 16 ‡ And the Lord shall roar out of Sion, and utter his voice from Jerusalem: and the heavens and the earth shall be moved, and the Lord shall be the hope of his people, and the strength of the children of Israel.

17 And you shall know that I am the Lord your God, dwelling in Sion my holy mountain: and Jerusalem shall be holy, and strangers shall pass through it no more.

|| Amos 9. 13. 18 And it shall come to pass in that day, || that the mountains shall drop down sweetness, and the hills shall flow with milk: and waters shall flow through all the rivers of Juda: and a fountain shall come forth of the house of the Lord, and shall water the torrent of thorns.

19 Egypt shall be a desolation, and Edom a wilderness destroyed: because they have done unjustly against the children of Juda, and have shed innocent blood in their land.

20 And Judea shall be inhabited for ever, and Jerusalem to generation and generation.

21 And I will cleanse their blood, which I had not cleansed: and the Lord will dwell in Sion.

CHAP. III. VER. 18. A fountain shall come forth of the house of the Lord, &c. viz. The fountain of grace in the church militant, and of glory in the church triumphant: which shall water the torrent or valley of thorns, that is, the souls that before, like barren ground, brought forth nothing but thorns: or that were afflicted with the thorns of crosses and tribulations.

VER. 20. Judea—and Jerusalem. That is, the spiritual Jerusalem, viz. the church of Christ.

THE PROPHECY OF AMOS.

AMOS propheſied in Iſrael about the ſame time as OSEE : and was called from following the cattle to denounce GOD'S judgments to the people of Iſrael, and the neighbouring nations, for their repeated crimes, in which they continued without repentance.

CHAP. I.

The prophet threatens Damaſcus, Gaza, Tyre, Edom, and Ammon with the judgments of God, for their obſtinacy in ſin.

A. M. circiter 3224. Ante C. 780. THE words of Amos, who was among the herdſmen of Thecua: which he ſaw concerning Iſrael in the days of Ozias king of Juda, and in the days of Jeroboam the ſon of Joas king of Iſrael ‖ two years † before the earthquake.

‖ Zach. 14. 5.

† A. M. 3216. Ante C. 788.

2 And he ſaid: ‡ The Lord will roar from Sion, and utter his voice from Jeruſalem: and the beautiful places of the ſhepherds have mourned, and the top of Carmel is withered.

‡ Jer. 25. 30. Joel 3. 16.

3 Thus ſaith the Lord: For three crimes of Damaſcus, and for four I will not convert it: becauſe they have threſhed Galaad with iron wains.

4 And I will ſend a fire into the houſe of Azael, and it ſhall devour the houſes of Benadad.

5 And I will break the bar of Damaſcus: and I will cut off the inhabitants from the plain of the idol, and him that holdeth the ſceptre from the houſe of pleaſure: and the people of Syria ſhall be carried away to Cyrene, ſaith the Lord.

6 Thus ſaith the Lord: For three crimes of Gaza, and for four I will not convert it: becauſe they have carried away a perfect captivity to ſhut them up in Edom.

7 And I will ſend a fire on the wall of Gaza, and it ſhall devour the houſes thereof.

8 And I will cut off the inhabitant from Azotus, and him that holdeth the ſceptre from Aſcalon: and I will turn my hand againſt Accaron, and the reſt of the Philiſtines ſhall periſh, ſaith the Lord God.

9 Thus ſaith the Lord: For three crimes of Tyre, and for four I will not convert it: becauſe they have ſhut up an entire captivity in Edom, and have not remembered the covenant of brethren.

10 And I will ſend a fire upon the wall of Tyre, and it ſhall devour the houſes thereof.

11 Thus ſaith the Lord: For three crimes of Edom, and for four I will not convert him: becauſe he hath purſued his brother with the ſword, and hath caſt off all

CHAP. I. VER. 1. The earthquake. Many underſtand this of a great earthquake, which, they ſay, was felt at the time that king Ozias attempted to offer incenſe in the temple. But the beſt chronologiſts prove that the earthquake here ſpoken of muſt have been before that time: becauſe Jeroboam the ſecond, under whom Amos propheſied, was dead long before that attempt of Ozias.

VER. 3. For three crimes—and for four. That is, for their many unrepented of crimes.

Ibid. I will not convert it. That is, I will not ſpare them, nor turn away the puniſhments I deſign to inflict upon them.

pity, and hath carried on his fury, and hath kept his wrath to the end.

12 I will ſend a fire into Theman: and it ſhall devour the houſes of Boſra.

13 Thus ſaith the Lord: For three crimes of the children of Ammon, and for four I will not convert him: becauſe he hath ript up the women with child of Galaad to enlarge his border.

14 And I will kindle a fire in the wall of Rabba: and it ſhall devour the houſes thereof with ſhouting in the day of battle, and with a whirlwind in the day of trouble.

15 And Melchom ſhall go into captivity, both he, and his princes together, ſaith the Lord.

CHAP. II.

The judgments with which God threatens Moab, Juda, and Iſrael for their ſins, and their ingratitude.

THUS ſaith the Lord: For three crimes of Moab, and for four I will not convert him: becauſe he hath burnt the bones of the king of Edom even to aſhes.

2 And I will ſend a fire into Moab, and it ſhall devour the houſes of Carioth: and Moab ſhall die with a noiſe, with the ſound of the trumpet:

3 And I will cut off the judge from the midſt thereof, and will ſlay all his princes with him, ſaith the Lord.

4 Thus ſaith the Lord: For three crimes of Juda, and for four I will not convert him: becauſe he hath caſt away the law of the Lord, and hath not kept his commandments: for their idols have cauſed them to err, after which their fathers have walked.

5 And I will ſend a fire into Juda, and it ſhall devour the houſes of Jeruſalem.

6 Thus ſaith the Lord: For three crimes of Iſrael, and for four I will not convert him: becauſe he hath ſold the juſt man for ſilver, and the poor man for a pair of ſhoes.

7 They bruiſe the heads of the poor upon the duſt of the earth, and turn aſide the way of the humble: and the ſon and his father have gone to the ſame young woman, to profane my holy name.

8 And they ſat down upon garments laid to pledge by every altar: and drank the wine of the condemned in the houſe of their God.

9 ‖ Yet I caſt out the Amorrhite before their face: whoſe height was like the height of cedars, and who was ſtrong as an oak: and I deſtroyed his fruit from above, and his roots beneath. ‖ Num. 21. 24. Deut. 2. 24.

10 ‡ It is I that brought you up out of the land of Egypt, and I led you forty years through the wilderneſs, that you might poſſeſs the land of the Amorrhite. ‡ Exod. 14. 22. Deut. 8. 24.

11 And I raiſed up of your ſons for prophets, and of your young men for Nazarites. Is it not ſo, O ye children of Iſrael, ſaith the Lord?

12 And you will preſent wine to the Nazarites: and command the prophets, ſaying: Propheſy not.

13 Behold, I will ſcreek under you, as a wain ſcreeketh that is laden with hay.

14 And flight ſhall periſh from the ſwift, and the valiant ſhall not poſſeſs his ſtrength, neither ſhall the ſtrong ſave his life.

15 And he that holdeth the bow ſhall not ſtand, and the ſwift of foot ſhall not eſcape, neither ſhall the rider of the horſe ſave his life.

16 And the ſtout of heart among the valiant ſhall flee away naked in that day, ſaith the Lord.

CHAP. III.

The evils that ſhall fall upon Iſrael for their ſins.

HEAR the word that the Lord hath ſpoken concerning you, O ye children of Iſrael: concerning the whole family that I brought up out of the land of Egypt, ſaying:

2 You only have I known of all the families of the earth: therefore will I viſit upon you all your iniquities.

3 Shall two walk together, except they be agreed?

4 Will a lion roar in the foreſt, if he have no prey? will the lion's whelp cry out of his den, if he have taken nothing?

5 Will the bird fall into the ſnare upon the earth, if there be no fowler? Shall the ſnare be taken up from the earth, before it hath taken ſomewhat?

6 Shall the trumpet ſound in a city, and the people not be afraid? Shall there be evil in a city, which the Lord hath not done?

VER. 15. Melchom. The god or idol of the Ammonites, otherwiſe called Moloch, and Melech; which in Hebrew ſignifies a king, and Melchom their king.

CHAP. II. VER. 13. I will ſcreek. Unable to bear any longer the enormous load of your ſins, &c. The Spirit of God, as St. Jerom takes notice, accommodates himſelf to the education of the prophet, and inſpires him with compariſons taken from country affairs.

CHAP. III. VER. 2. Viſit upon. That is, puniſh.

VER. 6. Evil in a city. He ſpeaks of the evil of puniſhments of war, famine, peſtilence, deſolation, &c. but not of the evil of ſin, of which God is not the author.

7 For the Lord God doth nothing without revealing his ſecret to his ſervants the prophets.

8 The lion ſhall roar, who will not fear? The Lord God hath ſpoken, who ſhall not prophefy?

9 Publiſh it in the houſes of Azotus, and in the houſes of the land of Egypt: and ſay: Aſſemble yourſelves upon the mountains of Samaria, and behold the many follies in the midſt thereof, and them that ſuffer oppreſſion in the inner rooms thereof.

10 And they have not known to do the right thing, ſaith the Lord, ſtoring up iniquity, and robberies in their houſes.

11 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord God: The land ſhall be in tribulation, and ſhall be compaſſed about: and thy ſtrength ſhall be taken away from thee, and thy houſes ſhall be ſpoiled.

12 Thus ſaith the Lord: As if a ſhepherd ſhould get out of the lion's mouth two legs, or the tip of the ear: ſo ſhall the children of Iſrael be taken out that dwell in Samaria, in a piece of a bed, and in the couch of Damaſcus.

13 Hear ye, and teſtify in the houſe of Jacob, ſaith the Lord the God of hoſts:

14 That in the day when I ſhall begin to viſit the tranſgreſſions of Iſrael, I will viſit upon him, and upon the altars of Bethel: and the horns of the altars ſhall be cut off, and ſhall fall to the ground.

15 And I will ſtrike the winter-houſe with the ſummer-houſe: and the houſes of ivory ſhall periſh, and many houſes ſhall be deſtroyed, ſaith the Lord.

CHAP. IV.

The Iſraelites are reproved for their oppreſſing the poor, for their idolatry, and their incorrigibleneſs.

HEAR this word, ye fat kine that are in the mountains of Samaria: you that oppreſs the needy, and cruſh the poor: that ſay to your maſters: Bring, and we will drink.

2 The Lord God hath ſworn by his holineſs, that lo the days ſhall come upon you, when they ſhall lift you up on pikes, and what ſhall remain of you in boiling pots.

3 And you ſhall go out at the breaches one over-againſt the other, and you ſhall be caſt forth into Armon, ſaith the Lord.

4 Come ye to Bethel, and do wickedly: to Galgal, and multiply tranſgreſſions: and bring in the morning your victims, your tithes in three days.

5 And offer a ſacrifice of praiſe with leaven: and call free offerings, and proclaim it: for ſo you would do, O children of Iſrael, ſaith the Lord God.

6 Whereupon I alſo have given you dulneſs of teeth in all your cities, and want of bread in all your places: yet you have not returned to me, ſaith the Lord.

7 I alſo have withholden the rain from you, when there were yet three months to the harveſt: and I cauſed it to rain upon one city, and cauſed it not to rain upon another city: one piece was rained upon: and the piece whereupon I rained not, withered.

8 And two and three cities went to one city to drink water, and were not filled: yet you returned not to me, ſaith the Lord.

9 ‖ I ſtruck you with a burning wind, and with mildew, the palmer-worm hath eaten up your many gardens, and your vineyards: your olive-groves, and fig-groves: yet you returned not to me, ſaith the Lord. ‖ Aggeus 2. 18.

10 I ſent death upon you in the way of Egypt, I ſlew your young men with the ſword, even to the captivity of your horſes: and † made the ſtench of your camp to come up into your noſtrils: yet you returned not to me, ſaith the Lord.

11 I deſtroyed ſome of you, ‖ as God deſtroyed Sodom and Gomorrha, and you were as a firebrand plucked out of the burning: yet you returned not to me, ſaith the Lord. ‖ Gen. 19. 24.

12 Therefore I will do theſe things to thee, O Iſrael: and after I ſhall have done theſe things to thee, be prepared to meet thy God, O Iſrael.

13 For behold he that formeth the mountains and createth the wind, and declareth his word to man, he that maketh the morning miſt, and walketh upon the high places of the earth: the Lord the God of hoſts is his name.

CHAP. V.

A lamentation for Iſrael: an exhortation to return to God.

HEAR ye this word, which I take up concerning you for a lamentation. The houſe of Iſrael is fallen, and it ſhall riſe no more.

CHAP. IV. VER. 1. Fat kine. He means the great ones that lived in plenty and wealth.

VER. 3. Armon. A foreign country: ſome underſtand it of Armenia.

2 The virgin of Iſrael is caſt down upon her land, there is none to raiſe her up.

3 For thus ſaith the Lord God: The city, out of which came forth a thouſand, there ſhall be left in it a hundred: and out of which there came a hundred, there ſhall be left in it ten, in the houſe of Iſrael.

4 For thus ſaith the Lord to the houſe of Iſrael: Seek ye me, and you ſhall live.

5 But ſeek not Bethel, and go not into Galgal, neither ſhall you paſs over to Berſabee: for Galgal ſhall go into captivity, and Bethel ſhall be unprofitable.

6 Seek ye the Lord, and live: leſt the houſe of Joſeph be burnt with fire, and it ſhall devour, and there ſhall be none to quench Bethel.

7 You that turn judgment into wormwood, and forſake juſtice in the land.

8 Seek him that maketh Arcturus, and Orion, and that turneth darkneſs into morning, and that changeth day into night: ‖ Infra 9. 6. ‖ that calleth the waters of the ſea, and poureth them out upon the face of the earth: The Lord is his name.

9 He that with a ſmile bringeth deſtruction upon the ſtrong, and waſte upon the mighty.

10 They have hated him that rebuketh in the gate: and have abhorred him that ſpeaketh perfectly.

11 Therefore becauſe you robbed the poor, and took the choice prey from him: ‖ Soph. 1. 13. ‖ you ſhall build houſes with ſquare ſtone, and ſhall not dwell in them: you ſhall plant moſt delightful vineyards, and ſhall not drink the wine of them.

12 Becauſe I know your manifold crimes, and your grievous ſins: enemies of the juſt, taking bribes, and oppreſſing the poor in the gate.

13 Therefore the prudent ſhall keep ſilence at that time, for it is in an evil time.

14 Seek ye good, and not evil, that you may live: and the Lord the God of hoſts will be with you, as you have ſaid.

‖ Pſal. 96. 10. Rom. 12. 9. 15 ‖ Hate evil, and love good, and eſtabliſh judgment in the gate: it may be the Lord the God of hoſts may have mercy on the remnant of Joſeph.

16 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord the God of hoſts the ſovereign Lord: In every ſtreet there ſhall be wailing: and in all places that are without, they ſhall ſay: Alas, alas! and they ſhall call the huſbandman to mourning, and ſuch as are ſkilful in lamentation to lament.

17 And in all vineyards there ſhall be wailing: becauſe I will paſs through in the midſt of thee, ſaith the Lord.

18 ‖ Wo to them that deſire the day of the Lord: to what end is it for you? the day of the Lord is darkneſs, and not light. ‖ Jer. 30. 7. Joel 2. 11. Soph. 1. 15.

19 As if a man ſhould flee from the face of a lion, and a bear ſhould meet him: or enter into the houſe, and lean with his hand upon the wall, and a ſerpent ſhould bite him.

20 Shall not the day of the Lord be darkneſs, and not light: and obſcurity, and no brightneſs in it?

21 ‖ I hate, and have rejected your feſtivities: and I will not receive the odour of your aſſemblies. ‖ Iſai. 1. 11. Jerem. 6. 20. Malac. 1. 12.

22 And if you offer me holocauſts, and your gifts, I will not receive them: neither will I regard the vows of your fat beaſts.

23 Take away from me the tumult of thy ſongs: and I will not hear the canticles of thy harp.

24 But judgment ſhall be revealed as water, and juſtice as a mighty torrent.

25 ‖ Did you offer victims and ſacrifices to me in the deſert for forty years, O houſe of Iſrael? ‖ Acts 7. 42.

26 But you carried a tabernacle for your Moloch, and the image of your idols, the ſtar of your god, which you made to yourſelves.

27 And I will cauſe you to go into captivity beyond Damaſcus, ſaith the Lord, the God of hoſts is his name.

CHAP. VI.

The deſolation of Iſrael for their pride and luxury.

WO to you that are wealthy in Sion, and to you that have confidence in the mountain of Samaria: ye great men, heads of the people, that go in with ſtate into the houſe of Iſrael. Luke 6. 24.

2 Paſs ye over to Chalane, and ſee, and go from thence into Emath the great: and

VER. 8. Arcturus and Orion. Arcturus is a bright ſtar in the north: Orion a beautiful conſtellation in the ſouth.

VER. 9. With a ſmile. That is, with all eaſe, and without making any effort.

VER. 25. Did you offer, &c. Except the ſacrifices that were offered at the firſt, in the dedication of the tabernacle, the Iſraelites offered no ſacrifices in the deſert.

VER. 26. A tabernacle, &c. All this alludes to the idolatry which they committed, when they were drawn away by the daughters of Moab to the worſhip of their gods. Numb. xxv.

go down into Geth of the Philiſtines, and to all the beſt kingdoms of theſe: if their border be larger than your border.

3 You that are ſeparated unto the evil day: and that approach to the throne of iniquity.

4 You that ſleep upon beds of ivory, and are wanton on your couches: that eat the lambs out of the flock, and the calves out of the midſt of the herd.

5 You that ſing to the ſound of the pſaltery: they have thought themſelves to have inſtruments of muſic like David.

6 That drink wine in bowls, and anoint themſelves with the beſt ointments: and they are not concerned for the affliction of Joſeph.

7 Wherefore now they ſhall go captive at the head of them that go into captivity: and the faction of the luxurious ones ſhall be taken away.

‖ Jerem. 51. 14. 8 ‖ The Lord God hath ſworn by his own ſoul, ſaith the Lord the God of hoſts: I deteſt the pride of Jacob, and I hate his houſes, and I will deliver up the city with the inhabitants thereof.

9 And if there remain ten men in one houſe, they alſo ſhall die.

10 And a man's kinſman ſhall take him up, and ſhall burn him, that he may carry the bones out of the houſe: and he ſhall ſay to him that is in the inner rooms of the houſe: Is there yet any with thee?

11 And he ſhall anſwer: There is an end. And he ſhall ſay to him: Hold thy peace, and mention not the name of the Lord.

12 For behold the Lord hath commanded, and he will ſtrike the greater houſe with breaches, and the leſſer houſe with clefts.

13 Can horſes run upon the rocks, or can any one plough with buffles, for you have turned judgment into bitterneſs, and the fruit of juſtice into wormwood?

14 You that rejoice in a thing of naught: you that ſay: Have we not taken unto us horns by our own ſtrength?

15 But behold, I will raiſe up a nation againſt you, O houſe of Iſrael, ſaith the Lord the God of hoſts: and they ſhall deſtroy you from the entrance of Emath, even to the torrent of the deſert.

CHAP. VII.

The prophet ſees, in three viſions, evils coming upon Iſrael: he is accuſed of treaſon by the falſe prieſt of Bethel.

THESE things the Lord God ſhewed to me: and behold the locuſt was formed in the beginning of the ſhooting up of the latter rain, and lo it was the latter rain after the king's mowing.

2 And it came to paſs, that when they had made an end of eating the graſs of the land, I ſaid: O Lord God, be merciful, I beſeech thee: who ſhall raiſe up Jacob, for he is very little?

3 The Lord had pity upon this: It ſhall not be, ſaid the Lord.

4 Theſe things the Lord God ſhewed to me: and behold the Lord called for judgment unto fire, and it devoured the great deep, and eat up a part at the ſame time.

5 And I ſaid: O Lord God, ceaſe, I beſeech thee: who ſhall raiſe up Jacob, for he is a little one?

6 The Lord had pity upon this: Yea this alſo ſhall not be, ſaid the Lord God.

7 Theſe things the Lord ſhewed to me: and behold the Lord was ſtanding upon a plaſtered wall, and in his hand a maſon's trowel.

8 And the Lord ſaid to me: What ſeeſt thou, Amos? And I ſaid: A maſon's trowel. And the Lord ſaid: Behold, I will lay down the trowel in the midſt of my people Iſrael: I will plaſter them over no more.

9 And the high places of the idol ſhall be thrown down, and the ſanctuaries of Iſrael ſhall be laid waſte: and I will riſe up againſt the houſe of Jeroboam with the ſword.

10 And Amaſias the prieſt of Bethel ſent to Jeroboam king of Iſrael, ſaying: Amos hath rebelled againſt thee in the midſt of the houſe of Iſrael: the land is not able to bear all his words.

11 For thus ſaith Amos: Jeroboam ſhall die by the ſword, and Iſrael ſhall be carried away captive out of their own land.

12 And Amaſias ſaid to Amos: Thou ſeer, go, flee away into the land of Juda: and eat bread there, and propheſy there.

CHAP. VII. VER. 1. The locuſt, &c. Theſe judgments by locuſts and fire, which, by the prophet's interceſſion, were moderated, ſignify the former invaſions of the Aſſyrians under Phul and Teglathphalaſar, before the utter deſolation of Iſrael by Salmanaſar.

VER. 11. Jeroboam ſhall die by the ſword. The prophet did not ſay this; but that the Lord would riſe up againſt the houſe of Jeroboam with the ſword: which was verified, when Zacharias the ſon and ſucceſſor of Jeroboam was ſlain by the ſword, 4 Kings, xv. 10.

13 But propheſy not again any more in Bethel: becauſe it is the king's ſanctuary, and it is the houſe of the kingdom.

14 And Amos anſwered, and ſaid to Amaſias: I am not a prophet, nor am I the ſon of a prophet: but I am a herdſman plucking wild figs.

15 And the Lord took me when I followed the flock, and the Lord ſaid to me: Go, propheſy to my people Iſrael.

16 And now hear thou the word of the Lord: Thou ſayeſt: Thou ſhalt not propheſy againſt Iſrael, and thou ſhalt not drop thy word upon the houſe of the idol.

17 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord: Thy wife ſhall play the harlot in the city, and thy ſons, and thy daughters ſhall fall by the ſword, and thy land ſhall be meaſured by a line: and thou ſhalt die in a polluted land, and Iſrael ſhall go into captivity out of their land.

CHAP. VIII.

Under the figure of a hook, which bringeth down the fruit, the approaching deſolation of Iſrael is foreſhewed for their avarice and injuſtices.

THESE things the Lord ſhewed to me: and behold a hook to draw down the fruit.

2 And he ſaid: What ſeeſt thou, Amos? And I ſaid: A hook to draw down fruit. And the Lord ſaid to me: The end is come upon my people Iſrael: I will not again paſs by them any more.

3 And the hinges of the temple ſhall ſcreek in that day, ſaith the Lord God: many ſhall die: ſilence ſhall be caſt in every place.

4 Hear this, you that cruſh the poor, and make the needy of the land to fail,

5 Saying: when will the month be over, and we ſhall ſell our wares: and the ſabbath, and we ſhall open the corn: that we may leſſen the meaſure, and increaſe the ſickle, and may convey in deceitful balances,

6 That we may poſſeſs the needy for money, and the poor for a pair of ſhoes, and may ſell the refuſe of the corn?

7 The Lord hath ſworn againſt the pride of Jacob: Surely I will never forget all their works.

8 Shall not the land tremble for this, and every one mourn that dwelleth therein: and riſe up altogether as a river, and be caſt out, and run down as the river of Egypt?

9 And it ſhall come to paſs in that day, ſaith the Lord God, that the ſun ſhall go down at mid-day, and I will make the earth dark in the day of light:

10 ‖ And I will turn your feaſts into mourning, and all your ſongs into lamentation: and I will bring up ſackcloth upon every back of yours, and baldneſs upon every head: and I will make it as the mourning of an only ſon, and the latter end thereof as a bitter day. ‖ Tobias 2. 6. 1 Mac. 1. 41.

11 Behold the days come, ſaith the Lord, and I will ſend forth a famine into the land: not a famine of bread, nor a thirſt of water, but of hearing the word of the Lord.

12 And they ſhall move from ſea to ſea, and from the north to the eaſt: they ſhall go about ſeeking the word of the Lord, and ſhall not find it.

13 In that day the fair virgins, and the young men ſhall faint for thirſt.

14 They that ſwear by the ſin of Samaria, and ſay: Thy God, O Dan, liveth: and the way of Berſabee liveth: and they ſhall fall, and ſhall riſe no more.

CHAP. IX.

The certainty of the deſolation of Iſrael: the reſtoring of the tabernacle of David, and the converſion of the Gentiles to the church; which ſhall flouriſh for ever.

I SAW the Lord ſtanding upon the altar, and he ſaid: Strike the hinges, and let the lintels be ſhook: for there is covetouſneſs in the head of them all, and I will ſlay the laſt of them with the ſword: there ſhall be no flight for them: they ſhall flee, and he that ſhall flee of them ſhall not be delivered.

2 ‖ Though they go down even to hell, thence ſhall my hand bring them out: and though they climb up to heaven, thence will I bring them down. ‖ Pſal. 138. 8.

3 And though they be hid in the top of Carmel, I will ſearch and take them away from thence: and though they hide themſelves from my eyes in the depth of the ſea, there will I command the ſerpent and he ſhall bite them.

4 And if they go into captivity before their enemies, there will I command the ſword, and it ſhall kill them ‖. And I will ſet my eyes upon them for evil, and not for good. ‖ Jerem. 44. 11.

5 And the Lord the God of hoſts, is he

VER. 14. I am not a prophet. That is, I am not a prophet by education: nor is propheſying my calling or profeſſion: but I am a herdſman, whom God was pleaſed to ſend hither to propheſy to Iſrael.

who toucheth the earth, and it ſhall melt: and all that dwell therein ſhall mourn: and it ſhall riſe up as a river, and ſhall run down as the river of Egypt.

6 He that buildeth his aſcenſion in heaven, and hath founded his bundle upon the earth: ‖ who calleth the waters of the ſea, and poureth them out upon the face of the earth, the Lord is his name.

‖ Supra 5. 3.

7 Are not you as the children of the Ethiopians unto me, O children of Iſrael, ſaith the Lord? did not I bring up Iſrael out of the land of Egypt: ‖ and the Paleſtines out of Cappadocia, and the Syrians out of Cyrene?

‖ Deut. 2. 25. Jerem. 47. 4.

8 Behold the eyes of the Lord God are upon the ſinful kingdom, and I will deſtroy it from the face of the earth: but yet I will not utterly deſtroy the houſe of Jacob, ſaith the Lord.

9 For behold I will command, and I will ſift the houſe of Iſrael among all nations, as corn is ſifted in a ſieve: and there ſhall not a little ſtone fall to the ground.

10 All the ſinners of my people ſhall fall by the ſword: who ſay: The evils ſhall not approach, and ſhall not come upon us.

11 In that day ‖ I will raiſe up the tabernacle of David, that is fallen: and I will cloſe up the breaches of the walls thereof, and repair what was fallen: and I will rebuild it as in the days of old.

‖ Acts 15. 16.

12 That they may poſſeſs the remnant of Edom, and all nations, becauſe my name is invoked upon them: ſaith the Lord that doth theſe things.

13 Behold the days come, ſaith the Lord, when the ploughman ſhall overtake the reaper, and the treader of grapes him that ſoweth ſeed: and ‖ the mountains ſhall drop ſweetneſs, and every hill ſhall be tilled.

‖ Joel 3. 18.

14 And I will bring back the captivity of my people Iſrael: and they ſhall build the abandoned cities, and inhabit them: and they ſhall plant vineyards, and drink the wine of them: and ſhall make gardens, and eat the fruits of them. And I will plant them upon their own land: and I will no more pluck them out of their land, which I have given them, ſaith the Lord thy God.

CHAP. IX. VER. 6. His aſcenſion. That is, his high throne.

Ibid. His bundle. That is, his church, bound up together by the bands of one faith and communion.

VER. 7. As the children of the Ethiopians. That is, as black as they, by your iniquities.

VER. 13. Shall overtake, &c. By this is meant the great abundance of ſpiritual bleſſings; which, as it were, by a conſtant ſucceſſion ſhall enrich the church of Chriſt.

THE PROPHECY OF ABDIAS.

ABDIAS, whoſe name is interpreted THE SERVANT OF THE LORD, is believed to have propheſied about the ſame time as OSEE, JOEL, and AMOS: though ſome of the Hebrews, who believe him to be the ſame with ACHAB'S ſteward, make him much more ancient. His prophecy is the ſhorteſt of any in number of words, but yields to none, ſays St. JEROM, in the ſublimity of myſteries. It contains but one Chapter.

CHAP. I.

The deſtruction of Edom for their pride: and the wrongs they did to Jacob: the ſalvation and victory of Iſrael.

A. M. circiter 3224. Ante C. 780.

THE viſion of Abdias. Thus ſaith the Lord God to Edom: ‖ We have heard a rumour from the Lord, and he hath ſent an ambaſſador to the nations: Ariſe, and let us riſe up to battle againſt him.

‖ Jerem. 49. 14.

2 Behold I have made thee ſmall among the nations: thou art exceeding contemptible.

3 The pride of thy heart hath lifted thee up, who dwelleſt in the clefts of the rocks, and ſetteſt up thy throne on high: who ſayſt in thy heart: Who ſhall bring me down to the ground?

4 Though thou be exalted as an eagle, and though thou ſet thy neſt among the ſtars: thence will I bring thee down, ſaith the Lord.

5 If thieves had gone in to thee, if robbers by night, how wouldſt thou have held thy peace? would they not have ſtolen till they had enough? if the grape-gatherers had come into thee, would they not have left thee at the leaſt a cluſter?

6 How have they ſearched Eſau, how have they ſought out his hidden things?

7 They have ſent thee out even to the border: all the men of thy confederacy have deceived thee: the men of thy peace have prevailed againſt thee: they that eat with thee, ſhall lay ſnares under thee: there is no wiſdom in him.

‖ Iſai. 29. 14. 1 Cor. 1. 19.

8 ‖ Shall not I in that day, ſaith the Lord, deſtroy the wiſe out of Edom, and underſtanding out of the mount of Eſau.

9 And thy valiant men of the ſouth ſhall be afraid, that man may be cut off from the mount of Eſau.

‡ Gen. 27. 42.

10 ‡ For the ſlaughter, and for the iniquity againſt thy brother Jacob, confuſion ſhall cover thee, and thou ſhalt periſh for ever.

11 In the day when thou ſtoodeſt againſt him, when ſtrangers carried away his army captive, and foreigners entered into his gates, and caſt lots upon Jeruſalem: thou alſo waſt as one of them.

12 But thou ſhalt not look on in the day of thy brother, in the day of his leaving his country: and thou ſhalt not rejoice over the children of Juda, in the day of their deſtruction: and thou ſhalt not magnify thy mouth in the day of diſtreſs.

13 Neither ſhalt thou enter into the gate of my people in the day of their ruin: neither ſhalt thou alſo look on in his evils in the day of his calamity: and thou ſhalt not be ſent out againſt his army in the day of his deſolation.

14 Neither ſhalt thou ſtand in the croſs-ways to kill them that flee: and thou ſhalt not ſhut up them that remain of him in the day of tribulation.

15 For the day of the Lord is at hand upon all nations: as thou haſt done, ſo ſhall it be done to thee: he will turn thy reward upon thy own head.

16 For as you have drunk upon my holy mountain, ſo all nations ſhall drink continually: and they ſhall drink, and ſup up, and they ſhall be as though they were not.

17 And in mount Sion ſhall be ſalvation, and it ſhall be holy: and the houſe of Jacob ſhall poſſeſs thoſe that poſſeſſed them.

18 And the houſe of Jacob ſhall be a fire, and the houſe of Joſeph a flame, and the houſe of Eſau ſtubble: and they ſhall be kindled in them, and ſhall devour them: and there ſhall be no remains of the houſe of Eſau, for the Lord hath ſpoken it.

19 And they that are toward the ſouth, ſhall inherit the mount of Eſau, and they that are in the plains, the Philiſtines: and they ſhall poſſeſs the country of Ephraim, and the country of Samaria: and Benjamin ſhall poſſeſs Galaad.

20 And the captivity of this hoſt of the children of Iſrael, all the places of the Chananites even to Sarepta: and the captivity of Jeruſalem that is in Boſphorus, ſhall poſſeſs the cities of the ſouth.

21 And ſaviours ſhall come up into mount Sion to judge the mount of Eſau: and the kingdom ſhall be for the Lord.

CHAP. I. VER. 12. Thou ſhalt not look, &c. or, thou ſhouldſt not, &c. It is a reprehenſion for what they had done, and at the ſame time a declaration that theſe things ſhould not paſs unpuniſhed.

Ibid. Thou ſhalt not magnify thy mouth. That is, thou ſhalt not ſpeak arrogantly againſt the children of Juda as inſulting them in their diſtreſs.

THE PROPHECY OF JONAS.

JONAS prophesied in the reign of JEROBOAM the second: as we learn from 4 Kings xiv. 35. To whom also he foretold his success in restoring all the borders of Israel. He was of GETH-OPHER in the tribe of ZABULON, and consequently of GALILEE: which confutes that assertion of the Pharisees, John vii. 52. that no prophet ever rose out of GALILEE. He prophesied and prefigured in his own person the death and resurrection of CHRIST: and was the only one among the prophets that was sent to preach to the Gentiles.

CHAP. I.

Jonas being sent to preach in Ninive, fleeth away by sea: a tempest riseth: of which he being found, by lot, to be the cause, is cast into the sea, which thereupon is calmed.

A. M. circiter 3197. Ante C. 807.

NOW the word of the Lord came to Jonas the son of Amathi, saying:

2 Arise, and go to Ninive the great city, and preach in it: for the wickedness thereof is come up before me.

3 And Jonas rose up to flee into Tharsis from the face of the Lord, and he went down to Joppe, and found a ship going to Tharsis: and he paid the fare thereof, and went down into it, to go with them to Tharsis from the face of the Lord.

4 But the Lord sent a great wind into the sea: and a great tempest was raised in the sea, and the ship was in danger to be broken.

5 And the mariners were afraid, and the men cried to their god: and they cast forth the wares that were in the ship, into the sea, to lighten it of them: and Jonas went down into the inner part of the ship, and fell into a deep sleep.

6 And the ship-master came to him, and said to him: Why art thou fast asleep? rise up, call upon thy God, if so be that God will think of us, that we may not perish.

7 And they said every one to his fellow: Come, and let us cast lots, that we may know why this evil is upon us. And they cast lots, and the lot fell upon Jonas.

8 And they said to him: Tell us for what cause this evil is upon us, what is thy business? of what country art thou? and whither goest thou? or of what people art thou?

9 And he said to them: I am a Hebrew, and I fear the Lord the God of heaven, who made both the sea and the dry land.

10 And the men were greatly afraid, and they said to him: Why hast thou done this? (for the men knew that he fled from the face of the Lord: because he had told them.)

11 And they said to him: What shall we do to thee, that the sea may be calm to us? for the sea flowed and swelled.

12 And he said to them: Take me up, and cast me into the sea, and the sea shall be calm to you: for I know that for my sake this great tempest is upon you.

13 And the men rowed hard to return to land, but they were not able: because the sea tossed and swelled upon them.

14 And they cried to the Lord, and said:

CHAP. I. VER. 2. Ninive. The capital city of the Assyrian empire.

VER. 3. Tharsis. Which some take to be Tharsus of Cilicia, others to be Tartessus of Spain, others to be Carthage.

VER. 5. A deep sleep. This is a lively image of the insensibility of sinners, fleeing from God, and threatened on every side with his judgments: and yet sleeping as if they were secure.

We beseech thee, O Lord, let us not perish for this man's life, and lay not upon us innocent blood: for thou, O Lord, hast done as it pleased thee.

15 And they took Jonas, and cast him into the sea, and the sea ceased from raging.

16 And the men feared the Lord exceedingly, and sacrificed victims to the Lord, and made vows.

CHAP. II.

Jonas is swallowed up by a great fish; he prayeth with confidence in God; and the fish casteth him out on the dry land.

NOW the Lord prepared a great fish to swallow up Jonas: ‖ and Jonas was in the belly of the fish three days and three nights.

‖ Matt. 12. 40. & 16. 4. Luke 11. 30. 1 Cor. 15. 4.

2 And Jonas prayed to the Lord his God out of the belly of the fish.

3 And he said: ‡ I cried out of my affliction to the Lord, and he heard me: I cried out of the belly of hell, and thou hast heard my voice.

‡ Psal. 119. 1.

4 And thou hast cast me forth into the deep in the heart of the sea, and a flood hath compassed me: all thy billows, and thy waves have passed over me.

5 And I said: I am cast away out of the sight of thy eyes: but yet I shall see thy holy temple again.

6 ‖ The waters compassed me about even to the soul: the deep hath closed me round about, the sea hath covered my head.

‖ Psal. 68. 1.

7 I went down to the lowest parts of the mountains: the bars of the earth have shut me up for ever: and thou wilt bring up my life from corruption, O Lord my God.

8 When my soul was in distress within me, I remembered the Lord: that my prayer may come to thee, unto thy holy temple.

9 They that in vain observe vanities, forsake their own mercy.

10 But I with the voice of praise will sacrifice to thee: I will pay whatsoever I have vowed for my salvation to the Lord.

11 And the Lord spoke to the fish: and it vomited out Jonas upon the dry land.

CHAP. III.

Jonas is sent again to preach in Ninive. Upon their fasting and repentance, God recalleth the sentence by which they were to be destroyed.

AND the word of the Lord came to Jonas the second time, saying:

2 Arise, and go to Ninive the great city: and preach in it the preaching that I bid thee.

3 And Jonas arose, and went to Ninive according to the word of the Lord: now Ninive was a great city of three days journey.

4 And Jonas began to enter into the city one day's journey: and he cried, and said: Yet forty days, and Ninive shall be destroyed.

5 ‖ And the men of Ninive believed in God: and they proclaimed a fast, and put on sackcloth from the greatest to the least.

‖ Matt. 12. 41. Luke 11. 32.

6 And the word came to the king of Ninive: and he rose up out of his throne, and cast away his robe from him, and was clothed with sackcloth, and sat in ashes.

7 And he caused it to be proclaimed and published in Ninive from the mouth of the king and of his princes, saying: Let neither men nor beasts, oxen, nor sheep, taste any thing: let them not feed, nor drink water.

8 And let men and beasts be covered with sackcloth, and cry to the Lord with all their strength, and let them turn every one from his evil way, and from the iniquity that is in their hands.

9 ‖ Who can tell if God will turn, and forgive: and will turn away from his fierce anger, and we shall not perish?

‖ Jer. 18. 11. Joel 2. 14.

10 And God saw their works, that they were turned from their evil way: and God had mercy with regard to the evil which he had said that he would do to them, and he did it not.

CHAP. IV.

Jonas repining to see that his prophecy is not fulfilled, is reproved by the type of the ivy.

AND Jonas was exceedingly troubled, and was angry:

2 And he prayed to the Lord, and said: I beseech thee, O Lord, is not this what I said, when I was yet in my own country?

CHAP. II. VER. 11. Spoke to the fish. God's speaking to the fish, was nothing else but his will, to which all things obey.

CHAP. III. VER. 3. Of three days journey. By the computation of some ancient historians, Ninive was about fifty miles round: so that to go through all the chief streets and public places was three days journey.

CHAP. IV. VER. 1. Was exceedingly troubled, &c. His concern was lest he should pass for a false prophet; or rather, lest God's word, by this occasion, might come to be slighted and disbelieved.

therefore I went before to flee into Tharsis: || for I know that thou art a gracious and merciful God, patient, and of much compassion, and easy to forgive evil.

|| Pf. 85. 5. Joel 2. 13.

3 And now, O Lord, I beseech thee take my life from me: for it is better for me to die than to live.

4 And the Lord said: Dost thou think thou hast reason to be angry?

5 Then Jonas went out of the city, and sat toward the east side of the city: and he made himself a booth there, and he sat under it in the shadow, till he might see what would befal the city.

6 And the Lord God prepared an ivy, and it came up over the head of Jonas, to be a shadow over his head, and to cover him (for he was fatigued): and Jonas was exceeding glad of the ivy.

7 But God prepared a worm, when the morning arose on the following day: and it struck the ivy and it withered.

8 And when the sun was risen, the Lord commanded a hot and burning wind: and the sun beat upon the head of Jonas, and he broiled with the heat: and he desired for his soul that he might die, and said: It is better for me to die than to live.

9 And the Lord said to Jonas: Dost thou think thou hast reason to be angry, for the ivy? And he said: I am angry with reason even unto death.

10 And the Lord said. Thou art grieved for the ivy, for which thou hast not laboured, nor made it to grow, which in one night came up, and in one night perished.

11 And shall not I spare Ninive, that great city, in which there are more than a hundred and twenty thousand persons, that know not how to distinguish between their right hand and their left, and many beasts?

VER. 6. The Lord God prepared an ivy. Hederam. In the Hebrew it is Kikajon, which some render a gourd: others a palmerist, or palma Christi.

THE PROPHECY OF MICHEAS.

MICHEAS, of Morasti, a little town in the tribe of JUDA, was cotemporary with the prophet ISAIAS: whom he resembles both in his spirit and his stile. He is different from the prophet MICHEAS mentioned in the third book of Kings, chap. xxii. For that MICHEAS lived in the days of king ACHAB, one hundred and fifty years before the time of EZECHIAS, under whom this MICHEAS prophesied.

CHAP. I.

Samaria for her sins shall be destroyed by the Assyrians: they shall also invade Juda and Jerusalem.

A. M. circiter 3246. Ante C. 758. THE word of the Lord that came to Micheas the Morasthite, in the days of Joathan, Achaz, and Ezechias kings of Juda: which he saw concerning Samaria and Jerusalem.

2 || Hear all ye people: and let the earth give ear, and all that is therein: and let the Lord God be a witness to you, the Lord from his holy temple.

|| Deut. 32. 1. Isai. 1. 2.

3 † For behold the Lord will come forth out of his place: and he will come down, and will tread upon the high places of the earth.

† Isai. 26. 21.

4 And the mountains shall be melted under him: and the valleys shall be cleft, as wax before the fire, and as waters that run down a ſteep place.

5 For the wickedneſs of Jacob is all this, and for the ſins of the houſe of Iſrael. What is the wickedneſs of Jacob? is it not Samaria? and what are the high places of Juda? are they not Jeruſalem?

6 And I will make Samaria as a heap of ſtones in the field when a vineyard is planted: and I will bring down the ſtones thereof into the valley, and will lay her foundations bare.

7 And all her graven things ſhall be cut in pieces, and all her wages ſhall be burnt with fire, and I will bring to deſtruction all her idols: for they were gathered together of the hire of a harlot, and unto the hire of a harlot they ſhall return.

8 Therefore will I lament, and howl: I will go ſtript and naked: I will make a wailing like the dragons, and a mourning like the oſtriches.

9 Becauſe her wound is deſperate, becauſe it is come even to Juda, it hath touched the gate of my people even to Jeruſalem.

10 Declare ye it not in Geth, weep ye not with tears: in the houſe of Duſt ſprinkle yourſelves with duſt.

11 And paſs away, O thou that dwelleſt in the Beautiful place, covered with thy ſhame: ſhe went not forth that dwelleth in the confines: the Houſe adjoining ſhall receive mourning from you, which ſtood by herſelf.

12 For ſhe is become weak unto good that dwelleth in bitterneſs: for evil is come down from the Lord into the gate of Jeruſalem.

13 A tumult of chariots hath aſtoniſhed the inhabitants of Lachis: it is the beginning of ſin to the daughter of Sion, for in thee were found the crimes of Iſrael.

14 Therefore ſhall ſhe ſend meſſengers to the inheritance of Geth: the houſes of lying to deceive the kings of Iſrael.

15 Yet will I bring an heir to thee that dwelleſt in Mareſa: even to Odollam ſhall the glory of Iſrael come.

16 Make thee bald, and be polled for thy delicate children: enlarge thy baldneſs as the eagle: for they are carried into captivity from thee.

CHAP. II.

The Iſraelites by their crying injuſtices provoke God to puniſh them. He ſhall at laſt reſtore Jacob.

WO to you that deviſe that which is unprofitable, and work evil in your beds: in the morning light they execute it, becauſe their hand is againſt God.

2 And they have coveted fields, and taken them by violence, and houſes they have forcibly taken away: and oppreſſed a man and his houſe, a man and his inheritance.

3 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord: Behold, I deviſe an evil againſt this family: from which you ſhall not withdraw your necks, and you ſhall not walk haughtily, for this is a very evil time.

4 In that day a parable ſhall be taken up upon you, and a ſong ſhall be ſung with melody by them that ſay: We are laid waſte

---

CHAP. I. VER. 7. Her wages. That is, her donaries or preſents offered to her idols: or the hire of all her traffic and labour.

Ibidem. Of the hire of a harlot, &c. They were gathered together by one idolatrous city, viz. Samaria: and they ſhall be carried away to another idolatrous city, viz. Ninive.

VER. 9. It hath touched the gate, &c. That is, the deſtruction of Samaria ſhall be followed by the invaſion of my people of Juda, and the Aſſyrians ſhall come and lay all waſte even to the confines of Jeruſalem.

VER. 10. Declare ye it not in Geth, viz. Amongſt the Philiſtines, leſt they rejoice at your calamity.

Ibidem. Weep ye not, &c. Keep in your tears, that you may not give your enemies an occaſion of inſulting over you: but in your own houſes, or in your houſe of duſt, your earthly habitation, ſprinkle yourſelves with duſt, and put on the habit of penitents. Some take the houſe of duſt, (in Hebrew Aphrah) to be the proper name of a city.

VER. 11. Thou that dwelleſt in the beautiful place. viz. In Samaria. In the Hebrew the beautiful place is expreſſed by the word Sapir, which ſome take for a proper name of a city.

Ibidem. She went not forth, &c. i. e. They that dwelt in the confines came not forth, but kept themſelves within, for fear.

Ibidem. The houſe adjoining, &c. viz. Judea and Jeruſalem, neighbours to Samaria, and partners in her ſins, ſhall ſhare alſo in her mourning and calamity: though they have pretended to ſtand by themſelves, truſting in their ſtrength.

VER. 12. She is become weak, &c. Jeruſalem is become weak unto any good; becauſe ſhe dwells in the bitterneſs of ſin.

VER. 13. It is the beginning, &c. That is, Lachis was the firſt city of Juda that learnt from Samaria the worſhip of idols, and communicated it to Jeruſalem.

VER. 14. Therefore ſhall ſhe ſend, &c. Lachis ſhall ſend to Geth for help: but in vain: for Geth, inſtead of helping, ſhall be found to be a houſe of lying and deceit to Iſrael.

VER. 15. An heir, &c. Mareſa (which was the name of a city of Juda) ſignifies inheritance: but here God by his prophet tells the Jews, that he will bring them an heir to take poſſeſſion of their inheritance: and that the glory of Iſrael ſhall be obliged to give place, and to retire even to Odollam, a city in the extremity of their dominions. And therefore he exhorts them to penance in the following verſe.

and ſpoiled: the portion of my people is changed: how ſhall he depart from me, whereas he is returning that will divide our land?

5 Therefore thou ſhalt have none that ſhall caſt the cord of a lot in the aſſembly of the Lord.

6 Speak ye not, ſaying: It ſhall not drop upon theſe, confuſion ſhall not take them.

7 The houſe of Jacob ſaith: Is the Spirit of the Lord ſtraitened, or are theſe his thoughts? Are not my words good to him that walketh uprightly?

8 But my people, on the contrary, are riſen up as an enemy: you have taken away the cloak off from the coat: and them that paſſed harmleſs you have turned to war.

9 You have caſt out the women of my people from their houſes, in which they took delight: you have taken my praiſe for ever from their children.

10 Ariſe ye, and depart, for there is no reſt here for you. For that uncleanneſs of the land, it ſhall be corrupted with a grievous corruption.

11 Would God I were not a man that hath the ſpirit, and that I rather ſpoke a lie: I will let drop to thee of wine, and of drunkenneſs: and it ſhall be this people upon whom it ſhall drop.

12 I will aſſemble and gather together all of thee, O Jacob: I will bring together the remnant of Iſrael, I will put them together as a flock in the fold, as the ſheep in the midſt of the * ſheepcots, they ſhall make a tumult by reaſon of the multitude of men.

*i. e. Sheepfold.

13 For he ſhall go up that ſhall open the way before them: they ſhall divide, and paſs through the gate, and ſhall come in by it: and their king ſhall paſs before them, and the Lord at the head of them.

CHAP. III.

For the ſins of the rich oppreſſing the poor, of falſe prophets flattering for lucre, and of judges perverting juſtice, Jeruſalem and the temple ſhall be deſtroyed.

AND I ſaid: Hear, O ye princes of Jacob, and ye chiefs of the houſe of Iſrael: Is it not your part to know judgment,

2 You that hate good, and love evil: that violently pluck off their ſkins from them, and their fleſh from their bones?

3 Who have eaten the fleſh of my people, and have flayed their ſkin from off them: and have broken, and chopped their bones as for the kettle, and as fleſh in the midſt of the pot.

4 Then ſhall they cry to the Lord, and he will not hear them: and he will hide his face from them at that time, as they have behaved wickedly in their devices.

5 Thus ſaith the Lord concerning the prophets that make my people err: that bite with their teeth, and preach peace: and if a man give not ſomething into their mouth, they prepare war againſt him.

6 Therefore night ſhall be to you inſtead of viſion, and darkneſs to you inſtead of divination: and the ſun ſhall go down upon the prophets, and the day ſhall be darkened over them.

7 And they ſhall be confounded that ſee viſions, and the diviners ſhall be confounded: and they ſhall all cover their faces, becauſe there is no anſwer of God.

8 But yet I am filled with the ſtrength of the ſpirit of the Lord, with judgment, and power: to declare unto Jacob his wickedneſs, and to Iſrael his ſin.

9 Hear this, ye princes of the houſe of Jacob, and ye judges of the houſe of Iſrael: you that abhor judgment, and pervert all that is right.

10 You that build up Sion with blood, and Jeruſalem with iniquity.

CHAP. II. VER. 4. How ſhall he depart, &c. How do you pretend to ſay that the Aſſyrian is departing; when indeed he is coming to divide our lands amongſt his ſubjects?

VER. 5. Thou ſhalt have none, &c. Thou ſhalt have no longer any lot or inheritance in the land of the people of the Lord.

VER. 6. It ſhall not drop, &c. That is, the prophecy ſhall not come upon theſe. Such were the ſentiments of the people that were unwilling to believe the threats of the prophets.

VER. 8. You have taken away, &c. You have even ſtripped people of their neceſſary garments: and have treated ſuch as were innocently paſſing on the way, as if they were at war with you.

VER. 9. You have caſt out, &c. either by depriving them of their houſes: or, by your crimes, giving occaſion to their being carried away captives, and their children, by that means, never learning to praiſe the Lord.

VER. 11. Would God, &c. The prophet could have wiſhed, out of his love to his people, that he might be deceived in denouncing to them theſe evils that were to fall upon them: but by conforming himſelf to the will of God, he declares to them, that he is ſent to propheſy, literally to let drop upon them, the wine of God's indignation, with which they ſhould be made drunk; that is, ſtupified and caſt down.

and her prieſts have taught for hire, and her prophets divined for money: and they leaned upon the Lord, ſaying: Is not the Lord in the midſt of us? no evil ſhall come upon us.
